Now is the time when every citizen faces a tremendous responsibility to THINK STRAIGHT in a world gone mad with war—to MAKE THE WISE DECISION in a whirlwind of propaganda such as never before has confused the thinking of a neutral nation.

THE UNDERTOW WILL DO THE REST

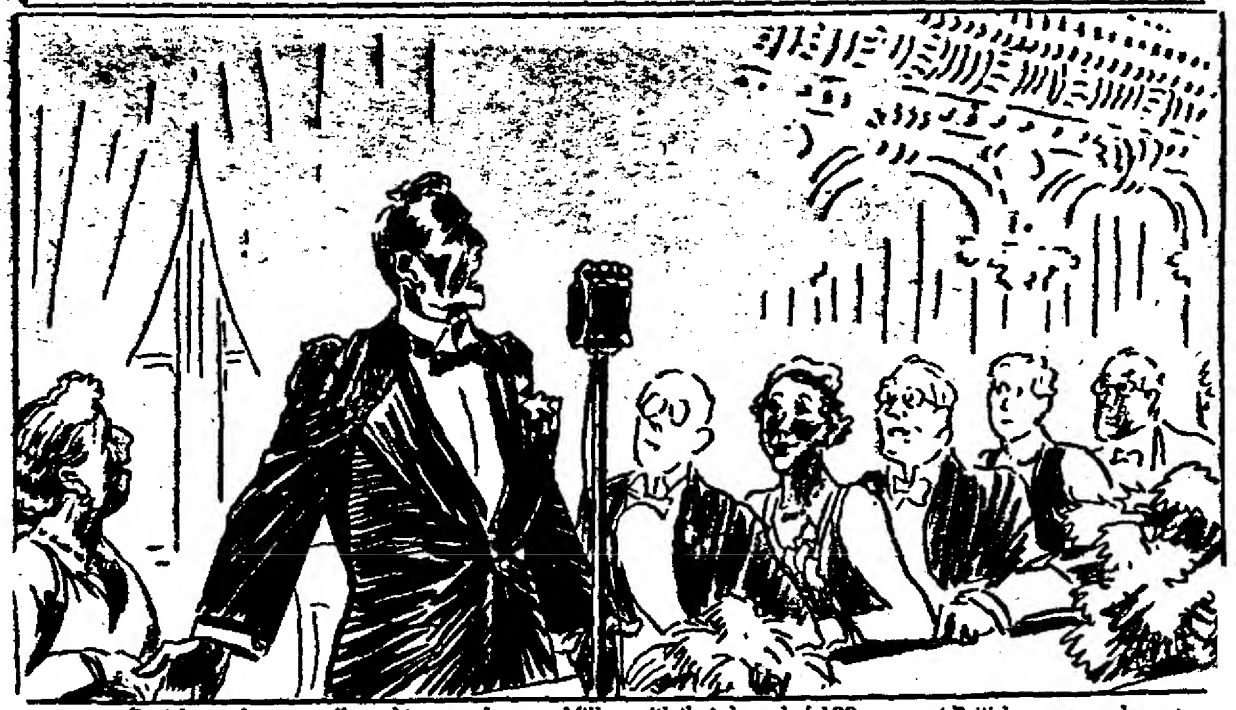
The grim choice between Peace or War should be fairly and honestly placed before the people.

Instead the Internationalists have deliberately confused the issue with that flexible phrase "aid short of war."

The America First Committee gladly extends to Britain the tremendous facilities of our private production under the provisions of our Neutrality Act.

But we oppose shipment in American merchant vessels convoyed by American warships. This would not be aid short of war. It would be WAR!

WE'VE AD EXCHANGE PROFESSORS -WHY NOT EXCHANGE PROPAGANDISTS?



British speakers are allowed to come here and fill us with their brand of 100 per cent British propaganda——
"Ladies and gentlemen—or may I say, fellow Anglo-Saxons! Civilization is facing its greatest test! Democracy stands at the barricades, breasts bared to defend all those nations which, like us, love peace and justice. We know your sympathies are with us and that you will cheer us on as we fight for the safety of your homes!"

Supposing American speakers from West of Long Island went over and tried to give the British some of our American brand of propaganda——
"Gentlemen—I note with interest that you always say civilization is in danger whenever you get into a war. That is not strictly accurate. As long as America keeps its senses and stays out of your European wars there will be a fair amount of civilization left—but not the kind we fought to save in the last big European war. We Americans remember that rescue very well. We remember the shocking ingratitude, the sickening disillusionments, not to mention other things, that the saving of civilization brought. We are keeping out of this war as the best way of saving our kind of civilization."

The leaders of the United States are trustees for the future of over 130,000,000 Americans. They must be realists, unswayed by our admiration and friendship for Britain or our hatred of Totalitarianism.

They must realize that the basic American democratic liberties, which the Interventionists tell us are at stake, would be instantly suspended and permanently threatened if we go to war.

The hope of Democracy throughout the world lies in a PEACEFUL America, strong and unafraid.

IT SHOULD BE MADE UNPOPULAR IN THIS COUNTRY—

—For war wishers to pave the way for——American entanglement in future wars.

The Interventionists have carefully built up the mistaken belief that our entry into the war is inevitable—that if we must fight sooner or later, we might as well fight now.

This is clever propaganda—but it is ridiculous when subjected to the light of reason.

If we enter this war, it will be because we CHOOSE to enter. No nation and no group of nations can ever successfully attack a PREPARED America. And they realize that fact!

THE BIG PARADE

The America First Committee believes that if we enter the war we will eventually win. But we will face the most difficult military problem in all history in attacking and conquering the forces of Germany and her allies on their own front.

The costs and consequences will be disastrous—human, social and material. There can be no true victors in such a war. The victors, as always, will be Death, Debt and Depression.

THE HIGH COST OF FOREIGN ENTANGLEMENTS

The last time we went to war for the ideals of democracy we got off lightly. But war settles nothing.

The spawn of that war was Communism, Nazism and Fascism. No less than eight distinct wars have arisen in Europe during the past twenty years to resettle the same eternal quarrels.

American costs of the last war now add up to one-quarter of our national debt. So that every one of us who pays Federal taxes—direct or indirect—is still paying for the last war.

THE WAY THE AMERICAN PEOPLE ALWAYS HAVE VOTED and the way they would undoubtedly vote today if given the chance.

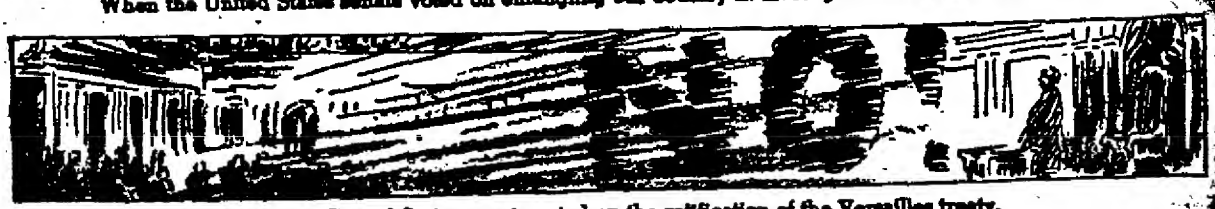
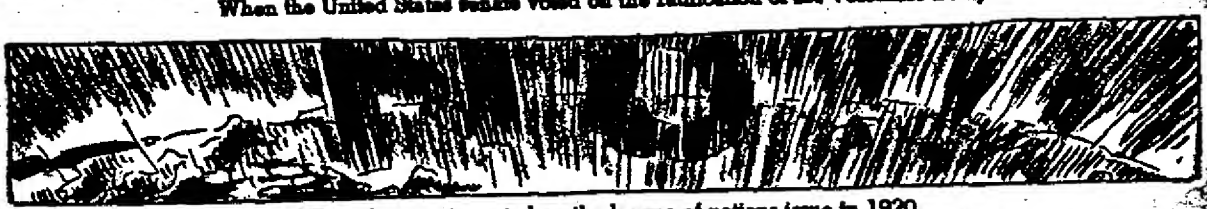
When the American voter in 1916 had a chance to express himself on getting into the war in Europe.

When the United States senate voted on entangling our country in an Anglo-French-American alliance.



When the United States senate voted on the ratification of the Versailles treaty.



When the country voted on the league of nations issue in 1920.

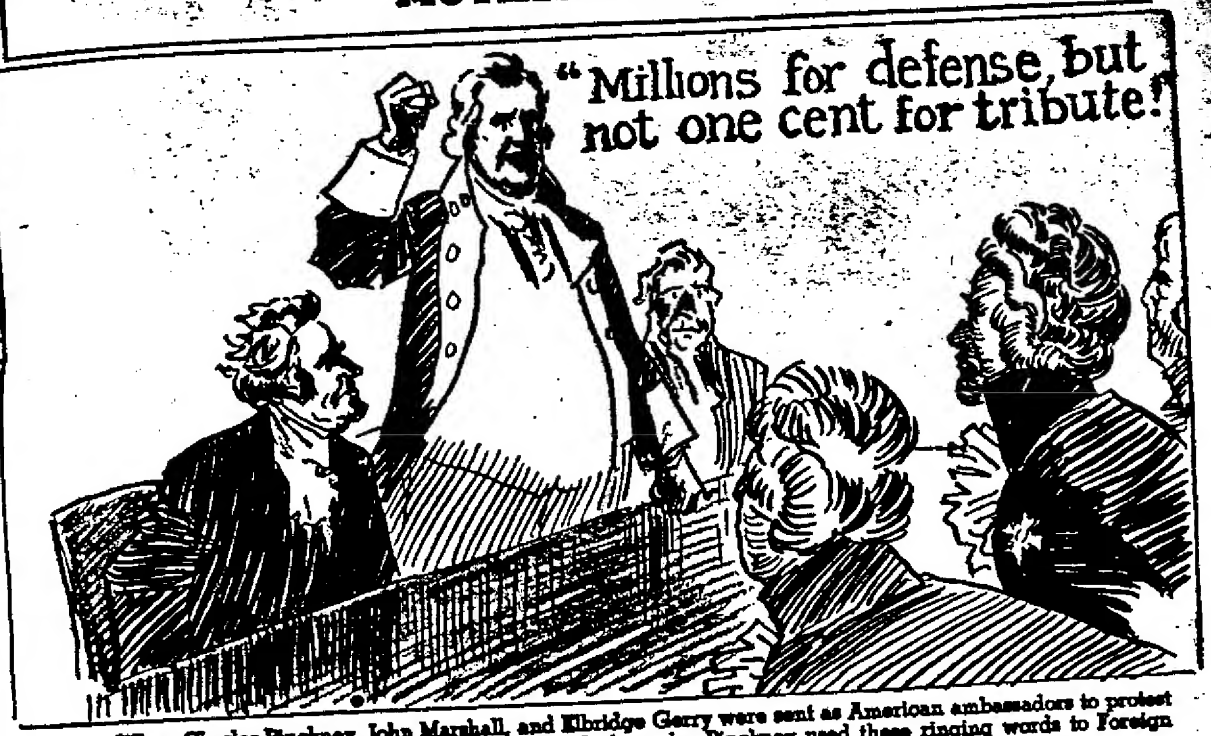
When our Interventionists tried to entangle the U. S. still further in Europe by keeping American troops on the Rhine.

And if congress ever votes to send American men to fight in Europe again, it will be in defiance of the profound convictions of an overwhelming majority of our people.

The great majority of the American people do not want this war. They do not believe that the mission of America is to police the world. They do not think that we are called upon to enforce our ideas on other peoples by force of arms.

Good Americans know our job is here at home—to strengthen and improve the working of our own democracy. And when Peace comes, a strong, healthy America will be the sole hope of a war-torn world.

MOTHER'S DAY



When Charles Pinckney, John Marshall, and Elbridge Gerry were sent as American ambassadors to protest to France against unjust treatment on the high seas, Ambassador Pinckney used these ringing words to Foreign Minister Talleyrand.

Today the overwhelming majority of American mothers will paraphrase those historic, undying words.

The Interventionists try to delude us with the promise that even if their efforts bring us into the war, there will be no A. E. F.—that planes and ships and other tools of war will be enough.

That was the promise last time. It was false then. It is false today.

When the United States goes to war, it goes in to win. A deadlock will never satisfy us. We will want a decisive victory. And that means men as well as machines—men enough to destroy the most powerful military machine ever developed, entrenched upon a continent 3,000 miles away.

Added Note

AFTER the preceding interview was completed, the President and Secretary Hull again reiterated their views. The President stated, ". . . International commerce in a world dominated by totalitarianism would never be carried on for the mutual benefit of all . . . Therefore, it is idle for us to talk of future foreign trade unless we are prepared now to defend the principles upon which it is and must be based." This statement is on a par with his grandiose utterance about our enforcing the "four freedoms everywhere in the world."

Secretary Hull sets up five peace points:

1. "Extreme nationalism must not again be permitted to express itself in excessive trade restrictions.
2. "Nondiscrimination in international commercial relations must be the rule, so that international trade may grow and prosper.
3. "Raw material supplies must be available to all nations without discrimination.
4. "International agreements regulating the supply of commodities must be so handled as to protect fully the interests of the consuming countries and their people.
5. "The institutions and arrangements of international finance must be so set up that they lend aid to the essential enterprises and the continual development of all countries, and permit payment through processes of trade consonant with the welfare of all countries."

If the President's statement and the Secretary's five points mean anything, they mean world free trade, with the United States acting as underwriter and director general even if such fanaticism drags us into war. G. N. P.

Principles
America First Committee

1. Our first duty is to keep America out of foreign wars. Our entry would only destroy democracy, not save it. "The path to war is a false path to freedom."
2. Not by acts of war abroad but by preserving and extending democracy at home can we aid democracy and freedom in other lands.
3. In 1917 we sent our American ships into the war zone and this led us to war. In 1941 we must keep our naval convoys and merchant vessels on this side of the Atlantic.
4. We must build a defense, for our own shores, so strong that no foreign power or combination of powers can invade our country, by sea, air or land.
5. Humanitarian aid is the duty of a strong, free country at peace. With proper safeguard for the distribution of supplies, we should feed and clothe the suffering and needy people of England, the other democracies, and the occupied countries.

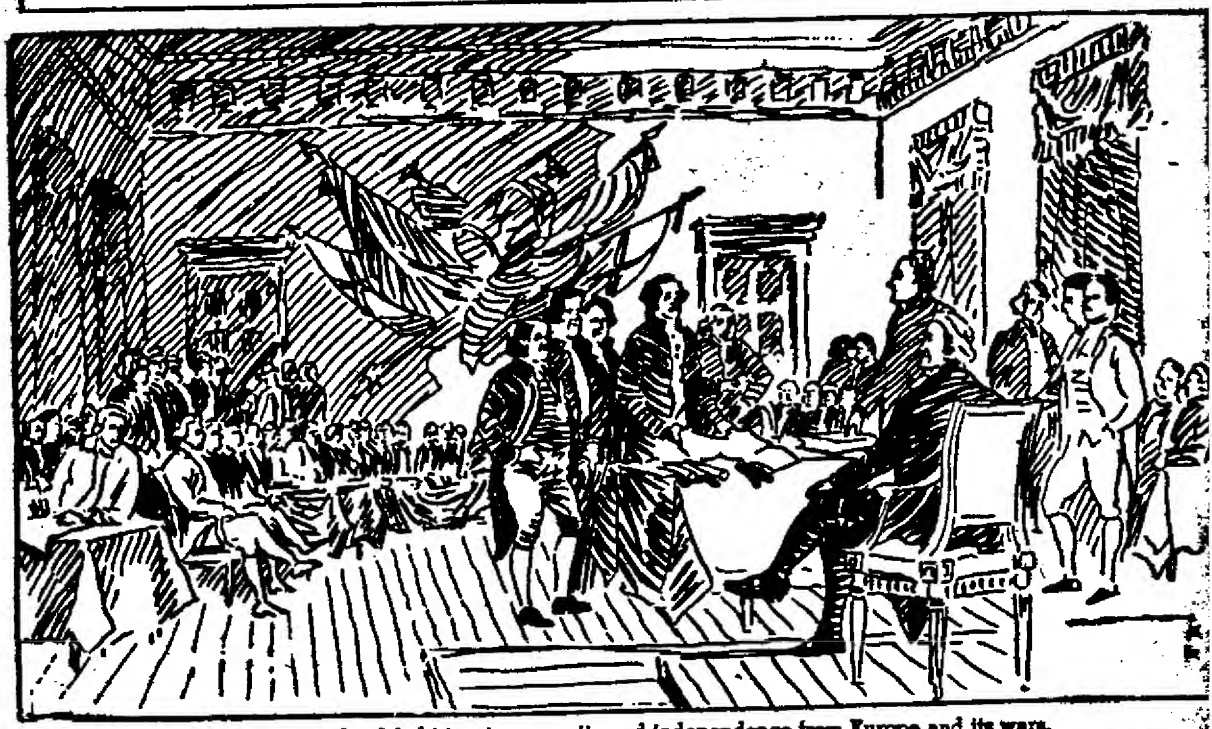
INDEPENDENCE DAY SHOULD BE A DAY OF NATIONAL UNITY



It took a long, hard fight to win our unity and independence from Europe and its wars.

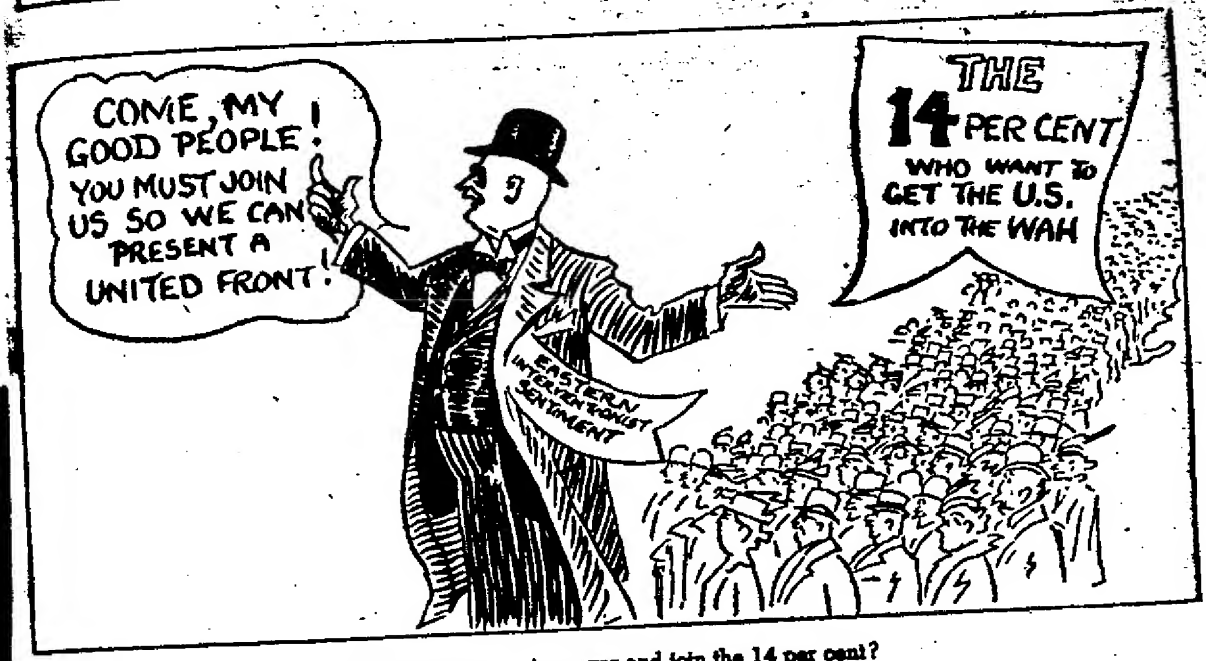
Can we retain our unity and our independence when there is a small, but active, minority striving to get the nation back into Europe and its wars?

We must all realize that even the most ardent Interventionist will not promise us that this war will be the last one.

Should we become involved in war, we also find ourselves involved in the unending aftermath. We shall be a part of the explosive quarrels that spring up with clock-like regularity after the Peace Treaty is signed.

Let us unite in our adherence to the time-honored American policy of Independence of Europe and its affairs.

WHICH IS THE BEST WAY OF SECURIN NATIONAL UNITY—



—let the 86 per cent go over and join the 14 per cent?

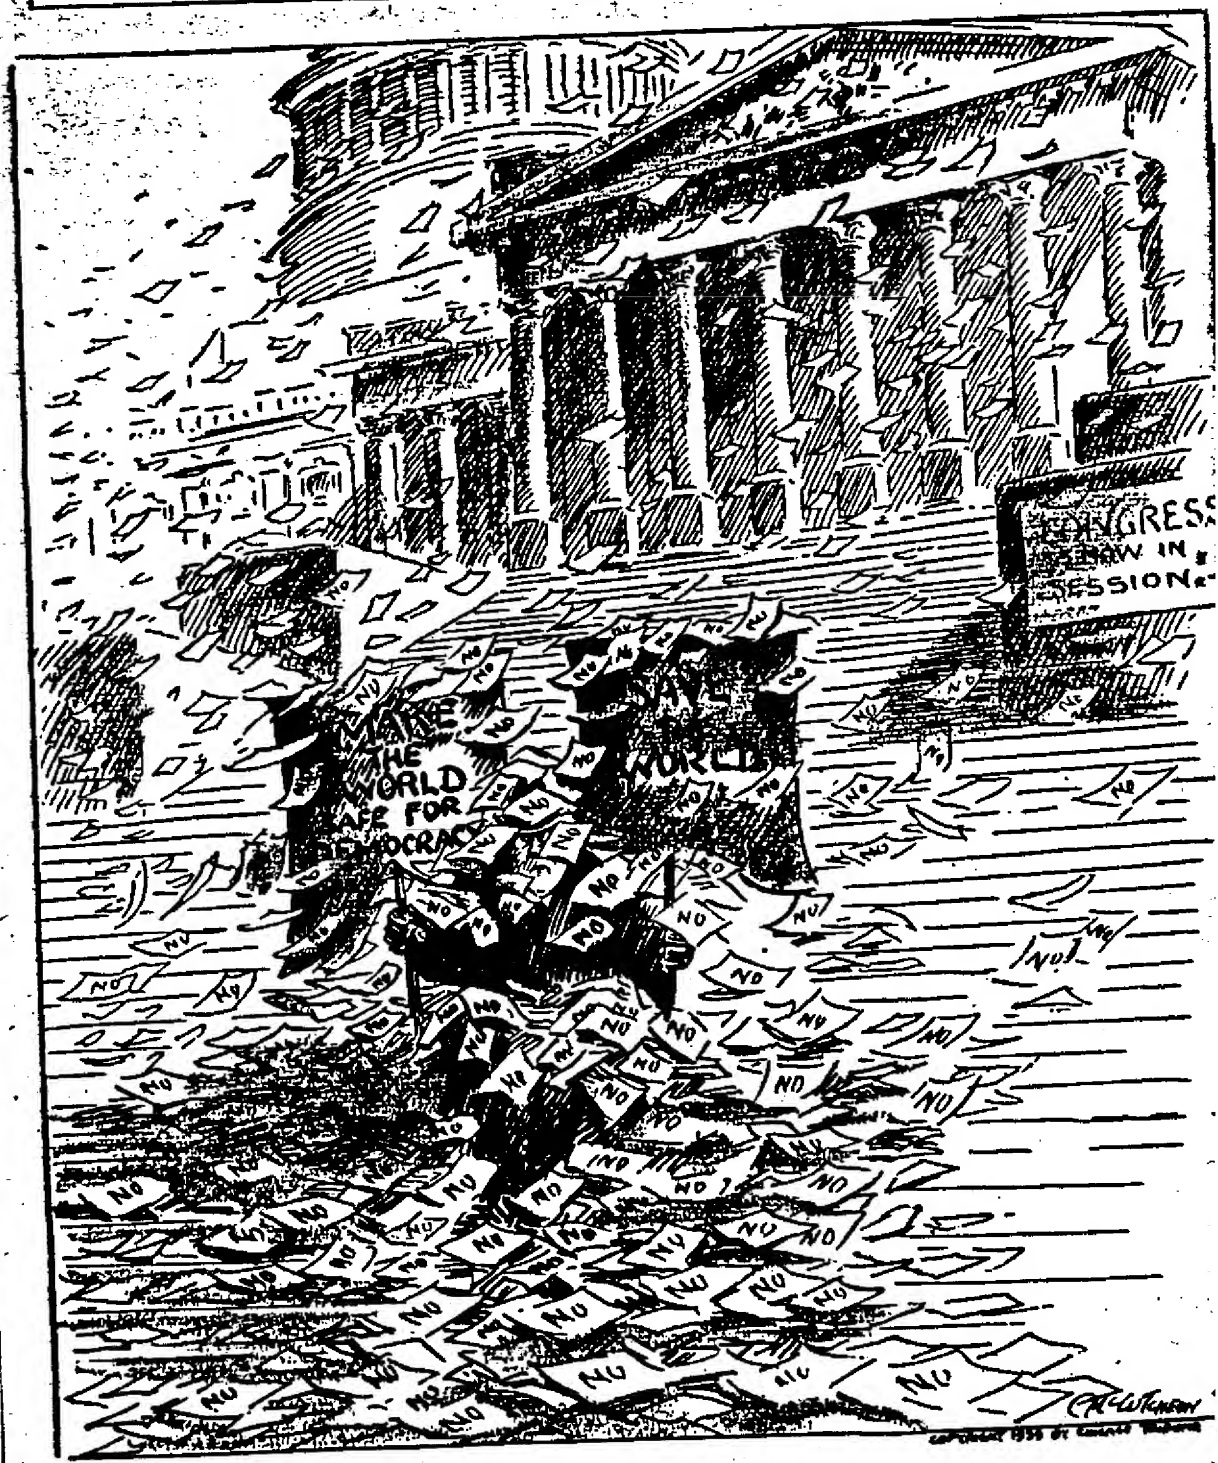
—or let the 14 per cent go over and join the 86 per cent?

For many months that small minority of Americans, eager to have us go to war regardless of the costs, had things their own way. They bombarded the public through the press and over the radio with their hysterical arguments. They made those who differed with them feel like a small, voiceless and ineffective group.

But now the America First Committee is giving a voice to the many millions of loyal and patriotic Americans who believe we must keep out of war. We are the majority!

A BIG NO STORM IN WASHINGTON

The Country Doesn't Seem to Want That Kind of Saving.



Perhaps the most important objective of the America First Committee is to consolidate that great mass of American public opinion that stands firmly opposed to involvement in the present war.

Letters and telegrams from good citizens in every one of the United States are pouring into Washington—addressed to Congress and the Administration.

So the will of the people is becoming unmistakable—a clear-cut mandate for Peace.

AN UNJITTERED PORTRAYAL OF THE NATIONAL SITUATION

If it's for home defense the ladies will all be rooting.

If it's for the defense of other nations 3,000 miles away, a sensational restraint of rooting.

The President of the United States stands ready to carry out the will of the people. The Congress is in Washington to enforce your wishes.

But the pressure of the Interventionists has been enormous. Their strength, concentrated in the nation's capital and a few Eastern cities, has given a false impression of their numbers.

Now all forty-eight states are speaking out! The tide is unmistakably turning toward Peace.

ONE OF THE IRONIC FEATURES OF A WAR BETWEEN DEMOCRACY AND DICTATORSHIPS IS——the fact that as soon as such a war is declared, the —democracy at once has to suspend most of the constitutional rights we are fighting for and immediately has to clamp down the harsh restraints of dictatorship for the duration of the war.

As individuals, it is our right to hate Totalitarianism and all its wrongs. But we cannot destroy that philosophy of life by making war upon it. We cannot destroy among other peoples a form of government that they have chosen and continue to maintain for themselves.

The human liberties that make up our democratic way of life must be preserved here in America.

At the very outbreak of war, all of our liberties must be suspended. For how long? After the war is over they may be returned to us. How many of them? And in what form?

Remember, it is war that breeds dictatorships! The ideals we go to war to protect are the first that we must relinquish when war comes.

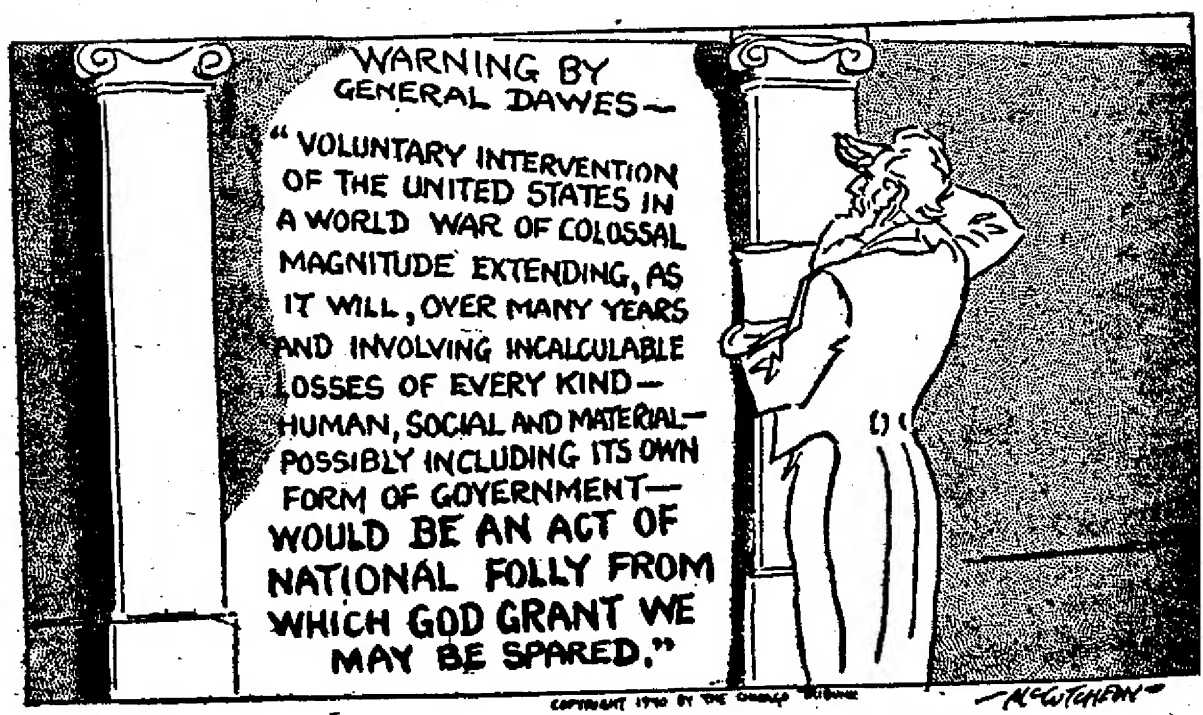
THIS DOCTRINE, IF ADOPTED AND IMPARTIALLY ADHERED TO, IS THE ONLY FOREIGN POLICY THAT WILL KEEP THE UNITED STATES OUT OF ENDLESS TROUBLE

If you support the principles of the America First Committee, you may be called an Isolationist. But no man can truthfully be called an Isolationist who stands ready to extend humanitarian aid to peoples of England and the small democracies—and when Peace shall come, to help rebuild the world along saner lines.

The Monroe Doctrine, keystone of American Foreign Policy for over a hundred years, forbids European forces to intervene in American affairs. It is both inconsistent and foolhardy for American forces to intervene once more in European affairs.

AN AMERICAN PATRIOT PUTS INTO WORDS WHAT MILLIONS OF LOYAL AMERICANS FEEL

In 1775 Paul Revere and William Dawes rode on swift horses to warn the country of danger.



Today a descendant of William Dawes warns the country of another and far greater danger.

The issue of Peace or War for the United States is by far the most important issue we will be called upon to face in our life-times.

The consequences of participation will be so far-reaching that we will be called upon to suffer for them every day for many years to come.

Our country can be spared from such an act of national folly. But not if we stand idly by while the Interventionists have their way with us. We must ACT!

AS HE LISTENED TO THE PRESIDENT'S NATIONAL DEFENSE MESSAGE

The America First Committee holds that there is no real danger of attack, for several years, if at all, from any nation.

If Hitler cannot cross thirty miles of Channel with his scores of near-by bases, it is ridiculous to fear that he can attack us across 3,000 miles of ocean.

But we must build impregnable defenses so that our shores will always be safe—now and forever!

THE BEST RECIPE FOR NATIONAL UNITY

On Nov. 5, President Roosevelt was elected to a third term by an overwhelming majority. The chief reason for his great victory was his repeated and emphatic promise that he would keep us out of this war.

We trust that promise. But if the Interventionists have a free hand, America will have no choice for Peace or War.

If we ship munitions to England in American ships convoyed by American warships, the fighting will begin immediately.

Such a calamity must not be allowed to happen.

OUR LIGHTNING RODS

The United States must build and maintain a Navy and an Air Force second to none and a trained Army fully competent to repel any future attack upon the Americas.

These three will form a permanent line of defense behind which our liberties will always be secure.

Any attempt to weaken them for any purpose must be opposed with vigor and determination.

UR TRINITY OF NATI[illegible]NAL STRENGTH

[Reprinted by request.]

A strong, free, prosperous America is the best and only safeguard of Democracy here—and the true hope of democracies throughout the world.

When the peoples of Europe, Asia and Africa, ravaged by all the horrors of modern war, turn to Peace at last, America's strength will help rebuild them and bring them back to health and hope.

The PRINCIPLES of the America First Committee

1. The United States must build an impregnable defense for America. With such a defense no foreign power, or group of powers, can successfully attack us.
2. With proper safeguards for the distribution of supplies and the maintenance of our neutrality, Americans should, to the limit of their ability, give humanitarian aid to the suffering and needy people of England and the occupied countries.
3. The cash and carry provisions of the existing Neutrality Act are essential to American peace and security. Within the limits of that Act Americans may properly aid Great Britain. Aid to her beyond the limitations of the present Neutrality Act would weaken our defense at home, and might well involve us in conflict. We oppose any change in the law which would permit American vessels to enter the combat zone or which would permit the American navy to convoy merchant ships through that zone, as any such course would inevitably plunge this country into Europe's war.
4. Americans should and do cherish the ideals of democracy and abhor dictatorship, but the welfare of one hundred thirty million Americans and the preservation of democracy on this continent demand that the United States keep out of foreign wars.

Subsidiary Objectives

1. To bring together all Americans, regardless of possible differences on other matters, who see eye-to-eye on these principles. (This does not include Nazis, Fascists or Communists.)
2. To urge Americans to keep their heads amid rising hysteria in times of crisis.
3. To provide sane national leadership for the majority of the American people who want to keep out of the European war.
4. To register this opinion with the President and with Congress.

Must We Fight For Our Foreign Trade?

(Reprinted by courtesy of The Progressive) By STUART CHASE

We were talking on world about the war. A pretty girl, with big brown eyes, opened them even wider and said: "But if Hitler wins we will be ruined, we will lose all our foreign trade. We can't compete with his slave labor—it will be on all the radio—our standard of living will be forced way down. It's awful to think about."

It is painful to think about, just as awful as if it were true. Mental torture is mental torture, as any sufferer from delusions knows can tell you. The fact that the pink snakes are in his mind and not on the lawroom floor does not lessen the anguish.

How many Americans are now seeing the pink snakes of economic collapse unless we go to war, I do not know, but it must run into millions. They have been well drugged by radio and editorial. Yet of all excuses for intervention this is the worst.

A case for military danger can be made out which has something to be said for it, and an ideological case, based on common language and democratic institutions between Great Britain (not the Empire), Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the United States, is not too implausible. But the economic case is nonsense any way you look at it.

How We Would Fare

There are two major ways to look at it: the physical picture and the financial picture. The former is, of course, the more important. Can a German victory, or the control of the Old World by totalitarian governments cut off so many essential materials that the American standard of living is wrecked? In my little book, The New Western Front, I analyzed the materials which we must have to maintain, our living standards. The analysis can be summarized in this fashion: If an airtight blockade could somehow be drawn around the boundaries of continental United States, we should continue to "eat regular," clothe and house ourselves adequately, but we should be shy of many luxuries such as imported fabrics, tea, coffee, spices.

If the blockade were pushed back to the boundaries of North America, including the Caribbean line, we could have many comforts and luxuries.

If it were pushed back to surround the Western Hemisphere (without rubber-sheet geometry definitions of the Hemisphere), we should have practically all essential materials, except rubber and tin. Rubber can be made from petroleum, of which we have plenty. Tin may be had from Bolivia, but perhaps not enough for our standard consumption of the cans. We might have to use glass or synthetics; or, who knows, housewives might take up crushing cans. The OPM has just issued an excellent report on how to get around the tin shortage.

We Can Pretend To Die

So far as physical materials go, there is not more chance of retention than there is of a man in a riverboat on Lake Michigan dying of thirst. Of course he can pretend that the water is salt, but that will be due to his mental machinery.

not to nature. If he wants to explore on those conditions, perhaps it is just as well. If a great nation wants to aspire because it refuses to take the trouble to obtain from Brazil what it need to obtain from Malaya, perhaps that is just as well too. God does not smile perpetually on idiots.

Now let us move over to the financial frame of reference. Here it is argued that while we may have the materials available in the Hemisphere, our prosperity is dependent on world free trade and the profits which importers and exporters make on that trade. Wipe it out, and farmers are stuck with surpluses of cotton and wheat, manufacturers are stuck with surplus Fords and adding machines, our economy is thrown out of kilter, and everybody suffers.

In 1913 there would have been something in this argument, but not in 1941. Before the last war there was a world free market where private business men from all countries competed, and where the profits of foreign trade and investment were very important to the national economy. You can hardly find the ghost of that picture today.

In 1941, governments, not private business men, are running exports and imports, and the world free market has been knocked haywire by the abandonment of gold, by export subsidies, tariffs, quotas, barter deals, blockades, lack of shipping, submarines and self-sufficiency programs.

So far as the freedom of foreign trade goes, it is already ruined, and the process has been going on at an accelerated pace since the last war. People who argue that we must beat Hitler to keep trade free have apparently been sound asleep for a generation. They pulled the covers over their heads along about the time of President McKinley.

Foreigners Haven't Paid Anything

Win, lose or draw, there will be no world free market on this planet in our lifetimes. Governments are going right on controlling exports and imports, and right on promoting programs for national, or at least continental, self-sufficiency. Any profits which private exporters or importers make will be at government sufferance, and the effect on the economy as a whole will be very small.

America will not have to compete with the "slave labor" of the totalitarians, for there will be no free market in which to compete. All that is 1913 stuff. We do not have to take shoes from Czechoslovakia: we can make them in Brockton. If the cost is higher, so what? When you add in the cost of unemployed Brockton shoe workers on relief, the home cost may be lower.

Does anyone pretend we could not sell all our farm surpluses if poor folks had the means to pay for them? Poor folks can pay something, but foreigners haven't been paying anything, as we shall see. How much can they pay after the war is over?

Our Recent Experiences

The United States is the most nearly self-sufficient nation on earth. Its exports amount to only about five per cent of the national income. Since the war began, the export market has been turned upside down, with all Europe shut off. Two-thirds of our exports are now going to the British Empire, and a large fraction of that is in the form of munitions. Furthermore, it is not trade but a handout, under the Lend-Lease Act. American taxpayers are giving American products to Britain.

There is nothing new about this arrangement, either. American taxpayers have been financing great WPA programs for foreigners, one after another, since the last war. We shipped them ten billions of stuff in 1918, and got nothing in return. That was handsome, but hardly trade. Those old war debts will, of course, never be paid. For one thing, our tariff policy made it impossible to pay them in goods. We shipped them another ten billions of stuff in the 1920s and got beautifully engraved bonds, most of which are now in default.

We shipped them another ten billions of good American wheat, steel machinery, and got gold, in the 1930s. The gold is probably useless. And now we are shipping seven billions of stuff to Britain, with more to follow, under a plan in which the lending and the loaning is a polite fiction to get around the Johnson Act.

This foots up to four great WPA projects, totaling some thirty to forty billion dollars in the last 25 years. In other words, American taxpayers and investors have paid American farmers and manufacturers forty billion dollars for shipping their products abroad. This has given work to farmers and industrial laborers, but the United States as a whole has lost forty billion dollars' worth of goods. It certainly shows a fine, generous spirit, and I am not at this point criticizing. But it does burn me up when interventionists say that if this kind of thing is stopped by Hitler we shall be ruined.

There is another thing which burns me up too. In books like Miller's You Can't Do Business With Hitler, the point is made that if we don't go to war and keep at it until Europe is reduced to a pile of rubble, we shan't be able to get rid of our surpluses. If we do keep at it until that happy day, then we can have a super-colossal WPA program unloading the surpluses as free gifts to starving Europeans, thus clearing our shelves. As a practical economic program this is about as sensible as burning the house down to get rid of the wasps.

I should be the last to deny that a German victory would give us plenty of mean problems. I should be the last to deny that an American private exporter who tries to do business with Hitler would lose his shirt. But a war abroad to the death for a free market, which practically had disappeared before Hitler came to power, and for a foreign trade which has already worked out to forty billion dollars worth of Santa Claus, is something else again. It is a something else which might well spell real physical ruin, with the bones of our young men whitening the shores of the seven seas.

"WE DON'T HAVE TO"

SAMUEL CROWTHER

Reviews

Douglas Miller's Book "You Can't Do Business With Hitler"

(Reprinted from The Congressional Record—Aug. 18, 1941)

This is an extraordinarily dishonest book, in that the author purports to write of Nazi business methods from first-hand experience as a commercial attache at Berlin, 1925-39, but almost nothing in his book is drawn from experience except a few trivial and well-known incidents. Instead, most of the book has to do with events after 1939, and it is almost wholly a rewrite of the regular anti-Nazi propaganda. It is only slightly factual, and most of these "facts" are wrong. The book bears every evidence of having been written by a propagandist and planted on the supposed author, who is an assistant professor in economics in the University of Denver. It would be interesting to trace this book to its origin.

The theme is now standard. Hitler will encompass the earth, encircle the United States, and crush our foreign trade. That will crush us. Therefore we must, as a plain matter of self-preservation, go out and defeat Hitler and then reorganize the world with the money we are supposed to have and get the trade we so desperately need—even if we pay both ends of it—and keep the world prosperous and peaceful. In other words, the book attempts to appeal to business people whose concepts are too low to grasp the "four freedoms"—that defeating Hitler is just good business because Nazi ethics are bad for business.

"But He'll Have to Do Business With Us."

The whole approach is juvenile. For instance, the author complains that Germany aims to be self-sufficient, which means a minimum of imports, while talking of Nazi plans to capture world trade, which, of course, means a maximum of imports and is wholly incompatible with self-sufficiency. He has a notion that a defeated Hitler will restore the British economy to the pre-1910 basis, with never a notion that the world has changed. He points to two-thirds of our trade being with the British Empire and seems to have the impression that this trade is with the British Isles, when, in fact, it is largely with Canada and Malaya. He also thinks that our foodstuffs and cotton exports can be revived by demolishing Hitler. Our foodstuffs went out of the market long ago, while the A.A.A. killed our cotton exports by holding our cotton above the world price. But the curious point is that he does not comprehend that what we buy from the world is more important to the world's economy than what we sell to the world is to our economy. So, if Hitler should control the world, we would not have to do business with him, but he would have to do business with us. The conclusions of the book are wholly maudlin.

A good deal of the book could be written about any country—if one chose to take the slant. For instance (P. 87), "Lawyers in Germany have very largely ceased to function as interpreters of the law, because, as I said earlier, courts are instructed to render decisions according 'to healthy public opinion' ". The African stuff is fantastic, the financial operations of post-war Germany are mis-stated—there is no mention that the President was an officer of a concern selling marks for speculation or that American bankers loaned Germany to stir up borrowers. There is no mention of the events leading up to the moratorium or the standstill agreements, that the whole world put in exchange agreements after Britain went off gold in 1931, nor the action of France in precipitating the credit contact collapse or that our bankers have gotten most of their short-term money out of Germany.

There are some curious misconceptions. For instance, the author thinks our reciprocal trade agreements form a system and that the other party obtains from bilateral agreements. In fact nearly every country with which we made agreements also entered into bilateral agreements. And some, as Brazil, actually blocked our exchange and found the British. The author is the first man who never understood that Hull, Sayre, and Grady played a great practical joke. Everything that could be done to us under the trade agreements has been done. Also he speaks of the vast store of gold owned by the Government. Nearly every dollar of that gold secures a gold certificate issued to the F. R. B., and taking that gold would be an utter breach of trust which would destroy what is left of our currency.

The book is not unlike several that were published during the last war "exposing" the Kaiser's world plans. This book differs from those in being more credulous and having a larger chamber of horrors. Considering the fact that most American corporations with property in Germany have long since charged it off, the terrible effects of confiscation are quite funny. It is also noteworthy that there is no mention of the fact that, although Russia in 1921 had at least the intentions of Germany today, our Government recognized her for trade purposes.

The big point in my mind is who planted this book on this head-water college imbecile. And how did he get into the service and why did he leave it?

THE AUTHOR OF THIS REVIEW

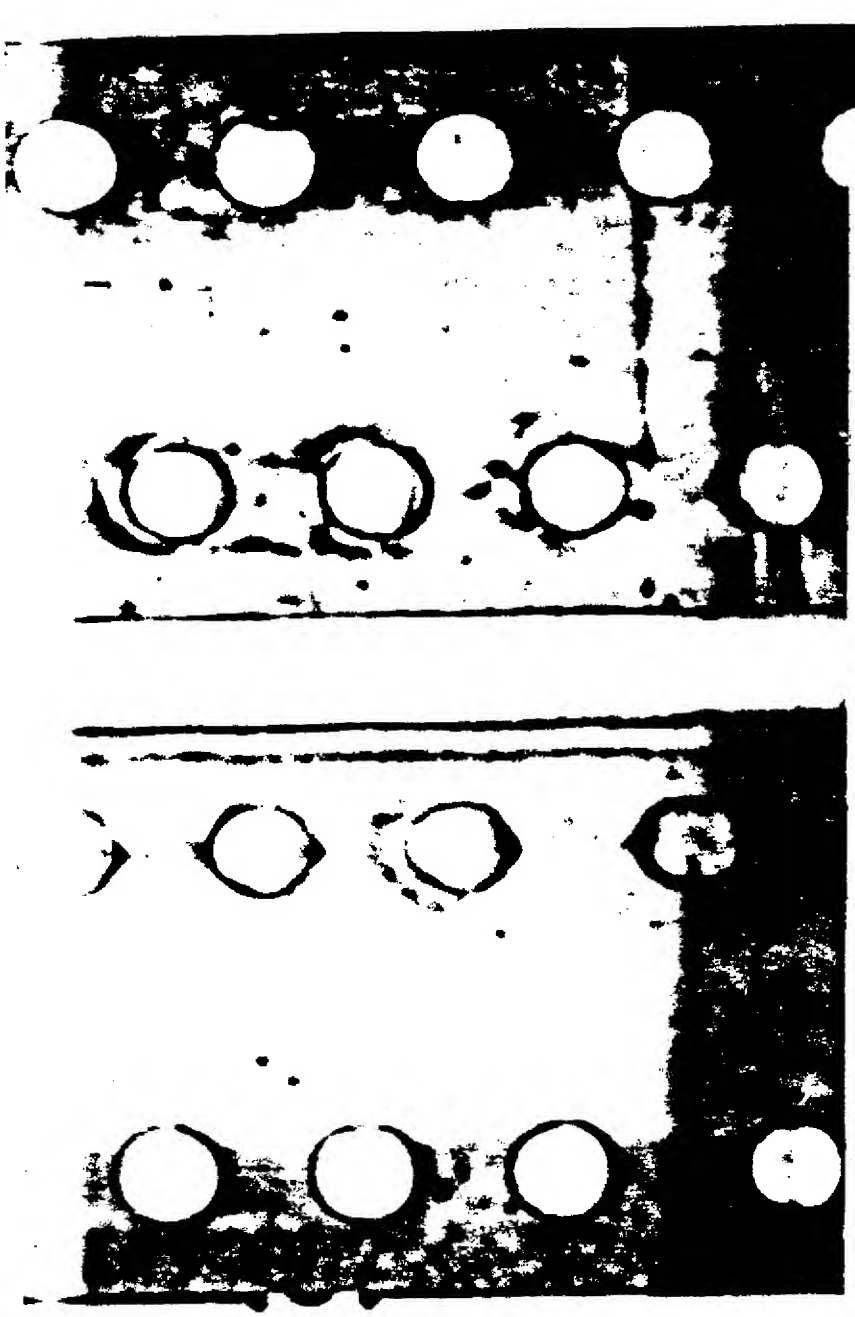
Samuel Crowther, the writer of this review, possesses a long and distinguished record as an economist and an author. Internationally known, he served in the Balkans as newspaper correspondent in 1905, was New York Herald Tribune correspondent in England and Germany in the last World War and became special European correspondent for Collier's magazine in 1923.

As an author he has to his credit innumerable works on labor, trade and economy. A few of them—as listed in Who's Who are as follows:

"Common Sense and Labour", 1920; "The Book of Business", 1920; "The First Million Ten Hundred", 1922; "Men and Rubber" (with Harvey S. Firestone), 1926; "The Presidency vs. Hoover", 1928; "Money", 1929; "A Basis For Stability", 1930; "American Self-Contained", 1933; "Why Quit Our Own" (with George N. Peek), 1936.

It is evident that Mr. Crowther is qualified to discuss comparative European and American trade and business.

As far as can be determined this is the first book Douglas Miller has had published on any subject. There is no record of the author in Who's Who nor is there any mention of his experience or previous publications in a preface or foreword to his book.



MR. PRESIDENT!

Nationwide Radio Address by

His Excellency, The Most Reverend

FRANCIS J. L. BECKMAN

ARCHBISHOP OF DUBUQUE

on occasion of America First Rally at Loras College Stadium in Dubuque, Iowa June 21, 1941

DUTY can be a stern and terrible thing. In every man's life there are obligations and responsibilities which may not be shirked except at the expense of others. The discarded burdens of irresponsible people but add to the load upon other shoulders. A neglected duty today may bring disastrous consequences tomorrow; and even at this fateful hour decisions are being made which may profoundly affect whole generations of the unborn.

AND SO, my dear friends, tonight finds me heavy-hearted but determined, at this microphone. As a Prince of the Church, this time, not alone as a citizen, do I bring my message—a message delivered in line of bitter duty and intended primarily for the children of that flock over which I am bound as Shepherd to watch zealously. If in addition, I can bring some comfort by means of this broadcast to millions of my fellow-citizens —that shall be.

TO begin with, let us be clear on one point: on the day that our Congress repealed the arms-embargo with the pretext "it would keep us out of war" —on that day our people were tricked into the parlor of the interventionists. On that occasion I joined my plea with those of my countrymen who were valiantly striving to prevent repeal of this law because they were far-sighted enough to see in such action a first step toward war. But over our earnest plea to the Congress the lying tongues of the hippocrites prevailed. With "measures short of war" they proceeded diabolically, step by step, maneuvering us to the very brink of military involvement which is our position at this moment.

WHO would have dreamed five years ago that we would thus be led again by the propagandists? And the climax of all this trickery!—that monstrous perpetration upon our people who found no vote for war or peace at the November polls! The same bloody brigands who had their way in the last war saw to that. The democracy of which they prattle so effusively was for all present purposes, if I may borrow the phrase, "sold down the river" on November 5th! What a great laugh these Judas Iscariots and Benedict Arnolds must have enjoyed next day at the expense of the trusting millions; and, tragically, what a great laugh at the expense of all our beloved America stood for.

YET it is not enough that our people should be humiliatingly subjected to the vile indignity of the lie, but for those who cry the truth now come the slurs and the revilings. From the temples of the moneyed mighty the flood of denunciation rolls forth: "These are not of Christ; these are not of democracy; Bundists! Communists! Pacifists!—these are all of the same stamp; disregard them!—CRUCIFY THEM!" But Oh, take comfort, people; for if Christ Himself were this moment to return and confront these modern Herods, and Pilates, and Neros for their crimes before the world, He too would be crowned by them a Bundist! . . .

THEREFORE, proudly conscious of your own strength, you dear fathers and mothers, you of all faiths and earnest patriotic convictions, you AMERICANS stand up courageously with Christ to your persecutors and make your louder voice for peace prevail. Even the valiant English would understand that in thus acting we, the united 83% are merely at long-last exercising our prerogative as a democratic majority. If our letters and our telegrams are not enough let us represent ourselves personally to the governmental authorities. This criminal betrayal of our people at the hands of the few must never be consummated; for, indeed, the future of all morality, of confidence in government and the democratic process hinges on the proof that our people still do the debating and the deciding. Imagine!—the suicidal stupidity of risking our own democracy at home while vainly trying to impose it abroad!

IT HAS been said that there are two sides to this question, and our interventionist brethren accuse us of "ostrich" tactics. To them we would answer and appeal in all earnestness: "What proof have you that YOUR side of the matter is the just one? The American people took your advice twenty-four years ago and emerged from the chamber of horrors wiser and sadder after Versailles. Now it is OUR turn to have our way!"

MR. PRESIDENT! I address you humbly and with all the dignity which becomes your high office; in the name of the 83% whose will has been grossly disparaged, also in the name of my spiritual children over whose welfare I am gravely concerned, Mr. President, I respectfully address you:

YOU have given the people of these United States your solemn pledge that the youth of our land will not be sent to fight in any foreign wars. We choose to believe that that pledge was given unequivocally and without mental reservation of any kind. To repudiate that pledge, Mr. President, would be to break down the last vestige of public trust in government. For if we cannot trust your word then in whom of our governmental leaders are we to trust? As a Churchman, therefore, I solemnly adjure you not to break faith with our people.

I REALIZE, Mr. President, the extreme difficulty of your position; for on the one hand you are faced with a small but formidable group who control the economic life-lines of the nation, and on the other—the people. Little people, to be sure, with little power of themselves, but, united in peaceful democratic existence behind an impregnable defense they could constitute an invincible moral weapon with which to beat the very brains out of Communism, Fascism, Naziism and ALL "isms" everywhere. Take heart, Mr. President: free yourself of those who are evily attempting to inflence you against the majority will. In this you will most certainly have the united support and acclaim of all our people. Their immediate destinies and the destinies of millions everywhere at this moment lie in your powerfully equipped hands. In temporarily surrendering this power, Mr. President, the people expect and have every confidence that you will use it in conformity with your pledges. Yours is indeed the opportunity of a whole era in history. The role of a peacemaker is the role of a true child of God and one appreciated by all mankind save those whose interests dictate war. For my part, Mr. President, I would rather go down fighting the cause of peace, suffering any abuse and persecution, than to stand idly by while millions of our youth are prepared for the slaughter. I repeat, with the great Prelate of the East, that the continuation of this senseless war truly means the end of our civilization, with complete moral, spiritual, and material collapse at the end of the long road.

NO! Mr. President. This time we assure you the opposition of our people will not be broken down! Your pledges will be kept because we will help you to keep them. This time the Golden Calf must go unworshipped, the sacrificial altars unadorned. Our boys are staying home, and in your own words "they are going into training to form a force so strong that of its very nature it will keep the threat of war far from our shores." May God bless and guide you in this critical hour.

America First Committee

1. Our first duty is to keep America out of foreign wars. Our entry would only destroy democracy, not save it. "The path to war is a false path to freedom."
2. Not by acts of war abroad but by preserving and extending democracy at home can we aid democracy and freedom in other lands.
3. In 1917 we sent our American ships into the war zone and this led us to war. In 1941 we must keep our naval convoys and merchant vessels on this side of the Atlantic.
4. We must build a defense, for our own shores, so strong that no foreign power or combination of powers can invade our country, by sea, air or land.
5. Humanitarian aid is the duty of a strong, free country at peace. With proper safeguard for the distribution of supplies, we should feed and clothe the suffering and needy people of England, the other Democracies and the occupied countries.

America First Committee Principles

1. The United States must build an impregnable defense for America. With such a defense no foreign power, or group of powers, can successfully attack us.

2. Americans should and do cherish the ideals of democracy and abhor dictatorship, but the welfare of one hundred thirty million Americans and the preservation of democracy on this continent demand that the United States keep out of foreign wars.

3. The cash and carry provisions of the existing Neutrality Act are essential to American peace and security. Within the limits of that Act, Americans may properly aid Great Britain. Aid to her beyond the limitations of the present Neutrality Act would weaken our defense at home, and might well involve us in conflict. We oppose any change in the law which would permit American vessels to enter the combat zone or which would permit the American Navy to convoy merchant ships through that zone, as any such course would inevitably plunge this country into Europe's war.

4. With proper safeguards for the distribution of supplies and the maintenance of our neutrality, Americans should, to the limit of their ability, give humanitarian aid to the suffering and needy people of England and the occupied countries.

Introducing General Wood

By Clay Judson

Former President of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations

We are at a crisis in our international relations. On the decisions now made by the people of this country and their leaders may depend our national welfare for generations to come.

At earlier meetings you have had presented to you dramatically, brilliantly, emotionally, the views of those who believe that the ideal of American life now demands a full participation in the war between England and Germany, and a willingness to take all the risks of war which that involves.

Now there is another view, equally patriotic, equally above question from the standpoint of ideals—but diametrically opposed in its spiritual and its practical approach to the problem. This view sees America's destiny as the preservation of peace for its 185,000,000 people; the abstention on any account, and no matter how emotional the appeal, from European and Asiatic wars; the maintenance of the processes of democracy and of civilization.

Those who hold this view are certain that we cannot enforce democracy on the rest of the world by force and arms. They believe war will be ruinous to everything we cherish most, and they believe we can avoid war, and should make every effort to do so.

This is the view of the man who addresses you today. He was born sixty-one years ago in the State of Missouri. Forty years ago he graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point. His first military service was in the Philippine insurrection. As Chief Quartermaster at Panama during the days of the canal construction under General Goethals, he was charged with the duty of acquiring food, clothing, and supplies for the 40,000 employees and officials in the canal zone. During the World War he had a major responsibility for supplying our entire military establishment. After the war, in civil life, his ability gave him immediate recognition in the commercial world, where he served for ten years as President of Sears, Roebuck & Company, and is now the Chairman of its Board of Directors.

For his outstanding services during the World War he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. He is a Commander of the British Order of St. Michael & St. George. He is a Knight of the French Legion of Honor. At present he is the Acting Chairman of the America First Committee.

I am honored in presenting to you General Robert E. Wood, who will speak on "Our Foreign Policy."

General Robert E. Wood's Speech

"Our Foreign Policy"

I hesitated to accept the invitation of my friends, Dr. Lichtenstein and Mr. Utley, to address this gathering for two reasons—first, because I do not feel on a par as a speaker with the very eminent persons who have addressed these gatherings; second, because my views are opposed to those of a probable majority of my listeners—and I may add—opposed to those of some of my dearest friends and relatives. I have a brother-in-law on the William Allen White Committee.

But it is one of the beauties of a democracy that in time of peace, at least, men are free to express their opinions and honest men respect opposing opinions if those opinions are sincere and free of ulterior motive, and now is a time for all honest men to express their convictions.

The Hour of Decision

This country is on the eve of momentous decisions. The results of these decisions may be so far reaching that they may have an effect for good or bad on the life of this country for at least a generation. I am at the stage of life when I do not care as to the effect on myself or my own generation. I do greatly care what the effects will be on my children and grandchildren and their generation.

There are two schools of thought in this country on the subject of our foreign policy. They may be termed "Interventionists" and "Isolationists." These terms are not exactly descriptive, because all interventionists are not extreme interventionists and most isolationists are only isolationists as to Europe and Asia, but not isolationists as to the balance of North America and South America.

I except from my discussion those who have ulterior motives—anything except the welfare of our country. That would include the Communists who really desire to destroy our Government; the Nazis and members of the Bund who put the interests of Germany above those of this country; some ultrapacifists who forget the interests of their country in their desire for peace at any price; a limited number of extreme Anglophiles who put the interests of Great Britain above those of their own country.

Our Common Ground

These schools of thought are in violent opposition, but there are certain points of agreement among all classes except perhaps what may be called the lunatic fringe of our population.

These points of agreement are:

First—The necessity for a strong defense—a strengthening of our army and navy and air force. Our people are practically unanimous on this subject—the only differences are on differences of detail. It is obvious that the richest nation of the world, in a world of force, must make itself impregnable.

Second—The belief that no foreign nation must obtain possession of any part of the two Americas, and that the United States must be prepared to defend the North American continent, and at least that portion of the South American continent as far as the Equator. There is some difference of opinion as to whether military and naval protection should go as far as Cape Horn.

Third—Access to our great industrial plant by Great Britain within the limits of the neutrality law—that is, unlimited right of purchase by Great Britain of planes, tanks, munitions of war, raw materials from private manufacturers, provided she can pay for them and provide her own transportation. And this I may add is a very great aid.

Without this aid now being given, England could not long carry on the war, for her supplies of raw materials, her steel making capacity, munitions and plane plants are insufficient for a long major war. Without the production facilities of the United States she would be crushed. Theoretically, Germany is entitled to the same privilege—actually, on account of the British blockade, she cannot use our facilities, but she has no right to complain. I believe the overwhelming majority of the citizens are in accord with these three principles. I know I am.

Here Differences Begin

But it is when we get beyond the third point that opinion diverges sharply. The present administration in power, probably the majority of our editors and columnists, a very influential body of public opinion as represented by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding Britain is in favor of our government turning over some of our flying fortresses, more destroyers, more planes, and merchant ships. Others, even more extreme, favor an outright alliance with Great Britain and a declaration of war on Germany.

Now what are the fundamental arguments for this point of view? They may be reduced to three principal reasons:

First—The totalitarian state with its ideology, with its record of persecution, is repugnant to our ideals and should be destroyed, even if we have to enter a war to accomplish this result.

Second—Our own protection depends on Britain as our first line of defense, and if she falls, we are exposed to the onslaught of a totalitarian combination. Per se, it follows that we must give England all the aid we can, even at the risk of entering the war.

Third—If Britain is defeated, it will be impossible for a free competitive, unorganized and unmanaged industrial system to compete with a totalitarian system.

War Does Not Destroy Ideologies

As to the first reason, you cannot destroy an ideology by waging war on it. The conditions created in Europe by the Versailles Treaty were largely responsible for the rise of Hitler and the Nazi philosophy. The history of Europe for the last 100 years is a story of cruelties, persecutions, injustices. No government was more repugnant to our ideals and ideas than the old Czaristic regime of Russia—it had over many years a series of pogroms, but we remained on friendly terms with Russia. Up to 1917 we had always remained true to the principles of foreign policy laid down by the founders of our country: the policy of keeping aloof from the quarrels of Europe and Asia.

The Communistic regime of Russia under Lenin and Stalin was equally opposed to our principles and was detested by the majority of our people. Nevertheless, we have maintained our relations with Russia, and we have certainly had no idea of making war on that country.

Sentimentalists or Realists?

A nation cannot be a knight-errant. It must be realistic. Great Britain, during her entire history, has been coldly realistic, and her success in building up her Empire has been due to her realism. As individuals we can give vent to our generous impulses or even to our pet hates, but our statesmen, our editors, our moulders of public opinion must consider that it is not their individual fortunes and lives that are to be considered, but those of 130,000,000 of their fellow citizens.

Now as to the second reason—our military defense in the event of a German victory. Our country has gone through a curious transformation of thought since May 10th. From an underestimate of the military and economic strength of Germany, it has gone to the opposite extreme of overestimating that strength. From some of the remarks heard on the Eastern seaboard in June, we would have thought that New York and Boston were in imminent danger of being bombed.

Bombings Alone Cannot Win

Now the events in Spain, Poland, Belgium and France showed the major importance of the air arm when supported by tanks, infantry and a modern army. But Spain showed that bombing of cities, unsupported by an army, cannot win a war or even shake the morale of a population if the nation is of tough fibre like the Spanish and English peoples.

Apparently the Battle of England is demonstrating the same principle. Unless an army can cross the Channel, the German air force cannot impose a decision on England. Casualties and material damage —yes. The 15,000 casualties in London so far are but a drop in the bucket for a nation of 45,000,000 people; more casualties were incurred in single days of the Verdun, Ypres and Somme offensives. The destruction of apartment houses, stores, public buildings do not constitute a blow to the military strength of a nation. If the docks, railroads, power plants and munitions plants are put out of commission, it does affect the military effort, but unless it is done on a gigantic scale the nation cannot be subdued, and all evidence is to the effect that military damage thus far has not been of such a serious character as to severely impair the island's defense.

Can England Be Invaded?

As for an invasion, at the great risk of being called a false prophet, I doubt whether any invasion will ever be made, and if it is attempted, it will be decisively repulsed. To land 250,000 Germans in England, with mechanized equipment, ammunition and necessary supplies, would be a gigantic operation. Once landed, that force would have to face 1,500,000 Englishmen under arms, fighting on their own island behind strong defenses. And to land those 250,000 Germans means practically complete mastery of the air, blocking off the English fleet, complete control of the Channel—none of which objectives have yet been attained after more than a month of intensive effort. To sum up, I doubt whether the island can be conquered, and I am quite sure the British fleet cannot be put out of commission.

Now we come to our own danger of invasion and the perfectly fantastic hysteria that pervaded this country after the battle of France. I think any competent military or naval expert, certainly the vast majority, will tell you that there is absolutely no danger of an invasion of the United States even if Germany is completely victorious, and I doubt whether she will be. The amount of shipping required for the transportation of even 250,000 men of a modern mechanized army with their ammunition and supplies over 3,000 miles of ocean is colossal and it is to be presumed that our own navy and air force will not be idle.

No Army Can Attack Us

If it is impracticable or at least exceedingly difficult for an army to cross 25 miles of Channel, what valid grounds are there for supposing that a large army can cross 3,000 miles of ocean to invade a continent?

Some will inquire—why should it not be possible for Germany to seize bases in Mexico or Central America and attack from those countries. Again, that presupposes an overwhelming sea power. But even if that sea power were present, there would again be the same difficulties of a 3,000 mile long line of communication for an invading army. And an army once landed must cross an exceedingly difficult terrain before ever arriving at the Texas border. I think that hypothesis may be safely dismissed.

Panic First—Then War!

Now we come to the favorite bogey—air attacks. I quote from Major Al Williams' recent speech, reprinted in the Congressional Record—"Oceans and extended lines of communications are still vital factors in modern warfare. President Roosevelt's panicky flight schedule for the air invasion of America is ridiculous, worthy of Hollywood and certainly not of the White House. To support my argument against the President's wild flight schedule for a foreign air invasion of the United States I offer a single incontrovertible reason. With all their air power the Germans could not attack and subdue England from air bases 300 to 500 miles distant. Instead they seized air bases on the north coast of Holland, Belgium and France 20 to 100 miles distant from the coast of England. Each and every stage of the fantastic itinerary for the air invasion of America would have to be conquered for the establishment of major air bases for the enemy attempting the job. The President must know this—but apparently the pattern is panic first, and then war."

An Exhausted Germany Is Harmless

All of this presupposes a completely victorious Germany, ready at the end of a long and costly struggle to immediately embark on a new and perilous adventure across 3,000 miles of ocean against a nation of 130,000,000 people. The present war represents seven years of preparation on the part of Germany. So-called total war represents a prodigal expenditure of labor, money and effort. Steel is rapidly consumed, aircraft and mechanical equipment are rapidly worn out, reserves of all kinds are exhausted, not to mention the wear and tear on human beings. A nation that for seven years has been given guns instead of butter is apt at the end of this war to demand more butter from its leaders.

So on every count it seems inconceivable to me that Germany at the end of the war, even if aided by its allies, who will be in a worse condition of exhaustion than Germany itself, will attack the United States. And if this country with its 130,000,00 people and its two great natural ocean barriers cannot defend itself unaided by Britain or anybody else, it does not deserve to survive. The great nation that has to trust to others for its defense is on the downward path to destruction.

Europe Must Have Our Goods

Now as to our economic problems. An economic war after the war—the loss of our European, Asiatic and South American trade. I have a high personal regard for Walter Lippmann's brains and ability, but I believe his picture of an unequal contest between a totalitarian economy and a free economy is misleading. After all, when two nations or two continents each have things the other needs trade eventually results regardless of the feelings each may have for the other. Europe needs us more than we need Europe—our materials and products are more important to her than hers to us. True, Germany has reduced largely its purchases from us, but more from necessity than choice. As far as South America is concerned, we can always obtain the lion's share of the trade of Mexico, Central America, Colombia and Venezuela because we buy the metals of Mexico, the coffee and bananas of Central America and Colombia, the oil of Venezuela. In those countries, our geographical location must always give us the edge. We can take the coffee of Brazil but not its cotton; so its trade will naturally divide between Europe and the United States. It is in Argentina and Chile that our troubles come. We cannot take the meat, cotton and wool of the Argentina because we produce those products ourselves. The same applies to the copper and nitrates of Chile. We cannot sell unless we buy and that is a far greater obstacle than all Naxidom.

It must not be forgotten that Germany put on an intensive drive for trade in South America in the period 1936-1938, and if my recollection of the figures is correct, while Germany's percentage of the trade gained somewhat, the gain was not large, and it was largely at the expense of Great Britain; our trade declined only a fraction of one per cent.

We'll Get Our Share of Foreign Trade!

No man can foretell the future, but as long as we have products South America can use and above all, if they have products we can use, we will get our full share of the trade. As for Asia, the same remarks pertain as to Europe. Japan needs us far more than we need her. Our trade with Japan incidentally runs between five and six times the trade of China, whom we are making such great efforts to help. Even if Japan gets control of the Dutch East Indies—and that is not assured—she is going to be more anxious to sell us rubber and tin to obtain dollar exchange than we are to buy the products. And if war with Japan comes, we can get Bolivian tin and develop our synthetic rubber. We are certainly as resourceful as the Germans who are filling 90% of their rubber requirements with the synthetic article.

In 1937 Colombia's trade with us was 168,000,000 pesos, with Germany 40,000,000. Of Venezuela's trade, the United States took 12.5% of their imports and furnished 58% of the exports, Germany 13.6%. Of Costa Rica's imports, 42.5% came from the United States, 28% from Germany. Of her exports 45% went to the United States and 19.5% to Germany.

As for lack of organization, if needs be, we can meet fire with fire; we can set up export cartels and mass purchasing organizations and we can do this without danger to our system.

The Americas Must Stand Together!

Americans like myself feel that our true mission is in North America and South America. We stand today in an unrivalled position. With our resources and organizing ability we can develop, with our Canadian friends, an only partially developed continent like North America and a virgin continent like South America. The reorganization and proper development of Mexico alone would afford an outlet for our capital and energies for some time to come. And while I think we should try in every way to maintain the friendship of our neighbors to the South, I think we should also make it clearly understood that no government in Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean South American countries can be tolerated unless it is friendly to the United States and that we will make every effort to prevent the spread of totalitarian influence there.

Instead of what seems to be a sane objective we are on the verge of throwing our treasure and our blood into a European war, with consequences that no one can foretell.

I respect the honest views of honest Americans, no matter how opposed they may be to my own, but there are two matters that I resent: First is the attempt to smear any one opposed to what I might call the majority publicized viewpoint of what we should do in this war. When the editor of a New York "newspaper" denounces Col. Lindbergh as the head of the Fifth Column in the U. S., we have reached the summit of mud slinging. You may disagree violently with Col. Lindbergh, you may feel he has made serious mistakes, but you have no right to denounce a courageous, patriotic American citizen as a traitor merely because he disagrees with your views. This is as bad as the Nazis, an attempt to suppress freedom of speech.

The other point I resent is the way the issue is being presented to the American people. We are being edged into the war without the masses' knowledge. We have the anomalous situation of the polls showing a majority of the people favoring a course that is bound to get us into the war, while the same polls show 88% of the same people oppose actual entry into the war. That shows that the minds of the people are confused.

How Wars Are Sold to Us

Many of my hearers were adults at the time of the previous war and were familiar with the propaganda that led up to that war. If you want to know the history of that propaganda and its falsity, read a book by Sir Philip Gibbs with the title of "Now It Can Be Told," in which he admitted the outrageous lies that were perpetrated on the American public. And Sir Philip Gibbs was no German but the leading English war correspondent, knighted by his King. The London Economist in a recent issue said it was only a question of time until American public opinion could be brought to the point where we would actively enter the war.

I believe a majority of the people who are advocating "aid short of war" do not desire us to enter the war. But there are others who do desire us to enter the war, who are taking the necessary steps to prepare the American people for active participation, who would enter it tomorrow if they dared, who are today in practical alliance with England, and unfortunately they are the people who are shaping our national policy today. You hear in Washington today that we are now in the war. You hear predictions from men, and men who ought to know, that we will actively enter the war within sixty days after the election.

The American people should think this matter through. The course we are pursuing is bound to involve us in the war. You cannot play with fire and not get burned. You cannot have your government, not private manufacturers, transfer its equipment to foreign powers, you cannot have your government in an unofficial alliance with a foreign power, you cannot be a meddler in Indo-China, berate Italy and Germany without eventually involving the nation in war, and if war comes I venture to predict that we will repeat the history of the last war. When the declaration of war was made in 1917 originally it was intended to send only the Navy to the assistance of the Allies.

Man-Power, Too!

Joffre came over in the spring of 1917, told the plight of the French Army after the 1917 spring Champagne offensive, where whole divisions of the French Army mutinied, and implored us to send over a token force, otherwise France would collapse. We sent Pershing and the First Division, about 30,000 men. Then came the impending collapse of Russia, frantic calls for more men, then the great German offensive of 1918 and the rout of the British Fifth Army, more frantic appeals, until finally we put under arms 4,000,000 men, sent 2,000,000 men to France, spent 20 billion dollars and had 150,000 casualties. I need not refer to our treatment by our former allies after the Armistice. They took the loot, we did not even get thanks.

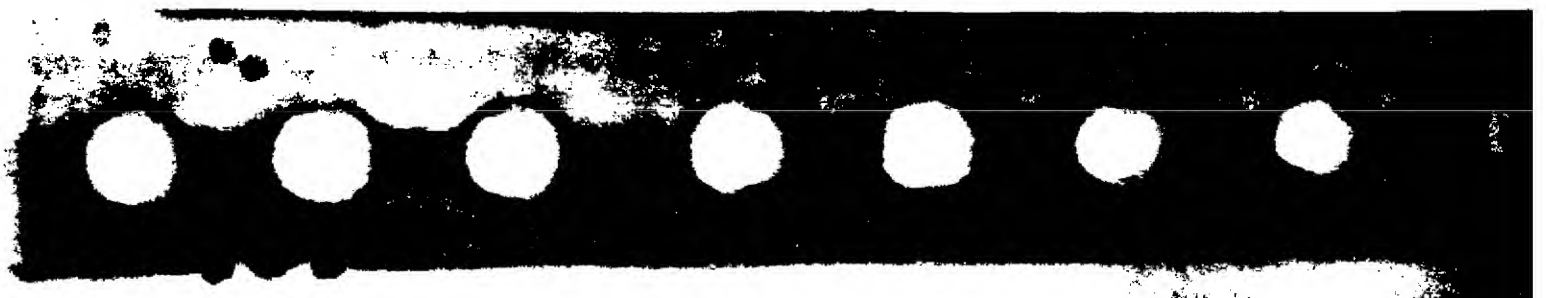
I do not often agree with the editorials on foreign policy in my friend Frank Knox's paper, but there is a recent editorial with which I am in 100% agreement. The editorial quoted two recent speeches by both Presidential candidates in which both pledged themselves never to send American boys to France. The editorial spoke of both these pledges as political bunk and very truly stated that if we entered the war we would enter it to win, and, if necessary to win, we would send an expeditionary force—and that is the absolute truth.

The People Must Know the Truth

The issue should be honestly presented to the people. If we aid Britain, short of war and beyond the limits of the Neutrality Act, it ultimately means war and should mean war. If we enter the war, we must enter it with all our strength in men and money. That is the only way to win a war.

If the military reports from abroad are correct, I feel there is no doubt that Great Britain can defend her island, her dominions like Canada, Australia and New Zealand. She may lose Egypt, the Suez and Gibraltar, though this is extremely doubtful. So far the Italians have shown no signs of real offensive strength. There is little doubt that England can make a negotiated peace by which she can keep her fleet and her colonies, but which will leave Germany the economic control of Western Europe. But she cannot decisively defeat Germany unaided. Her statesmen privately admit that, and say that for her to gain a decisive victory we will have to actively enter the war. One of the great mistakes made by the Allies in this war was that in its first six months they thought they could win a safe economical war, with France sitting behind the Maginot line and England maintaining its blockade, with little expenditure of blood and a minimum expenditure of treasure. For us to actively enter the war means ships, planes, money, men, expeditionary forces. That is the issue that must ultimately be presented to the American people, and it should be presented openly, honestly and squarely.



Our Own Democracy Will Be Sacrificed

In deciding this issue, the American people should face the costs. We start with a debt of $50,000,000,000. With the enormous cost of waging modern war, the cost of sending forces over 3,000 miles of ocean, of engaging our navy in the Far East, we would ultimately face a debt of from 100 to 150 billions. Victorious or defeated, we will be faced at the conclusion of such a war with great economic dislocations —the rich would face a capital levy, the middle classes impoverishment, and the masses a lowered standard of living and the loss of most of the social gains so far secured.

Competent observers believe that if the war is prolonged in Europe over one or two years, it will result in Communism in all Europe, and a species of National Socialism in England. If we are involved, it probably spells the end of capitalism all over the world.

Defend America First, Last, Always

I would unhesitatingly say to throw everything we have into a war to defend the United States or our own sphere of influence, which is the North American continent and part, if not all, of the South American continent. I do not think the American people should make these sacrifices to interfere in the quarrels of Europe and Asia, old, sick and overpopulated continents with ancient rivalries that cannot be healed. It is up to the American people to decide whether they want to make these sacrifices to preserve not England but the British Empire, and help regulate Europe and Asia. But they should make the decision with all the cards on the table, not misled by artifice and subterfuge.

But if that decision is given affirmatively, I think you will find Americans like myself, who sincerely believe such a course spells disaster to the nation, will be at their posts of duty in the service of this country. I am old fashioned enough to believe in the toast offered by Stephen Decatur back in 1816, "Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations, may she always be in the right: but Our Country, right or wrong."

QUOTATIONS OF LEADING MILITARY AUTHORITIES

"No foreign power or group of powers can operate across the ocean and stand in combat with the American Navy and planes operating from home bases."—Admiral William S. Sims, shortly before his death.

"Of course there is no possibility ever of any hostile attack on either of our coasts."—Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps, Nov. 18, 1935.

"I do not think that any fleet could ever make a landing an effective force on our coast, whether we had a navy or not, provided there are enough shore-based aircraft available. . .I do not think that any thinking person ever feels that any nation can successfully invade our country leaving out the aircraft or anything else."—Rear Admiral Cook, 1938.

"Considered from the defensive standpoint America is the strongest military nation on the earth—that is, it is the easiest nation to prepare for defensive warfare. It would not take much to make it invulnerable against any nation or combination of nations that might be brought to bear against it."
—Major General Hagood, 1937.

"Our fleet IS LARGE ENOUGH TO HANDLE SIMULTANEOUSLY A COMBINATION OF ENEMIES, being about as large as Britain's scattered fleet, considerably superior to Japan's, three times as large as Italy's, four times stronger than Germany's, only slightly inferior to the combined navies of all three totalitarian nations, and far stronger in naval aviation than any navy in the world."
—Hanson W. Baldwin, July, 1939.

"Continental United States, even without the extraordinary defense measures adopted by Congress, is well-nigh impregnable. So are its outlying possessions, except the Philippines, Wake and Guam. Such impregnability can be brought to a point of completeness with relatively small additional effort."
—Hanson W. Baldwin, July, 1939.

CAN HITLER INVADE AMERICA?

THIS little pamphlet is intended to answer the question—Can Hitler Invade America?

This is a very important question. It is important because Americans are told that this terrible war in Europe is our war.

It is called our war because, we are told, if Hitler defeats England the United States is next on the list. Having crushed England and taken the English navy, it is said, he will then INVADE AMERICA. And because so many people believe this to be true they are willing to go to any lengths to aid Britain to defeat Hitler.

This whole argument turns on one point—that Hitler, after he defeats England, CAN INVADE AMERICA. And so the great question is — CAN HE?

Now then, let us begin at the beginning.

There is no doubt that Hitler and his great Nazi army is a powerful military machine. There is also no doubt that Hitler will stop at nothing to gain his objectives—to take any country that he wants.

He overran Czechoslovakia and Poland swiftly. Then he turned to overrun Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France in startling quick succession.

Because he could do this we are warned that he can do the same thing to the United States and that the only thing that protects us from Hitler is the British navy.

Let us see therefore just what Hitler would require in order to invade the United States.

First of all, we start out with the fact that all these countries put together — Poland, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France —are much smaller than the United States.

Their total populations equal 110,000,000. Our total population is 130,000,000.

They were divided into seven different countries. Each one was small compared with Germany. They were scattered around Germany's rim. Hitler could attack each one separately. And each one —save France—was just a small morsel for him. But the United States is a unified country—a single nation—and the attack would be against the whole United States.

In the next place, all these countries were right on Germany's land frontiers. In each case all he had to do was to roll across their land borders and he was inside their gates. They had fortresses, barricades. But these were nothing against his vast mechanical equipment. When he had defeated France he turned to fight England. Germany has 80 million population and a gigantic army and an air force three times the size of Britain's. England has only 50 million people. But when Hitler turned on England there was the English Channel —only 23 miles wide at its narrowest point. This is only about half the distance from Washington to Baltimore: But when he faced that problem of crossing that narrow strip of water—he has not yet, after fifteen months of war and seven months since France fell, even attempted to cross it with soldiers or tanks.

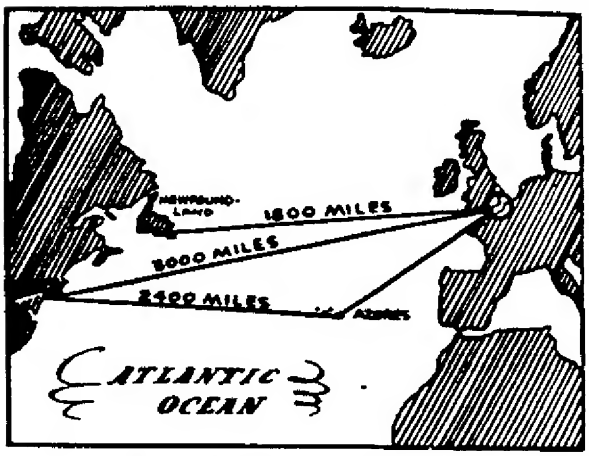
When he attempts to invade the United States —or Canada—he would have to face the problem of crossing with his armies THREE THOUSAND MILES of the Atlantic Ocean and facing not 50



The problem of invading England is all comprised in the small circle. There is a narrow strip of sea—less than 26 miles at its narrow point—which Germany must cross to invade England either with an army or with planes. Sending planes over, of course, is a simple matter as far as distance is concerned. But invading the United States or Canada means traversing the immense mileage of ocean either to New York or Newfoundland or from the Azores or other equally distant ports.

million people on a small island with but small natural resources, but a vast nation with 130 million people and resources far exceeding his own.

Now let us look at this problem as realistically as possible. Just what would be the job that Hitler would have on his hands?

We have spoken of the "might" of Hitler's armies. In what does that might consist? His armies are mighty because they are equipped with an endless supply of tanks, armored trucks, machine guns and great cannon and mortars, anti-aircraft guns and anti-tank guns and great motorcycle squadrons and planes. His army was no longer an army on foot. It was an army in trucks and in tanks plunging against its adversaries and mowing them down and rolling over them.

Of course if Hitler ever attempted to invade America he would have to bring not only his soldiers but all this equipment. Without it he would be helpless.

Let us see then what he would have to bring across the 3,000 miles of ocean to invade America.

First, we have to decide how many men he would use to invade America and defeat us. Now right here the reader must understand that the German army leaders have shown immense intelligence. We know that they are not coming to America with a handful of men—they are not going to attempt to conquer us without bringing enough men here to do the job. How many men would that be?

When Hitler invaded little Norway he sent 60,000 men.

When Mussolini attacked Ethiopia he used half a million men—When Hitler went into Poland—just across his borders and with only 36 million population—he marched with 1,000,000 men.

When he moved against Holland, Belgium and France he used not less than TWO MILLION MEN. Estimates place the number far higher.

Now is it not a fair assumption that to defeat the United States here he would have to have at least as many men as he took into France? Does anyone suppose that Hitler could conquer this country with anything less than three or four million men? He would have to have an army that size and all the equipment necessary to make it irresistible.

But let us suppose, however, that Hitler was crazy enough to try to beat the United States with a mere million men. Just how much equipment would he have to bring along with the men to make them effective? The mass of war instruments that such an army requires staggers the imagination.

The following figures are based on the equipment carried by American army units and are, therefore, very much under what the German army units carry.

This army would require:

19,320 machine guns	2,520 75mm. field guns
7,770 automatic rifles	1,120 155m. howitzers
2,590 anti-tank guns	6,930 mortars

Vehicles:

65,590 trucks	1,610 tractors
19,820 trailers	1,756 ambulances
4,500 tanks	1,120 passenger cars
7,910 motorcycles	450 air-compressors

70 electric lighting sets

Planes:

1,820 light bombers	5,880 reconnaisance planes
1,650 pursuit planes	350 transport planes

(a total of 9,800 planes)

Anti-aircraft guns:

840 3mm. AA guns	1,680 37mm. AA guns

1,680 .50 calibre AA guns

Of course such an army must have food, fuel and ammunition. This vast armada, with its modern weapons, would have to bring its food, its oil, its ammunition until the country is conquered.

It would require:

9,000,000 lbs. of rations and supplies a day
1,500,000 gallons of gasoline a day
150,000 gallons of oil.

What quantities of shot and shell would be required it is difficult to say, but the amount would be staggering. After Hitler's army got here, it would have to keep open behind a line of supply from its main supply base capable of keeping a continuous flow of provisions, fuel, ammunition and replacements of arms and equipment.

The problem of transporting this vast army and the mountains of equipment and continuous supplies it would require is utterly beyond the power of any country.

First, the men must be sent over in ships. And these ships must be convoyed. They cannot be sent across the ocean in little vessels. Ships of less than 2,000 tons would, of course, be completely useless.

Of course to send a million men over at one time would be out of the question.

Mr. Hanson Baldwin, the military expert of the New York Times, says:

> "The world's tonnage facilities are such that no power or combination of powers could possibly transport more than 300,000 men in a month. An initial expeditionary force of about 50,000 would be the maximum practical number that could be brought against us, if the size of convoy, number of ships and planes needed for protection and the like are considered."

In the World War we sent two million men to France. But we had, according to Col. Leonard Ayres, who wrote the official report on this great enterprise, the ships of twelve different countries—American, British, French, Italian, etc.—and the convoys of the American and British and French navies. The Germans were without a fleet. We landed these men on a friendly shore where they were received with open arms. And we sent an army of engineers and mechanics ahead of them to build ports and docks to unload the equipment.

Let us suppose that Germany has defeated England and taken the British navy. She now decides to send her army to America. Major George Fielding Eliot, military expert of the pro-war New York Herald-Tribune, says:

> "Troops cannot be transported overseas in any number save when naval command of the waters over which they pass has been previously assured, since a troop convoy is a large, slow and vulnerable target and will surely suffer heavily if its escort be attacked by anything like an equal force."

In the circumstances we have assumed that Germany, even with the British fleet, would not have complete command of the seas. For there would remain the American navy. And that navy would have to be wiped out before the German navy would command the seas on this side of the ocean. Two things must be remembered. First, at the end of this war the American navy would be larger than the German navy and the British navy combined. Second, the German government would have to do its naval fighting on this side of the ocean. It is an axiom of sea warfare that a naval vessel loses a fixed percentage of its effectiveness every 100 miles it gets from its own base. Great battleships have to fuel up frequently and must be accompanied by immense auxiliary ships. Three thousand miles away from their own coasts this navy would be utterly helpless against a navy which is merely its equal in numbers, but which would be three times its strength in effective fighting power. There is not a naval authority who believes that the German government would attempt a mass naval battle in our waters against our naval strength.

If a flotilla of 30 or 40 ships with 50,000 men, convoyed by a larger number of warships and all their equipment attempted to land here, it could not sneak in on some dark night. Plane scouts would herald its approach days in advance. When it got here it could not empty its cargo on an open beach. Which means the flotilla would have to come into one of our harbors, all of which are protected by artillery and would be sown with mines. Major Eliot makes this clear. He says:

> "Large armies, accompanied as modern armies must be by artillery of various calibres, tanks and other heavy equipment, as well as vast quantities of munitions and supplies, cannot usually be landed on an open beach; but must first obtain possession of a secure harbor with the necessary piers, cranes, and other accessories for getting ashore their accessories."

Even the planes used by this invading force must be transported to this country by ships. Mr. Baldwin says:

> "Today planes must be transported by sea to the Western Hemisphere; the air armies of Europe and Asia are not yet able to bridge the Atlantic and Pacific under their own power. Isolated planes can do it but not mass bombing formations."

There are planes that have flown across the Atlantic, but they must find a friendly landing here. They cannot come here as hostile craft and be welcomed on hospitable landing fields. It is possible to build bombers that could come here and land a few bombs but this would have no military effect at all.

For every man transported here there must be at least seven and a half tons of shipping. An attacking force of 100,000 would require 750,000 tons. An average of 5,000 tons would require 150 vessels convoyed by a flotilla of naval vessels made up of seven battleships, several aircraft carriers, seven light cruisers, a couple of mine-layers and at least seventy destroyers. Imagine this immense armada, moving slowly over the seas and approaching our coasts—3,000 miles from their own base and at the mercy of our navy and our air force, and compelled to make a landing at a port protected by heavy guns and mine-sown seas.

By the time a million men were landed, if that is conceivable, the attacking government would require 12,000,000 tons of shipping plying back and forth from the other side of the Atlantic to ports here to keep this great army supplied with provisions, fuel and ammunition. This would mean the arrival and departure of at least eighty ships a day and all at hostile ports and through hostile seas. The whole idea is so fantastic that no serious mind will entertain it for a moment. And, as a matter of fact, there is no military authority in this country who believes that an invasion of America by Germany with or without the British fleet is possible.

Hanson Baldwin, in Harper's Magazine for August, 1940, said, referring to an invasion of this hemisphere: "The problem seems impossible; not even Britain or a combination of Britain and Germany has sufficient shipping to divert such an enormous amount of it from their ordinary and vital trade routes to military purposes. We do not, therefore, have to fear the employment of mass armies in this hemisphere; the most we have to guard against is the possible transportation of a small expeditionary force."

To come here, after defeating England, Hitler would have to set out for America upon a vast military adventure, using up all the military resources he has. He would leave behind him on his rear Russia, which would welcome his plight, and 200,000,000 sullen people in Europe who, we may be sure, would be watching the moment to cause him trouble. That moment would come when he was compelled to strip himself in Europe to fight here. And he would fight here a battle that he would be sure to lose. Dictators cannot afford to take on such battles. They must win.

The President said in his last Message to Congress, January 6, 1941, "Even if there were no British navy it is not probable any enemy would be stupid enough to attack us by landing troops in the United States from across thousands of miles of ocean, until it had acquired strategic bases from which to operate."

Here is a complete admission by the man who has done more than anyone else to frighten the American people with the fear of invasion that a direct invasion is not possible. Yet hardly were these words cold on the President's lips when Mr. Hull went before a Congressional Committee and said if the British navy were eliminated to cross the Atlantic by Hitler would be a comparatively easy matter.

The President saves his point by insisting that Hitler would first have to acquire bases in this hemisphere. Now just look at this with a little common sense. Hitler will not come across thousands of miles of ocean to invade us directly because of the great distance he would have to transport his armies and equipment. Therefore if he attempted an invasion from bases those bases would have to be much closer to the United States than is Germany. Otherwise there would be no sense in bases.

The bases in this hemisphere which would answer this description from which Hitler could attack us are Brazil, various points in the West Indies, Bermuda, Newfoundland, Greenland and similar points.

Brazil is the favorite South American base to which the President is fond of referring. This is because Hitler can take over West Africa and concentrate his forces at Dakar there.

Africa bulges out on its west coast toward South America and South America bulges out toward Africa in Brazil. Dakar in Africa is only 1,600 miles from Pernambuco in Brazil. Hitler will be able to cross over the Atlantic at this narrow stretch to Brazil, and, as Senator Claude Pepper has described it, roll on into Venezuela, into Colombia, up through Central America into Mexico and on to the Rio Grande.

This amazing proposal is so grotesque that it hardly calls for an answer. It overlooks the fact that Hitler must take his vast force to Western Africa by sea—which is 3,200 miles from Germany—and then 1,600 miles across the Atlantic to Brazil. He will have travelled near 5,000 miles. Before he started from Germany he would be 3,300 miles from the United States. After travelling 5,000 miles to Brazil he would be 5,300 MILES FROM THE UNITED STATES. He would be further away than before he started.

He would have to have of course at least a million men—which would be a ridiculously small number. He would have to bring along all that immense accumulation of trucks, and trailers and motorcycles and tanks and guns and supplies. He would have to conquer Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia. He would have to move his men up through the narrow Isthmus of Panama and on through the mountainous regions, the swamps, the trackless plains of Guatemala, Nicaragua, Panama, Salvador and Honduras, dragging along his thousand-mile train of trucks and tanks and guns and trailers and supplies into Mexico and up over the wide plateaus, the pathless jungles, over the mountain gorges and the fever-infested plains of Mexico—his million men, his 65,000 trucks, his 20,000 trailers, his 10,000 tanks and incredible supplies of food, fuel, oil and ammunition—conquering all these countries as he goes and leaving behind great numbers of troops to hold them in subjection until he came at last to the Texas border—after a journey of nearly 10,000 miles over land and oceans. And he would still not be in the United States.

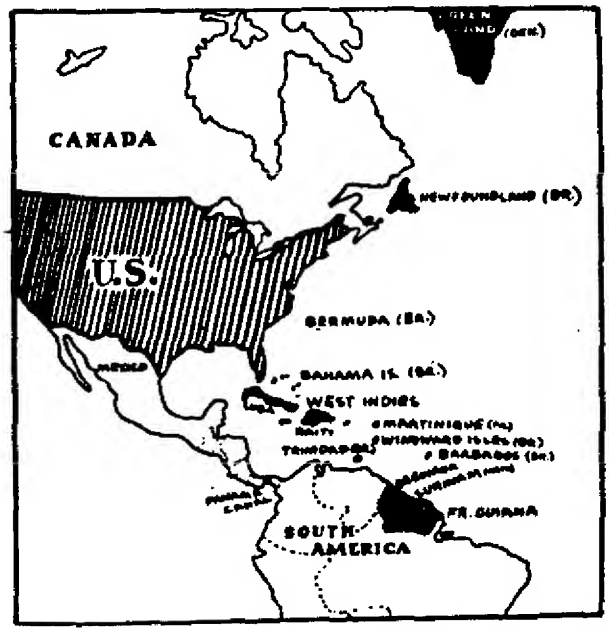
This, of course, is a bedtime story to frighten children and is based upon the assumption that American citizens are morons and will believe anything. Yet this is the basis of the argument that "we are next on Hitler's list."

Others tell us he will go to Greenland. Greenland is a vast tract of artic wilderness, its coasts rimmed by immense mountains, its interior covered with ice in places a thousand feet deep. Military and aviation experts know it is impossible to build these bases there to accommodate either naval or airplane units large enough for attack here. Even if it were possible Hitler could not do this unless he had command of the seas. And if he had command of the seas he wouldn't go to Greenland.

There are, however, other bases from which attacks might be launched. The map (Map 4)



This map shows the various bases from which an enemy might attempt to attack the United States. All those belonging to Britain, Holland, France are within a few days of our waters, some in our waters. They could be taken without firing a shot or losing a life if England were defeated. Germany would then have to take them from us which would be as difficult as landing in the United States.

will show these. You will see very quickly how little we have to fear on this score.

These bases are Newfoundland, Bermuda, the West Indies or any British or Dutch or French possessions in the general neighborhood of the Northern coast of South America.

Germany, it is feared, might, with the British fleet, capture these bases, if Hitler defeated England. If England were to be defeated the American fleet could seize any one of these bases within two days, three at the most. American warships kept within a day or two run from these places—mostly islands—could almost the very day that England fell take possession of these places without firing a shot, spending a dollar or losing a man. There is no need of going into a war—perhaps a ten-year war—to keep the Germans out of bases which we could capture in a few days and at no cost if Britain is defeated.

As for Newfoundland, there we would pursue the policy we would adopt for all of Canada and the country to the North of us in this hemisphere. We would announce that we would resist with force any attack upon that country. It would take Germany years to prepare for such an expedition and when prepared, even if she were stupid enough to attempt it, the same arguments which reveal the folly and impossibility of a frontal attack on the United States apply to Canada backed by the United States.

Why, then, do men talk about Hitler coming here? Because this is the cornerstone of the propaganda to get us into the war. Propagandists have pointed out that to get America in the war, "Americans must be frightened by some threat." And this threat has been manufactured by British and American interventionist propagandists and industriously circulated by them to get us into this war.

Americans are willing to aid Britain because they hate fascism, they are against Hitler, they look upon the English government, despite its aristocratic character, and its empire, as a more civilized form of government than Hitler's dictatorship. They are willing to help through a generous sympathy and not because they think this is our war.

Any airplane attempting to bomb us from Europe or from the Azores would have to face the certain fate of being destroyed. There is not in existence any fleet of planes that could menace us from Europe or from any base such as Greenland or the Azores. And of course everyone knows by now that you do not conquer a country like America merely by dropping bombs on it. It must be occupied. We are not vulnerable as Britain is, which depends for the very food she eats as well as for almost everything else, on shipments from abroad. She can be blockaded. We cannot.

All this does not mean that our country is not menaced by dangers. The most serious dangers are interior. It does not mean that we must be unarmed. It means that we must provide this country with whatever defenses are essential to make an invasion by any force, however great, impossible. And that is easily possible to us. What is impossible to us is to create inside of many years an aggressive force capable of invading Europe or Asia and carrying on an aggressive war there. And few Americans want to do that.

Read what three of America's outstanding economists say:

BERNARD M. BARUCH
RAYMOND MOLEY
GEORGE N. PEEK

TO FIND the answers to the questions which are being asked so frequently these days about Hitler's threat to our economy, the America First Committee presents the views of three men who know as much about that problem as anyone in the country.

A brief biographical sketch of Mr. Baruch will be found on page 4.

Mr. Moley's background is described on page 9.

To see why Mr. Peek is so well qualified to answer those questions, read the brief outline of his record on page 16.

An interview with

BERNARD M. BARUCH

BERNARD M. BARUCH was born in 1870. As the man who directed this country's unprecedented industrial effort of 1917-18, he is singularly well qualified to discuss America's economic relation to the present war.

A member of the New York Stock Exchange, who had dealt with problems of trade and finance all his life, Mr. Baruch was appointed a member of the Advisory Council on National Defense by President Wilson in 1916. He was soon elevated to the post of Chairman of the War Industries Board, where he discharged with great distinction powers which were said to be the greatest ever held by any American. Later he served as Economic Advisor for the American Peace Commission and in 1922 became a member of the President's Agricultural Peace Commission. He is the author of many treatises on various economic subjects.

The statements he makes in the interview published herein are rendered particularly pertinent by the fact that Mr. Baruch is presently a close consultant of President Roosevelt on matters of national defense.

(The following is a reprint of an article by Robert Laffan which appeared in the June 6th issue of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.)

U. S. CAN UNDERSELL TOTALITARIANS IN WORLD MARKETS, SAYS BARUCH

Germany Would Be "On Spot" Economically Even If She Won War, He Asserts.

THE UNITED STATES can undersell totalitarian countries in world trade, according to Bernard M. Baruch, formerly chairman of Woodrow Wilson's War Industries Board, now a national defense consultant to the Roosevelt Administration.

In an exclusive interview with The Wal Street Journal, Mr. Baruch pointed out tha Germany, not the United States, would be "o the spot" economically if Germany were to wi control of the European continent.

"What will she do? Where can she sell h products or those of the countries she has co quered?" the veteran of another all-out w asked the reporter.

The United States market will be cut off fro European countries that formerly sold here, a cording to Mr. Baruch. Under proper econo policy the United States should be able to dr Germany out of any desired neutral market, believes.

A Program for the U. S.

According to Mr. Baruch this country must:

(1) Maintain a low price structure throughout this war.

(2) Develop quality and economy in mass-production industries.

Fears concerning Germany's economic prowess and cheap labor are exaggerated, according to Mr. Baruch.

He cited evidence he had just received from a large American company that owns a factory in a leading industrial city in Germany. (He named the city, but suggested the name be omitted.) The parent American company has received a report from the German factory, Mr. Baruch asserted, that shows conclusively that despite low wages and long hours, with the German mark at 37 cents, the American plant is turning out the same products more cheaply.

"Oh, they can make gimcracks where we don't make them," Mr. Baruch remarked, "but there is no reason why we can't undersell them in important mass-production products provided we maintain a low price structure."

Importance of Low Prices

He stressed the importance of this. A price rise now would have to be liquidated in the post-war period, and that would throw this country off balance and place it in an unfavorable position to wage economic war, he pointed out. But if prices here are held down, Germany will be faced with the huge unemployment and economic problem after the war, he believes.

Won't that mean that Germany will be forced to attack us? Mr. Baruch was asked.

"Let 'em come," he replied. Mr. Baruch emphasized that he is not one of those who have been complacent about Germany over the past many years. Like Winston Churchill, Mr. Baruch can point to the fact that he has been trying to awaken public opinion ever since 1935 to the rise of Nazi military power and to the need for preparedness.

Mr. Baruch's comments followed a discussion of his book, "American Industry in the War," which has just been issued by Prentice Hall, Inc. The book is a reprint of the report of the old War Industries Board, together with Mr. Baruch's own program for total mobilization of the nation as presented to the War Policies Commission in 1931. It also contains material on priorities and price fixing.

An editorial by

RAYMOND MOLEY

RAYMOND MOLEY was born in Berea, Ohio in 1886. He has long been a keen observer of national affairs—first as a Professor of Politics, Government and Public Law; later, as a journalist. He has been one of President Roosevelt's closest advisors.

During the World War, Mr. Moley served as Director of Americanization for the Ohio State Council on Defense. In 1933 he was appointed Assistant Secretary of State by President Roosevelt—his special forte being international economics. He left this post to assume the editorship of the magazine "Today". This magazine later merged with "Newsweek", of which Mr. Moley is now Contributing Editor.

The following editorial by Mr. Moley appeared in the June 9, 1941 issue of "Newsweek".

WORLD TRADE AND THE FUTURE

BY NOW the military, naval and diplomatic implications of President Roosevelt's fireside speech have been pretty thoroughly thrashed over. He has, by subsequent statements and acts, clarified much of what he said then. So it is unnecessary to pursue those aspects here. But there were economic implications in the President's statement of policy that will prove to be of almost equal importance in the long run. What he said about international economic questions, taken in connection with Mr. Hull's speech a week before, merits the keenest examination.

In much of the discussion on both sides of the debate on how far we should move into the orbit of war, there is a common economic assumption. It seems to be taken for granted that it is possible, through a military decision, to restore nineteenth-century methods of international trade if Britain wins, or, if Germany wins, to destroy those methods as we have known them in the past and to substitute an entirely new worldwide system of exchanging goods among nations.

YET it ought to be remembered that, war or no war—even without the interposition of the World War, in fact—economic developments were taking place throughout the world which pointed to a permanently changed world trade.

This has never been described so well as in Mr. Graeme K. Howard's book, "America and a New World Order." Mr. Howard's rare competence to speak on this subject lies in the fact that he is not a mere theoretical economist or a diplomat or a politician. He is vice president of the General Motors Corporation in charge of overseas operations, and his experience has been that of a man who has actually been engaged in selling goods abroad. He says: "In the new century, in spite of the fact that markets have grown and that new inventions, such as the automobile and the airplane, have infused new vigor into world economy, the rate of market expansion has declined . . . Unless domestic economies everywhere are again made to function as they once did, we will find the twentieth century barren of the remarkable growth in trade which was characteristic of the nineteenth."

There have been times when the Administration has proceeded on the basis of this belief. There have been others when the Administration has adhered to this theory's exact opposite. The strange duality of economic policy with which the fabric of New Deal history is shot needs no detailed analysis here. In the oil business, for instance, agreements to limit production and dispose of surpluses—agreements encouraged by some sectors of government—have been attacked by other sectors of government as combinations in restraint of trade. Or, to take another example, we are boosting the price of cotton by artificial means, thus encouraging competitive foreign production, at the same moment that insist upon talking about increasing our exports of cotton.

THE success of the United States in world competition after this war will largely depend upon the power, resourcefulness and productiveness of its own economy. Of course we cannot compete if that economy is plagued by disunion, hamstrung by fundamental inconsistencies, living beyond its means, dissipating its substance for nonproductive purposes. Nor can we afford to make the mistake of attempting to repeat the imperialistic course of the British Empire in the past century. The creation of that kind of empire is a thing of the past. We should find it impossible, as Germany, Japan or any joint effort of Germany and Japan will find it impossible.

The world is moving in the direction of self-dependent states and self-dependent blocs of states, eager to produce what they consume and intent upon an economy that will, through inventive genius, devise substitutes for the materials supplied by foreign producers. In this very fact lies a direct economic answer to the German threat. Because whatever may be the intention of the military and political masters of Germany, the kind of economy that the Germans have developed is in itself an answer to and a defeat for its pretentions as an imperialistic system. That is the ironic truth that Germany will sometime have to face. And if it has any intelligence left, it will face it soon, before the lust for empire gets too strong.

It was a corollary of the haphazard free-enterprise theory of trade that some, though not all, wars were fought in pursuit of trade advantages. It is possible that there was just enough color in the theory of the military pursuit of foreign markets to lend widespread credence to the Marxian thesis that capitalism was a breeder of wars.

If that thesis of Marx cannot be refuted by cold facts and by internationally directed intelligence, the future of the world is dark indeed. If the choice we of the twentieth century face is a choice between militarily controlled trade and the boggling free-enterprise kind of trade—both of which ultimately run themselves into the ground—then Communism may be destined to inherit the earth, with all the evil that would follow in its wake. If we cannot carry on trade without fighting wars over and over—wars which, in most instances, bring to the conqueror the hatred not only of the enemy, but the hatred of those who are allegedly being helped—then there is no prospect but retrogression before the human race.

All this has a very special bearing upon the economic future of this hemisphere and upon our relations with the countries to the south of us. The attitude of this Administration with respect to Latin America has been admirable in its restraint, in its courtesy and in its constant emphasis upon a spirit of mutual help. It has limited itself to mere conversational hoopla, has made sincere efforts to lay the foundation for sound political relationships with the La

American nations. Still there is a tendency to blur over the hard fact that lasting relations cannot be established on any basis that would keep these countries as permanent producers of raw materials only. Without industrialization they cannot develop the means of economic self-defense. They will lack even the means of effective cooperation in hemisphere defense. And, unless they are industrialized, we, in turn, cannot escape the ultimately disastrous role of a dominant industrial nation penetrating the markets of these countries solely for the purpose of supplying them with consumers' goods.

THE military as well as the economic defense of the other countries in this hemisphere can succeed only if those countries are able to sustain, in and of themselves, a considerable proportion of their energy and of their material means for that defense. That will mean close and active military alliances with us. It will mean the joint occupation of military and naval bases. It will mean a clear definition of the extent to which nations alien to this hemisphere will be permitted to penetrate any of these countries.

Thus mobilized, the Western Hemisphere could contemplate the localization of the Nazi movement in Europe alone with vastly less trepidation. As the President pointed out in his speech, the farther the Nazi power spreads itself over Europe, Asia and Africa, the greater the danger to itself and the more certain that the whole structure will ultimately break up into little bits.

An interview with

GEORGE N. PEEK

GEORGE N. PEEK was born in Polo, Illinois, in 1873. All his life he has been intimately connected with farm problems, and especially with their relation to America's foreign trade.

In 1933 he was appointed Administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, and during 1934-35 he filled the post of Special Advisor to President Roosevelt on foreign trade. During this same period he was President of the Government Export-Import Banks.

Thus, Mr. Peek speaks as a man whose life has been devoted to those very problems whose solution means so much to America today. His opinion is an expert one. His facts come not only from the most accurate sources available to the government, but also from his own vast knowledge and experience.

QUESTION:

Can Hitler impoverish America? Can he cause an economic collapse in this country by stifling our foreign trade, cutting off our markets, and denying us access to the vital materials we need? Can his slave labor, his barter system, his goldless economy invade us where his panzer divisions cannot? Assertions that Hitler could do those things are made by the war interventionists, including Mr. Wendell Willkie, in a recent statement. What do you think of those assertions in general?*

*"Americans, Don't Be Afraid!" Collier's, May 10, 1941.

ANSWER:

HITLER cannot impoverish America by stifling our foreign trade, by cutting off either our markets or our sources of supply of vital materials. To assume that he can is a counsel of unreasoning defeatism. But America can impoverish herself by spending her substance on foreign wars.

One of the presumably convincing arguments put forth by many well-meaning people, as well as by the interventionists, is that although a victorious Germany might find it impossible to invade this country, she could destroy our world trade and force us to trade according to her wishes and on her own terms.

Now comes Mr. Willkie citing this argument as part of the interventionist campaign to take this country into war. He does not advance a single reason why his views should be taken seriously on account of any special knowledge or experience in the field of trade—foreign or domestic. He advances no new points. Rather, he seems to appear as just another advocate, this time on economic grounds, of the interventionists' campaign—a campaign to involve our country in a foreign war. In this campaign, too, his assertions may be regarded as "campaign oratory."

The arguments of one, however, are the arguments of all. They stem from the self-interests of a few. They are built on a false theory of trade. Therefore, their case will not stand up before a jury of American informed opinion.

QUESTION:

Your statement may be perfectly true, but I think it must be substantiated. You say that the arguments of the war interventionists are based on a false theory of trade. Now if Hitler were to control a large part of the rest of the world, would he not be in a position to dictate terms to us? Why is that a false theory of trade?

ANSWER:

MY REPLY to their argument has been that we hold the answer largely in our own hands. The same argument could be advanced with respect to Great Britain or other nations. My reply would be the same. Competition is the life of trade and is always a threat in private business, no matter from whom it comes. So it is with nations.

Political control is one thing—economic necessity quite another. Now let us get this straight. There is no difference in principle between foreign and domestic trade, except as restrictions have been imposed upon the entry of goods and the transfer of funds between countries. The war interventionists' theory is that one party to a transaction could dictate all the terms and conditions of the trade between two or more parties. How false! Every man, woman, and child knows better if he will think but for a moment. It takes two parties to complete a trade. The necessities and the desires of each are basic. To assume that one may dictate all the terms and conditions is assuming something which is not so. Therefore, their case rests on a false premise and should be dismissed. As to Hitler's ability to dictate terms of trade to us in the event of a victory—no—that is where economic necessity comes into play. For example:

In 1933 and 1934 we demonstrated that we could trade with other nations to our mutual advantage. Indeed, we made some desirable deals—mutually agreeable ones with France Spain and Italy—but the Administration refused to continue to trade. The reason given was that to do so would interfere with our trade agreement policy, which was one of international altruism toward every country in the world save one. The real reason, however, was more obscure. In the case of Germany, notwithstanding that her two great necessities were understood to be easier access to raw materials and larger markets for her manufactured products, we denied her both, beginning as far back as 1934. The reasons were social and political. Vice President Wallace now says (Address, Foreign Policy Association, April 8, 1941) "The next peace must give the . . . aggressor nations the opportunity to buy raw materials and sell manufactured goods without discrimination." If the President, Mr. Hull, Mr. Wallace, and the other New Dealers had recognized Germany's legitimate necessities in 1934 and since, instead of declining to trade with her, they might have made a real contribution toward world peace and might have checked the rapid rise of Naziism and thus avoided the danger of American participation in this war.

Desirable opportunities to trade were rejected, also, for one reason or another, with England, Japan, Italy, and other nations. In 1939 we revised this position somewhat when we made an agreement with England to exchange cotton for rubber. No change in basic policy, however, is indicated by this isolated incident, as the President made clear in his message to Congress last January.

QUESTION:

Accepting your statement that it takes two parties to make a trade, what advantages would we have to use against Germany's increased bargaining power? You have shown that grave errors were made and it would have been possible to make desirable trades. But under German control of Europe and other areas, won't the conditions be so different that former rules will not apply?

ANSWER:

FIRST and foremost in importance is our great market. We have the greatest consuming power in the world. Our purchases from foreign countries support a large part of the economy of many of them. For example:

Latin America produces 90 percent of all the coffee—we consume half of it. Europe, too, depends upon Latin America for her supply—about the same quantity as ours—although she has four times our population.

The Malay States, the Dutch East Indies, and small neighboring countries produce nearly 95 percent of the rubber and, including China, 60 percent of the tin. We use half of the rubber and 40 percent of the world's production of tin.

Japan produces nearly 90 percent of the silk —we buy 90 percent of her exports.

These are examples of the dependency of foreign nations upon our market. Others may be cited, i. e., jute from India, diamonds and gold from South Africa, tea from southeastern Asia, etc.

The economy of such nations does not shift with the flag of the overlord. It relies upon our markets. It does not change with super-political control.

A careful canvass of the world's mineral production discloses that the non-American nations of the world are more dependent upon the western hemisphere than it is dependent upon them.

As an example of the dependency of other countries upon our markets, let us consider a few items:

In the case of rubber, in 1929 we imported 528,602 tons at an average price of 20.5¢ per pound; we paid foreign countries for it $247,420,000. By 1932 our imports had dropped to 393,731 tons and the price to 3.4¢; we paid $34,273,000. By 1937 we had increased our imports to 592,528 tons, and the price had risen to 19.4¢—a total of $252,859,000. The last two years show a greatly increased tonnage on account of our policy of storing up rubber.

In the case of tin, the story is similar. In 1929 we imported 195,165,000 pounds at 45.19¢, or $91,839,000. In 1932 we imported 77,995,000 pounds at 22.01¢, or $16,474,000. In 1937 our imports amounted to 197,377,000 pounds at 54.24¢, or $104,285,000.

This merely shows the necessity and desirability of an active American market for the products of foreign lands.

Then comes the question of technological development and the use of substitutes. Great progress has been made in this field in recent years.

The development of synthetic rubber has progressed to a point where we may say that, if necessary, we are no longer dependent upon the eastern hemisphere. Within a very few years we could produce our own rubber, as Germany has done. A number of our most important concerns are active in this field.

The same thing may be said of silk—witness the great development of rayon, and now nylon.

We are now preparing to smelt a considerable portion of our tin requirements in the United States from ore coming from Latin America. In addition, important substitutes have been developed from plastics and other materials, replacing tin.

This hemisphere can supply our manganese and potash—the former through the development of machinery and processes of refining low grade ores here and in Cuba, and the latter through the development of our own mines.

These are examples only. There is great progress in other fields.

Trade is a fleeting thing. Conditions and methods change, demand and sources of supply with them. For example, we have seen England abandon the practice of a century as the leading advocate of free trade and the gold standard, and for a decade follow a new policy of tariffs, trade agreements between nations, and managed currency. I do not say that this is or is not the best way to conduct trade between nations, but the point is that that is the way world trade has been trending for more than a decade. We are the only important nation attempting to ignore this fact.

My view is that we must recognize the fact that we cannot prescribe the rules and regulations for all the world. Rather, if we are going to engage in trade with other nations, we should use our strategic advantages to negotiate country by country in our own interest.

We should, of course, keep ourselves in a position to join with other nations in improving methods of trading if and when the time comes that the rest of the world is ready to consider a change. But, in the meantime, we should refrain from playing Santa Claus and from opening our markets recklessly to nearly all the world and so exposing our national economy to influences from abroad over which we have no control. Our need is for more defense of our internal economy—not less. We must stop letting foreign prices determine our domestic prices.

QUESTION:

What do you mean by foreign prices determining domestic prices?

ANSWER:

WORLD price very largely determines the domestic price of every crop of which we export a surplus. This price applies to the whole of the crop, whether consumed at home or exported, however much this burden is lessened by Government handouts. Industrial tariffs can and do protect prices of articles for which crop is exchanged. The fair exchange value of the crop is thus reduced in proportion to the protection afforded industry. Therefore, the protective principle usually operates for the benefit of industry and to the detriment of agriculture.

This problem is as old as our history. Alexander Hamilton recognized it and in his famous "Report on Manufactures", written in 1790, after urging a policy of tariff protection for industry, observed that the day might come when it would be necessary to give agriculture an equivalent. He proposed at some future time to offset by subsidy or otherwise the farmer's disadvantage of having to buy in a protected market while having to sell in an unprotected world market at world prices.

Notwithstanding the millions and billions that have been appropriated for agriculture in the last few years, the basic fault remains—while we pay our farmers not to produce, we encourage foreign farmers to produce, not only for foreign markets which we formerly supplied, but for our markets, by making it easier to import. Such a policy cannot be permanent. Its duration will be immeasurably shortened by the vast expenditures we must make for our national defense program.

QUESTION:

If Germany, producing with slave labor, can offer better prices to South America, how could we be able to compete?

ANSWER:

THAT is a trick question. It must be remembered that Germany, and England, too, has a substantial representation in South Americbefore the war in 1914. There is nothing new about competition with them except in degree. There are many considerations besides price. Design and adaptability of products to do the work desired; terms, delivery dates; personal equation between buyer and seller and numerous other things. Frequently we hear the phrase, "Quality is remembered long after price is forgotten." If price were the sole measuring stick the manufacturer with the lowest price would be selling all the goods, be they automobiles or what. Competition would die, monopoly would succeed it and higher prices might then result.

The answer lies in mutuality of interest between countries so long as governments control the foreign trade of their nationals. Under these circumstances there is only one intelligent procedure and that is to recognize the conditions under which trade is conducted between nations and negotiate country by country for the terms and conditions under which goods may be exchanged satisfactorily. Each country must recognize frankly the needs of the other.

Other things being equal free labor can outproduce slave labor. We made our greatest progress after we abolished slavery—slave labor produces little buying power. We must keep in mind always that American wage levels support our higher American standards of living. They protect the American workers on our farms and in our factories against the lower standards not only of the forced labor of the Axis Powers and Russia but of the lower paid labor of the Argentine Indian and the Chinese Coolie and the cheaper labor everywhere outside the United States of America. The difference is one only of degree. Our wage levels must be insulated against the competition of a world turned upside down.

Perhaps this is not a complete answer but it is difficult to give a complete answer to a trick question.

QUESTION:

In the early part of this interview you referred to the arguments of the war interventionists as stemming from the self-interest of a few. To whom did you refer?

ANSWER:

IN THE FIRST place I referred to the approximately 20% shown by the Gallup poll of the people constituting the interventionists. More specifically I referred to those who profit from international trade—the international bankers, ocean transportation companies, marine insurance companies, importers, et cetera—as distinguished from the industrialists who do some foreign business incidental to their domestic business. All of the latter group must realize that if compelled to choose between a prosperous American market and one periodically shot to pieces by foreign events, they must choose the American markets.

Many Americans will recall that Mr. James P. Warburg of New York wrote two books

1936 opposing President Roosevelt's reelection. He supported Alfred Landon, but after Governor Landon made his St. Paul speech in which he took a stand for protection of the American market and for real Yankee trading, Mr. Warburg wrote a letter to Secretary Hull saying that in view of Mr. Landon's position he would have to support the Democratic ticket. He is now one of our leading interventionists. This is queer company for the New Dealers who were going to drive the money changers from the temple.

QUESTION:

Can you sum up in a few words what you think our policy should be and what the question boils down to?

ANSWER:

I THINK that all our foreign policies—political and economic—should be related definitely to our American needs and ideals, with the objective of protecting and perpetuating the form of government and the economic policies which have made our country great. Our aim should be to make possible to all Americans the fullest benefits of our form of government as granted by our Constitution and the Bill of Rights. The first requisite to this aim is knowledge based on reliable and comprehensive information, so that we may know what the problems are and consider them fairly. The second is a realization of the principle that foreign policies—whether political or economic—must not be permitted to destroy or impair either our form of government or our standards of living.

The question boils down to this: Shall we take advantage of our position of geographic and economic security and contribute to world peace and prosperity by developing our own country and by attending to our own affairs, or shall we toss our nation into a common pool in the management of which ours will be only one voice and that not the controlling one? Shall we dilute our nation's strength with the world's weakness?

DID YOU KNOW

That Hitler, even if victorious over Europe and the Mediterranean countries, cannot dominate our trade?

THE CLAIM

"They (the dictatorships) would fasten an economic stranglehold upon our several nations..... Wages and hours would be fixed by Hitler..... The American farmer would get for his products exactly what Hitler wanted to give. He would face obvious disaster and complete regimentation."
(President Roosevelt, in his "unlimited emergency" speech of May 27, 1941, reported in Christian Science Monitor, May 28).

THE ANSWER

"However, the import requirements of Nazi Europe are so large and so varied that she is scarcely in a position to buy or refrain from buying at will. Her exports are wanted, but are not indispensable. Barring the use of force, her position in world markets will be as weak or as strong as her capacity to pay for the goods she needs. Clearly this is an issue whose outcome cannot be dictated entirely by Nazi Europe." ("Nazi Europe and World Trade," published by the Brookings Institution, June, 1941, page 184.

"The United States can undersell totalitarian countries in world trade, according to Bernard M. Baruch, formerly chairmar of Woodrow Wilson's War Industries Board, Now a national defen consultant to the Roosevelt Administration.... Mr. Baruch pointed out that Germany, not the United States, would be 'on the spot' economically if Germany were to win control of the European continent...." (In interview reported in The Wall Street Journal, June 6, 1941.

THE E NOMIC MENACE

Interventionists originally sought to frighten the American people into willingness to support American entry into the current war by lurid tales of military invasion of the Western Hemisphere by the triumphant Nazu war machine. When that theory was exploded by the military facts, the interventioists dug up the "Economic Menace". The American people were told that a Nazi-dominated Europe threatened our very way of life; that our trade would collapse before the ingenuity of the Nazis; that we would be subdued without the necessity of military attack. The "economic" theory could be advanced persuasively because there was little evidence available of either it's accuracy or its falsity. Presumably, the absence of evidence accounts for the fact that the President was persuaded to adopt the theory in his "unlimited emergency" speech of May27. Now the evidence is available; the "economic" theory is shown to have little basis in economic fact.

NAZI EUROPE

We can test the "economic" theory. Assume that the Nazis have military control of the entire continent of Europr (for the moment we can except the Soviet Union and the Soviet-dominated states.) Make the further (and unlikely) assumption that they are able to unify the numerous nationalities of Europe, suppress or alleviate the age-old hatreds, obtain willing and eager cooperation from the sullen millions of thier victims, and coordinate the productive capacities of the continent into one intregrated, centrally contolled, economic and political unit. That unit would comprise twenty countries (Albania, Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, and Yugoslavia.) Assume further that the Nazis are able to bring into that unit the eleven non-European countries which border the Meditteranean Sea (Algeria, Morocco, Tunisia, Libya, Tangier Zone, Egypt, Turkey, Syria, Lebanon, Palestine and Cyprus.) Such assumptions are more than generous to the advocates of the "economic" theory of conquest: they give the Nazis control over countries in Europe, North Africa and the Near East which are yet unconquered.

HOW STRONG IS NAZI EUROPE

The popular impression fostered by interventionists is based on the assumption that the Nazi regime has been greatly strengthened economically by its conquests, especially in its power to influence trade relations with the nations of the Western Hemisphere. That imprssion is shown to be far from accurate in a current study published by the Brookings Institute, a conservative and eminently authoritative research institution ("Nazi Europe and World Trade" by Cleona Lewis, published in June, 1941.) In this memorandum are discussed the resources and needs of a Nazi-controlled Europe as Dr. Lewis has analysed them Other aspects of the problem will be treated in subsequent memoranda.

HITLER'S PROBLEMS

Dr. Lewis's study is based upon two "control" years. 1929 and 1937. The first year was chosen because the Dawes Plan and American loans had made it a prosperous one. The second was chosen because it was one of great business activity and normal trade relations for Germany -- it was before the economies of European countries had been seriously distorted by "the purchase and storage of goods for war purposes" (page 3). Since no accurate date is available, no consideration is given to the cost, time and difficulties, obviously tremendous, of repairing the damage to productive capacities caused by the devastation and dislocations of war. In view of the staggering nature of the reconstruction problems, the study is reasonable in assuming that the 1929 and 1937 figures mark the maximum potential resources of Europe for several years to come. So vast would be the reconstruction job that Hitler would face, that the strengh attributed to Nazi Europe in the study probably exceeds its actual strength. The study does not consider the possibility that the total volumn of European production might increase under more efficient industrial operation. That possibility lies entirely in the realm of speculation, and is subject to a multitude of factors. Even the famed German ingenuity cannot do very much expand food and industrial raw material production in Europe. The study makes it clear that Europe's "climate, soil, and topography, and the poverty of its subsoil, all place limitations on its domestic output." (page 175).

NAZI TRADE WEAKNESSES

Except for these speculative qualifications which can be too easily over-emphasized, the study shows clearly that Nazi Europe- if it ever comes - will be in no position to dictate the nature and terms of world trade or of the trade of the Western Hemisphere countries. Paradoxical as it may sound, "Germany's supply problem has not been solved by her seizure of neighboring territories. On the contrary, it has been made more difficult. Raw-material imports, in particular, are considerably larger for the whole area than they were for Germany alone - whether they are measured in absolute of relative terms." (page 178) Despite the fact that Nazi Europe furnishes the "living space" the Nazi's claimed was vital to Germany's existence, Germany's trade position is now weaker than before the war.

THE NAZI*REICH BUYER

This is because Germany, before entry upon career of aggression, was ultimately dependent upon outside sources for food and raw materials, Far from attaining independence of foreign sources for food and raw materials by her conquests, Germany has become more dependant than ever before upon foreign sources. The old Reich, both in 1929 and 1937, managed to maintain a slightly larger volumn of exports than of imports, to sell more than she bought. Consequently she was in a position to drive a good bargain. (page 178). Her foreign trade was fairly stable from 1925 through 1937, with foods and raw materials accounting for about 90%, usually, of her imports, and manufactured goods making up from 65% to 80% of her exports. This ratio held good, in the main, even despite the much-exaggerated Nazi trade drive and Nazi attempts to force surplus manufactured goods down the throats of Latin American and other foreign trade countries. (pages 8-9)

NAZI EUROPE LARGER BUYER

Of the 20 European countries assumed to be under Nazi sway, only three really complement and help the Nazi economy by being exporters of foods and raw materials, and importers of manufacturers (Bulgaria, Rumania, Yugoslavia). Ten others are helpful to the Nazi's in part. Six of these (Denmark, Hungary, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, and Spain) dovetail with the German economy in that they export more food than they buy, and import more manufactured goods than they sell; but they are dependent, like the old Germany , for the most of their raw materials on outside sources. The four others in this second group (Albania, Greece, Norway and Sweden) also help the old Reich in that they can supply raw materials, and buy manufactures; but these countries are a detriment in that they must buy foods from outside sources. The last six states (Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia, France, Italy, Switzerland,) are alike Germany in that they must sell their manufactured goods to the outside world, and must buy foods and raw materials. These are the large industrial countries whose subjugation is popularly sopposed to constitute a great triumph for the Nazis. Actually, they furnish little opportunity for additional economic "living space". Once they are linked with Germany as a unit in Nazi Europe, they must buy from outside sources twice as much foodstuffs as the old Riech and almost three times as m many raw materials, and they must sell almost twice as many manufactures. They ahve made Germnay's presumed goal, independence of outside sources, much more difficult of attainment. (pages 11-13).

THE MEDITTERANEAN COUNTRIES

These figures are not changed materially even if the Nazis control the eleven non-European countries bordering the Mediteranean Sea. On the basis of 1937 data, the later provide only about 19% of the food and 8% of the raw materials needed by Nazi Europe, and take only 16% of the manufactured goods which Nazi Europe must sell. In short, " "larger Germany would have to import more food and raw materials, and find larger markets for manufactures, than were required for the old Reich." (pages 15-15).

What the effect of the conquest of Soviet Russia and Great Britain would be will be considered in detail in another memorandum. Nevertheless, it should be stated here that the subjugation of Russia would not ease the economic problems of a Nazi Europe as much as has been popularly sopposed. In 1929 and 1937 Russia's exports of foods and raw materials amounted to no more than 4% of Nazi Europe's needs (including Mediterranean countries). Nor is Russia much of a market for Nazi Europe's manufactured goods. (page 16).

BUY OR DIE

Nazi Europe must therefore import of die. Without food imports; Europe's population must go on short rations, because of shortages of cereals, fats, vegetable oils, meats, and dairy products. Without raw material imports, the textile industries would be crippled (for lack of sufficient supplies of cotton, wool, silk, jute, hemp, and flax.) The leather working industries would be gravely impaired; large scale synthetic rubber production would be necessary, which would in turn create new raw material needs. Without industrial mineral imports, "manufacturing, mining, transportation, communication and even agriculture would be severly handicapped. Machines and machine tools could no longer be made because of the lack of alloy metals and bearing metals. The automotive and electrical industries would suffer from lack of asbestos, mica, non-synthetic oils, copper and otjer minerals. There would be enough coal unless (a very likely probability) the resort to synthetic production of rubber, hosiery, and gasoline caused a coal shortage. (pages 175-177).

Nazi Europe will have to import. Without imports, even the manufactures of the goods which she must sell in order to buy more food and mor raw materials will be crippled. Nazi Europe will be in no position to buy or not to buy, as she pleases, adn therefore drive a hard bargain or dictate her own terms. The bargaining advantage will rest with the Western Hemisphere countries and the other countries of the world which have for sale the products Nazi Europe needs.

COMPLETE STATEMENT BY GENERAL ROBERT E. WOOD, National Chairman of the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE

The President has initiated an undeclared war in plain violation of the Constitution.

In 1917 President Woodrow Wilson sufficiently respected his oath of office and the Constitution of the United States to ask Congress to declare war. President Roosevelt now, however, ignores his oath of office and flouts the Constitution.

Not a single American life has yet been lost upon an American ship.

Shoot on sight is not short of war. It is war.

His refusal to consult Congress places upon him the sole responsibility for the inevitable loss of American lives.

President Wilson did not order American warships to shoot until Congress gave him that authority.

The America First Committee will throw its full weight on the side of the people and their Congress, in order to restore representative Government in the United States.

This attempt to take the American people into war, in betrayal of the most solemn promises a candidate ever made to his people, will be repudiated. It will be repudiated because it is a transparent attempt to avoid majority rule, and to put us into war by deceit.

President Roosevelt in effect seeks to abrogate the Neutrality Act by Executive decree. That law was three times enacted by Congress with the overwhelming support of the American people. The law was passed to prevent the American people from becoming hysterical when American lives were lost. He has become hysterical without the loss of an American life under the American flag. That Act required the President to define "combat area" in case of foreign war into which American ships and citizens were forbidden to go under penalties of $50,000 fines and years in prison. That Act remains unrepealed.

Mr. Roosevelt speaks wider of "freedom of the seas" -- but the Neutrality Act was expressly enacted to limit our freedom of the seas. The people calmly and deliberately agreed to forego "fool's gold" rather than have their sons killed.

Under that Act President Roosevelt established a combat area and forbade Americans to cross the Red Sea. He later removed the Red Sea as a combat area. In doing so, he made it legal in the letter of the law, but not in its spirit for American ships to enter that sea. The American merchant ship Steel Seafarer entered the Red Sea loaded with contraband of war at least 12,000 miles from our shores.

It was attacked in belligerent waters where the Neutrality Act and Congress never intended it to go. Are we now to be forced into war because of a fact that Congress never intended to assume responsibility for another ship -- the American-owned ship Sessa has been sunk with loss of one American life. But that ship had been previously transferred to Panama registry presumably to circumvent the penalties under the Neutrality Act. American shipowners hid behind a foreign flag to make some money. Are American men to die for their "dividends?"

President Roosevelt's "freedom of the seas" was also one of President Wilson's fourteen points, in these words: "Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas, outside territorial waters alike in peace and in war."

The British Government through its Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George said it could not accept this clause under any condition. If it had been in operation, England would have lost the power of imposing a blockade--its most powerful weapon. The United States acquiesced then and now in British repudiation of freedom of the seas.

President Roosevelt now states that he proposes to maintain our line of supply of materiel to the enemies of Hitler, and to protect the shipping of this and every other nation.

This is in violation of the spirit and intent of the Lease-Lend Bill. When the Lease-Lend Bill was enacted, only a few months ago, it was clearly understood and agreed that title to munitions of war was to pass to foreign buyers on this side of the Atlantic. The point of delivery was to be in American ports — and not in Liverpool, Cairo or Vladivostok. The point of delivery is the exact difference between peace and war. When the American people, through their Congress, enacted the Lease-Lend Bill, they assumed no responsibility for the safe carriage or delivery of cargo. If that responsibility is now to be assumed, let Congress assume it. If the Lease-Lend Bill is to be changed, let Congress change it.

When the Lease-Lend Bill was passed, Stalin and Hitler were comrades in arms. It is doubtful if Congress ever intended that American munitions would be delivered to Red Russia and that American aviation gasoline would be used to bomb Finland. Nor was it contemplated that American marines would be sent to Iceland, then and now occupied by British troops.

What President Roosevelt is doing is to convoy ships in violation both of the Neutrality Act and the spirit of the Lease-Lend Bill. He has himself stated that convoys mean shooting and shooting means war.

He brings up the war party's defeatist idea of America unable to defend itself. The American people do not agree.

This whole approach to war has been tricky, secretive and dishonest.

The President insists upon other nations complying with the last jot and tittle of neutrality while unneutral himself.

Let Mr. Roosevelt and Messrs. Stimson and Knox withhold their hands from bloodshed until the whole situation in the light of these new circumstances has been again referred to the Board of Directors of the American people — the Congress of the United States, as the Constitution requires.

If Congress declares war, the America First Committee will support Congress. But the American people will insist that they be not taken into war without consultation with them by the conjuring up of inflammatory incidents.

The America First Committee agrees with the President that Hitlerism must not invade America. But we go farther. We insist that Hitlerism must not invade America either from within or from without. We and over 80% of the American people stand firmly together -- not only against Hitler, but also against Hitlerism -- by whatever name it is called. Hitler does not consult the Reichstag.

Philip LaFollette speak at the Neutrality Conference of 221 America First Chapter Chairmen and Delegates in Washington on Saturday, November 1? Following is the complete text of his speech which was broadcast over the Columbia network.

Five years ago, I listened to a man - a man you all know - describe what was happening in Europe. In vivid word pictures he showed how the Old World had wrestled with the unsolved problems of the last World War. How unemployment, agricultural distress, business paralysis, and the corroding lack of opportunity for youth, had pounded year after year at the foundations of their governments. And then this man's voice - a voice you all know - crackled with contempt as he described how the politicians of Europe turned toward war as a desperate and fatal release from the problems they had been unable to solve at home: the unemployed shunted into the army, billions upon billions spent on implements of destruction. Finally that voice - the voice you have heard so often - rang with determination as he vowed that America would never follow that treacherous course, but would go forward courageously to find real answers for the problems of our people. The voice was the voice of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Reluctantly and with deep regret I parted with Franklin D. Roosevelt. His extraordinary gifts and his undeniable charm did not make it easy. But deep convictions and the teachings of long experience left no other choice when I saw that his failure to solve our problems here were leading him step by step to that wishful escape of casting his gaze beyond our own disordered backyard, to the tempting green pastures of Europe, Asia and Africa

There is no dispute among thoughtful and patriotic Americans over the fact that our way of life is in danger. The difference - and it is a profound difference - that divides us is where and how the United States can best meet that challenge and wisely serve the cause of freedom for mankind. This difference has shattered our old political lines. It is no longer a question of the Republican Party and the Democratic Party. Today the alignment is between the War Party and the American Party. The War Party maintains that American freedom is to be won or lost on the battlefields of Europe, Asia and Africa. The American Party maintains that the future welfare and happiness of our people will not be determined by the defeat or victory of any other nation anywhere on earth, but by what we - we in America - do to protect and extend freedom and security of our people here.

Two years ago the President and the War Party launched us on a course of action labelled "steps short of war" to "keep us out of war". That was the most cunning of the many deceitful phrases employed in the propaganda campaign to get us into this war. Like a patent medicine ad, it promised, at almost no cost, a cure for a painful disease.

The American people by tradition and conviction hate tyranny, and specifically they hate the modern brutalitarianism whether in red, black or brown uniform. But side by side with our hatred of dictators, we have the fresh, raw disillusionment that came out of the last war, and the justified fear that involvement in another and bloodier war may doom for us the very freedom we would try to impose on the rest of the world.

The President was aware of this twin-concern of the American People - this loathing of brutality and this determination to keep out of other people's wars. So he produced a plan to accomplish what man had often tried, but never succeeded in doing: "to eat our cake and have it too". He produced a program which was to attain the laudable purpose of destroying Hitler, but which was not going to cost us a dime. Indeed, he went further in his message to Congress two years ago, in asking repeal of the Arms Embargo. On that occasion he dangled before our eyes the glittering temptation of war profits based on "Cash and Carry" the same war profits which only a few years before he himself had warned would be "fools' gold".

At that time, we of the American Party opposed the repeal of the Arms Embargo. We did not claim that that one step would put us into the war. We did claim - and events have proved us right - that that was the first long step down the road to war. We knew that out of the bitter lesson of the last war.

We are not here tonight to cry over spilt milk, or to blind ourselves to the stark realities which face this country. Nor are we concerned with the motives of Mr. Roosevelt or the War Party. What he and his administration have done in the past, is important only as it helps us to decide what reliance we can place on their judgment in the future. With that test let us remember that every step in the program, that has now led to shooting hostilities, was thrust on a reluctant and suspicious people as the one sure way, to keep out of war. Whatever the intentions may have been, this program has produced exactly the opposite result from that upon which it was sold to the people. In spite of the barrage of pledges of peace, we are today in shooting warfare - armed hostilities concerning which neither the people nor the Congress has been consulted. It was one man and one man alone who ordered the shipping of our badly needed planes and military equipment to France and Britain.

It was one man and one man alone who traded away Fifty American destroyers.

It was one man and one man alone who sent his friends and his relatives as flying ambassadors to Europe, Asia and Africa to deliver unfulfillable pledges, designed to induce other nations to go to war.

It was one man and one man alone who changed the map of the world and pushed the boundaries of the Western Hemisphere more than two thousand miles out into the North Atlantic.

It was one man and one man alone who decided to occupy Iceland and send the first American expeditionary force to stand guard intermingled with the British army in a war zone.

It was one man and one man alone who ordered the American navy to "patrol" the then convoy contraband of war into the zone of hostilities.

It was one man and one man alone who ordered our armed forces to hunt down and shoot on sight the war craft of a belligerent power.

Last Monday night this man rushed to the radio to announce that shooting had begun, that we had been attacked and that our ships had been fired upon. With a burst of generosity he assured us that they were our ships, that they belonged to you and me and to every other man, woman and child in this country. Yet, when this man ordered those ships into the war zone, he treated them as if they were his ships and not ours. Certainly no one, not even Congress, was consulted, let alone asked for approval.

Thus, after exactly two years of masquerading as true lovers of peace- as the only ones who had the answer to keeping us out of war, the War Party calmly inform us that their program has led the nation into a shooting war.

There can be no excuses and no alibis. The president and the War Party have received every single thing that they have asked for: money by the uncountable billions, unlimited power - and now shooting war. But mark these words: this administration is already preparing alibis and scapegoats for the disasters it cannot help see ahead. But the blame will be shifted to other shoulders despite the fact, and it cannot be emphasized too strongly, despite the fact that this administration has received everything - everything - it has asked for. And yet -

We will be blamed for all our troubles in aviation!

We will be responsible for military mistakes in Iceland, Egypt and Asia!

We will be the root of any trouble we have on the high seas!

Yes, all of us will be blamed for the failures in production, blamed for the closing out of thousands of small businesses, blamed for bungling in priorities throwing thousands out of work, blamed for the high Cost of living and for all of the other accompaniments that go with the administrative mad-house here in Washington. And we will be blamed if and when Britain decides she has fought enough and leaves us holding the well-known bag.

We, who oppose this war, who have had no voice in this defense or offense program - we will be held accountable by this administration for every mistake and every blunder that is made. Only when some success is wrung from the blood and tears of our people will we find the administration Johnny-on-the-spot, again saying, "We planned it that way."

The sin of the War Party is not that they advocate war. The sin is that their only answer to the menace of Hitlerism in Europe is step by step to create Hitlerism in the United States. Every step taken in the past two years has been put over on us by the same fraudulent methods practiced by the European dictators.

If a humble bond salesman used a hundredth part of the misrepresentation and fraud in the sale of a ten dollar share of stock that the War Party has used to invlove us in an all-out war, that salesman would face a stiff penalty.

It is these frauds - repeated again and again - which have made it so hard for the American People to believe that they are now face to face with war. Millions of people, in whose ears still ring the promises again and again and again repeated, that the President's program would keep them out of war, find it almost impossible to believe that we are in shooting hostilities, even when the President himself proclaims it.

In the beginning I do not believe that the President, or any other responsible citizen, wanted to see the United States involved in this war. I do not believe that the President, or any responsible member of his administration now welcomes bloodshed. But whether the Administration likes or dislikes bloodshed, is not as important to you and me, as to whether our blood is to be shed. The excuse the Administration now offers us is that bloodshed is inevitable. This comes with poor grace from the very man who, less than a year ago, secured his re-election, on the plea that he was the one and only person who could keep us out of war.

Like many others I did what I could to point out to you and to point out to him where I was certain his course was taking us. I was sure where it would take us because that hard teacher, experience, has taught some of us that it is not good intentions that decide between victory or defeat. What is most important to competent leadership is that it shall chart the right course in the great moving tide of events. No matter how able, how clever, a captain may be, if he yields to the all-too-human temptation to over-estimate himself and to underestimate the vast forces with which he is dealing he is headed for trouble. When this administration turned its back on our problems here and started in to play the old game of international diplomacy, it was only a question of time until it would be cleaned out of its own chips, and have to ask us for our money and our blood to stay in the game. One place I missed rather badly was that I did expect the Administration to come and ask us, instead of helping itself, without so much as "by your leave".

You and I have seen the steps toward war that were taken on this side of the Atlantic. Few of us appreciate the equally fateful steps taken by Administration on the other side. I saw enough in Europe to convince me that this Administration has been playing in the European game of power politics and for higher stakes than perhaps even the President himself realized.

The Administration claims that it is "hamstrung" by the Neutrality Act. The Administration is hamstrung but not by any American law. The difficulties of this Administration are all of its own making. They arise from the President's fatal mistake of promising our people one thing and promising foreign countries just the opposite. He promised us he would keep out of war. He promised the British we would join up to help defeat Germany. I would have thought that even in Washington they would know it would take all-out war to smash Germany - that it could not be done with fire-side chats and government red tape. But things in Europe went from bad to worse. The British pressed harder and harder for delivery on the President's pledges. Finally came that fateful meeting on the Atlantic. He could no longer put off the evil day. Those two inconsistent promises came due. The President yielded. He honored his pledges to Britain. He broke faith with us.

The President has told us in blunt, plain English what he is doing. There is no excuse for anyone to blind himself to the next steps the Administration intends to take: this country is to be pushed deeper and deeper into all-out warfare, and if Congress is ever to be asked for an outright declaration of war, it is to come only as a rubber-stamp formality acknowledging the existence of a war already raging.

It is this fact which gives such meaning and vitality to the historic fight now going on in Congress over the repeal of the Neutrality Act. You and I still have an opportunity to defend this last barricade of peace. Write, better still, telephone or telegraph your senators and congressmen tonight. Tell them you are opposed to butchering the Neutrality Act. If your representatives in Congress are fighting this last step on the road to war, they will be heartened by your support. If they are voting against your convictions, it is your right as an American citizen to protest and to demand that they keep the promises they made to you when you elected them to office.

The vast majority of us in the American party are not pacifists. We are not opposed to bearing arms for this country. We are opposed to the policies of the War Party because of what these policies would do to the freedom of America. But let there be no mistake about this: Defeat on the issue of the Neutrality Act does not mean that the fight for freedom - the fight for American freedom -is lost. That fight must and is going on until it is won. If we lose on the Neutrality Act, it means that for practical purposes the United States is up to its neck, if not over its head, in a shooting war. And war is a fact and not an opinion. A shell or a bomb does just as much damage whether fired with or without the approval of Congress. Questions of Constitutional law are of little practical interest to soldiers and sailors who are ordered into shooting hostilities off Iceland or perhaps in Egypt.

You ask, what can you and I do now? What are we to do if we are confronted with Hitleresque problem of undeclared war? As the lines draw tighter, as the Administration bears down on us with named and un-named threats, what is our next duty as citizens in a democracy?

Well, whatever we do or say must have one single guiding aim: We must govern ourselves not by what is safest for those who opposed war, nor by what is worse for the War Party. We must be guided solely by what is right, as God gives us to see the right, for the United States.

When we speak of the United States we are not thinking in terms of a colored map hanging on a school room wall. We are thinking of men and women who live and dream and hope - men and women who till the fields, who work in shops, offices, factories and in our homes.

When we talk about the army and navy - about divisions and ships, we are not talking about so many pins on a military chart. We are talking about your flesh and blood - we are talking about a whole generation of young men who constitute the most priceless and irreplacable of all our assets.

Everything we say and everything we do must be guided by what will promote America in the terms of the men and women who are America. Every boy on the high seas, every boy in a hut in Iceland, is a bit of America - a bit of America that is far more priceless than tons of steel or acres of land. That is what we mean when we talk about America -- we mean the men and women and the boys and girls who are America. We mean all our faiths, all our religions, all our races - we mean the one hundred and thirty million individuals regardless of color, creed, race, religion or politics, who make up the warp and woof of this, our land.

Because you young men who have been ordered to fight on the high seas and in Iceland are Americans - are our own flesh and blood - and it matters not how or by whom you were ordered to your battle stations - we shall do our full part to see you have the best training, the best equipment, the best leadership, the best care that this richest and most powerful nation on earth can provide. Nor is it putting a dollar sign on patriotism to insist that you who are on the firing line shall have compensation sufficient at least to relieve your minds of worry about the future security of those you leave behind.

While the War Party prepares to take your sons out to impose the Four Freedoms on the four quarters of the earth, we of the American party must fight to protect the freedom of Americans. The first round in the next phase of the fight for freedom - fight for American freedom - will come in the 1942 elections. We shall band together to suppose those members of the House and Senate who have so courageously shown their devotion to the common man. We shall do all in our power to oppose and defeat those who are taking this nation step step into a Fascist dictatorship. Sooner or later - and I think sooner than some here in Washington realize - the people are going to restore constitutional government in this country. And I venture this prediction: they will bring to account those responsible for taking us in and for sending our boys to their deaths in defiance of the Constitution.

And I make this passing observation: if there be men in seats of power here in Washington with a Nazi plan of dynamiting the American ballot-box, as they have the right of Congress to declare war, we assure them they will find that the fighting spirit and the love of liberty which inspired our ancestors to rise up against George III is as fearless today as it was at Lexington and Concord.

While the War Party dreams and schemes of imposing freedom in Europe, Asia and Africa, we of the American party must go forward as an organized group to fight the battle for the plain people of America.

A vast field awaits the constructive action of clear thinking and stout-hearted Americans. A greater, richer frontier lies ahead than any we have left behind. It belongs to the strong and not to the weak. It will be opened by red-blooded fighters fighting - not to destroy - but to restore again opportunity for those who build. When this new frontier is open - there will be unlimited opportunity for every man, woman and child in this land. The tragedy of the War Party is they cannot look ahead - they only look backward. They only see - and fight for yesterday. We see and fight for tomorrow. And as ghastly as the days ahead may be, not even Fascist-minded war-mongers here in Washington can wreck the future of America. The policies of this Administration may take a frightful toll in life and liberty and treasure, but this America of ours is strong enough and great enough and rich enough to build anew - to make the dream of economic security and the pursuit of happiness again come true.

You gathered here tonight should be the last to be discouraged by temporary reverses. It was just two years ago that we were badly beaten on the repeal of the Arms Embargo. It was widely and freely declared that war was only a question of months. But then something happened. A handful of patriotic Americans got together and determined to do something, and they did. They raised the banner of America first, last and all the time, and provided a rallying ground for the millions of plain people who were without organization and without a voice in this Administration. You have done a grand job. You faced a combination of great wealth and entrenched political privilege constantly aided and abetted by the movies, press, and radio, yet you stopped the War Party in its tracks. As we entered the 1940 campaign, organized public opinion in America compelled Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wilkie to check their guns at the door, and to vie with each other in promises of peace. In spite of the "fixed fight" of the last campaign, in spite of the betrayal of pledges by both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Wilkie, and in spite of the ceaseless pounding of propaganda, we have fought the War Party to a stand-still according to every rule and principle of free government. Even now the War Party can take us into this war only by short circuiting the American people the American Congress and the American Constitution.

We leave this hall tonight with our coats off, our sleeves rolled up. We are headed for the 1942 elections. We have only two planks in our platform: The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. Our motto: "I am an American".

UNION NOW.
"ONE FLAG OVER BRITISH EMPIRE AND THE UNITED STATES"
"UNITED STATES OF THE WORLD"

ALLsset --ready to go -.

"United World Peace Empire Magna Carta- United States of the World
This world is to be started with the British Empire, Colonies and Over seas Possessions, and the United States of America, States, Territories, and dependencies as a Common-wealth under ONE FLAG.
This flag is composed of the British Union as the Field(important part) superimposed in its center is a "gold" eight pointed star, called the "Star of Bethlehem". The rest of the flag (50%) being the red and white stripes, as in our flag, the U.S.share.

Article 2 of this Magna Carta cites;The Goverment of the United World Peace Empire shall consist of his Excellency The World Peace Potentate and the World Peace Supreme Council of 24 World Peace Councillors until increased under article I2. These article I2 conditions.are the admissio Of NEW member NATIONS as designated by such commonwealth.
The Councillors are to hold office as designated by each Commonwealth Th SUPREME POTENTATE is appointed for life- by the Councillors, subject to removal under limited rules-IF he has not set up so tight a political machine,that he can not be removed.

Article 5 cites "His Excellancy the World Peace Potentate and t Supreme World Council shall by unanimous action CONTROL and REGULATE all RELATIONSHIPS; FINANCIAL; COMMERCIAL; INDUSTRIAL;SOCIAL, and OTHERWISE, whatsoever between the COMMONWEALTHS themselves-and-the- severally or together,or the UNITED WORLD PEACE EMPIRE, or any of their peoples with the outside WORLD" (Emphasis added).

After one year"in office" with such powers could they be removed? Not present day politicians WITH unlimited finances.

Here is the long heraled World Dictatorship of International Finance, A World Super State (Socialist), the NEW ORDER"as stated above, stabbs wi the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Irela and the United States of America. Later it is planned that Belgium/ Netherlands, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, will com in. France was included, so long as she took orders from London.

One of the Bulletins of this set-up states (this is important) "All Colonies or dependencies, who do not govern themselves at present (Indi for example) would become territories of the Union. THEY WOULD BE ELIGIBLE, for admission when they develope into self governing democraci just as the Western States were admitted to the "United States".

India with her 400 million population would out vote "and out number" Even at the stabbs the United States would have to take orders, or she would not be admitted.
A few of the CONDITIONS set forth are

UNION CITIZENSHIP
UNION DEFENSE FORCE
UNION MONEY
UNION FREE TRADE AREA
UNION POSTAL AND COMMUNICATION SYSTEM

Therein lies the disposition of the United States Army, Navy, and air forces, to police the World, in a continuous War of Aggression until non-members decide to come in. Therein lies the vast GOLD HOARD buried Fort Knox, to be loaned with interest, to members and non-members or they would get no essential supplies,food, commerce, or trade. Non-members who are persuaded to borrow, soon woul_ be obligated their recourse would be to join up.

Therein lies the"free trade" to benefit the favored, to DEPRESS the recalaitrant members or non-members.
American farmers, business men, and industrialists could soon be punishe into a non-existant state. The American Standard of living would very soo recede to the standards of other exploited peoples. Machinery to control FOOD SUPPLIES is already being erected HERE.
When food and finance is controled all else will be controlled.

How did this all come about? The answer seem to be hidden? In the follow paragraphs found in one or more circulars of this crowd, "There are some 40 prominent non-profit organizations which have been promoting peace (1 for 50 years past. ONE has had for 30 years, over 500,000 dollars a yea to spend. Others have large funds and powerful influential men and wome leaders and members.
These funds come from (by their own papers) Cecil Rhodes Foundations Carnaguie Foundations, Filene Foundations and many others.

Robert H. Jackson present ATTY GENERAL of the U.S.A. was in Cuba attend one of these International conferences helping to erect this structure of World Dictatorship, on March 27th 1941. In his address to this group he said"We are haunted by the greatest unfinished task of civiliza tion which IS TO CREATE, a just and peaceful INternational order,for and by International Finance Order, Present Aggressive Wars, and Civil Wars against the International Community". Very plain is it not?

People are very slow to grasp the fact that Hitler and the German peopl are fighting against this ORDER of International Finance.

The Literature if this and similar groups is circulated by the ton to sympathizers, and then by them to prospective converts. The millions o Americans not on their contact "lists" do not know or realize the rea facts, and when they hear of them they refuse to believe, the great danger America is in, because the whole beastly setup is obscured "by Defense,and other lieing setups by the present Administration.

Hosts and hosts of the "leaders" in Washington , in many states, and l arge cities our educators in Colleges and publis schools, are behind this traitorious movement in great numbers.Many preachers of the Gospe trail along some taking leadership.Banking groups, all large units und the domination of the BANK OF ENGLAND,and our private Federal Reserve system are way up in the front ranks. This propisition has advanced s far,its actual consumation only awaits a signal from London to Roosev that "Now is the time." Under the guise of defense, a "conference" wi be called Then the Magna Carta will be adopted, Councillors elected, his Excellancy the WORLD PEACE POTENTATE chosen. Not, American citizens only the tratiors,will know nothing until the great announcement.
From then on they can do nothing but salute the NEW FLAG, and obey or or take up arms again and fight for real INDEPENDENCE instead of the INDEPENDENCE OF THE NEW ORDER".

Who will b e the SUPREME POTENTATE? Present plans point to the Duke o Windsor to take the Dictatorship as KING DAVID, with that Gold Star of Bethlehem over his head. It is expected Emporer Franklin the Firs will be perpepuated in office as the head over America.

If you doubt Roosevelts ambition read his address Nov 6th 1941,said "The American people have an unlimited Commitment that there shall free WORLD, and against that commitment no individual and no gropp

The American people never madsuch a commitment?HE alone, Roosevelt Emporer his sponsc and aides made the commi ment, And Congress just rides along as mere passangers on the World "commitment" band wagon.

Read the old "Union Now" literature and thid new data, put them on exibit, talk about it to everyone, If these truths from their own leader does not impress you----then---- Roosevelt was right in 1932 when he sai "Americans are so dumb, it is impossible to put over almost anything on them.

IF YOU ARE IMPRESSED BY THESE FACTS WHAT WILL YOU DO ABOUT IT?

THERE SHOULD BE AN EXODUS OF TRAITORS FROM WASHINGTON D.C. TO THE CANADI BORDER.

ONLY YOU LOYAL AMERICANS CAN MAKE IT A FACT.. WHEN WHEN?

TOO LATE AFTER THE SUPREME POTENTATE ASSUMES OFFICE.

IT CANNOT AND WILL NOT BE LONG NOW.

ALONG WITH ROOSEVELT KNOX STIMSON WELLES AND MANY OTHERS ADVOCATE THIS VERY "NEW ORDER" AS THE ONLY CURE FOR A SICK WORLD.

Our Constitution.
Means.
Freedom----------Free Enterprise.

In this age of problems and chaotic conditions there is nothing tha one can do with so great profit, to gain a clear view of cause and remedy, as to go back and read history of this country before the Constitution was written, and a few years after it was written.

Before the Constitution was writtten the pendulum of goverment through-out the countries had swung back and forth from monarch to mob.

Before the Constitution was written the mob drove our Congress fror Philadelphia into New Jersy, Shay's rebellion assaulted the court-house in the State of Massachusetts, money was worth 2½cts on the dollar, and we had no credit any-where. In that black night of chaos , darkness and despair, ifty men met in Philadelphia and wrote the Constitution. Immediately, governmentally light c ame out of darkness, order out of chaos.
The great Gladstone of England said"The American Constitution is the most wonderful work ever struck off at one time by the brain and purpose of man".

The men who wrote the Constitution and founded this Republic strov to avoid the extremes of feudalism on the one hand, and all forms of socialis and communism on the other; and they sought also to avoid the dangers of goverment ownership, insofar as it was consistent with public welfare.
Alexander Hamilton the master mind of the Constitutional Convention said,"We are forming a Republican goverment, not a "democracy", because real liberty is never found in "democracy".
James Madison- wrote "Democracy is the BAIT OF SCHEMERS, THEORETIC POLITICIAN fits the biggest SPOUTERS of"democracy" like a glove. The"Fathers of this Republic believed in representative goverment to which they gave the name " REPUBLICANISM" as the antithesis to democracy.
Our founding fathers were such enemies of "democracy" they hated and distrus it so, they forbid us in the Constitution to advocate, propound or adopt democracy under any condition, or reason whatsoever. We are not a "democracy and every loyal American should ask when they hear the term used,"Just where in the Constitution do you find any hint that this country should be run in democratic way"?

During the hundred years following the adoption of the Constituti and the founding of the Republic, by ~~adhereing~~-- adhereing closely to repre sentative goverment, we made more human progress, material, mental and moral than the world had known in all time, we developed more statesmen on Americs soil during that time, than have been developed by all other goverments of th world. During that period of history from the time we wrote the Constitutior until we occupied the leading place among the nations of the world, there w little talk in schools and elsewhere, of direct goverment, ~~reality~~-(democracy but much talk of representative goverment(a Republic);little talk of embarg on Totalitarians, but much talk about trade for striving Americans; little about European entanglements, but much talk of American Independence; littl talk about planned economy, but much talk of individual property rights; li talk of class consciousness or labor unionism, but much talk of individual freedom in industry and proportionate reward for individual initiative and achievement; little talk of reciprocal trade agreements, but much talk of t "American way" of protecting home labor and industry; little or no talk of "democracy" but much talk of the REPUBLIC?

In recent years, the terms of "Republic" and democracy are thoug lessly and inaccurately used in our Public Schools and State Universities, over-educated(red) school administrators and mis-educated school teachers h been teaching "democracy" to such extent less than 3% of the people of thi country(lawmakers) have ever read the Constitution and know nothing of the meaning of "Republicanism". This is a tragedy far more serious than most peop realize, which accounts for the confused reasoning and superficial thinking governmentally and the "isms' and MOB-MINDEDNESS that have begun to enter our homes, schools, churches, and industry and will be very disastrous if not corrected at once; this has stolen up on the American people like a thief in the night, aided by public speakers, writers, who did not know their Constitu or did it deliberatly. RUSSIA is a "democracy", think Americans do you want be in a country ruled as Russia is, if not get busy and study your Constitut , and know your Constitutional rights, act, and see that your children know that this is a Republic.

We have fallen victims to the ballyhoo of demagogs, (bred through democracy) The direct primaries have increased expenses, lessened the ~~inter~~ interest of the American people, and has given us demagogs who would have received no consideration in a deliberative convention.
The Inter-state Commerce Commission was to do great things. It would take volumes to review the failures and expenditures of all the BOARDS and COMMISSIONS that are gradually wrecking the Republic, in the words of Linco "I am done with commissions, they are contrivances to CHEAT the Goverment".

God only knows, if this Republic will survive all the vicious enactments, the deceptive and dangerous un-American and "To h--ll with the Constitution, Lease-lend bill?. Which the Senators ~~(illegible)~~, so graciously passed and broke their oath, they swore to protect the Constitution, and th lease-lend bill is not Constitutional, as many other bills of later date are not. We are starting to reap the results of unwise departures from the Constitution, in ever increasing expenses and more and more confusion in governmental procedure, which is trying to be covered by the Administration the guise of get "Hitler" National~~defense~~, Defense, and poor mistreated Russi So the term "democracy" has been handed us, and we are now being primed to out and fight again for "democracy".
Now how does the term democracy look to you true, well informed American people? If you want a free country, get busy demand that we remain a Repub which is the rule of the people through their elected representatives, not a "democracy" which is the rule of the masses, under one man rule, and we not far from that now, unless you at once assert your Constitutional rights We do not, and will not have a direct goverment.

The keystone of the goverment of this Republic is the Constit It is the key to the solution of our domestic problems and of this awful, tragic international crisis.

Americans ~~MARCH, MARCH NOW~~, back to the Constitution, the Republ it should be the watchword of every patriotic business man, manufactuer, a laborer in this grand country of ours.

GOD SAVE AMERICA. MARCH AMERICANS MARCH.

GOVERNMENT BY LAW

"A Republic if we can keep it." Benjamin Franklin

What magic in the word "democracy". Joe Stalin Commissar of Russia, capitalized its charm to foist his dictatorship on the Russians.

Speakers and writers in this country use the word " democracy" while denouncing the very principles for which it stands. Is their intelligence on a par with Russian kulaks

The keystone of the government of this Republic is the Constitution not the "new order" the so called New Deal. There is no surer way to destroy our government than to champio the Acts of Congress under the guise of democracy and national defense, which piece by piece undermines the checks and balances of our Republic.

James A. Woodburn wrote in his book, "The American Republic, (1903-Page 33)." Governme ceases to be an object of obedience when it becomes and instrument of oppression.

Reminding that Senator Holt stated that the New Deal President boasted "that he had violated enough laws to be sent to the penitentiary for 999 years," and of the continuou appeals, worse than savage mob passions, and evasions, and violation of the Constitutio during the recent years. For example, the illegal sale of 50 new destroyers and sundry equipment, to the British Empire was not only a violation of the National Defense Act of 1917, but is also opposed to the Constitution.

Quoting the Constitution of theUnited States currently unpopular in Washington today, we find "the Congress shall have the power to dispose of an make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States." (Art. 4, Sec. 3, cl. 2) Moreover, in the oath of office which the President has taken he swears that he will to the best of his ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States. (Art. 2, Sec. 1, Cl. 8)

In addition to the Executive oath, all Senators and Representatives are bound by simila affirmation respecting the integrity of the Constitution. (Art. 6, Cl. 3)

The penalty which the Constitution provides, "On impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, and other high crimes and misdemeanors, IS REMOVAL FROM OFFICE.(Art. Sec. 4)

The following words of Abraham Lincoln might be revelent. "I have done with commission they are contrivances to cheat the government, the people are the rightful masters of both Congress and the Courts, not to overthrow the Constitution but to overthrow the me who pervert it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government they can exercise their Constitutional right of amending it, or their revolutionary right to dismember or overthrow it.

In the light of the above, it seems what this country needs at the present time, more than any one thing, is men who understand the meaning of the Constitution, the oath of public officials and lawmakers, the pledge of allegiance, and of sufficient character to have a high regard for the sacredness of taking an oath. To put it bluntly, you men tha have taken the oath of office, and pretend to know the Constitution, and to uphold your oath yell about "democracy", and break every article you can in the Constitution, are you public officials and lawmakers traitors? If not, why have you failed to clamor for the impeachment of the President?

That is the thing you have sworn, and are paid for at the expense of the taxpayer. At least for once read the Constitution of the United States. (Art. 1, Sec. I, Art. 4, Sec. 4.) "A Republic if you can keep it."

It is high time to honor the oath to defend the Constitution of the United States or resign.

What do you think? Think fast for the American public is going to think for you!

Since Col. Lindbergh is being smeared for conveying only facts to the American people, and took a medal to save Diplomatic relations just where do they intend to place Andrew Jackson for pinning back Englands ears Jan 8th 1815. One historian said "It was the first time in 1000 yrs, that a British line had been broken."

They seem to be noted for leaving the shores of other countries, Jan 27th 1815 the the remnants of the boasted British Army left our shores (history said forever), but we have them with us again, not in the blazing regalia of 1815, but in an armor of Gall & Crust to float their bonds, their propaganda, and bleed the American tax-payer.

Why don't the British experts, some with bought titles, stay at home, unless they think our failures, Ickes, Perkins Hopkins, KNOX, Stimson, & a sprinkle of Winchell & Thompson, need more help to betray the American people.

Awake true Americans. since when is it a crime to protect your country, your property, that you worked for and planned for your childrens future. This is your Country not Englands YET.

McKnight will tell yon - that my correspondence with Pres Grant helped the cause so far along, they held a Convention, & over the air - denounced Roosevel something they had never done before. I have several key people in Utah - but McKnigh will give them to yn - if yon need them. I feel yon can see these people, feel them out. and know Where we can put our hands, when ready.

Sorry Mrs. Van Hyning was not here. she certainly has made (to date) a very able President, and through many knocks. Remember - she alone leads us, our work is no "solo" work - We all pitch in, in our different positio and. have many able [illegible] to go places. ~ we hold our heads & pay no attention to flattery, which always comes - when a group is getting ahead, and how been tried, which I hope is to no avail. We have a determined board - & we do not spare each others feelings -, when we it is for the good of We, the Mothers. We fear no one, as our records are clear - if a tramp moves in on us, not our fault, we usually catch up with them, before any damage is done.

SAW REPRESENTATIVE HOFFMAN, FEB 6, P. 754:

When we pass this bill, we in Congress here assembled will have said to the people of the United States, "The Constitution vests in Congress the power to declare war, but we, without submitting to you an amendment to that Constitution as required by its terms, have amended it by empowering the President to make war without a declaration of war by Congress.

Yes, standing with head bared, right hand uplifted, each and all of us, in the presence of the Almighty God, solemnly promised:

I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States; * * * so help me, God.

No one will be so bold as to say that God has turned his face from us, but before the week is over, if present prophecies come true, this House will, in effect, have stricken from the Constitution that provision which gives Congress, and Congress alone, the authority to declare war, for, as I have thrice repeated, it will place in the hands of the Chief Executive the power to make war, and war, whether it be a declared or an undeclared war, is today, as from the beginning of time, hell on earth.

How can we, having taken an oath to uphold the Constitution—all of it, not just part of it—by our action effectively transfer from Congress to the Chief Executive the war-beginning power?

But one argument is advanced to justify this action. Hitler, we are told, seeks world dominion, and we are so weak, so bound to Great Britain by ties of friendship, that our only safety lies in joining her in invading Germany and destroying the Axis Powers.

The foregoing is the essence of all the arguments which have been made in favor of this bill.

Many of us doubt that Germany wants any more than has been asked down through the ages by every people, by every nation, which has found itself with territory too small to contain its increasing millions, or with men capable of fighting not needed in peaceful pursuits and with a leadership at once efficient and ambitious.

But assume that Hitler is bent on world conquest. Does it follow that we are so weak, with a population almost twice that of Germany, natural resources far greater, possibilities for industrial development as well advanced, that we cannot, properly prepared, defend ourselves from any forces which he may bring against us?

Practically all seem to agree that Hitler cannot now, or in the predictable future, successfully wage war against us in the Western Hemisphere. If that be true, then what an awful, what a terrible responsibility rests upon those who would send our ships, and ultimately our men, to invade Europe, and assume the possibility, if it be no more than a possibility, that we should be unsuccessful in that attempt.

TRADERS WITH THE ENEMY: THERE ARE WHOLE LIBRARIES OF EVIDENCE OF THIS

Mr. WHEELER. Let me say to the Senator that what Lloyd George said on the floor of the House of Commons, of course, is known not only to every English statesman, but also to every European statesman. The truth is that Great Britain and some of the other countries deliberately refused to help the democratic government of Germany and were responsible for bringing in Mr. Hitler. Not only that, but after Hitler came in they helped to finance and build up his power. Now, after that, and even after some of the German refugees at the present time in the United States helped finance Hitler and helped bring him into power, we are asked to aid England; to send American boys, American airplanes, and everything else over there to fight, because, it is said, England is our first line of defense. That is said despite the fact that England betrayed the treaty that was solemnly entered into, and, as a matter of fact, as Lloyd George said, not only betrayed Germany by not being willing to disarm, but betrayed the United States, which was willing to disarm.

Mr. NYE. Quite so.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. Mr. President, will the Senator yield?

Mr. NYE. I yield.

Mr. CLARK of Missouri. I believe I violate no confidence whatever when I say that within the past 2 years, I think, or certainly not much more than that, I was privileged to be a guest at a luncheon given in honor of Lord and Lady Astor in the Foreign Relations Committee room in the Capitol, at which time Lady Astor insisted that her husband be the speaker of the occasion and address the some 30 Senators there present in behalf of an alinement with Hitler, Hitler already was in power in Germany. Lord Astor made a speech, some 15 or 20 minutes in length, I should say, during the course of which he favored an alinement with Hitler, with Lady Astor nodding him on and turning around and remarking that, however, we should have to go along with the British in the Orient, if necessary, to the extent of a war with Japan, in which case we should have to match the British man for man and ship for ship and gun for gun.

SENATOR NYE FEB. 26, P. 1171-2

Mr. President, it is known that studie and estimates are being made in the Nav Department in Washington involving th taking, holding, and keeping open of th Burma Road in spite of the assurance on every hand that we are determined t keep out of war. ..... In fact, o the same day on which he rebuked th press for saying anything about it, th British Embassy gave out a press releas in which it told all about how America bombers are being flown from the Pacif coast to Singapore. .....

Why should we be getting into a wa in that part of the world? .....

..... as he pointed out, Mr President, we made no warlike mov when Manchuria was invaded, wh North China was invaded, when Shan hai was taken, when the Yangtze Va was opened, when Canton was captur or even when the U. S. S. Panay was s by bombs from Japanese airplanes.

..... But t minute Japan began to move southwar the minute British imperial interes were threatened, then we began to t war and act in warlike ways, and t they warn us that at almost any mom we may find ourselves up to our neck in an Asiatic war. ... .

This free trade was earmarked, labelled, and sold, to sewing circle and bridge table gossipers under the false pretense of "reciprocal trade" and world peace! Has it done so ?

Disguised as "reciprocal trade" we have given the international banker and trader a protected American market through the implementation of "57 varieties" of our welfare minimum price fixing and licensing laws, of which the Sugar Act which legislates our farmer out of 70 percent home market is typical. There is much else which we could point to as "reciprocal trade" for a foreign line.

NOTE 1

The accumulated balance of trade here in favor of foreigners is a minimum of $12,569 million. ((Item 1-B)) This is invested here by virtually the same foreign interests behind the recently passed go-to-war-bill HR 1776; and the "$7,000 million loan to aid democracies" win their war, and future demands to "protect that loan"; instead of trading their own investments for "their war" first.

NOTE 2

All of the $15,867 million gold ((item 3-B)) -(and over $5,000 million additional) is chattel mortgaged to the privately owned Federal Reserve banks and evidenced by "gold certificates payable to bearer on demand in gold." It can be claimed by them and shipped away, and later be resold to us again, using our navy to ferry it.(DWN p.81) It is a compound liability - not an asset.

NOTE 3

In the matter of property trading we show a net trade balance of $4,336 million.((5-C)) But as an offset against which, our farmers were legislated out of their home market in a net sum of $4,991 million. ((Item 12-B)) To "3 shell game" the farmers again they were "green goods'd" a sum of over $5,000 million earmarked as "parity payments, farm aid, commodity credits, Etc, Etc, Etc" for which the title "bribe" would have been a compliment. This sum was borrowed(?) public funds at average 2.541% interest, which interest on total of such counterfeiting (another compliment) is now costing the tax payers over $1 9 0 million per month. (See DWN, No's III,VI, XX, and others; also Treasury Reports; and Congressional Record Indexes for page numbers of facts)

All other countries report their imports upon the delivered net cost basis. We do the opposite in order to deceive the public on how much our imports are really costing this nation. This exaggerates trade balances in our favor; and reduces the loss (on paper) when against us. It has been conservatively estimated by good authority that we pay foreign services at least 25% more than what Dep't Commerce report.

An application of only "25%" to the $15,873 million ((item 5-A)) would increase it to $19,841 million; and reduce the inflated trade balance on property from $4,336 million ((item 5-C)) to only $576 million.

This would correct our trade loss of $12,569 million ((item 1-B)) to $16,537 million. It would also correct the loss on farm products (($4,991 million-item 12-B)) to $8,047 million, which is very much more than the farmer was bribed with his own money.

There are other accounting tricks to be found in Department Commerce Monthly Reports, besides reporting imports upon the bare cost fob foreign point of origin, and which in some instances costs the buyer here over 200 per cent more than reported, and upon which he pays duty. For instance: prior to Jan. 1, 1940, note in D/C reports read:
"8. Values shown in all tables are expressed in United States dollars unadjusted for the change in gold content in January, 1934".
Then beginning Jan. 1, 1940 this rule was changed to read:
"8. Values shown in all tables are expressed in current United States dollars."

Prior to 1940 - beginning of this war - property trade balance was against us each year. But beginning with this world war and "our prosperity" in furnishing all the belligerents with anything they wanted, the trade balance tide turned.((Col. C))

If these figures in columns A and C were to be adjusted to the above 1940 basis of calculation there would be a loss shown on line 5-B, instead of a gain line 5-C.

Of course this was not done to deceive, because it would deceive nobody who had time and ability enough to re-figure all Department of Commerce reports to get them onto the correct basis which was found more advantageous from a political standpoint after the tide had turned and the controlled public press began to ballyhoo Trader Hull.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 77th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

LIST OF CONGRESSMEN WHO VOTED FOR H.R. 1776:

SENATORS - SATURDAY, MARCH 8, 1941, P. 2114

The VICE PRESIDENT. The question is, Shall the bill pass? The yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll.

The Chief Clerk called the roll.

Mr. BYRD. I announce that the Senator from Oklahoma [Mr. THOMAS], the Senator from New York [Mr. WAGNER], and the Senator from Kansas [Mr. REED] are unavoidably detained.

The Senator from Kansas [Mr. REED] is paired with the Senator from New York [Mr. WAGNER]. I am advised that, if present and voting, the Senator from Kansas would vote "nay" and the Senator from New York would vote "yea."

I am further advised that, if present and voting, the Senator from Oklahoma [Mr. THOMAS] would vote "yea."

The Senator from Indiana [Mr. VAN NUYS] is absent because of illness. I am advised that, if present and voting, he would vote "yea."

The result was announced—yeas 60, nays 31, as follows:

So the bill (H.R. 1776) was passed as follows:

PROMOTION OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

Mr. BLOOM. Mr. Speaker, in pursuance of the order of the House of January 3, I call up House Resolution 151, which I send to the desk and ask to have read.

House Resolution 151

Resolved, That upon the passage of the bill H.R. 1776, an act to promote the defense of the United States, and for other purposes, with the Senate amendments thereto, and the motion to concur therein, be, and the same hereby are, severally divided, and the Speaker shall put the question on concurring in the Senate amendments to the bill H.R. 1776.

Mr. BLOOM. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

FROM WHENCE IT PASSED THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES MAR. 11, P. 2229

The SPEAKER. The unanimous-consent request agreed to yesterday left control of the time in the hands of the gentleman from New York [Mr. BLOOM] and the gentleman from New York [Mr. FISH]. At any time those gentlemen do not desire to yield further time, compliance with the regular rules will be had.

Mr. MARTIN J. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, may I be heard further?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled upon the point of order.

Mr. MARTIN J. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to submit another point of order. This point of order may not be found in the Book of Rules, but there is a rule among gentlemen which is more binding than any expressly set forth as the rules of the House in the Book of Rules. Yesterday the gentleman in charge of the time on my side—chairman of the committee—gave me the distinct impression that I would be recognized for 5 minutes. Up to this minute, not a single Member suspected of being in opposition to the bill has been recognized on our side of the Chamber, and that failure in spite of the fact that almost half of the time remains unused. In my opinion, this is a flagrant violation of the rules of the House, as well as of a gentlemen's agreement. [Applause.]

The SPEAKER. That is hardly a parliamentary inquiry or a point of order either. The question is on agreeing to the resolution.

Mr. LESINSKI and Mr. McKEOUGH demanded the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken, and there were—yeas 317, nays 71, answered "present" 1, not voting 40, as follows:

Miss Laura Ingalls,
New York, N.Y.

Dear Madam:

Greetings from a stranger who had the benefit of your very inspiring address at the AMERICA FIRST Bronx rally, Oct. 17.

I was extremely gratifide to hear what you said about foreign commerce, and am writing this letter as a suggestion from "an old timer ex-international trader" himself, a thing which I confess with the remark that "I am trying to live it down", and am only telling you in extreme confidence. Being a woman who appears extremely discreet, I am sure that you will keep my secret above confessed.

My suggestion is that instead of saying what you did say, and in which Holt later concurred on the same error, you had said, in your own words and altogether not consuming over 5 minutes, something to the following effect:

"You know 'my friends' how the internationalists, who are heart and soul behind this world war No. 2, never miss a chance to ring in the importance of our foreign trade; also that if we lost it we would perish from the face of the earth.

"They never give you any figures to show what percentage of our total commerce - domestic and foreign - that this foreign trade amounts to.

"But suppose now that our so-called income derived from commerce all kinds is a peak year like say $80 billion such as in the 20's; and that our foreign commerce, so called, amounted to 10 percent, which would make that part of it $8 billion. If we lost that we would still be making good business between ourselves.

"Strange as it may sound to you we would have no loss - in fact a national gain by losing it ! Why ? Because this imaginary $8 billion is made up of two counterbalancing elements, that is exports of what we sell abroad; and imports of what we must take actually buy back in payment for the exports, and which are the very things which we have an abundance of the same kind. Actually curtailing our own production of, in order to find market here for the imports.

"Now if we export $4 billion worth, and import $4 billion worth that makes up the $8 billion foreign commerce.

"But has our foreign commerce been $8 billion as the internationalist will tell you ? NO it has been just zero, because we bought back as much as we sold. It has other liabilities which lie in the obvious fact that in order to permit foreigners to market their things which we have in abundance here, or could produce in abundance or suitable substitutes for same, we must legislate the foreigner a protected American market in preference to our own people who can produce these things as cheap if not cheaper than any foreigner can.

"When we do this, and we have been doing so in hundreds of ways, we create the unemployment situation which we have witnessed for over 10 years. And we must pay our own workers and farmers for not only their idleness, but also deprive them of the things which we have exported, and which our own people would have consumed had they been given a chance to work for them, as is given the foreigner to work.

"Time permits more than one illustration. Take the case of sugar: Our country could produce enough cane or beet sugar to sugar the world - if we could get anything for it. We can produce the finest of sugars cheaper than even the present freight on imported sugar.

"Nevertheless since 1937 we have given the foreign sugar a 70 percent protected market here, confining our own producers to only 30 percent. We average about 100 pounds of sugar per person per year. Our people are forbidden by the international controlled Congress to produce but 30 pounds- the other 70 pounds must be imported. And the irony of the deal is that the sugar producing foreigners do not even take our productions in exchange for their sugar; which surely our own people would have to do if permitted to produce all of our sugar.

"I can show you a parallel condition in principle upon everything we import. Also that our foreign commerce in the 7 years of 1934 and 1940 inclusive was actually against us in a sum of over $12½ billion dollars.

"That was a pretty good business this foreign trade for foreigners wasn't it? Netted them over $1,700 million average per year; and added to our public debt a like sum to provide for the idleness it caused here.

"Now if anyone wishes to see the documented facts and get the references to Congressional debates, proceedings, and hearings, on this matter, I will be very glad to give them after the meeting has adjourned.

As noted, I am a pamphleteer specializing on the exposure of false economics, and am taking the liberty subject to return at my expense on postage enclosed herewith if not wanted, several pages of, devoted to foreign commerce, in numerical order.

You will find that pages 123/126; and 131/134 cover the foregoing proposed remarks. If not sufficiently documented to suit, you may easily verify through the Congressional Record indexes under their commodity nouns for the C.R. pages. I assume of course that you study the Congressional Record religiously in order to make your endeavors effective.

MOTHERS MOBILIZING AGAINST WAR

A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION

Incorporated in the State of Wisconsin

~~Principal Office: 6182 Plankinton Arcade Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.~~

A number of the charter members of this Organization were known from 1928 to 1938, as "Volunteer Charity Workers" and as such they rendered great service to many whose sad circumstances were caused by unnecessary wars. When their official committee called upon the Senators and Representatives in Congress at Washington just before the Neutrality Bill was passed, they were lauded for the great progress they had made by presenting 100,000 signatures from the city of Milwaukee demanding strict neutrality. The committee was definitely told by these Senators and Representatives, that if the mothers of other States would take as firm a stand against war as the Wisconsin mothers have, we would have the absolute assurance that our boys would not have to face the horrors of another war. They have witnessed the great sacrifices and suffering caused by wars, and now are determined to increase their untiring efforts and mobilize all mothers, to work for everlasting PEACE.

We believe the name of the Organization (Mothers Mobilizing Against War) has been well selected, as it definitely implies that we are against all wars, here, as well as abroad.

This Organization is to always remain a charitable, non - profit Organization. All funds received are to be used for printing, rent of headquarters, office help, postage and to further the great cause, by branching into every state and country in the world. All officers, directors and charter members have agreed to serve without compensation, as they realize they will be well rewarded when the world is at PEACE.

We live in a world of conflict. We say that we desire peace. Have you ever asked yourself what causes the conflict which we appear not to want? Are you willing to search with us for the underlying causes that disturb man's tranquility? If so, then come let us reason together. Would you rather pay a little for peace than a lot for war? If so, then let us unite our efforts, join hands through understanding, and come into the light of truth for the heritage that is ours.

The Violation of God's Laws Bring . . . Chaos - Destruction - WAR

It is truly said that the price of peace is eternal vigilance. To be vigilant is to be on guard against danger. This calls for accurate knowledge of the cause of danger and the best methods of safe-guarding against it.

Now let us see what happens when we fail to build upon a firm foundation and on the rock. One of the early manifestations is the spirit of selfishness; then we get narrow, prejudiced, and arrogant. Immediately we can see that conflict arises. Such people are a fruitful field for the mis-leadership which gives rise to war. Then instead of individual crimes, killing and murder, we put on uniforms and murder by wholesale — and believe it or not, it's called patriotism.

What are YOU willing to do to help correct such conditions? Think how much more patriotic it would be to prevent the cause of war, instead of fighting in war! We believe you and many others are willing to enlist in this educational movement to pay the price of peace. We want you to see the way of true and peaceful living, and to help in bringing the light and truth to others, that they, too, may enlist in the cause of peace.

Let us cease being the victims of mis-leadership that brings on war. With an enlightened and organized citizenry, public officials will learn that they are servants of the people and paid public employes. If we who desire peace, will make half the efforts as they who are willing to have war, the price we shall pay for PEACE is very small in comparison to the cost of their war.

TRUTH & PEACE

The purposes and activities of the ASSOCIATION is to organize and mobilize throughout the United States of America, the mothers of boys, to oppose vigilantly public measures or movements, which may result in the sending of American boys to fight on foreign soil.

For information as to the sincerity and responsibility of the Officers and Directors of the "MOTHERS MOBILIZING AGAINST WAR ORGANIZATION," phone MILWAUKEE ASSOCIATION OF COMMERCE OR BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU OF MILWAUKEE, to whom a copy of the Articles of Incorporation and a copy of the BY-LAWS of this Organization have been submitted.

Suggesting what he termed "Six steps toward National Solidarity in the important business of supporting our way of life in our American sphere of influence" Congressman Karl E. Mundt (R.S.D.) told a Chicago audience in Kimball Hall here tonight that "the time has come for agitators to quit rocking the boat in this country and to quit trying to fill it with an AEF headed for the slaughter beds of Europe, Affica, and Asia."

The South Dakota Representative stated, "November 13 marked a highly important date in American history. On that date President got the full authority he wanted and Congress at the same time gave him the admonition the people wanted him to have. This new authority permits the President to lift the barriers against American ships entering belligerent zones and the admonition written into the very narrow margin by which this authority was granted expressed the determination of Congress and the people that he should go no further in the direction of War and that the American public is vehemently opposed to another A

Mr Mundt continued, "The President has now secured from Congress every decision he has requested and every dollar he has recommended for our defense program. The President and the country should now go along on this program on a definitely short-of-war basis for awhile and those who have been agitating for all-out war for America should cease their insistence for constant changes in our foreign policy and their callous clamoring for more and more steps toward wa It is now time for propaganda groups to quit trying to stampede the President and the Congress into a war we are not prepared to fight and into abortive changes in our foreign policy which are planned primarily for their effect upon foreign countri without due regard for their effect upon our own America. The road to unity is to pursue the pattern of our existing policy on the short of war basis upon which it was sold to the country and to which the Administration is repeatedly pledged. Those who would now disrupt our unity and disturb our confidence by calling for our all-out involvement in a shooting war render a dis-service to America at a time when our full effort is needed to step up production of defense materials and to implement the National policy as it is presently defined."

"It seems to me that all groups in America should now be able to unite on a formula of action which might well find The America First Committee, the Fight For Freedom Committee, the Committee to Defend America By Helping The Allies, and other organizations crusading shoulder to shoulder for the solidification of American opinion and American effort which will safeguard our own vital interests while offering maximum aid short of war to those fighting aggression abro Mr Mundt stated. "Such a program might logically be based on the following six steps toward such solidarity of action:

1- Hold Fast to our present course as now defined and authorized with assurance to the public that every effort will be made to keep it on a short of war

2- Speed up American production by utilizing the productive capacity of our little business men as well as our giant production plants, by working out a consistent labor policy which will end needless tie-ups by strikes, and by eliminating delays thru Administrative fumbling and partisan favoritism in the planning and management of defense production. Our tremendous dollar expenditure: should rapidly be translated into terms of finished defense materials available to our friends across the seas and to our own troops which are now so sadly ill-e

3- Keep Our boys out of Europe, Africa, and Asia. We must steel ourselv to take new and anticipated "incidents" in our stride and not permit incidents abr or war incendaries at home to precipitate us into a war for which we are nor prepar If we ever go to war again, let it be only to protect our own vital interests and a a time and place ###### dictated by our own best military judgment and not by propaganda groups crying for war without counting its consequences.

4- Cease agitating for constant changes in our Foreign Policy. There is not likely to be any retreat from steps already taken and there should be no ru toward new steps which might carry us completely and inevitably into outright war.

5- Finish the job of Americanising America. Many axis propagandists have fortunately been sent back to their native countries and their propaganda mills have been closed. We should finish the job. We should permit Americans to decide for themselves the ## most important decision of their history - war or peace - without propaganda or pressure from foreign nationals of any foreign State. We should take steps at once to check the growing activities of Communism in our own country and join with Martin Dies of Texas ininsisting, first of all, that Communists be removed from positions of responsibility in our own Government. We can give material aid to Russia without marrying Communism to the American system and without letting down the bars against its collectivistic program for this country.

6- Increase our South American defenses to correspond with our South American responsibilities. We are committed to the defense of the Western Hemisphere. We should allocate some of the arms we are shipping from this country to the building of stronger defense establishments for our South American neighbors and we should greatly accelerate our program of acquiring naval and air bases South of thePanama Canal.

Mr Mundt summarizedhis position by stating, "We should continue debate in this country in an effort to solidify our people behind some such program ## for strengthening and safeguarding America as the six point program I have suggested. We should also continue public discussion in an effort to work out the goals we want this war to achieve and to determine how best, at the peace table or afterward, we can contribute to the rehabilitation of the World. By remaining out of the soldier-sending aspects of this war we can best maintain a position where we can protect and preserve the true destiny of America while at the same time ##### utilizing the strength of our position to help bring order out of chaos and justice out of calamity when the time for peace has come again."

"Controversies which would involve the United States are far more likely to arise from the entrance of American ships or American citizens in the danger zone, or through the sinking on the high seas of American vessels."

—Cordell Hull and Franklin D. Roosevelt, July 4, 1939

Those who seek revision of the Neutrality Law know full well that it means:

American ships will be sunk . . .
American seamen will be drowned . . .
The American people will be swept into war on a wave of hysteria—just as in 1917.

The war party is demanding a one way passage to Davy Jones' Locker for American seamen—a one way passage to the battlefields of Europe for a huge new AEF.

What Are You Going to Do About It?

> "This government will insist that American citizens and American ships will keep away from the immediate perils of the actual zones of conflict."
> —Franklin D. Roosevelt, September 21, 1939

The war party now seeks repeal of the section of the Neutrality Act which keeps our ships and our seamen out of the war zones.

They do so knowing that repeal will mean:

The sinking of American ships.

The drowning of American seamen.

A series of inflammatory "incidents" which will drag us into war.

They deliberately seek repeal knowing the certainty of these consequences—which the President foresaw in 1939—and knowing further:

1. That there is no practical need for repeal—England needs our shipping less than at any time since the war began. (See Page 5)
2. That we will not enter the war while the Neutrality Law stands intact. (See Page 6)
3. That the purpose of the Lend-Lease Law is to prevent our ships from entering the war zones. (See Page 7)

The proposed repeal is the war party's last desperate gamble—they are betting we will go to war if enough American seamen are drowned. This time they go too far—they shall go no further.

On this issue we stand our ground. Read what the true facts are. Learn what you can do—what you must do—to stop this threat here and now.

Why Was the Neutrality Act Passed?

"By the Neutrality Act . . . we made it clear to every American, and to every foreign nation, that we would avoid becoming entangled through some episode beyond our borders."

—Franklin D. Roosevelt, October 24, 1940

The Neutrality Act was a guarantee by Congress that we would not be drawn into another war. Its purpose was to eliminate the causes. Its purpose was to prevent a grim repetition of 1917.

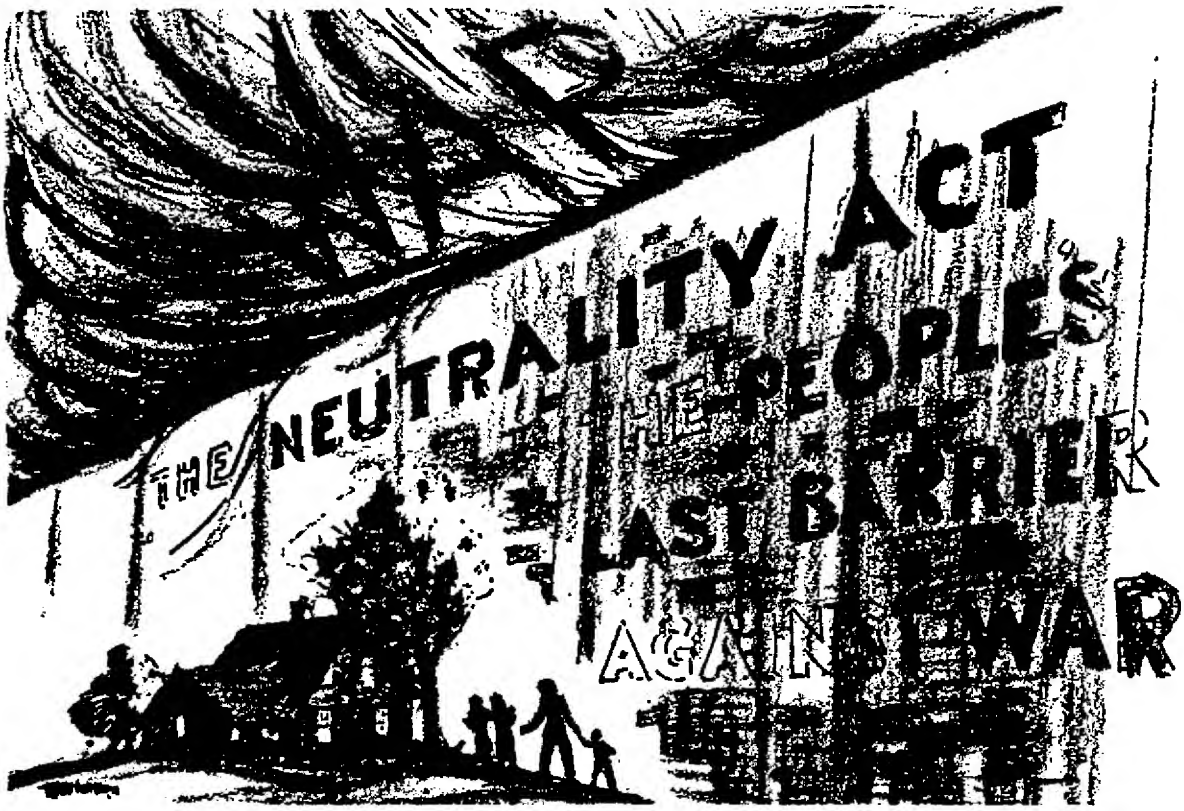
In the period of 1935 to 1939 America was cool and collected. There was no pressure—no propaganda—for war. Congress carefully studied the history of 1914-1918. It held hearings which were complete and thorough—they were not limited to two days. And Congress learned what everybody now knows.

We would not have been drawn into the World War if we had had a Neutrality Act in 1917.

So Congress passed—and the President signed—a wise and prudent law—a law to prevent another series of tragic incidents which would cause a blind hysteria for war. Today that law keeps our ships away from certain destruction—away from the submarine-infested waters off the coast of Europe.

Congress knew then and knows now that ships which carry contraband of war to one belligerent are fair targets for the other. Those ships will be sunk. This is what the war party longingly looks forward to. The American people must give them their answer.

What Has the Neutrality Law Done?



"The adoption of these recommendations offered greater safeguards than we had before, to protect American lives and property from destruction, and in that way tended to avoid the incidents and controversies likely to draw us into the conflict, as they had done in the last World War."

—Franklin D. Roosevelt, October 4, 1941.

The Neutrality Law has accomplished its purpose. It has kept us out of war.

To date not one American ship has been sunk, not one American life lost, in the war zones.

Secretary of Navy Knox testified on October 13, 1941:

> "In this sense, it may be said with justification that the act has been successful—the United States has not gone to war over incidents."

Until we make those incidents possible we will not go to war. That is why the Neutrality Law is the people's last barrier. That is why the war party is trying so desperately to tear it down. That is why the people must insist:

No drowning of American seamen—no tampering with American lives—no repeal of the People's no-war law.

THERE ARE VARIOUS KINDS OF "INCIDENTS"

American merchant ships should not be confused with American war vessels. The United States Destroyers GREER and KEARNY were both engaged in "incidents" while in pursuit of German submarines.

The Greer, according to the official Navy Department report, pursued a submerged submarine for three hours, and cooperated with an English war plane which dropped four depth bombs on the submarine. Not until after this attack did the sub fire a torpedo across the Greer's wake. The Greer then dropped eight depth charges and the submarine thereupon fired another torpedo, which missed. These actual facts were not made public until long after the President's shoot-on-sight speech, which gave a different account of the incident.

The Secretary of the Navy has reported that the Kearny was engaged in convoy duty and had searched out and attacked a submarine. After the Kearny had dropped depth charges on the submarine, the sub fired three torpedoes.

The Destroyer REUBEN JAMES was also on convoy duty. These incidents did not occur in the war zones—but they indicate what we may properly expect if our armed merchant ships and naval vessels try to deliver contraband directly to belligerent ports. Such ships, of course, will be legitimate targets, according to international law.

Is Repeal Really Necessary?

"Losses by enemy action of British, Allied and neutral ships during the quarter of July, August and September have been only one-third of those losses during the quarter of April, May and June . . . Very few important ships carrying munitions have been lost on the way . . . Our reserves of food stand higher than at the outbreak of the war." —Winston Churchill, House of Commons, October 1, 1941

THE QUESTION THEY CANNOT ANSWER

Q. If the true purpose of repeal is to increase deliveries to England, why can't this be accomplished immediately by transferring American ships to England in accordance with the Lend-Lease Law?

A. It can, of course, but this won't produce the attacks on the American Flag which the war party so desperately needs. This question exposes the proposed repeal for the sham and hypocrisy that it is.

The blunt truth is this—there is no practical need for repeal. The facts tell the story:

1. England has more shipping today than she had when the war began. In September, 1939, England had 21,000,000 tons, or 31% of the world's shipping. Today, despite losses, she has 25,767,000 tons, or 45% of the world's shipping.[2]

2. Shipping losses in the Atlantic have become almost negligible. See Churchill speech quoted above. Less than 4% of cargoes of all flags leaving our shores have failed to reach England—even last winter when the battle of the Atlantic was at its height.[3] England has just released forty of our tankers which she does not need.[4]

3. Our own ship yards and the ship yards of Great Britain are turning out new ships at an unprecedented rate that exceeds by many times the combined rate of losses.[5]

We Will Not Go to War While This Law Stands

"I believe that American vessels should, as far as possible, be restricted from entering the danger zones. . . . This means less likelihood of incidents and controversies which tend to draw us into the conflict as they did in the World War."

—Franklin D. Roosevelt, September 21, 1939

The President made the above recommendation in his message to the special session of Congress which approved the present Neutrality Law.

Congress recognized the wisdom of this measure, and loudest in their support were the men who shout for repeal now. What they said then, however, has been proven even truer today.

Read how their past utterances belie what they say today. Let their own words state the true case for retention of the Neutrality Law.

Senator Tom Connally (Texas) Chairman, Senate Foreign Relations Committee, October 14, 1939.

"Although under international law you have a right to go about your vocation and travel the high seas, as a domestic regulation we forbid you to do so at this time, in order, not alone to protect your lives, but to protect the lives of all the millions of Americans and help keep them out of this devastating and desolating war."

Senator Alben W. Barkley (Kentucky), Senate Majority Leader, October 19, 1939.

"The law which we are now proposing would have prevented these attacks upon property and lives (in 1916-17) because both property and lives would have been withheld from regions of danger resulting in their destruction or their attack upon them. The law we are proposing will keep American ships and American cargoes and American sailors and American travelers out of the regions of danger."

Senator Lister Hill (Alabama), October 25, 1939.

"What we want to do is to keep American ships out of the danger zones, so they will not be subject to seizure, or any interference or action by Britain or Germany or any other country."

Senator Josh Lee (Oklahoma), October 27, 1939.

"The purpose of this law is to prevent war; it is a preventive measure."

Senator Kenneth McKellar (Mississippi), October 20, 1939.

"I believe the safeguards in the joint resolution constitute many steps to keep us out of war."

(This is the man who introduced the first resolution calling for repeal.)

"Changing the Neutrality Act to send our ships to belligerent ports would mean war." —Senator George W. Norris (Nebraska), September 24, 1941.

"Let Us Be Consistent"—President Roosevelt

"Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorize or to permit the authorization of the entry of any American vessel into a combat area in violation of Section 3 of the Neutrality Act of 1939."

—Lend-Lease Law, Section 3, Subsection 5 (e).

In his message to Congress of October 9, 1941, President Roosevelt said: "I earnestly trust that the Congress will carry out the true intent of the Lend-Lease Act. . . . In other words, I ask for Congressional action to implement Congressional policy. Let us be consistent."

The President says the Law means one thing; the provisions of the Law state the opposite.

The only way to be consistent with the policy of the Lend-Lease Law is to retain the Neutrality Act as it is.

The Lend-Lease Law was introduced, sponsored, and passed as a means of keeping America out of war. Secretary Stimson, Secretary Knox, Wendell Willkie and every member of the Senate who supported the Bill so stated for the Record.

So strongly did Congress feel that the Lend-Lease Law should keep us out of war—not take us in—that they specifically excluded from the Bill measures which might lead toward war.

They reaffirmed the Neutrality Act. They refused to allow convoys and they outlawed the suggestion that we "deliver the goods." In short the Lend-Lease Law says: Let England's great fleet come and get all the goods it needs —but keep our ships and our seamen out of the war zones.

"Let us be consistent." Let us "implement Congressional policy" by preserving the no-war Law now.

Congress Took No Chances

When Congress passed the Lend-Lease Law, they went to extraordinary limits to make sure that the Bill would not permit the fatal step of "delivering the goods." Every word in the Bill was analyzed and all possible insurance was taken.

For instance, the original bill authorized the President to "transfer" any defense article. In his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, former Governor Landon cited Webster's Dictionary which defines the word "transfer" as follows: "to convey from one place to another; to transport, remove, to another place."

He pointed out that this word might possibly be interpreted as authority to deliver Lend-Lease material to England. This seems far fetched, perhaps, but the Senate was taking no chances—it went out of its way to amend the Bill to make it clear that transfer means only to transfer ownership of goods right here on the shores of the United States.

Repeal Means Convoys and Convoys Mean War

If we were to send our merchant ships into the English Channel, naturally we would want to protect them with our naval vessels —our convoys, as the President indicated in his Navy Day address. But to quote the President himself,—"Convoys mean shooting and shooting means war."

That is why the Lend-Lease Law provides: "Nothing in this Act shall be construed to authorize or to permit the authorization of convoying [illegible] vessels of the United States."—Section 3, Subsection 5 (e).

Notwithstanding this provision, the U. S. Destroyers Kearny and Reuben James were on convoy duty.

How America Will Win the Battle of Neutrality

Here's What You Must Do

Whatever you do, do it now. It is a matter of days or hours before Congress votes on the issue which will mean certain war. Act at once—whatever the sacrifice, whatever the effort. Do these things immediately:

1. Write or telegraph your two Senators and Congressman today. These men are faced with the most solemn decision of their lives. They know their vote means peace or war. They are waiting to hear from you. Sit down and write—at once. To hesitate is to lose by default.

2. Make a telephone call today to your Congressman or Senator. Call him person to person at National 3120. If he is not in his office, ask the operator to put the call through to the House or Senate Floor or to his home. Let's make the wires hum.

3. Join the America First Committee. If you are already a member, call at your local chapter and enlist in the fighting forces of the Neutrality Brigade.

4. Send us your check today. We are in urgent need of funds. Contribute all you can immediately. One dollar will carry this pamphlet to twenty others. Ten dollars will carry it to two hundred.

Organization of a World Government

INTRODUCTION

Although for hundreds of years occasional individuals have shown a deep interest in developing an international government, it is only in the present century that this interest has spread among the people of many countries, with an actual faith in the practicability of substituting law for international anarchy. This interest and faith on the part of millions of people form the necessary foundations for such a government. They should be built upon without delay.

But who shall build and how? And how shall the interest and faith be augmented during the dark days of war and failure? Here is a task — of thought, of study, of right propaganda, which falls upon all who will accept the burden. To have an opinion worthy of expression because it is based upon facts and not prejudice, because it is consistent in principle, because it provides practical suggestions — this is the aim of all who will take up a serious study of world government.

Americans are in a peculiarly difficult, as well as a peculiarly strategic, position in such a study. Would the United States join a world government? What part shall we be able to play beyond the stage of theorizing? If advice is the utmost we can give, should we then be silent? Do we, as individuals, earnestly want the U. S. to join such a union or federation as we shall conclude best from our study? That means, do we want the U. S. to make the national sacrifices which such membership would necessitate? And could a new "league of nations" succeed without the U. S.? Exactly what is our responsibility?

While all of these questions must be faced sincerely and intelligently by Americans interested in world peace, we who feel that we are not merely Americans, but are American members of the human race — individuals with our share of responsibility to institutions broader than our national government as well as to institutions narrower — have a right to add our thought to the thought of sincere people everywhere toward building a new world order.

It is true, also, on a less idealistic plane, that all nations must be interested in international peace as they are interested in national survival. In the past year a number of books and pamphlets on international government have been written, many of them by Americans. Many of these have little to say about the ideals of justice, and democracy, and positive peace, but instead make an eloquent plea for an organization to abolish international anarchy in order that we may survive. Doubtless self-interest is the strongest motive to which we can appeal, and perhaps even the U. S. may find it profitable to cooperate actively in establishing a world government, for the richest nation, like the richest man, has the most to lose. At any rate, we can only go forward from where we are, knowing that the part we can play in the realization of our dreams will depend partly upon our national willingness to contribute to the solution of the world's problems, and partly upon the willingness of other nations to receive that contribution.

Most of the recent writing on the subject of world government was done on the assumption that the Allies would win the war — even in the cases where the author admitted that this assumption m[illegible] prove illusory. It is much easier to build up a system when we think we know upon what it will be based. What will be possible in the field of international cooperation if Germany wins the war is less clear. Nevertheless, we must remember all possible contingencies as we think through our own principles and framework.

FIRST PART. HISTORY.

Lesson I. Past Role of the United States in International Organization.

SECOND PART. PRINCIPLES.

Lesson II. World Government. Basic Preliminary Questions.
Lesson III. Economic Cooperation Necessary for World Government.
Lesson IV. Economic Problems — Internal.
Lesson V. Political Organization of World Government.
Lesson VI. Political Issues.

THIRD PART. PROPOSALS.

Lesson VII. League of Nations, with Proposed Reforms.
Lesson VIII. Pan-Europa. Regional Pacts.
Lesson IX. Federation of Nations. (The Campaign for World Government.)
Lesson X. Federal Union. (Union Now.)
Lesson XI. A Plan for World Government.

The term "world government" is used here without definition to include any degree of federation or union by which nations attempt to govern themselves in collaboration. Throughout, emphasis is placed upon thinking through principles to conclusions which are consistent with facts.

FIRST PART. HISTORY.

Lesson I. Past Role of U. S. in International Organization.

1. The Hague

The First Hague Peace Conference met in 1899 and established the Permanent Court of Arbitration to facilitate arbitration of international disputes. There is no compulsion to submit disputes or to abide by awards. The Court consists of a panel of judges appointed by all adherent countries, from whom arbitrators are chosen for particular cases. The United States is a member of this Court, and has submitted a number of disputes to it for settlement. The Permanent Court of Arbitration continues to exist alongside the Permanent Court of International Justice (World Court).

2. The League of Nations

The League of Nations was established in 1920 by the Covenant which forms Part I of the Treaty of Versailles. Although the United States, through President Wilson, had a large share in originating the League of Nations, our government never joined it. About sixty nations, including all the important countries except the United States, have belonged to the League. The United States has cooperated with the League from time to time, either through unofficial observers, or by joining subsidiary or correlative organizations, such as in the World Disarmament Conference and the International Labor Organization.

No one can know what the fate of the League of Nations would have been if it had had the support of the United States. But it is to be regretted that in the first great international effort made by practically all nations toward world order, the United States did not cooperate more.

3. The Permanent Court of International Justice

The World Court was created in 1920 as a part of the League of Nations system. Although a judicial court had been favored by Americans at the Hague Conferences, and although the World Court which finally emerged was sponsored by Americans, the United States has never joined the Court.

4. The International Labor Organization.

The International Labor Organization, also a coordinate of the League, was established to improve conditions of labor and lay a foundation for peace in social justice. In 1934 the Congress of the United States voted to join this organization. Since then Americans have been prominent in carrying on its work.

5. The Pan-American Union

The Pan-American Union, first called the International Bureau of American Republics, was established in 1890 by the First International Pan-American Conference. This organization was at first under the supervision of the Secretary of State, and the Secretary of State is still customarily elected chairman of the governing Board. The purpose of the Union originally was to promote inter-American commercial relations, but its activities grew to include cultural and social matters, and finally, recently, political interests. There is no authoritative body; the Conferences pass resolutions which must then be adopted by the respective Governments or embodied in treaties.

6 Various Miscellaneous Organizations, in Specific and Limited Fields.

The League of Nations Handbook of International Organizations lists hundreds of such bodies, most of them, however, private. Schmeckebier lists 29 that are permanent with a central office and a budget, to which the United States belonged in 1934. The interests of these organizations are varied, but the economic and social perhaps predominate. The following are examples:

International Bureau of the Universal Postal Union
International Bureau of Weights and Measures
International Bureau of Agriculture
International Bureau of Public Health
Bureau of the International Telecommunication Union
Inter-American Trade Mark Registration Bureau.

Questions for Discussion.

1. Examine the role of the United States in international organizations up to the present. Note negative and positive types of cooperation. Upon what principle or basis should membership in international organizations be decided by the United States?
2. Do you think we were right or wrong in not joining the League of Nations? Why?
3. What part do you believe the United States (a) can play (b) should play (c) will play, in any future world government?

SECOND PART. PRINCIPLES.

Lesson II. World Government. Basic Preliminary Questions.

Certain choices must be made — between the ideal and the immediate, between principle and practicality, among fundamental points of view and final aims. It is wise to adopt first a point of view, a standard for testing, for discriminating, for choosing. Without such preliminary thought, we become hopelessly confused by later issues.

1. The Ideal versus the Immediate.

a. To what extent shall we draw up an ideal form of government with little or no reference to current situations? To what extent shall we be guided by what seems possible, although it is far from ideal?

It is much easier to construct, to agree about, to study, an ideal; it is also highly useful to have in mind the final goal, otherwise we may move in the wrong direction. The final goal must be a test of the immediate steps. But shall we compromise this ideal—ever— for the sake of the immediate?

b. It will be impossible to get very general agreement, even among those passionately desiring a world government, on any part of any proposal. (Test this in your study group. See if your small group agrees unanimously on any proposal, whether major or minor.) Must we wait for such agreement? Must we compromise?

It will be well to decide first whether you will ever compromise your ideal, and if so, under what circumstances.

c. If, in order to make some progress in world organization, we accept less than the ideal, it will be important to see to it that:

(1) the compromise does not make impossible a movement toward the ideal.

(2) provision is made for orderly revision.

d. Discuss the following problem to illustrate the present issue:

Can there be permanent peace without disarmament? Will you agree to a form of world government that does not provide for immediate disarmament? Is there any likelihood that nations, under present circumstances, will agree to disarm?

Suggest other illustrative questions.

2. Principle versus Practicality.

It will be well to see clearly, before considering compromise, whether the question involves a principle or is only a question of what is practical. Such thought will help to determine how far one will go to meet the views of others, and what one's absolute minimum is. It will be relatively easy to agree to compromise on matters of practicality, relatively difficult on matters of principle. Throughout the study course, apply this test.

For Discussion: Which of the following questions may be compromised:

a. Whether the League of Nations should be revised, or a wholly new organization built?

b. Whether a democratic bill of rights must be a sine qua non for membership?

c. Whether nations joining the federation must agree to immediate disarmament?

3. What is the Fundamental Aim? Peace? Order? Justice? Democracy?

One must be able to choose among his aims. Here, as always, the situation is complex; one must see it in its proportions and relationships.

a. Do you think of peace as merely an absence of war? Do you distinguish between this negative peace, and a positive peace which implies a peaceful living together in harmony?

Negative peace, or peace as order, might be maintained better under dictatorship than under democracy. Would you, then, favor dictatorship?

b. Positive peace may be thought of as peace with justice Would you be willing to fight to correct injustice? Would you favor revolution against an unjust government? What do you mean by justice?

c. Is it true that "War never settles anything"? Give historical cases.

d. Clarence Streit seems to put democracy above peace as the final aim. Would you agree?

e. State as clearly as possible your fundamental aim for world government.

4. Points of View: Nationalist; Internationalist; World.

a. What differentiates these points of view?

(1) Nationalist. This may be narrowly isolationist or may favor cooperation with other nations solely in the interests of America and to that extent only.

(2) Internationalist. This would favor inter-state cooperation for the development of all nations equally, but always as independent nations.

(3) World. This would minimize state boundaries and emphasize non-political unities leading finally to a "higher-than-national" loyalty without, however, sacrificing any characteristic national cultures or biological distinctions.

b. Get a clear conception of these different points of view by applying them to specific questions, e.g., the tariff policy of the United States. Then adopt one of these points of view as your own, and use it in determining your conclusions regarding all other questions. This will help a little in tearing apart very tough problems, and will give consistency to your thinking. (The word "state" is used throughout in the accepted sense of a nation as a political unit.)

Lesson III. Economic Cooperation — Necessary for World Government.

We shall find that it is impossible to separate the economic and the political issues. The political problems are, in general, those dealing with the location of authority, and the rights and responsibilities of those subject to that authority. The economic problems usually are related to objective acts by the State and their effects on the welfare of the people. They interact upon each other. Some believe the economic problems are more easily solved, because they seem more concrete and less emotional. Others, like Briand, believe we must begin with the political. Doubtless any satisfactory world government must settle at least a minimum of both. Some groups — for instance, with totalitarian or laissez faire philosophies — fear that a world government may place a straight-jacket upon the soldier or the business man. No world government can eliminate individual differences, victories and defeats, in business and many other fields. As the arena widens, so do the opportunities.

What will be the minimum in economic organization necessary for the maintenance of world peace?

A nation's economic problems are internal and external. It is usually the latter that are thought of when international peace is discussed. We must consider, however, whether internal economic conditions may also have to be changed: this question will be discussed in the next lesson. The present lesson deals with external economic relations.

1. Foreign Trade.

   a. The consumers of all nations want to import; it is an advantage to secure from other nations those commodities we cannot produce, or cannot produce so cheaply. Yet national policy is against imports. Why? Why do we have a protective tariff?

   b. All nations want to export. People are led to believe that exports benefit a country more than imports do. Examine this belief. May exports harm a country, for example, when the fertility and resources of the land are shipped away? Hitler has said that Germany must export or die. Why? Must the United States export or die? What is the relation between a particular nation's exports and imports? — in quantity? in kind?

   c. Discuss the methods used by nations to restrict their trade: tariffs, quotas, embargoes. What are the objections to these? If trade restrictions harm international relations, and help to bring about war, should a nation have a right to impose such restrictions at will? Who should decide what restrictions are permissible?

If a nationally desirable removal of restrictions caused economic loss to a group, as the lowering of tariffs on Argentine beef might harm the beef producers of this country, what should be done? Should the interests of the group rule? Or should the interests of the group be sacrificed? Or should a method be found for sharing the loss among all the people of the nation?

d. The "Hull trade-agreements program" has as its aim the reduction of trade barriers. Study the facts of this program. Is it very important? Is it an adequate means of restoring world trade or only a "drop in the bucket?" Perhaps it is most important as a symbol.

e. Recently the growth of international cartels has augmented the control of international trade. This is a partial application of "planning" in the international sphere. In theory it is antagonistic to free trade. Some believe that free trade is of the past, and planning is of the future. We should examine the possibility of international control of trade as contributing to a peaceful world, also the possibility of rescuing distressed nations by an extension of the Excess Commodities Plan ("dumping" regulated by the World Government).

2. Currency stability and foreign exchange.

   a. One way of controlling trade is through the control of foreign exchange; i.e., the "money" with which foreign goods are bought and sold. Germany has used this method chiefly.
   b. Some nations have altered their currency with the purpose of increasing their exports. This causes instability in the other countries affected. Should a country have a right to alter its money on its own authority?

   c. What would be the advantages of an "international currency"?

   d. This problem is one in which the internal and external interests of a country are inseparable, and yet somewhat contradictory. To what extent should authority be handed over to an international body?

3. Raw materials.

   a. A great deal has been said about "have" and "have-not" nations. When objective studies are made, we find that some nations which claim to be "have-nots" have more than some nations which they accuse as "haves", (e.g., in Kranold's study, Germany ranked higher than France.) We should beware of slogans and catch phrases.

b. The physical needs of a country are too varied and the distribution of resources too haphazard over the earth for nations to dream of controlling all the raw material sources which they need. Only a very few countries can have such a dream, and its very fulfillment makes it impossible for the rest of the nations. However, if raw materials are freely bought and sold, an equivalent situation prevails. But every country is afraid of a time of war, when it may be cut off from its source of supply. However, even then control of the sea would be more necessary than control of the country producing the raw materials.

c. In view of this fear, nations have been trying to free themselves from the need of such sources by inventing substitutes for essential materials. Germany is producing artificial wool, rubber, oil. Rayon and nylon are making us independent of Japanese silk. Such production may lower the standard of living of the country. However, it will at the same time remove the necessity of controlling natural sources of supply. This has a double effect and should make countries which are dependent for their welfare upon selling (rather than upon buying) these raw materials aware of the danger to themselves of placing restrictions on the sale of their commodities. The cases of Chile's nitrates and Malay's rubber are examples. Perhaps when the present process of industrialization is complete trade will become relatively unnecessary.

d. What solution do you suggest for the "raw materials" problem?

4. International capital investment.

a. If a "backward" nation possesses large natural resources of use to the world, what principle should govern their development? Must the world wait until the "backward" nation is no longer backward and can develop its own resources? Must the "backward" nation submit to foreign exploitation of its resources and lose the wealth of its country? Is there any middle ground solution?

b. The United States in the 19th century received a great deal of foreign capital (capital invested in the United States by foreigners) without creating the problems which, for example, Mexico faces as a result of American and British investment. What made the two cases different?

Lesson IV. Economic Problems — Internal.

Must a world government concern itself with internal economic problems of its member states?

1. Must peace and justice exist within nations before they can be maintained between nations?

   Can peace and justice exist in a nation that has (a) great inequality of income; (b) great inequality of opportunity?

2. Can peace be maintained between nations of very different standards of living? Some people believe it cannot — for example, that we shall not have stable peace as long as the annual per capita income in the United States is so much greater than that in Japan. Do you see any reason to support this view?

   The United States takes the position that it must maintain its higher standard of living at all costs, even of war. Do you agree? For the sake of peace, would you be willing to adopt an economic policy which would tend to equalize the standards of living of all countries? Apply this theory to some specific policy, such as tariff policy.

   What program might be adopted by the whole world which would enable substandard nations, by being industrious and wise, to close the gap between them and more prosperous nations? Do you think a leveling up or a leveling down is a more effective economic and social program?

3. The International Labor Organization attempts to establish labor standards among its member states. Do you think we can or should try to equalize labor standards of different countries? Should there be an "International Wages and Hours Law", with the World Government empowered to make exceptions for an approved purpose of national or international benefit, and for a definite temporary period? How gradual would such an equalization of standards have to be? How is this question related to the question of the standard of living?

4. Do you believe we can have international good will with the present immigration policies and policies concerning minorities? Compare the immigration policy of the United States with those of Great Britain and Germany, prior to the war.

5. What would be the advantages of having an internationally controlled organization for the investment of money in countries needing capital for public or private works?

6. Compare the willingness of Americans to make a sacrifice for peace with their willingness to undertake the huge costs and sacrifices of war. Compare the costs of armaments and war with the costs of such peaceful, goodwill policies as admitting refugees.

For Discussion:

1. How great a financial sacrifice would you be willing for our country to make if necessary to win a war? to establish peace? Apply the implications of this question to our relations with Mexico.
2. Whatever the economic and financial costs of building a peaceful world, the economic and financial gains are apt to be greater. No country has been able to become strong economically until order was established within its borders. International chaos hinders economic progress, quite aside from the actual costs of waging wars. It would be wise economy to make necessary financial sacrifices for peace.

Lesson V. The Political Organization of World Government.

It is often said that no mere organization or form of government, no matter how perfect, can guarantee peace. This is very true. We need something more than machinery. Nevertheless, without the machinery for building peace, we shall not build it. If we are realistic, we shall depend neither too much nor too little on organization; but we shall certainly build a framework as perfect as we can within which international peace and order can function.

One of the greatest achievements of this century is the League of Nations. Because its success was limited, it has become fashionable to repudiate or scorn it. Doubtless future historians will give a different—and more favorable—judgment. It was rather stupid of us to suppose that our very first effort in so new and great a venture would succeed perfectly. Nevertheless, we should now examine carefully the causes of weakness in the League, and build better the second time.

1. An organization of states or of peoples?

The League of Nations is an organization of states; the men who form the Council and Assembly are official representatives of their governments. It seems fair to say that they are FIRST officials of their states, working for the interests of their states, and only secondly representatives of the League of Nations. And being officials (often officials of first rank, as foreign ministers) they must constantly preserve the prestige of their governments. Prestige is a rock upon which peace easily breaks.

It is often declared that this kind of representation is one of the chief reasons for the League's failures.

It is now being proposed that the new world government should represent peoples and not states; that the men sent to Geneva (or wherever) shall be elected by the people, as are the men who are sent to Washington. In such an organization there could be more than one point of view within a delegation.

Do you believe this is a sound principle?

2. An inter-state or a super-state?

a. Try to find a clear meaning for the words alliance, federation, confederation, union, federal union. How do these differ?

b. The League of Nations is inter-state. It is a loose confederation of states, in which the national governments cooperate only so long as their own interests, as they conceive them, are served. The League has no real authority, as events have proved. The absolute sovereignty of the member states is preserved through the unanimity rule, that is, in the League, with certain exceptions noted in the Covenant, a single negative vote from the smallest member is sufficient to defeat the proposition.

c. Many people now believe that no world government can succeed unless it has some authority over its members in limited, agreed-upon fields. This means some sacrifice of sovereignty on the part of the member-states.

How great this sacrifice of sovereignty must be would be determined by what minimum authority the League must possess in order to preserve peace.

Do you believe that every nation should have absolute sovereignty, to follow its own course in the world regardless of the interests of other states? (Compare the states in the United States.)

d. In what fields do you think a transfer of sovereignty to a world organization necessary? desirable? Would you be willing for the United States to transfer sovereignty in these fields? Upon what conditions?

e. Authority of the world government — advisory? partial? final? This is the same question as sovereignty. Should the League have the power only to advise? advise and bring pressure? make final decision? partial (in some questions)? or complete (in all questions)? There may be no more vital question than this in the whole study of world government. The question of authority raises the question of enforcement and means of enforcement. This will be considered in the next lesson.

f. Do you see any dangers of a super-state? What? How could they be forestalled?

3. Basis of membership.

a. Membership will, of course, have to be voluntary, although the League might consider whether it could or should bring any pressure to bear upon nations to join — even the indirect pressure of creating advantages for members.

b. But shall any restrictions be imposed, in the form of standards that must be maintained by members? One suggested minimum standard is a bill of rights. This idea appeals to the democracies, as it already forms the basis of their governments. It probably would not appeal to the dictatorships.

c. It will be necessary for us who are interested in peace through world government to ask ourselves whether we should exclude some nations by putting up democratic standards, or include all nations by having no standards at all. In general, it would be a mistake to try to impose our own views on others — except where these views are essential to the foundation of the government. Is democracy such a view?

d. During the recent years of its weakness, many have proposed revision of the League of Nations. One reason why these proposals never succeeded in changing the League was that one group wanted to revise the League toward a broader and shallower basis, which would exclude no nation; the other wanted to revise the League toward a narrower and deeper basis, which would exclude those members not really willing to cooperate. This is a choice that must be made openly and definitely in the new world government. However attractive the idea of having all nations join may be, it is well to remember that the political philosophy of some nations today holds that all sacrifices must be made for the aggrandizement of the national state, and that the sovereignty of the state must never be questioned, even in terms of the rights of its citizens, to say nothing of the rights of other nations. It is questionable whether the membership of such states would add any strength to the world government. They would probably be a liability in all periods of crisis — and even in ordinary times, as there would be constant pressure on the League to make concessions to hold them.

e. Some hold the view that the basis of membership should be geographic — that the organization should be regional. Some think that one mistake of the League of Nations was in trying to include too much, and that it would be wiser to work up from regional organizations, like the Pan-American Union and the much-discussed United States of Europe or even the Danubian Union — to a world organization. Others feel that this basis would be fatal, because it would emphasize conflicting interests and align different parts of the world against each other. Perhaps the middle ground of regional pacts plus a world organization above them would be most fruitful.

f. We may have a world organization or partial organizations. If the latter, the basis of membership may be (1) geographic (e.g., Central Europe, the Oslo States, Europe); (2) ideological (the democracies); (3) other points of self-interest (e.g., the British Empire). From the point of view of success, which would you advocate?

Lesson VI. Political Issues.

Besides the question of framework and underlying principles, there are many political questions to which answers must be found. The more thoroughly one has been able to determine governing principles, the more easily one can find satisfactory and consistent answers. Some of these questions are to be discussed now.

1. Colonies.

After the last war, the League instituted a system of mandates, whereby countries not deemed ready for independence could be guided and controlled by other countries — but in terms of the interests of the governed. The former German colonies were handed over to the Allies under this system. This deprivation of colonies is one of the grievances constantly put forward by Germany. There may also be friction between a colony and the governing country; an important example is India. In a somewhat similar case the United States decided to grant independence to the Philippines. In all these cases, why does one country want control over another?

If the population of Holland has doubled in recent years, is that partly because of positions opened to the Dutch in Java? Could these Dutchmen have been employed in Java if it had not been governed by Holland? Would you rather invest in a free or colonial Java?

Does the case of colonies represent a field in which states should give up their sovereignty to the League? Discuss the advantages and disadvantages.

Should the mandate system of the League be revised and used?

2. Minorities and migration.

Another pressing problem in the world today is the treatment of minorities, with that of migration in general and of refugees in particular. This problem is one of ethical ideals and of economics. A fundamental principle of democratic government in the United States (sometimes violated in practice) has been respect for the rights of minorities. As more and more nations close their doors against immigrants, the plight of those persecuted minorities becomes intolerable. Almost literally there is no place in the world today where they can find a home.

Do you believe, in the case of the United States, that economic interests and democratic ideals are in conflict, especially in respect to immigration?

Should minimum rights for minorities be enforced by the League? Alfred Bingham suggests that the right to emigrate with property be guaranteed. (Doubtless he refers to property legitimately acquired.)

How should the refugee problem (usually of racial or political minorities) be solved? Might this involve some control over immigration laws of member states? Would you favor free passage among all member states for the citizens of all? Would you advocate some such rule as this: that a country with a living standard above the world average should be required to accept a certain percentage of immigrants from a substandard country providing the latter had fulfilled certain requirements, such as having raised its standard of living during the preceding decade?

3. World Citizenship.
Would you provide for a new world citizenship for citizens of member states, so that men would have a dual citizenship—national and international—as at present Americans are citizens of both their state and the nation? If so, what would you include as (a) privileges, (b) responsibilities of such citizens?

4. Foreign Policy.
Control over the relations between states involves some limitation of power in foreign policy. This may be so small as merely the obligation to register treaties with the central government, or it may at the other extreme take away the treaty-making power from the individual states. How far would you go? Would you permit member states to carry on a foreign policy including contracting treaties with other states, whether members of the League or not, with no control whatever by the League? Would the League itself have a "foreign policy" to which the member states would have to conform?

5. Police Force or International Army.

1. Would you provide for any means of enforcement, by the world government, beyond persuasion? Many advocates of world government believe that no force should be used at all. What are the arguments for and against the enforcement of decisions?

2. Some advocate what they call enforcement against individuals but not against nations. Examine this position. Are there any examples in the United States' history where the federal government coerced state or municipal governments?

3. There are, of course, other kinds of force than military or physical. One is economic. Do you believe that economic pressure, even to the extent of "rewarding your friends and penalizing your enemies" in trade, is justified? Would you use all kinds of force but in limited degrees, or certain kinds of force, or no force?

4. Many believe that the failure of the League of Nations was in part due to its inability to enforce its decisions, either through its lack of police power or its unwillingness to carry through the use of economic weapons.

5. In a state there is certainly a difference between a police force and an army. Could a similar difference be maintained in a world government? How would you construct the police force of a world government in order to keep it from becoming a mere army? How would you insure that it would be loyal to the world government if decisions had to be enforced against a country to which some of its members belonged? It is probable that the international police force, if any, should not be constructed out of units contributed by the various governments, but that the world government should have the power to secure and pay for its own police.

6. Should the world government defend itself against attack (a) by non-member states (b) by member states? Would the nations joining a world government be justified in expecting from it protection from attack by other nations?

6. Armaments.

1. Can we have peace without complete disarmament? Can we have complete disarmament without peace? Are armaments a cause, or an effect, or both? What lesson might be learned from the history of the end of the feudal lords' power by the kings? of the ending of dueling and border law by the States?

2. Should complete disarmament be made a prerequisite for organizing or joining a world government? If it is, do you believe that nations would join? If nations will not disarm until they have, or think they have, security, how would you bring about that security?

3. As a substitute for immediate and complete disarmament, some advocate a limitation of arms through international control of their manufacture and shipment. That is, armaments would be controlled, or even monopolized, by the world government. Some would begin with international control of air forces.

4. Associated with the question of arms is the question of men. Should the world government allow member states to adopt conscription?

5. How is your view on the questions in this topic affected by your view of the preceding topic, i.e., whether or not force should ever be used by the world government, and whether the world government should have a police force or army? How would the view of nations joining the League be affected by this same matter?

7. Many more questions might be asked. At the least, those mentioned above must be answered. Examine them from the point of view of principle and practicality. Which ones can you afford to compromise? Which answers would wreck all chance of success in building a world government?

THIRD PART. PROPOSALS.

A great many proposals have been made for some kind of international organization, over a period of centuries. It is encouraging to see how many people have been interested in working out a framework of government by which the nations might control their international life by law. In this section we shall examine a few of them that have come since the World War, namely, the League of Nations, then Pan-Europa, then several others that have been prominent in the news recently or that offer some contrasts, and finally one presented by the writer of the study course.

These schemes, including many not examined here, differ greatly both in details and in fundamentals. They range from a world-wide union to a small defensive pact. Some are based on the League of Nations, some are more inclusive, some less. Some emphasize the economic, others the political; some are on an ideological base, and others on a geographic. Some begin as realistically as possible with the peace at the close of the present war; some (perhaps written earlier) set forth an ideal with little reference to temporary difficulties. All of the former assume that the Allies will win; no one struggles with the problem of international government in a totalitarian world. Most of those who wish to begin in a limited sphere have in mind an eventual world organization.

Certainly in many of these matters, practicality will dictate. It would be fatal, however, to begin with a form which showed no promise or capacity of developing into the ideal.

The survey given here of the various proposals is necessarily fragmentary. They may be studied further in writings suggested in the bibliography. Groups using this outline have by now thought through certain fundamental principles and practical considerations. The most beneficial study will be an appraisal of the suggested plans by these standards, and perhaps the construction of a modified plan by the group. Since we all earnestly desire the day when the world governed by law, we shall have to come to a working agreement at least, on some concrete form of international government.

Lesson VII.—League of Nations, with Proposed Reforms

A. Structure and Function of the League of Nations.

1. Basis of membership: inclusive, but on a two-thirds vote of Assembly. A member may also be expelled by the Assembly.

2. Framework:

Assembly.

a. All member states equally represented: principle of state equality.

b. Representatives appointed by the government, representing states rather than peoples.

c. Voting must be unanimous (with certain noted exceptions): principle of state sovereignty. The negative vote of any one state defeats a proposal.

d. Assembly elects states to membership; elects non-permanent members of Council.

e. Assembly may have disputes referred to it from Council; may deal with any matter within sphere of League.

Council.

a. Great Powers have permanent seats (4 to 6); others, non-permanent, elected by Assembly (9).

b. Supervises mandates;
Hears complaints under minorities treaties;
Acts as conciliation body, in inter-state disputes;
Deals with any matter within sphere of League.

Council and Assembly are essentially independent of each other, not like a two-house legislature. Except—the two act together in

a. Amending Covenant

b. Enlarging the Council

c. Electing judges of Permanent Court of International Justice.

Secretariat.

a. Permanent administrative body. Secretary appointed by Council, approved by Assembly.

b. No separate power invested in Secretariat.
Prepares agenda for Assembly and International conferences.

Carries out plans and decisions of Council.

Connected or Coordinated Bodies.

a. Permanent Court of International Justice.

b. International Labor Organization.
Practically independent of League, but with similar structure.
Delegates are appointed by governments, but are to represent three groups: government, employers and employees. They vote as individuals, and decisions are by a two-thirds majority. However, conventions adopted by the I. L. O. are not binding upon governments of member states until accepted by them.
States which are not members of the League may join the I. L. O. (the U. S. belongs to the I. L. O.)

3. Committees and Conferences — showing the scope of the work undertaken:

Of the League.

a. "Sections" under the Secretariat:
International Administration Section, Health Section, Disarmament Section, Information Section, Opium Traffic and Social Questions, Communications and Transit Section, Intellectual Cooperation and International Bureaus Section, Legal Section, Mandates Section, Political Section, Minorities Section, Financial Section.

b. Other "Organizations" and "Committees" under the League; Permanent Opium Control Board, Permanent Advisory Commission on Armaments, International Health Organization, Economic and Financial Organization, Communication and Transit Organizations, Statistical Committee, Committees for Refugees, Etc., Etc.

Of the I. L. O.
Permanent Agricultural Committee, International Public Works Committee, Committee on Recreation, Committee on Management, Committee on Investment of Social Security Funds, Committee on Social Changes, Committee on Cost of Living and Wage Statistics, Migration Committee, Etc.

4. Purpose.
"In order to promote international cooperation and to achieve international peace and security." (Covenant.)
To carry out some of the provisions of the peace treaty, i.e., mandates, minorities, etc.
Member states agree:

a. To submit disputes between them to "arbitration or judicial settlement or to inquiry by the Council" and in no case to resort to war within three months after the decision.

b. To take economic and perhaps military sanctions against any state which resorts to war contrary to this agreement.

c. To respect and preserve the territorial integrity and independence of member states.

5. Power.

The Council can only "advise" action, each state making its own decision.

Any state may withdraw from the League.

The Covenant is rather vague on the powers of the League, but in any case it has no way of enforcing its decisions.

Unanimity of decision preserves the sovereignty of the states.

" . . . the League of Nations of which the two fundamental principles are precisely the sovereignty of states and their equality of rights." (Briand.)
"But the League of Nations contains the very defect which destroyed the American Confederation of States. It leaves unimpaired the complete national sovereignty of its members." (Lord Lothian.)

B. Proposals for Reform.

For many years the weaknesses of the League have been talked about; many suggestions for improvement have been made. In general, there have been two points of view: (1) those who believed that the authority of the League should be strengthened and its standard of performance raised, even at the cost of losing members who were lukewarm or non-cooperative; (2) those who believed it so important that all nations be members of the League that they advocated reducing the requirements and performance to a base that all nations would accept. In other words, there was a fundamental difference of opinion as to whether the chance of growth and strength lay in a narrow though devoted membership, or in a wide though rather indifferent one. The question was never settled and the League was not reformed; now it has become so weak that there is a serious question as to its survival at all.

On the other hand, with all the weak spots in the Covenant of the League, it is probably true that none of these was fatal; that adequate provision was made for change within the League, but there was no will for change among the powerful pro-Ally, pro-victor states; that those states were leaders in the League whose interests were served by the League. However perfect the structure may be, without the will to cooperate to preserve peace and justice we shall not succeed.

1. The Bruce Report.

The Bruce Committee was appointed by the League to study the matter of dividing the economic and social work of the League more definitely from the political. This Committee, whose report was adopted by the League, recommended the setting up of a Central Committee for Economic and Social Questions. The Central Committee is to have the same sort of autonomy as has the I. L. O. It may have among its members nations not belonging to the League. The Committee is to be composed, at first, of representatives of twenty-four states (whether members of the League or not) and eight economic and social experts regardless of nationality. All questions of an economic or social nature are to be referred to this new body. Decisions shall be made by majority vote of those present.

This reform of the League has already been made, on paper at least. Whatever the fate of the League itself, and whatever the political situation after the war, it is possible that the I. L. O. and the new Central Committee may continue to work toward a world organization to control economic relations. Especially this may be true, if the post-war political organization is on the basis of regions. In that case, the non-political part of the League may be salvaged as a new framework for a world government in the economic sphere.

2. Swiss Committee of the International Peace Campaign.

This Committee declared, in 1939, for a new League of Nations, new in spirit and form, based on the following principles:

a. The League must have authority; international law must take the place of absolute sovereignty of states

b. Protection of small states; the policy of neutrality must be repudiated.

c. Justice; liberation of not only such countries as Austria, Poland, Abyssinia, but also of the people themselves.

d. General disarmament, accompanied by a League police force.

e. Re-orientation of economic life and justice in social conditions; the rights of man must be given first place.

f. The peoples — not the governments or their diplomats — must carry out the peace program, both the treaty-making and the subsequent organization.

3. British League of Nations Union.

This union is in favor of:

a. Some limitation of national sovereignty. "The supremacy of Law founded on Justice must be accepted as the fundamental principle of international relations." All differences must be settled by "judicial decision, arbitration, or authoritative mediation."

b. Reduction and limitation of armaments. This should be supervised by the international authority, which should also protect a state which has limited its armaments.

c. Means for dealing pacifically with international disputes, whether of a justiciable nature or not.

d. Economic prosperity and social justice, to be furthered by freeing of international commerce, maintaining standards of labor, increasing consumption and bettering distribution of world's resources.

e. Protection of minorities.

4. Oscar Newfang's World Federation.

Newfang points out that the basic conditions of permanent peace are (1) political unity and (2) economic freedom. The achievement of permanent peace within nations has come along with their attaining these two conditions. Compare with histories of Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy. The number of states in this world has been constantly reduced, and this reduction has been accompanied by wider areas of peace. In the world today there is international anarchy and international economic chaos. When these are replaced by political unity and economic freedom, peace will follow. The same history as that of individual states will characterize the world as a whole. The League of Nations is in this line of development.

Lesson VIII. Pan-Europa. Regional Pacts.

1. Briand's "European Federal Union".

In 1929 Briand made a proposal to the Assembly of the League which was later sent as a memorandum from the French Government to member states. Replies were received but no important action was ever undertaken.

The proposal was for "a federation built not upon the idea of unity but of union" to be composed of all the European states which were members of the League. This federation — a development of the Locarno agreements "which initiated the true policy of European cooperation"— was to further the cause of peace by solving special European problems. It must not (a) be in opposition to any other group (b) weaken the League in any way (c) interfere with the "absolute sovereignty and entire independence" of its members. The organization of the union was to include:

a. European Conference (all members of the Union).

b. Permanent Political Committee, an "organ of research and instrument of action" (some selected members of the Union).

c. Secretariat (at first not permanent).

Briand believed that political problems must be settled before the economic, and that it was necessary for European political problems to be solved before the League could succeed. The Union would give European states an opportunity for regular contacts and meetings for discussion of their common problems. After security and political union were secured, questions of economic development, tariffs, etc., could be undertaken.

Under the economic organization of Europe, which was to be effected under the political responsibility of the governments working in unison, were the establishment of a common market to raise the standard of living in Europe, "rational organization of production and of European exchanges, by means of the progressive liberation and simplification of the circulation of goods, capital, and individuals, due account being taken of the requirements of each state as regards national defense."

2. Pan-Europa of Coudenhove-Kalergi.

Count Coudenhove-Kalergi founded the L'Union Pan-Europeene in 1922, and was its president. He advocated a "Pan-Europe" which would use the United States of America as its economic model and the Pan-American Union as its political model.

Pan-Europe would be achieved in stages, as follows:

a. Assembling of Pan-European Conference, which would

(1) appoint committees on arbitration, guarantees, disarmament, minorities, communications, currency, debts, and culture;

(2) provide for periodical conferences;

b. Conclusion of the bi-lateral or multi-lateral compulsory arbitration treaties and security pacts.

c. Formation of Pan-European customs union, possibly preceded by customs or monetary unions of smaller groups.

d. Adoption of Constitution of the United States of Europe

Coudenhove-Kalergi advocated the development of four other similar supernational continental groups, thus organizing the whole world into (1) Pan-American, (2) Pan-European, (3) British, (4) Russian (which was not to be included in Pan-Europa) and (5) Mongolian regional units.

Briand, who proposed the European Union to the League of Nations, was a member and honorary president of Coudenhove-Kalergi's association.

In October, 1940, this association under the name Pan-European Union, moved its headquarters to New York City.

3. Alfred Bingham's United States of Europe.

Bingham would have the world organized into five or six regions: The United States of Europe, the British Empire (England would belong to both of these), the Americas, Asia, the U. S. S. R. (Russia being excluded from U. S. of Europe) and, possibly, the Mediterranean desert countries. Colonies would be either brought to self-government or mandated.

There would be no "democratic bill of rights" as the U. S. of Europe would contain both democratic and dictator countries. But minorities would be guaranteed the right to migrate with their property. There would be cultural and administrative autonomy within the Union.

Structure of United States of Europe: In the legislative branch there would be a Council of States (representation according to importance of country, and majority decision), a Council of Nationalities (representing cultures, with little legislative power), and an Assembly (elected by the people according to population).

There would be an executive elected by the legislature; there would be a judiciary similar to the present World Court, which would eventually form a supreme court for Europe; and there would be administrative organs under the executive controlling the army and navy, commercial aviation, etc.

States would retain their armies temporarily, but disarmament would be achieved as fast as possible under a European Arms Control Commission. States would give up their navies. The Federal Army and Navy would protect the union from an outside power or from a rebellious member.

In the political realm world organization may be postponed in favor of regional organization. But in the economic realm it is necessary at once. The following are advocated:

a. World Investment Commission including European Reconstruction Commission and World Investment Bank.

b. World Trade Commission (1) Cartels Division, (2) Raw Materials Division, (3) Tariff Division. (Bingham is opposed to a customs union or a free trade area because he believes the trend of the times is toward controlled cartels and monopolies, and it would be useless to struggle against this trend.)

c. I. L. O.

d. Bank for International Settlements.

4. The "New Republic" (January 8, 1940) advocates:

a. A European organization (as more feasible than a world organization).

b. Logical sub-units, as, perhaps, a Danubian Federation, a Scandinavian Federation.

c. Some authority given to the Federation over such matters as: enforcement of disarmament, changes in tariffs, changes in the mandates system, enforcement of a bill of rights, currency uniformity, labor standards, raw materials, migrations, international programs for agriculture, public works, education, news and travel. There should be a police force of the Federation and a court with compulsory jurisdiction in certain matters.

5. The "United States News" (October 23, 1939):

Makes a suggestion for a peace conference and an economic federation of European states. The Economic Federation is to be governed by a council of nine representatives chosen according to ability, not nationality. The Federation shall have power to arrange trade agreements for itself and with outside states; it shall consider plans for international loans to facilitate resumption of peace-time life, and financial consortiums for economic development; it shall arrange for repatriation of populations or protection of minorities.

Lesson IX. Federation of Nations (The Campaign for World Government).

The Campaign for World Government has been carried on for some years under the leadership of Lola Maverick Lloyd and Rosika Schwimmer. Their ideal is an "all-inclusive, non-military, democratic federation of nations."

1. Structure.

Basis of Membership: Inclusive. All are invited to join. The preliminary Constitutional Convention, which is to draw up the detailed plan, may begin with delegates from any six countries.

Preliminary Organization:

a. Committee of Experts — to devise rules for democratic elections, to be used in all countries in electing delegates to the Constitutional Convention and to the Federation.

b. Constitutional Convention — temporary organization — to draw up Constitution for Federation of Nations.

Federation of Nations — the permanent organization.

a. World Parliament. 10 delegates from each state, elected by people.
Delegates shall vote as individuals.
World Parliament elects president, vice-president, executive board.

b. Executive Board: shall reside at the seat of world government and carry on its work.

c. Permanent Secretary.

d. Commissions (see below).

2. Purpose.

To Maintain World Peace.

Principles:

a. All-inclusive. Only one form of membership.

b. Non-military. No troops. No enforcement of decisions on States.

c. Democratic. Representatives elected by the people. " . . . their (member States) national sovereignty being unlimited except where their interdependence requires federal regulation." Lloyd.

3. Functions Through Commissions:

a. To plan work to take care of unemployed.

b. To plan control of production and distribution of raw materials of world.

c. To plan abolition of all tariffs.

d. To control transportation and communication between States.

e. To plan regulation of world finance and uniform monetary system.

f. To prepare code of international law, and plan machinery for its administration.

g. To reorganize diplomatic machinery of interstate intercourse.

h. To plan for arbitration of internal disputes.

i. To solve population problems
(1) by voluntary transfer of populations.
(2) by legislation of birth control.

j. To regulate rights and duties of world citizenship.

k. To plan education of unbiased sort for all children.

l. To plan adequate health service.

m. To prepare legislation to safeguard news and its use.

Lesson X. Federal Union (Union Now).

The basis for this proposal was laid by Clarence Streit in his book, Union Now. The Inter-Democracy Federal Unionists is the organization advocating this plan. Their idea is for a union operating in all fields where it can increase the freedom for the individual. They emphasize equality of men rather than equality of states.

1. Structure.

Membership.

a. All democracies, i.e., those States which guarantee to their citizens the Union's Bill of Rights.

b. Original members — 15 democracies, chiefly North Atlantic, (or part of these, e.g., Great Britain, France and U. S.)

Framework.

a. Legislative:

(1) House of Deputies — one representative for every half-million, or one million, population, by popular election.

(2) Senate — two representatives for every country of 25 millions or less population, and two additional for every additional 25 or 50 millions.

b. Executive:

(1) Executive Board — 5 persons (3 by popular vote of all citizens, 1 by House, 1 by Senate). Duties: Appoints premier, names judges, makes treaties, heads army, has some veto power, and can dissolve legislature.

(2) Premier and Cabinet — subject to confidence of both houses.

c. Judiciary:

No interstate questions excluded from its jurisdiction.

2. Purpose, Functions, Power, etc.

a. To further democracy. To preserve peace within the area of the democracies to this end.

b. Function in fields in which Union will have authority:
a. citizenship (in addition to state citizenship)
b. defense
c. customs (free trade within Union)
d. money (international currency)
e. postal and communicative system
In fields committed to Union, States give up their own sovereignty.

c. Union has its own forces for enforcing its law and for protecting Union from outside powers. It can raise its troops directly, and can tax its citizens directly.

3. Present Program.

Mr. Streit, who was for some years the New York Times correspondent in Geneva, wrote Union Now as his solution of the problem presented by the failures of the League of Nations, which he had been studying at first hand. His proposal was made the year before the war broke out, and the fifteen democracies which were the nucleus of his organization were: The United States, Great Britain, France, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Ireland, Union of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and Canada.

As most of these countries have now been conquered by Germany, Mr. Streit proposes that those remaining — really the United States and the British Empire — join in a union, and await the time when the organization can be made more inclusive.

Many feel that, whatever the merits of the original plan, such a union of the United States and the British Empire now would be little more than a military alliance. The question is whether any beginning of a world government could be made while the war is in progress.

Lesson XI. A Plan for World Government.

In this lesson there is set forth a plan for world government which takes into account some of the issues discussed in Part II. In parts it is fragmentary, almost omitting the judicial phase, and giving fewer details in the political than in the economic program.

In order to institute this form of world government at the end of the present war, the following preliminary steps might be taken:

1. Scrap the Covenant of the League (and the name, if you wish)—but not the organizations and facilities which have value.
2. Appoint a Committee of Experts I to draw up a new structure of government based on the principles and organization set forth below.
3. Appoint a Committee II to draw up a program of international economic cooperation, based on the principles set forth below.
4. Have a first and second peace conference (see proposal of Harold Nicholson), the first to be restricted to the immediate military settlement, and the second — not really a peace conference, but a world conference of nations to construct the foundation for a peaceful world — made up of neutrals as well as belligerents. All nations willing to accept the principles laid down in the reports of the Committees of Experts will be members of this conference. The first Committee will determine the method of appointment or election of delegates, but in no case may more than one-third of any nation's delegates be official or/and military representatives. The reports of the Committees of Experts (made public as soon as possible, and long before this conference) will form the basis upon which the details of the government are to be worked out.

The Committees of Experts shall be appointed by the governments of those nations which are now members of the League of Nations, but in no case shall any official of the government or any representative of the military forces of the nation be appointed. Experts and world-minded citizens, in sympathy with the principles and plans set forth below, should be appointed.

A Reconstituted League of Nations

The following proposal is made for a government which would be a drastic revision of the League of Nations, preceded by a scrapping of the present Covenant. The present equipment, knowledge, committee organization, etc., of the present League would be used as much as possible. But the new structure would be set up without regard in advance to how much that might be.

The organization will definitely be a federation with limitation of the sovereignty of member states. The federation, or League of Nations, will have authority in designated interstate matters. Interstate in this connection does not mean only matters between States (i.e., Governments) but between individuals or organizations when these fall within the fields of international concern handed over to the League of Nations.

The elections, mentioned below, should be free elections with general adult suffrage. Whether the League should enforce the same standards immediately upon all nations is a question of practicality as well as of principle. Should France be barred because she does not permit women to vote? Should the U. S. be barred because Negroes are often prevented from voting?

The League shall have a police force to maintain its authority. This force shall be under the exclusive jurisdiction of the League.

1. Structure: (two Houses, a Board, the World Court).

Congress — with jurisdiction over economic matters. The members will be elected within States to represent economic groups, the basis of representation being the relative weights of various economic groups in member states. Among such groups are: agriculture, capital goods industries, consumer goods industries, transportation, financial institutions, professions. In each case the representatives will be divided between workers and owners or managers. In addition there will be members elected to represent consumers — or the people — and experts at large.

Assembly — with jurisdiction over political matters.

Two-thirds of the members will be elected by the people and one-third appointed by the government, in each case, to represent each member state.

a. Voting in each house will be by individuals. Measures will require a two-thirds vote to pass, unless an exception is made under the Constitution.

b. Each house acts in its appropriate sphere, and its actions are not subject to the approval of the other house, except that a measure may be vetoed by the combined negative votes of the other house (by a two-thirds majority) and the Board (by a majority).

c. The World Court (or a special court set up by it) will decide questions of jurisdiction between the two houses.

d. Each house will have standing committees on various matters, particularly on those mentioned in the sections below. In the case of the Congress, there will be much coordination with the I. L. O.
The work and facilities of the I. L. O. should be used to the fullest extent possible.

Board.

a. The Board will consist of five members, named as individuals and not representatives of any particular State or group. Two of these will be elected by the Congress, two by the Assembly, and one by these four.

b. The Board will form a convenient organization through which the League can act, will be the administrative body, but will have little independent power. The police force will be under the direct jurisdiction of the Board but its use will be under the authority of the two houses.

2. Functions of the Congress.

Principles — to guide actions in economic field:
a. Maintenance of international economic stability.
b. A rising standard of living.

Program — to control to whatever extent is agreed upon, and on the principles stated in each case, the following economic matters: (There will be one or more standing committees on each of these, with experts and advisers and research personnel attached to it. These committees will work out a definite plan for the control of the matter in question. This plan may be put into operation gradually.)

a. Raw materials — their availability and exploitation.
Principle of equal availability.
b. International trade:
(1) Barriers
Principle of reduction and freedom.
(2) Markets (Cartels, dumping, etc.)
Principle of equal rights.
c. International finance:
(1) Currency
Principle of a common standard.
(2) International banking, loans, etc.
Principle of international stability and prosperity.
(If possible, use the Bank for International Settlements by expanding its functions.)
d. Labor standards:
(Extend the work of the I. L. O. and add authority where possible.)
Principle of equalization.
e. Social security:
Principle of economic stability and security.
f. Populations and migrations:
(1) Problems of population pressures.
(2) Immigration and emigration policies, (including refugees).
(3) Principle of freedom and equality.
g. Transportation and communication.
Principle of freedom from frictions, equality.

Extent of Activity.

a. The Congress will have to decide how far to go, how fast to go; but the direction is determined by the principles, which will have been set down by the Committee of Experts or the Conference organizing the League, and will have been accepted by members.
b. It may be possible to include the cooperation of non-members in many of these fields.
c. It may be advisable to develop regions (based on geography or interest) within the League, which will carry farther than the League as a whole some of this program (e.g., customs unions, monetary unions).

3. Functions of the Assembly.

Principle — to guide action in political field:

International cooperation for the maintenance of peace, based on justice between nations and justice and freedom within nations.

Correlative Principles and Program:

a. A bill of rights for citizens, to be accepted by all member states.
b. A common citizenship under the League.
c. Limitation of sovereignty of member states, as far as is required by the economic and political principles upon which League action is based.
d. Disarmament, to be achieved gradually as confidence and security grow. There should be a standing committee of the Assembly on Disarmament.
e. Control over the amount of production and the transportation of munitions.
f. Provision for protection of minorities.
g. Colonies to be mandated to the League.
h. An independent news agency of the League uncensored in all member states.

Archbishop, Editor Join in Neutrality Crusade.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Religion went "on the march" last night against administration war makers when Archbishop Francis J. L. Beckman of Dubuque and the Rev. Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison of the Disciples denomination, editor of the undenominational Protestant journal, Christian Century, joined in demands against repeal of the neutrality law over the nation-wide Mutual network.

Rev. Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison.

The broadcast, originating from KDTH, Dubuque, where the archbishop was detained in his home by illness, and W-G-N, Chicago, in combination with yesterday's publication of a Catholic-Protestant demand that congress continue the neutrality legislation in Archbishop Beckman's official archdiocesan journal, the Catholic Witness, marks a new moment in civil and religious history of the country. Both speakers directed their addresses to congress, which had been notified of the broadcast.

Calling a Halt.

"And let no man cry, 'religion in politics,'" the archbishop challenged. "Moral issues are involved. When corruption, deceit, and communism entrench themselves in government it is time that religion steps in and calls a halt."

The archbishop praised those congressmen who "have fought heroically against power, pressure, patronage, and abuse," and have remained "true to their pledge of peace." He released from blame those congressmen who in the past voted for war measures "because they sincerely believed them peace measures of strict defense."

"Those can yet redeem themselves with their people. It is to those faithless politicians who have listened to the voice of Caesar instead of the people that we sound our warning. If you vote to send American ships into war zones you will be voting the deliberate murder of our boys.

"If you dare to repudiate your people you, in turn, will be repudiated. I am satisfied now that religion will furnish that leadership. As a proof of that point you are getting a foretaste of it now. Religion is on the march."

"Let the People Heal."

Dr. Morrison declared that the most important thing to tell congress on the eve of the vote on repeal of neutrality is "how the people feel about their government."

"They feel," said Dr. Morrison, "that congress no longer represents them, but that it represents the President. This impression is widespread that the President has tied congress to his war chariot so that it no longer listens to the people, but listens only to the President.

"The people see their congress setting the ribs of Hitler's reichstag, which meets when he calls it together to rubber stamp the dictator's decrees. A poignant sense of helplessness has therefore seized the people. His majesty the American citizen has had his proud sense of authority broken. His will is being frustrated. He is no longer the arbiter of the nation's destiny.

"Not America's War."

"Our people, in their heart of hearts, do not believe that this is their war. Neither their national interest nor any high, unselfish duty dictates that they fight in it. They can serve America best and humanity best by staying out.

"The President knows that this is the deepest conviction of the overwhelming majority of the people. Otherwise congress would be asked to declare war in the constitutional way. The people desire to trust their President. But our leaders have not trusted the people. For two years the people have been deceived. The leaders have exploited the people's trust.

"The American people are being forced by subterfuge, by a cumulative sequence of executive events to take part in a war which they do not believe is America's war.

Poses Some Questions.

"Why should America pledge her destiny to a cause which cannot be defined? Why should she enter into an alliance with nations whose collaboration cannot be predicted beyond the segment of military victory?

"Up to date, congress has granted all the President's demands. If now it refuses to repeal the neutrality law it will say to the President: Thus far, but no farther! We have already gone as far as our commitments require. We do not propose to go farther along this road.

"Only congress stands between the American people and a war which is not America's war. Congress must not let the people down!"

YOU CAN SAVE OUR BOYS!

(These leaflets are being distributed to the public. Please contact Me and help distribute them everywhere.)

There are almost 200,000 Clergymen in America. More than enough to stop the war. Each of them are ordained to obey the commandments of God. The word of God teaches to forgive, enlighten and save—not to hate, darken nor destroy.

The present war is a materialistic one. None of the fighting leaders are fighting for God. All are doing the works of the devil and America, itself, will become destroyed if we allow our boys to be ordered into foreign battles. America will not be attacked from without. There is no nation, nor combination of nations, that can invade us. We will be destroyed from within by New Deal despotism and bungling which is sending our defenses and money abroad. With the Lend-Lease Program the New Dealers will make us, taxpayers, bear the burden of the European war unless we do something effective to curb and reverse their plans. Our democracy, under the conditions they have planned for us, cannot survive. The New Deal Dictators already are beginning to undermine our churches by suggesting what our Clergymen should preach.

You workers and parents are the "salt of the earth". There is a way to prevent New Dealers in Washington from sending our boys across the seas to war. Those New Dealers are only a materialistically minded minority, who, with false pre-election promises, have deceived us. Because they are only a minority they can easily be diverted from their plans by our combined American Clergymen, who are a great majority, with a still greater public majority supporting them. If an army of 150,000 American Clergymen and laymen would make a mass pilgrimage to Washington, and there, at mass meetings, summon the President, his cabinet, Senators and Representatives before them, and demand pre-election promises be kept—then our democratic institutions and our boys will be saved.

It is not too late but there is no time to lose. Is not the saving of the lives of millions of our boys worth everything to you?

Following is what you must do: (1) Write to your Priest, Preacher or Rabbi and offer to help pay his expenses to make a trip to Washington to attend protesting Clergymen's mass meetings. (2) Get all your friends and have them get their friends to also write to their Priest, Preacher or Rabbi offering to help pay for his expenses to make the trip. Every church member and friend can easily afford to help contribute money so the Priest's, Preacher's or Rabbi's expenses will be paid. This will help save the lives of our boys, will greatly reduce taxes and enrich our future. In addition it will save the "democracy and independence" our forefathers gave us.

Neither Britain nor Russia are democracies. Britain is a monarchy and Russia is a dictatorship. How can we expect to win their battles for them over there after they have lost their strength and themselves are too weak to take care of themselves? Perhaps they are doing their fighting the wrong way and have enticed our New Dealers into the same errors. We must save ourselves from their errors. We must also save the lives of our boys and our democratic way of life here—not elsewhere. Would our future be happy if through our negligence our boys are sunk in the sea or killed in action? No! Then we better make up our minds to do something about it NOW.

Last Monday, Nov.10, 1941, I mailed enclosed leaflets entitled "Clergymen To Stop War" to every Clergymen in Chicago. Every one of them has been informed of the Washington Pilgrimage.

Now I repeat: (1) Write to your Priest, Preacher or Rabbi and offer to help pay his expenses to make a trip to Washington to attend protesting Clergymen's mass meetings. (2) Get all your friends and have them get their friends to also write to their Priest, Preacher or Rabbi offering to help pay for expense to make the trip.

I am only a poor worker with a family and a $2000 unpaid mortgage on my humble home, but, I have already spent over $250 in postage and printing to help keep America out of war. In addition I have written my friend, the Preacher, and sent him a $20.00 check for his Washington trip. I will personally request of my friends to help contribute toward the Preacher's trip. If they refuse then they are not my friends, nor Christians, and I will have lost nothing by losing their friendship. I will make them read this message. I cannot expect to save the life of my boy nor that of all the others unless I do something about it. So I am doing all I can. If you fail to help—then you are our enemy destroying both yourself and us. Help your Priest, Preacher or Rabbi and he will help us save our independence and the lives of our boys.

Also the Jews should help prevent America's entry into war. They have had a good home here and have enjoyed equal opportunities with the rest of us. What can the rank and file of them gain by America's entry into war. Nothing—but they will lose much if we go to war. America is threatened with a bloody revolution if we become deeply involved—and the Jews will then be persecuted here the same as they were elsewhere. The Jews and Christians are all of the same earth, air and Creator. We should not hate nor kill each other because of material possessions. In the final analysis none of them belong to us because we cannot take anything into the Beyond except the love and friendships we have made on earth. In the Beyond we will not want our enemies to be enemies—so why not make friends of them here. We may not be able to make friends with Hitler (?) but it is not impossible to make friends with the German rank and file if we reason in long term friendships and fair dealings instead of materialistic greedy gain (like the last time). I have met domineering Britishers, Frenchmen, Irishmen, Mexicans, Italians, Jews, and Americans—as well as Germans. But why should we of the rank and file kill and make life miserable for each other because of their short sighted foolishness? All wars are the result of greed and it was the wealthy of Britain, France, Germany and America who re-armed Germany after she was disarmed. The wealthy internationalists are continually playing international financial games with national currencies, national aggressions and the lives of the rank and file.

We, the people of America, demand that the foolishness of war be banished from our life. War will not come to us unless we go out to get into it. Let us send our Priests, Preachers and Rabbis to Washington to demand America's withdrawal from war involvement. (1) They can take the time—(2) they have the education and qualifications—(3) they are a majority over the New Dealers—(4) as denominations they are united—(5) they are the leaders over the New Dealers because they represent the God of Peace, not the error of war—(6) it is their duty to prevent war—(7) they owe it to us because we pay them their salaries—(8) we can pay their expenses to Washington and they can get there before it is too late. If you fail the clergy and the clergy fails us—then AMERICA AND ALL OF US ARE DOOMED. Now get busy. Do all I have requested in order to save your own future as well as ours. United we stand and divided, in error, we fall.

AMERICA IN DANGER!

Weekly expose of un-Americanism in Education, Finance, Labor, Politics, and Religion. Condensed news for truth-seeking readers. Subscription, $1.00 for 10 weeks includes "Interlocking Directorate" Chart that lists some of the leading Radicals, Organizations, and Publications.

BULLETIN NO. 291 B#58 "MARCH on WASHINGTON to IMPEACH Pres. Roosevelt". Nov. 18, 1941.

AID FOR AID! Appeal in AID! B#289 resulted in number of faithful sending in their remittances - for which I am most thankful. However, there are many who have been getting this bulletin service for some time who have not responded. Some promised to remit - but have not done so. To them I appeal again for their help.

Until supply exhausted: $3. remittance entitles you to free copy of 50¢ book, TNT; $5. for year's subscription entitles you to free copy of 60¢ book, THE OCTOPUS (2 for $1; 7 for $3), the 256-p. book with 2,300 names in index, which put so much fear into NUDEAL and its "control" (Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance), that the P.O.Dept. denied it the book post rate of 1½¢ per lb., forcing me to pay 7¢ to 14¢ parcelpost zone rates, all designed to hinder wide distribution of THE OCTOPUS. (I also sell: EDUCATION FOR DESTRUCTION - $1.50; THE DICTATE-APER - 25¢; and PLANNED ECONOMY with its 3 famous Charts - $1).

THE INDIVIDUALIST (P.O.Box 373, Lincoln, Nebr.- 10 issues $1), No.146, develops generally unconsidered angles on FDR's gift of one billion dollars for Communism (with no repayment until after this war, if ever, and with no interest, whereas Americans not only must pay interest but undoubtedly will be holding the sack for the billion). This bulletin, worth sending your dime for, climaxes with: "A Pacific War In The Making - The combination which includes the repeal of the Neutrality Act, arming our merchant marine, delivering supplies to Russia thru the Japanese zone and deliberately fomenting ill-will between Japan and ourselves, will insure the International New Dealers of the perpetuation of the wartime emergency even tho England and Germany sign an armistice this coming year. It will also please Stalin if we help him to defeat his enemies in Asia; it will please the reds who are looking after his interests in the USA; it will please Churchill if we have to get busy in the Far East leaving more of our trade to English manufacturer and the English merchant marine; it will please Hitler if Russia is forced to open up a another front. In fact, it will please everyone except the overwhelming majority of Ame icans who have been trying to preserve their country, avoid dictatorship and keep out of war."

HISTORY. In debates re repealing Neutrality Act, Repr.Landis (CONGR.RECORD 11-12-41), relying on figures obtained from embassies, War Dept. and Library of Congress, said: ".. Before we condemn our own boys to agony and death, let us examine the record of the killed, wounded, and captured: Britain(2 yrs.) - 134,000; Poland - 1,675,000; France - 2,365,000; Russia (3 mos.) - 2,565,000; Belgium - 230,000; Yugoslavia - 225,000; Holland - 160,000; Greece - 95,000; Norway - 5,000..." B#290 gives British field forces deaths the past 2 years at less than 20,000. Consider, too, that the Institute of London Underwriters 11-11-41 announced a 25% reduction in the war-risk marine insurance rate between British ports east of Southampton and the Americas.

From such official figures it is plain that this "fake" war is not punishing Brita the instigator (and financier, along with USA, of Hitler's war machine from its start). For being Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance's chief tool for imposing military-economic dict torships upon the world (thru war scares and "defense programs"), Britain is being rewarded, not only with such slight death losses, but with increases to its Empire, to it shipping, and its foreign trade. Also, on the Continent, where an awakening to the "con trol's" plan and purposes was taking place, death and destruction of property on a hellish scale materializes largely outside of Germany, exactly as in WorldWarI. I.e., Germany is being saved, as England, from wholesale death and destruction (for property lar ly in hands of Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance), for doing its part in consolidating the Continent under a single dictatorship.

Slaughter now in White Russia conveniently destroys millions of essentially white Christians - those of central and eastern Europe. Thus when the armistice comes, those who might have offered resistance to the imposing of the final phases of slavery-dictat ship by Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance, will have been conveniently liquidated. The same net result of the over 40 0,000 liquidation by torture, [illegible]rvation and murder the past 24 years in Russia (in order to consolidate Organized Jewry, Intl.Finance's dictatorship in Russia), is being achieved thru the present war (continuation of WorldWarI), in Europe proper. Thus is the Satanic Plot being achieved as envisioned by Rabbi David Cohen of Temple Beth Abraham in the rabbinical magazine EMANU-EL & THE JEWISH JOURNAL of San Francisco, NewYear's issue 9-8-1939: ".. A war in Europe will be of some good if the reactionary elements (Christians) in all countries kill each other off or wear each other out. This is a gruesome hope. But what other alternative is there?..."

I.e., only hope Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance has of completing its Satanic world-wide dictatorship, is to see to it that Christians "in all countries kill each other off or wear each other out". That's why Jewish FDR is illegally sending American boys to their deaths, at same time wearing us out with one emergency after another - 44 emergencies in last 9 years according to 11-12-41 CONGR.RECORD - with resulting debts, taxes, and chaos to come, all serving to clamp said military-economic dictatorship onto USA.

Following item purporting to be UP dispatch 10-3-1938 throws light on Jewishness of the Roosevelts: "The Gerhard Von Koschembahr family, refugees from Germany, planned today to leave for Hyde Park to visit a relative - Mrs.Roosevelt, mother of the Pres... Von Koschembahr's father was a Jew. Mrs. Von Koschembahr resembles the Roosevelts. She said her mother was Cornelia Kernochan Roosevelt, daughter of Charles Yates Roosevelt."

Col.McShane's 5-p. bulletin sums up the above technique and suggests what the near future holds in store for those of us who so far have not been liquidated or intimidated:

".. In many well informed quarters we hear the underlying objective is to 'spend' vast sums of our money and to exhaust American resources, to regiment the people and all their activities to the end - complete Socialization, followed by international dictatorship by International Financiers. With Americans broke and bankrupt, the people and their enterprises destroyed or regimented, what could stop this international gang from foreclosing their mortgage and dispossessing the occupants?

"Defense of America - by 'lend-leasing' and giving to Britain, Russia and China (all in the Red Circle) 85% of our defense materials, billions of our money and more in recources; depleting even our own meager defensive weapons, while COURTING a war in the Far East and in the Atlantic and in Europe and in Africa?

"Defend America by calling great nations and their leaders vile names, accusing them of unprovable offenses against humanity; when these nations are at war to accuse them of 'piracy', of unspeakable crimes when, in self-defense they sink merchant and war ships actually attacking theirs? Such is an unknown 'defense' by Americans, until the reign of Emperor Franklin the First. At the same time building vast 'concentration camps' reportedly for 'aliens'? One just completed at Yaphank, L.I. At the same time erecting great hospital facilities in far away locations - reportedly for 'psychotherapy sanitoriums?

"Anyone, any group, daring to oppose Emperor Franklin's personal policies, or edicts, is called 'unpatriotic', 'unAmerican', 'pro-Hitler', a 'Nazi', 'rattlesnake', 'copperhead', 'obstructionist', etc. Are these 'camps' and 'sanitoriums' for them? History records this procedure, all of it, as main items of Communist-Jew-Socialist 'legal' liquidations of enemy 'aliens'.

"Any of you with eyes to see with and a brain that is functioning can see all of these things around you. (CBH- the Colonel had used about 4 pages to itemize NUDEAL moves uptodate). And many more. How long will you just walk by and not do anything about them? Prompt impeachment of the whole mess is our surest DEFENSE, if it is not the only DEFENSE left for Americans."

Erratum. P.1 of B#290 had typographical error: the Intl.Labor Organization conference of 33 nations at the WhiteHouse, with FDR as speaker, was on 11-6-41, not 7-6-4 Incidentally, the official Communist DAILY WORKER played up that League of Nations ILO conference in big style, and praised FDR's speech, giving it 11-7-41 caption 4-columns-wide on front page: "BOOST PRODUCTION TO CRUSH HITLER, FDR URGES IN ADDRESS TO NATION".

Illustrating further that the NUDEAL program, with FDR as der Fuhrer, is identical with that of Judeo-Communism, a dodger advertising the 24th Anniversary (for which FDR gave $1,000,000,000, and sent cabled felicitations to Moscow) Celebration of the Soviet Union on Sunday (what sacrilege - desecrating Christ's Day!), 11-9-41, at Los Angeles,

(Communist dodger) says in part: ".. Without the uninterrupted production of war materials to aid the Soviet Union and Britain, Hitler cannot be defeated. That is why Pres. Roosevelt in his message to Labor declared: 'Every aspect of our national defense hinges on greater industrial production' and 'workers in bondage thruout the world look to you as producers of the weapons of freedom to release them from slavery.' Both the AFofL and the CIO wholeheartedly endorsed such a stand. Hitlerism can be entombed on the eastern front, if you and your fellow workers, together with your neighbors exert every ounce of effort now to SUPPORT THE POLICIES OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT FOR FULL CO-OPERATION WITH GREAT BRITAIN AND THE SOVIET UNION. DEFEAT THE AGENTS OF HITLER HERE! -- THE LINDBERGHS, WHEELERS, NYES, AND THE AMERICA FIRST QUISLINGS..."

How sincere the protestations of AFofL and CIO, when not only defense but industry generally being frustrated by millions of lost man-hours, not to mention murders, injuries, sabotage, property damage, etc.? As to sincerity of Sen.Wheeler's opposition to NUDEAL's "foreign policy", AID! some time back held that Wheeler is just another Willkie. Since "domestic" and "foreign"policies of NUDEAL are inseparable, the continued failure of Wheeler to do something with his opportunities and about material placed in his care confirms my stand. E.g., the "open letter" that ex-spy in Communist Party, Edwin P. Banta sent to Central Com. of said CP on 11-5-41 (see B#290), was also sent to Wheeler, and on 11-13-41 he acknowledged thusly: ".. I have your letter of November 5th together with its enclosures. I do not believe I can use this material and am therefore returning it to you..."

Note that this alleged compatriot of Col.Chas.Lindbergh, passes up opportunity after opportunity that would put the NUDEAL on the defensive, verifying the Colonel's claims, at same time creating the offset to the terrific "smear" that is rolling against Lindy from coast to coast. As yet, Sen.Wheeler has not announced the firing of the two male and one female Jewish secretaries (spies) on his staff. Also understand that his son, John Wheeler, is sabotaging the AMERICA FIRST groups around Los Angeles.

The "smear" campaign against Lindbergh (designed to destroy AMERICA FIRST also), as it simultaneously emanates from press, radio, rostrum, etc., proves the very "control" that Lindbergh claims exists. Westbrook Pegler, "FAIR ENOUGH" columnist, who recently built a reputation for fearlessly exposing some labor rackets and racketeers, now prostitutes his "FAIR ENOUGH" 11-15-41 to an unfair attack on Lindbergh. He, who heretofore had been attacking Reds, now gloats about Judeo-Red Russia's successes, and ridicules Lindbergh as having earned "the title of the wrongest man of our time". History will prove Pegler as the "wrongest".

Even the American Flag that Lindbergh had carried on his famous flight to Paris in 1927, which had been the proud possession of NewYorkCity Hotel Lafayette owner, the late Raymond Orteig, has been removed by Orteig's son, from the hotel restaurant lobby. He is quoted: NY WORLD-TELEGRAM 11-15-41, as having had to remove that Flag "to keep peace among his customers after Lindbergh started making political speeches". Note that clever tactic - that Lindbergh's "truth-telling" is merely "political speeches", which reference, significantly, occupies a low estate ever since FDR has proven the Talmudic injunction of telling lies to Gentiles (they're so dumb they wont know lies from truth), and since Willkie testified before Congress that his promises to keep American boys from foreign wars were mere "campaign oratory".

The Judeo-Red NewYork Daily PM 9-22-41, under caption "RUSSIANS TAKE 32 VILLAGES", devotes almost all of front page to a cartoon depicting Uncle Sam as a revolting buzzard in stocks, with a card hanging from his beak "I AM PART JEWISH", and with a placard in front of the stocks reading: "PUBLIK NOTICE: THIS BIRD IS POSSESSED OF AN EVIL DEMON! SHERIFFS: C.A.Lindbergh, Gerald P.Nye". I.e., Lindbergh and Nye are portrayed as bigotted witch-hunters of the early Colonial days, when victims were punished by being clamped in stocks on the Public Square, subject to jibes of passersbye.

Today, it is Lindbergh who is pilloried in the stocks - that cartoonist's Judeo-Red conception twists the facts. Observe that the Judeo-Red THE PROTESTANT DIGEST, magazine which even Jew columnist Geo.E.Sokolsky 11-13-41 bemoans is being promoted by former staff members of leading Jewish weekly in USA, THE AMERICAN HEBREW, and is full of "pro-Jewish-anti-Catholic" propaganda, secured and published the names of 700 Protestant churchmen from all parts of the USA, who "smeared" Lindbergh, accusing him of being an "anti-Semite", "following identically the Hitler technique", and an "anti-Christian".

Glancing over that list of clergy I note a number of those whose resolution and signatures were made much of in the Communist papers, when they supported the Judeo-Red civil war in Spain 1936-39, taking the side of the Loyalists (Judeo-Reds) as against the Christians. It appears when these Gentile clerics continually fall in line at behest of Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance, such false prophets must be spending so much time in extra-clerical activities that they fail to read St.John, who quotes Christ's condemnations of that "control".

These false prophets are guilty of the greatest blasphemy and sacrilege when they sign their names to these lies: ".. Catholic and Protestant alike will tremble to read these words of the Lindbergh they loved (re Lindy's DesMoines speech); for these words strike down not the Jew, but a Jew, Jesus of Nazareth, whom they have been taught to revere. The past decade has written large what we Christians have long known, that anti-Semitism is anti-Christianity.." Christ, the Divine Son of God, was not a Jew. According to Jewish definitions, Christ was the greatest Anti-Semite of all time. And, Lindbergh's speech, by the farthest stretch of imagination, never "struck down" Christ!

You could expect that the Pres. of the Anti-Christ Federal Council of Churches (also Dean of Yale Uni. Divinity School), C.A.Weigle, signed that blasphemy full of lies! It is but part and parcel of the "smear" campaign that leads up to last Sunday night radio broadcast by hate-monger Jew Winchell, wherein he gloats over the oft-demanded investigation of AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE and its leaders, claiming that the Administration and the Dies Com. are now at it. (see proof of Dies Com. treason in AIDJ B#290). A climax wherein Jew "key" Congr.Sabath 11-12-41 in speech says its time to start it.

With Rev.Leon Birkhead, Natl.Dir. of FRIENDS OF DEMOCRACY, INC., claiming that less than $10,000 given him by the Motion Picture division of that Judeo-Red "paper" organization, enabled him to get Father Coughlin off the air, and that another $10,000 will enable him to "halt the political career" of Lindbergh, it is interesting to note that Birkhead now comes out with a 27-p. brochure "IS LINDBERGH A NAZI?" This expensively gotten-up "smear" is somewhat along the same lines of the one put out against Henry Ford.

Birkhead boasts that he "halted the political career" of Dr.Gerald B.Winrod (editor of 50¢-a-year monthly magazine THE DEFENDER, Wichita, Kas.), who sought the Republican nomination as candidate for U.S.Senator from Kansas. Actually, Birkhead is nothing but a Gentile "stooge" for Organized Jewry-Intl.Finance, and the measure of such a liar can be gauged when he takes credit, and avers that such small sums did the jobs. Read THE OCTOPUS and you will learn much about the Birkheads, the vast sums used, and tactics.

Foregoing reminds that what the editor of THE PATRIOT (London) 10-9-41 says with reference to a meeting held in London (to put OK on Jewish dictators FDR & Churchill Atlantic Pact - understand Jew head of Bank of England there to, and possibly Stalin as he was reported absent from Moscow), applies with equal force to above false prophets:

".. for the Bolshevik danger to civilisation has existed ever since 1917 without the scientists ever having taken the trouble to draw up a charter recognising that there must be 'liberty to learn, opportunity to teach and power to understand' and so on. In their treatment of the evil thing which is in power in the world today there was not one of these so-called scientists who apparently had the least idea that the disease from which all the nations are suffering arises from the loss of spirituality. They were as physicians who had not only failed to take a proper diagnosis, but were worse infected with the disease than those whom they professed to be able to cure..."

That English magazine under "RELIGION IN RUSSIA" comments: ".. The Russians still practise their religion in secret at their own risk... 'The ideology of Bolshevism is twofold. The slogans of the State must allow freedom of all Creeds, whilst the Communi Party decrees the stamping out of any religion, and as it is the Communist Party which actually rules Russia it brings its theories into force.' ... It has to be noted that M.Maisky (Jew, just as Litvinov, new ambassador to USA is a Jew) has announced that the are over 8,000 churches in the Soviet Union (of 170,000,000 people) but he did not stat to what use they were being put, and SOVIET WAR NEWS, the daily bulletin issued by the Press department of the Soviet Embassy in London, has mentioned that there are 1,011 synagogues, included presumably in these 8,000 churches. Obviously, the religious need of the Jews receive vastly more consideration at the hands of the government than do those of the Russians." Yes, the Jews are the ruling Communist Party in USSR.

We've had our "Founding Fathers" - Christ & Country now needs their "Salvaging Sons

UNITY FOR AMERICA - AND FOR HUMANITY

Campaign by Plane Pushes Move for a Neutral Peace

The Campaign for World Government took to the air in May with a "barnstorming" tour of several Wisconsin cities in a plane piloted by American Director William B. Lloyd, Jr. With his sister Georgia Lloyd, he later flew to Washington to present the idea of a neutral negotiated peace and a United States of the World to the Memorial Day week-end meeting of the Keep America Out of War Congress.

Copies of the petition enclosed with this bulletin were circulated, local supporters seen or telephoned, and stories given to the newspapers. Many pilots and airport officials were glad to support a constructive peace move. Two senior pilots of one of the major airlines were particularly enthusiastic.

An extended air tour of the West, starting not later than July 7, is being planned. The plane, a two-place, cabin ship, was purchased especially for use in an emergency campaign to arouse America to the need for a non-belligerent peace move.

Represented at American Academy

The Campaign has been continuously active in conferences, public hearings, legislative work, etc., during the unfortunately long period since the last bulletin was sent to supporters.

Former Congressman John G. Alexander of Minneapolis, author of the Alexander "Prepare for Peace" bill of the last session, was listed as a delegate of the Campaign to the session of the American Academy of Political and Social Science in Philadelphia this spring. Edith Wynner, New York Campaign secretary, attended and took an active part. Her questions to Freda Utley of England brought out remarks on a possible peace move which were quoted throughout the country.

Miss Wynner, Miss Lloyd, Mr. Lloyd and Mrs. Lola Maverick Lloyd, Campaign chairman, spent many weeks during the winter in legislative work in Washington, holding personal conferences with members of the Senate and particularly non-interventionists.

The message of a neutral negotiated peace and a United States of the World was carried to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee February 8 by Mr. Lloyd.

Leaders of 40 national organizations in the peace and international field heard the program of the Campaign as presented by Mr. Lloyd, March 17, to the Conference on World Organization of the National Peace Conference in New York City. A good resume of this talk and others of the Conference is available for 20 cents from the National Peace Conference, 8 W. 40th St., New York, N. Y.

Mrs. Mabel S. Ring of Seattle and Mrs. Catherine Rumball of Santa Barbara, Cal., have been pushing the Campaign

When armed men get to fighting in the hold of a ship and the ship is loaded with nitroglycerin, the passengers don't choose up sides and join battle. Of course not. They combine and use their best "non-belligerent" efforts to stop the row. In the same way when war is spreading and obliterating civilization, before all is lost the nations that are not at war ought to have sense enough to band together in order to stop the slaughter and put a little law and order into international affairs.

Whether we American citizens descend from the many European nationalities or from Asians or from Africans, we have the same rights and duties and we have attained a spiritual unity that only foreign war can shatter. War, it is true, compels external unity, but it must leave our mixed population bitterly torn. While our country has been a haven for the oppressed from the old world and a beacon of liberty to those not yet free, it has not developed clear thinking or unity in international affairs. Just now our leaders are rallying the Latin-Americas to promote the worthy end of mutual trust and security. But it is hardly realistic to expect this valuable sense of unity to be strengthened by a campaign to drag all the Americas with us into war. War won't do the trick—we need a better foreign policy than that.

Opposed to Appeasement

While the Western Hemisphere is the economic rival of the Eastern, neither the Latin-Americas nor the U. S. A. can afford to let Europe destroy itself, and moreover our own safety compels us to try to end the war. A just peace is the one and only policy that can now unite public opinion in both American continents. All of us reject an appeasement peace and a dictated military peace, whether dictated by Churchill or Hitler—even one dictated by ourselves. But when the problems are so complicated, how can we advance toward a truly just peace?

Modern methods without limit are being used to get America re-armed, "all dressed up and no place to go"—except to war! But we have not scientifically studied the problem of turning our lucky temporary peace into lasting peace. Modern methods and money have not yet been used on a real peace offensive safe from degeneration into the appeasement or the dictated variety of peace. It is never too late to begin. At last we have a measure before the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives which advocates just such modern methods.

The Bill (House Joint Resolution 181) was introduced March 8 by Dr. Rudolph G. Tenerowicz of Michigan. It would have us start realistically from where we are—in the status of a near-belligerent. Because President Roosevelt has repudiated all hope of peace, HJR 181 does not ask him to act. It sets up instead a JOINT CONGRESSIONAL PEACE COMMISSION with an appropriation of fifty millions. Perhaps the President cannot take the first step toward peace now, nor the head of any other non-warring nation

Certainly neither belligerent will suggest peace until already defeated or completely victorious. But our bankrupt world cannot afford wholesale destruction much longer. Action by a third party is deseperately needed. Congress, in close touch with the people and less inclined to war than the present Executive, is the proper democratic agent to originate it. Only a bold act such as the T bill can restore to Congress some control of national and international affairs and bring it out of its present eclipse.

HJR 131 proposes that the Congressional Peace Commission invite the legislatures of all the non-belligerents to join in a demand for an immediate end of hostilities, and in an offer of a new organization for World Union,—this demand and offer to be publicly expressed to the belligerents through a Joint Neutral Peace Board. Our peacetime participation in the Interparliamentary Union establishes the precedent for Congress to deal formally with parliaments of other countries. All the more necessary in humanity's desperate crisis that Congress take the lead now in effective steps toward peace.

Even though legislative bodies in certain countries are rubber stamps, wherever the radio is heard the impact of an appeal from the Congressional Commission will raise the prestige of the organs of popular government and give democracy new life. The American invitation will go by cable and radio to legislative bodies and by short wave directly to the people of non-belligerents and belligerents. Of course, listening to the radio is forbidden in many countries, but we also had our Prohibition law. And news, passed in a whisper behind the hand to eager listeners, is 100 times easier to smuggle than a bottle.

When Congress takes the lead and world public opinion gets itself organized for peace, no government can persist in war-mongering. The regular agents of government: kings, presidents, senates, and so forth, will then complete the necessary measures of binding legality to secure world peace. What's lacking now is the initiative. American citizens are the only ones to take it.

No Justice Without Impartial Body

Third party action for peace will be more realistic, more representative of world public opinion, and much more acceptable to the belligerents if it is a joint effort. Neither the German people nor the British can trust mediation by openly partisan non-belligerents, but they must listen to a peace offer from a balanced group. And when their people listen even dictators must grow reasonable.

This non-belligerent peace plan offers what neither belligerent has yet promised: that all countries shall be represented at the peace table, including those countries occupied for long or short periods by foreign military forces. Nor will the joint neutral message be confined to a plea for a stop to the war with an offer to negotiate its temporary terms. It will also provide for a call to a World Convention. No permanent recognition of military conquest will be conferred by the armistice, final territorial questions being referred to the World Convention,—or if necessary to the permanent body constituted by it. Finally, the Convention will prolong the truce indefinitely by drafting a constitution for the permanent United States of the World.

All this is outlined in the Tenerowicz Peace Bill, which contains a program of five points to be worked out by the proposed Joint Neutral Peace Board with, of course, sufficient expert aid:

1. The establishment of temporary demarcation lines between belligerents.
2. The orderly and scientific planning of the relief of straving populations.
3. The demobilization of millions of soldiers—shifting them into reconstruction work.
4. The reopening of channels of international communications, trade and distribution, and
5. The calling and preparation of a World Convention which will set up the framework under which these and correlated world-wide tasks can be carried out effectively.

Our bottleneck is the press and, to a lesser degree, the radio. These so-called organs of publicity are the real "opium of the people," keeping up eternally the false and fatal impression that war is inevitable. They hide or defame all decent moves toward peace abroad and at home. Only when a startling new peace move like the Tenerowicz Bill gets a little of the publicity it deserves can we believe again in the "freedom of the press." Supporters of a Neutral Negotiated Peace have to break into the hostile press somehow and draw public attention forcibly to the neglected third choice before us, namely, Intervention for Peace—our choice being positively not confined to: "Get into the War" or "Stay Out." We can also choose to "Stop the War,"and H. J. R. 131 is the best available means to that end.

Most of the isolationists who bravely re-iterate "Stay Out" have lacked a foreign policy. But how much longer can we hope to keep out of constantly developing war without a positive program of peace action? Among the real isolationists a few may now be ready to support peace action by Congress. Let their front-page leaders once advocate in public a neutrally negotiated peace and a practical world union and the newspaper silence will be punctured. Then at last we shall have discussion of a real solution. For some men still possess the magic power to "crash the press." Let them support H. J. R. 131 and we're off to a good start. Write to them! Call them up! See them on this point!

Congressmen Will Listen

Also put pressure on your own Congressman and Senators and especially on the Hon. Sol Bloom, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, for a public hearing on the Tenerowicz Bill. He does not call his committee into session any more, it is said, unless he gets orders from the White House. Let's be democratic and give him the orders of American voters.

If the Foreign Affairs Committee remains unresponsive, a petition in the House of Representatives can discharge the Committee from further consideration of the Tenerowicz Bill and bring it to the floor. Remember we still have a Congress and it is still legal to discuss peace there. Write to your own Representative and ask him to sign the discharge petition. Let's put the machinery of democracy into use and organize as quickly as we can mankind's universal but inarticulate abhorrence of war.

Miss Sarah Cleghorn of Arlington, Vt., Mrs. Jessie Overholt of Wooster, O., and Mrs. Esther Fiske Hammond of Santa Barbara, Cal., have recently become sponsors of the Campaign for World Government.

Congress Eyes Five Bills on Topics Pioneered by C. W. G.

The leadership launched by your Campaign in 1938 with the introduction of a memorial to the New York State Constitutional Convention, urging the calling of a world constitutional convention, is bearing more fruit with every month that passes.

Supporters will recall that with the outbreak of war we campaigned for joint neutral mediation, and that in the 76th Congress we were the spearhead of support for Hon. John G. Alexander's "Prepare for Peace" resolution with an appropriation of $50,000,000.

Now there are five resolutions pending in Congress which deal with objectives of our Campaign, and another has been passed by a state legislature. They are: the Wagner-Voorhis Resolution (S. J. Res. 16 and H. J. Res. 76) which would prepare for peace by setting up a Post-Emergency Advisory Commission; the Kennedy Resolution (H. J. Res. 64), which would establish a Peace Committee in the House; the Voorhis Resolution (H. J. Res. 188), for calling a parliamentary conference on peace in September; and the Ludlow peace resolution (H. C. Res. 20), urging the nations of the Western Hemisphere jointly to offer mediation.

Congressmen Urge U. S. Peace Move

Congressman Karl E. Mundt, Republican member of the Foreign Affairs Committee from South Dakota, has just come out strongly in two recent radio talks for joint mediation by non-belligerent nations, and Congressman John Vorys, of Ohio, member of the same party and committee, has declared for a peace move by the United States.

The Legislature of North Carolina has passed, with the backing of the Governor and President F. P. Graham of the State University, a stirring resolution (No. 24, H. R. 338), declaring for world federation. Robert Lee Humber is the leading spirit in this campaign. The drawback of this resolution is that it bases the world federation on a dictated peace.

A better resolution has been introduced in the Connecticut legislature through the efforts of Frederick C. Smedley, attorney, leader in the Connecticut Peace Council and enthusiastic supporter of our Campaign.

The Campaign for World Government throws complete and wholehearted support to H. J. R. 131 rather than any other bills in Congress because it links immediate peace action with the development of world organization.

Where we have willing support in state legislatures resolutions can be introduced supporting world federation by direct memorials urging Congress to pass the Tenerowicz Peace Bill.

EXCERPTS FROM CALL BY FRIENDS

Issued for the American Friends Service Committee by its Board of Directors: Rufus M. Jones, chairman; Clarence E. Pickett, executive secretary.

The proposal of an immeditate cessation of hostilities in order to permit consideration of some such process as this is very different from proposing an armistice because of weariness of war or fear of war's consequences. It introduces a new element into the situation. It raises a standard to which men and women of high principles in all nations can repair. It opens a way to escape the logical absurdity of war against dictatorship, which must be carried on by dictators and so establish the very principles against which it fights. The remedy for aggressive war is not war, but dynamic peace.

Is there no one in any government at the moment sufficiently detached and above the issues of strife to call for cessation and mediation? If not, then we at least should cry aloud to those who are still sensitive to the spiritual currents of life and who see steadily the fundamental claims of humanity to discover some way in the wisdom of God to stop this tide of destruction.

Endorsements for HJR 131

Delegates to the Keep America Out of War Congress, representing five of the oldest peace organizations in the country, endorsed H. J. R. 131, on June 1, 1941, in Washington, D. C. The Congress was urged to send a copy of the bill to each member, "and work out other plans for promoting its passage."

In May the Annual Meeting of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom endorsed this measure on behalf of the entire national organization, and W. I. L. branches in many cities have passed local endorsements. The United Pacifist Committee of New York City, approved the bill by an overwhelming vite.

The Eastern and Mid-Western sections of the Fellowship of Reconciliation also registered approval backed up with active support. The American Friends' Service Committee has sent out thousands of copies of the resolution.

FOR A BIGGER CAMPAIGN

Contributions by friends of the Campaign have kept our office in operation continuously since November 1939, but our financial support has never been sufficient to present our cause to the public adequately. Recently many organizations have come around to the point of view favoring either a non-belligerent peace move or the idea of a United States of the World. We advocate both. War is very likely to cost you your fortune, whatever it is. Why not give a fraction of it now for waging peace? What better place to put your money can find you than a frontier outpost of the peace movement, in an organization that has led the way ever since it was launched?

NOTES ON CAMPAIGNERS

Our international co-chairman and real founder, Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, is living in the Adirondacks this summer and has temporarily ceased to be active in the Campaign.

Lola Maverick Lloyd, international chairman, returned in April from the south, where she addressed audiences in San Antonio and Austin. Later she made a trip to Washington and New York.

RETURN OF PAMPHLETS REQUESTED

UNION NOW for Peace or War? the penetrating analysis of the plan proposed by Clarence Streit, written by Mme. Rosika Schwimmer, our international co-chairman, is now out of print. If you have a copy which you are no longer using or do not need, please send it to her at 105 West 73rd Street, New York, N. Y. 10c will be paid.

on the West Coast. Mrs. Ring has taken the lead in organizing a regular discussion group on World Federation, and Mrs. Rumball has won whole-hearted support for H. J. R. 131 by the local Women's International League.

In New York Miss Tracy Mygatt, in Springfield, Mass., Mrs. Elaine G. Eastman, and in Washington, Edwin S. Potter, have rendered invaluable service.

English and Irish Women Favor Mediation of War

In England peace meetings can still be held, though our newspapers make light of such sentiment but indirectly admit the existence of a minority favoring peace in the Labor Party.

Important talks from the Peace Aims Conference, held in Oxford last January, are obtainable in pamphlet form.

On March 22 the Women's Section of the Peace Pledge Union held a Conference of about 1,000 on peace possibilities in Friends' House, London. Sybil Morrison summoned it, notifying many Americans beforehand. Visas, however, are not given us for peace conferences. Our co-chairmen cabled adhesion and encouragement to Miss Morrison and their message was read to the conference, which agreed on the desirability of a joint deputation of women to the American republics in search of a mediator. All this is reported in the invaluable weekly "Peace News." (3 Blackstock Rd., London, N. 4.)

Women of the Irish Labor Movement early in the year sent Mr. DeValera a letter urging steps toward mediation. They asked him to draft his own peace program and present it to all the governments, neutral as well as belligerent.

If Americans took the lead surely Ireland would cooperate.

NEWS OF TENEROWICZ BILL GETS THROUGH TO FOREIGN LANDS

In spite of censorship, news of the introduction of HJR 181 has been gratefully and enthusiastically acknowledged by many individuals, peace organizations, and editors abroad. Australia, Sweden, Netherlands, Hungary, England, and others, responded. The Swedish section of the Women's International League has endorsed the program for a democratic, non-military, universal federation of nations, following cessation of hostilities.

British Lord Holds Peace Move More Important Than War Aims Statement

"I am still doubtful about urging the present government to state its peace terms. I am inclined to think that in their present mood they will be more desirous of adding fuel to the flames rather than calling out the fire engines. Bombs are more in favour at the moment than the hose. I think they had better be silent." * * *

"Let me say finally that, in spite of gloomy prognostications about a four or five years' war, I am not without hope that a representative of a powerful non-belligerent nation may not come forward with an endeavour in the conflict between the two undefeated belligerents to cry a halt to the policy of what Maxton called 'Nothing but slaughter, nothing but killing,' and suggest an approach to the council table. A conference has to be called sooner or later. Let any reasonable man ask himself whether the result would not be better for the world now than in four years' time."

Lord Ponsonby in "Autarchy, Internationalism and Common Sense," War Resisters' International, Middlesex, England, 1941.

If you want a long war with social chaos at its end, do nothing but arm; if you stand for orderly, civilized progress, support neutral conference now.

ONE HUNDRED LEADERS CALL FOR ACTION ON H. J. R. 131

We the undersigned, favor immediate hearings and passage of HJR 181 because:

—It would authorize the appropriation of fifty million dollars—a tiny fraction of our war preparations—to prepare for peace.

—It would offer to the people of all belligerent countries a positive program for cessation of hostilities. The people of belligerent Europe now have virtually but two choices: to strain every nerve to make their own nation's war program of destruction as efficient as possible; or to aid the enemy through blind opposition. By enacting this resolution America will hearten the opposition to dictatorial rule everywhere by giving it a program to be for.

This resolution would recognize our position of world-wide leadership and would have us use this position in the light of constructive world statesmanship rather than in the darkness of old world diplomacy.

Principles
of
The America First Committee

1. Our first duty is to keep America out of foreign wars. Our entry would only destroy democracy, not save it. "The path to war is a false path to freedom."
2. Not by acts of war abroad but by preserving and extending democracy at home can we aid democracy and freedom in other lands.
3. In 1917 we sent our American ships into the war zone and this led us to war. In 1941 we must keep our naval convoys and merchant vessels on this side of the Atlantic.
4. We must build a defense, for our own shores, so strong that no foreign power or combination of powers can invade our country, by sea, air or land.
5. Humanitarian aid is the duty of a strong, free country at peace. With proper safeguard for the distribution of supplies, we should feed and clothe the suffering and needy people of the democracies of Europe.

THESE ARE THE SOLEMN AND SACRED PLEDGES

Made by

THE PRESIDENT DURING THE 1940 ELECTION CAMPAIGN

We Will Not Participate Nor Intervene In Foreign Wars.

"We are arming ourselves not for any purpose of conflict or intervention in foreign disputes. I repeat again that I stand on the platform of our party; we will not participate in foreign wars and will not send our Army, Naval or Air Forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas except in case of attack."

"It is for peace that I have labored; and it is for peace that I shall labor all the days of my life."

Philadelphia, Oct. 23, 1940.

The First Purpose of Our Foreign Policy Is to Keep Out of War.

"We look at the old world of Europe today. It is an ugly world, poisoned by hatred, and greed and fear. We can see what has been the inevitable consequence of that poison—it has been war.

"And we look at this country, built by generations of peaceable, friendly men and women who had in their hearts faith—faith that the good life can be obtained by those who work for it.

"We know that we are determined to defend our country and with our neighbors to defend this hemisphere. We are strong in our defense.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war."

Your Boys Are Not Going to Be Sent Into Any Foreign Wars.

"And while I am talking to you, fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before, but I shall say it again, and again, and again, your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong that, by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores. Yes, the purpose of our defense is defense."

Boston, Oct. 30, 1940.

Ships Flying the American Flag Must Stay Out of the War Zones.

"In 1935 in the face of growing dangers throughout the world, your government undertook to eliminate the hazards which in the past had led to war. We made it clear that ships flying the American flag could not carry munitions to a belligerent; and that they must stay out of war zones."

New York City, Oct. 28, 1940.

I Am Fighting to Keep Out of Foreign Wars.

"I am fighting to keep this nation prosperous and at peace. I am fighting to keep our people out of foreign wars and to keep foreign conceptions of government out of our own United States."

Brooklyn, Nov. 1, 1940.

PETITION

264.850 9/45 JTS/MC/cal 4-238; Cal# 242, 942

Honored Sirs:-

We, the Parents of America, individually and collectively, PETITION the Congress of the United States to carry into effect Its Sacred Pledge to preserve the Constitution. This means that even extreme war measures must be directed toward saving the Constitution.

We have witnessed the Congress silently accepting rebuff, mandate, discredit and the usurpation of Its Sole Authority. We have witnessed a minion of the Administration defy the authority of the United States Senate.

We have witnessed the repudiation of solemn pledges.

We have witnessed the Constitution ignored, Laws no longer faithfully executed, and Despotic powers assumed:

1.-Bombers to France
2.-Destroyers to Briton
3.-Occupation of Iceland
4.-A clandestine meeting on the Atlantic
5.-An unauthorized declaration of War
6.-Convoys-violating Neutrality Law, and
7.-Delivery of munitions - violating Lease-Lend Act.

We are witnessing a program of propaganda designed to encourage involving this Nation in a Foreign war. The program is predicated on instilling FEAR in our citizens. We take the liberty of directing your attention to the fact that the defense and security of a Republican Democracy lies in the truth and integrity of Its Magistrates. FEAR is the defense of the DESPOT. It is also his tool.

Regardless of involvment or non-involvment in a solicited war, we the Parents of America, INSIST that the CONGRESS shall be the sole arbiter, and to insure that consummation we respectfully PETITION the Congress of the United States to exercise Its authority under the Constitution TO COMPELL OBEDIENCE TO THE CONSTITUTION. NO PERSON IN THIS NATION IS ABOVE THE LAW and there is no Constitutional provision that the President can do no wrong.

We urge the Congress to carefully and fairly consider this petition.

WE URGE THE CONGRESS TO RESTORE THE DIGNITY OF THE AMERICAN CITIZEN BY ACCEPTING ITS OBLIGATIONS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION AND BY MEETING THESE OBLIGATIONS. WE URGE THE CONGRESS TO RESTORE THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, TO THE PEOPLE. We thank you in anticipation of your performing a Noble Task.

Faithfully yours

PARENTS OF AMERICA BEWARE!

Facts you should know about conscription.

Neither the War or Navy Department asked for, or recommended conscription. Both Departments informed the Congress that they had never had any trouble filling their quotas with enlisted men. In fact the Navy had always had a waiting list of thousands.

Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring opposed conscription, and he was replaced by Henry L. Stimson, at the instigation of the war-mongering Plattsburg crowd, by an interventionist from Wall Street who had a record for 23 years of favoring conscription in the United States.

A group of militarists met in the Harvard Club in New York City on May 22nd, 1940, and planned conscription. Most of them were the same men who met in the same room in 1916 to plan our first peacetime-conscription. Among those present were Henry L. Stimson, Robert P. Patterson, General O'Ryan, Benediot Crowell, Lewis W. Douglas, Julius O. Adler, General Pershing, General Palmer and Grenville Clark.

Grenville Clark, a leading New York corporation lawyer, with other colleagues, drafted the Burke-Wadsworth Bill, and members of the Platts burg group brought the bill to the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

On June 27th, a private meeting was held in a Wall Street Club to raise a fund of $275,000, and on Aug. 5, a letter was addressed to every member of the New York Stock Exchange, asking for $100,000. Both funds to be used in a campaign "to help enact into law the Burke-Wadsworth Bill."

For 20 years our law provided for a 1-year enlistment period. Our Army evaded the law and refused to accept nearly all 1-year enlistments.

In Canada, Australia and New Zealand, conscription for military service outside the limits of their own countries has not been tolerated.

This my fellow Americans is your conscription bill conceived in sin.

British duplicity is exposed again in Pearson & Allen's column of 7-18-41 Star-Journal, quote "The British left Rumania without blowing up Rumanian oil wells because British pounds sterling were invested in them.

How many plants etc. in Germany do you suppose the British are sparing from bombs "because English pounds sterling are invested in them?"

Are we willing to spill American blood in Europe for this?

WRITE CONGRESS AND DEMAND THAT THE PLEDGE TO THE BOYS BE KEPT, AND PROTEST GIVING THE PRESIDENT POWER TO SEND OUR BOYS ANY PLACE IN THE WORLD.

WRITE WRITE WRITE WRITE WRITE WRITE

COMMUNISM.

We are now witnessing one of the most disgraceful episodes in U. S. history. We have been supporting Dictator Chiang Kai-Shek, who gained power, with Soviet backing, by killing off the opposition, in the name of "Democracy." Did you ever hear of an election in China?

We Christians are asked to sacrifice our sons, our money and our property, to aid Atheist Russia, a country four Presidents and four Secretaries of State, beginning with Woodrow Wilson, refused to recognize on the grounds of morals and democratic ideals. Russia who broke her solemn treaty of 1933 with the U. S. We are to be buddies of Joe Stalin, who has murdered more people and done more to destroy Christianity than any man. Moscow has spent millions in this country to destroy our form of Government.

IS STALIN'S WORD ANY BETTER THAN HITLER'S?

WHERE ARE THE LEADERS OF OUR CHURCHES TODAY, who are pledged to carry the banner of Christ? Why are they silent? Do they not realize they owe a serious obligation to their flocks? Are we Christians going to allow ourselves to be regimented behind the RED flag of bloody Russia?

Let us remember the words of Pope Pius XI on ATHEISTIC Communism, "See to it venerable brethern that the faithful do not allow themselves to be deceived! Communism is intrinsically wrong, and no one who would save Christian Civilization may collaborate with it in any manner whatsoever."

CHRISTIANS ARISE! Carry the banner of CHRIST, let your voices be heard.

MOSAIC COMMANDS AND LITERAL EXECUTION IN AMERICA - 1941

At the peril of being called blasphemous by the ultra trustful but silly-informed Christian, certain parables in today's events are too apparent to pass unnoticed.

COMMANDS:

DEUTERONOMY Ch. 15(6) ".....; and thou shalt lend unto many nations, but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt reign over many nations, but they shall not reign over thee".

* * * * * * * *

Ch. 23 (See page 173; also 165 hereof)

(19) "Thou shalt not lend upon interest to thy brother; interest of money, interest of victuals, interest of anything that is lent upon interest".

(2) "Unto a foreigner thou mayest lend upon interest, but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon interest".

Under those commands, Christians, and/or all Gentiles, are foreigners. The "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics"(Russia - Stalin), having renounced Christianity and gone back under the Mosaic system, are necessarily "brothers", as further revealed.

EXECUTION

A few quotations from America's leading international language NEW YORK TIMES of Nov. 7, 1941 is all that is necessary for average intelligence to see "relativity":

(Headlines page 1) "SOVIET GETS CREDIT ROOSEVELT PLEDGES HELP TO STALIN WITH GRANT OF LEASE-LEND FUND LOAN WITHOUT INTEREST TEN YEAR PAYMENT REPAYMENT PROVIDED" (Washington, Nov. 6, special to The New York Times)

ROOSEVELT- STALIN LETTERS (P. 13): "The following is the paraphrase of a text of a letter addressed by the President under date of Oct. 30, 1941 to Mr. Joseph Stalin

"I have examined the record of the Moscow conference and the members of the Commission have discussed the details with me. All of the munition items have been approved and I have ordered that as far as possible the delivery of raw materials be expedited.

".....In an effort to obviate any financial difficulties, immediate arrangements are to be made so that supplies up to $1,000,000,000 in value may be effected under the lease-lend act.

"If approved by the government of the U.S.S.R, I propose that the indebtedness thus incurred be subject to no interest and that the payments by the government of the U.S.S.R. do not commence until five years after the war's conclusion and be completed over a ten-year period thereafter".

* * * * * * *

PREMIER STALIN'S REPLY ".....Your decision, Mr. President, to grant to the Soviet Union a loan in the amount of $1,000,000,000 subject to no interest charges and for the purpose of paying for armaments and raw materials for the Soviet Union is accepted with sincere gratitude by the Soviet Government as unusually substantial aid in its difficult and great struggle against our common enemy, bloodthirsty Hitlerism". "I agree completely.....(to foregoing conditions of loan Etc.)..."

(All underscoring and parenthesis mine-FAP)

COMMENT

The "record" does not state that the "loan" was requested by the U.S.S.R. In fact, a recent Congressional floor statement was to the effect that this same U.S.S.R had, over a period of nearly 7 years, shipped us some $3,400,000,000 of the $35 per ounce gold, which they had produced with their slave labor. The D/C and T/D records do not disclose this very probable fact. But the amount of gold coming from Japan, Holland, and England, seems to confirm this fact, as a result of transshipment.

This sum (about $2.6 billion) "sold here as a commodity" by "brothers" of Russia, is a credit in America against such purchases of exports to Russia, as they have not paid for "in kind" of exports from Russia to the United States.

The Department of Commerce reports over this entire period indicate that in "the trade of property in kind" (not gold or silver) that Russia also has a credit here.

The Russian credit here, for the purpose of buying and paying for war material (which will probably fall into German hands to perpetuate the war anyway) from here, is at least three times this unsolicited loan. No legitimate reason exists.

Payments do not begin for 5 years after the end of the war, and then extend 10 years, which is more or less like a note payable after death.

"No interest for Russia" over this indefinite period; but what about us ? We of course being "foreigners" in this transaction; our Government, run by the "brothers", will borrow the sum $1 billion from themselves at interest rates of presently about 2.5 percent interest, collectible (this interest) from we Christian "foreigners". This is the part of the "command" in DEUT. 23 (20) as to the collection of interest from "we foreigners", but not (19) charging it to "Brother" Stalin's personal benefactors from the vast quantities of our property (material) which this billion dollar gift will buy, and which they in turn will sell at fabulous profits to the entire world.

→ Has any one ever seen a "blueprint" of any plan for crushing this international financial ring's actor - Hitler ? England seems to have no plan !

→ But the obvious plan is clear as the noon-day Sun, that by using our men, material and instrumentalities over quite a period of time, on the pretext of international defense all over the world, and impoverishing our own country accordingly, these international gangsters will have accomplished through their "Hitler ruse" far greater tangible wealth, than could have ever been accomplished by any other means.

Can they get away with it ? It all depends upon whether true Christianity revives itself sufficiently to recognise its real enemy - usury - interest taking in any form.

Investigation will reveal that this (usury-interest) was the cause of the effect of the downfall of all nations of the past. True progress can only be found during periods of its total suppression, as a "crime comparable with murder".

"Preposterous to believe that money, which is barren, can reproduce itself"(Aristo) If Aristotle had drawn the comparison with the idea that a mule can reproduce mules it would have been a similitude.

But it is a peculiar thing how Gentile stupidness, in its greed for "selling God's time" (see page 167 hereof), will, when anything is said about the abolishing of interest, spring desperately in defense of the very thing (interest taking) which has brought about their present woes.

I will lay them however, this one question (see No. 45 hereof) that with a present debt of $204 billion plus, against a property support of $141 billion (probably minus) just how can that debt ever be halted by any other means than abolishment of interest; and if that debt is not high enough to suit, just where will be the limit - and even then - how will it be halted without the abolishment of interest ?

A friend of mine is offering a reward for the answer to the above ?

MOSAIC COMMANDS AND LITERAL EXECUTION IN AMERICA - 1941

At the peril of being called blasphemous by the ultra trustful but illy-informed Christian, certain parables in today's events are too apparent to pass unnoticed.

C O M M A N D S:

DEUTERONOMY Ch. 15(6) ".....) and thou shalt lend unto many nations, but thou shalt not borrow; and thou shalt reign over many nations, but they shall not reign over thee".

* * * * * * * *

(See page 173; also 165 hereof)

(19) "Thou shalt not lend upon interest to thy brother; interest of money, interest of victuals, interest of anything that is lent upon interest".

(2) "Unto a foreigner thou mayest lend upon interest, but unto thy brother thou shalt not lend upon interest".

Under those commands, Christians, and/or all Gentiles, are foreigners. The "Union of Soviet Socialist Republics" (Russia - Stalin), having renounced Christianity and gone back under the Mosaic system, are necessarily "brothers", as further revealed.

A few quotations from America's leading international language NEW YORK TIMES of Nov. 7, 1941 is all that is necessary for average intelligence to see "relativity":

ROOSEVELT-STALIN LETTERS (P. 13): "The following is the paraphrase of a text of a letter addressed by the President under date of Oct. 30, 1941 to Mr. Joseph Stalin

"I have examined the record of the Moscow conference and the members of the Commission have discussed the details with me. All of the munition items have been approved and I have ordered that as far as possible the delivery of raw materials be expedited.

".....in an effort to obviate any financial difficulties, immediate arrangements are to be made so that supplies up to $2,000,000,000 in value may be effected under the lease-lend act.

"If approved by the government of the U.S.S.R. I propose that the indebtedness thus incurred be subject to no interest and that the payments by the government of the U.S.S.R. do not commence until five years after the war's conclusion and be completed over a ten-year period thereafter".

* * * * * * * *

PREMIER STALIN'S REPLY ".....Your decision, Mr. President, to grant to the Soviet Union a loan in the amount of $1,000,000,000 subject to no interest charges and for the purpose of paying for armaments and raw materials for the Soviet Union is accepted with sincere gratitude by the Soviet Government as unusually substantial aid in its difficult and great struggle against our common enemy, bloodthirsty Hitlerism". "I agree completely.....(to foregoing conditions of loan Etc.)..."

(All underscoring and parenthesis mine-PAP)

C O M M E N T

The "record" does not state that the "loan" was requested by the U.S.S.R. In fact, a recent Congressional floor statement was to the effect that this same U.S.S.R had, over a period of nearly 7 years, shipped us some $2,000,000,000 of the $35 per ounce gold, which they had produced with their slave labor. The D/C and T/D records do not disclose this very probable fact. But the amount of gold coming from Japan, Holland, and England, seems to confirm this fact, as a result of transshipment.

This sum (about $[illegible] billion) "sold here as a commodity" "brothers" of Russia, is a credit in America against such purchases of exports to Russia, as they have not paid for "in kind" of exports from Russia to the United States.

The Department of Commerce reports over this entire period indicate that in the trade of property in kind" (not gold or silver) that Russia also has a credit here.

The Russian credit here, for the purpose of buying and paying for war material (which will probably fall into German hands to perpetuate the war anyway) from here, is at least three times this unsolicited loan. No legitimate reason exists.

Payments do not begin for 5 years after the end of the war, and then extend 10 years, which is more or less like a note payable after death.

A CHALLENGE

›men of America:

The gravest responsibility, the greatest opportunity ever offered to a generation of women is in your hands.

YOU CAN STOP WAR! !

Too long have women like the patient beast of the field, borne the burden of woe laid on them by the arrogant war lords of the world. For the free women of America to submit to this same old tyranny is unthinkable.

Here in this land of ours, men and women of all races and creeds have lived together in peace for generations, while we built up the greatest measure of freedom and prosperity ever attained by men. We are the living proof that wars are not made by peoples; that as Emerson has said: "All men are capable of living by reason."

Women want peace. A reliable nationwide poll recently made shows 96% of American women opposed to war. For the first time in history we have the power of the ballot to make that will effective.

Women's rights are but an empty travesty the priceless right to have her son live and enjoy his God given heritage of freedom is denied; if that son can be torn from her arms and sent to an untimely death far from home and country, a cheap pawn in an unholy struggle for power and profit.

WOMEN CAN STOP WAR — WILL THEY?

AN ANSWER

For months past increasing numbers of intelligent women, outraged at the very thought of again sending the flower of American manhood to the slaughter pens of the old world, have been rallying their forces to defeat such madness.

Many of us went to Washington to plead directly with our representatives. There in the legislative halls of Congress we were shocked to see but a handful of the peoples' representatives present when legislation affecting the lives of millions of men, the destiny of a mighty nation was being decided. We learned that of the 535 representatives in Congress, only 7 were women. Disillusioned but not discouraged we returned home determined to arouse and inform the women of America.

Today we are organizing by Congressional Districts throughout the nation in order to focus attention on the men we send to Congress. It is through them this nation must be led back to the paths of peace and prosperity. We have learned a bitter lesson, and paid a terrible price for our indifference.

Through our program of education and action, the voice of the mothers will be heard and heeded in the legislative councils of the nation. WE CAN AND WILL STOP WAR. that antiquated system of militarism and mass murder that devours the fruits of progress and keeps humanity in perpetual bondage.

Ignorance permits war.

A VISION

It will take every bit of sanity and courage, faith and wisdom we possess to guide this nation safely through the years that lie ahead. We have drifted far from the path of Constitutional Government. We have substituted for the vision of "Liberty Enlightening the World" the nightmare of an "arsenal" to terrorize the world.

It is for the women of America to restore that vision, for "Where there is no vision the people perish." This nation freed from economic injustice, the root of all wars; relieved of the crushing burden of armaments imposed by the international warmakers; its unrivalled productive capacity released to provide the abundance available, for the benefit of humanity, rather than for its destruction, will be once more a haven of refuge, a shining beacon of hope for a storm tossed despairing humanity.

Not an easy task, we have set ourselves, but we have truth and reason and justice on our side, and the hopes of humanity go with us, beautifully expressed in Angela Morgan's poem:

"O mothers with little sons who stand with lifted faces
All of earths helpless ones cry from the lonely places
And the dead men plead their cause, and the crippled men implore:
Go fashion the future's laws, that war shall be no more.

For war is a knave's design and a coward's brutal scheme,
And men whose courage is divine shall foster a nobler dream.
O mothers with little sons, the years lie in your hands,
You are the chosen ones; Men wait for your commands."

"Give the people light and they will find their own way." Abraham Lincoln.

Lindbergh's Des Moines speech Sept 11, had at least one good effect in that it immediately gave the line of demarkation of who the enemies of AMERICA FIRST within their own directorships, were.

But if Lindbergh had wanted to put the "real blood test" on these enemies "within" he could have done it just as effectively, if not more so, by making the foregoing hypothetical remarks.

You would have seen the rats leaving the ship (AMERICA FIRST) in droves if their foreign trade swindle had been thus attacked.

I make this remark with the thought in mind, that your use of, or absence of use of, will show me just where yourself and management really stand on this foreign trade swindle.

Just as a "drop test" of mercenary instincts, you go to one or 100 Jewish - and even illiterate merchants and say:

"How's business ?"

He will probably say that it is lousy. Then you say, if he does complain in anyway:

"Well don't you think that our good friend Mr. Roosevelt ought to shut off all imports for a while?"

And he will fly in your face quick with this:

"Oh no. If we stop foreign trade 'we' perish ! "

So I repeat: that if you want to "isolate" the internationalists in your groups - I don't care where you talk - old ladies or mixed gatherings, just say nothing to your management, but make a "bomb dive" with something of the foregoing hypothetical comment.

SECRET 10-19-80

If may be a "suicide dive" (politically for you), but you will have at least a clear consience that you have pointed out one of the things which AMERICA FIRST must do to ever gain respect of the 31,000,000 voters who are disgusted with politics.

The first act of our first Congress in 1789, after installing officers to execute laws, was to set up a tariff wall.

We will never have peace or prosperity in our fair land until we embargo the exportation and/or importation of all capital and/or property. *

Why should we have it ? We have only 44.2 persons per square mile and in our 3,000,000 square miles plus some undesireable insular possessions which we would be better off without, we have everything on earth we need for prosperity and happiness.

Yours truly Frank A. Parker.

The Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

In July 1870, just prior to the outbreak of the Franco-German war, at a moment when relations between the two countries were exceedingly strained, Chancellor Bismarck, who wanted war for his own political reasons, falsified and gave to the press the text of a telegram he had received from the King of Prussia, describing the progress of the international negotiations at Ems. This garbled text, generally referred to as the "Ems Telegram," making it seem that negotiations had been abruptly broken off, which was not the case, and that the French Ambassador and Prussian King had been grossly insulted, inflamed the press and enraged both the German and French peoples.

Instantly excitement spread through France, already tense over the German proposal to place a protestant Hohenzollern on the catholic throne of Spain. Newspapers blazed with inflammatory headlines. The voice of the advocates of peace was drowned in the clamor. While politicians, hoping to further their interests through war, seized the reins of power and cries of "On to Berlin" resounded through the streets of Paris.

On July 15th war was declared and credits voted by the Chamber of Deputies. And on that day an unprepared, yet confident, France entered the valley of the shadow, where, in a short but terrible conflict, an empire fell, and the blood of young Frenchmen flowed in streams. In less than three-quarters of a century, thrice have foreign intrigue and cynical ambition at home deceived the people of France and plunged them into war and sorrow.

Mr. President, the American people are being deceived. They are not being told the truth. They are being led, by false representations, toward repeal of the neutrality act, which is war, much as the French were led seventy-one years ago. [redacted]. Partly by politicians with an axe to grind, partly by foreign and domestic interests with a stake in war, and also by well-meaning citizens who are victims of propaganda, we are being told half-truths and monstrous untruths in order to win our support for your war program.

For instance, we are being told the cowardly untruth that this resourceful nation, with its hundred and thirty million people and matchless industrial power, cannot defend itself and will be enslaved by Adolf Hitler unless, as the British and Russians ask, we go forth to fight on foreign battlefields thousands of miles from home bases and under conditions of grave, if not fatal, disadvantage. We are being told this in spite of the fact that the highest military experts unanimously testify that, with the huge, modern air force which we can assemble long before any foreign power, or powers, could strike, this country will be as safe as though it were on the moon. "The bomber has made the American coast impregnable to invasion. This is the most important military fact that can be deduced from the European war," writes Lieutenant Colonel Phillips of the Army General Staff. Almost every responsible authority writing in the United States on military matters takes this view. None has questioned it.

We are told that, if Hitler wins the war, we will be overwhelmed by nazi economic competition. Therefore, we must choose endure the certain horrors of war in order to escape future competition that may or may not ever exist. Mr. Bernard Baruch, Professor Sumner Slichter, Lamont Professor of Economics at Harvard, and President of the American Economic Association, and authorities of equal standing, flatly assure you that, considering the efficiency of our system of private, competitive mass production, it will be the totalitarian nations and not the United States that will be on the spot.

We are also told that no negotiated peace should be made while Hitler is in power. In other words, peace must be outlawed until a military victory has been won, however long it may take, and whether or not a drawn out conflict to the death will destroy the rising generation in Europe and civilization itself, including England's, while the children in the conquered areas starve by millions. Yet men and women of common sense know that no peace treaties are binding because good men are in power. They are binding and lasting only when the negotiations have achieved a compromise which is to the interest of the contracting parties to preserve.

Finally, in order to harrow up the people and ride them, on a wave of indignation, into repeal of the neutrality act and war, we are being told that Germany is attacking us on the ocean and, as Mr. Hull puts it, is "attempting to create a reign of terror, frightfulness and absolute lawlessness on the high seas and on the Atlantic." He charges the German navy with acts that are "contrary to all law and in harmony with all the definitions of piracy and assassination,." And you, Mr. President, have gone as far, or farther than Mr. Hull in drawing a picture of frightfulness on the high seas which, in its essentials, I regret to say is not in accordance with the record.

Consequently, notwithstanding the fact that the administration is fast reaching a state of mind where it considers anyone pro-nazi and "a comfort to Hitler," if he uses the common sense God gave him and speaks the truth about the war, I will, with your permission, discuss very briefly the description of the so-called Greer incident, which you incorporated in your broadcast of September 11th, made from the White House to a hushed and tense audience estimated at fifty million people. And let it be borne in mind that, according to the press, that description so generally inflamed the country, and Congress in particular, that the advocates of war, up to that hour downcast and even desperate, suddenly became happy and confident. You said:

> "My fellow Americans:
> The Navy Department of the United States has reported to me that on the morning of September 4 the United States destroyer Greer, proceeding in full daylight towards Iceland, had reached a point southeast of Greenland. She was carrying mail to Iceland. She was flying the American flag. Her identity as an American ship was unmistakable.
> "She was then and there attacked by a submarine. Germany admits that it was a German submarine. The submarine deliberately fired a torpedo at the Greer, followed later by another torpedo attack. In spite of what Hitler's propaganda bureau has invented, and in spite of what any American obstructionist organization may prefer to believe, I tell you the blunt fact that the German submarine fired first upon this American destroyer without warning, and with deliberate design to sink her."

You also said: "The United States destroyer, when attacked, was proceeding on a legitimate mission." You said the attack was "piracy, legally and morally," and the act of a "rattlesnake of the Atlantic." You assured your audience that our part in the matter was "solely defense." And, as further justification for your "shoot-first" order, which you announced in that broadcast, you likewise described certain sinkings of cargo vessels in the Atlantic, the Robin Moor, the Steel Seafarer, et cetera, failing to mention that every one of them was carrying contraband of war to the British, in violation of international law, of the neutrality act, which you signed, and of your promises to Congress during the Lend-Lease debate, that this country would not be responsible for the delivery of lend-lease goods.

Returning to the Greer case, let us now see what were the real facts, the facts which would never have seen the light of day had not Senator David Walsh, Chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee, succeeded, after long delay and much difficulty, in obtaining a report on the subject from Admiral Stark, Chief of Naval Operations.

The Stark report revealed: (a) that, at 8:40 on the morning of September 4th, the Greer, being about 175 miles from Iceland, was "informed by a British plane of the presence of a submerged submarine" ten miles away; (b) that the Greer thereupon increased speed, zig-zagging to pick up the submarine's trail by sound detectors; (c) that at 9:20 she found the trail and followed the submarine for three hours and twenty-eight minutes, meanwhile broadcasting its position so that British planes or destroyers could approach and make the kill; (d) that, at the end of that time, the submarine, having failed to elude the Greer, launched two torpedoes which missed their mark, the Greer replying by discharging eleven depth bombs; (e) that, shortly afterward, contact with the submarine was lost, it being uncertain whether or not she had been sunk or disabled; (f) that the Greer's action was "in accordance with existing orders."

In a word, Mr. President, the story of the Greer, as carried to the people in your September 11th broadcast, was not factual. It was in direct conflict with the facts. The Greer was not proceeding on a "legitimate mission" of carrying mail to Iceland when the torpedoes were launched. She was, and for hours had been, tracking the U-boat with intent either to destroy it herself or cooperate with the British in doing so. Nor in any honest sense can it be said that "the blunt fact" was that the submarine fired first, "without warning."

In a way, your ~~incendiary~~ broadcast about the Greer incident was perhaps worse than the Ems Telegram. For, while Bismarck acted on the spur of the moment, altering and publishing it in its changed form the same day he received it, you made your broadcast a week after the Greer's brush with the submarine, and had ample time to digest the facts.

Another case where, it seems to me, unforgivable deception has been practiced on the bewildered, long-suffering public, in order to break down resistance to war, is the tragic torpedoing of the U.S. destroyer Kearny on October 17th, in which eleven men were killed and ten wounded. This incident your administration is ~~still~~ interpreting to the country as another piece of German frightfulness. But, Mr. President, you cannot broadcast to the world that the American navy, or perhaps it should be called your navy, will open fire on sight and blow any German naval vessels it encounters to kingdom come, and expect the commanders of such vessels not to try to get in the first crack.

You cannot cast yourself as a deadly, gun-toting aggressor and then rage to high heaven if you are last on the draw. Nor, having issued your shoot first order in September - thereby starting, without authority of Congress and in defiance of the Constitution, your own naval war - can you in October shift from your own shoulders responsibility for the death of the sailors killed in an attack which you certainly invited. As a matter of cold, hard fact, horrible as has been Hitler's record in Europe, he has on the whole, for his own reasons, refrained from aggressive or illegal acts on the seas against America. And this is the more true when we remember the numerous and various acts of war committed by your administration against Germany.

No American, whose thinking has not been bent by nazi or communist influence, can have anything but disgust for the unspeakable Hitler, the equally unspeakable Stalin, and their inhuman philosophies. I hold no brief for them. But I do hold a brief for the people of the United States, who do not want this war, which is utterly needless for defense, any more than you did before election day, and who are gradually being hornswaggled by your administration and a half puppet Congress, into the feeling that, somehow or other, war is inevitable, and that we have gone so far and committed ourselves so deeply that we cannot draw back. That, of course, is nonsense. War is not inevitable, nor has anyone committed us to it but yourself, who have no legal or moral right to do so, as the statesmen of Europe should know by now.

> "It is the duty of the President of the United States to recognize the determination of the people to stay out of war and to do nothing by word or deed that will undermine that determination. No man has the right to use the great powers of the Presidency to lead the people, indirectly, into war; only the people through their elected representatives can make that awful decision, and there is no question as to their decision."

War is a grim and terrible thing. And it is a grim and terrible thing for a man in your position to get a nation into war by high-pressure salesmanship, misrepresentation, or concealment of essential facts, or by any means whatever except presenting the truth to the people and letting them decide. That, by the way, is democracy. It is also common decency. And the young men of our country and their fathers and mothers, who, if war comes, must bear its pain and sorrow, deserve no less.

Sincerely,

Gifford Pinchot

AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE

ASKS BRITISH PROPAGANDA

Briton Would Fight U. S. Isolationism

(The following United Press dispatch is taken from the Omaha World Herald, September 11th)

London, Sept. 11 (U.P.) — Capt. Alex Stratford Cunningham-Reid, conservative, told an almost deserted house of commons just before adjournment late today that British propaganda in the United States should be intensified to combat isolationism.

"The America First Committee," he said, "last month increased its membership from 10,450,000 to something just over 15 million. Even for a country with a population as large as that of America the organization is extremely large."

"Using all means at our disposal, we should spend much more money and energy in concentrating on the enlightenment of the American people.

"By so doing," he said, "we should be forestalling dangerous isolationist propaganda and helping the best friend this country ever had — Roosevelt."

unknown" and the cheque bounced back with a charge of $1.40 for bank fees! A New York friend, who investigated, reported a colored maid by that name at this Park Avenue address but whether her name was used with her knowledge or not, we do not know.

This is the Time to Go On!

For several years, since I became unable financially to carry the expense in addition to donating my time to the work, five self-sacrificing patriots have made it possible for me to carry on factual research which, according to both patriots and Reds, was responsible for formation of the Dies Committee, and which has been felt, as one Red writer put it "in every town and hamlet in the United States." Present New Deal efforts to hector me indicate some "nuisance" value on my part.

At the same time we have built up and are continuing (short handed) to keep records of priceless value to the entire Nation. It is safe to say that there is no one active in the anti-Red fight today who has not used my material. The American Legion National Americanism Committee is only one of countless groups who have thanked me for my assistance.

If I were "smart" and did not cringe from personal begging more than from being hung and were not so tied down day and night at the work, I rightfully should be able to beg, from the thousands of people who have received my aid gratis, enough to get us increased instead of decreased office space and help.

When a second of the five kind "overworked" contributors had to discontinue last week, reducing our budget $50 more, we started measuring and figuring how we could crowd everything into one of our two office spaces to save on rent. But, even by stacking everything in aisles like a warehouse and storing some elsewhere, the problem would be how to be able to work without poking our elbows in each other's eyes!

One thinks, if only someone would donate office space, or if a number of people would only pledge small regular monthly amounts on which we could depend, we might not only make up this deficit but extend our efforts!

Never have so many people been writing in and expressing interest. But most of these real workers are "common people" with slender funds, the kind of whom Lincoln spoke when he said, "God must have loved the common people, he made so many of them!"

From Wapato, Wash.: "I enjoy your bulletins and I pass them on to friends to read. May God give you wisdom, strength and protection."

WE ARE AT OUR GREATEST STRENGTH

Thursday, Nov. 13, 1941 the House of Representatives voted to repeal the Neutrality Act 212 to 194.

It was the greatest division of Congressional opinion on a war involvement question that this country has ever seen.

The switch of ten men would have meant repudiation of the Administration's foreign policy.

Actually the number of Representatives who opposed this war measure was 200. There were 6 paired against the repeal. (The entire vote against the Lend-Lease Bill, including pairs, was 167. We have gained 33 Congressmen.)

For the first time in this fight the solid south has cast votes against a war measure. Votes from eight southern states were recorded.

The Democratic Chairmen of three important House Committees broke with the Administration and voted against repeal. They are Hatton Sumners, Chairman of Judiciary Committee, Robert L. Doughton, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and Joseph Mansfield Chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

According to reliable Washington sources the pressure exerted on wavering Congressmen by the Administration Wednesday night and Thursday was terrific. The statement of Representative Tinkham, Mass., given out before the vote, was typical of the thought and conversation circulating about the Capitol: "They may be able to persuade enough members to vote against their honest convictions. They are using every kind of White House pressure. We hear they are promising judgeships, postermasterships and all sorts of things to win votes."

Still by your letters, wires and phone calls 200 men voted with us.

The day preceding the vote the volume of mail delivered to Congress was reported to be a nine year high. The day of the vote the number of telegrams received smashed all records.

We are now at our greatest strength both among the people and in Congress!

The fight for American freedom has just begun!

AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE DEFENDED

BY NEW YORK DAILY NEWS

(The following is a portion of an editorial from the largest newspaper in America, The New York DAILY NEWS, October 22, 1941.)

"Mr. Ickes (speaking in Chicago night before last) also aimed some wordage at the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE. His innuendoes added up to a charge that the America First Committee is financed at least partially by Nazi money, and he feels that Congress should investigate.

"We can add a bit to this discussion. The editor of this newspaper has contributed to the America First Committee a sum comparable to the amount he contributed to Mr. Roosevelt's Presidential campaign fund last Fall. He was certainly a sucker on one of these two occasions.

"During the 1940 campaign, however, he was perhaps only misled; because he made those contributions to the Roosevelt fund on the strength of such promises as these, which Mr. Roosevelt was then strewing around like Ferdinand the Bull scattering flowers:

"'We will not participate in foreign wars, and will not send our Army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands, except in case of attack.' (Oct. 23, 1940). . . 'Your President is following the road to peace. . . We are arming ourselves not for any conquest or intervention in foreign disputes.' (Oct. 23, 1940).

"Reverting to America First — we do not believe any Nazi or other anti-Semitic money has been contributed to the organization. Indeed, from the seal with which the America First fund solicitors make their appeal, the bottom of their barrel seems to be in sight.

"We don't belong to America First. From our observation of it, we believe that its members have but one common aim, whatever their individual differences; and that this single common aim is to keep American boys from being drafted and sent to die in foreign countries in a war which does not concern the United States.

"We second Mr. Ickes' motion that Congress investigate America First. And if Congress finds that America First has ever taken any 'funny' money, we'll not only be much surprised but will make public recantation for our mistake."

THE FOLLOWING IS A LETTER WE SUGGEST YOU SEND ONLY TO THE LEADING CLERGYMAN IN EACH CHURCH IN YOUR CITY OR DISTRICT. IT IS ONLY CONSISTENT WITH THE DIGNITY OF THESE MEN THAT YOU MAKE INDIVIDUAL COPIES OF THIS LETTER.

Dear Father, Reverend, or Mr._____:

In times of national confusion caused by calamitous social upheavals, it is necessary for the people more than ever to turn to their leaders for guidance. On all sides men in public office have been found guilty of wholesale betrayal of public confidence, of public trust, of public well-being. It is becoming increasingly evident that the people no longer know to whom they can turn. This grave situation occasions an obligation incumbent on the clergy of our nation - the leaders of our spiritual welfare who yet have the full confidence of the people. It is the obligation to speak out and tell the people what they must do in these times of national stress.

The world has gone far from the ideals of Christ. Therein lies the explanation for our present state of universal catastrophe - the greater has been the retreat from Christ, the greater has been the retreat from civilization, from culture, from the principles of goodness, of truth, and of justice. If there is to be salvation of mankind, it will be through a return to the principles of Christianity, and it is your responsibility as leaders to lead us back.

Soon the Christmas season will be here. There will be little significance in this event unless it is given real significance by you, our leaders. As true Americans, needing, begging guidance, we ask you to make a special effort during this time to instruct the people what they must do in these times. Reason has been lost, war hysteria has torn charity from men's hearts - our leaders must keep their heads and their hearts, guide them by example, show them the inherent fallacy of seeking peace by inviting destruction.

There is an old axiom which sums up well what people must be told: "Operatio sequitur esse." Unless we have preserved the principles of Christianity here, the principles of justice and charity, unless we forego destruction and wholesale mass slaughter, then we shall never be able to lead others back to peace, to Democracy, nor to Christ.

Sincerely yours,

Chairman, _____Chapter

AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE PRINCIPLE #7

At a meeting of the members of the National Committee on Monday, October 20, 1941, a seventh principle of the America First Committee was adopted which proposed that it was the duty of every citizen to express his views on war or peace until Congress votes a declaration of war.

The following is the complete text of the new principle. All chapters are advised to include this in future printings of the principles of the Committee. It is also suggested that each chapter officially inform local newspapers of this added principle.

> The Constitution of the United States vests the sole power to declare war in Congress. Until Congress has exercised that power, it is not only the privilege but the duty of every citizen to express to his Representatives his views on the question of peace or war - in order that this grave issue may be decided in accordance with the will of the people and the best traditions of American democracy.

THE NEUTRALITY VOTE

The following is an editorial from the Chicago Tribune of November 14, 1941:

The house has concurred in the senate amendments of the neutrality act. Mr. Roosevelt is now empowered not only to arm our merchant ships but to send them, loaded with war supplies, into belligerent ports. If this is done it is not to be doubted that American ships will be torpedoed and American seamen will be drowned. The country must prepare itself for a succession of such incidents. The war party wants them and needs them to inflame the public to the point where it will approve a declaration of war.

The count in both houses, and particularly in the house of representatives, was very close. For the last few days and especially in the hours immediately preceding the vote, the President himself and his principal advisers turned on the heat. Even so, the administration was unable to hold many of its own men in line. The country will long remember with gratitude the names of those whose consciences could not be bought with patronage and pork.

The closeness of the vote is an evidence of how deeply the country is divided on the war issue. Competent observers are sure that the President could not have had his way if the members had been left free to follow their own judgments and the wishes of their constituents.

Never in the history of this country has a decision for involvement in war been taken by so narrow a majority. Always in the past the President has lagged behind congress and the people in demands for war. This time it is the President who is pushing congress and the people into the conflict. The difference is an ominous one, if only because it makes a mockery of the claim that we are engaging in a crusade for democracy. That democracy is being tricked and betrayed into war against the will of the majority of the people.

The following is a statement of George [illegible] before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, October [illegible]

In appearing before your committee today, I do so to protest against the march toward war, either by the administration or by the Congress, without the express approval of the people.

The following partial list of steps in the last 2 years will suggest the kind of activities to which I refer:

1. The repeal of the arms embargo provision of the Neutrality Act in the fall of 1939.

2. The transfer of 50 destroyers to Great Britain for lease holds on naval bases, without the consent of Congress in the fall of 1940.

3. The adoption of peacetime conscription in the fall of 1940.

4. The lend-lease bill in March 1941.

5. The first lend-lease appropriation bill of $7,000,000,000 in March 1941.

6. The cancellation, by President Roosevelt, in April 1941 of the Red Sea as a combat area - an area in which an American-owned ship has been sunk after his action.

7. The occupation of Iceland in July 1941 jointly with British troops, and the placing of American soldiers there under British command, without the consent of Congress.

8. The extension of conscription in September 1941 from 1 year to 2½ years of service.

9. The initiation of "shooting" through instructions by President Roosevelt and without previous authority from Congress, to the Navy to shoot on sight in September 1941.

10. Appropriations by Congress for national defense since the outbreak of the war, of $56,000,000,000 a sum estimated large enough to equip a vast army for service in foreign lands.

11. The request, now pending before Congress, for a second lend-lease appropriation [illegible] for a total of $12,985,000,000.

12. The recommendation, now pending before Congress, for a further repudiation of the Neutrality Act by asking for authority to arm merchant ships. Similar actions, in 1917, were followed by war within 1 month.

13. The transfer, in violation of the intent of the Neutrality Act, of American-owned ships to the flag of the Republic of Panama since the war began, and the arming by the United States of at least some of those ships.

14. The virtual establishment by President Roosevelt without previous authority from Congress, of a system of naval convoys upon the theory that the lend-lease bill committed us to deliver lend-lease aid - and this despite his quoted statement that "convoys mean shooting and shooting means war."

15. The building in North Ireland, a belligerent territory, by citizens of the United States, of harbors and sea or air bases - this by the authority of President Roosevelt and without the knowledge or consent of Congress.

General Robert E. Wood made the following comment tonight on the Senate vote on repeal of neutrality:

"Although he persistently refuses to submit the question of peace or war to Congress in the only honorable way, the President is swiftly advancing to a point where he can no longer disguise the real issue. The showdown may come this week when the House of Representatives votes on the Administration's proposal to send American ships into war zones.

"Ten Senators who had previously supported the President's foreign policy broke with him on this issue in the Senate. If there is a corresponding reaction in the House - where non-interventionist strength has been gaining steadily - the President's proposal may be soundly defeated.

"In the Senate fight, the Administration was able to keep its majority in line only by repreated avowals that this was not a war measure. But this time five members of the President's own party recognized his policy as a policy of war and they were joined by five more Republicans. Apparently the Administration's contention that the way to avoid involvement is to begin a naval war in the combat zones, is not convincing even to Democrats.

"Senators Burton, Tydings, Smith, Bilbo, Byrd, Lodge, McNary, Maloney, Brewster & White are to be congratulated upon joining with those other courageous Senators who insist that constitutional government and the will of the people be honored by their elected Representatives.

"The laudable tendency to place the war issue above party consideration was further illustrated by the Republicans who roundly repudiated Wendell Willkie's attempt to align the party behind the interventionists. The amendment which he urged on the Senators, calling for complete repeal of the neutrality act, was supported by only 4 Republican Senators out of 27 and was defeated 78 to 11.

"The House - much more responsive to the views of the voters - has been consistently less war-minded than the Senate as demonstrated by the close vote (203 to 202) on the draft extension bill.

"The American people have until Wednesday or Thursday to remind their Representatives of the President's statement that shooting means war and the people are against it. If the voters will use the next three days to write, wire or telephone their Representatives, advising them of their views, this latest attempt to push us into war by subterfuge will be defeated.

"The America First Committee will continue its fight to enforce the will of the people. In this connection, I am pleased to announce three new members of the National Committee: William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, former Governor of Oklahoma; Gregory Mason, Professor of Journalism, New York University and Dr. John A. O'Brien, Notre Dame University. These additions serve to solidify the ranks of those who oppose our entry into the European war."

STRESS NEUTRALITY VOTE IN HOUSE

A great many people, who are not thoroughly informed on the subject, are under the impression that the fight against repeal of the Neutrality Act has ended with the vote in the Senate. This, of course, is far from true and must be brought to their attention in order that they have an opportunity to write, wire or phone their Congressmen urging its defeat in the House of Representatives.

The most effective way of bringing the legislative procedure to the people is through your local friendly newspaper.

1. Ask the editor to immediately begin running a box on the front page indicating that the House must still vote on the measure and that the mail received by the Congressmen will determine their vote.

2. Ask the editor to run simultaneously the names of the local Congressmen to whom mail, wires and phone calls should be directed.

3. Ask the editor to run this box or news story until the vote in the house has been taken

CAUTION

Representatives in Washington have advised us that some antagonism has been created by the tone of the letters being received by Senators and Congressmen. A letter berating and castigating a Congressman defeats our primary purpose which is to win him over to our side. Instead it drives him farther away. Advise your members to make an appeal rather than a defamation in their letters to Congress.

! ! ! WE HAVE INCREASED OUR STRENGTH ! ! !

Last night the Senate voted 50-37 to revise the Neutrality Act. In spite of the defeat this was a far from discouraging vote.

• • • •

The Lend-Lease Bill was passed early in March with 32 Senators on record as opposing it.

> After 8 months of the most vicious and suffocating war propaganda this country has ever seen the proposition to revise the Neutrality Act came up before Congress.

• The Bill to Revise the Neutrality Act was passed with 42 (FORTY TWO !!) Senators on record as opposing its contents ! ! !

THIS MEANS THAT THROUGH YOUR SPLENDID EFFORTS OUR FORCES IN CONGRESS HAVE BEEN INCREASED BY 10 SENATORS. OUR GREATEST STRENGTH ! ! !

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE MEN WHO VOTED FOR THE LEND-LEASE BILL AND AGAINST REVISION OF THE NEUTRALITY ACT:-

Theodore Bilbo, (DEMOCRAT), Mississippi
Harry Byrd, (DEMOCRAT), Virginia
Francis Maloney, (DEMOCRAT), Conn.
Millard Tydings, (DEMOCRAT), Maryland
Ed Smith, (DEMOCRAT), South Carolina
Ralph Brewster, (REPUB.) Maine
Henry Cabot Lodge, (REPUB.) Mass.
James Davis, (REPUB.) Penn.
Charles McNary, (REPUB.) Oregon
• Wallace White, (REPUB.), Maine

THE BILL CAN BE BEATEN IF THE HOUSE

The Neutrality revision bill is far from passed at this moment. Congressional leaders in Washington are fully confident that we have a fighting chance of beating it in the House. IT CAN BE DEFEATED. BUT IT IS YOU WHO MUST DEFEAT IT.

REMEMBER the famous "one vote victory" on the Draft Extension? On that bill your wires, letters and phone calls the last few crucial days brought a sufficient number of Congressmen over to make the vote 203-202.

ON THE DRAFT EXTENSION BILL WE HAD CONSIDERABLY LESS VOTING STRENGTH IN THE SENATE. NOW WE HAVE INCREASED THAT STRENGTH !!!

Vote in the House is expected Wednesday. Only your efforts can determine victory or defeat. Launch your avalanche of AIRMAIL LETTERS, WIRES AND PHONE CALLS TODAY. KEEP THEM ROLLING TO YOUR CONGRESSMEN UP TO THE VERY LAST MINUTE.

• Includes the vote of WHITE of Maine who opposed the sending of ships into the war zone.

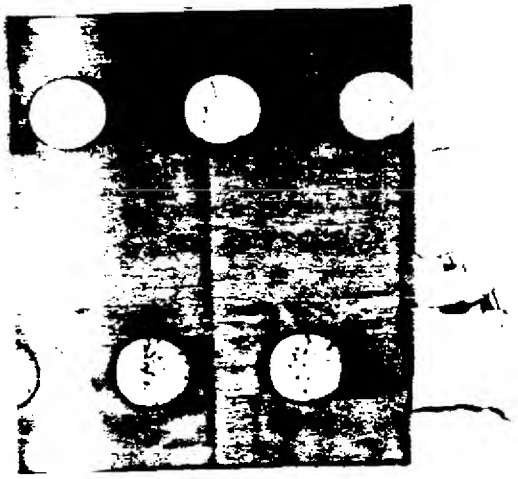
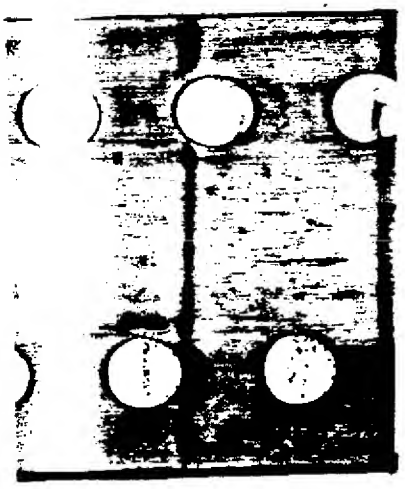
PENNYPACKER RESOLUTION





The following resolution, introduced by Isaac A. Pennypacker, Chairman of the Philadelphia Chapter and member of the National Committee, was unanimously adopted by the representatives of 119 chapters of the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE attending the meeting in Washington on Saturday, November 1, 1941.

"Whereas the structure of American democracy is founded upon the principle of government of, by and for the people, through laws enacted by the Congress and executed by the President, under the Constitution of the United States; and

"Whereas the wilful, deliberate and persistent efforts of President Roosevelt to force this country to take full part in the present European War are in violation of the proven will of the majority of the American people, and do threaten to undermine the foundations of American Constitutional government; and

"Whereas the United States Senate and House of Representatives are charged by the Constitution and the people with the solemn duty of enforcing the will of the people through keeping this country out of unnecessary foreign war, by exercise of the legislative power; and

"Whereas repeal of provisions of the Neutrality Act, designed to prevent complete involvement in the European war, would permit further intentional provocation of incidents leading to war, and therefore such repeal may be a prelude to a vote for war;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the Chairmen and delegates of one hundred nineteen chapters of the America First Committee, representing millions of American citizens from coast to coast, and from north to south, do individually pledge ourselves to work and vote in the 1942 primaries and general election for every member of the Senate and House of Representatives, irrespective of Party, who votes retain provisions of the present Neutrality Act which prohibits the entry of American flag ships into combat areas or belligerent ports; and

"We do further pledge ourselves to work and vote against the renomination and re-election in 1942 of every member of the Senate and House of Representatives who votes to repeal the provisions of the present Neutrality Act, which prohibit the entry of American flag ships into combat areas or belligerent ports."

Dear Friends:

My skipping a September letter to you, which I regret, is only part of the "skipping" I have been doing. While I have had more personal cares and worries than a dog has fleas, the New Deal has not overlooked trying to add to them! They say:

"The big fleas all have little fleas
On 'am to bite 'em
And little fleas have smaller fleas
And so on ad infinitum."

In order to give the New Deal no excuse to move into my office or "borrow" my anti-Red records, every cent contributed to office expenses has been listed as an "anonymous" donation and income tax paid on it as though it were a personal fee to me - unjust as it seems to pay tax on what should be tax exempt and on what is paid to others to help carry on the patriotic work to which I donate my life and labor.

My husband has always made out all income tax reports; I only know when our office "cupboard" is bare of funds. This past July one Nathan Morris arrived at my husband's office with letters from the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., dated July 10, authorizing him to investigate both of our income tax returns for 1939-40. As the local Bureau had already investigated and okayed my husband's return this seemed fishy, we being small fry financially, as it is rare for the tax return of anyone outside of the millionaire or Al Capone class to be investigated twice.

So on inquiry, we were informed that Mr. Nathan Morris is not connected with either the local or Washington Income Tax Bureau but works right out of the Washington office of the Attorney General who heads the F.B.I. A "fishing expedition" was scented and his first question when he entered set the keynote: "What Fascist or Nazi or Communist organizations does Mrs. Dilling belong to?" The answer was a decided "Not one!" By chance I dropped into my husband's office while Mr. Morris was there and had a pleasant chat with him in which he told me of his long close association with Rabbi Stephen S. Wise (part of whose crimson record is listed in my books).

He inquired about the cost of our home way back in 1920, 21 years ago, "Aren't you going rather far afield for a 1939 income tax return?" he was asked. His significant reply was, "Well, perhaps I am but I have a job to do." I had a fair idea of what that "job" was. Added to my books and bulletins my recent opposition to Dictator-War Bill 1776 in Washington has keenly whetted the appetite of the New Deal and its warmongers to smear and silence me.

An $800 New Deal "Fishing Trip"

And so for three months Mr. Nathan Morris has been demanding such laborious detailed proof of every bottle of ink, as it were, used in my office since 1939, that the bill of the expert accountant, whom my husband hired to handle the matter, has run up to $800! It must be disappointing to have discovered no "love gifts" to our office from Benito Mussolini or Adolph Hitler. Of course bloody Joe Stalin couldn't be suspected of contributing since we are being taxed to send millions in gifts to him.

Our dog, fortunately, is a little cocker spaniel. Were he a dachshund I might ere this have been in a concentration camp where 80% of our people, George Washingtonian Americans, who also oppose entangling European alliances, should join me.

Congressman Knutson, to quote (A.P. 10/8/41), "offered the House a definition of the difference between a Nazi and a Communist during debate today on the lend-lease bill. Said Knutson: "The only difference between a Nazi and a Communist is that a Nazi can't get a job in the New Deal."

I Travel at New Deal Expense

With Mr. Nathan Morris still plodding at his assignment of snooping over the purchase and use of any "tooth pick" I might have "twittled" in past years, another New Deal "billet doux" ("love note" to you) arrived in the shape of a subpoena to come to Washington, D. C., bringing all correspondence data, mailing lists, etc., connected with my purchase and distribution last October and November of a booklet of Lord Lothian's previous speeches which were a George Washingtonian argument against Britain and the U. S. sacrificing lives to hold down "the anarchy of Europe" in the "status quo".

At this summons to more expense, I made up my mind not to budge until I had a round trip ticket to Washington in hand; since there are billions of government tax money for bloody Joe, there should be a ticket for me. And so I sat packed to go for three days until at last a round trip and lower berth ticket finally appeared about a half hour before train time. By collecting the rest legally due me, of $1.50 per day witness fees plus $3.00 maintenance per day for three days, plus 10¢ per mile one way, I extracted the cost of a "nice" trip to Washington which I utilized to interview friendly Congressmen and Senators, to build fires under the enemy, and came home via New York where I did some valuable work. "I am here," I said proudly to friends, "at the expense of my government."

A New York friend gave me a huge round celluloid badge the size of a tea cup with the words "I AM A SPY". I pinned this inside my coat and ever since have been flashing it on people. At a ticket window, for example, I asked, "Can you hurry up that berth ticket? You haven't seen my badge have you?" "No", the man said respectfully, expecting to see some official connection, until I flashed out the "I AM A SPY" badge and he laughed. Today a friend gave me a small red nose with whiskers which can be quickly plopped on as one shows the badge! I used it on the office elevator men with fine effect today.

Although my subpoena was illegally drawn and I could have ignored it, I was glad to go and testify. Significantly, I had been well smeared by the Pearson and Allen column and the press before my arrival but was unable to get any statement of mine in the press concerning the matter.

The subpoena had requested that I bring to Washington all mailing lists, correspondence, etc., in connection with my purchase of the Lothian books. The moment it was served I offered to cooperate and turned over to be photostated all correspondence concerning my purchase of the Lothian books, my one and only transaction with Flanders Hall Publishers, of Scotch Plains, New Jersey, no member of whom I have ever met. This correspondence included my initial inquiry concerning prices, my order, my letters of bitter complaint at the huge C.O.D. express bill on the prepaid order which should have arrived postpaid and, besides, came four hundred copies short with the statement that unordered cartons at a big price had been sent to make up the difference (!); then, our threat of legal action and, finally, their letter sending a refund. The purchase was a headache but the speeches were good.

The New Deal O.G.P.U. At Work

Picture a New Deal "O.G.P.U." scene in which an assistant to Roosevelt's Attorney General turns on all the sarcasm and spleen possible to convey the idea that he is addressing a convicted criminal about to be hung (for buying copies of a Britisher's speeches) as he demands of the victim: "Are you the author of THE RED NETWORK in which Mrs. Roosevelt is listed as a Red?"

Victim: "I am! Of course I have ten times as much on her now as I had then."

He: "Do you intend to publish this?"

Victim: "Yes, providing you don't throw me in a concentration camp."

He: "Certainly you do not think that I or anyone associated with me would ever wish to interfere with freedom of speech or of the press?"

Victim: "Well, I am sure you are carrying out your orders to the best of your ability but in view of what I have gone through since I opposed the Lend-Lease Dictator-War Bill I'd say it smells mighty peculiar. I think they are out to get and silence me."

He: (With sinister glower) "What do you mean by 'they'?"

Victim: "What would you think? The New Deal of course."

A long harangue of sarcastic questions concerning my "so-called" Patriotic Research Bureau. An attempt to get its mailing lists ending with my determined retort: "You can draw and quarter me and throw me in a concentration camp but you will never get out of me the name of one single person who has ever befriended me so that they may be persecuted as I have been."

Denials that this was intended. An attempt to dig into Bureau donations and expenditures and have me itemize these which I couldn't possibly do. I am too pushed to even keep track of the stamps we have to buy.

Victim: "Why don't you ask your own man right out of your own office who has been busy since July counting up every penny spent by the office since 1939? He knows far more about it than I do. He is still there. Ask him!"

My "crime" of distributing copies of the Lothian speeches is taken up. Would I admit they were "Nazi" propaganda?

Victim: "No. Do you consider Lord Lothian a 'Nazi'?"

He: "No, indeed."

Victim: "Well, they were Lord Lothian's speeches. I distributed them during his lifetime; Wm. Randolph Hearst devoted two whole columns to quoting them; the Saturday Evening Post devoted an editorial page to quoting them, all of which went from coast to coast. If he did not make them it is strange that neither Lord

Lothian, while British Ambassador here, nor the British Embassy since he died (Dec. 12, 1940) have ever denied that he made those speeches. They are carefully documented. Have you discovered any of them to be phoney?"

He: "That is not my business. You run a Research Bureau."

Victim: "Since you have been able to bring me all the way from Chicago to ask about those speeches, why didn't you look them up and disprove one of them first? You have the whole F.B.I. back of you!"

He: "You know that you are known by the public all over the country don't you? You think that you are a very important woman in public life, don't you?"

Victim: "No, I do not."

He: "Well, when your name is used on something you know that it carries weight, don't you?"

Victim: "I know that nothing I have ever printed or said has ever been refuted by anyone and that my books have won important court cases."

He: (With a "hang the criminal" tone) "Why didn't YOU investigate Flanders Hall Publishers before you distributed those books with your recommendation?"

Victim: "Have you investigated whether the tie you are wearing has any German thread in it?"

He: "My wife bought it. I am sure she investigated."

Victim: "Went right to the manufacturers and looked into their purchases to see that no embargoed German material went into it? How do you know that you are not wearing German shoes?"

He: "Well, it is more important that the foot inside of the shoe has a kick in it." (Which would also apply to the Lothian speeches.)

He: (Very melodramatically) "Do you know by personal first-hand knowledge that Lord Lothian ever saw those speeches?"

Victim: "No. I was not dere - I was in Chicago. They were delivered in England. How could I check them with the war on? He never denied them."

He: "You never tried to check them in the Library of Congress?"

Victim: "No. Are they there? That is a good tip. I will go right over and look them up when I leave here!"

He: "I will not say whether they are there or not. Have you registered as the agent of a foreign government?"

Victim: (With some heat) "Why on earth should an American-born citizen of all British and Scotch-Irish blood who has devoted ten years time to upholding Americanism do that? Can't one oppose foreign war involvement and be 100% pro-American without registering as a foreign agent?"

Then a long harangue in which he claimed that "James Burr Hamilton", the name signed to the short introduction to the booklet of the Lothian speeches, was the pen name of one "George Sylvester Viereck", a propagandist for Germany. Did I know that?

Victim: "No, I have never heard of Viereck until recently, in the press, but, even if what you say is true, I do not think the little introduction amounts to much one way or another. If the Devil himself wrote the introduction to Lord Lothian's speeches, it would not alter the speeches. If you can show me that Lothian did not make those speeches, I will humbly apologize to every person to whom I mailed a copy. If I prove he did, I will tell them that."

He: "But you should not wait. You should let me issue a statement to the press NOW telling them you have distributed Nazi propaganda!"

Victim: "No, I will issue my own statement and only after I check the speeches; those are what I bought. When I do issue a statement I will send you a copy." (I shall send him this.) "If I prove Lothian made those speeches, I will reproduce them under my own name and try to raise money to distribute a thousand times as many as I ever did before because every American citizen ought to read them! They exactly corroborate George Washington's ideas on the futility of the U.S.A. trying to maintain the anarchy of Europe and its perpetual entanglements in any status quo. Lothian says this is not worth the sacrifice of a million British lives; therefore it is not in my opinion worth one American life. I still am George Washingtonian even though he seems to have gone out of style with some people."

He: (Sarcastically) "So you have a movement called 'George Washingtonian'".

Victim: (A bit weary with the endless hectoring) "No, I have no movement. I merely have a picture of Washington on my office wall because I admire his principles."

He: "One little sentence or paragraph twisted from the context of those speeches could change their whole meaning."

Victim: "I will look into that also and reproduce the speeches in full. I have opposed dictatorship under any name, whether in Europe or in America, and upheld our American Republican form of government. If that be treason, make the most of it. If Flanders Hall Publishers is backed by any foreign propagandist, I certainly approve of your putting them out of business. At the same time I am also in favor of your putting out of business all other foreign agencies including the thousands of British propagandists who are overrunning our country, pushing us into war, to sacrifice our boys and our billions. Also the whole treasonable Communist press which is frankly committed to the overthrow of our government ought to be put out of business and the Bolsheviks ought to be put off the New Deal pay roll!"

Before I finally departed the gentleman began to exhibit a courteous change of manner - whether assumed or real. He even offered to do me the favor of searching for a mislaid paper! After all, he has to perform for his bosses.

Serving the F.B.I.

I have in the past given much data to Dies Committee investigators and, previous to my trip to Washington, had promised local F.B.I. men, free of charge, to let them put a man in my office to work on my unique files getting data for the F.B.I., which they want and need, even though this would require our assistance and we are pitifully short handed. On my return from Washington, when one of the F.B.I. boys came in for data, I looked up some things with him and then said:

"Listen: you and the rest of the F.B.I. men I know are a fine lot and I would do anything for you personally. But since your boss, the Attorney General's office, had me questioned as though I were a criminal for buying a bunch of Lord Lothian's speeches, I've made up my mind to charge you from now on for anything you get from this office. If they have billions for the dirty Reds, let them pay me for the use of my records which have cost thousands of dollars and ten years of my donated labor."

"Well, how much would you charge us?" he asked.

"Plenty - Lend-Lease style!", said I, jauntily.

"Wouldn't it be funny," Jean grinned, "if the New Deal helped support our office!"

At this moment one state and one local police department are waiting for me to compile reports for them.

The Lothian Speeches Check 100%

In Washington, after leaving my New Deal O.G.P.U. "boy friend", I hied myself over to the Library of Congress with a dear friend. We got every issue of the London Times and London Observer from which speeches in the Lothian book were quoted and they checked word for word. I had photostats made of the whole pages and speeches. International Affairs of London, Vol. 16, (cited on p.31 of the Lothian book) I secured and had photostated elsewhere. It checks 100%.

I have delayed issuing the Lothian material until I had photostats in hand of the sources of the last remaining four pages of speeches in the 53 page book.

You will get a copy of the speeches in their entirety just as printed in the British press, as soon as ready. The planographing will be expensive. The cheapest price I have secured so far is $150-plus for the first 1,000 copies or more than 15¢ each without postage or envelopes. The entire context is much "hotter" than the excerpts given in the Lothian booklet. I hope you will help to distribute many copies as soon as they are ready.

Have We Any "Freedoms"?

We shall see whether the fight to enforce the "four freedoms" - "everywhere in the world" - is to be completely extinguished at home!

"What a farce," I thought, as I saw a man in New York picking through a garbage can to get something to eat, just as I see them near my office in Chicago, to thunder about our taxing ourselves to death to fight and bleed abroad to secure for the rest of the globe the four freedoms, "freedom from want, freedom from fear, freedom of speech and press and freedom of worship", while we subsidize atheist religion-destroying Stalin and his murder gang, while there is want on every side at home, while American citizens are being denied halls, radio time, etc., and being razzed and grilled, as I have been, for opposing a dictator who has ignored our Constitutional checks and balances and has been pushing us into war against the will of 80% of the people without even bothering to consult Congress until after step after step had already been illegally taken! To quote him: "We planned it that way."

The End of Law

As a brilliant Washington, D. C., attorney told me in February: "As soon as we lose the right of Habeus Corpus, dictatorship will be complete and all rights under the law will be wiped out. Roosevelt's third term is now completing the packing of the courts with New Dealers so that justice by law is practically impossible for opponents of the New Deal, and Stimson", he said, "has already been talking about doing away with the right of Habeus Corpus."

England, its people paralysed by long years of degenerative Marxian, pacifist, Red propaganda poison, found itself, as I saw there in 1939, being shoved into this world war much as we have been and by the same closely linked international crew operating between France, Wall Street, Washington and London. Since the war, British patriots have been thrown into jail without trial or formal charges, without means of self defense or liberation, deprived of the right of Habeas Corpus under a special measure known as "18B". The following from the London Patriot of Sept. 4, 1941, gives one an idea of the "freedoms" in England under the rule of the international warmongers with whom our New Deal has aligned us. To quote:

"I wonder whether any of the members of Parliament who sat complacently on their benches whilst this astounding law was being passed realised that they were forging a weapon which might one day be turned against themselves with deadly effect?

"Men in power are apt to imagine that power will last forever, ignoring the immortal maxim quoted by Mirabeau after his fall: 'It is but a step from the Capitol to the Tarpeian Rock'.

"Habeas Corpus could, of course, be revoked in times of national emergency, when the guilt of the victim was obvious or suspected on good grounds WHICH WERE MADE KNOWN TO HIM, thus giving him a chance to defend himself without formal trial. It did not keep him for years in prison, not knowing what he was there for. 18B is thus not merely a revocation of Habeas Corpus but a return to the methods of the French Revolution, of which we are now told to admire 'the glorious principles.' But for the absence of the death penalty, its nearest counterpart may be found in the Loi du 22 Priarial, which deprived its victims of the right of trial and of witnesses for the defense, and heralded that bloodiest period of the Revolution known as 'The Great Terror.' Little did Robespierre, in framing this law when at the height of his power, dream that the dripping blade of the guillotine would one day fall on his own head...

"With the keystone of British justice removed, those in power can use it as they please against their opponents. In vain may its authors cry for mercy, asking of what they are accused, demanding the right to defend themselves. No answer will be vouchsafed but 'You destroyed that right yourselves; now you must bear the consequences.'

"18B is, indeed, on one point even more unjust than the autocratic regimes of the past in that it acts on false pretexts. Under the former, when throwing a man into prison and treating him with the utmost cruelty, no secret was made of the reason, namely that he was an enemy of the political system in power, thus winning sympathy for him and often honour as a martyr in the eyes of those who shared his opinions. They did not publicly accuse him of being a traitor to his country and in league with enemies out to destroy it, which would have degraded him in the eyes of every patriot, even of his own party.

"And this is where another and important aspect of the matter comes in, to which hitherto little attention has been paid. It is not only arrest and imprisonment the victim of 18B has to fear, but other measures deriving from the French Revolution - the Loi des Suspects, the visite domiciliare - in those terrible days when it was said, 'Woe to him who has an enemy!' So today anyone who bears a grudge against another, or any jealous rival, can lodge an absolutely false allegation to the police against the object of his malice, with the result of a perquisition being made at his house. And then, even if officially proved to be the stoutest patriot, he receives no redress. The slanderer incurs no penalty, is at liberty to go on repeating the slander as long as he pleases, whilst the innocent victim is given no means for making his vindication public. For the rest of his life he will be followed by the whisper that he is 'the man who was suspect during the war.' His life has been spared but all that makes it worth living has been taken from him.

"Unless this unprecedented law is revoked soon...and British justice is restored to her honoured place, no man or woman in England can be sure of their liberty, and perhaps later of their life."

In America Also

Lindbergh, for telling our Nation the truth about European armaments, etc., is being smeared from coast to coast as a "Nazi". We read that Mr. Henry Ford is to be "investigated" after the radical and Jewish press has been printing the most fantastic libels against him and "reproducing" private correspondence from his plant. This was no surprise to me. I tried unsuccessfully over a year ago, as the result of bitter experience with the same source, to warn the Ford Company of the treachery on their own pay roll - but in vain.

The countless sound patriots in America First are being viciously smeared as "Nazis" and "Fascists". Only in case Reds inside America First are successful in taking it over will it be given a clean bill of health by our controlled press.

Just For a Laugh

Have you heard this story? "A German and an Englishman and a Russian were riding in the Clipper. In the middle of the ocean the pilot came back and said, 'I am sorry, gentlemen, we are running out of gas. One of you will have to go overboard.' The German stood up and saluted, 'Heil Hitler', and jumped overboard. An hour later the pilot came back and said, 'I am sorry, gentlemen, but another one of you will have to go overboard.' The Englishman stood up and saluted saying, 'There will always be an England', and threw the Russian overboard."

I also heard this one: A plane was brought down in the sea off Norway. The man who went out to investigate was asked if it were a German plane. He said it was and, on being asked whether the Germans on it were alive or dead, said: "Well, one of them said he was alive but you know what liars those Germans are!"

The Road Down

I wish American mothers with leisure would leave their bridge tables and clubs long enough to investigate conditions among school children as the result of years of Red materialistic "progressive education" and Freudian sex filth. A mother shocked me this morning by telling me why, among other similar reasons, she had taken her twelve year old daughter out of one of our most "select" local private schools for girls. When her little girl matured, eleven year old classmates of hers warned her: "Now you will have to be careful with the boys or you will have a baby. We are lucky we don't have to worry about that yet." She asked her mother what they meant!

One of our North Shore police officers said to me the other day: "If the parents only realized the wild life that most of their young people are living these days! Things are entirely different from what they were in your day and mine. My sixteen year old daughter has been going out to the ____ Club" (one of the joints which cater to North Shore High School and College youngsters)

"and they have been serving her booze. I went out and gave them warning that she is a minor and the next time they serve her a drink I will close the place!" What are the parents of other young folks, who go there and to similar "joints", doing?

My 21 year old son thinks he is engaged to a sweet little girl not yet 18 who enrolled this year in Wisconsin University which, for years, has been nicknamed "little Moscow".(See the chapter on Glenn Frank and "free love" in Wisconsin in my book THE RED NETWORK.) Son is now worrying over his girl like an old father because of things like these: he says her sorority went out the night she was pledged with a fraternity and "co-educationally" got drunk together. They tried to get her drunk too! The girls in her dormitory who go out at night are supposed to sign out and sign in at 12:30 at night but, he says, a side door is left open and those who stay out all night simply omit signing out and boldly come in the side door in the morning; many girls are in trouble. The boys make no secret of their "dishonorable intentions" and, as he puts it, "start working on a girl as soon as they meet her" and "the whole atmostphere is one of open acceptance of such standards. In fact, they make fun of a girl who 'holds out' - even her own sorority sisters - then after she has slipped once or twice she gets just like the rest! I don't want the girl I marry like that!"

Reports of wholesale immorality in parking places there, and my High School daughter and her friends report the same conditions near us, evoke sad and fearful thoughts over the future of America and its coming citizenry. The smut-filled popular novel mirrors the low ideals of the times. P.T.A.'s, instead of fighting religious education, should be fostering it.

Reds Fight Religion

A sound Christian minister writes me Oct. 15th as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Dilling:

"I am writing in behalf of the Council for Religious Education of _____. We have been giving Religious Education for three years on Thursdays at 2:30 P.M.

"The board of Education has granted the request of parents to have their children excused from classes for one hour on Thursdays. The parents state on the request to what Church they wish to send their children.

"For three years we have not had much opposition but now some people are beginning to object, and try to find some law to have this Education discontinued.

"At present one of the P.T.A. Organizations has taken it upon itself to put on a program to bring this matter of Religious Education to an open discussion which we believe will lead into a debate and ill feeling.

"Here is their PROGRAM:-'Religious Education in the Schools.'
(a) Possibilities for Good - by a local minister. (We refused)
(b) Possible Evils and Disadvantages - Mr. Ira Latimer, Executive Secretary, Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.

"What we would like to know is about this Mr. Ira Latimer. Where does he stand? Who is he? What does he believe? Let us know if you have any positive information about him. And then we would like to know about this 'Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.'

"We would appreciate an early reply, if possible. This P.T.A. meeting is to be held the 12th of November, and we would like to know before hand who this man is and what kind of Organization this Chicago Civil Liberties Committee is.

"We believe the school board is within their rights when they dismiss a child at the request of the parents.

"Thanking you I am yours,
(Signature)_____

I am writing him in part as follows:

"Dear Reverend_____:

"The Chicago Civil Liberties Committee is the Chicago branch of the Communist-aiding American Civil Liberties Union. The section on the American Civil Liberties Union (pp.111-123) in my book THE RED NETWORK was used by the San Diego School Board as a basis for barring the American Civil Liberties Union from using the school auditorium for meetings as a 'seditious and disloyal organization'. When not one fact in my book could be refuted by American Civil Liberties Union leaders, the book was admitted in evidence and the American Civil Liberties Union was barred (Judge Arthur L. Mundo; Dept. 6 of the Superior Court of San Diego; Case number 79805; decided 3/13/35).

"I can show you one American Civil Liberties Union pamphlet after another with their reports on how they continually uphold, in the Courts and otherwise, the 'right' of teachers to teach atheism, Communism, etc., in public schools. This they call 'academic freedom'.

"Their yearly report for 1932-1933 (p.25) under the heading 'Freedom In Schools and Colleges' lists among other cases 'affecting college teachers and students expressing pacifist, liberal or radical views': '(4) The dismissal of Prof. Ira Latimer from LeMoyne College (colored), Memphis, for his public activities' (radicalism).

"When the communist National Student Congress Against War (See p.228 of THE RED NETWORK), called by Moscow, was held at the University of Chicago, Dec. 27-29, 1932, the national committee sponsoring it included 'Ira Latimer, LeMoyne College, Memphis, Tenn.', Communists Earl Browder, Scott Nearing, etc., were Congress speakers.

"I can also show you American Civil Liberties Union pamphlets, issued from year to year, with maps designating those sections of the U.S.A. where Bible reading is still permitted in schools. They continually fight against this. They carried on the Court suit to bar Bible reading from New York public schools for the atheist Freethinkers of America (See p.160 of THE RED NETWORK).

"The American Civil Liberties Union militantly upholds and supplies legal aid for every phase of the Red movement: atheism, obscenity, Red crimes of all sorts, including murder. Lawyer Morris Ernst, now and for many years one of their two National Counsels, is author of a book in defense of obscenity entitled 'To the Pure - A Study in Obscenity and the Censor' (Viking Press).

"Ira Latimer was appointed executive secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union in the winter of 1936. In line with the intimate relations between the American Civil Liberties Union and the Communist Party is the report of a Communist Party functionary that at a special meeting of Party functionaries, held Sept. 27, 1938, Latimer was among the 'participants'.

"Ira Latimer was a member of the 'Civil Rights Commission' of Moscow's own American League for Peace and Democracy (1/39) organized for Red revolution and treason and forced under cover by Dies Committee publicity. When Moscow's world-wide M.O.P.R., whose U.S.A. branch is called the International Labor Defense, held two 'Scottsboro Rallies' in Chicago, Ira Latimer, along with local Communists, was a scheduled speaker (Communist Party's Midwest Daily Record 6/24/38) and was a member of their Chicago Scottsboro Defense Committee 1937-38.

"In 1937, a fund-raising campaign was put on for communistic Commonwealth College, a little training school for Red agitators at Mena, Arkansas, where nude bathing and atheism were 'part of the curriculum', according to Legislative Investigating Committee testimony. Ira Latimer, along with various Communists, was a member of the 'Finance Campaign Committee' to raise funds for Commonwealth College and its red affiliate, the Highlander Folk School at Monteagle, Tenn.

"In this connection you may recall the donations Mrs. Roosevelt has made to red Highlander Folk School and also the New Deal subsidy given red Commonwealth College. When Mrs. Roosevelt came to Chicago as speaker for the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee, March 14, 1940, she raised $2,000 for their Red work and was paid a fee of $1,500.

"The Red motion picture, 'Pastor Hall', sponsored by James Roosevelt, with Mrs. Roosevelt taking part, was written by Ernst Toller who was honored by world Jewry in 1937 as a representative Jew. He was a Communist who was imprisoned by the German Republic for leading the bloody Soviet Revolution in Germany in 1918-19, and later carried on his Communist activities in the U.S.A. and left his 'Last Testament' to the Communist Party's New Masses magazine before he committed suicide in 1939.

"When the 'Pastor Hall' film was banned in Chicago, Ira Latimer and the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee took the lead in fighting the ban.

"Of course, Latimer also led the protest against the Chicago ban on the Soviet film, 'The Oppenheim Family' (Chicago Examiner, 6/3/39). He was speaker for the convention of the communistic American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born Workers (3/40) held in Washington, D. C.

"'Quits Red Vote Hearing Ahead of Punch in Nose' is the heading of this recent news report:

"'Ira Latimer, executive secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties union, was ordered from the house executive committee meeting late today. Latimer left when the chairman, Reed F. Cutler (R., Lewistown), threatened to throw him out if he didn't go voluntarily.

"'After the committee had approved, 18 to 1, bills to outlaw the communist party from the ballot in Illinois, Latimer took from his brief case a handful of pamphlets "explaining the bill of rights" and laid them near Representative Dean McGaughey (D., Mount Zion).

"'"You get out of here," Cutler yelled at Latimer. "You're not coming in to this committee and insult any of its members, or spread your propaganda."

"'Latimer stopped to pick up his brief case. Cutler apparently thought his ouster order was to be disobeyed, for he started toward Latimer, shouting:

"'"You get out of here or I'll punch you in the nose."

"To cover Latimer's radical activities would require a book.

"The radical American Jewish Congress headed by red Rabbi Stephen S. Wise (see my books) is also very active this year in fighting to prevent 'release time' in public schools for religious instruction of any sort. Their letter sent out April 29, 1941, asks friends 'to align yourselves with the democratic forces in your community in order to carry out a program of opposition... against release time.'

"Such organizations make a stench of 'democratic' by their misuse of the word.

"If I can be of further help please call on me. I hope and pray not only that you may triumph against the red forces of atheism pitted against you but also that sound spiritual leaders like yourself may ultimately succeed in extending release time for religious instruction to other schools until every child in America is reached. 'Man does not live by bread alone.' 'As the twig is bent the tree will grow.'

"Yours sincerely for a Christian America,

"(Mrs. A. W.) ELIZABETH DILLING"

America Will Pay

Of course every effort is being made by radicals to prevent any provision for school children to be excused during school hours to receive religious training from teachers of their parents' own faith. As self-indulgent parents golf or sleep Sunday mornings themselves, fewer and fewer children are sent to Sunday School or receive any spiritual training at all.

America is already paying for its present materialistic trend in youthful crime, disease and the debauchery of society and government and if this trend is not checked America will pay still more just like France and every other nation that has fallen. We are now living on the remains of unearned spiritual blessings left us by those pioneering ancestors who put "In God we Trust" on our coins.

To quote: "EIGHTY MILLION AMERICANS NOT CHURCH MEMBERS - A recent survey the results of which were published by the Yearbook of American Churches, showed that of the nearly 130-million inhabitants of the U.S.A. only 52,378,026 were members of a church." We are living in a time of broken faith in God and mankind, world-wide confusion, warfare, physical and mental suffering, broken homes, loosened morals and anti-Christian Marxian propaganda in schools, public thinking and government.

Red Labor Temple

While in New York I visited Labor Temple, long a Red Center for atheistic communistic propaganda, supported by Presbyterian Church Mission funds! On the bulletin board was a cartoon of Jesus Christ (reproduced in my book THE RED NETWORK) by Art Young, cartoonist for the atheist Communist press, which long ago appeared in the Communist Masses magazine and more recently in Norman Thomas' Socialist Call, 12/21/40, the title reading as follows:

"Reward - For Information Leading to the Apprehension of - Jesus Christ - Wanted-for Sedition, Criminal Anarchy - Vagrancy, and Conspiring to Overthrow the Established Government - Dresses poorly. Said to be a carpenter by trade, ill-nourished, has visionary ideas, associates with common working people the unemployed and bums. Alien-Believed to be a Jew. Alias 'Prince of Peace, Son of Man' - 'Light of the World' & & Professional Agitator Red Beard, Marks on hands and feet the Result of injuries inflicted by an angry mob led by respectable citizens and legal authorities."

Leaflets for distribution advertised "two courses of lectures" under "auspices, The Spinoza Institute of America" at Labor Temple by Harry Waton "author of the Philosophy of Marx, the Philosophy of Spinoza, etc." One lecture, for example, was to be on the "Managerial Revolution", and the footnote to the leaflet states: "We are facing a permanent historic and revolutionary transformation of private Capitalism into State Capitalism. State Capitalism will be the permanent social order of Society in this country as in all other countries until State Capitalism is transformed into Socialism."

That a "Spinoza Institute" should headquarter at a center supported by Christian mission funds is an appalling example of present day apostasy. Spinoza, idol of agnostics, was one of the only two Jews ever expelled from a Jewish synagogue according to B'nai B'rith. Spinoza's first biographer, Colerus, described Spinoza's philosophy as 'the most pernicious atheism that ever was seen in the world'. Bayle, a fellow philosopher, called him 'the systematizer of atheism'. Jewry generally proudly calls him 'blessed Spinoza!".

But this sort of thing is "old stuff" at Labor Temple. I have before me a New York Times clipping dated 2/16/25 headed "COMMUNISTS HISS RELIGION FOR PUPILS - Experiment at Public School 46 Called Entering Wedge for Churches. Freethinker Wants Fight - Rally of German Workmen and Their Families in Labor Temple Boos at Name of O'Shea." To quote the report: "Attacks by speakers on the experiment being made for the religious education of children attending Public School 46 were applauded yesterday at a mass meeting of German workmen and their families held at Labor Temple," (as in the past and at the present)". "The speakers were Ludwig Lore, editor of the Volkszeitung, a German Communist daily; Mrs. Lily Lore, Julia Stuart Poyntz of the Workers Party, Paul Schueler, a German Communist; Anna Louise Strong, author of a book on Soviet Russia, and Joseph Lewis, President of the New York Free Thinkers Society." (For whom the American Civil Liberties Union sued the school board.)

Bertie Russell Pipes Up

Another of my "cultural" activities, while in New York, was hearing Bertie Russell speak at the notorious red Rand School. Bertie is the little man who so long ago outgrew God Almighty and the Ten Commandments and has so fervently served the cause of raw carrots, unsulphured prunes, Marxism, "free love", the public flaunting of illegitimate sex affairs and children, and the training of the young along these lines. In his and Dora's (one of his wives) little school near London the children ran nude or dressed as they pleased.

Bertie's change, after posing as a radical pacifist and serving six months in an English prison for slurring the American armies, to now urging American armies and taxpayers to take over the burden of maintaining the British empire, is a mere bagatelle for this "great philosopher." He appeared to weigh about 90 pounds "over all" with diminutive unpressed pants flapping over short bony legs, thin deeply wrinkled chops, a receding chin like Andy Gump's and bright little circled eyes like a newly hatched sparrow's reaching for a worm, as he piped up in a voice like the rasp of a rusty hinge.

It was too funny see, on the platform, the slavish kowtowing to this "great philosopher" of anti-God drivel. I wish a moving picture could have been taken of this "rival" of the Almighty's so that others could share my chuckles. Afterward, I bought a copy of his booklet "Why I am Not a Christian". In it he says: "I have to tell you two different things: first, why I do not believe in God and in immortality; and, secondly, why I do not think that Christ was the best and the wisest of men."

What A Crew!

What a commentary on our educational system that a great ballyhoo was raised in 1940 in support of Bertie's appointment as instructor in the City College of New York by the following college presidents: Robert M. Hutchins of the Univ. of Chicago; Mildred H. McAfee of Wellesley; John Stewart Bryan of William and Mary College; Robert Sproul of the Univ. of California; W. B. Alexander, acting president of Antioch College; Frank Kingdon, former pres. Univ. of Newark; William Allan Neilson, Pres. Emeritus of Smith College, and, to quote the N. Y. Herald Tribune, 3/1/40: "Dr. Harry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn College, an advisory member of the board, said the appointment" (of Bertrand Russell) "in every way reflected credit on City College and New York City. 'He' (Bertrand Russell) 'quite obviously is one of the monuments of Anglo-American philosophy...'"

Professors from coast to coast took up the cry including: Lyman Bryson, Teachers College, Columbia Univ.; Richard B. Morris, City College; Philip Wiener, City College; William P. Montague, Barnard College; Karl Llewellyn, Columbia Law School; Robert Lynd, Columbia Univ.; Morris Cohen, City College; Hatcher Hughes, Columbia Univ.; John Childs, Teachers College; Henry Pratt Fairchild, New York Univ.; George Counts, Teachers College; David Hart, Brooklyn College; Marjorie Hope Nicolson, Smith College; Irwin Edman, Columbia Univ.; Walter Rautenstrauch, Columbia Univ.; Goodwin Watson, Teachers College; Hans Reichenbach, Univ. of Calif.; Hugh Miller, Univ. of California; Horace M. Kallen, New School for Social Research; Franz Boas, Columbia Univ.; Frederick S. Deibler, Northwestern Univ.; Ralph E. Himstead, American Assn. of Univ. Profs. at Washington, D. C.; Carl Becker, Cornell Univ.; Walter B. Cannon, Harvard Univ.; Bernard D. N. Grebanier, Brooklyn College; George W. Hartmann, Teachers College, Columbia Univ.; Edwin C. Kemble, Harvard Univ.; William H. Kilpatrick, Columbia Univ.; Arthur O. Lovejoy, Johns Hopkins Univ.; Kirtley F. Mather, Harvard Univ.; Wesley C. Mitchell, Columbia Univ.; Philip E. Mosely, Cornell Univ.; Ralph Barton Perry, Harvard Univ.; John Harman Randall, Jr., Columbia Univ.; Arthur M. Schlesinger, Harvard Univ.; Harold Saxe Tuttle, Edwin C. Roedder, W. L. Estabrooke, J. Salwyn Schapiro, John Hastings, Theodore Goodman, Alfred G. Panaroni, Alexander Lehrman, Cecil H. Kindle, Frank K. Shuttleworth, Frank Mankiewics, Oscar Janowsky, E. McClung Fleming and Walter Knittle of City College; Robert K. Speer, N. Y. Univ.; Harry A. Overstreet, City College; Alonzo Myers, N. Y. Univ.; John Bridge, City College; Lyman R. Bradley, N. Y. Univ.; Nelson P. Mead, City College; Morton Gottschall, City College; also Norman Robbins, pres. of the College Parents Assn., etc., etc.

Then "ministerial" radicals, including the Federal Council of Churches, spoke up for Bertie's appointment, such as: Rev. Robert E. Sandrus, Counselor to Protestant Students at Columbia; Rev. John Howland Lathrop, Church of Our Saviour, Brooklyn; Rev. A. J. Muste, Director Presbyterian Labor Temple; Rev. H. Norman Sibley, Univ. Heights Presbyterian Church, N. Y. City; Dr. John Haynes Holmes, Community Church, N. Y. City; Rev. Frederick Reustle; Rev. John Paul Jones; Dr. Henry Neumann, Brooklyn Soc. for Ethical Culture; Rev. Harley J. Hartman; Rabbi Jonah B. Wise; Rev. Charles L. Austin; Rabbi Michael Alper; Rev. James H. Robinson; J. S. Bixler, Harvard Divinity School; Halford E.

Luccock, Yale Divinity School; Dr. Samuel Schulman, rabbi emeritus of Temple Emanu-El; etc., etc.

Ordway Tead, chairman of the N. Y. C. Board of Higher Education, whose red activities would fill a book, sponsored a rally to uphold Bertrand Russell held under the auspices of communistic Franz Boas' American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom (Daily Worker, 4/5/40).

Of course red atheistic old John Dewey ballyhooed for Russell along with communistic Albert Einstein, who publicly opposes belief in God, and the long time and still active radical John T. Flynn. Flynn's erroneous twaddle in support of Russell included this: "'I voted for the appointment of Bertrand Russell. I know his work and believe him to be one of the foremost scholars in his field...He is a man of the highest character, whose morals will compare favorably with those of Bishop Manning. It is very unfair to him to lift a quotation out of his books to make it appear that he favors adultery.'"(N. Y. Herald Trib., 3/1/40)

Russell's Morals

The patriotic Military Order of the World War pamphlet of Dec., 1925, which is before me, sounded a warning. Its title is"Dangerous Doctrines Being Suggested To Youth". The subtitle is: "Bertrand Russell's Book, 'What I Believe', Which Sets Forth Immoral Ideas, Open to Severest Criticism - What One College President Thinks About Such Material." To quote in part:

"It is a well known fact that among the Youth Movement 'ideals' is the disregard of social laws, the establishment of a new social order, carrying with it the doctrine of 'freedom', coupled with 'revolt against home restraint' and what is worse, its idea regarding marriage, which was pretty well established by one Harry D. Gideonse who, after talking on the movement before an Ethical Culture School in New York on November 24, 1924, added that 'these were now being changed together with the ideas which the student had as to marriage.'

"...One of the most dangerous vehicles promulgating doctrines of 'free love' and sex perversion, and which is said to be circulated in colleges (the book is in its third edition), is called 'What I Believe', by one Bertrand Russell...Particularly dangerous is the third chapter of his book dealing with 'Moral Rules', quoted below, in part, and which needs no further comment as to its deadly doctrine. Dutton & Co., the publishers, are reported to have said that from one to six copies have gone to 125 schools and colleges." Among numerous quotations cited from Russell's book are these:

"'It is evident that a man with a scientific outlook on life cannot let himself be intimidated by texts of Scriptures or by the teachings of the Church... In all stages of education the influence of superstition is disastrous...For economic reasons, a woman-teacher must not be married; for moral reasons, she must not have extra-marital sexual relations. And yet everybody who has taken the trouble to study morbid psychology knows that prolonged virginity is, as a rule, extraordinary harmful to women...At middle-and-upper class schools the matter is even worse. There are chapel services and the care of morals is in the hands of clergymen...They all condemn sexual relations between unmarried people who are fond of each other...Boys and girls should be taught that nothing can justify sexual intercourse unless there is mutual inclination...They should also be taught methods of birth-control, so as to insure that children shall only come when they are wanted...It should be recognized that in the absence of children, sexual relations are a purely private matter, which does not concern either the state or the neighbors. Certain forms of sex relations which do not lead to children are at present punished by the criminal law; that is purely superstitious, since the matter is one which affects no one except the parties directly concerned.'"

That is the sort of "education" from which we are now gathering the rotten fruits.

Russell's Example To Youth

To quote one New York paper, beginning with Russell's divorce from Alys Smith: "He had asked her for a divorce and told her he was about to have a child by another woman. The other woman was Dora Black...Russell married her at once - because, he said, he wanted to legitimize their son to succeed to the earldom. During this time Russell had been expounding his views that men and women should indulge in 'marital infidelity to preserve their homes'.

"Men and women who wished to live together ought to do so, married or not. No man or woman should enter a permanent marriage relationship without having sexual experience first...Thereafter, the Russells practiced what he preached. They had a son and a daughter and determined to rear them by the same free standards. In 1927 they opened their Beacon Hill School in Hampshire, about two hours drive from London...Londoners nicknamed it 'The Paradise of Bad Children'. One story reported of the school was the visit of an adult who found the door opened by a 9-year-old girl completely nude. 'My God!' he exclaimed in consternation. 'There is no God,' the girl retorted coldly, and shut the door.

"During this time both Russell and his wife were experimenting with free love. Together they wrote 'Sex Freedom'. Russell made no effort to conceal his romantic affairs with other women. And his wife had her own. Finally, in 1933, London society, which had watched this with perturbation, was utterly aghast to read in the staid London Times the announcement of the birth of a child to 'Countess Russell and Mr. Griffin Barry'. Mr. Barry, it developed, was a journalist...

"But in the Spring of 1934 she filed suit for divorce...She asserted that Russell who was then 61, had misbehaved several times with a 20-year-old girl named Helen Spence. She went on to say that while she, the countess, had had affairs, Russell had had twice as many. The divorce was granted. Russell married Helen Spence - his third wife.

"Meanwhile, on the educational and philosophical fronts, all had not gone too well either. Back in 1924 Russell had made a number of speeches in China. When Bishop Birney of China arrived in this country to attend the Methodist Episcopal Quadrennial Conference, he labeled Russell's views as 'anti-Christian,' declaring: 'The youth movement in China includes a group which is assailing the Bible, and Bertrand Russell has lent his aid to this anti-Christian group by speaking at its meetings.'"

The Rand School Program

To return to the Rand School pro-war, pro-"Union Now" program, of Sept. 20th, on which Bertie spoke, I observed, while waiting to hear this "star", the plaque of red Eugene V. Debs which decorates one wall of this Rand School auditorium, named in Deb's honor, and also other walls decorated with paintings of naked ladies, more yellowish in hue, less meaty and pink than old time saloon models, one being entitled "To-morrow - Hope of Man".

Algernon Speaks

"Milk-fed" Algernon Lee, head of red Rand School, a perfect "Algernon" with soft round face and toy moustache, lengthily and daintily held forth, upholding the League of Nations and urging that the U.S.A. join the British Empire and the "governments in exile" in warlike actions, quite unperturbed as shouts of "Louder!" kept resounding from lusty members of the audience unable to hear him. A few gentiles were present.

Wm. E. Bohn, Rand School instructor and editor of the socialist paper, the New Leader (free copies of which were on every seat as we entered), with painful grinning grimaces and groping for words, then introduced a man who, he said, is now "leading community thinking". This was the long-time radical Harry D. Gideonse (listed in THE RED NETWORK), president of Brooklyn College, who more recently has aided the Spanish Reds and various Red refugee committees, and was speaker for pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith Day at the New York World's Fair along with B'nai B'rith's international president, Harry Monsky (Sentinel, 9/12/40). Gideonse' commendation of the rabid-for-war Jewish socialist Social Democratic Federation paper, The New Leader, distributed by Rand School, appears in its 11/23/40 issue.

Gideonse, the most effective speaker of the assortment, said that force is not bad; that the end justifies the means depending on the ends and means; — that law is anchored in force; that we must remember that the Dred Scott decision and interpretation of the Constitution was settled by General Grant's army; that we must "dismantle our ideas of national sovereignty"; that we "need entangling alliances".

Miller Speaks

Mr. Bohn, with more inimitable grimaces, then announced that Wm. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor had designated Matthew Woll as speaker on this program, to represent the A.F. of L., but that Mr. Woll, being unable to come, had sent, instead, his "dear friend" Spencer Miller, long-time director of the Workers Education Bureau. Radical "Miller" has served various Socialist Party committees, and his socialistic Workers Education Bureau has been endorsed jointly by the A. F. of L. and the socialist Cooperative League of U.S.A. which is a fellow member with the Soviet Government's Cooperatives in the International Cooperative Alliance. (See my books.)

Bull-jawed Miller held forth so long, and with so much repetition, and the seats were so hard, I felt he really owed me money for listening - even though it would be useless to attempt to collect! He insisted that labor is asking that we abandon "short of war" and that this war is a "world revolution" and this is "our world". He said he had followed the "Union Now" Streit movement for 25 years; that Bevin (the English Red) and his trade union movement intended to reorganize Britain and British society after the war, and that we must work closely with them and reorganize both countries, two British delegates being then on the way here, he said, to help this. His demand for reorganizing and reconstructing American life (along radical lines) was reiterated until the weariness of boredom overwhelmed one.

His reference to "my friend John Flynn" (of America First) and to himself being denied, then admitted, to an America First rally, was significant to one in the know.

Bertie Speaks

At last came the "piece de resistance", the supreme of supremes of the program - Bertie Russell himself! Bohn, in introduction, humbly repeated how "proud and happy" he was to introduce Russell and how glad he would be if he were to "speak all night", this "really great philosopher", how "very, very proud" he was to introduce Mr. Russell.

Russell, beaming with pride, then piped up like a little sparrow, with broad British accent on words like "wah", "knaow", "suppaose", and informed us that British and U.S.A. interests are identical; that the U.S.A. by being neutral in peace time starts wars, as no country would dare fight if they knew the U.S.A. were against them; that the U.S.A. must guarantee in the future all small nations like Denmark by force; that "the United States must have all the responsibilities after the war"; "it cannot evade them"; that a world-wide Federation composed of the U.S.A. and British Empire must be set up and that other countries willing to assist should also be admitted as members but that this world Federation must not insist that member countries be democracies; "We must accept Stalin's Russia", he said; also the Federation must own all of the world's air force and arms; that the Federation's World Executive must have authority to define which country is, or is not, an aggressor, have power to declare war, command the world armed forces, tax goods on countries coming from outside the Federation, control all colonial possessions in the world, enforce every treaty; that the U.S.A. "must be willing as a member of the Federation to take part in disputes all over the world", as is its duty in China now.

He made one inadvertent admission, damaging to his war talk, that "everyone knew the Versailles Treaty was unjust" and since it could not be revised "armed force was necessary".

Why Pay for Such "Education"?

Visit university libraries and count the numbers of vicious, obscene, Communist books, the books by radicals like Goodwin B. Watson, Harold Rugg, John Dewey and a host of little "tin god" Marxist intellectuals who vaunt their anti-Christian, anti-American, anti-moral garbage in pompous verbiage. I have done this in several universities. Not one parent in a thousand, however, reading the names of their children's educators knows or bothers to find out what these men actually teach. Read what you are paying to have your children taught!

81 Freud Book Titles

My report on an incomplete survey I made of the University of Michigan in the Spring of 1939 includes this:

"Sigmund Freud, the Austrian Jewish exile who was a supporter of the Communist congress held in Amsterdam in 1932, has probably done more to break down moral decency and to spread sex filth under the guise of science than any other single man.

"When I visited the University of Michigan library there were counted 81 Sigmund Freud book titles. These well-thumbed volumes are evidence of University recommendations of this filth for student reading. A convinced disciple of Freud might well become ashamed of decent family affection. Freudian 'scientific' analyses continually portray love for mother, father, sister, or brother as being based on some sordid sexual desire for them.

"Making Everything Sexual

"As an example, the following is from one of the much used copies of Freud's 'Interpretation of Dreams' in the University of Michigan Library (Library card number 616.8F9T-T138,1913), page 257: 'It is correct to say that there is no series of associations which cannot be adapted to the representation of sexual facts. I conclude with the dream of a chemist, a young man, who has been trying to give up his habit of masturbation by replacing it with intercourse with women. Preliminary statement...'

"(Page 242) 'If with my patients I emphasize the frequency of the Oedipus dream of having sexual intercourse with one's mother - I get the answer...I can assure the reader that veiled dreams of sexual intercourse with the mother are a great deal more frequent than open ones to the same effect. There are dreams about landscapes and localities in which emphasis is always laid upon the assurance 'I have been there before'. In this case the locality is always the genital organ of the mother; it can indeed be asserted with such certainty of no other locality that one 'has been there before'.

"(Page 241) 'We have already asserted elsewhere that dreams which are conspicuously innocent invariably embrace coarse erotic wishes, and we might confirm this by means of numerous fresh examples...'

"Moral Garbage

"Parents who are as revolted at reading such a characteristic excerpt from Freud as I am to insert it, should bear in mind that the pages and pages of degenerate, unprintable dream 'examples' given in connection with it, not cited here, are even more revolting, and that all of this is in print and in the University of Michigan and other college libraries in constant use by fine young people sent there by their parents to be dosed by such poison. It would be better if parents, instead of their children, read Freud until they became angry enough to clean such anti-Christian, moronic, moral garbage out of the educational institutions attended by our nation's children."

"RUSSELL DENIES EXISTENCE OF DEITY BEFORE MORE THAN 2000 YESTERDAY

"This is the bold heading in the Feb. 19, 1939, issue of The Michigan Daily. Below it appears the picture showing Bertrand Russell, with 'Professor DeWitt Parker emerging from the Graduate Building after his morning lecture.'" And, typical of current apostasy was the admission that Russell "presenting the agnostic point of view" was "sponsored by the Student Religious Association."

"hat They Read at College

In addition, in the Univ. of Michigan library card index I counted cards on books by the following authors listed in the official catalogues of the Soviet Government's "International Publishers" and the Communist Party's "Workers Library Publishers", as follows: Henri Barbusse (French Communist) (16); Max Beer (16); Anthony Bimba, the Central Committeeman of the Communist Party who when sued for blasphemy was defended by the American Association for Advancement of Atheism, the Garland Fund and the American Civil Liberties Union (2); Earl Browder's "What is Communism" (3); Emile Burns (5); Alan Calmer (2); Wm. Peyton Coates (1); Henry David (2 copies); Horace B. Davis (1); Jerome Davis (12); Paul De Kruif (1); Robt. W. Dunn (8); R. Palme Dutt (5); Karl Marx and Friederich Engels (41); also cards on books covering Marx and Engels (79); Ben Field (1); Vera Figner (1); Louis Fischer (3); Wm. Z. Foster (5); Ralph Winston Fox (6); Joseph Freeman (4); Harry Gannes (1); Michael F. Gold, columnist of the Daily Worker, (2); Maxim Gorky (2); Jack Hardy (2); Wm. D. Haywood (1); Granville Hicks (3); Leo Huberman (1); Grace Hutchins (1); Allen Hutt (1); Frank Jellinek (1); Susan-Myra Kingsbury (7); Peter A Kropotkin, Russian revolutionist, (15); Jurgen Kuczynski (6); Nadezhda Z. Krupskaya, Lenin's widow, (1); Joshua Kunitz (4); John Langdon-Davies (8); Joseph Lash with James Wechsler (1); V. I. Lenin (35); Gustav Mayer (1); Gustavus Myers (1); Wolf Abram Nodel (1); M. N. Pokrovsky (5); John Reed (1); Anna Rochester (8); F. L. Schuman (13); Sin Fu Seng (1); Agnes Smedley (1); John L. Spivak (1); Josef Stalin (20 cards including books about Stalin); John Strachey (7); Anna Louise Strong (16); D. Tanin (1); Charlotte Todes (1); Sidney and Beatrice Webb (32); Albert Rhys Williams (5); Walter Wilson (1); V. A. Yakhontoff (4); Samuel Yellen (1).

Cards on books by the following authors, members of the executive and national committee of the communist League of American Writers, in the Univ. of Michigan library included: Newton Arvin (2); Isador Schneider (2); James T. Farrell (20); Lewis Mumford (22); Richard Wright (4); Malcolm Cowley (3); Matthew Josephson (6); Alfred Kreymborg (4); John Howard Lawson (4); Edwin Seaver (1); Genevieve Taggard (1); Horace Gregory (2); Grace Lumpkin (1); Clifford Odets (5); Paul Peters (2); and Corliss Lamont, atheist head of the communist Friends of the Soviet Union and participant in the Congress of the above,(2); Erskine Caldwell (2); Jos. Freeman (4); and Mike Gold (2).

In a very incomplete survey, 189 were counted covering books on the subject of Communism, 76 cards for books on the subject of the Soviet Union, 656 cards listing books by radicals, 74 cards on Materialism (Atheism) and 81 cards on the filthy Sugmund Freud. But among the many Massachusetts House Reports in the Library, the one exposing and condemning Communist subversive activities was noticeable by its absence.

Winchell Again

While in New York, a lovely big dinner party was given for me. How I enjoyed meeting old friends! Warmongering Walter Winchell, who distributed Communist John L. Spivak's libelous book to every member of Congress, and who keeps the radio hot with lies concerning me and all other sincere patriots, suspected of disinclination to die for his co-racials abroad, reported (9/26/41): "Liz Dilling is in our midst. Had a party in her honor at the Griffin t'other night. Lizzy made a talk and called ye ed a warmonger and her persecutor. She said that her plans to get us boycotted out of business were 'proceeding according to plan'. Sounds like a D.N.B. announcement from Berlin."

But, Moscow's old trick of pinning a Nazi label on any and every opponent is becoming hackneyed since it has become necessary to pin it on 80% of our people. When every Jewish paper and commentator in the country yells for war this is called "patriotism" but, when Lindbergh says they yell for war this is called "anti-Semitism" or "Naziism".

Why Did Katherine Lewis Resign?

Supposedly, because of Lindbergh's reference to the current Jewish enthusiasm for U.S.A. involvement in the present war, Katherine Lewis, daughter and assistant of John L. Lewis, a faithful "fellow-traveler" of the Communist Party line ever since the C.I.O. was organized, has resigned from the national board of America First. (Chicago Times, 10/23/41.) But, meantime, bear in mind that the Communist Party line changed from isolationism to intervention when the Nazi-Soviet pact was broken.

Red Methods

A most interesting and cultured European whom I met while in New York told me how he had been captured and imprisoned in Russia at the end of the World War and was shifted from prison to prison during and after the bloody Red revolution; how in 1918, an epidemic of typhoid and malaria broke out among the 40,000 prisoners in the Russian prison at Totskoylager where he was incarcerated. The Reds had no medicines and, becoming fearful of the epidemic spreading, they burned the whole prison, prisoners and all; he was one of a very few who succeeded in escaping.

They Are Crushing Opposition

I was shocked to discover, in New York, how thoroughly the enemy has bored from within or utterly shattered every anti-Red organization there.

The American Patriots, who formerly held fine meetings, have long since folded up, broken up from within. A. Cloyd Gill was with the American Patriots until their finish. Reports of his friendly relations with pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith were current when I was there in 1938-9 just before the American Patriots' demise.

Last year, when I was in New York, my friend Jo Kamp who, through his Constitutional Educational League, has issued such excellent releases, was worried to death about paying his 'phone bill, etc. Cloyd Gill has been with Jo Kamp since Gill's unpleasant severance last fall from American Women Against Communism, directed by my friend Mrs. A. Cressy Morrison. Her organization, recently, was offered large financial help, for the use of its name, to be supplied from some unnamed source, by a person who gave Gill as his only reference. She has wisely refused this "aid", I understand.

Recently, when I 'phoned the Constitutional Educational League in New York, to speak to Jo Kamp, Mr. Gill, who answered, told me Kamp was honeymooning in the South. Although I cannot recall meeting Mr. Gill, he said very pleasantly that he had met me. So, I frankly questioned him about his policies and the reports I had heard. I had noted a change in the last Constitutional Educational League release, a change savouring of that so-familiar B'nai B'rith, Friends of Democracy propaganda "line", a crescendo which murmurs against "Communism" at the bottom rising to howling against "Nazis" and "Fascists" like Lindbergh (the label pinned on all opponents these days) up to bellowing against "anti-Semitism."

I had seen the letterhead of the Veterans Peace Temple of 1939 with Milton Solomon's name as chairman and A. Cloyd Gill's as executive vice-chairman. As Milton Solomon lists his connection with pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith, in "Who's Who in American Jewry", I asked Gill about this. He readily admitted this association and expressed the highest admiration for Solomon and also for B'nai B'rith as an organization.

Communism. He chuckled and said that it had certainly surprised Federal Council leaders who asked, to quote, "'Can this be the same Gill who used to be so socially minded and who worked so closely with us?' But," said he, "It is the Federal Council that has changed, not I. When I helped them draw up their 1919-20 Steel Strike Report I used to meet with them every night". He seemed proud of the Report.

The Federal Council and the Steel Strike

Of course, anyone who has studied and kept records on the subject knows that the Federal Council has never changed since the day it was organized and adopted the Social Creed of the Churches praised by Lenin! Also, anyone familiar with the history of the 1919-20 Steel Strike, led by communist Wm. Z. Foster, and of the stench raised by the Report on it issued by radical Federal Council leaders, would be as shocked as I was to hear him admit this!

Red Bishop McConnell of the Federal Council of Churches, who headed the Commission in whose name this Report on the 1919 Steel Strike was issued, has been active in leading communist activities to date. In "Fight" magazine (6/37), the magazine of the Communist Party's American League for Peace and Democracy, is an article entitled "Steel - By Bishop Francis J. McConnell as told to Dorothy McConnell". (His daughter and a staff member then of this Communist magazine and organization.)

In this article McConnell mentions his conversations with Communist Wm. Z. Foster who agitated this revolutionary 1919 Steel Strike embracing 356,000 men and says: "At the very end Fitzpatrick and Foster came to us and asked us to try our hands at arbitration with the United States Steel Corporation...Mr. Gary refused to arbitrate. The men on strike, he declared, were 'Bolsheviki' and better out of the mill...With the publication of the Steel Report by our Commission, some time after the close of the strike, a howl went up from steel officials and their sympathizers all over the country..."

The Dept. of Justice on the Strike

A Dept. of Justice report, issued 5/6/20, which is before me, concerns this same Federal Council Steel Strike Report and states that investigators were sent to Pittsburgh, to quote, "for the purpose of investigating the steel strike and that all of these investigators were more or less radicals and that they were utilized by W. Z. Foster...in presenting his side of the strike." It also covers the records of various professional Red agitators, involved along with Federal Council reds like Harry Ward, recent head of the Communist Party's American League for Peace and Democracy in whose magazine Bishop McConnell's above article on the strike appeared.

Gill said that his next brochure would be entitled "The Jew is My Neighbor" and that he would send me a copy. He has since done so with the request for my comment. I asked him whom he considered the outstanding anti-Communist Jews. He mentioned Judge Jos. M. Proskauer and his American Jewish Committee and one Simon Lazarus of Columbus, a department store owner who, he said, "gave me $3200 for just one of my projects. In fact," Gill said, "the greatest support I have had through the years has been from the Jews!"

Gill's Pamphlet Razzing Lindbergh

The full title of Gill's booklet which he sent me is "The Jew is My Neighbor - An Open Letter to Uncle Sam's Problem Child - Charles A. Lindbergh". It reads like a B'nai B'rith harangue and is as full of inaccuracies. It berates Lindbergh and his "mischief-making Quislings", denounces the current Senatorial inquiry into motion-picture war-propaganda, upholds "aliens" and, copying red Birkhead's Friends of Democracy line says: "For your information, Charles, a recent national survey of Fifth Column elements in the United States showed approximately 700 groups definitely listed as belonging to the Fifth Column...However, not one of the important and typically Jewish Organizations is in the Fifth Column Roster." (Baloney: Zionist collectives financed from America are as Marxian in practice in Palestine as Sovietism.)

In his booklet Gill upholds the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (long officered by officials of Kuhn Loeb & Co. whose late head, Jacob Schiff, financed the Russian Revolution) which has poured millions of dollars into Soviet Russia in recent years and is interlocked with the American Jewish Committee. Gill also quotes in his booklet a speech by Judge Proskauer, executive committeeman of the American Jewish Committee.

Gill's Leading "Anti-Reds"

The American Jewish Committee is tied in with every radical project. The Associated Press, 6/18/38, announced the union for united action of the American Jewish Committee, the (Zionist)American Jewish Congress, headed by red Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, the pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith and the socialist Jewish Labor Committee (of about a half million members, now financing the carrying on of Red underground work abroad).

Proskauer's fellow members of the executive committee of the American Jewish Committee include: Samuel I. Rosenman who writes F.D.R.'s speeches; Lewis L. Strauss, Kuhn Loeb & Co. partner; Frederick M. Warburg, another Kuhn Loeb & Co. partner; George Backer, executive of the Socialist-Communist American Labor Party and head of Ort Federation (affiliated with the Joint Distribution Committee), son-in-law of the Kuhn Loeb & Co. partner, Jacob Schiff, who financed the Russian Revolution, and owner of the New York Post; Maurice Wertheim, director of the red "Nation" and of the pro-Communist Freudian-filth center, the New School for Social Research, who married Alma Morgenthau, sister of Henry Morgenthau, Secy. of the Treasury; Louis E. Kirstein, vice-pres. of Wm. Filene Sons (whose late head Edw. A. Filene set aside not only a million dollars for socialist cooperative stores but set up the radical Twentieth Century Fund). Kirstein is director of F. & R. Lazarus & Co., of Columbus, signed propaganda appeals for Spanish Reds, is executive committeeman of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, sponsored by B'nai B'rith and the Federal Council of Churches, is a fellow member, with F.D.R. and Willkie, of the radical American Hebrew Medal Committee which has bemedaled such Red-aiders as LaGuardia, F.D.R., etc. Kirstein sat at the head table at the banquet at which alien-born Marxist-minded Felix Frankfurter, who has "master-minded" the Red movement through the American Civil Liberties Union, etc., for over 20 years, was presented with the Ford Hall Forum gold medal for 1939.

Proskauer is also one of the sponsoring board, along with leading Reds, of the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom, Alvin Johnson, head of the pro-Communist New School for Social Research being vice-president, and the chairman red Thomas Mann (See p.60 of my book THE ROOSEVELT RED RECORD AND ITS BACKGROUND for his Moscow-sponsored committee).

A letter bleating over the suicide of Ernst Toller, Jewish Communist and a former leader of the bloody Soviet revolution in Germany, which asked aid for the "many like him" who could carry on "just a little longer" with help, was sent out by the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom, in 1939, with Proskauer's name on it as sponsor.

The American Hebrew, 9/19/41, reported: "...The American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish Labour Front, and the B'nai B'rith are combined in studies, although the Congress has established its separate bureau. They work in emulation, and not in conflict...American Jewry realizes that during the war - and probably for years after - it is the trustee of the destiny of our people in Palestine and of the remnant of our people in the continent of Europe."

Gill's Booklet Ranked With B'nai B'rith's Stuff

The Jewish Sentinel which, according to its masthead, is "A Weekly Newspaper Devoted to Jewish Interests", gives its entire editorial page, 10/23/41, to rhapsodizing over Gill's booklet, "The Jew Is My Neighbor", headlining it "A MOST PRAISEWORTHY REPLY TO LINDBERGH" and urging the "widest circulation" for it, "that it may take its place alongside the compilations by the Council Against Intolerance in America" (a radical Jewish front co-chairmaned by George Gordon Battle, Earl Browder's attorney friend), "the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith and others". Copious quotations from Gill's booklet, included these maudlin lines to Lindbergh: "My friends - at least some of them - insist that I should hate the Jews. But, I don't."

Why misrepresent Lindbergh as hating the Jews or wanting anyone else to hate them because he said truthfully that, as a whole, American Jewry is, understandably, urging U.S.A. involvement in the world war, and that in this campaign "their greatest danger to this country is their large ownership and influence in our motion pictures, our press, our radio and our government".

This very Jewish Sentinel which denounces Lindbergh as "anti-Semitic" for saying the above has been unceasingly yelling for U.S.A. war involvement. While it would certainly be un-American if Lindbergh opposed any loyal American citizen because of race or creed, it is also un-American for any citizen to give greater loyalty to any foreign country or to any racial element at home or abroad than he gives to America and its whole people.

The same Jewish Sentinel, 10/9/41, in an ecstatic editorial tribute to the Red-aiding, world-wide Zionist leader, Justice Brandeis says: "It is to the everlasting credit of Justice Brandeis that he remained loyally Jewish" and Brandeis' services to the international Zionist racial cause are extolled as an "inspiring record of loyalty to his people and his people's cause".

Brandeis held that every Jew must "Organize! Organize! Organize!", must "stand up and be counted" as a separate race. But that policy makes for ill-feeling when the interests of a country in which Jews enjoy citizenship conflict with the interests of such Jewish international racial solidarity as he advocated. This unfortunate racial blindness was foretold by Scripture and makes the study of Biblical Prophecy the only clear guide to current events.

Zionism is Marxist in Theory and Practice

Zionism, while frequently acting as a rival, is just as Marxist as Stalinism. The Zionist cooperatives in Palestine are carried on along socialist Soviet lines, as I observed in 1939, with religion of any kind largely omitted and 85% of the workers organized in the Histadrut Labor organization affiliated with the red Socialist International. As Scripture foretold, Jewry is returning to Palestine in unbelief.

From Palestine, recently, "leaders of all factions of Palestine Jewry" joined in broadcasting their praises to Moscow, according to the Jewish Examiner

(10/3/41) which stated: "Isaac Ben Zvi speaking on behalf of the Jewish National Council (of Palestine) said that 'Russian Jewry was and remained for us the cradle of Jewry's liberation'. Emphasizing that he voices the sentiments of a half million Jews, Ben Zvi stated: 'You brethren in Moscow...we follow with adoration the Russian heroic struggle..." (And so on) Ussishkin, "one of the fathers of the Zionist movement in Russia" praised Russia at length as the land of "full equality" for Jewry, where "the Jewish bent back has grown straight", etc.

The same issue of the Jewish Sentinel which editorially rhapsodizes over Gill's anti-Lindbergh pamphlet, reports (p.9): "A message of encouragement to the Jews of Soviet Russia was addressed this week by the American Jewish Congress" (ally of Proskauer's American Jewish Committee) "and the World Jewish Congress and transmitted through the Soviet Embassy in Washington".

A dear, kind, self-sacrificing patriotic woman friend of mine in New York told me how Gill, on the pretense that he needed to borrow a dollar from her (!), came to her apartment and pumped her at length concerning her anti-Red friends, associates and activities. Another patriot reported a similar experience.

The Conference at Nashville

Will Rogers always said, "All I know is what I read in the papers" but I am glad that that is not true in regard to all I read in the papers about myself! I spoke, Oct. 9th, for a great Christian Conference held in Nashville in the tabernacle of Rev. Sam Swain, where I have spoken before, and met many fine people afterwards. Rev. Love of Birmingham, who was present while newspaper reporters, hostile to the conference, interviewed me, with a twinkle in his eye remarked next day: "I keep thinking about the way you handled those reporters. They came determined to smear and discredit you but they came up against something they did not expect and went out looking so mild I have to laugh! The reporter most opposed to you told Rev. Swain afterwards 'I certainly disagree with everything Mrs. Dilling says but I have to give her credit for being one of the most sincere persons I have ever met.'" Aside from some personal jibes and some errors, you can see by the enclosed reproduction that these boys could have done worse by me. At any rate, accustomed as I am to being flayed, anything less appears almost as flattery.

Don't Worry - I Am Used To It!

Even in the patriotic camp, as in all others, there are always a few "kitty cats" who prefer gossiping and creating dissension to uniting in a common cause. Friends, the past week, have been writing me with kindly anguish over such imaginative bits circulated about me as: that I am "afraid" ever to go to Washington again; that I left the last time "weeping"; that I lecture for the Anglo-Saxon Federation (I have never even attended one of their meetings), etc., etc.

I have frequently heard the contradictory tales that I am a Catholic trying to disrupt the Methodist Church (when I expose a Red Methodist); that I am an anti-Catholic seeking to destroy the Catholic Church (when I expose a Red-aiding Catholic); and "Trigger" Norris, the preacher who killed an unarmed man and has been convicted recently of malicious libel, as he clipped over to England and back to do a "Willkie" for his B'nai B'rith friends, recently "placed" me in an insane asylum, in his own paper, that is.

After Norris printed the invention that my friend Dr. M. F. Ham, the great evangelist, had been maligned by me and other "Nazis" and had turned against us,

Dr. Ham to correct this 'phoned me long distance and has written two friendly letters denying that he had been maligned or had changed one iota from the stand he took in his conversation with me and in his letter which I quoted on page 5 of my "Trigger Norris" article.

Dr. Ham' letter to me, 9/29/41, closes with: "Trusting that you are still coming out victorious in your conflict against the anti-Christ..." His letter of 10/15/41 closes with: "The trick to discredit me is not new - I have had to fight it all in my entire ministry. The fact that you and I have the same convictions on this matter does not mean that either one of us is a tool of the other, or that we are tools of some alien powers, as some people would try to make it appear. Jesus had to fight the same subtle conspiracy...As far as I am concerned, there has been no change."

Changing "Line", Not Purpose

My unswerving course in support of Christianity and Americanism for the past ten years has been to labor to seek then make facts available to patriots to enable them to detect and combat subversive "boring from within" all churches and organizations. "It is later than you think."

The many Red Marxist parties keep confusing our best people with their changes of "line". The same Norman Thomas who, as director year after year of the communist Garland Fund which issued the communist New Masses magazine, has supplied every phase of the Red movement, the same Norman Thomas who split his party by insistence on Socialist Party united front with the Communist Party (for militancy, some feared, would illegalize the Party) now has become a "Saint" to many patriots because of his current opposition to U. S. involvement in the world war. But he is a Marxist just the same.

The Communist Party, which abruptly reversed its fight-the-axis "collective security" policy as soon as the Nazi-Soviet pact was signed, as quickly reversed to warmongering when it was broken.

The desertion of Stalin's Communist Party by flocks of Jewish intellectuals, following the Nazi-Soviet pact, indicates no change of heart but merely resentment at Stalin's temporary "betrayal" of Jewry and their intention to build Marxism along "local" lines here in the U.S.A. under their own, instead of Moscow's leadership.

Lyons Carves Up The Stalinists

It takes one Red intellectual to "artistically" carve up another Red former comrade. Eugene Lyons, Russian-born Jewish socialist, is one of the present luminaries of the Jewish-socialist "Social Democratic Federation" and a contributor to their paper, the New Leader, along with ex-Stalinist Benjamin Stolberg, Trotskyite Max Eastman, etc. I bought Lyon's book, "The Red Decade", after the Bertrand Russell lecture, in the red Rand School book store which is featuring it.

Of course, Lyons detests me and my anti-Marxist kind as much or more than he does the Stalinist rivals in the Socialist field. The article which he printed about me in American Mercury (July, 1939) by radical Milton Mayer was a frantic attempt to discredit me by ridicule. No one can accuse me, therefore, of being motivated by a desire to aid Lyons in the sale of his book by expressing the opinion that it is delightfully witty, brilliantly written and, with few exceptions, accurate. Nothing has ever amused me more. Page after page, he humorously relates what I have so laboriously catalogued, writing with a pen dipped in the acid of ridicule and sarcasm, which must irk, no end, the Stalinist comrades he knows so well from the inside. But how few reading his knife-like expose of Stalinism would observe how carefully he shields Marxian socialism itself, as well as certain pet Marxist devotees who have now, like him, decided to shed Stalin or are workers in his own camp.

For example, in poking fun at former gin-drinking middle class Bohemians who became Stalinists, he says (p.129): "With the egocentric yowling of their species they rushed into intellectual slumming as heatedly as they had gone in for slummy intellectualism...A lot of budding and a few overripe novel writers suddenly became interested in the plain people and got all puffed up over their new virtue as though Upton Sinclair, Jack London and a lot of others had never written." (Marxist Jack London's appeal for revolution appears in my ROOSEVELT RED RECORD AND ITS BACKGROUND and if the Soviet-kissing Upton Sinclair has ever failed Moscow that is news!) On page 134, Sinclair Lewis, radical Thornton Wilder (see my books), are similarly shielded, etc.

Lyons' comments on proletarian Red Culture convulsed me as I have had to deal with so much of it. Anyone who has seen an exhibition of Red "art" must laugh at the truth in his description (p.128) of Stalinist artists "portraying in paint, words, stage characters or dance rhythms - the idealized 'workers' of their fond imaginations; tall men with immense biceps, and squat women with buttocks like mountains, robust and rough-hewn and chanting of sweat and blood, or revolution and dialectics."

Help 100% Americans!

How it hurt to have to "blow" $3.00 to buy Lyons' book! With his Socialist connections he will sell plenty of copies. I want to give time soon to finish reading, then reviewing, the fascinating book by Dr. Bessie Burchett, a real 100% sound American Christian who has suffered martyrdom in Philadelphia and been retired from her important teaching position because of her patriotic opposition to Red influences in the schools. You cannot afford not to read her new book, her own interesting, vital, first hand experiences! It is only $1.50. She knows whereof she speaks and writes on the subject of "Education for Destruction". You should send for it and get others to do so. Her address is 5200 Warren St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Get Lyons' book from the public library but pay Dr. Burchett for hers. No Reds of any brand will help distribute her book for she shields no phase of Marxism! Therefore, she can only expect to be smeared as a "Nazi".

Jan Valtin Not Anti-Marxist

Jan Valtin (Richard Krebs), the former Soviet O.G.P.U. agent who so luridly assails Stalinism and Naziism in his book "Out of the Night", is being featured and vociferously upheld by the Socialists of the Social Democratic Federation and the Socialist Party of Norman Thomas, in whose affairs and Conferences he participates. He is married to and has a daughter by "a Rabbi's granddaughter - Abigail Harris, whose father was Adriel Harris the son of the late Maurice H. Harris of Temple Israel." (Sentinel, 9/4/41)

U.S. Trys Stalin's Rivals

One of the silliest things going on now is the trial by the U.S. Government of 28 Trotskyite Communists because of their Red revolutionary designs on our government, while the Stalinist Communists, their more powerful rivals with identical aims, are being feted at the White House and given taxpayers' Lend-Lease millions!

The Russian War Relief Comedy

Perhaps you saw the full page newspaper advertisement in the New York Times (10/10/41) of the Russian War Relief Benefit to be given by Russian War Relief, Inc., 535 Fifth Ave., New York, at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 27, 1941, seat prices ranging from 28¢ to $10 each. To quote it: "Russia's men and women are revealing themselves to the world - brave, proud, stalwart!...The dollars you give in this cause are dollars given to freedom's cause. Our Government is providing all possible military supplies to the Government of Russia. The people of America will stretch out a helping hand to support the people of Russia..."

"THESE EMINENT AMERICANS ASK YOUR HELP ON BEHALF OF THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE" is the heading at the bottom of the page above a list of over 300 names. And what a pot pourri they are of Communists and "fellow travelers", Marxists of every shade and hue, radical educators, writers and churchmen, New Deal politicians, Jewish capitalists, stooges of the radio and motion picture industry, and representatives of the whole pack of Soviet-loving Socialists and "liberals", who so obediently reverse themselves on any policy whether from urging radical-pacifist disarmament of the U.S.A. to warmongering or anything else, when Moscow, the spiritual "Fatherland", pushes the button. Red Cross delgn. to Russia; Orson Welles; Dr. Henry Nelson Wie-man, U. of Chgo. Divinity Sch.; Albert Rhys Williams; David Rhys Williams; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise; Mary E. Woolley, Mt. Holyoke Coll.; Efrem Zimbalist, and many more.

The inconsistency of these people calling butcher Stalin's cause "freedom's cause" equals the inconsistency of Eugene Lyons (in his "Red Decade") breathing only reverence for the "old Bolsheviks" including Trotsky who with Stalin gained power by slaughtering and torturing millions in the Red Russian Revolution which Lyons calls "the greatest single event in our epoch" (p.237 -) while he flays Stalin on the same pages as the greatest monster of the centuries for "purging" thousands of his fellow "old Bolsheviks" by the same murder and torture treatment.

Reds Razz Halifax

The news report of how things got out of hand at this Russian Benefit at Madison Square Garden is droll. To quote:

"Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, stood mutely before a throng of 22,000 persons at a Russian war relief rally in Madison Square Garden tonight while Soviet sympathizers shouted: 'Open up a western front!'

"Continuing against a rising storm of taunting cries of active British military aid for the Russians, the long, lean English diplomat declared that aid from the two governments - the United States and Britain - would be forthcoming. As the hubbub increased in volume, Halifax was forced to strike out the next to the last paragraph and final sentence in his prepared speech.

"New Party Line Slogan

"'Open up a western front!' is the new party line slogan of the local communist organization and supplants the policy of 'the Yanks aren't coming!' that was the policy when the Soviet-Nazi nonaggression pact was in force several months ago.

"Party workers hawked 'Open up a western front!' buttons on the street corners around the garden, while girl vendors sold the Daily Worker, official communist newspaper, at the entrance. A big banner with the words 'Knit for Russia - register here' hung in the outer lobby.

"Inside the huge sports arena, 11 huge red flags, with the golden hammer and sickle emblazoned on them, hung from the balconies. They were threaded in between the United States stars and stripes, British Union Jack, and the flags of the nations conquered by Hitler.

"Pictures on Background - of Pink

"Suspended from the ceiling and dangling 50 feet - right over the ring where a battery of lights usually glares down on perspiring fistic gladiators - was a gigantic, four-sided, hollow 'V', the British victory symbol, with photomontage pictures of grim soldires, sailors, starving children, grief-stricken mothers, plastered on a background of pastel pink.

"There was just a hint of the coming trouble when Joseph E. Davies former ambassador to the U.S.S.R. and chairman of the President's committee on war relief agencies, started to speak. There were scattered cries of 'open up a western front!' but they subsided when a stentorian voice from the gallery yelled, 'Save it for Halifax!'

"Davies pictured Russia as 'standing in the breach, on the frontier of civilization, fighting for us'..Russia had built up her armies and 'cleansed her house of treason' while democracies slept, Davies declared. In fact, every one had slumbered except President Roosevelt, he remarked...

"Yells Delay Halifax's Start

"When Halifax was introduced by Edward C. Carter, national chairman of Russian War Relief, Inc., he had to wait several minutes, nervously fingering his script, while the yelling demonstration went on. The cries came from the upper reaches of the galleries, from the 25¢ seats (28¢ with federal tax) while the occupants of the $10 boxes in the arena looked up and glowered.

"There was applause when the British ambassador said that never before in all history had any nation shown 'a finer spirit of resistance' than had Russia, but someone in the gallery yelled: 'You didn't show it, but we did!'...

"Quoting Abraham Lincoln's words about the Civil war dead - 'The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here' - Viscount Halifax stirred up some more noise when he said that in the present situation 'what counts now is not what we say but what we do.'

"'Hurray - Western front!' shrieked a heckler and the gallery began to chant: 'Western front!'

"Viscount Halifax hurried along and wound up with a declaration that altho there had been differences in the past, in the future the British and Russian would 'march side by side.' That touched off the chant from the balconies louder than ever and the ambassador stepped off the platform.

"Others who appeared on the program included: John Green, Scottish born president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America; George W. Thompson, British trade union representative; Genevieve Tabouis, French political journalist; Benny Goodman, 'swing king'; Paul Muni, the actor; Richard Wright, Negro author of 'Native Son'" (a Communist best-seller); "Andrei A. Gromyko, soviet charge d'affaires; Clark M. Eichelberger, national chairman of the interventionist organization, Committee to Defend America, and Dr. Frank Kingdon, British born chairman of the New York City chapter of the prowar, Fight for Freedom, Inc." (Chicago Tribune, 10/28/41)

The only way to keep out of war now, it seems, is to join the British Army.

A Hoax

In my August letter I mentioned the tears Mary and I dripped when news came that one of our five regular contributors, upon whom I have, too long, depended to pay the girls and rent, was unable to continue and we lost $25 per month.

A little later, referring to this, a very "sweet" letter of encouragement arrived, signed by "Alice Haynes Jordan" of 1045 Park Ave., New York, enclosing a cheque for $250 drawn on the Harlem branch of the Corn Exchange Trust Co. She urged me to carry on and she would send the same every three months. On the strength of it, as prices were rising, I gave the girls a little raise and almost took on needed help.

We were elated with relief and surprise until my letter of thanks and literature sent to the "lady" was returned with 17¢ postage due and marked "party very lives in this time of peril. May God strengthen and uphold you. Keep up the fight!"

From United Mothers of Cleveland whose wonderful group I addressed enroute home from Wash., D. C.: "Mrs. Stanley has just returned from Washington. A certain Senator said 'we need a few more Dilling's down here', and we want to assure you that we will stand 100% behind you if and when you go to Washington."

From a Colorado Springs, Editor: "Your letter and bulletins received, and I have enjoyed the same very much. Never read anything better, and hope you continue the good work, though it appears that opposition to the wild orgy of spending of the warmongers is almost useless. The charges are often made that it would be impossible to get together a more dangerous gang of political crooks than are now in control of the government. Roosevelt gets whatever he wants, and his bold and frightful demands are a plentiful as the sands of the sea. The war demagogues, those willing to slaughter American young men for gold, are in full control...If the Roosevelts - husband, wife and children - Knox, Stimson, Willkie, Pepper and their kind were put on the firing line the war moves would end. Some think old Carter Glass and old George Norris should be in a private institution, instead of Congress. Perhaps senility is the trouble."

From Baltimore: "Clouds are gathering! Wish you were again in Washington. Need you! And a million more. Turning point has not come. Question still remains - when? If not soon, will be too late! Only hope then - resurrection from the ashes. May He keep us and give us strength to carry on for God and Country."

From San Diego: "We 'Westerners' here on the Pacific Coast are wondering what has happened to your facile pen for we haven't had anything from it for all too long a time."

From Babson Park, Fla.: "I wish to tell you how glad I am to get in personal touch with your work. We have had a copy of the older edition of your Red Network for years and have read it and marked it up until it is a sight."

A Warren, Ohio, lady writes from Washington: "Somehow I can feel the spirit of your dear self as you and your group so bravely fought for a Cause but I am conscious of this mighty monster and now our boys to be sent over, I cannot help crying out 'Lord where art thou?'...I have a solace in thinking and sending this line...Sincere appreciation for all literature and your effort for Country and Religion."

From Muscatine, Iowa: "Things are breaking so fast now that it is difficult to keep up with the situation. I note that Winchell and his gang still try to discredit you and everyone else who is opposed to war. His favorite anthem seems to be, Onward Christian Soldiers. We hope you will be able to continue with your work."

How They Long To Shut Me Up!

As this bulletin is being finished a letter arrives from Wash., D. C., signed by Lawrence M. C. Smith, Chief, Special Defense Unit, Dept. of Justice, stating: "Upon receipt of this letter will you please advise the Department whether or not your organization falls within any of the types described in Section 2 (a) of the enclosed Act."

Section 2 (a) of the Voorhis Act reads as follows: "The following organizations shall be required to register with the Attorney General as hereinafter provided:

"(1) Every organization subject to foreign control which engages in political activity;
(2) Every organization which engages both in civilian military activity and in political activity;
(3) Every organization subject to foreign control which engages in civilian military activity, and
(4) Every organization, the purpose or aim of which, or one of the purposes or aims of which, is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure, or overthrow of a government or subdivision thereof by the use of force, violence, military measures, or threats of any one or more of the foregoing."

I am replying as follows:

Dear Mr. Smith:

In reply to your inquiry as to whether my "organization" falls within any of the types in Section 2 (a) of the Voorhis Act, I would say "No", unless the New Deal holds that my ten years effort to uphold the Republic and oppose Marxism and dictatorship now classifies me as the agent of the "foreign" Government-in-Exile-of-George-Washington.

While I have no "organization", in my research and writing which is purely for religious and educational purposes, I am assisted by three, sometimes more, lovely Christian women and girls. We would be glad to have you come in at any time and look us over to decide whether or not we should be registered as an army or military organization.

While we do not know how to shoot, wrestle or do Jiu Jitsu tricks, as yet, we are willing to learn whatever you care to teach us in that line; you might find the work agreeable as one of the girls is a pretty petite blonde and another a striking brunette.

Sincerely,

(Mrs. A. W.) ELIZABETH DILLING

A FEW CAN SAVE A NATION

Corrupt cities and nations have been saved by God if only a few persons in them showed themselves worthy of saving. "And the Lord said, If I find in Sodom fifty righteous, then I will spare all the place for their sakes." (Genesis 18:26)

And so, today, may the repentance and sincere love of God which inspired the immortal psalms of David regenerate enough Americans to save our nation.

"The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, There is none that doeth good." (Psalm 14)

"Save me, O God; for the waters are come in unto my soul. I sink in deep mire, where there is no standing: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me. (Psalm 69)

"By terrible things in righteousness wilt thou answer us, O God of our salvation; who art the confidence of all the ends of the earth and of them that are afar off upon the sea:" (Psalm 65)

"Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? Or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity? Unless the Lord had been my help, my soul had almost dwelt in silence." (Psalm 94)

"Judge me, O God, and plead my cause against an ungodly nation: O deliver me from the deceitful and unjust man." (Psalm 43)

"The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect." (Psalm 33)

"I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust...He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shall thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler...For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." (Psalm 91)

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered." (Psalm 32)

"Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him. For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust." (Psalm 103)

"Say among the heathen that the Lord reigneth;...he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth." (Psalm 96)

"For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your heart." (Psalm 95)

BY THE GRACE OF GOD AND YOUR HELP NEITHER MY OFFICE NOR OUR CAUSE SHALL FOLD UP!

Sincerely,

Tabernacle Speaker Says New Deal Rule Worse Than Nazis'

Education, Government, Newspapers, Etc., Etc., Flayed by Mrs. Dilling, 'Red Network' Author

There is more dictatorship in the United States under the administration of the New Deal than there is in Nazi Germany, Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling of Chicago said last night after addressing a packed house at the Dixie Tabernacle on Fatherland Street.

Mrs. Dilling, fiery speaking redhead who is an outspoken critic of alleged U. S. Communists and author of "Red Network," made the charge of a dictatorship worse than Germany's in an interview. Earlier in her speech she had said that a Communist sits in "every key spot of the government."

Upon being questioned about her dictatorship statement, Mrs. Dilling said that it did not mean she was pro-Nazi.

"No, don't misquote me. I do not want a Nazi rule here," she insisted, "but I'm telling you that we have a dictatorship that regiments much more closely than Germany.

"If it were a choice of the lesser of two evils, I'd take the Nazi rather than Red Russia, though," she declared. During the interview she declared that Walter Winchell, who has accused her of Nazi leanings, was "a liar."

An isolationist who bitterly and outspokenly fought conscription and the Land-Lease Bill, Mrs. Dilling was asked how she condoned following Senators Nye and Wheeler after having branded them as Reds.

"I can't help it if radicals agree with me on some things," she shot back.

"Call me an isolationist if you must, I am saying that we have got to stay out of Europe."

Her closing remark in the speech was that "soon there will be confiscatory taxation in this country, there will be rioting. We must pull this country out and make a Christian nation of it. You aren't getting the truth, the press is controlled. But we will win this fight without losing a million lives."

Mrs. Dilling's speech was marked by gestures and mimicking sarcasm.

RELIES ON BOOK

Her verbal bolts at Communism were taken mainly from her book, "Red Network," and followed the course of a lecture she made in Nashville more than two years ago.

She deviated from her anti-Red harangue long enough to make severe charges of moral laxity at the University of Wisconsin where "the hospitals are full of girls who are in trouble."

The charge against the university, she said, was based on a report she got from her son after he visited his sweetheart at the school.

"But he told me things that aren't fit to print about what's going on at that school.

"You would be amazed at what is going on in colleges—your own Southern schools are full of it—they are polluted messes and for every child converted in your church, you have a thousand being rid of their faith in the colleges. They are ful lof atheism, Marxism and free love," she shouted.

ASSIGNS CAUSE

This condition, she said, was due to "progressive education" being taught by such men as John Dewey and Bertrand Russell.

"Education is wallowing in the mire," she said before returning to her vitriolic tirade against Communism.

She charged that the Labor Temple of New York was one of the "hotbeds" of Red activity and that the Y. W. C. A. was one of the great forces in the country for furthering Communism. Mrs. Dilling exhibited a Soviet newspaper which she said had half a page praising the joint program for Communism of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

what I did and did not say!

Author Labels Administration 'Communistic'

After blasting critical remarks at modern education in large American universities, Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, author of the "Red Network," told several hundred persons at the Dixie Tabernacle last night that, "the Roosevelt administration has done more for Communists than any other administration in the history of this country."

The speaker said that Reds are infesting American institutions of higher learning and that many of the best known educators are teaching Communism to the present generation. She added that, "there is plenty of it here in the South."

"Everybody knows just how lousy this Tennessee Highlander Folk School (at Monteagle) is," she said, "for it is filled with members of the Communist Party."

As she kept her audience on edge with her sarcasm and mimicking of instructors in large American colleges who preach Communism, the speaker said, that "dark days have got to come to this country if we don't follow the teachings of the Bible." Following this she made her attack on the New Deal.

"Why there is bitter poverty within sight of the White House. Conditions are terrible in Washington and the administration continues to aid the Communists. Why you can't do much about it for this crowd in Washington. If you do anything against the New Deal, they'll crack down on you."

The speaker charged that Red organizers or their representatives "are in every key workshop of the Government," and then paid her respects to honest ministers who are misled by Red leaders.

"I'm against some of the preachers running around with these Communists and atheists sticking their necks out when these birds (Reds) would gladly cut their throats," she said.

Bitter attacks were also made on John Dewey of Columbia University and Bertrand Russell, of New York, both of whom Mrs. Dilling branded as "disciples of Communism."

"You would be amazed at some of the things that's going on in some of the college where Communist instructors are preaching the Red doctrines," she said. "My who thinks he is engaged to a l girl up at Wisconsin Univer has told me some things that going on in these colleges wouldn't be fit to print."

The speaker said that immor was running rampant in many the larger universities and t was nothing uncommon for dents to stay out all night, ing and visiting honky-tonks.

"These progressive educatio cators are preaching free lov no family life. Many of th lege hospitals are filled with in trouble. I know what I'm ing about and nothing that I ever said or written about conditions has been refuted," said.

Mrs. Dilling compared A to Sodom and Gomorrah wh flayed the American method ing Russia in the present wa Germany. "America is goi way of Sodom and Gom France, rotten as it was, f any nation that gets away the Bible and follows the C nist gang will do the same. on is not too far from this thing, especially when we a ing billions out to aid R sia."

The speaker said she was dictatorships of all kinds h is plenty of it being practic here in the United States. I that Walter Winchell, th commentator who has been of Nazism, "has lied ru about me and I have call and told him so."

Mrs. Dilling said she l branded as an isolationis she is against the Ru and because she forgo lease bill.

Christmas Round Table Letter, 1940

Dear Friends:

I cannot, with sincerity, wish you a Merry Christmas, nor, except as a prayer, echo the Angel chorus of old with "Peace on earth, good will towards men!" in a world in which there is no peace at home or abroad. We are told in Scripture of the hypocrits who cry "peace! peace! when there is no peace", and that "Where there is no vision, the people perish".

My sincerest prayer is that you, who have vision and knowledge of America's critical state, may "gird on the whole armour of righteousness" and, before it is too late, "bring light to them that sit in darkness and in the shadow of death".

Rather than carefree merriment we need, this Christmas season, to dedicate ourselves anew to the Divine Saviour, the Light of the world, whose birth we celebrate and whose teachings inspired our Constitution, form of government, and Christian schools and colleges now tottering under anti-Christian Marxism, while planned war dictatorship impends, ready to knock American liberty out of existence the first time, as proposed, that an American convoy is deliberately sent across mined European war areas for that purpose. Then through "emergency decrees" or the smears of the enemy, your mouth and mine will be nailed shut! I would ask, this Christmas, that He:

"Wake in our breast the living fires
The holy faith that warmed our sires,
Thy hand hath made this nation free,
Serving her is serving Thee!"

With 80,000,000 out of over 130,000,000 Americans listed by the Year Book of the Churches as belonging to no church, Christian spiritaul awakening is needed if Marxism and its Red Modernism is to be defeated. If ever Bible prophecies were fulfilled and the Book being proven, it is today.

At Denver

I just returned from Denver where I addressed, December 9th, a great Prayer and Prophecy Conference sponsored by some twenty nine sound anti-Marxist ministers. It was held in Rev. Harvey Springer's tabernacle which holds about 2400. It was crowded and people stood at the back. Long after I had finished, autographed so many Bibles my right had was going on strike, had spoken personally with over 100 people who gave me their names and addresses asking to be placed on my mailing list (I must find the postage!), still people were standing in groups, stirred and talking.

"Look at them! They won't go home", remarked dynamic Rev. Springer. I only hope it is true that, as one minister put it, "You have dropped a thunderbolt here!" One woman said, "I never really knew what Communism was before. I never heard so much in my life as I have tonight". "There!", I remarked to an informed minister friend standing by, "Her kind are the hope of the nation! If everyone knew what you and I know and still refused to do anything the fight would be hopeless, but the man-in-the-street really does not know, and there seems no way to let him know through the general controlled press and radio". As Rev. Springer remarked from the platform, even an interested minister like himself lacks the time for laborious research like mine.

I had two memorable meals at the hospitable Springer home, and being the only woman seated at a long table full of ministers felt guilty to let dainty little Mrs. Springer and her girl helpers wait on me instead of my helping them.

"Termites" is an excellent new pamphlet written with a pen dipped in blood by Rev. Springer (25¢, obtainable from him, Englewood, Colo.).

The "Common" People

Truth has a power all its own. Nineteen hundred years ago "the common people heard Him gladly". Today I find it is the "common" people who hear truth gladly while the rich strive to remain undisturbed, unless they can rush for a war contract or make the social headlines.

A dear little old man in a well-worn coat, who came up on the platform at Denver, insisted on giving me a dollar bill to use for the work. I felt so touched at his spirit of self-sacrifice, with his own evident need, that I tried to hand it back to him saying, "Can you really afford this?" But he insisted. Of that spirit was pioneer America built! God bless him and his kind!

I recently heard from one of America's great billionaires who has used my data and received special reports from me for years. Brilliant in his own business, he is smug with worldly power, surrounded by kow-towing "Yes" men. I was surprised that he had missed, so he wrote, getting my irritating releases in recent months. I had decided to cease disturbing him with them. He had repeatedly written protesting that, while he found my data and factual material valuable and accurate, the language I use in my books, articles and letters is "too violent". (Of course, he would not sacrifice a discarded razor blade to keep my work going, any more than any other millionaire!)

We Hav'nt Time

That attitude reminds me of the Victorian father who sternly reproved his small son for exclaiming and gave him orders, no matter what the circumstances might be, to always first weigh his words carefully then slowly count ten before speaking. The boy came into the living room one day where his father was warming his back to the open fire and seeing that his coat tails were on fire started to warn him but his father sternly stopped him saying, "Count ten slowly before you speak". So the boy had to say, "One-two-three-four-five-six-seven-eight-nine-ten-Father, your coat tails are on fire!"

We cannot wait for the plutes to awaken. In every nation they awaken too late. Jesus Christ said it was harder for a rich man, trusting in his own material power, to see and hear the spiritual truths necessary to enter the Kingdom of Heaven than for a camel to go through the eye of a needle.

At the Office

I have only four girls for office work. One is kept busy typing on correspondence, stencils, etc., another, the little "Bruiser", on filing and indexing press clippings, mimeographing, wrapping literature, etc., another doing special listing that would take forever to catch up with, the fourth, with general filing, etc., to do, cannot possibly do the reading, marking and card-indexing of the tons of radical literature necessary to keep the records going and documented knowledge of changing movements available. I need at least five more girls. If I ever get them I believe they will have to be paid by the sacrifices of a large number of poor people to whom a dollar bill is more difficult to spare than $5000.00 would be to many.

We had to have steel cabinets, ten extra shelves, and two huge bookcases to the ceiling that cost, on special sale and secondhand, over $175. Last month the paper and supply bill alone was $93.60, plus ink, etc., rent and light - $77.50. An addressograph, with an allowance for an old useless donated one, cost with stencils over $100. It will save endless labor. The only thing in the office that costs nothing are my donated services. But, of course, many think "nothing" is more than I'm worth at that!

Our Peril

To quote the Chicago Tribune (12/13/40) report of the speech of Mr. James S. Kemper: "Should the United States enter the war, he warned, some 'closely regulated socialistic system' would be fastened onto the country permanently!", and he called "interventionist groups 'our greatest peril!'".

Feeling that the time might be very short under the Third Term in which we may speak or act freely in any way to preserve American freedom, I took a flier last month and bought and distributed copies of the excerpts from Lord Lothian's own speeches revealing the European power politics and incessant injustices on all sides which caused George Washington to sagely warn the U.S. to stay out of entangling alliances with any European power.

Although I had some disagreeable financial dealings with the publishing company, which my lawyer husband finally straightened out, the response to the book was marvelous. Mrs. Campbell, a dear Christian woman, brought volunteers to help stamp and address. Lettersof appreciation came in from coast to coast. Contributions almost met the cost of distribution and put hope in my heart.

Read Scribner's Commentator

After marveling at the November issue of Scribner's "Commentator", I intended to start this letter off with the plea: "Run, don't walk to the nearest news stand and buy a copy!" But when I went to buy some extra copies myself, I found none left. I was amazed that anything so good could be on public sale, knowing the way Left Wingers have taken over America's "leading" magazines.

Night before last, my capable, crusading friend, Catherine Curtis of Women Investors, Inc., 'phoning from New York for some data, said she had word from inside Washington that within the coming month F.D.R.

would attempt in some way to get more emergency dictatorial power for himself. She is evidently right. On the radio, driving down to the office this morning, a news commentator reported that Roosevelt is hurrying to meet Cordell Hull to discuss declaring a U.S.A. "full emergency, which would place all industry under government control". The commentator added that, of course, this would be just for "psychological effect" to speed up the "defense" program. (O, yeah!)

I am taking another gamble and have sent for a thousand copies of the November issue of Scribner's "Commentator". We will have to buy envelopes, stamp and address them. I hope anyone receiving a copy who can afford to pay for it (or to add anything extra for those who cannot) will do so and thus aid in getting out such needed facts. If you have already read this issue, put your copy to work by passing it on. If not, sit down and read Sen. Holt's article, also "Seat at the Cinema" about such Communist films as "Pastor H all" in which Mrs. F.D.R. "prologues". Pastor Hall was written by Communist Ernst Toller, leader of the bloody Bavarian Soviet in 1919 and imprisoned, 1919-25, by the German republic, and honored as one of the 120 leading Jews of the world by votes of world Jewry in 1937, and active in Communism until he committed suicide in the U.S.A. last year. Read, also, "Japan Our Commercial Prize", also "America in a Hostile World" and "British Propaganda - 1940 Version".

Propaganda in the Next War

I brought from England, in 1939, that amazing, daring book which revealingly, brilliantly analyzes the propaganda methods used to get the U.S.A. into the first World War and the methods to be used to get us into the next one. These are now in action! It is called "Propaganda in the N ext War", by Sidney Rogerson, edited by Liddell Hart, well-known military correspondent of the London Times. My copy is all marked up. I value it as I do my two front teeth and have refused to even loan it to anyone because, while it has been quoted in the Congressional Record, I thought copies were unavailable in America. Now I hear, by chance, from Mr. Seward Collins, who operates, probably, the only Right Wing book shop in New York (231 W. 58th St.). He says he has 30 copies ($1.75 each) but does not know whether they are still in print in England or could be brought here now if they were. I hope you are lucky enough to get one of his thirty copies.

He says: "It was Boake Carter who discovered the Rogerson book and devoted a column to it on New Year's day last year. The quotations were so magnificent that I feared it would be suppressed the moment word got back to London how Carter handled it, so I spent hours and a young fortune trying to telephone Carter or his home or his secretary, that holiday, to learn the name of the publisher. I finally located one of them and got a cable off for some copies..."

"I am delighted that you think as I do that the Rogerson book can do good in keeping our country out of the war. Everybody in the country should be made to read Chapter Four of that book. It was an awful indiscretion on Rogerson's part - and also the editor of the series Liddell Hart - but a great blessing to us". Mr. Collins adds that he believes no American firm would re-publish this book and tells why!

In England Now

An idea of English conditions and what we may expect under war measures can be gained by reading the long-established, anti-Red, weekly "Patriot" of London whose splendid editor, Mr. McDermott, I know personally. (The "Patriot's" address is 10 Essex St., W.C. 2, London, England; yearly price 15 shillings. A foreign Money Order for 15 shillings costs $3.04 at any Post Office at present exchange rates.)

The 10/31/40 issue cautiously reports Parliament's revolutionary act in voting itself power for another year without elections by the people and, under the title "The Hoax of Democracy" says: "Hardly ever does any Minister, though Mr. Bevin is easily one of the worst offenders, make a speech here without stating that this country in its Constitution is a Democracy when everyone knows that in reality we have a Constitutional Monarchy. Presumably it is supposed to be pleasing to the working classes to tell them that they form a Democracy, and if it is more especially a Socialist misstatement it is one that Conservatives never take the trouble to correct, and they do not recognize that it is a hoax. This same hoax of democracy is employed in the U.S.A. both by Republican and Democratic politicians..."

Our U.S.A. form of government is a Republic not a democracy, the difference being between government by checked and balanced Constitutional law and representatives, or government by direct "mobocracy" which, historically, has always been the forerunner of chaos and dictatorship. The "Patriot" in the same issue (p.411) points out: "When we have only 24 per cent of the electorate going to the poll, as was the case in Central Southwark at the beginning of the year, there is a clear indication of the voters' loss of faith in Parliament as constituted in those days..."

A letter appears in the same issue carefully protesting that denial of petitions for Writs of Habeas Corpus under the 1939 Emergency Powers (such as F.D.R. wants) to Admiral Sir Barry Domville and "in the latest case of Mr. George H. Stock, Liverpool solicitor...not to say clandestine imprisonment" as "contrary to law".

Will England Be Socialized?

The 11/21/40 issue points out that "If there is anything valid in the argument that we are a democracy and that in any real sense of the words we 'govern ourselves'" then the present suppression of comment is a disservice to the nation in preventing all exposure of war blunders. For "as never before in our recent history Parliament has been reduced to a mere dummy and is no longer in any sense representative, whilst the Press, for the most part, has ceased to function as an expression of independent views" and, concerning the Socialist Cabinet Ministers Herbert Morrison and Mr. Bevin, "there is an uneasy suspicion that... they are almost as eager to usher in the Socialist revolution, which they hope to be imminent, as to win the war. They make no disguise of the fact, and one cannot help admiring their candour, just as one regards with anything but admiration the dumb-dog attitude of the great Conservative Majority, which with scarcely a word of protest or dissent, allows them to prepare their revolutionary program".

While invitation to delegates to the Communist Party convention to be held in Manchester January 12, 1941, are being sent to 25,000 organizations, as reported in the same issue, meantime British Christian patriots, world war heroes like Capt. Ramsay, Conservative Member of Parliament, whom I heard speak in England with magnificent soundness and patriotism, who have attempted to protest alien Jewish control of the British press and war contracts, remain in jail as "anti-Semitics" without formal charges, trials, Habeas Corpus or "democratic" rights of any kind.

"Union Now"

Hore-Belisha, Jewish, Algerian-born Cabinet power, as spokesman for England, is joined by our eager American profiteers and itching Marxists in loudly urging "Union Now" and a joint U.S. and English citizenship, they being enthused with the idea of uniting in war efforts and permanent control our Marxist-run New Deal regime with one of the same sort running England, with all dissenting mouths firmly clamped shut for "national defense".

Were the Marxists to be thrown out of the saddle in England, the tune of the American pro-British press would change to hostility as quickly as it did toward France when the French Vichy government started cleaning out its Marxists and alien "refujews" from key positions.

Not only were the New Deal "works" put on Ambassadors Cudahy and Kennedy when they spilled some revealing truths, but the powers of Hell more and more are going to be turned loose on anyone who dares try to awaken the American public, before it is too late, with actual anti-Marxist facts. They will be smeared as Fifth Columnists and Nazis, pictured as writing to Hitler weekly, framed in any way possible, and imprisoned.

Who Really Controls the Catholic Pulpit?

Father Coughlin made the fatal "mistake" of exposing irrefutable facts on Kuhn Loeb and Company aid to the Russian Revolution and of asking religious Jews to join him in opposing the subversive activities of Reds and of atheistic radical Jews. (The latter, themselves, claim a million members organized in just two Red Marxist groups in the U.S.A., the Jewish Labor Committee, Socialist, and the Jewish People's Committee, Communist.)

So, I was told by an authentic Detroit source, recently, Father Coughlin not only is barred from the radio but forbidden to write a line for his paper "Social Justice", to preach a sermon in his own church or to talk to any group except the babies on threat of excommunication. Thus hamstrung, he is to take an indefinite leave of absence in January to go into the muzzled silence which was threatened him by pro-Red anti-Christian B'nai B'rith and by, so my informant said, Elisha Walker, partner in Kuhn Loeb and Company, when he visited Father Coughlin in his home and warned him that Kuhn Loeb and Company had loaned money not only to Archbishop Mooney (Father Coughlin's superior) but to the Pope!

Truth on the Scaffold! Wrong on the Throne!

Special magazines and pamphlets such as Friday's "Unbelievable",

"Treason Incorporated", etc., are being issued by Reds to smear every anti-Communist as a Hitlerite despite all evidence to the contrary. The time is ripe for Christian defense forces to organize legal aid to force these filthy sheets to retract their lies or take the legal consequences. Even dishonest methods are used to secure names of reputable people as supposed sponsors of these publications. One of the nation's great patriots, Mrs. Grace Brosseau, was horrified when I wrote her that her name was included in the "Wake Up America Committee" which issued "Treason Incorporated". She replied:

"Dear Mrs. Dilling:

"I am always glad to see your signature to any missive and so was glad to get your letter this morning but I nearly had heart failure as I read down the page for I don't know one blessed thing about any booklet called 'Treason Incorporated' or that my name is in any way attached thereto."

She explains how a former patriotic local committee she was on had disbanded and was told that Wythe Williams had arranged in a trip to Washington (to B'nai B'rith headquarters?) to have its work taken over and financed by some "proper government officials".

Mrs. Brosseau continues: "If some group has taken over the work and continued my name on the committee I know nothing about it...I have never seen or heard of the booklet to which you refer. Of course, you and some of the other fighters have been on the pan for so long and those of us who are in sympathy with your work have always had the one stock answer - 'Prove that they are wrong,' which has never been done. I heard Dorothy Thompson in a public lecture denounce you all as Nazi agents who received your instructions direct from Hitler!! That sort of thing I just laugh off for the more you do the worse the Reds and the Pinks hate you, which to my mind simply proves your effectiveness. So long as they refrain from taking you for a ride and dumping you in the lake I don't worry one bit what they say about you personally.

"Goodness knows, there was a time when I got mine but now I make the Daily Worker only about once a year which I don't feel is very complimentary! Evidently I am no longer regarded as harmful, and that rather hurts my pride!

"...I will try to get hold of one of those booklets and see what it is all about and when I get the facts will see that my name is removed from the rolo of any reconstructed organization, which I suspect this is.

"Always sincerely yours,
(Signed) Grace L. H. Brosseau"

The "Wake Up America Committee" listed in "Treason Incorporated" are a choice bunch which include Upton Close and Hendrik W. Van Loon of THE RED NETWORK, radical Raymond Gram Swing, W. L. White, son of Wm. Allen White of THE RED NETWORK, Emil Lengyel, active Red Hungarian "refujew", Eugene Lyons, Socialist Russian-born Jew, and numerous other Jews like Gabriel Heatter who look for Hitler on every Clipper plane to take over New York single handed, plus, possibly, some like Mrs. Brosseau who are unconscious of being listed as members and sponsors of libelous lies and rot.

Oklahoma City

I was delighted to get a letter from Oklahoma City authorities who, like police departments from coast to coast, use my books, and to whom I had sent some data, saying that they won their Criminal Syndicalism trial against the Communist Party organizers for whose defense Mrs. Roosevelt had sent a check for $25.00! This is a real victory and a precedent to hearten patriots of the entire country! It must have been a tough victory to win for Democratic officials in a Democratic community forewarned publicly that the Roosevelt regime was on the Red side. Hats off to them!

I spoke two nights, November 20 and 21, in the Oklahoma City Shrine Auditorium, for my friend Rev. Harry Clarke of Sioux City, Iowa, who was conducting services there, and met a number of the splendid citizens and authorities who attended both nights. More than 70 people asked to be placed on my mailing list there and I have since received a fine letter from a group planning to really study the subject of the "cancer" in America's body politic.

New Communist School

Dean E. N. Comfort ("comfort" to the Reds) of the School of Religion (!) of the University of Oklahoma has been making, as the Communist Party's Daily Worker, 4/23/40, put it, "vigorous defense of civil liberties for the Communists". Active also in their defense has been "Rev." Paul S. Wright, Oklahoma City Presbyterian minister, and "Rev." John Thompson of the First Presbyterian Church of Norman, Okla.

I have before me the announcement of the opening, October 21, 1940, at Mena, Arkansas, of a Southern New Theatre School, by the communist New Theatre League, the American section of Moscow's International Union of the Revolutionary Theatre (See p.162 of my book, THE ROOSEVELT RED RECORD AND ITS BACKGROUND). It states that its revolutionary plays put on "in every part of the country" reach "over one million people annually. New Theatre Schools, reaching over five hundred students every year, in Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and New York, train leaders for these and other community theatres. New Theatre League also operates the only publishing agency for progressive social plays in America; it has discovered, sponsored, and distributed the following important dramas: Waiting For Lefty by Clifford Odets; Bury The Dead by Irwin Shaw; Private Hicks, Black Pit and Rehearsal by Albert Maltz; Cradle Will Rock by Marc Blitzstein; Don't you Want To Be Free by Langston Hughes; Plant In The Sun by Ben Bengal; Day In The Life Of A Secretary by Kleinsinger and Hayes."

The list of sponsors of the communist New Theatre League and Southern New Theatre School on this leaflet includes the names of leading Communist agitators and writers of lewd blasphemous literature, also Rev. John Thompson, mentioned above, and two other "Reverends", Einar Oftedahl and Owen Whitfield, Orson Welles and the filthy-minded Negro Communist, Langston Hughes, etc.

One doughty local Justice, Clem Brown, finally "hooked" the little communistic Commonwealth College at Mena, Arkansas (see my books), on an anarchy charge and for displaying the Communist Soviet Russian hammer and sickle, fining them $2500. Now its affiliate,

Highlander Folk School at Mounteagle, Tennessee (See my ROOSEVELT RED RECORD AND ITS BACKGROUND), is also, at last, meeting with some patriotic opposition. William B. Spofford, Earl Browder's fellow-officer of the Communist Party's treasonable American League Against War and Fascism (See my books), complains of this opposition to Highlander Folk School in the Episcopalian weekly "Witness", 12/5/40, but, to quote, says hopefully "this Friday evening, December 6th, in Washington, a large number of people are gathering to give their support to Highlander. Among them will be Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Cordell Hull, Secretary and Mrs. Harold Ickes, Mrs. Francis Biddle, Mr. Archibald MacLeish and Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot. Both Horton and Dombrowski" (of Highlander) "will be on hand - will be, that is, unless the Grundy County Crusaders prevent it."

Wherever Red treason raises its head the Roosevelt crew are on hand to boost it! Archibald MacLeish is Roosevelt's Red appointee as Librarian of Congress. Records on the others are in my books.

E. A. Ross (See my RED NETWORK) as national representative of the Communist-aiding American Civil Liberties Union has been on the job in Oklahoma aiding the imprisoned Communists (Daily Oklahoman, 11/16/40) also the Red "Rev." (meaning Revolutionist?) Owen Knox, of the Detroit branch, who spends his time fighting for Communists there. His paper is sold at the Communist Party's book stores.

Mothers of the U.S.A.

I wish you could meet two sound, smart, crusading Detroit women who literally made the knees of the above "Rev." Knox knock before the crowded Detroit City Council with their plucky opposition to his activities. They are Mrs. Rosa Farber, a deceptively cool, mild appearing, blue-eyed blonde, and zippy, brown-eyed little Mrs. Beatrice Knowles. (Mrs. Knowles' husband reminds me of my own. He is so actively interested and whole-hearted in aiding their efforts.) I recently spent some delightful hours with these ladies. They organized the Mothers of the United States of America (535 Book Bldg., Detroit), the ones, you remember, who hung in effigy in Washington last summer the loud-mouthed, war-mongering Claude Pepper, darling of anti-Christian, pro-Red B'nai B'rith under whose auspices Pepper spoke in Chicago.

They have protested their children's rotten Red sex books in the Detroit schools. They hold meetings of 300 or more weekly. They are not only sound in purpose but soundly informed, not sound asleep like most Americans. I am for them 100% and I hope you can cooperate with them and send for their literature at the above address. I am ready to help them anywhere, any time. There are other "Mothers" anti-war outfits infiltrated with subversives. Theirs is not.

They brought out and showed me a copy of the "Chicago American" dated Nov. 11, 1918, the day the Armistice was signed. The very top headline read, "RED FLAG OVER KAISER'S PALACE". Below that is the headline, "FIGHTING HAS STOPPED", and below that, the headline, EVERYTHING FOR WHICH AMERICA FOUGHT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED - PRESIDENT WILSON."

When we fought to make the world safe for Democracy (in its present sense used to mean Communism), the first fruit of our efforts was the hoisting of the Red flag over the Kaiser's palace. What will it be next time?

Winston Churchill

Before Winston Churchill embarked on his present efforts to drag us into this world war, he said, as quoted in the Congressional Record 6/19/39: "America's entrance into the" (world) "war was disastrous not only for your country" (United States) "but for the Allies as well, because had you stayed at home and minded your own business we would have made peace with the Central Powers in the spring of 1917, and then there would have been no collapse in Russia, followed by Communism; no break-down in Italy, followed by Fascism; and Naziism would not at present be enthroned in Germany. If America had stayed out of the war and minded her own business, none of these 'Isms' would today be sweeping the continent of Europe and breaking down parliamentary government."

Think that over!

Letters pour in here showing that many people realize that the debt and dictatorship involved in our entering the war may end our American form of government forever. However, one has to be wary about joining organizations.

"Peace" Organizations

Active now, for example, are: the Communist's Peace Mobilization outfit, the Socialist's Keep America Out of War committees, the "speckled" America First Committee, and the, I believe, perfectly sound Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee, 77 West Washington Street, Chicago, William J. Grace, chairman. This last committee my husband has joined. All that I know of it is good. Its principles could not be improved and I see not a subversive on their committee.

America First Committee

Undoubtedly, many fine people have joined the America First Committee because of its laudable opposition to William Allen White's "America Second" war-mongering "Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies". For twenty years White's idea of defending America has been to nurse the scorpion Reds in her bosom. He boasted in the New Republic, 9/21/38, that he had always joined any organization looking toward closer relations with Russia. He headed the Communist-aiding American Civil Liberties Union conference held in New York City, 10/13-14/39, at which Earl Browder was a speaker. This scarlet conference was sponsored by several Republican politicians who know better but are willing to kiss any Red foot who might give them power, such as Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Its Rosenwald Connections

Heading the "speckled" America First Committee is Gen. Robert E. Wood, general manager for Rosenwald's Sears Roebuck and Company and trustee of the Rosenwald Fund of which the chairman is Lessing J. Rosenwald (supporter of radical Survey Associates and national committeeman of the America First committee), and the president of the Rosenwald Fund is Edwin R. Embree, one of the committee (see the facsimile, p.174, THE RED NETWORK) that set up the treasonable American League Against War and Fascism, later called the American League for Peace and Democracy until recently driven under cover by publicity.

The indefatigable Red-aider Mrs. Roosevelt ... a trustee this year of the Rosenwald Fund. While Lessing Rosenwald remains the Fund's chairman year after year and radical Edwin R. Embree its president, the trustees, colored and white, always include as pretty a bunch of Red-aiders as one could find.

Glancing down the list one sees Pres. Robert M. Hutchins and Charles H. Judd of the Univ. of Chicago and Howard W. Odum of the Univ. of North Carolina, all sponsors (1935) of the Moscow State summer school set up in Russia to teach American students Communism, with atheism scheduled as the first course of the day in their catalogue; radical Alfred K. Stern, formerly married to Marian Rosenwald and now to Martha Dodd who is active in the Communist movement; Charles S. Johnson, active Negro radical; self-avowed Socialist W. W. Alexander; M. O. Bousfield, Negro medical director of the Rosenwald Fund, endorser of the Communist Party's National Negro Congress and board member of the Communist-aiding American Civil Liberties Union, Chicago branch, 1940, etc., etc.

Some America First National Committeemen

To return to the "speckled" national committee of the America First Committee, headed by Rosenwald's Robert E. Wood, one sees the names of Henry Ford, certainly a 100% American, also Hanford McNider, active Legionnaire, whom I have met and consider 100% also, and there are probably others like them, unknown to me, also on the national committee; then there is Gen. Hugh S. Johnson whom one can scarcely classify since he is a "humdinger" on the "Right" side Monday and working with "Left" groups, plenty of them, Tuesday.

Then there is Kathryn Lewis, daughter of and executive assistant to John L. Lewis, who is still a "fellow traveler" of the Communist Party line, as the Communist current press reveals, despite his fine American-sounding speech for Willkie, which I heard. Kathryn Lewis' photo seated between two Negro heads of the Communist Party's National Negro Congress at a dinner to honor them appears in the Daily Worker, 3/19/40; her defense of Spanish Reds appears in the Daily Worker, 3/22/40, etc., etc.

Another is John T. Flynn, past and present long-time Marxist despite the excellent flings he took at "Comrade" Roosevelt in his recent book. He is (1940) contributing editor of the revolutionary socialist "New Republic", classified by radical Benjamin Stolberg as "a Stalinoid weekly". As member of the administrative committee of the City College of New York, he stated that he voted for the appointment of the atheist, Red peddler of sex-filth, Bertrand Russell, and his praises of Russell appear in the New York Times, 3/1/40. He is sponsor of the American Association for Economic Freedom, headed by William Allen White and composed of the nation's leading Marxists, with a program calling for socialization of the U.S.A. and complete State control of every individual and article produced through a State licensing system. Flynn's radical activities could fill a book.

Another, Anton J. Carlson (listed in THE RED NETWORK) of the Univ. of Chicago, has a Red record a mile long. He was sponsor of the Communist Party's "Browder for President" club of the Univ. of Chicago (Daily Worker, 10/13/36); member of the medical advisory board of the Communist Party-backed Consumers Union (Daily Worker, 6/8/39); of course he has been active in support of Red Spain; sponsor of the communist American Student Union; serves on the Chicago committee of the American Civil Liberties Union; spoke for the Communist Party's Jewish Peoples Committee (Communist Party's Daily Record,12/3/38) which claims a half million members in the U.S.A.; spoke in defense of the Communist Party's Chicago Workers School; backed the American Civil Liberties Union inter-racial concert featuring four Negroes at Rockefeller's International House at the Univ. of Chicago (inter-racial mixing is a Communist fetish used for revolutionary purposes); he is a national committeeman of Red Leon Birkhead's Friends of Democracy, 1940; he is Chicago sponsor of the Emergency Rescue Committee which announces it raised over $50,000 during October and November, 1940, to bring Red "refujews" and propagandists, unwanted in Europe; over to the U.S.A. (see back cover, New Republic,12/16/40). Pres. Hutchins, Dorothy Thompson, Elmer Davis, Wm. Allan Neilson, Raymond Gram Swing, George Shuster, etc., are helping with the glad work. (What Europe ousts, we get!) The Daily News, 12/10/40, reported that addressing the Emergency Rescue Committee meeting was "Miss Ingrid Warburg of the Hamburg branch of the noted Hamburg family" the international bankers united by marriage with the Kuhn Loeb & Company international banking partners who financed the Russian revolution.

The wife of Clay Judson, another national committeeman of the America First Committee, is a sponsor of the same radical Emergency Rescue Committee (12/9/40).

Edward L. Ryerson, Jr., a rich, Pink social "uplifter" is another. He is vice-chairman and director of the Inland Steel Company, headed by P. D. Block; a director of the radical socialistic Survey Associates, supported heavily by wealthy Jews; he was awarded the Rosenberger and Benj. J. Rosenthal medals; he is trustee of the Univ. of Chicago headed by Hutchins, a hot-bed of radicalism; he is president of Chicago Commons, another radical center; committeeman of the American Committee for Christian German (Jewish) Refugees along with leading Reds and Pinks; as executive committeeman of the National Conference of Jews and Christians sponsored jointly by pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith and the radical Federal Council of Churches, he announced that their program was to be extended to six additional cities in 1941 and radio broadcasts increased from 377 to 454 (Chicago Daily News,12/13/40).

Another, Prof. Albert W. Palmer, supported Socialist Douglas Clyde Macintosh (see The Red Network) as a professional pacifist; in 1938 he welcomed the very red National Religion and Labor Foundation conference (see The Red Network for their atheist Soviet cartoons); praised the C.I.O. and assisted in conducting the memorial service, with Communist Party organizers on the platform, in honor of the Communist-led rioters at the Republic Steel plant (Communist Party's Midwest Daily Record, 5/31/38); board member of the Chicago branch of the Communist-aiding American Civil Liberties Union; is active in radical Negro and white inter-racial affairs; opposed teachers' oaths of loyalty to the constitution; etc.

More Leftists

Robert L. Bliss, promotion manager of the extremely Left "PM", and Sidney Hertzberg of very red "Uncensored", have been engaged for promotion and publicity work by the America First Committee and are now in Chicago preparing for the meeting tonight (December 18) at which John T. Flynn is to speak. Anton J. Carlson was a recent speaker.

Have Mercy!

If you do not get all of the personal reports and information requested of me, have mercy! I am so swamped with such demands, some of which would require more hours of labor than there are in a day or a week! Debonair, well-meaning patriots daily pen little notes asking me to look up and write for them the equivalent of the world's history and see that they get it not later than tomorrow morning. Rarely does anyone enclose anything, but a few estimate that $1 should be ample to pay for work equivalent to compiling a special dictionary, $5 a special encyclopedia set.

However, I do try, and want, as I have for years, to hit the high spots and aid everyone who is actively on the battle front, whether or not they can afford a stamp toward upkeep of the office. Who could resist the following?

"Dear Madam:

"I am a Presbyterian minister. Some time ago, I sent for your work 'The Red Network' (recent edition). I regard this as a work of very great value, and wish to thank you for it. It is most valuable for reference.

"I have a special purpose in writing at this time. On page 224, you give a blasphemous poem by Langston Hughes, beginning: 'Listen Christ, You did alright in your day, I reckon'. Hughes was educated in Lincoln University, a school supposed to be under the care of the Presbyterian Church, and where I served as a professor for years, both in the collegiate department and the theological seminary. I had Hughes in my class of Biblical instruction. I beg to inquire whether you can surely validate the vile quotation. No longer connected with Lincoln, I have served warning that if the institution honors him with a degree, I will publicly expose him. His portrait has just appeared in the 'Lincoln University Bulletin', and I suspect that more is in the offing. Should I show him up, however, my authority is pretty sure to be questioned by the worthless management.

"Greatly appreciating a reply, and being furnished with the facts, I am,

"Yours very gratefully,

"(Rev.) Edwin J. Reinke

"West Grove, Penna., December 10th, 1940"

I replied as follows:

"Dear Rev. Reinke:

"I am delighted that you are crusading for the right. I certainly can back up with documentary proof every statement that I have ever printed. I realize that you need documentary proof in hand for your assertions, therefore I am having a photostatic reproduction made of Langston Hughes' poem 'Goodbye Christ', printed in a Communist magazine 'The Negro Worker', November-December, 1932. Turning over the page next to his poem is the back page of that issue and as we have the monthly issues fastened together, the front page of the next issue is next to it, with its anti-religious cartoon and plea to d..n the missionaries. I am having a photostat, therefore, made of those two pages also. If you are able to meet the cost of the photostats, I will appreciate it. Our funds are skinny and my services are donated.

"I am aghast as I look over the many cards and envelope files we have listing Langston Hughes' Communist activities. I shall select a few items which may be useful to you but could issue a comprehensive report, although this would require many hours of time. For example, he was a member of the editorial council of the communist magazine 'Soviet Russia Today', a magazine devoted to eulogizing Soviet Russia and Communism, in 1937, 1938, 1939, and his name still appears as a member of the editorial council in 1940. He is a member of the national advisory council of the New Theatre League, which puts on Communist revolutionary plays. He is a sponsor of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade (Communist Party's Daily Worker, 2/21/40, p.4), the Communists who fought in Red Spain. I, myself, took pictures of the ruined churches and blasphemous desecrations against Christianity that the Communists committed in every town they occupied in Spain. He writes plays for the Communists' Negro People's Theatre. One was given at the Abraham Lincoln Center in Chicago, according to the Communist Daily Record, 10/25/38. He is active in every branch of the Communist movement and was exposed by the Massachusetts House Report, No. 2100, 5/27/38, p.443, etc. He is author of the play, "Do You Want to Be Free? distributed by the communist New Theatre League, which is the American section of Moscow's International Union of the Revolutionary Theatre.

"In the Communist Party's western newspaper, the People's World, 8/28/40, p.5, appears the 'poem', 'Landing At Havana', a copy of which I am enclosing, with this statement: 'This poem was written by Mayakovsky' (of Soviet Russia) 'in 1926, after a trip to the United States, Mexico, Cuba. The trnaslation is by LANGSTON HUGHES, the noted Negro poet.' The filthy cast of the Communist mind, and of Hughes' mind in particular, is shown by Hughes' translation. I regret to even quote from it but believe that you will need it for your purpose.

"The congregation of Aimee Semple McPherson's temple recently picketed the hotel where Langston Hughes was scheduled to speak and insisted that they would stay on the job until he left, and according to the newspaper clipping, he escaped out the kitchen door.

"More power to you. It is an insult to Christian Americans to honor such a man in any way.

"Cordially,

"(Mrs.A.W.) ELIZABETH DILLING"

Honoring Blasphemy

The anti-religious cartoon, on the cover of the Communist magazine printing Hughes' blasphemous "Goodbye Christ" poem, pictures a Negro forced to his knees before the Cross by "imperialism". Below, are the words "DOWN WITH THE IMPERIALISTS AND THE MISSIONARIES!"

Nineteen hundred years ago an anti-Christian Sanhedrin stood ready with silver to dole out to any one of Christ's household willing to betray Him. The same system is in action today.

In case Negro Communist Langston Hughes (whose poetry is also strongly commended by the Y.W.C.A. National Program exchange!) gets his honorary degree from the Presbyterian Lincoln Univ. (a school for colored with a white faculty) you may wish to know how, in this age, Honors and degrees can be won from apostate "Christian" institutions! Therefore I am quoting from Langston Hughes' vile translation featured by the Communist Party's People's World of 8/28/40.

"Landing at Havana

"The steamboat approached, whinnied, blew -...
Having powdered their pimples and washed their good-looks,
Dragging themselves along, coquettishly,
The first class passengers passed the smiling doctor....
The first to pass in a diamond dawn was
The pig-king, Smith.
His pipe stinks a yard away.
Try to touch such a person -
Under the silk of his drawers, under the sheer cambric,
Try to make out his sickness.
'This island gives promise of abstinence. Order a halt!'
The captain saluted, and Smith, syphilitic, disembarked....
The temples of the Negro are throbbing, throbbing,
Tom is stretched out in the hold.
Tomorrow Tom will be vaccinated,
And Tom will go home.
Ashore Tom has a wife...
Meanwhile Tom was bumming around on jobs -...
How could she wait with a hungry mouth?
Tom forgot to love her. Tom left.
He divides his straw mat with the white girls.
She cannot earn anything. She cannot steal.
Everywhere, policemen under their umbrellas.
But Mr. Smith's waning passion is kindled by this exotic.
His body becomes sweaty under his underwear -
From black flesh.
He pushes dollars into her hands,...
She decides definitely, 'No,'
And murmurs, 'Yes.'
Already the decaying Mr. Smith
Is pushing the door with his shoulder.
And the obliging elevator winds them up into a room.
Tom appeared in two days,
Slept with her for a week without awakening,
And was glad there was bread and money,...
But the day came when on his dark skin
The incomprehensible pattern spread.
His children in mother's womb were dumb and blind....
Attention to Negroes became special.
When the flock was gathering, the lean priest
Pointed out this most obvious handbook of morals:
God punishes him and her, that she invited guests.
And the rottenness of black flesh fell from rotting Negro bones.
I did not intend to enter politics with this.
I intended simply to make a little picture.
Some call it - civilization.
Others - colonial policy."

We Are Many!

The cause might seem hopeless were it not for countless letters like the following that pour in from coast to coast:

Dr. Mel Morris, who carries a ton of equipment for his famous pictorial Cavalcade of Christianity which has converted countless people, writes December 15th from Denver: "I wish to assure you that it was indeed a distinguished pleasure to meet you and to know first hand of the vitally important work which you are doing at this critical time. The people are still talking about your wonderful message and I wish to assure you that it was the particular high point of this Western Conference thus far."

Mr. Henry Hewins of Redmond, Oregon, writes: "The discouraging thing is that the people generally appear to be so doped and blinded by enemy propaganda that they have lost all desire to know truth...But we believe there is a Power greater than money Who will save this nation for those who trust Him. May the Lord sustain you, Mrs. Dilling and make it possible for your patriotic and Christian work to continue."

Mr. Ross E. Bowman of Athens, Michigan, on beautiful Bible verse stationery, writes, "I am heartily in accord with your anti-New Deal, anti-Communistic program and truth findings and feel almost in the dark when I don't get them. Tell me, please, the cost of these letters to me per month and put me on the permanent list."

Some "System"!

I had to tell him that my unbusinesslike system is to send letters to anyone really interested, using whatever comes in from those who can afford to contribute for those who cannot and when the cash box is bare - and it frequently is, and things look dark, something, so far, has come along to save us.

The very poor people out of work or on W.P.A. relief, who have sent in their precious mites with sincere prayers for the cause, are what touch and keep me going to slave daily and to take more kicks!

A teacher from Dutton, Michigan, writes: "Please find enclosed one dollar and some stamps. I surely appreciate your letters. It encourages one to keep on fighting. It makes me feel that if you are willing to face the enemy with so much courage I should certainly be willing to help in some way. Many thanks for the book 'Lord Lothian vs. Lord Lothian'. I shall pass it on when I've finished reading it... How much I appreciate your 'Red Network'. I check on speakers at our teachers' institutes...The thing that makes one's heart ache is the fact that some fellow teachers won't even take the trouble to investigate into these subversive activities when the material is presented to them...But we all know we must fight on while there is still hope. I hope with all my heart that you shall keep health and strength to lead us in this fight. I'm sure no one else could fill your place."

Mr. F. C. Miller, a patriotic office worker who distributed 700 copies of my THE RED NETWORK in Akron, writes: "I am so grateful for the gift of the book you sent me by Lord Lothian that I must thank you at once...I am sending you one dollar...I feel sure if a million of these could be distributed it would assure peace in America. Capitalism could well pay you $200,000 per year for your valuable services... Our only hope is in awakening Congress."

A dear Christian woman, Mrs, J. A. Stretch of Minneapolis, writes sending 50¢, saying, "We are old people now. I am 70 years old and my husband 77. He is a semi-invalid having progressive palsy." She closes expressing joy in her faith in God's promised second coming and saying "God bless you".

Mrs. Henry B. Joy of Detroit sends $10 in memory of her husband's interest in my work. He died in 1936 after doing probably the greatest work in exposing the subversive activities of the Federal Council of Churches of anyone in America. I exchanged letters and data with him constantly yet never saw him until Albert and I attended his funeral. His passing, a loss to the nation and the entire cause, brought tears to our eyes.

Are There No American Bridge Designers?

November 7th you heard of the crash of the great $6,400,000 bridge at Tacoma, Washington, previously nicknamed "Galloping Gertie" because of its swaying. Built with Federal W.P.A. and R.F.C. funds it was, characteristically, built and designed by Russian-born Leon S. Moisseiff, listed in "Who's Who in American Jewry, 1938-9" as having been Soviet Commissar of Transportation in Russia, 1929-31.

The program of Marxist ruin is well under way, both here and in England, without clear explanation shown anyone as to why 66,000,000 nose-led Britishers whose government controls an Empire, of some 445,000,000 human beings, which embraces one-fourth of the earth's surface, owing American tax-payers billions borrowed before, during, and after the last "peculiar" World War, should, with assets of some five billion dollars available in the U.S.A. (Chgo.Tribune,12/18/40), now again be calling on the American tax-payers to foot the bill for the present war which was declared by a pressure-run English government; or why, with less than one fourth of its people self-governing, the British Empire should be called a "democracy".

Again the Buzzards Assemble

There may be truth in the general opinion expressed by English people that during the World War the U.S.A. sent them poorly made goods at profiteering prices. The crowd in power in Washington today is much like the old Baruch-Frankfurter War Industries Board crew. Again the buzzards eagerly await their killing on fat war contracts at taxpayers' expense. To quote "America Awake!", by Oscar Brumback (1936):

(p.108) "It is a matter of record, as Col. House, Woodrow Wilson's chief adviser, in his memoirs admits, that despite our professions of fighting 'to make the World safe for Democracy' President Wilson, five months before America entered the World War, had not decided on which side we should fight, stating to Colonel House that we had as many grievances against one side as we had against the other! This was during Wilson's second Presidential campaign with its famous slogan 'He kept us out of War.'...

"In connection with the investigations made by the Senate Munitions Committee, there was disclosed a cablegram to Woodrow Wilson, dated March 5, 1917, thirty days before America entered the war, from Walter Hines Page, the American Ambassador to Great Britain, which states in effect that if we were to protect our business interests, we must join the war as soon as possible on the side of the Allies; that the Allies had lost the war; that it had become extremely unlikely that the United States would become involved; and that J. P. Morgan & Co., and the other international bankers had wagered on a losing horse and made loans to the Allies which would be lost. Ambassador Page urged therefore that the United States declare war to save and guarantee Allied credits...

"the United States with as many grievances against one side as the other, entered the Great War which cost us hundreds of thousands of lives, a billion dollars in interest annually ever since on non-productive bonds required to fight it; a war in which there were 22,000 new American millionaires created out of war profits alone in a conflict which necessitated our appropriating $42,000,000,000 to fight and win it; a war from which we asked nothing and got nothing in return...with thousands widowed, orphaned and bereaved, and countless thousands maimed and broken for life....

France

"Lest our children or our children's children may become involved in the quarrels of foreign nations, let them be taught the whole story of how in 1917-18 we fought 'to make the world safe for democracy.' Let them be told that...we were required by the French Govt. to pay a duty on every can of beans and on every kind of food and war supplies which we shipped into France to feed and equip American armies in France engaged in driving German armies out of France.

"We can recall that, not only did France require America to pay a duty on all food and war supplies shipped into France, but that when the war was over the French Govt. sought to impose a duty on the balance of these same supplies before allowing America to take them out of France. As a result, the United States Govt. 'sold' to the French Govt. these $2,000,000,000 worth of supplies for $407,000,000, which sum never has been paid; and yet France, after keeping what she wanted, sold more than enough of the balance of those supplies to pay for the whole lot. More than that, as a matter of actual fact, as Senator Johnson of California has shown, France realized in proceeds from the sale of these supplies which she did not want, more than enough to cover the sum total, interest and principal, of all she ever paid on her more than five billion dollar debt to this country, on which France welshed in 1932....

England

"Let them be told that for the use of English boats loaded to the gunwales with American soldiers, they charged us from $140 to $180 for every man landed in France to fight their battles. Let them be told that the United States paid France damages even for the ground over which American armies fought and for the damage done to French property by American shells used in driving the German armies out of France.

"Nor is that all. When the United States armies went into France, they dredged her harbors, and rebuilt her docks, in addition to erecting more than a thousand miles of telephone and telegraph lines. It was found necessary to build hundreds of miles of railroads...Today all these contributions to French industrial improvement and development are still in France, being used by the people of France, the first and last cost having been borne by the American people...

"Nor must it ever be forgotten that during the Great War, England borrowed money from Japan and THE JAPANESE GOT THEIR MONEY BACK, PAID

WITH MONEY BORROWED BY ENGLAND FROM THE UNITED STATES. We can also remember that for the $5,525,000,000 worth of additional American commodities bought from 1914-1917 by European belligerents while America was 'neutral,' not a dollar has been paid...

"Before those Allied nations were through, we loaned England $4,715,000,000; France over $5,000,000,000; Italy $2,150,000,000. Twelve nations owe the United States over $13,000,000,000--the principal of which war debts we cancelled--and those nations then refused to pay us even the interest on the money they 'borrowed' for rehabilitation purposes after the war.

International Manipulations

Some day some of the world's international mysteries will be laid bare to millions of horrified dupes. An AP despatch, 12/14/40, reports that Flandin revealed "that the former British and French envoys to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson and Robert Coulondre, failed to let Poland know before the outbreak of the war about proposals by Germany for peace."

To quote the Chicago Tribune, 12/14/40: "Refugees are admitted as quota immigrants and also as visitors on business or pleasure for a limited period. Extensions of the period are readily granted, however, Mr. Roosevelt having stated that no refugee would be compelled to return home." (That is, if Red enough!)

Inform! Organize! Protest!

Christ set forth the threefold duties of a Christian: to God; to family; to government (then represented by "Caeser").

I think the time is at hand for the informed, not only to go out like crusaders, spread literature, speak and inform others, but to organize a Christian pressure party. The American Labor Party, the Commonwealth Political Federations of New York, Minnesota, Washington, and similar "Progressive" parties have concentrated for years on backing Marxist candidates for public office on both major party tickets until these forces now rule America.

We need a pressure party dedicated to supporting candidates on an old or, where necessary, on a new ticket, candidates who will uphold the Christian principles which inspired our Constitution and form of government; who will support a foreign trade policy for the benefit of Americans instead of for the purpose of international meddling with the governments of other nations at taxpayers' expense; who will stop importing farm commodities from the Argentine while taxing Americans to pay farmers not to raise these; who will ban all immigration until our own unemployed all have jobs; who will ban Marxists and Marxist teachings committed to the overthrow of our Christian institutions from public schools and pay-rolls.

We need a pressure party to push politicians as hard to the Christian Right as Marxists push them to the Atheist Left! We need to organize for the Congressional elections of 1942 and for 1944.

Meantime, in the bare hope of avoiding, through Congressional opposition, the fast approaching debacle, you can only get busy immediately and wire, deluge Congressmen to keep America out of war.

I have just talked with Mr. Earl Southard, Secy. of the Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee. He is a dandy and knows what it is all about and is sending me cards to enclose with this letter. Use them! Both he and Mr. William J. Grace, a lawyer, who is chairman of the Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee, are officials of the patriotic Veterans of Foreign Wars. My good friend Father Aubert is active on the Citizens Committee.

For the salvation and happiness of us all I wish you, not a "happy" but a concerned, actively sacrificial New Year!

Sincerely,

(Mrs.A.W.) ELIZABETH DILLING

PUBLICATION FILE

Foreword

Nothing has raised the ire of American and British warmongers more than distribution of the articles and speeches on European affairs of the late Lord Lothian, British Ambassador to the U.S.A., written before he dutifully became chief war propagandist for his government. These, logically, lead one to the conclusion that George Washington's admonition against U.S.A. involvement in Europe's perpetual wars was the soundest advice ever given our Country for the good of our own people.

Last October, before Lord Lothian's death, 12/12/40, (and Washingtonians tell of his unhappiness over the war in his last days), I bought and distributed 4600 copies of a 53-page booklet composed of excerpts from seventeen of Lord Lothian's articles and speeches entitled "LORD LOTHIAN VERSUS LORD LOTHIAN". Afterwards, the Saturday Evening Post devoted an editorial page to these, Mr. William Randolph Hearst two editorials, etc., all of which went from coast to coast.

Since then there has been a determined attempt to smear these writings of Lord Lothian, even to infer that he never issued them.

So, in the Library of Congress, in the Library of International Relations, the University of Chicago Library, and the Chicago Public Library I have checked and secured reproductions of all of the seventeen Lothian articles from which excerpts appear in the booklet I distributed. I found these accurately quoted. The entire context amplifies the sense of the excerpts. Of course Lothian's ideas on the League of Nations, world federation, etc., would be rejected by most Americans.

There is much, in fact, constant duplication of thought and statement in these Lothian articles. Some are so many pages long as to make the cost of reproducing all of them in their entirety prohibitive. However, I am reproducing the entire nine page Lothian article "Germany and the Peace of Europe" from the 11/37 issue of International Affairs magazine (excerpts from which compose chapter 11 of the Lothian booklet), also the entire pages of the Times (London) of 9/17/37 and Observer (London) of 11/27/38 newspapers (excerpts from which form chapters 13 and 16 of the Lothian booklet).

In addition, we are mimeographing from the originals all excerpts in the rest of the Lothian booklet and adding some intervening matter. All page numbers of sources are cited in order to facilitate looking up and checking these.

What Now?

Eighty per cent of our people are opposed to the slaughter of the flower of our young manhood in foreign lands and waters in defiance of F.D.R.'s positive campaign promises to the contrary. Those informed are nauseated at the cant and hypocrisy of calling for the blood and resources of this nation to enforce the "four freedoms" - freedom from want, freedom from fear, freedom of press and speech and freedom of worship - "everywhere in the world" while one may see our own people in any big city searching garbage cans for food; while armies of New Deal "O.G.P.U." sleuths are questioning and snooping on patriots opposed to F.D.R.'s illegal war policies in order to instill fear into their hearts; while freedom of worship is menaced by the La Guardia "canned sermon" system and Col. Early F. W. Duncan, of Lowery Field near Denver, has already arrogantly forbidden 10,000 of our soldiers to attend any church whose pastor preaches against Roosevelt's war policies!

It remains to be seen whether the last freedom - freedom of press and speech - is now to be erased by dictatorship; whether every American is to be successfully smeared with the "Nazi" label who upholds the principles of George Washington or who, like me, dares support them by quoting words of British Ambassador Lord Lothian, distasteful to warmongers. If this last freedom, too, is ruthlessly suppressed, may such suppression act as a clarion call for American awakening!

With our boys, our resources, our liberties already slated for the sharks, what remains for us to fear? Only complacent servitude. Servitude cannot be avoided by submission to it.

A Christian lady writes from Georgia, 10/28/41: "I understand the book of Revelation and the martyring of the Saints better each daily paper that I read. I believe the Saints will be martyred as 'Isolationists' or 'Nazis'. May God richly bless you and yours."

"THE PLACE OF BRITAIN IN THE COLLECTIVE SYSTEM"*#

The League

"Many people think that it has been the League which has kept the peace of Europe for the last fifteen years. This is not true at all. The League has done excellent work and has intervened successfully in various conflicts between minor Powers, especially in the Balkan peninsula. But the fundamental stability of Europe has been ensured not by the Covenant, but by the military preponderance of France and her allies over Germany and the ex-enemy nations." (1) "As soon as it became clear that the United States was going to reject the League, that the Anglo-American Treaty of Guarantee to France against unprovoked aggression from Germany was going to lapse, that even Article 16 was going to be emasculated because Great Britain could not make economic sanctions effective except at the risk of creating a grave crisis with the United States,"(1)

France

"France set to work not only to modernise her own army, but to organise and equip the armies of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Roumania and Yugoslavia, and to enter into military alliances with them, in order to give her overwhelming military preponderance as against any attempt to upset the Treaties of Versailles, of Trianon, and so on, by force." (2)"I think she would have been inclined to do this even if these things had not happened, for the United States would no more have accepted the French view of how peace had to be kept in Europe than the British have done, and France would have remained uncertain whether the Anglo-American Treaty of Guarantee and Article 16 meant real security or not."(2) "European realities were nakedly revealed when France, convinced that Germany intended to evade the Treaty of Versailles, entered the Ruhr in 1923, alone and contrary to the advice of Great Britain, in order to compel fulfilment. And it was, in fact, the experience in the Ruhr which put the party of fulfilment in power in Germany for some eight years, though it also convinced France that reparations could not be collected by bayonets.

"...the French have been attempting with perfect sincerity, to make the League of Nations the instrument for doing what their own alliance system had done, namely give security to themselves and peace to Europe by guaranteeing under military as well as economic sanctions what they call the 'integral' enforcement of the treaty settlement of 1918, except in so far as they themselves were willing voluntarily to make minor modifications in it. They have resisted disarmament by themselves or re-armament by Germany on the ground that the Treaties of Peace were the public law of Europe,...They have done this even though it implied indefinite 'inequality' and defencelessness for Germany in armaments and the forcible perpetuation of the whole treaty settlement, on the ground that the primary condition of peace is the enforcement of law..."

The British

(3)"The British, on the other hand, with equal sincerity, have felt themselves quite unable to accept the French thesis."(3) "They have felt that the Treaties of Peace were both dictated and severe, and required some, though not much, revision by agreement, if they were to become the generally accepted political foundations of a European policy. They have become more and more convinced that there could be no lasting peace in Europe except on the basis of 'equality' in armaments for Germany. They have been unable to persuade themselves that peace could be ensured by permanent enforcement of arms inequality and the treaty 'status quo' on Germany, by any collective combination, however great..."

Defenceless Policy Resisted

"...they have felt that the Nazi revolution in itself has been largely caused by 'inequality' too long continued, and that to convert the League into a system for dragooning Germany into subservience would be to destroy the moral foundations of the League itself.

"The long latent crisis has now been precipitated because the Germans, having been promised 'equality' in December 1932 and having found that for one reason or other 'equality' was delayed and was apparently to be indefinitely postponed, refused to remain 'defenceless' any longer, left the Disarmament Conference and the League of Nations in October last, and have now begun to try to recover equality by re-arming.

"It is a dangerous crisis. The French, realising that it is impossible to get Great Britain to guarantee stability in a re-armed Europe are vigorously trying to strengthen their old system of security by military preponderance behind the Treaty of Versailles with the assistance of Russia and, in a measure of Italy. Failing that, they have been toying once more with the idea of a preventive war. Germany, caught between a stimulated public opinion at home and foreign danger, is trying to make up her mind how far and how fast she can safely go towards equality through re-armament..."

Leave Europe Alone

(4)"My own view is simple. I tried to express it a week or two ago in some letters to The Times. It is this."(4) "We shall never make any progress towards an effective collective system until we separate the world system of peace from the European, and recognise that our place is in the world system rather than the European system,...

"...Great Britain's international position has fundamentally changed. She is no longer the richest Power in the world. She no longer has a paramount navy, because she has conceded equality to the United States and something not very far short of it to Japan. And she is now vulnerable from the air...

"I come, finally, to my conclusions. My fundamental conclusion, as I have already indicated, is that the only way of avoiding a complete breakdown of the League system, the only way forward towards a really effective collective system, the only way of avoiding a return to the crude pre-War anarchy, is to separate the European regional security system from the world system, and that Great Britain should form part, primarily, of the world system..."

(5)"...If we are to make the League a true and effective world League, or to put 'teeth in the Kellogg Pact,' it will be because Europe is left to contrive a regional security system of its own, equivalent to that of the British Commonwealth or Pan-America, and the world League deals with those questions which transcend regional interests and are of world concern...

"...Any European security system will rest, as it has hitherto rested, despite the Covenant, on a set of obligations far more precise than Article 16 or a promise to use sea power. It will be based on an obligation to use prompt military action, if the casus foederis or the need for sanctions arises. And this is precisely the kind of obligation into which Great Britain cannot and should not enter by herself alone. She cannot do so because she will not give to any other Power the right to force her into a European war. She will not do so because the duty of her fleet must primarily be to defend the Commonwealth, and she cannot tie it to European waters in the interests of European stability (apart from British security), if it is needed, for instance, at Singapore. She will not do so, unless the obligation is counter-signed by the Dominions, because she can no longer commit the Dominions to war, and if she was drawn into a war for European stability, some of them might declare their neutrality as the only way of keeping out of the war, in which case the effectiveness of the Navy would pro tanto be reduced. And she will not do so because, unless the United States is also a party to the obligations, to plunge into war without a prior agreement with the United States might be to add to the evils of a European conflict the immeasurably great calamity of an Anglo-American war over the interference with neutral trade."(5)

"...If this is so, the sooner we make it clear that we reject any kind of automatic commitment the sooner will Europe make its own regional system,...My own view is that, if only we do not interfere, Europe will rapidly establish a regional security system of its own, which may well prevent war and lead both to appeasement and to some measure of limitation of armaments in a system of balance before many years are past..."

"PACIFISM IS NOT ENOUGH"*#

The Anarchy of Europe

"For centuries before Bismarck Germany had been the cockpit of Europe. This was mainly due to the fact that Germany itself was divided into two or three hundred principalities. Napoleon reduced these states to about thirty. Bismarck saw that if Germany was to have peace, security, and prosperity she must have unity. But he found that the difficulty in obtaining united action in the old German confederation of sovereign states was insuperable. So he pronounced his famous dictum about blood and iron and by means of three wars united Germany, except for Austria, into a single federated state."

(1)"In doing so he ended what was left of the old concert of Europe. Europe became a mere anarchy of fifteen sovereign states. Inevitably in the interest of self-preservation these states formed groups and alliances. Gradually, after twenty years of dexterous diplomatic jugglery by Bismarck to prevent it, Europe settled down to the system whereby its destinies were controlled by two great alliances - the Triple Alliance of Germany, Austria-Hungary, and a rather doubtful partner Italy, and the Dual Alliance of France and Russia. Alterations in the political structure of Europe to meet the changing conditions of the times could thereafter only be made by agreement between these two groups and every such question came to be judged not mainly by considerations of reason or justice but according to whether a particular proposal increased or diminished the security or the prospect of victory of either of the groups or of the particular states within it, in the event of war. Thereafter every local conflict tended to develop immediately into a general European war. As an inevitable corollary, might became the supreme element in European politics - for the ultimate question in every particular controversy was whether either side was prepared to throw the sword into the scale. This system was called macht-politik or power diplomacy, and arose not from the malignity of this nation or that, though some played it more readily than others, but inexorably from the anarchy of Europe."(1)

"By the end of the century Germany was no longer content with a purely European position. Her union had led to immense economic development. She had become interested in world trade. She became dissatisfied at finding that world politics were being decided by Britain and Japan, Britain and France, or the United States without bringing Germany into consultation. Hence the launching of the German navy Bills by the Kaiser. These Bills were not intended to give Germany supremacy, but, as their preamble stated, to ensure that no decision should be made without taking Germany's wishes into account. Germany, in the old phrase, demanded 'her place in the sun', a phrase which translated into post-war parlance is the word 'equality'. There was nothing wicked about this desire" (2)"in itself. What made it fatal was that European anarchy had led to an alliance system and to an intensity of competition in armaments which turned every international question into a conflict of interest between the groups, rendered it practically impossible to alter the status quo except by war, and made it almost inevitable that any local conflict in which any of the major powers became involved turned instantly into a general European war.

"...Anarchy, not national wickedness, was the villain of the tragic drama which ended in the World War. The most sinister fact to-day is that this timetable has begun to reappear, made immensely more dangerous by the air."(2)

Failure of the League of Nations

"But it requires no argument to show that in fundamentals it has so far failed. It has not been able to secure the adherence of all nations. It has not been able to abate economic nationalism and lower the tariffs and restrictions which have caused unemployment everywhere and destroyed democracy in many lands. It has not been able to bring about all-round disarmament. It has not been able to revise the treaties of peace except in ephemeral and minor particulars. It has not been able to mobilize the kind of strength which would enable it to compel one of the great Powers to conform to that public opinion.

"...Wilson in introducing the Covenant to the Peace Conference sadly expressed the hope that one of the central functions of the League would be to bring about peaceful revision of injustices which war passion made unavoidable at the time.

"But the League has never been able to do this, either under Article XIX or Article XI or Article XV. Reparations have disappeared - but through the pressure of facts, not of agreement. The unilateral disarmament of Germany has disappeared, not by agreement, despite three years of discussion, but by unilateral action. The only important agreed relaxation has been the evacuation of the Rhineland five years before the appointed day. It has never been possible seriously to discuss the Polish-German frontiers, the question whether Austria was to have a free choice as to her own destiny, the duration of the unilateral demilitarization of Germany's western frontiers, the colonial question, the Hungarian frontiers. If there is to be real peace, agreed solutions for some of these questions are essential."

*Same source: p.32.

"GERMANY AND FRANCE"*#
"THE HEART OF THE PEACE PROBLEM"

"The Treaty of Versailles imposed two things upon her."(Germany) "First, a great reduction in territory, a loss of colonies, and heavy reparations. Second, 'defencelessness' against her neighbours through the unilateral disarmament clauses of Part V. of the Treaty. Since 1918 this 'inequality' for Germany has, in fact, been France's 'security'...

"It is, then, 'inequality' that Germany is absolutely determined to get rid of to-day. It involved liability to the Ruhr invasion and to incidents like the present Memel situation. It meant that, in practice, the neighbours of Germany could consult about European problems, while Germany was kept outside the door, and then ask her to 'sign on the dotted line.' They would afford to do this because Germany, normally one of the Great Powers of the world, could not, in the last resort, resist. National-Socialism, which among many other things is a movement of individual and national self-respect, came into being largely to end the abasement of Germany,"(1)"and convinced that she could not recover 'equality' - that is, her rightful place among the nations - except by recovering military power equivalent to that of her neighbours."(1) "That is why, at the first hesitation in October, 1933, to implement the undertaking of December, 1932, to give her 'equality' in a regime of security, she left the League and, after making the offer rejected by M. Barthou last April, proceeded to rearm. That, in her view, is now the only road to equality.

"What is the way out? The central fact in Europe to-day is that Germany does not want war and is prepared to renounce it absolutely as a method of settling her disputes with her neighbours, provided she is given real equality, because it is only equality which will enable her to test whether the pacific method of dealing with disputes can reasonably succeed...He" (Hitler) "goes farther and says that he will sign pacts of non-aggression with all Germany's neighbours, to prove the sincerity of his desire for peace, and that in armaments he asks for no more than 'equality' for Germany, and will accept international inspection if everybody else accepts it too.

"I have not the slightest doubt that this attitude is perfectly sincere. Hitler's Germany does not want war...So Germany does not want war, even about those matters in which she most dislikes what is left of the Treaty of Versailles, and which Europe fears she might try to remedy by war...

"If these are the facts, and I am convinced they are, how, amid the terrible fears and suspicions and hatreds which dominate Europe to-day, are they to be made the basis of an agreement which will convince Europe that they are really going to have settled peace for 10 years and that they can therefore get on with economic reconstruction and the restoration of international trade instead of preparing for an inevitable war? I think the answer rests with the British Government...There is no road, I am convinced, by the method so often pursued, and almost inevitable while Germany was erupting in the National Socialist revolution - namely, that of getting the neighbours of Germany together, agreeing to something they can all accept and then presenting it to Germany on a plate, on the basis that if she refuses it proves her bad intentions and that if she signs she is once more back in a slightly relaxed strait-waistcoat of the Versailles Treaty. Germany has finished once and for all with that system. That was the method of the 'Diktat' of Versailles. And that method is largely what she means by 'inequality.' Equality means that she takes part from the outset in the discussions as to how Europe is to be stabilised on exactly the same terms as everybody else, and with the same kind of power and influence as her equals. Besides, the 'sign on the dotted line' method is the wrong method from the moral and psychological point of view. We are far more likely to interest Germany in the problem of European peace and reconstruction...by treating her as a friend and as one of the European community than as a dangerous animal which everybody approaches with loaded rifles shouting: 'Why don't you show that you are a good European by coming back into the cage?' - a League of Nations which hitherto, from the point of view of Germany, has been little more than an instrument for keeping her disarmed and impotent while evading fulfilment of Article XIX. - the article providing for the revision of Treaties by pacific means.

"...War comes far more frequently from inability to change out-of-date political arrangements in time than from direct aggression. Unless Article XIX. of the Covenant can be made effective the Covenant itself will disappear...

"Take again National Socialism itself. National Socialism is the outcome of a four years' war, the Ruhr, inflation, and two revolutions in 20 years." (2)"It is harsh, brutal, and ruthless. It has none of the Christian quality of mercy which power should show to its opponents when they are defenceless and weak."(2) "But it has been strong enough to give Germany unity where it was terribly divided, to produce a stable Government in place of weak and unstable Governments, and to restore to Germany national self-respect and international standing. One thing, too, about it is not generally understood. It is not imperialist in the old sense of the word..."

"PROBLEMS FOR THE LEAGUE"*#
"LORD LOTHIAN AND THE REAL DANGERS"

(1)"Lord Lothian, speaking at a Liberal rally at Scarborough yesterday, said:

"I am afraid I take a rather unfashionable view about the Abyssinian crisis. So far as it goes, I am entirely in favour of Sir Samuel Hoare's speech at Geneva.

"But if the crisis is not to develop into something far more dangerous we must, I think, deal much more vigorously with the other side of the problem. Italy, I think, has a case against us and against the League - a much better case than she has against Abyssinia."(1) "Neither we nor the League have yet faced the consequences of the tremendous changes which have come over the world since the War.

"In the last century there was practically free migration all over the world, and at least 50,000,000 people left Europe for the New World. In the last century there was practically free migration all over the world, and at least 50,000,000 people left Europe for the New World. In the last century there was in substance free trade in goods, foodstuffs, and capital all over the world. In the last century the British Fleet, being the only large Fleet, was the policeman of the seas. In consequence there was no world war for nearly a century, and few revolutions and dictatorships.

"To-day the nations are living in watertight compartments, with no migration and no freedom for trade, with the result that many of them have got into such tremendous population and economic difficulties that they have resorted to dictatorship to maintain order at home, and most of them are adding to their armaments in order to try to solve their internal problems by action in a foreign field."

(2)"Unless the League can deal, and deal quickly and effectively, with these tremendous questions the Abyssinian issue will be swallowed up by a war about far wider issues, just as the Serbian crisis was swallowed up by a war about far greater issues in 1914."(2) "If the League merely becomes an institution for stabilizing the status quo under threat of sanctions our last state will be much worse than our first. There will be two consequences.

"In the first place, all the dissatisfied Powers - and many of them quite legitimately dissatisfied - will leave the League, will remain dictatorships, and we shall get back to the old fatal alliance system, though one side will call itself the League and the other a combination to compel the League members to share the wealth and opportunity of the world with them.

"In the second place, Great Britain will find itself bound under the Covenant to go to war in order to maintain the status quo for everybody else - because everybody wants to get the British Navy behind their security - but without being able to compel the revision of treaties she may think justly needed."

(3)"These are the real dangers which are inherent in the present situation unless we make it clear that we and the League are willing to consider world problems, including Italy's problems, in a far bigger way than hitherto, as well as deal with unprovoked aggression."(3)

"'OPEN DOOR' IN ALL COLONIES"*#
"LORD LOTHIAN ON ITALIAN NEEDS"

"...If the League is to prove to be no more than an instrument for expanding a local war into a general war between the great civilized Powers it is doomed...

"After the war we suddenly cut off almost all those forms of movement. We cramped the nations, many of them with rapidly expanding populations, into countries that were narrow, unproductive, and with few natural resources. Italy perhaps is the most conspicuous of those countries, Japan is another, and Germany will be to-morrow, and there will probably be others. It is no use pretending that the tremendous problems of the sudden stoppage of world movement do not exist. They are there, and unless we handle them firmly and wisely and in time they will explode in world war, whatever sanctions we create. It is the essential function of the League to deal with these questions, otherwise it will die, because we have allowed it to become an instrument not for settling grievances but for perpetuating a status quo which is every year becoming more difficult to justify.

"...Sir S. Hoare opened the door a little way when he proposed the question of access to raw materials for all nations, but that does not go nearly far enough. We have to go much farther in dealing with both Italy and Germany if we are to have lasting peace. The real questions are a substantial reduction in the tariffs and embargoes which create unemployment everywhere, so as to make possible a development of international trade; the collective reconsideration of the problem of migration; the revision of the War-time mandates, and collective consideration whether there could not be an open door in the colonial territories of all nations." (1)"These are the fundamental post-War problems, and the sooner we begin to discuss them the sooner we shall get away from this narrow head-on collision over Abyssinia which is rapidly becoming one between Italy and Great Britain. The League can mobilize formidable forces against aggression, but it must cease to be an instrument for the maintenance of the status quo and become an instrument by which the interests of all nations can be satisfied by peaceful means."(1)

"GERMANY AND THE RHINELAND"*#

"The Locarno Treaty by which Germany accepted once more the demilitarisation of her Rhineland frontier zone was a treaty which she signed when reeling from a worse defeat than she had endured during the War, for the entry into the Ruhr probably did Germany more harm than her defeat in the War; it ruined the middle class, and raised the suicide rate to prodigious heights. Therefore, Germany feels that the Locarno Treaty, to a considerable extent, was also a dictated treaty, because it was the price she paid, and then willingly paid, as a guarantee against a second Ruhr occupation.

"It was inevitable that the signature of the recent Franco-Soviet military convention, together with the Czechoslovak-Soviet convention, should re-awaken in Germany all the old fears of encirclement - the fear that Germany might have to fight simultaneously a fully mobilised Russian army and a fully mobilised French army. The signature of that convention, inevitably as I think, made Germany feel that she could no longer keep open the back-door through which France had made the Ruhr invasion. A very distinguished British General, Sir Ian Hamilton, wrote to The Times only a few days ago, and said that Germany, from a military point of view, had escaped from a military embrace only just in time...

"Now a word about the immediate situation. My own view of it is that in the present crisis British public opinion says that Germany has essential justice on her side, that France has the law on her side, that we are in a particularly difficult position because we are guarantors of a one-sided treaty, and that above everything else we want to see negotiations started...

"In the long run Austria must be the judge of her own future. We cannot, and certainly will not go to war to perpetuate a system in which Austria is governed by the combination of Mussolini and the Pope. If Danzig, which is a German city, wants to rejoin Germany now that Poland has got Gdynia, it is not worth a war to prevent it. It would be wise for Poland to make some permanent arrangement for enabling Germany to have access to East Prussia while she has access to Gdynia. Something has got to be done about Memel." (1)"Colonies? They present a very difficult problem, because we are torn between two groups of which one says: 'Not an inch of British territory for anybody,' and the other says: 'I will never allow anybody for whom I am trustee to be under the control of repressive dictators like Mussolini or Hitler.' So you have a combination, right and left. Apart from that I think that most people would say that if you could find some corner of the earth that would satisfy the amour propre of Germany, which has no overseas possessions to-day, it would contribute towards peace if it were given to her. Our view would be, if we want to make peace let us first remove grievances. For if we remove grievances there would be some hope of Germany settling down and being a good neighbour, while there will be none if the grievances are not removed."(1)

"...We would not go to war about those questions in Eastern Europe concerning which the rest of Europe wants to build a sort of armed collective security system in order to maintain the status quo there.

"...I do not believe that we are prepared to go to war for questions in Eastern Europe, and therefore the sooner we make that clear to Europe the better for us, for Europe and for peace. Otherwise war will come and we shall be dragged into it exactly as we were in 1914. That is the real danger...

"But I am inclined to think that Europe will never make peace within herself until we leave her to do her own work. I am not sure that Europe might not come to peace if it were made quite clear that no group in Europe could hope for a military alliance with us, that we were not concerned in that aspect of the European game at all.

"...the United States has made up her mind, once and for all, that her intervention in Europe in 1917 was a waste of effort, that somehow or other Europe must solve her own problems and that she is not going to be associated, in any way, with European commitments..."

"FUTURE OF THE LEAGUE"*#

"Take the case of Germany. Now that Japan had found her outlet in China - an aggression which, he thought, would ultimately fail of its own weight - and that Italy had found her outlet in Abyssinia, there was only one question left which might disturb the peace of the world, the German question. If that could be solved peacefully he thought they could feel assured of 25 years' peace, during which those moral elements which were the real strength of the League might have time to grow. As Admiral Mahan once said, 'The function of force is to give moral ideas time to take root.'

"There was still, he thought, justice to be done to Germany, and by some readjustment in Eastern Europe - say in Austria and Danzig - and by giving her openings in the economic field oversea. But they had got to make concessions to Germany because they were just, and not because they were extorted at the point of the sword or the bomb." (1)"Could they get agreement with the other members of the League both about the concessions which ought to be made to Germany if she was to settle down in peace, and as to the point at which they should all say together: 'If you try to get more, by force or threat, it is war'? That was the immediate issue before them.

"Finally, before they took up their position they had to be certain that if war came they could win it, and win it quickly. If the League was to continue the first thing it would need was a first-class General Staff to advise both on the military aspect of sanctions and on the military consequences of any policy the League might adopt. And, he was afraid, it would also have to contrive some new and better system of diplomacy."(1)

"ENGLAND AND GERMANY"*#

"But in practice the high hopes raised by those ideas were gradually nullfied by three things. The first was that, as was almost inevitable at the end of four years' war-time propaganda, the terms imposed upon Germany and her associates were too severe. They did not conform to that justice which must be the basis for lasting order and peace. Some penalty for defeat was inevitable. But some of the new national frontiers, especially in Eastern Europe, did not conform to majority lines. A fantastic burden of reparations was placed upon Germany. Her colonies, conquered during the war, were not restored. Germany was permanently disarmed and her western frontier was permanently demilitarised, while her late enemies were left in possession of their full rights both to arm and to organise their defence. It was clear, even in 1919, as Woodrow Wilson said, that the future tranquillity of Europe depended on whether the League of Nations could remodel the Peace Treaty in the interests of reason and justice as the effect of war-time propaganda wore off. But this, for reasons to be given later, it was unable to do.

"The second main reason for the failure of the settlement of 1919 was an almost total disregard of economics. Just as the Vienna Congress in 1815 ignored nationality which eventually blew their settlement to pieces, so the Paris Conference ignored the effect on the world of the increase in the number of sovereign States in Europe, each with full power to put tariffs round themselves, and of war debts and reparations. It has been the division of the world into watertight economic compartments burdened by heavy international debt obligations, both public and private, which has been the main cause of the high tariffs, quotas, and exchange restrictions which have produced the chronic unemployment, the social distress, the revolutionary movements, either from the right or from the left, the overthrow of democracy, and the return to authoritarian government, in so many countries, since 1920.

"The third and perhaps most serious tragedy since 1920 has been the failure of the League of Nations..."

(1)"Finally, the mandate system fell short of what was originally planned. The ex-German and Turkish colonial possessions were the only ones brought under the system."(1)

"What is to happen now? That is the central question which confronts the statesmanship of the nations. The greatest danger of the moment is that we shall drift back to a new rival alliance system. The dangers of this were very visible to Bismarck, who successfully managed to prevent Europe becoming imprisoned within it from 1870 to 1890. The danger arises from the fact that once the double alliance system has become formed the control of policy tends to pass out of the hands both of individual members of the alliance and of each alliance itself. Thus in the crisis of 1914 Germany was largely at the mercy of the diplomacy of Austria-Hungary, and France and England at the mercy of Russia...

"For some time a large number of people in both Germany and England believed that a free discussion between our two countries would fairly easily find a basis of agreement. They welcomed the idea because an agreement between Germany and England would mean the peace of the world. But such a discussion has never taken place. Why? Some people think it is because of the opposition of France and Russia. I do not think so. I think there is a more substantial reason. It is because there does not at present seem to be a sufficient agreement as to the fundamentals of a solution to make a discussion possible or fruitful...

"There are a great many people in England who think that the easiest solution of the economic problem for Germany would be special economic arrangements in Central Europe. Germany and the smaller countries to the east and south are largely economically correlative, and the present excessive economic sub-division of Eastern Europe cannot be permanent...

"If Germany and her eastern neighbours would create an association on the British or American model, the main economic problem of the day would be far on the way to solution. Germany would have an economic zone not unlike that of the other great Powers. She would, too, move towards the Anglo-American group. Encirclement would end. The security both of Germany and France would be assured. The colonial question would be soluble..."

"PREVENTING A WORLD WAR"*#

(1)"Speaking at the Reform Club, Manchester, last night, Lord Lothian said that there was grave danger both to the League of Nations and to peace if either became identified with the theory of collective security. The fundamental idea of the League of Nations was that it should endeavour, by peaceful means, to solve international disputes and remove the causes of war. But to-day the League had no power to revise out-of-date treaties, to limit economic nationalism, or to lower armaments, the three main causes of war.

"Automatic sanctions, therefore," said Lord Lothian, "are simply an obligation to go to war to maintain the status quo. Moreover"(1)"until the League is once more universal in membership the theory of collective security combines all the most dangerous features of the old alliance system. It inevitably means the gradual organization of all the nations of Europe and Asia into two great military alliances, one of which seeks to break through the strait-waistcoat, economic and political, in which the world has been since 1920, and the other of which is committed to go to war to prevent any change to which any one of its members does not agree."

(2)"That system may postpone a war for a little, but means that when it does break out it must instantly become a world war of the most ferocious and totalitarian kind."(2) "By far the most serious problem which confronts the statesmanship of the world to-day is to find the method whereby a local war or crisis of power politics does not inexorably spread until it becomes another universal war - by far the greatest calamity that can befall mankind. If you cannot prevent a war it is far better to isolate it than to spread it into a world war, which is precisely what the system of collective security, if adopted, is bound to do.

"...If the theory of collective security got us into another European war, what should we be fighting for? We should be fighting to maintain the anarchy of Europe, which is Europe's fundamental bane. I do not think that is a cause which was worth 1,000,000 British lives.

"...In great measure it" (Fascism) "was rebellion against the discriminations of the Treaty of Versailles and the economic barriers which since the War had shut all nations, except Russia, the United States, and ourselves, who had immense areas under our control, from the markets of the rest of the world and especially from colonial markets..."

"SPEECH IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS"*#

"...I venture to think that if Europe could become normal the chances of world war would be extremely small. It is Europe which is the main focus, the main centre from which the threat of war throughout the world now springs; and the fundamental reason for that is not the ambition or the malignity of any particular race or people, it is the fact that to-day it is divided into twenty-six sovereign States. The difficulties of Europe are far greater to-day than they were in 1914. Then there were seventeen sovereign States, now there are twenty-six, and I do not think in considering the problem of Europe you should ever lose sight of the fact that anarchy lies at the root of its troubles...

"It seems to me that the recent argument for collective security - that is, the argument that the nations who are satisfied with the status quo, the nations which want to prevent any alterations, should enter into something like a military alliance in order that they may be overwhelmingly and collectively stronger than any nation that seeks to alter the status quo - is nothing else than the modernisation of what in my view has been the fatal policy which has been maintained by the French Government ever since 1920. That is a policy which in the first fifteen years of peace concentrated on keeping Germany without arms and encircled, and which is now concerned in building up a system of armed alliances about it, a policy, I may add, for which we and the United States of America must bear our full share of blame,...This new alliance system, now ennobled by the phrase 'collective security,' began with the military alliances between France and the Little Entente and Poland. It has now been extended to Russia by the Treaty of Mutual Assistance between France and Russia, a Treaty which has its duplicate or its parallel in the Treaty between Czechoslovakia and Russia. That is one side of the alliance system. Inevitably, as has always happened in the past and as under any system in which alliances are involved between sovereign States always will happen in the future, that system has begun to produce an alliance system on the other side. It produced what is called the Rome-Berlin axis, it produced the Anti-Comintern Agreement between Germany and Japan.

"...and in the end we go from one crisis to another, like the Algeciras crisis, the Agadir crisis, the Bosnia-Herzegovina crisis, the Balkan crisis until finally we get to a state of tension in a world knit by alliances, so that by accident a fool or a knave presses the button which lets off a world war in its most violent, totalitarian and savage form...

"Really if you took sides in that ideological conflict, as it is called, which is rising in Europe, the only result would be that if we ever did become involved in such a conflict we should be split inside this country from top to bottom. I think that argument for collective security can only produce as the inevitable result both war and confusion at home.

"Finally, there are those people whose ideas are based upon fear of Germany. There are people, old diplomats, high officials, public men, who seem to be convinced that because Germany is largely isolated, with a population of more than 70,000,000 people, because it has a totalitarian Government - that Government itself the product of the policy of its neighbours, including ourselves, in great measure - with a country to the East whose armaments are at least three times as great as those of Germany, Germany is considering an attack on the peace of Europe and the liberty of its neighbours. I confess that when you consider that Germany occupies the most dangerous position in Europe, that she has no natural frontiers, that modern air services mean that she is more liable to be destroyed than any other nation, indefinitely more liable than ourselves, I think the German fear is to a large extent a bogey. I do not say that Germany is easy to deal with - I do not think she is - but that we should drift into a policy which, in effect, says that the only way of dealing with Germany is to surround her in such a way, both economically and politically, that an internal explosion is inevitable, is to condemn ourselves and the world to world war. It is the most fatal policy of all.

"While that policy is seldom publicly avowed, you have not to go very far before you find that it exists in the minds of a considerable number of people in this country...

"And if we did get embroiled, what should we be fighting for, generally speaking? The only possible cause we could be fighting for would be to insist on the maintenance of the anarchy of Europe; that Europe should remain divided into twenty-six States each with tariffs to the skies and armed to the teeth. I venture to think that that is not a cause for which it is worth laying down the lives of British men...

"I do not think pacifism can solve the problem, for the reason that it does not create the conditions upon which alone peace is possible, which is the maintenance of government.

"I venture to ask whether there is not a third policy, directed, I confess, mainly to the supreme question of deciding whether it is not possible to create a system which, in the conditions of to-day, may not end all war but can prevent local wars spreading into world wars - which is the real calamity which besets mankind; whether it is not possible to do more than we are now thinking of doing to isolate wars instead of spreading them into universal wars, as I think the system of collective security would inevitably do...The question is whether you cannot apply the system which we have adopted with considerable success in the case of Spain to Europe and if necessary to the Far East - non-commitment to either side, and non-intervention.

"But there is more also to be said for the American attitude to Europe. I spent some time there, and I found that the fundamental problem is this. The root of the trouble in Europe is the fact that in an area no larger than the United States it is trying still to live as twenty-six States. We found in this country that until we united the Crowns and the Parliaments there was no order, no prosperity, no peace. Canada found that, until it united its ten Provinces, it could get no order and no peace. So did Australia, so did South Africa, and so of course - in the greatest instance of all - did the great American Commonwealth. All the English peoples have realised in practice as well as in theory that until we overcame the boundary created by sovereignty we could have neither order, prosperity nor peace, and they say in America that that is the fundamental problem which confronts Europe. They say: 'Did our intervention solve the European problem last time? No. We may have been to some extent to blame for not joining the League of Nations, but the League of Nations itself could not solve Europe's problems. They can only be solved by Europe itself.' The United States will only intervene if Europe breaks out into the rest of the world so as to threaten the interests at any rate of the Monroe system.

"...What matters is that we should not be drawn into any form of alliance system or counter-alliance system. I venture to think that if we withdraw from Europe, it is the best contribution we can possibly make to the peace of Europe to-day. Anybody who has any familiarity with what is going on in Europe knows that the central question in European diplomacy to-day is whether Great Britain can be drawn in on either side. I think the day we make it perfectly clear that in no circumstances will we be drawn into the conflict between Fascism and Communism, or any of the other domestic conflicts of Europe, we shall take the greatest step we can take to induce the nations of Europe to come to terms, to reduce their tariffs, and to make a lasting peace.

"...democracy itself will not be able to stand another world war. To fight it you will have to abandon your Parliamentary system and the financial needs could not be met by ordinary democratic methods. I venture most earnestly to suggest to the Government that they should give more attention to this method of preventing world war than perhaps they have hitherto done."

"THE LEAGUE CONTRACT"*#

"I am not against collective action by the League against an international wrong. Quite the contrary. But such action must be subject to two conditions. The first is that we do not direct it to the maintenance of a status quo which is out of date, but recognize that changes are both just and necessary and that unless the League can bring about these changes by its own action they will inevitably and rightly be brought about in other ways. That may seem a hard saying, but I believe it is common sense because otherwise we shall find ourselves pledged to go to war to prevent change everywhere...

"If we consider the three great failures of the League, the reasons are clear. In the case of Europe it has been because the League was utterly unable to do justice to Germany while she was a Republic...It is perfectly obvious that considerable adjustments will be necessary in the world if it is to enjoy stable peace. I believe that if we get away from legalism, are strong, are willing to be just and to face realities, and relate our policy to our strength and our willingness to make sacrifices for it, there is a good chance that these adjustments can be made without war and without international injustice, whereas to stand by the letter of the Covenant will be as likely to drive us to that calamity of world war which every nation wishes to avoid, as the policy of the 'left' coalition."

"THE ISSUES IN BRITISH FOREIGN POLICY"*#

"The Treaty of Versailles, as you all remember, was based on the thesis of the sole guilt of Germany. There was a clause in that Treaty which compelled Germany to admit her guilt, and it was from that admission of guilt that the legalistic French mind justified a great many of the decisions which have since been operating in Europe. I am not going to argue the War-guilt case here and now, except to express my own conviction, having read a great many books about the origins of the War, that the doctrine of the sole guilt will not hold water at all. If anyone wants to study that question in the briefest possible compass I commend them to an extraordinarily interesting report published in the American Historical Review, of January last," (1)"which is to be found in this Institute. The report was compiled by a committee of four German historians and four French historians, who for some years have been engaged, partly by correspondence and partly by direct meetings, in trying to reach as many agreed conclusions as possible as to the diplomatic quarrels which have divided France and Germany for the last hundred years, with the object of getting the history books of both countries freed from the grosser perversions of fact and nearer to something like a common view of what actually happened. You may have very different opinions as to the degree of responsibility, but if you read this report you will see that the simple view upon which the Versailles Treaty was juridically founded, and which most people still believe, does not now hold water."(1)

"Of course the War was just an episode, a very important episode, in the collision of forces which go to make up human history. It was partly the result of a conflict which has reappeared since the War, the conflict between what are called the late comers and the early comers, the Haves and the Have-Nots. Germany then, as now, was a late comer." (2)"It was partly the outcome of the historic conflict between Slav and Teuton for control over or predominant influence in the Balkans. It was partly the result of anarchy in Europe, the division of Europe into seventeen sovereign States, a division which the League of Nations was intended to overcome, because the fundamental thesis underlying the League of Nations is that it is impossible to end war unless we begin to get unity and some collective reign of law in the world. Finally, the most immediately decisive cause of the War was the military time-table. The reason why, following the ultimatum which Austria sent to Serbia after the assassination of Franz Ferdinand, to the surprise of everybody and without anybody deliberately pressing the button for it, the whole world was plunged into war in less than fourteen days is to be found in the military time-table which anarchy imposed on Europe in the unsettled conditions of that time. There is no option, therefore, but to dismiss the doctrine of the sole guilt of Germany for the War.

"Coming now to the Versailles period, you will find that what happened at Paris was two fundamentally contradictory things. On the one hand,"(2) "there was the peace settlement made by the victorious democracies, and believe me democracies can get as wrong-headed about foreign affairs as anybody else, especially after having been influenced for four years by war-time propaganda. As a result of the beliefs we all had at that time about the origins of the War there was a very stiff Peace Treaty. I do not think anybody disputes that now. Germany lost all her colonies and all her foreign investments, one seventh of her European territory was taken away, she was unilaterally disarmed, the Rhineland was demilitarised and quite fantastic reparations were placed upon her back. There are few people who to-day think the Treaty was a perfectly fair and balanced interpretation of the Fourteeen Wilsonian Points upon which the Armistice was signed." (3)"That was one side of what happened in 1919, a stiff treaty of peace. The other was the aspect of the settlement which has mostly filled the mind of Great Britain, the attempt to bring into being a new international order represented by the League of Nations, whereby we were to substitute pacific means for the solution of international disputes for warlike means, to create a system of orderly investigation before nations would be justified in resorting to war, and to create a system of economic sanctions to compel use of these pacific methods for investigating and settling international disputes, before there was resort to war.

"Those were the two main results of the War."(3) "But what is not, I think, generally realised is that what followed the War was far more fatal, at any rate in its consequences for Europe, than what was actually done at Versailles. Because, whatever you may say about the Big Three, Lloyd George, Wilson and Clemenceau, they were wiser men than perhaps most people would now admit, and they knew quite well that they were imposing upon Germany terms of peace which would have to be revised. It was impossible in their view to be more moderate at that time because the Peace Conference consisted of some twenty nations excited by four years of fighting and bitter losses, misled, if you like, by war-time propaganda, and there was no possibility of re-educating the democracies in the six months which lay between the Armistice and the signing of the Peace Treaties. But they did provide means which they believed would bring about a revision of the Versailles terms in our time. Indeed, in recommending the Covenant to the plenary session of the Peace Conference, Woodrow Wilson made it quite clear that in his view one of the first duties of the League would be to undertake the revision of the work then being done at Paris.

"...Clemenceau came to Lloyd George and Wilson and said: 'You Anglo-Saxons believe in allowing Germany to recover. You believe in this new-fangled institution the League of Nations which we Frenchmen have not much confidence in as security. We believe that the Germans are much safer people dead than alive, and that the best way of securing the peace of the world against a renewal of war by Prussia is to divide it up, at any rate to separate the Rhineland from the rest of Prussia.' That was the thesis put to the Anglo-Saxon Powers by M. Tardieu at the beginning of the Conference when he was acting for M. Clemenceau...

"So she" (France) "built up her system of alliances in Eastern Europe, the main purpose of which was to enforce the Treaty of Versailles, especially by the unilateral disarmament of Germany and the demilitarisation of the Rhineland, which left Germany militarily at her mercy and was the real basis of European peace during all the years when the League was at its zenith.

"...You then had Sir Austen Chamberlain's great effort to bring about an appeasement which culminated in the Locarno Treaty. But the Locarno Treaty was never followed up. And it could never have been a lasting basis of peace because it rested on the assumption that Germany would be willing indefinitely to accept a position in which she was disarmed while her neighbours were armed and her frontier was to be left open so that at any moment she might have to endure, without being able to resist it, a new invasion of the Ruhr. Whatever you may think about subsequent events, no sensible people can believe that such an arrangement was voluntarily accepted by Germany as part of a permanent and normal international system. You can imagine what we would have said had we been put in that position...Finally, you had the disastrous action, as I think it, of Sir John Simon in revising the preliminary agreement about disarmament made in the spring of 1933 between Germany and the allies, when he went to Geneva in October and proposed that effective movement towards disarmament should be postponed for four years in order to give Germany a period of what was then called trial, and M. Paul-Boncour jumped up and said: 'Yes, and at the end of four years what we do must depend on the political circumstances of the time.' This it was which precipitated the final withdrawal of Germany from the League of Nations and gave her an excuse for rearmament contrary to the Treaty..."

(4)"Nobody who had contacts with Stresemann during those years, still more with Bruning, will forget the way in which they came and said: 'Unless you make some concession to the Republic now, nothing can prevent Germany yielding to those who say that you can get nothing from the Allies by appeals to justice. You can only get your freedom by strength and violence.' Bruning came over and over again, but for various reasons, quite easy to understand, nothing was done. And therefore there eventually came into being a regime which believes that the method of attaining not only internal unity and strength, but also all international ends, is force. Yet the hideous internal persecution and repression of all who will not bow to the regime is, in great measure, only the outcome of the presecution and repression which were inflicted on Germany for fifteen years from outside."(4)

"...I have felt for the last three years that the most imperative thing was to go and to have a real talk with the Germans as to what the basis of a lasting peace should be. Perhaps it was because I felt that they had legitimate grievances which had to be removed before there could be peace. But I felt also that the time to negotiate with Germany was when Hitler was offering to be content with an army of two hundred or three hundred thousand men or an Air Force half that of France or one third of the neighbouring Air Forces, whichever was the smaller. That was the time to negotiate. But what stood in the way? That Great Britain was committed to the support of the reign of law and the sanctity of the Paris system of treaties through the League of Nations." (5)"It was therefore quite impossible for any British Government to go to Hitler and to say: 'We are prepared to agree to this fundamental change, in rearmament or the Rhineland or Austria, or to stand aside if you force the issue,' because they were committed to defend the status quo under Article XVI of the Covenant of the League of Nations and because to agree to such changes would have involved them in quarrels with the other members of the League. If you consider it you will see that that is what made any discussion so difficult.

"Then there is another aspect of the present situation which we have got to recognise."(5) "The whole post-War attitude of the Allies, of the small nations and France and the Great Powers, has been an attempt to stem one of the vital forces of history." (6)"Nationalism is probably the most potent political force of the modern world. It has been immensely stimulated in recent years by the challenge of Communism. It is proving itself much more powerful than class. I think that if you put the two in rivalry, nationalism will always defeat class, which is one of the reasons, though not the only reason, why Fascism, I think, does in practice beat Communism. Fascism is not, as the Marxists say, merely the final incarnation of capitalism. It is something far more dynamic. It is nationalism protesting against an inadequate status quo."(6)

"And now Hitler, by methods which we cannot help deploring because of the shock they give elsewhere, has at last realised the dream of the German people - the dream they have dreamed for three hundred years, to be a united people, as Italy is a united people, and France is a united people and England is a united people and every other race in Europe is a united people except the Germans.

Thus the whole Versailles Settlement was not only 'stiff,' but was turned against what is, I think, the most powerful political movement of the time, the urge towards racial and national unity." (7)"You saw evidence of this underlying tendency in 1921, when a plebiscite was held in the Tyrol in which a hundred and forty-four thousand voted for union with Germany and seventeen hundred against it. In another plebiscite in Salzburg a hundred and three thousand voted for union with Germany and eight hundred against it. Almost the last act of Chancellor Bruning was to say: 'Give me the Anschluss and I may be able to save my country from yielding to the National Socialists.' And that was denied because of a manoeuvred political decision by the International Court at the Hague. So that I cannot help feeling that we (by we I mean the dominant Allied Powers) are largely responsible for the situation that confronts us to-day."(7) "If another war comes and the history of it is ever written, the dispassionate historian a hundred years hence will say not that Germany alone was responsible for it, even if she strikes the first blow, but that those who mismanaged the world between 1918 and 1937 had a large share of responsibility for it. I say this unpalatable thing because I think it is necessary to a balanced view and is a corrective to the natural instinct of hatred and indignation which springs up when we see what is going on."

(8)"Now I come to what really interests everybody to-day: What are we going to do now? Personally I think that a fundamentally new situation has been created by the incorporation of Austria in National Socialist Germany. I have long thought it was inevitable, especially as the only alternative, a Danubian federation, was blocked, thought I did not think it was inevitable that it should be done in the violent way in which it has been done. I do not think it is worth discussing who was responsible for recent events."(8) "There is no doubt that Hitler and his party were determined sooner or later to absorb the Germans of Austria and whether, if Schuschnigg had played his cards better, it might have been possible to arrive at a slower and gentler method I will leave the historian to decide. But you can now say that the fundamentals of the German case, the unity of the German people in a strong independent state, fundamentals which it was extraordinarily difficult to get recognised by consent, have now been won by rapid and unilateral action...

"I think we have squandered the authority of the League by trying to use collective security for purposes which were fundamentally unjust, for denying its natural rights to Germany. While we were doing this five of the Great Powers have gone outside the League, and a good many more members, while still members of it, are clearly going to remain neutral if they can if war comes..." -

"THE REIGN OF LAW"*#

"...To talk about going to war to enforce international law illustrates the confusion of thought which now exists, for the very first object of the 'reign of law' is to substitute police action against the individual for war as the sanction behind law. We have had experience of one vast war fought by a collection of democracies from 1914 to 1918 to defend freedom against autocracy and to maintain the sanctity of treaties. Most people now feel that while the cause was just the remedy was almost as fatal as the disease, and that a war for the principle of the League of Nations is not likely to produce ultimately more satisfactory results than a war for Woodrow Wilson's 14 points, which included

the League of Nations."

(1)"Moreover, in the present anarchy of sovereignties, which the Covenant does not touch"(1) "the diplomatic card which Great Britain, by reason of its worldwide position, so often is asked to play, if it is always to be faithful to principle, is a card which if it is taken up spells world war. To throw down the gage may prevent war or international injustice, but it also, as often before in history, may let loose world war. Yet it is quite certain that morality does not require us to call upon our own countrymen or other people to pay the price of world war to prevent relatively minor injustices, atrocities, or breaches of justice. Mankind is not going to be benefited by multiplying carnage and destruction a thousandfold for the sake of questions which will immediately be swallowed up in the vast and catastrophic issues which will be raised by general war..."

"AMERICA AFTER MUNICH"*#

"...On the one hand we have the title to Mr. Quincy Howe's now famous book, 'England expects every American to do his duty.' This represents the inveterate suspicion in the United States that every British proposal is designed to induce the United States to underwrite British interests - a suspicion which rests on the fact that Anglo-American co-operation obviously operates to the benefit of the British Commonwealth and not so obviously to the benefit of the United States." (1)"On the other hand is the statement attributed to the 'Montreal Gazette' during the Munich crisis that 'The United States will fight for democracy to the blood of the last Englishman.' This represents very well the instinctive reaction of the average Briton the combination of moral censure with a national policy of neutrality.

"But it is well for us to remember that the present American attitude is exactly that of Great Britain herself during her own period of 'splendid isolation.' We always insisted on standing uncommitted on the side lines of the European conflict, until a menace to our own interests compelled us to intervene."(1) "We long ago realised that the best and cheapest way of assuring our own security was to encourage other nations to fight for their own security, and when there was doubt as to their ability to do so by themselves to assist them with finance and, if necessary, with arms."

GERMANY AND THE PEACE OF EUROPE[1]

THE MOST HON. THE MARQUESS OF LOTHIAN, C.H.

I DO not think it open to dispute that there is only one question which threatens world peace or which might lead to world war, and that is the German question. If Germany were not in her present frame of mind, if she had not got, as I think still, certain legitimate complaints against the Treaty of Versailles, there would be no risk of world war. There would be risks of local wars, but they I think could be managed. But for this German question there would be no risk of the world becoming divided into two great alliances, each of them being, at any rate in theory, relatively as strong as the other. Is Germany fundamentally responsible for the situation in which we find ourselves to-day? Or is the Versailles settlement still at the root of the trouble? Has Germany, in other words, still a case against the rest of the world on the basis of justice, leaving out of account for the moment the question of the policy of the Nazi régime and whether it is possible to deal with Germany so long as she is under that régime?

Now the Versailles settlement was based on the theory of the sole responsiblity of Germany for the Great War. I do not think anybody who has made a serious study of pre-War history, or even of the events which immediately preceded the War, can hold that view to-day. The pre-War history is a long one. It goes back to the Morocco-Egyptian settlement between England and France, and to the French advance on Fez which precipitated that series of German moves which did so much to divide the world. In my view Germany had more responsibility for the War than anybody else, for two reasons: first of all because of her challenge to the British fleet—at one time she put down a programme of building ultimately involving a fleet greater than the then British fleet; secondly because of her belief in and practice of what are called her politics by force, diplomacy by force. On the other hand, nobody has ever yet suggested that Germany was responsible for the assassination of Franz Ferdinand, which precipitated the crisis. Further, what finally made war inevitable, according to the strategic facts known to every one at that time, was the mobilisation of the Russian armies, which inevitably brought into play the Schlieffen Plan. Moreover, I do not think that anybody who is a believer in the general thesis underlying the establishment of the League of Nations can fail to recognise that the fact that Europe was divided into seventeen sovereign States, and the rest of the world into a great many more without any form of international organisation, created a constant predisposition, a constant provocation, towards war. Therefore, I do not think it is possible to say that Germany was alone responsible for the War.

By the end of the War, however, as a result of the opinions which we formed during the War, on very inadequate material, supplemented by war-time propaganda (which is largely directed to maintaining the unity and morale of one's own countrymen by proving that we are wholly right and the enemy wholly wrong), we had convinced ourselves that Germany was solely responsible for the disaster, and the Treaty of Versailles was based on that principle. On the strength of it Germany was deprived of one-seventh of her European territory; she was deprived of her colonies; she was unilaterally disarmed, and she was compelled to demilitarise the Rhineland, which meant, in effect, that at any time a French army could march into the vital Rhineland region and reduce Germany to paralysis. In addition, there was placed upon her a burden of reparations for which I do not suppose to-day there is a single advocate; impossible reparations leading in their turn to impossible claims for war debts.

Even so, what actually happened to Germany after 1918 was a great deal worse than what had been planned by the Big Four, Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Orlando, and Wilson, at the meetings of the Council of Four in Paris. Two vital features of the Versailles settlement were never carried out. The first was that the United States should be a member of the League of Nations and a member of the Reparations Commission. The second was that the United States and Great Britain should give to France a joint guarantee against unprovoked aggression by Germany. We can all estimate to-day the tragic consequences of the refusal of the United States to accept membership of the League of Nations. The abstention of the United States from the Reparations Commission was much more serious, because the appointment of the Reparations Commission was the method finally adopted by Lloyd George and Clemenceau (after they had made up their minds that in the then temper of British and French opinion it was not possible to reduce the reparations claim against Germany to anything like a moderate figure) for achieving sanity later on. While the bill against Germany was almost unlimited a Reparations Commission was appointed, of which the United States was to be chairman, to determine, as one of its duties, Germany's capacity to pay. Mr. Lloyd George has always declared, and I think with justice, that had the United States remained a party to the Versailles Treaty, had her nominee been chairman of the Reparations Commission, it would have been possible as the war-time temper lessened, on the one hand, to scale down the claims against Germany to moderate figures on the basis of her capacity to pay and to make transfers, and, on the other hand, to relate war debts to reparations. But the withdrawal of the United States led to the Reparations Commission being dominated by France, who held not only the chairmanship, but a double vote, a first vote and a casting vote, so that the Reparations question went from one tragedy to another, until it was finally wiped out by the depression, as was later the case with war debts.

The failure of the Anglo-American Treaty of guarantee to France was in my view even more tragic. That treaty would not only have given security to France, who had, in effect, been defeated by Germany twice in fifty years, but would have enabled the United States and Great Britain to insist on a reasonable revision of the Versailles settlement in the interests of the German Republic, since it would have made it possible for them to say that they could not maintain that guarantee unless the French in return were willing to adopt revisions which might have led to a final settlement in Europe. The result of the breakdown of the Anglo-American Treaty of Guarantee was that France fell back upon an almost inevitable alternative, the alternative of insisting in the first place on the maintenance for as long as possible of all the unilateral discriminations against Germany, notably disarmament and the demilitarization of the Rhineland, and, secondly, of building up overwhelming military preponderance behind the Treaty of Versailles, by her own armaments and by alliances with the countries of the Little Entente and with Poland; with the result that the post-War stability of Europe was based not upon the League of Nations, but on the possession by France and her allies of overwhelming military superiority over an unilaterally disarmed Germany. Great Britain shares that tragic responsibility, for we did not offer our own guarantee to France until her alternative alliances were made, and because, on the strength of France's armaments and the armaments of her allies in the East of Europe, [illegible] seeking to disarm ourselves, and to live the easy, or relatively easy, life until the advent of the Hitler regime forced us to look at realities once more. But the principal victim of the withdrawal of the United States and of the lapse of the Treaty of Guarantee to France was Germany.

Yet Germany had to endure another series of tragic events. In 1922 there took place the invasion of the Ruhr, declared by the British Government at the time to be contrary to the Treaty of Versailles and an illegal act, which was inaugurated ostensibly on the grounds of a technical default by Germany in the delivery of certain categories of timber, but really because Poincaré had made up his mind that Germany would not fulfil the Treaty of Versailles except by violent compulsion. Yet the invasion of the Ruhr resulted in the increase in inflation which had been begun by the excessive demand for Reparations, and which finally wiped out the whole middle class in Germany and produced the National-Socialist Party. It created the body of men called the Ruhr fighters, who, instead of acquiescing, as the German government did, in the military occupation, began to fight the French among the slag heaps of the Ruhr. It was in the occupation of the Ruhr that the spirit of the National-Socialist movement, that is, the view that the way to liberty was not through negotiation but through strength, became established in Germany. Finally, came the depression which ended the hopes of the German Republic and brought Hitler to power. Had it not been for the depression, the Republic might have struggled through. But, in this case also, Germany was the principal victim of the Ruhr policy.

Then began another series, as I see it, of tragic events. In January 1933, Germany was promised equality in a régime of security. But after many negotiations to this end, Sir John Simon, after consultation with his French friends who were terrified by the advent of Hitler to power, announced at Geneva in October 1933 that, in effect, no practical steps in the direction of conceding equality to Germany could be taken for four more years, and M. Paul Boncour added in his speech that, even at the end of four years, it would be necessary to take the political situation into account. That statement was taken by Germany as a default on our promises, and as conclusive proof that the League was completely dominated by the victors of Versailles. So she left the League; and I have no doubt that if we had been treated in the same way we should have taken the same action. The episode led, none the less, to tragic results: on the one hand, it led to the unlimited rearmament by Germany and, on the other, to the conviction that what counts in international affairs is not the force of your case, but the strength of your armaments. If any nation has had that conviction borne in on her it has been Germany, by everything that has happened to her from 1918 to 1933. She received nothing substantial in response to reason. She only began to recover her position in the world when she had begun to acquire the strength which enabled her to take her natural rights by unilateral action in defiance of the treaties. On the principle that any government that fails to remedy the serious grievances of its people in time must face revolution at home, I think it is true in international affairs that, unless a situation which causes a deep sense of injustice, resentment and grievance can be remedied by agreement, it will inevitably be remedied by unilateral action, or in the last resort by power diplomacy or war. There is no use in talking about the sanctity of treaties unless they are just treaties. That is why, when Germany violated the Treaty of Versailles by the unilateral re-militarisation of the Rhineland, the bulk of public opinion in Great Britain supported her on the not wholly unintelligent ground that, in a re-arming world, it was no use going to war to prevent a nation re-assuming the natural right, accorded to every other sovereign State, to defend its own frontiers.

Is there any doubt that if we put ourselves in the position of the Germans, leaving entirely out of account the existence of the Nazi régime, we should feel bitterly that we had been unjustly and badly treated ever since 1918, that we had just claims against the rest of the world, and that if we could not get our just rights by agreement we were entitled to take them back by force if we could do so? The first thesis upon which I want to found my argument, therefore, is that the fundamental cause of the German question, which lies at the root of the world's trouble to-day, is the Versailles settlement, and, still more, the train of events which followed the Versailles settlement.

The second and more difficult part of the problem is the fact that there is in Germany to-day a totalitarian government of a most formidable kind, produced, as I think, essentially by the treatment which Germany has received from her neighbours in the last fifteen or sixteen years. It is very easy to describe its defects from our point of view. It is ultra-nationalist. It is a nationalism based on belief in race as the product of blood and earth; a form of nationalism which we in Great Britain find it very difficult to understand or attach much importance to, in view of the complexity of our own human origin. It is based on the complete and compulsory discipline of the whole population under the orders of a single leader for the avowed purpose of generating national strength. In order to increase national strength it indulges in forms of persecution, which are highly repellant to people in Great Britain, in order to eliminate those elements in Germany—Jews, Christians, pacifists and so on—which, in the view of the dominant party, seem to compromise or undermine national strength in time of stress. It relies, primarily, not on persuasion, but on violence as its method of dealing with its opponents, and on propaganda rather than free controversy as the method of forming the opinions of its people. In consequence it is subject to the same weaknesses and difficulties as every other totalitarian government of which history tells us and of which we have recently seen a most conspicuous example in Russia. The difficulty of totalitarian government as opposed either to traditional monarchy or democracy is this: under the democratic system the government can be changed whenever the majority of the people like to vote it out of power, and the use of police power to repress opinion is unnecessary. There is no need either for revolution or for violent expression. The old monarchical system had something of the same merit because when the hereditary monarch found he was becoming unpopular he dropped his prime minister into the oubliette, saying that everything was entirely his fault, and put a new prime minister in office. The régime itself was not challenged. The very essence of dictatorship, however, is that everything is done by the man at the top. He gets all the credit for everything that goes well, and therefore he cannot escape the blame for everything that goes badly. When any dictator is in power for any length of time and discontent begins to arise as it invariably does against any government which is long in office, he is faced with the necessity of suppressing every form of opinion which seems to challenge his authority, and as opinion becomes more vehement and especially as opposition appears among his own supporters he is driven back inevitably to killing and violence. It is inherent in the system, as is well described by Aristotle two thousand years ago. Now, these are the weaknesses, the defects and, what is important from our point of view, the dangers of the totalitarian system, which is not only based on violence and propaganda, and prone to use it, but is often under pressure to lessen internal difficulties by foreign adventure. As the ordinary man says: "Can you deal with a government based upon such principles? If you do deal with it, can you expect it to live up to the undertakings into which it has entered?"

On the other hand, I think it must be admitted that National-Socialism has done a great deal for Germany. It has undoubtedly cleaned up Germany in the ordinary moral sense of the word. The defeatism, the corruption so manifest a characteristic in the days after the War has disappeared, at any rate from public view. It has given discipline and order and a sense of purpose to the great majority of young people who in earlier days did not know where to go or what they were living for. It has got rid of open Communism. I do not think that Communism was a menace in the sense that it was ever in a position to seize power in Germany, but I think there is some truth in Hitler's view that once real Communism is established in a community it will either destroy the traditional form of government or must itself be destroyed, because you cannot reason with Communism. Communism is a religious movement which admittedly adopts violence as its technique, so that it can only be met by violence. National-Socialists say that at least they have given Germany peace, and have stopped the constant street fights and continual unrest arising out of the conflict between two violent movements raging up and down Germany. Communist violence may be considered preferable to Fascist violence, but once either gets really rooted in a country there will be no peace until either both are suppressed or one eats up the other. Unfortunately, too, Germany was afflicted by a disease from which Great Britain has never yet suffered, a multiplicity of parties in the Reichstag which could not be remedied by the ordinary electoral process. Election after election was fought, but the parties always came back substantially as numerous as before. I do not think it is possible for any country to have a strong government, a government which is capable of dealing either with international problems or with domestic problems, if it has to be based on the shifting sands of a multiplicity of parties. So, however much people may dislike National-Socialism, the fact must be faced that, in the eyes of the great majority of Germans, Hitler is a saviour, who has given them back international security and standing and internal order, employment and purpose.

Now how is one to deal with a Germany which, in my view, has claims against the rest of the world on the grounds of justice, claims which are the main cause of re-armament and international unrest, but which has a government which many people so respect that they feel that, if concessions are made to it which [illegible] will run that power as the basis for fresh and unreasonable demands, backed, I do not say by war but by force, and so lead Europe from one difficulty to another? In order to answer that question I must first examine what I may call Germany's claims, or where, after as dispassionate an examination of the problem as possible, I think that revision of the status quo should be made in favour of Germany.

Let me deal first with Eastern Europe. Speaking very broadly, the German thesis of to-day is that she is entitled to self-determination in Central Europe. The War was fought for self-determination, and at the end of the War not only were certain groups of Germans like the Austrians forbidden to unite with Germany, but considerable numbers of Germans just outside the German frontiers were united with other countries. The Polish Corridor, though then largely peopled by Germans, was created, and severed Germany's connection with East Prussia. Cities like Danzig, which had always been German since the beginning of history, were cut away from Germany. Now, if the principle of self-determination were applied on behalf of Germany in the way in which it was applied against her, it would mean the re-entry of Austria into Germany, the union of the Sudetendeutsch, Danzig, and possibly Memel with Germany, and certain adjustments with Poland in Silesia and the Corridor. If that solution were adopted, especially if it were effected as a result of force, I think that most people would feel that the last state of Europe would be more serious and more difficult than the first. Yet the demand, in itself, is not wicked or absurd. Is there any alternative?

I do not propose to argue at the moment whether the alternative is practicable or not, but to consider what might be a soluti if everybody were reasonable. Is not the right basis for the solution of the situation in Eastern Europe—which obviously cannot continue indefinitely as fifteen or sixteen mutually suspicious sovereign States—the same kind of solution as that we have chosen in the British Commonwealth? Supposing, on the one hand, that Germany finally and irrevocably recognised the independence of all the nations of Eastern Europe, and, on the other, that the nations of Eastern Europe, in return for such recognition, came into what may be called the political and economic orbit of Germany, might not Europe settle down? Let me give an illustration from South Africa. The reason why the South African situation is tolerable to-day is not because the British in South Africa are highly delighted at being a minority, for they continually complain that the Dutch majority gets most of the jobs and has a perpetual preponderance in the legislature. What makes the situation tolerable is that the Dutch majority has accepted, and now I think without serious reservation, membership of the British Commonwealth of Nations. In other words, South Africa is now in the general British orbit, and on the strength of that the British South Africans are loyal South Africans and accept a situation in which so far as one can see they will be permanently in the minority so far as political power is concerned, while the Dutch treat them fairly and without suspicion because they are loyal citizens. But supposing our Dutch friends, for whatever reason, decided to move into some other orbit, let us say the Japanese or the German orbit, the situation in South Africa, and the situation as between Great Britain and South Africa, would become almost impossible. The local British would say that they would not be used in support of an anti-British system, and the Dutch would begin to suspect their loyalty. Great Britain, on the other hand, would become extremely suspicious of every act of policy of the South African Government. Now that, as I see it, is the root of the difficulty in a country like Czechoslovakia. Czechoslovakia, because she is afraid of the future of her own independence, leans first on France and secondly on Moscow, and that means that the Germans in Czechoslovakia are unwilling to form part, wholeheartedly, of a State which is pursuing, in their view, an anti-German policy. The Czechs, therefore, are frightened to give to the Germans in Czechoslovakia the position in the State which the Dutch feel no difficulty at all in giving to the British in South Africa. If the German-Czechoslovak question could be solved in this way the whole European problem would change for the better. Similarly with other minority neighbours.

Then on the economic side there is a certain natural balance between the various countries of South-Eastern Europe and Germany. If political antagonism could be eliminated, economic arrangements could be made between the various States which would give to all of them a higher standard of living and far greater economic stability. And, provided it was done by agreement, I cannot see that vast Russia to the east or the satisfied colonial powers to the west ought to object. On the contrary, their greatest need is that Central Europe should settle down, and that is only possible, in my view, under German leadership.

The other main aspect of the German question is the colonial economic problem. When Dr. Schacht is presented with the usual British contention that colonies are not much use, that really we get almost nothing from them, that they are a burden and a liability, and that we will do everything with them except give them up to anybody else, he replies that these considerations may have been true in pre-War days when the development of any colony depended on whether free capitalists thought that they could make a profit on using their capital for the purpose, but that the situation is very different to-day in a world of economic nationalism and universal governmental intervention in economic affairs. Unless the policy of Mr. Cordell Hull prevails, and I hope it will, unless Great Britain goes in much more vigorously than she has yet done for a reduction of international barriers to trade and for the "open door" in the colonies, we are faced with a world in which most countries are still moving in the direction of self-sufficiency. In such circumstances it is very difficult for any country, especially a manufacturing country, to acquire the foreign exchange with which it may buy raw materials or foodstuffs from other countries by the process of selling manufactured goods abroad, because no country is willing to receive manufactured articles in any considerable quantity; since it is the first principle of high protectionism to refuse to accept from abroad anything which can be manufactured at home. Dr. Schacht accordingly declares that, in these circumstances, the colonial problem becomes an entirely different matter. If a colonial area is included in the tariff zone of the mother country, and if the latter assumes the control of the trade of that colony with other countries, then the mother country can develop whatever natural resources the colony has with its own currency without first having to obtain foreign exchange. If the mother country wants to produce rubber or fats, or whatever it is, provided it can control the ingress and egress of trade with the colony concerned, it can provide for development with marks or pounds or francs, or whatever its national currency is; no doubt more expensively than the material could be bought elsewhere if foreign exchange could be obtained in the open market, but it can be done, so to speak, with the mother country's own money. Rubber plantations, or plantations that produce fat, can be developed with the national manufactures, local workers can be paid with the national currency, and they can be required to buy with that currency the produce of the mother country. Therefore, in these days, colonies have, economically, an entirely different significance from what they had in the freer conditions of the earlier capitalist age. Dr. Schacht goes on to say that, inasmuch as Germany is singularly deficient in raw materials and is not in a position even to produce all her own foodstuffs, and since the greater part of the world has become economically highly nationalist, the colonial question is now very important, not only as a symbol of the restoration of German self-respect and the withdrawal of the accusation that she was unfit to have colonies, but as a vital element in her own economic system if she is to attain the standard of living which the rest of us think necessary for a civilised country. I think there is a great deal in Dr. Schacht's case. Colonies become important in proportion as economic nationalism dominates the world. If we cannot get back to freer trade, and even if we can, I would try to find, by mutual concession among colonial Powers, areas, say in Central West Africa or in the Pacific, where Germany could develop sources of supply of certain raw materials or tropical foodstuffs which she cannot produce at home.

Finally, there is the question of Germany's "place in the sun." It is a difficult question. It is largely concerned, I think, with the future of the League of Nations. The League, in Germany's view, is in effect a combination of the beneficiaries of the Treaty of Versailles who are mainly concerned with maintaining what is left of that Treaty, and with "putting a ring round Germany." I think that that is not an unfair description of the League and its attitude to Germany since 1920, and I do not believe that the League can come into its own until justice has been done to Germany. Directly a solution of the German problem can be found, the dangerous alliance system will begin to disappear, and the League, with Germany as a central member of it, will begin to revive.

I venture to think that if it were not for the anxieties felt about the policy and intentions of the National-Socialist régime, there is hardly anybody who would not say that, if a solution of the German problem could be found on the three bases I have mentioned, it ought to be done. If the situation created in 1918 could be remedied by bringing about in Eastern Europe the kind of Mittel Europa on the model of the British Empire which I have described; if by some such means as I have suggested, and on the basis of Article 22 of the League of Nations Covenant so far as the treatment of the natives is concerned, there could be found for Germany areas overseas in which she could produce those special raw materials or minerals necessary to supplement her own economy; and if Germany could be convinced that the League of Nations is not a combination of her enemies, but a group of European nations in which a satisfied Germany would have as much influence as anybody else, I think the peace of the world would be secure. My own view is that there will be no lasting peace until some such solution is found.

Admittedly, I think, the present régime in Germany has been created by the policy of her neighbours, and mainly by the policy of keeping Germany down and "encircled," which has been relentlessly pursued by France since 1920. But when I say French policy, I do not mean to hold France alone responsible for that policy, because I think the United States and Great Britain are equally responsible. I have already described how we both defaulted on the original Treaty of Guarantee to France. France was deserted in 1920. Few of us realise how terrible a thing that was for France, for the reason that equality for Germany in itself means inequality for France. France has a population of about forty millions, as against Germany's sixty-five or seventy millions. She does not possess the same industrial resources, nor the same organising power. Further, the psychological situation left over by the last war is not always understood. There were two defeated nations. On the one hand Germany was defeated by the world combination against her, and had imposed upon her the severe and drastic punishment the general character of which I have tried to describe. On the other hand, if you look at the War as the last of the historic struggles between France and Germany, it was France who was defeated. In other words, France by herself could never have got Germany off French soil in 1918, any more than she was able to do so in 1870. Therefore, in looking at the policy of France, it must be recognised that without some addition of strength from outside it is impossible for France to face Germany alone. That is why France made the alliances in Eastern Europe, why she insisted on the unilateral disarmament of Germany, why she insisted as long as she could on the demilitarisation of the Rhineland, why she has always refused to give any concession to Germany which she has not been forced to give, and why M. Barthou refused to entertain Hitler's offers, on the one hand, of an army of three hundred thousand men, and, on the other, of an air force half the size of the French air force or one-third that of all neighbouring air forces, whichever was the smaller. France would not let go of the smallest fragment of the Versailles settlement until she was given an alternative security from some other source.

That situation is changed to-day. While Great Britain took advantage of France's armaments or alliances to disarm, and left France to deal with Europe in her own way, one of the most important consequences of British rearmament and of the new Locarno guarantees which we gave in April 1936 is that, at long last, we have not only entered into a joint defensive entente with France, but for the first time are in a position to mobilise behind it, or shall be in a position to do so, really effective strength. It is that reason which makes me believe that we can eliminate from our minds the fears and hates which are the subject matter of propaganda in all countries to-day, and not least in our own, and that we are in a better position to make a serious attempt to see whether it is not possible to come to terms with Germany before Europe and the world become rigidly embraced in the two great hostile alliance systems of which everyone is talking at present. We shall be able to enter those discussions from strength and not from weakness.

How is it possible to enter into such discussions? Can the League of Nations do it? I doubt it. I think it is true to say that League policy in relation to Germany has always been a policy of dictation by the beneficiaries of Versailles. It has been the failure of the League to attempt in any serious way to do justice to Germany, either when she was a Republic or since, which is the fundamental reason for the moral decline of the League to-day. Why did we fail in connection with Abyssinia? No doubt there are many reasons. For instance, I have always thought that the most fatal policy any government ever adopted was to allow Sir Samuel Hoare to make his speech at Geneva in September 1935 without first being sure that it could be followed by action. I was, at the time, very doubtful whether he should have made that speech at all but, having made it, I thought we should have seen it through, and I did not hesitate to say during the general election of November 1935 that, if necessary, we ought to have closed the Suez Canal or taken some equivalent action. But the fundamental reason why the League failed in regard to Abyssinia was because everybody was mainly concerned to maintain those unilateral discriminations against Germany which ought to have been removed many years ago. That was why nobody saw it through. Supposing the League had done justice to Germany in earlier years, and Germany had been a member of the League, I do not think there would have been any trouble at all. Instead, everybody was looking at Germany to see whether she proposed to take advantage of the situation in order to remilitarise the Rhineland, which from every moral point of view, seventeen years after the Armistice, she was entitled to do.

So, for the time being, I rule out the League of Nations as the instrument for making a settlement with Germany. Is there any alternative way? There are in my view two possibilities. The first is that a commission should be set up, under the chairmanship of someone appointed by the President of the United States, on which should sit no beneficiary of the Treaty of Versailles—neither Great Britain nor France, nor Czechoslovakia, nor Poland, nor any other country which benefitted—and ask it to investigate what alterations in the status quo are, in its opinion, advisable or necessary to bring about a relationship between Germany and her neighbours which could justly be regarded as a basis for peace. No government could promise beforehand to endorse the decision of such a body. But I venture to think that, if it were possible to set up such a tribunal and to obtain a report from really eminent people with political experience, not one of whom belonged to a country which in any direct way could be said to be a beneficiary under the Treaty of Versailles, a set of recommendations might result which would pave the way to real discussions which might lead towards a final settlement.

Failing that, I see no alternative at the moment but a British initiative. As I have said, we have at last given to France the guarantee which we promised in 1918 and we are in a position, or in a far better position than before, to make that guarantee good. We are thus in a position to talk with Germany without incurring the charge that we are deserting France, for I would reaffirm in the strongest terms the defensive Locarno guarantee, while reaffirming also that we are in no way bound by France's understandings with other Powers; therefore the great stumbling-block to negotiation in the past has been removed.

I do not think that the Spanish situation is fundamental to the problem which I have been describing, although it may lead to an international temper which will make the solution of that problem very difficult. In my view, Hitler's interest in the Spanish question is mainly what is not very euphoniously called ideological. I do not think that Germany has any territorial or colonial aspirations in Spain. I think, on the other hand, that Hitler, with his well-known antagonism to Communism, feels that the possibility of what he would call a Red Spain is so serious for Europe, and consequently for National-Socialist Germany, that he will go to very great lengths to prevent the success of what he regards as a Red Government. That, I believe, is the root of the problem in Spain as far as Hitler is concerned. But it involves an inevitable collision with Great Britain for the reason that we do not take that view. In our view the Spanish problem is fundamentally a civil war. I do not think the majority of British people want to see either side win outright. They want something to come out of Spain which will be a more temperate form of government than a victory for either of the two extreme parties to-day. But in any case they feel that this is a matter which should be left to the Spaniards, and that it is wrong for anybody else to interfere, in order to bring about a solution according to their particular point of view. On the other hand, I think that while the attitude of Italy is in some ways similar to that of Germany, it is also strategic. She is concerned with the future of peace in the Mediterranean and her policy may therefore be a challenge to British strategic interests in that historic sea. That is why the Spanish problem is dangerous. There is a conflict of principle between Germany and ourselves, and a conflict of national strategic interest between Italy and ourselves. It will be difficult to come to grips with the main German question until the Spanish question is out of the way.

The root of the German problem to-day, therefore, is that at the back of our minds we feel that there is still justice to be done to Germany, and in the front of our minds we have grave doubts as to the consequences of trying to do justice to Germany as long as the National-Socialist Party is in office.

On that problem I would only make one comment. The removal of legitimate grievances removes the basis of discontent and feelings which the advocates of forcible expansion can exploit for their own ends, even though it may also improve a nation's strategic position for aggression. To refuse to do justice lest the concessions involved may be abused, is to make explosion eventually inevitable. An old saying "Fiat justicia ruat coelum," is the only basis for peace even if it involves risks, and in the long run it is cheaper and safer to prepare to defend yourself against unjust aggression, than to do injustice in the hope of preventing it altogether, as the history of Germany since 1920 abundantly proves. A first step towards solving the problem of Germany and the dilemma involved is a firm but friendly exploration by the British Government of the whole position in Berlin. It is impossible to make final judgments till that has been done.

May I, in conclusion, say a word about diplomatic methods in the contemporary world? We have now passed out of a world in which the power and prestige of the Allied Powers was so overwhelming that international questions could be dealt with by discussions in which we had the power of decision in our own hands. We are now once more in the traditional world in which successful diplomacy is inseparably connected with the strength that can be brought to bear behind one's case. That situation is almost inevitable under conditions of international anarchy, and the League of Nations, in my view, cannot alter the position, because it is based upon the sovereignty of its member States. The League will work as long as the principal nations of the world are fundamentally satisfied with the status quo. If we can solve the German problem, we shall recreate the conditions in which the League can function. But unless the League can find a method of altering the status quo, which it has not yet done, I do not think the League system, as originally conceived, can work when a number of important States are profoundly dissatisfied with the status quo. The League then, inevitably, degenerates into a combination which, on the one hand, mainly seeks to maintain the status quo, and, on the other, seeks to alter it.

I would strongly urge that under the conditions of to-day our international policy must be based on a clear appreciation of where real strength lies. It is not enough to be convinced of the rightness of our case. Before taking action we must be sure that there is strength behind it also. As I have already indicated, the fatal mistake made about Abyssinia was that we did not really estimate beforehand whether in issuing the challenge to Mussolini we either had the strength or the will to see it through. One of the difficulties of the democratic system is that we are so accustomed to free controversy, so accustomed to the view that resolutions can eventually be turned into votes, and so, after a general election to political power, that we are inclined to think that our democratic methods can be applied to international affairs also. But we cannot do this. To begin with, our arguments do not reach the other countries, and, if they do, they will have no more influence than have the arguments of other countries upon us. And there is no general election to decide the case. In diplomacy you have to agree or resort to force. So in every crisis you have first to face the question of whether you, and such friends as you may have in the League of Nations and elsewhere, are really in a position to win in the case of war, because if you are certain, and the other person is certain, that you are going to win, and your case is reasonably sound, you will probably win, and without war. But bluff, which was fundamentally what happened in September 1935, is the most fatal policy, especially for a democracy to-day.

Therefore, to-day the important thing is for us to consider our political ideals in the light of the power which we can actually bring to bear behind them, and not to take decisions on the policy we propose to pursue until we know what physical power we can rely upon, and what countries are willing to act with us. Because, in the last resort, whether you are talking in terms of the League of Nations or not, in a world which consists of sovereign national States and which is, therefore, fundamentally an anarchy, the ultimate thing behind policy is force, just as the ultimate power behind law inside the State is force. Therefore I venture to think that the two most important things we have to do to-day are, on the one hand to consider whether there is any way of removing those root causes of the German problem that still spring from the Versailles settlement and, secondly, how far any action we may wish to take in foreign affairs is supported by a really superior strength which we, and any allies we may have, are in a position to bring to bear in a crisis.

Summary of Discussion.

MR. WICKHAM STEED said that he had the unexpected pleasure of expressing a considerable measure of agreement with one or two of the things the lecturer had said. He had expected to find himself in total disagreement on every single point. He agreed that nothing would be more fatal than a policy of bluff, and that Great Britain should contemplate no policy without considering the power that lay behind it, although he would qualify that statement by saying "the power which belief in her ideals would enable her to put behind it." With regard to all other points, especially the historical arguments, he was in complete disagreement. All these arguments could be traversed. What was mistakenly called German "War Guilt" had been mentioned. In 1919, when the Germans protested against the text of the draft treaty of Versailles, a very able and penetrating reply had been written putting the case very cogently. Mr. Philip Kerr (now Lord Lothian) had been the author. Was his judgment unsound then, and if so was it sound to-day?

The speaker had said Germany, Germany, Germany where he ought to have said Hitler, Hitler, Hitler. Was he aware that to-day 70 per cent. of the German people were in sullen revolt against Hitler, that animosity between Catholics and Protestants had disappeared, that peasants and large landowners alike were straining at the leash to get away from the present ruinous system? When German trade unionists had been asked, not long ago, by their own people, why they could not do anything, they replied that it was because "they" had got all the machine guns. In what language had the lecturer spoken with Herr Hitler which the power and prestige of the Allied Powers was so over-even Germans who had spoken German with Hitler had never been able to trust his word. The present speaker had been invited to visit Hitler, but after the murderous "clean up" of 30th June 1934 he did not care to meet such a man.

The real issue was: how were the German people to be saved for Europe? South Africa had been mentioned. There two White minorities lived under the pressure of a great Black majority, and one of those White minorities lived in fear of German strategic designs. In 1911 Botha had warned Winston Churchill that Germany meant ill to Great Britain, and said that when the time came he would clear them out of German South-West Africa.

There remained the great question of how to deal with Germany at the present time. Great Britain should show her ideals plainly to the German people, and uphold their right to live, even if she had to break with Hitler.

LORD ARNOLD said that there would be unanimous appreciation of the able address given by Lord Lothian. If the views of the last speaker prevailed, he was afraid peace in Europe would not last long. Also he felt sceptical about statistics to the effect that about 70 per cent. of the German people were against Hitler. He had been hearing that sort of thing about Italy for years, and also each autumn it had been said that Hitler could not survive another winter. We must recognise that Hitler was in power in Germany, and the only alternative to negotiating with Germany, and that meant with Hitler, was—sooner or later—war. It was ridiculous to speak of standing behind the German people against Hitler.

He had been very impressed by Lord Lothian's closing remarks concerning British initiative. This had been lacking for a long time. Mr. Lansbury had quoted an eminent German who said that there would never be peace in Europe until Germany's economic position was altered. What had Great Britain done in that direction? Everyone knew that the Ottawa Agreements, for instance, were an offence to a country like Germany. The British Empire comprised a quarter of the world's territory and population, and more than a quarter of the world's wealth. Out of twenty-five essential commodities and minerals there were adequate supplies in the British Empire of eighteen. Germany had adequate supplies of only four, and she had no colonies whatever. Great Britain had not only done nothing in regard to Germany's demand for colonies, but had indicated that nothing would be done. It was impossible that Germany should continue to have no overseas territory, while Great Britain, with her smaller population which would soon be declining, should retain in the British Empire a quarter of the world's territory. If Great Britain were in the position of Germany she would feel exactly as Germany does. British statesmen were not good at putting themselves in the position of other peoples 1935, is the most fatal policy, especially for a democracy to-day.

Dear Friends:

My skipping a September letter to you, which I regret, is only part of the "skipping" I have been doing. While I have had more personal cares and worries than a dog has fleas, the New Deal has not overlooked trying to add to them! They say:

"The big fleas all have little fleas
On 'em to bite 'em
And little fleas have smaller fleas
And so on ad infinitum."

In order to give the New Deal no excuse to move into my office or "borrow" my anti-Red records, every cent contributed to office expenses has been listed as an "anonymous" donation and income tax paid on it as though it were a personal fee to me - unjust as it seems to pay tax on what should be tax exempt and on what is paid to others to help carry on the patriotic work to which I donate my life and labor.

My husband has always made out all income tax reports; I only know when our office "cupboard" is bare of funds. This past July one Nathan Morris arrived at my husband's office with letters from the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., dated July 10, authorizing him to investigate both of our income tax returns for 1939-40. As the local Bureau had already investigated and okayed my husband's return this seemed fishy, we being small fry financially, as it is rare for the tax return of anyone outside of the millionaire or Al Capone class to be investigated twice.

So on inquiry, we were informed that Mr. Nathan Morris is not connected with either the local or Washington Income Tax Bureau but works right out of the Washington office of the Attorney General who heads the F.B.I. A "fishing expedition" was scented and his first question when he entered set the keynote: "What Fascist or Nazi or Communist organizations does Mrs. Dilling belong to?" The answer was a decided "Not one!" By chance I dropped into my husband's office while Mr. Morris was there and had a pleasant chat with him in which he told me of his long close association with Rabbi Stephen S. Wise (part of whose crimson record is listed in my books).

He inquired about the cost of our home way back in 1920, 21 years ago. "Aren't you going rather far afield for a 1939 income tax return?", he was asked. His significant reply was, "Well, perhaps I am but I have a job to do." I had a fair idea of what that "job" was. Added to my books and bulletins my recent opposition to Dictator-War Bill 1776 in Washington has keenly whetted the appetite of the New Deal and its warmongers to smear and silence [illegible]

An $800 New Deal "Fishing Trip"

And so for three months Mr. Nathan Morris has been demanding such laborious detailed proof of every bottle of ink, as it were, used in my office since 1939, that the bill of the expert accountant, whom my husband hired to handle the matter, has run up to $800! It must be disappointing to have discovered no "love gifts" to our office from Benito Mussolini or Adolph Hitler. Of course bloody Joe Stalin couldn't be suspected of contributing since we are being taxed to send millions in gifts to him.

Our dog, fortunately, is a little cocker spaniel. Were he a dachshund I might ere this have been in a concentration camp where 80% of our people, George Washingtonian Americans, who also oppose entangling European alliances, should join me.

Congressman Knutson, to quote (A.P. 10/8/41), "offered the House a definition of the difference between a Nazi and a Communist during debate today on the lend-lease bill. Said Knutson: "The only difference between a Nazi and a Communist is that a Nazi can't get a job in the New Deal."

I Travel at New Deal Expense

With Mr. Nathan Morris still plodding at his assignment of snooping over the purchase and use of any "tooth pick" I might have "twittled" in past years, another New Deal "billet doux" ("love note" to you) arrived in the shape of a subpoena to come to Washington, D. C., bringing all correspondence data, mailing lists, etc., connected with my purchase and distribution last October and November of a booklet of Lord Lothian's previous speeches which were a George Washingtonian argument against Britain and the U. S. sacrificing lives to hold down "the anarchy of Europe" in the "status quo".

At this summons to more expense, I made up my mind not to budge until I had a round trip ticket to Washington in hand; since there are billions of government tax money for bloody Joe, there should be a ticket for me. And so I sat packed to go for three days until at last a round trip and lower berth ticket finally appeared about a half hour before train time. By collecting the rest legally due me, of $1.50 per day witness fees plus $3.00 maintenance per day for three days, plus 10¢ per mile one way, I extracted the cost of a "nice" trip to Washington which I utilized to interview friendly Congressmen and Senators, to build fires under the enemy, and came home via New York where I did some valuable work. "I am here," I said proudly to friends, "at the expense of my government."

A New York friend gave me a huge round celluloid badge the size of a tea cup with the words "I AM A SPY". I pinned this inside my coat and ever since have been flashing it on people. At a ticket window, for example, I asked, "Can you hurry up that berth ticket? You haven't seen my badge have you?" "No", the man said respectfully, expecting to see some official connection, until I flashed out the "I AM A SPY" badge and he laughed. Today a friend gave me a small red nose with whiskers which can be quickly plopped on as one shows the badge! I used it on the office elevator men with fine effect today.

Although my subpoena was illegally drawn and I could have ignored it, I was glad to go and testify. Significantly, I had been well smeared by the Pearson and Allen column and the press before my arrival but was unable to get any statement of mine in the press concerning the matter.

The subpoena had requested that I bring to Washington all mailing lists, correspondence, etc., in connection with my purchase of the Lothian books. The moment it was served I offered to cooperate and turned over to be photostated all correspondence concerning my purchase of the Lothian books, my one and only transaction with Flanders Hall Publishers, of Scotch Plains, New Jersey, no member of whom I have ever met. This correspondence included my initial inquiry concerning prices, my order, my letters of bitter complaint at the huge C.O.D. express bill on the prepaid order which should have arrived postpaid and, besides, came four hundred copies short with the statement that unordered cartons at a big price had been sent to make up the difference (!); then, our threat of legal action and, finally, their letter sending a refund. The purchase was a headache but the speeches were good.

The New Deal O.G.P.U. At Work

Picture a New Deal "O.G.P.U." scene in which an assistant to Roosevelt's Attorney General turns on all the sarcasm and spleen possible to convey the idea that he is addressing a convicted criminal about to be hung (for buying copies of a Britisher's speeches) as he demands of the victim: "Are you the author of THE RED NETWORK in which Mrs. Roosevelt is listed as a Red?"

Victim: "I am! Of course I have ten times as much on her now as I had then."

He: "Do you intend to publish this?"

Victim: "Yes, providing you don't throw me in a concentration camp."

He: "Certainly you do not think that I or anyone associated with me would ever wish to interfere with freedom of speech or of the press?"

Victim: "Well, I am sure you are carrying out your orders to the best of your ability but in view of what I have gone through since I opposed the Lend-Lease Dictator-War Bill I'd say it smells mighty peculiar. I think they are out to get and silence me."

He: (With sinister glower) "What do you mean by 'they'?"

Victim: "What would you think? The New Deal of course."

A long harangue of sarcastic questions concerning my "so-called" Patriotic Research Bureau. An attempt to get its mailing lists ending with my determined retort: "You can draw and quarter me and throw me in a concentration camp but you will never get out of me the name of one single person who has ever befriended me so that they may be persecuted as I have been."

Denials that this was intended. An attempt to dig into Bureau donations and expenditures and have me itemize these which I couldn't possibly do. I am too pushed to even keep track of the stamps we have to buy.

Victim: "Why don't you ask your own man right out of your own office who has been busy since July counting up every penny spent by the office since 1939? He knows far more about it than I do. He is still there. Ask him!"

My "crime" of distributing copies of the Lothian speeches is taken up. Would I admit they were "Nazi" propaganda?

Victim: "No. Do you consider Lord Lothian a 'Nazi'?"

He: "No, indeed."

Victim: "Well, they were Lord Lothian's speeches. I distributed them during his lifetime; Wm. Randolph Hearst devoted two whole columns to quoting them; the Saturday Evening Post devoted an editorial page to quoting them, all of which went from coast to coast. If he did not make them it is strange that neither Lord

Lothian, while British Ambassador here, nor the British Embassy since he died (Dec. 12, 1940) have ever denied that he made those speeches. They are carefully documented. Have you discovered any of them to be phoney?"

He: "That is not my business. You run a Research Bureau."

Victim: "Since you have been able to bring me all the way from Chicago to ask about those speeches, why didn't you look them up and disprove one of them first? You have the whole F.B.I. back of you!"

He: "You know that you are known by the public all over the country don't you? You think that you are a very important woman in public life, don't you?"

Victim: "No, I do not."

He: "Well, when your name is used on something you know that it carries weight, don't you?"

Victim: "I know that nothing I have ever printed or said has ever been refuted by anyone and that my books have won important court cases."

He: (With a "hang the criminal" tone) "Why didn't YOU investigate Flanders Hall Publishers before you distributed those books with your recommendation?"

Victim: "Have you investigated whether the tie you are wearing has any German thread in it?"

He: "My wife bought it. I am sure she investigated."

Victim: "Went right to the manufacturers and looked into their purchases to see that no embargoed German material went into it? How do you know that you are not wearing German shoes?"

He: "Well, it is more important that the foot inside of the shoe has a kick in it." (Which would also apply to the Lothian speeches.)

He: (Very melodramatically) "Do you know by personal first-hand knowledge that Lord Lothian ever saw those speeches?"

Victim: "No. I vas not dere - I was in Chicago. They were delivered in England. How could I check them with the war on? He never denied them."

He: "You never tried to check them in the Library of Congress?"

Victim: "No. Are they there? That is a good tip. I will go right over and look them up when I leave here!"

He: "I will not say whether they are there or not. Have you registered as the agent of a foreign government?"

Victim: (With some heat) "Why on earth should an American-born citizen of all British and Scotch-Irish blood who has devoted ten years time to upholding Americanism do that? Can't one oppose foreign war involvement and be 100% pro-American without registering as a foreign agent?"

Then a long harangue in which he claimed that "James Burr Hamilton", the name signed to the short introduction to the booklet of the Lothian speeches, was the pen name of one "George Sylvester Viereck", a propagandist for Germany. Did I know that?

Victim: "No, I have never heard of Viereck until recently, in the press, but, even if what you say is true, I do not think the little introduction amounts to much one way or another. If the Devil himself wrote the introduction to Lord Lothian's speeches, it would not alter the speeches. If you can show me that Lothian did not make those speeches, I will humbly apologize to every person to whom I mailed a copy. If I prove he did, I will tell them that."

He: "But you should not wait. You should let me issue a statement to the press NOW telling them you have distributed Nazi propaganda!"

Victim: "No, I will issue my own statement and only after I check the speeches; those are what I bought. When I do issue a statement I will send you a copy." (I shall send him this.) "If I prove Lothian made those speeches, I will reproduce them under my own name and try to raise money to distribute a thousand times as many as I ever did before because every American citizen ought to read them! They exactly corroborate George Washington's ideas on the futility of the U.S.A. trying to maintain the anarchy of Europe and its perpetual entanglements in any status quo. Lothian says this is not worth the sacrifice of a million British lives; therefore it is not in my opinion worth one American life. I still am George Washingtonian even though he seems to have gone out of style with some people."

He: (Sarcastically) "So you have a movement called 'George Washingtonian'".

Victim: (A bit weary with the endless hectoring) "No, I have no movement. I merely have a picture of Washington on my office wall because I admire his principles."

He: "One little sentence or paragraph twisted from the context of those speeches could change their whole meaning."

Victim: "I will look into that also and reproduce the speeches in full. I have opposed dictatorship under any name, whether in Europe or in America, and upheld our American Republican form of government. If that be treason, make the most of it. If Flanders Hall Publishers is backed by any foreign propagandist, I certainly approve of your putting them out of business. At the same time I am also in favor of your putting out of business all other foreign agencies including the thousands of British propagandists who are overrunning our country, pushing us into war, to sacrifice our boys and our billions. Also the whole treasonable Communist press which is frankly committed to the overthrow of our government ought to be put out of business and the Bolsheviks ought to be put off the New Deal pay roll!"

Before I finally departed the gentleman began to exhibit a courteous change of manner - whether assumed or real. He even offered to do me the favor of searching for a mislaid paper! After all, he has to perform for his bosses.

Serving the F.B.I.

I have in the past given much data to Dies Committee investigators and, previous to my trip to Washington, had promised local F.B.I. men, free of charge, to let them put a man in my office to work on my unique files getting data for the F.B.I., which they want and need, even though this would require our assistance and we are pitifully short handed. On my return from Washington, when one of the F.B.I. boys came in for data, I looked up some things with him and then said:

"Listen: you and the rest of the F.B.I. men I know are a fine lot and I would do anything for you personally. But since your boss, the Attorney General's office, had me questioned as though I were a criminal for buying a bunch of Lord Lothian's speeches, I've made up my mind to charge you from now on for anything you get from this office. If they have billions for the dirty Reds, let them pay me for the use of my records which have cost thousands of dollars and ten years of my donated labor."

"Well, how much would you charge us?" he asked.

"Plenty - Lend-Lease style!", said I, jauntily.

"Wouldn't it be funny," Jean grinned, "if the New Deal helped support our office!"

At this moment one state and one local police department are waiting for me to compile reports for them.

The Lothian Speeches Check 100%

In Washington, after leaving my New Deal O.G.P.U. "boy friend", I hied myself over to the Library of Congress with a dear friend. We got every issue of the London Times and London Observer from which speeches in the Lothian book were quoted and they checked word for word. I had photostats made of the whole pages and speeches. International Affairs of London, Vol. 16, (cited on p.31 of the Lothian book) I secured and had photostated elsewhere. It checks 100%.

I have delayed issuing the Lothian material until I had photostats in hand of the sources of the last remaining four pages of speeches in the 53 page book.

You will get a copy of the speeches in their entirety just as printed in the British press, as soon as ready. The planographing will be expensive. The cheapest price I have secured so far is $150-plus for the first 1,000 copies or more than 15¢ each without postage or envelopes. The entire context is much "hotter" than the excerpts given in the Lothian booklet. I hope you will help to distribute many copies as soon as they are ready.

Have We Any "Freedoms"?

We shall see whether the fight to enforce the "four freedoms" - "everywhere in the world" - is to be completely extinguished at home!

"What a farce," I thought, as I saw a man in New York picking through a garbage can to get something to eat, just as I see them near my office in Chicago, to thunder about our taxing ourselves to death to fight and bleed abroad to secure for the rest of the globe the four freedoms, "freedom from want, freedom from fear, freedom of speech and press and freedom of worship", while we subsidize atheist religion-destroying Stalin and his murder gang, while there is want on every side at home, while American citizens are being denied halls, radio time, etc., and being razzed and grilled, as I have been, for opposing a dictator who has ignored our Constitutional checks and balances and has been pushing us into war against the will of 80% of the people without even bothering to consult Congress until after step after step had already been illegally taken! To quote him: "We planned it that way."

The End of Law

As a brilliant Washington, D. C., attorney told me in February: "As soon as we lose the right of Habeus Corpus, dictatorship will be complete and all rights under the law will be wiped out. Roosevelt's third term is now completing the packing of the courts with New Dealers so that justice by law is practically impossible for opponents of the New Deal, and Stimson", he said, "has already been talking about doing away with the right of Habeus Corpus."

England, its people paralyzed by long years of degenerative Marxian, pacifist, Red propaganda poison, found itself, as I saw there in 1939, being shoved into this world war much as we have been and by the same closely linked international crew operating between France, Wall Street, Washington and London. Since the war, British patriots have been thrown into jail without trial or formal charges, without means of self defense or liberation, deprived of the right of Habeas Corpus under a special measure known as "18B". The following from the London Patriot of Sept. 4, 1941, gives one an idea of the "freedoms" in England under the rule of the international warmongers with whom our New Deal has aligned us. To quote:

"I wonder whether any of the members of Parliament who sat complacently on their benches whilst this astounding law was being passed realised that they were forging a weapon which might one day be turned against themselves with deadly effect?

"Men in power are apt to imagine that power will last forever, ignoring the immortal maxim quoted by Mirabeau after his fall: 'It is but a step from the Capitol to the Tarpeian Rock'.

"Habeas Corpus could, of course, be revoked in times of national emergency, when the guilt of the victim was obvious or suspected on good grounds WHICH WERE MADE KNOWN TO HIM, thus giving him a chance to defend himself without formal trial. It did not keep him for years in prison, not knowing what he was there for. 18B is thus not merely a revocation of Habeas Corpus but a return to the methods of the French Revolution, of which we are now told to admire 'the glorious principles.' But for the absence of the death penalty, its nearest counterpart may be found in the Loi du 22 Priarial, which deprived its victims of the right of trial and of witnesses for the defense, and heralded that bloodiest period of the Revolution known as 'The Great Terror.' Little did Robespierre, in framing this law when at the height of his power, dream that the dripping blade of the guillotine would one day fall on his own head...

"With the keystone of British justice removed, those in power can use it as they please against their opponents. In vain may its authors cry for mercy, asking of what they are accused, demanding the right to defend themselves. No answer will be vouchsafed but 'You destroyed that right yourselves; now you must bear the consequences.'

"18B is, indeed, on one point even more unjust than the autocratic regimes of the past in that it acts on false pretexts. Under the former, when throwing a man into prison and treating him with the utmost cruelty, no secret was made of the reason, namely that he was an enemy of the political system in power, thus winning sympathy for him and often honour as a martyr in the eyes of those who shared his opinions. They did not publicly accuse him of being a traitor to his country and in league with enemies out to destroy it, which would have degraded him in the eyes of every patriot, even of his own party.

"And this is where another and important aspect of the matter comes in, to which hitherto little attention has been paid. It is not only arrest and imprisonment the victim of 18B has to fear, but other measures deriving from the French Revolution - the Loi des Suspects, the visite domiciliere - in those terrible days when it was said, 'Woe to him who has an enemy!' So today anyone who bears a grudge against another, or any jealous rival, can lodge an absolutely false allegation to the police against the object of his malice, with the result of a perquisition being made at his house. And then, even if officially proved to be the stoutest patriot, he receives no redress. The slanderer incurs no penalty, is at liberty to go on repeating the slander as long as he pleases, whilst the innocent victim is given no means for making his vindication public. For the rest of his life he will be followed by the whisper that he is 'the man who was suspect during the war.' His life has been spared but all that makes it worth living has been taken from him.

"Unless this unprecedented law is revoked soon...and British justice is restored to her honoured place, no man or woman in England can be sure of their liberty, and perhaps later of their life."

In America Also

Lindbergh, for telling our Nation the truth about European armaments, etc., is being smeared from coast to coast as a "Nazi". We read that Mr. Henry Ford is to be "investigated" after the radical and Jewish press has been printing the most fantastic libels against him and "reproducing" private correspondence from his plant. This was no surprise to me. I tried unsuccessfully over a year ago, as the result of bitter experience with the same source, to warn the Ford Company of the treachery on their own pay roll - but in vain.

The countless sound patriots in America First are being viciously smeared as "Nazis" and "Fascists". Only in case Reds inside America First are successful in taking it over will it be given a clean bill of health by our controlled press.

Just For a Laugh

Have you heard this story? "A German and an Englishman and a Russian were riding in the Clipper. In the middle of the ocean the pilot came back and said, 'I am sorry, gentlemen, we are running out of gas. One of you will have to go overboard.' The German stood up and saluted, 'Heil Hitler', and jumped overboard. An hour later the pilot came back and said, 'I am sorry, gentlemen, but another one of you will have to go overboard.' The Englishman stood up and saluted saying, 'There will always be an England', and threw the Russian overboard."

I also heard this one: A plane was brought down in the sea off Norway. The man who went out to investigate was asked if it were a German plane. He said it was and, on being asked whether the Germans on it were alive or dead, said: "Well, one of them said he was alive but you know what liars those Germans are!"

I wish American mothers with leisure would leave their bridge tables and clubs long enough to investigate conditions among school children as the result of years of Red materialistic "progressive education" and Freudian sex filth. A mother shocked me this morning by telling me why, among other similar reasons, she had taken her twelve year old daughter out of one of our most "select" local private schools for girls. When her little girl matured, eleven year old classmates of hers warned her: "Now you will have to be careful with the boys or you will have a baby. We are lucky we don't have to worry about that yet." She asked her mother what they meant!

One of our North Shore police officers said to me the other day: "If the parents only realized the wild life that most of their young people are living these days! Things are entirely different from what they were in your day and mine. My sixteen year old daughter has been going out to the _____ Club" (one of the joints which cater to North Shore High School and College youngsters)

"and they have been serving her booze. I went out and gave them warning that she is a minor and the next time they serve her a drink I will close the place!" What are the parents of other young folks, who go there and to similar "joints", doing?

My 21 year old son thinks he is engaged to a sweet little girl not yet 18 who enrolled this year in Wisconsin University which, for years, has been nicknamed "little Moscow".(See the chapter on Glenn Frank and "free love" in Wisconsin in my book THE RED NETWORK.) Son is now worrying over his girl like an old father because of things like these: he says her sorority went out the night she was pledged with a fraternity and "co-educationally" got drunk together. They tried to get her drunk too! The girls in her dormitory who go out at night are supposed to sign out and sign in at 12:30 at night but, he says, a side door is left open and those who stay out all night simply omit signing out and boldly come in the side door in the morning; many girls are in trouble. The boys make no secret of their "dishonorable intentions" and, as he puts it, "start working on a girl as soon as they meet her" and "the whole atmostphere is one of open acceptance of such standards. In fact, they make fun of a girl who 'holds out' - even her own sorority sisters - then after she has slipped once or twice she gets just like the rest! I don't want the girl I marry like that!"

Reports of wholesale immorality in parking places there, and my High School daughter and her friends report the same conditions near us, evoke sad and fearful thoughts over the future of America and its coming citizenry. The amut-filled popular novel mirrors the low ideals of the times. P.T.A.'s, instead of fighting religious education, should be fostering it.

Reds Fight Religion

A sound Christian minister writes me Oct. 15th as follows:

"Dear Mrs. Dilling:

"I am writing in behalf of the Council for Religious Education of _____. We have been giving Religious Education for three years on Thursdays at 2:30 P.M.

"The board of Education has granted the request of parents to have their children excused from classes for one hour on Thursdays. The parents state on the request to what Church they wish to send their children.

"For three years we have not had much opposition but now some people are beginning to object, and try to find some law to have this Education discontinued.

"At present one of the P.T.A. Organizations has taken it upon itself to put on a program to bring this matter of Religious Education to an open discussion which we believe will lead into a debate and ill feeling.

"Here is their PROGRAM:-'Religious Education in the Schools.'

(a) Possibilities for Good - by a local minister. (We refused)
(b) Possible Evils and Disadvantages - Mr. Ira Latimer, Executive Secretary, Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.

"What we would like to know is about this Mr. Ira Latimer. Where does he stand? Who is he? What does he believe? Let us know if you have any positive information about him. And then we would like to know about this 'Chicago Civil Liberties Committee.'

"We would appreciate an early reply, if possible. This P.T.A. meeting is to be held the 12th of November, and we would like to know before hand who this man is and what kind of Organization this Chicago Civil Liberties Committee is.

"We believe the school board is within their rights when they dismiss a child at the request of the parents.

"Thanking you I am yours,
(Signature)_____

I am writing him in part as follows:

"Dear Reverend_____:

"The Chicago Civil Liberties Committee is the Chicago branch of the Communist-aiding American Civil Liberties Union. The section on the American Civil Liberties Union (pp.111-123) in my book THE RED NETWORK was used by the San Diego School Board as a basis for barring the American Civil Liberties Union from using the school auditorium for meetings as a 'seditious and disloyal organization'. When not one fact in my book could be refuted by American Civil Liberties Union leaders, the book was admitted in evidence and the American Civil Liberties Union was barred (Judge Arthur L. Mundo; Dept. 6 of the Superior Court of San Diego; Case number 79805; decided 3/13/35).

"I can show you one American Civil Liberties Union pamphlet after another with their reports on how they continually uphold, in the Courts and otherwise, the 'right' of teachers to teach atheism, Communism, etc., in public schools. This they call 'academic freedom'.

"Their yearly report for 1932-1933 (p.25) under the heading 'Freedom In Schools and Colleges' lists among other cases 'affecting college teachers and students expressing pacifist, liberal or radical views': '(4) The dismissal of Prof. Ira Latimer from LeMoyne College (colored), Memphis, for his public activities' (radicalism).

"When the communist National Student Congress Against War (See p.228 of THE RED NETWORK), called by Moscow, was held at the University of Chicago, Dec. 27-29, 1932, the national committee sponsoring it included 'Ira Latimer, LeMoyne College, Memphis, Tenn.'. Communists Earl Browder, Scott Nearing, etc., were Congress speakers.

"I can also show you American Civil Liberties Union pamphlets, issued from year to year, with maps designating those sections of the U.S.A. where Bible reading is still permitted in schools. They continually fight against this. They carried on the Court suit to bar Bible reading from New York public schools for the atheist Freethinkers of America (See p.160 of THE RED NETWORK).

"The American Civil Liberties Union militantly upholds and supplies legal aid for every phase of the Red movement: atheism, obscenity, Red crimes of all sorts, including murder. Lawyer Morris Ernst, now and for many years one of their two National Counsels, is author of a book in defense of obscenity entitled 'To the Pure - A Study in Obscenity and the Censor' (Viking Press).

"Ira Latimer was appointed executive secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union in the winter of 1936. In line with the intimate relations between the American Civil Liberties Union and the Communist Party is the report of a Communist Party functionary that at a special meeting of Party functionaries, held Sept. 27, 1938, Latimer was among the 'participants'.

"Ira Latimer was a member of the 'Civil Rights Commission' of Moscow's own American League for Peace and Democracy (1/39) organized for Red revolution and treason and forced under cover by Dies Committee publicity. When Moscow's world-wide M.O.P.R., whose U.S.A. branch is called the International Labor Defense, held two 'Scottsboro Rallies' in Chicago, Ira Latimer, along with local Communists, was a scheduled speaker (Communist Party's Midwest Daily Record 6/24/38) and was a member of their Chicago Scottsboro Defense Committee 1937-38.

"In 1937, a fund-raising campaign was put on for communistic Commonwealth College, a little training school for Red agitators at Mena, Arkansas, where nude bathing and atheism were 'part of the curriculum', according to Legislative Investigating Committee testimony. Ira Latimer, along with various Communists, was a member of the 'Finance Campaign Committee' to raise funds for Commonwealth College and its red affiliate, the Highlander Folk School at Monteagle, Tenn.

"In this connection you may recall the donations Mrs. Roosevelt has made to red Highlander Folk School and also the New Deal subsidy given red Commonwealth College. When Mrs. Roosevelt came to Chicago as speaker for the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee, March 14, 1940, she raised $2,000 for their Red work and was paid a fee of $1,500.

"The Red motion picture, 'Pastor Hall', sponsored by James Roosevelt, with Mrs. Roosevelt taking part, was written by Ernst Toller who was honored by world Jewry in 1937 as a representative Jew. He was a Communist who was imprisoned by the German Republic for leading the bloody Soviet Revolution in Germany in 1918-19, and later carried on his Communist activities in the U.S.A. and left his 'Last Testament' to the Communist Party's New Masses magazine before he committed suicide in 1939.

"When the 'Pastor Hall' film was banned in Chicago, Ira Latimer and the Chicago Civil Liberties Committee took the lead in fighting the ban.

"Of course, Latimer also led the protest against the Chicago ban on the Soviet film, 'The Oppenheim Family' (Chicago Examiner, 6/3/39). He was speaker for the convention of the communistic American Committee for Protection of Foreign Born Workers (3/40) held in Washington, D. C.

"'Quits Red Vote Hearing Ahead of Punch in Nose' is the heading of this recent news report:

"'Ira Latimer, executive secretary of the Chicago Civil Liberties union, was ordered from the house executive committee meeting late today. Latimer left when the chairman, Reed F. Cutler (R., Lewistown), threatened to throw him out if he didn't go voluntarily.

"'After the committee had approved, 18 to 1, bills to outlaw the communist party from the ballot in Illinois, Latimer took from his brief case a handful of pamphlets "explaining the bill of rights" and laid them near Representative Dean McGaughey (D., Mount Zion).

"'"You get out of here," Cutler yelled at Latimer. "You're not coming in to this committee and insult any of its members, or spread your propaganda."

"'Latimer stopped to pick up his brief case. Cutler apparently thought his ouster order was to be disobeyed, for he started toward Latimer, shouting:

"'"You get out of here or I'll punch you in the nose."

"To cover Latimer's radical activities would require a book.

"The radical American Jewish Congress headed by red Rabbi Stephen S. Wise (see my books) is also very active this year in fighting to prevent 'release time' in public schools for religious instruction of any sort. Their letter sent out April 29, 1941, asks friends 'to align yourselves with the democratic forces in your community in order to carry out a program of opposition... against release time.'

"Such organizations make a stench of 'democratic' by their misuse of the word.

"If I can be of further help please call on me. I hope and pray not only that you may triumph against the red forces of atheism pitted against you but also that sound spiritual leaders like yourself may ultimately succeed in extending release time for religious instruction to other schools until every child in America is reached. 'Man does not live by bread alone.' 'As the twig is bent the tree will grow.'

"Yours sincerely for a Christian America,

"(Mrs. A. W.) ELIZABETH DILLING"

America Will Pay

Of course every effort is being made by radicals to prevent any provision for school children to be excused during school hours to receive religious training from teachers of their parents' own faith. As self-indulgent parents golf or sleep Sunday mornings themselves, fewer and fewer children are sent to Sunday School or receive any spiritual training at all.

America is already paying for its present materialistic trend in youthful crime, disease and the debauchery of society and government and if this trend is not checked America will pay still more just like France and every other nation that has fallen. We are now living on the remains of unearned spiritual blessings left us by those pioneering ancestors who put "In God we Trust" on our coins.

To quote: "EIGHTY MILLION AMERICANS NOT CHURCH MEMBERS - A recent survey the results of which were published by the Yearbook of American Churches, showed that of the nearly 130-million inhabitants of the U.S.A. only 52,378,026 were members of a church." We are living in a time of broken faith in God and mankind, world-wide confusion, warfare, physical and mental suffering, broken homes, loosened morals and anti-Christian Marxian propaganda in schools, public thinking and government.

Red Labor Temple

While in New York I visited Labor Temple, long a Red Center for atheistic communistic propaganda, supported by Presbyterian Church Mission funds! On the bulletin board was a cartoon of Jesus Christ (reproduced in my book THE RED NETWORK) by Art Young, cartoonist for the atheist Communist press, which long ago appeared in the Communist Masses magazine and more recently in Norman Thomas' Socialist Call, 12/21/40, the title reading as follows:

"Reward - For Information Leading to the Apprehension of - Jesus Christ - Wanted-for Sedition, Criminal Anarchy - Vagrancy, and Conspiring to Overthrow the Established Government - Dresses poorly. Said to be a carpenter by trade, ill-nourished, has visionary ideas, associates with common working people the unemployed and bums. Alien-Believed to be a Jew. Alias 'Prince of Peace, Son of Man' - 'Light of the World' & & Professional Agitator Red Beard, Marks on hands and feet the Result of injuries inflicted by an angry mob led by respectable citizens and legal authorities."

Leaflets for distribution advertised "two courses of lectures" under "auspices, The Spinoza Institute of America" at Labor Temple by Harry Waton "author of the Philosophy of Marx, the Philosophy of Spinoza, etc." One lecture, for example, was to be on the "Managerial Revolution", and the footnote to the leaflet states: "We are facing a permanent historic and revolutionary transformation of private Capitalism into State Capitalism. State Capitalism will be the permanent social order of Society in this country as in all other countries until State Capitalism is transformed into Socialism."

That a "Spinoza Institute" should headquarter at a center supported by Christian mission funds is an appalling example of present day apostasy. Spinoza, idol of agnostics, was one of the only two Jews ever expelled from a Jewish synagogue according to B'nai B'rith. Spinoza's first biographer, Colerus, described Spinoza's philosophy as 'the most pernicious atheism that ever was seen in the world'. Bayle, a fellow philosopher, called him 'the systematizer of atheism'. Jewry generally proudly calls him 'blessed Spinoza'".

But this sort of thing is "old stuff" at Labor Temple. I have before me a New York Times clipping dated 2/16/25 headed "COMMUNISTS HISS RELIGION FOR PUPILS - Experiment at Public School 46 Called Entering Wedge for Churches. Freethinker Wants Fight - Rally of German Workmen and Their Families in Labor Temple Boos at Name of O'Shea." To quote the report: "Attacks by speakers on the experiment being made for the religious education of children attending Public School 46 were applauded yesterday at a mass meeting of German workmen and their families held at Labor Temple," (as in the past and at the present)"...The speakers were Ludwig Lore, editor of the Volkszeitung, a German Communist daily; Mrs. Lily Lore, Julia Stuart Poyntz of the Workers Party, Paul Schueler, a German Communist; Anna Louise Strong, author of a book on Soviet Russia, and Joseph Lewis, President of the New York Free Thinkers Society." (For whom the American Civil Liberties Union sued the school board.)

Another of my "cultural" activities, while in New York, was hearing Bertie Russell speak at the notorious red Rand School. Bertie is the little man who so long ago outgrew God Almighty and the Ten Commandments and has so fervently served the cause of raw carrots, unsulphured prunes, Marxism, "free love", the public flaunting of illegitimate sex affairs and children, and the training of the young along these lines. In his and Dora's (one of his wives) little school near London the children ran nude or dressed as they pleased.

Bertie's change, after posing as a radical pacifist and serving six months in an English prison for slurring the American armies, to now urging American armies and taxpayers to take over the burden of maintaining the British empire, is a mere bagatelle for this "great philosopher." He appeared to weigh about 90 pounds "over all" with diminutive unpressed pants flapping over short bony legs, thin deeply wrinkled chops, a receding chin like Andy Gump's and bright little circled eyes like a newly hatched sparrow's reaching for a worm, as he piped up in a voice like the rasp of a rusty hinge.

It was too funny to see, on the platform, the slavish kowtowing to this "great philosopher" of anti-God drivel. I wish a moving picture could have been taken of this "rival" of the Almighty's so that others could share my chuckles. Afterward, I bought a copy of his booklet "Why I am Not a Christian". In it he says: "I have to tell you two different things: first, why I do not believe in God and in immortality; and, secondly, why I do not think that Christ was the best and the wisest of men."

What A Crew!

What a commentary on our educational system that a great ballyhoo was raised in 1940 in support of Bertie's appointment as instructor in the City College of New York by the following college presidents: Robert M. Hutchins of the Univ. of Chicago; Mildred H. McAfee of Wellesley; John Stewart Bryan of William and Mary College; Robert Sproul of the Univ. of California; W. B. Alexander, acting president of Antioch College; Frank Kingdon, former pres. Univ. of Newark; William Allan Neilson, Pres. Emeritus of Smith College, and, to quote the N. Y. Herald Tribune, 3/1/40: "Dr. Harry D. Gideonse, president of Brooklyn College, an advisory member of the board, said the appointment" (of Bertrand Russell) "in every way reflected credit on City College and New York City. 'He' (Bertrand Russell) 'quite obviously is one of the monuments of Anglo-American philosophy...'"

Professors from coast to coast took up the cry including: Lyman Bryson, Teachers College, Columbia Univ.; Richard B. Morris, City College; Philip Wiener, City College; William P. Montague, Barnard College; Karl Llewellyn, Columbia Law School; Robert Lynd, Columbia Univ.; Morris Cohen, City College; Hatcher Hughes, Columbia Univ.; John Childs, Teachers College; Henry Pratt Fairchild, New York Univ.; George Counts, Teachers College; David Hart, Brooklyn College; Marjorie Hope Nicolson, Smith College; Irwin Edman, Columbia Univ.; Walter Rautenstrauch, Columbia Univ.; Goodwin Watson, Teachers College; Hans Reichenbach, Univ. of Calif.; Hugh Miller, Univ. of California; Horace M. Kallen, New School for Social Research; Franz Boas, Columbia Univ.; Frederick S. Deibler, Northwestern Univ.; Ralph E. Himstead, American Assn. of Univ. Profs. at Washington, D. C.; Carl Becker, Cornell Univ.; Walter B. Cannon, Harvard Univ.; Bernard D. N. Grebanier, Brooklyn College; George W. Hartmann, Teachers College, Columbia Univ.; Edwin C. Kemble, Harvard Univ.; William H. Kilpatrick, Columbia Univ.; Arthur O. Lovejoy, Johns Hopkins Univ.; Kirtley F. Mather, Harvard Univ.; Wesley C. Mitchell, Columbia Univ.; Philip E. Mosely, Cornell Univ.; Ralph Barton Perry, Harvard Univ.; John Harman Randall, Jr., Columbia Univ.; Arthur M. Schlesinger, Harvard Univ.; Harold Saxe Tuttle, Edwin C. Roedder, W. L. Estabrooke, J. Salwyn Schapiro, John Hastings, Theodore Goodman, Alfred G. Panaroni, Alexander Lehrman, Cecil H. Kindle, Frank K. Shuttleworth, Frank Mankiewics, Oscar Janowsky, E. McClung Fleming and Walter Knittle of City College; Robert K. Speer, N. Y. Univ.; Harry A. Overstreet, City College; Alonzo Myers, N. Y. Univ.; John Bridge, City College; Lyman R. Bradley, N. Y. Univ.; Nelson P. Mead, City College; Morton Gottschall, City College; also Norman Robbins, pres. of the College Parents Assn., etc., etc.

Then "ministerial" radicals, including the Federal Council of Churches, spoke up for Bertie's appointment, such as: Rev. Robert E. Sandrus, Counselor to Protestant Students at Columbia; Rev. John Howland Lathrop, Church of Our Saviour, Brooklyn; Rev. A. J. Muste, Director Presbyterian Labor Temple; Rev. H. Norman Sibley, Univ. Heights Presbyterian Church, N. Y. City; Dr. John Haynes Holmes, Community Church, N. Y. City; Rev. Frederick Reustle; Rev. John Paul Jones; Dr. Henry Neumann, Brooklyn Soc. for Ethical Culture; Rev. Harley J. Hartman; Rabbi Jonah B. Wise; Rev. Charles L. Austin; Rabbi Michael Alper; Rev. James H. Robinson; J. S. Bixler, Harvard Divinity School; Halford E.

Luccock, Yale Divinity School; Dr. Samuel Schulman, rabbi emeritus of Temple Emanu-El; etc., etc.

Ordway Tead, chairman of the N. Y. C. Board of Higher Education, whose red activities would fill a book, sponsored a rally to uphold Bertrand Russell held under the auspices of communistic Franz Boas' American Committee for Democracy and Intellectual Freedom (Daily Worker, 4/5/40).

Of course red atheistic old John Dewey ballyhooed for Russell along with communistic Albert Einstein, who publicly opposes belief in God, and the long time and still active radical John T. Flynn. Flynn's erroneous twaddle in support of Russell included this: "'I voted for the appointment of Bertrand Russell. I know his work and believe him to be one of the foremost scholars in his field...He is a man of the highest character, whose morals will compare favorably with those of Bishop Manning. It is very unfair to him to lift a quotation out of his books to make it appear that he favors adultery.'"(N. Y. Herald Trib., 3/1/40)

Russell's Morals

The patriotic Military Order of the World War pamphlet of Dec., 1925, which is before me, sounded a warning. Its title is "Dangerous Doctrines Being Suggested To Youth". The subtitle is: "Bertrand Russell's Book, 'What I Believe', Which Sets Forth Immoral Ideas, Open to Severest Criticism - What One College President Thinks About Such Material." To quote in part:

"It is a well known fact that among the Youth Movement 'ideals' is the disregard of social laws, the establishment of a new social order, carrying with it the doctrine of 'freedom', coupled with 'revolt against home restraint' and what is worse, its idea regarding marriage, which was pretty well established by one Harry D. Gideonse who, after talking on the movement before an Ethical Culture School in New York on November 24, 1924, added that 'these were now being changed together with the ideas which the student had as to marriage.'

"...One of the most dangerous vehicles promulgating doctrines of 'free love' and sex perversion, and which is said to be circulated in colleges (the book is in its third edition), is called 'What I Believe', by one Bertrand Russell...Particularly dangerous is the third chapter of his book dealing with 'Moral Rules', quoted below, in part, and which needs no further comment as to its deadly doctrine. Dutton & Co., the publishers, are reported to have said that from one to six copies have gone to 125 schools and colleges." Among numerous quotations cited from Russell's book are these:

"'It is evident that a man with a scientific outlook on life cannot let himself be intimidated by texts of Scriptures or by the teachings of the Church... In all stages of education the influence of superstition is disastrous...For economic reasons, a woman-teacher must not be married; for moral reasons, she must not have extra-marital sexual relations. And yet everybody who has taken the trouble to study morbid psychology knows that prolonged virginity is, as a rule, extraordinary harmful to women...At middle-and-upper class schools the matter is even worse. There are chapel services and the care of morals is in the hands of clergymen...They all condemn sexual relations between unmarried people who are fond of each other...Boys and girls should be taught that nothing can justify sexual intercourse unless there is mutual inclination...They should also be taught methods of birth-control, so as to insure that children shall only come when they are wanted...It should be recognized that in the absence of children, sexual relations are a purely private matter, which does not concern either the state or the neighbors. Certain forms of sex relations which do not lead to children are at present punished by the criminal law; that is purely superstitious, since the matter is one which affects no one except the parties directly concerned.'"

That is the sort of "education" from which we are now gathering the rotten fruits.

Russell's Example To Youth

To quote one New York paper, beginning with Russell's divorce from Alys Smith: "He had asked her for a divorce and told her he was about to have a child by another woman. The other woman was Dora Black...Russell married her at once - because, he said, he wanted to legitimize their son to succeed to the earldom. During this time Russell had been expounding his views that men and women should indulge in 'marital infidelity to preserve their homes'.

"Men and women who wished to live together ought to do so, married or not. No man or woman should enter a permanent marriage relationship without having sexual experience first...Thereafter, the Russells practiced what he preached. They had a son and a daughter and determined to rear them by the same free standards. In 1927 they opened their Beacon Hill School in Hampshire, about two hours drive from London...Londoners nicknamed it 'The Paradise of Bad Children'. One story reported of the school was the visit of an adult who found the door opened by a 9-year-old girl completely nude. 'My God!' he exclaimed in consternation. 'There is no God,' the girl retorted coldly, and shut the door.

"During this time both Russell and his wife were experimenting with free love. Together they wrote 'Sex Freedom'. Russell made no effort to conceal his romantic affairs with other women. And his wife had her own. Finally, in 1933, London society, which had watched this with perturbation, was utterly aghast to read in the staid London Times the announcement of the birth of a child to 'Countess Russell and Mr. Griffin Barry'. Mr. Barry, it developed, was a journalist...

"But in the Spring of 1934 she filed suit for divorce...She asserted that Russell who was then 61, had misbehaved several times with a 20-year-old girl named Helen Spence. She went on to say that while she, the countess, had had affairs, Russell had had twice as many. The divorce was granted. Russell married Helen Spence - his third wife.

"Meanwhile, on the educational and philosophical fronts, all had not gone too well either. Back in 1924 Russell had made a number of speeches in China. When Bishop Birney of China arrived in this country to attend the Methodist Episcopal Quadrennial Conference, he labeled Russell's views as 'anti-Christian,' declaring: 'The youth movement in China includes a group which is assailing the Bible, and Bertrand Russell has lent his aid to this anti-Christian group by speaking at its meetings.'"

The Rand School Program

To return to the Rand School pro-war, pro-"Union Now" program, of Sept. 20th, on which Bertie spoke, I observed, while waiting to hear this "star", the plaque of red Eugene V. Debs which decorates one wall of this Rand School auditorium, named in Deb's honor, and also other walls decorated with paintings of naked ladies, more yellowish in hue, less meaty and pink than old time saloon models, one being entitled "To-morrow - Hope of Man".

Algernon Speaks

"Milk-fed" Algernon Lee, head of red Rand School, a perfect "Algernon" with soft round face and toy moustache, lengthily and daintily held forth, upholding the League of Nations and urging that the U.S.A. join the British Empire and the "governments in exile" in warlike actions, quite unperturbed as shouts of "Louder!" kept resounding from lusty members of the audience unable to hear him. A few gentiles were present.

Wm. E. Bohn, Rand School instructor and editor of the socialist paper, the New Leader (free copies of which were on every seat as we entered), with painful grinning grimaces and groping for words, then introduced a man who, he said, is now "leading community thinking". This was the long-time radical Harry D. Gideonse (listed in THE RED NETWORK), president of Brooklyn College, who more recently has aided the Spanish Reds and various Red refugee committees, and was speaker for pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith Day at the New York World's Fair along with B'nai B'rith's international president, Harry Monsky (Sentinel, 9/12/40). Gideonse' commendation of the rabid-for-war Jewish socialist Social Democratic Federation paper, The New Leader, distributed by Rand School, appears in its 11/23/40 issue.

Gideonse, the most effective speaker of the assortment, said that force is not bad; that the end justifies the means depending on the ends and means; that law is anchored in force; that we must remember that the Dred Scott decision and interpretation of the Constitution was settled by General Grant's army; that we must "dismantle our ideas of national sovereignty"; that we "need entangling alliances".

Miller Speaks

Mr. Bohn, with more inimitable grimaces, then announced that Wm. Green, head of the American Federation of Labor had designated Matthew Woll as speaker on this program, to represent the A.F. of L., but that Mr. Woll, being unable to come, had sent, instead, his "dear friend" Spencer Miller, long-time director of the Workers Education Bureau. Radical "Miller" has served various Socialist Party committees, and his socialistic Workers Education Bureau has been endorsed jointly by the A. F. of L. and the socialist Cooperative League of U.S.A. which is a fellow member with the Soviet Government's Cooperatives in the International Cooperative Alliance. (See my books.)

Bull-jawed Miller held forth so long, and with so much repetition, and the seats were so hard, I felt he really owed me money for listening - even though it would be useless to attempt to collect! He insisted that labor is asking that we abandon "short of war" and that this war is a "world revolution" and this is "our world". He said he had followed the "Union Now" Streit movement for 25 years; that Bevin (the English Red) and his trade union movement intended to reorganize Britain and British society after the war, and that we must work closely with them and reorganize both countries, two British delegates being then on the way here, he said, to help this. His demand for reorganizing and reconstructing American life (along radical lines) was reiterated until the weariness of boredom overwhelmed one.

His reference to "my friend John Flynn" (of America First) and to himself being denied, then admitted, to an America First rally, was significant to one in the know.

Bertie Speaks

At last came the "piece de resistance", the supreme of supremes of the program - Bertie Russell himself! Bohn, in introduction, humbly repeated how "proud and happy" he was to introduce Russell and how glad he would be if he were to "speak all night", this "really great philosopher", how "very, very proud" he was to introduce Mr. Russell.

Russell, beaming with pride, then piped up like a little sparrow, with broad British accent on words like "wah", "knaow", "suppaose", and informed us that British and U.S.A. interests are identical; that the U.S.A. by being neutral in peace time starts wars, as no country would dare fight if they knew the U.S.A. were against them; that the U.S.A. must guarantee in the future all small nations like Denmark by force; that "the United States must have all the responsibilities after the war"; "it cannot evade them"; that a world-wide Federation composed of the U.S.A. and British Empire must be set up and that other countries willing to assist should also be admitted as members but that this world Federation must not insist that member countries be democracies; "We must accept Stalin's Russia", he said; also the Federation must own all of the world's air force and arms; that the Federation's World Executive must have authority to define which country is, or is not, an aggressor, have power to declare war, command the world armed forces, tax goods on countries coming from outside the Federation, control all colonial possessions in the world, enforce every treaty; that the U.S.A. "must be willing as a member of the Federation to take part in disputes all over the world", as is its duty in China now.

He made one inadvertent admission, damaging to his war talk, that "everyone knew the Versailles Treaty was unjust" and since it could not be revised "armed force was necessary".

Why Pay for Such "Education"?

Visit university libraries and count the numbers of vicious, obscene, Communist books, the books by radicals like Goodwin B. Watson, Harold Rugg, John Dewey and a host of little "tin god" Marxist intellectuals who vaunt their anti-Christian, anti-American, anti-moral garbage in pompous verbiage. I have done this in several universities. Not one parent in a thousand, however, reading the names of their children's educators knows or bothers to find out what these men actually teach. Read what you are paying to have your children taught!

81 Freud Book Titles

My report on an incomplete survey I made of the University of Michigan in the Spring of 1939 includes this:

"Sigmund Freud, the Austrian Jewish exile who was a supporter of the Communist congress held in Amsterdam in 1932, has probably done more to break down moral decency and to spread sex filth under the guise of science than any other single man.

"When I visited the University of Michigan library there were counted 81 Sigmund Freud book titles. These well-thumbed volumes are evidence of University recommendations of this filth for student reading. A convinced disciple of Freud might well become ashamed of decent family affection. Freudian 'scientific' analyses continually portray love for mother, father, sister, or brother as being based on some sordid sexual desire for them.

"Making Everything Sexual

"As an example, the following is from one of the much used copies of Freud's 'Interpretation of Dreams' in the University of Michigan Library (Library card number 616.8F9T-T138,1913), page 257: 'It is correct to say that there is no series of associations which cannot be adapted to the representation of sexual facts. I conclude with the dream of a chemist, a young man, who has been trying to give up his habit of masturbation by replacing it with intercourse with women. Preliminary statement...'

"(Page 242) 'If with my patients I emphasize the frequency of the Oedipus dream of having sexual intercourse with one's mother - I get the answer...I can assure the reader that veiled dreams of sexual intercourse with the mother are a great deal more frequent than open ones to the same effect. There are dreams about landscapes and localities in which emphasis is always laid upon the assurance 'I have been there before'. In this case the locality is always the genital organ of the mother; it can indeed be asserted with such certainty of no other locality that one 'has been there before'.

"(Page 241) 'We have already asserted elsewhere that dreams which are conspicuously innocent invariably embrace coarse erotic wishes, and we might confirm this by means of numerous fresh examples...'

"Moral Garbage

"Parents who are as revolted at reading such a characteristic excerpt from Freud as I am to insert it, should bear in mind that the pages and pages of degenerate, unprintable dream 'examples' given in connection with it, not cited here, are even more revolting, and that all of this is in print and in the University of Michigan and other college libraries in constant use by fine young people sent there by their parents to be dosed by such poison. It would be better if parents, instead of their children, read Freud until they became angry enough to clean such anti-Christian, moronic, moral garbage out of the educational institutions attended by our nation's children."

"RUSSELL DENIES EXISTENCE OF DEITY BEFORE MORE THAN 2000 YESTERDAY

"This is the bold heading in the Feb. 19, 1939, issue of The Michigan Daily. Below it appears the picture showing Bertrand Russell, with 'Professor DeWitt Parker emerging from the Graduate Building after his morning lecture.'" And, typical of current apostasy was the admission that Russell "presenting the agnostic point of view" was "sponsored by the Student Religious Association."

What They Read at College

In addition, in the Univ. of Michigan library card index I counted cards on books by the following authors listed in the official catalogues of the Soviet Government's "International Publishers" and the Communist Party's "Workers Library Publishers", as follows: Henri Barbusse (French Communist) (16); Max Beer (16); Anthony Bimba, the Central Committeeman of the Communist Party who when sued for blasphemy was defended by the American Association for Advancement of Atheism, the Garland Fund and the American Civil Liberties Union (2); Earl Browder's "What is Communism" (3); Emile Burns (5); Alan Calmer (2); Wm. Peyton Coates (1); Henry David (2 copies); Horace B. Davis (1); Jerome Davis (12); Paul De Kruif (1); Robt. W. Dunn (8); R. Palme Dutt (5); Karl Marx and Friederich Engels (41); also cards on books covering Marx and Engels (79); Ben Field (1); Vera Figner (1); Louis Fischer (3); Wm. Z. Foster (5); Ralph Winston Fox (6); Joseph Freeman (4); Harry Gannes (1); Michael F. Gold, columnist of the Daily Worker, (2); Maxim Gorky (2); Jack Hardy (2); Wm. D. Haywood (1); Granville Hicks (3); Leo Huberman (1); Grace Hutchins (1); Allen Hutt (1); Frank Jellinek (1); Susan Myra Kingsbury (7); Peter A Kropotkin, Russian revolutionist, (15); Jurgen Kuczynski (6); Nadezhda Z. Krupskaya, Lenin's widow, (1); Joshua Kunitz (4); John Langdon-Davies (8); Joseph Lash with James Wechsler (1); V. I. Lenin (35); Gustav Mayer (1); Gustavus Myers (1); Wolf Abram Nodel (1); M. N. Pokrovsky (5); John Reed (1); Anna Rochester (8); F. L. Schuman (13); Sin Fu Seng (1); Agnes Smedley (1); John L. Spivak (1); Josef Stalin (20 cards including books about Stalin); John Strachey (7); Anna Louise Strong (16); D. Tanin (1); Charlotte Todes (1); Sidney and Beatrice Webb (32); Albert Rhys Williams (5); Walter Wilson (1); V. A. Yakhontoff (4); Samuel Yellen (1).

Cards on books by the following authors, members of the executive and national committee of the communist League of American Writers, in the Univ. of Michigan library included: Newton Arvin (2); Isador Schneider (2); James T. Farrell (20); Lewis Mumford (22); Richard Wright (4); Malcolm Cowley (3); Matthew Josephson (6); Alfred Kreymborg (4); John Howard Lawson (4); Edwin Seaver (1); Genevieve Taggard (1); Horace Gregory (2); Grace Lumpkin (1); Clifford Odets (5); Paul Peters (2); and Corliss Lamont, atheist head of the communist Friends of the Soviet Union and participant in the Congress of the above, (2); Erskine Caldwell (2); Jos. Freeman (4); and Mike Gold (2).

In a very incomplete survey, 189 were counted covering books on the subject of Communism, 76 cards for books on the subject of the Soviet Union, 656 cards listing books by radicals, 74 cards on Materialism (Atheism) and 81 cards on the filthy Sugmund Freud. But among the many Massachusetts House Reports in the Library, the one exposing and condemning Communist subversive activities was noticeable by its absence.

Winchell Again

While in New York, a lovely big dinner party was given for me. How I enjoyed meeting old friends! Warmongering Walter Winchell, who distributed Communist John L. Spivak's libelous book to every member of Congress, and who keeps the radio hot with lies concerning me and all other sincere patriots, suspected of disinclination to die for his co-racials abroad, reported (9/26/41): "Liz Dilling is in our midst. Had a party in her honor at the Griffin t'other night. Lizzy made a talk and called ye ed a warmonger and her persecutor. She said that her plans to get us boycotted out of business were 'proceeding according to plan'. Sounds like a D.N.B. announcement from Berlin."

But, Moscow's old trick of pinning a Nazi label on any and every opponent is becoming hackneyed since it has become necessary to pin it on 80% of our people. When every Jewish paper and commentator in the country yells for war this is called "patriotism" but, when Lindbergh says they yell for war this is called "anti-Semitism" or "Naziism".

Why Did Katherine Lewis Resign?

Supposedly, because of Lindbergh's reference to the current Jewish enthusiasm for U.S.A. involvement in the present war, Katherine Lewis, daughter and assistant of John L. Lewis, a faithful "fellow-traveler" of the Communist Party line ever since the C.I.O. was organized, has resigned from the national board of America First. (Chicago Times, 10/23/41.) But, meantime, bear in mind that the Communist Party line changed from isolationism to intervention when the Nazi-Soviet pact was broken.

Red Methods

A most interesting and cultured European whom I met while in New York told me how he had been captured and imprisoned in Russia at the end of the World War and was shifted from prison to prison during and after the bloody Red revolution; how in 1918, an epidemic of typhoid and malaria broke out among the 40,000 prisoners in the Russian prison at Totskoylager where he was incarcerated. The Reds had no medicines and, becoming fearful of the epidemic spreading, they burned the whole prison, prisoners and all; he was one of a very few who succeeded in escaping.

They Are Crushing Opposition

I was shocked to discover, in New York, how thoroughly the enemy has bored from within or utterly shattered every anti-Red organization there.

The American Patriots, who formerly held fine meetings, have long since folded up, broken up from within. A. Cloyd Gill was with the American Patriots until their finish. Reports of his friendly relations with pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith were current when I was there in 1938-9 just before the American Patriots' demise.

Last year, when I was in New York, my friend Jo Kamp who, through his Constitutional Educational League, has issued such excellent releases, was worried to death about paying his 'phone bill, etc. Cloyd Gill has been with Jo Kamp since Gill's unpleasant severance last fall from American Women Against Communism, directed by my friend Mrs. A. Cressy Morrison. Her organization, recently, was offered large financial help, for the use of its name, to be supplied from some unnamed source, by a person who gave Gill as his only reference. She has wisely refused this "aid", I understand.

Recently, when I 'phoned the Constitutional Educational League in New York, to speak to Jo Kamp, Mr. Gill, who answered, told me Kamp was honeymooning in the South. Although I cannot recall meeting Mr. Gill, he said very pleasantly that he had met me. So, I frankly questioned him about his policies and the reports I had heard. I had noted a change in the last Constitutional Educational League release, a change savouring of that so-familiar B'nai B'rith, Friends of Democracy propaganda "line", a crescendo which murmurs against "Communism" at the bottom rising to howling against "Nazis" and "Fascists" like Lindbergh (the label pinned on all opponents these days) up to bellowing against "anti-Semitism."

I had seen the letterhead of the Veterans Peace Temple of 1939 with Milton Solomon's name as chairman and A. Cloyd Gill's as executive vice-chairman. As Milton Solomon lists his connection with pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith, in "Who's Who in American Jewry", I asked Gill about this. He readily admitted this association and expressed the highest admiration for Solomon and also for B'nai B'rith as an organization.

Communism. He chuckled and said that it had certainly surprised Federal Council leaders who asked, to quote, "'Can this be the same Gill who used to be so socially minded and who worked so closely with us?' But," said he, "It is the Federal Council that has changed, not I. When I helped them draw up their 1919-20 Steel Strike Report I used to meet with them every night". He seemed proud of the Report.

The Federal Council and the Steel Strike

Of course, anyone who has studied and kept records on the subject knows that the Federal Council has never changed since the day it was organized and adopted the Social Creed of the Churches praised by Lenin! Also, anyone familiar with the history of the 1919-20 Steel Strike, led by communist Wm. Z. Foster, and of the stench raised by the Report on it issued by radical Federal Council leaders, would be as shocked as I was to hear him admit this!

Red Bishop McConnell of the Federal Council of Churches, who headed the Commission in whose name this Report on the 1919 Steel Strike was issued, has been active in leading communist activities to date. In "Fight" magazine (6/37), the magazine of the Communist Party's American League for Peace and Democracy, is an article entitled "Steel - By Bishop Francis J. McConnell as told to Dorothy McConnell".(His daughter and a staff member then of this Communist magazine and organization.)

In this article McConnell mentions his conversations with Communist Wm. Z. Foster who agitated this revolutionary 1919 Steel Strike embracing 356,000 men and says: "At the very end Firzpatrick and Foster came to us and asked us to try our hands at arbitration with the United States Steel Corporation...Mr. Gary refused to arbitrate. The men on strike, he declared, were ' Bolsheviki' and better out of the mill... With the publication of the Steel Report by our Commission, some time after the close of the strike, a howl went up from steel officials and their sympathizers all over the country..."

The Dept. of Justice on the Strike

A Dept. of Justice report, issued 5/6/20, which is before me, concerns this same Federal Council Steel Strike Report and states that investigators were sent to Pittsburgh, to quote, "for the purpose of investigating the steel strike and that all of these investigators were more or less radicals and that they were utilized by W. Z. Foster...in presenting his side of the strike." It also covers the records of various professional Red agitators, involved along with Federal Council reds like Harry Ward, recent head of the Communist Party's American League for Peace and Democracy in whose magazine Bishop McConnell's above article on the strike appeared.

Gill said that his next brochure would be entitled "The Jew is My Neighbor" and that he would send me a copy. He has since done so with the request for my comment. I asked him whom he considered the outstanding anti-Communist Jews. He mentioned Judge Jos. M. Proskauer and his American Jewish Committee and one Simon Lazarus of Columbus, a department store owner who, he said, "gave me $3200 for just one of my projects. In fact," Gill said, "the greatest support I have had through the years has been from the Jews!"

Gill's Pamphlet Razzing Lindbergh

The full title of Gill's booklet which he sent me is "The Jew is My Neighbor - An Open Letter to Uncle Sam's Problem Child - Charles A. Lindbergh". It reads like a B'nai B'rith harangue and is as full of inaccuracies. It berates Lindbergh and his "mischief-making Quislings", denounces the current Senatorial inquiry into motion-picture war-propaganda, upholds "aliens" and, copying red Birkhead's Friends of Democracy line says: "For your information, Charles, a recent national survey of Fifth Column elements in the United States showed approximately 700 groups definitely listed as belonging to the Fifth Column...However, not one of the important and typically Jewish Organizations is in the Fifth Column Roster." (Baloney! Zionist collectives financed from America are as Marxian in practice in Palestine as Sovietism.)

In his booklet Gill upholds the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (long officered by officials of Kuhn Loeb & Co. whose late head, Jacob Schiff, financed the Russian Revolution) which has poured millions of dollars into Soviet Russia in recent years and is interlocked with the American Jewish Committee. Gill also quotes in his booklet a speech by Judge Proskauer, executive committeeman of the American Jewish Committee.

Gill's Leading "Anti-Reds"

The American Jewish Committee is tied in with every radical project. The Associated Press, 6/18/38, announced the union for united action of the American Jewish Committee, the (Zionist)American Jewish Congress, headed by red Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, the pro-Red, anti-Christian B'nai B'rith and the socialist Jewish Labor Committee (of about a half million members, now financing the carrying on of Red underground work abroad).

Proskauer's fellow members of the executive committee of the American Jewish Committee include: Samuel I. Rosenman who writes F.D.R.'s speeches; Lewis L. Strauss, Kuhn Loeb & Co. partner; Frederick M. Warburg, another Kuhn Loeb & Co. partner; George Backer, executive of the Socialist-Communist American Labor Party and head of Ort Federation (affiliated with the Joint Distribution Committee), son-in-law of the Kuhn Loeb & Co. partner, Jacob Schiff, who financed the Russian Revolution, and owner of the New York Post; Maurice Wertheim, director of the red "Nation" and of the pro-Communist Freudian-filth center, the New School for Social Research, who married Alma Morgenthau, sister of Henry Morgenthau, Secy. of the Treasury; Louis E. Kirstein, vice-pres. of Wm. Filene Sons (whose late head Edw. A. Filene set aside not only a million dollars for socialist cooperative stores but set up the radical Twentieth Century Fund). Kirstein is director of F. & R. Lazarus & Co., of Columbus, signed propaganda appeals for Spanish Reds, is executive committeeman of the National Conference of Jews and Christians, sponsored by B'nai B'rith and the Federal Council of Churches, is a fellow member, with F.D.R. and Willkie, of the radical American Hebrew Medal Committee which has bemedaled such Red-aiders as LaGuardia, F.D.R., etc. Kirstein sat at the head table at the banquet at which alien-born Marxist-minded Felix Frankfurter, who has "master-minded" the Red movement through the American Civil Liberties Union, etc., for over 20 years, was presented with the Ford Hall Forum gold medal for 1939.

Proskauer is also one of the sponsoring board, along with leading Reds, of the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom, Alvin Johnson, head of the pro-Communist New School for Social Research being vice-president, and the chairman red Thomas Mann (See p.60 of my book THE ROOSEVELT RED RECORD AND ITS BACKGROUND for his Moscow-sponsored committee).

A letter bleating over the suicide of Ernst Toller, Jewish Communist and a former leader of the bloody Soviet revolution in Germany, which asked aid for the "many like him" who could carry on "just a little longer" with help, was sent out by the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom, in 1939, with Proskauer's name on it as sponsor.

The American Hebrew, 9/19/41, reported: "...The American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish Labour Front, and the B'nai B'rith are combined in studies, although the Congress has established its separate bureau. They work in emulation, and not in conflict...American Jewry realizes that during the war - and probably for years after - it is the trustee of the destiny of our people in Palestine and of the remnant of our people in the continent of Europe."

Gill's Booklet Ranked With B'nai B'rith's Stuff

The Jewish Sentinel which, according to its masthead, is "A Weekly Newspaper Devoted to Jewish Interests", gives its entire editorial page, 10/23/41, to rhapsodizing over Gill's booklet, "The Jew Is My Neighbor", headlining it "A MOST PRAISEWORTHY REPLY TO LINDBERGH" and urging the "widest circulation" for it, "that it may take its place alongside the compilations by the Council Against Intolerance in America" (a radical Jewish front co-chairmaned by George Gordon Battle, Earl Browder's attorney friend), "the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith and others". Copious quotations from Gill's booklet, included these maudlin lines to Lindbergh: "My friends - at least some of them - insist that I should hate the Jews. But, I don't."

Why misrepresent Lindbergh as hating the Jews or wanting anyone else to hate them because he said truthfully that, as a whole, American Jewry is, understandably, urging U.S.A. involvement in the world war, and that in this campaign "their greatest danger to this country is their large ownership and influence in our motion pictures, our press, our radio and our government".

This very Jewish Sentinel which denounces Lindbergh as "anti-Semitic" for saying the above has been unceasingly yelling for U.S.A. war involvement. While it would certainly be un-American if Lindbergh opposed any loyal American citizen because of race or creed, it is also un-American for any citizen to give greater loyalty to any foreign country or to any racial element at home or abroad than he gives to America and its whole people.

The same Jewish Sentinel, 10/9/41, in an ecstatic editorial tribute to the Red-aiding, world-wide Zionist leader, Justice Brandeis says: "It is to the everlasting credit of Justice Brandeis that he remained loyally Jewish" and Brandeis' services to the international Zionist racial cause are extolled as an "inspiring record of loyalty to his people and his people's cause".

Brandeis held that every Jew must "Organize! Organize! Organize!", must "stand up and be counted" as a separate race. But that policy makes for ill-feeling when the interests of a country in which Jews enjoy citizenship conflict with the interests of such Jewish international racial solidarity as he advocated. This unfortunate racial blindness was foretold by Scripture and makes the study of Biblical Prophecy the only clear guide to current events.

Zionism, while frequently acting as a rival, is just as Marxist as Stalinism. The Zionist cooperatives in Palestine are carried on along socialist Soviet lines, as I observed in 1939, with religion of any kind largely omitted and 85% of the workers organized in the Histadrut Labor organization affiliated with the red Socialist International. As Scripture foretold, Jewry is returning to Palestine in unbelief.

From Palestine, recently, "leaders of all factions of Palestine Jewry" joined in broadcasting their praises to Moscow, according to the Jewish Examiner

(10/3/41) which stated: "Isaac Ben Zvi speaking on behalf of the Jewish National Council (of Palestine) said that 'Russian Jewry was and remained for us the cradle of Jewry's liberation'. Emphasizing that he voices the sentiments of a half million Jews, Ben Zvi stated: 'You brethren in Moscow...we follow with adoration the Russian heroic struggle..." (And so on) Ussishkin, "one of the fathers of the Zionist movement in Russia" praised Russia at length as the land of "full equality" for Jewry, where "the Jewish bent back has grown straight", etc.

The same issue of the Jewish Sentinel which editorially rhapsodizes over Gill's anti-Lindbergh pamphlet, reports (p.9): "A message of encouragement to the Jews of Soviet Russia was addressed this week by the American Jewish Congress" (ally of Proskauer's American Jewish Committee) "and the World Jewish Congress and transmitted through the Soviet Embassy in Washington".

A dear, kind, self-sacrificing patriotic woman friend of mine in New York told me how Gill, on the pretense that he needed to borrow a dollar from her (!), came to her apartment and pumped her at length concerning her anti-Red friends, associates and activities. Another patriot reported a similar experience.

The Conference at Nashville

Will Rogers always said, "All I know is what I read in the papers" but I am glad that that is not true in regard to all I read in the papers about myself! I spoke, Oct. 9th, for a great Christian Conference held in Nashville in the tabernacle of Rev. Sam Swain, where I have spoken before, and met many fine people afterwards. Rev. Love of Birmingham, who was present while newspaper reporters, hostile to the conference, interviewed me, with a twinkle in his eye remarked next day: "I keep thinking about the way you handled those reporters. They came determined to smear and discredit you but they came up against something they did not expect and went out looking so mild I have to laugh! The reporter most opposed to you told Rev. Swain afterwards 'I certainly disagree with everything Mrs. Dilling says but I have to give her credit for being one of the most sincere persons I have ever met.'" Aside from some personal jibes and some errors, you can see by the enclosed reproduction that these boys could have done worse by me. At any rate, accustomed as I am to being flayed, anything less appears almost as flattery.

Don't Worry - I Am Used To It!

Even in the patriotic camp, as in all others, there are always a few "kitty cats" who prefer gossiping and creating dissention to uniting in a common cause. Friends, the past week, have been writing me with kindly anguish over such imaginative bits circulated about me as: that I am "afraid" ever to go to Washington again; that I left the last time "weeping"; that I lecture for the Anglo-Saxon Federation (I have never even attended one of their meetings), etc., etc.

I have frequently heard the contradictory tales that I am a Catholic trying to disrupt the Methodist Church (when I expose a Red Methodist); that I am an anti-Catholic seeking to destroy the Catholic Church (when I expose a Red-aiding Catholic); and "Trigger" Norris, the preacher who killed an unarmed man and has been convicted recently of malicious libel, as he clipped over to England and back to do a "Willkie" for his B'nai B'rith friends, recently "placed" me in an insane asylum, in his own paper, that is.

After Norris printed the invention that my friend Dr. M. F. Ham, the great evangelist, had been maligned by me and other "Nazis" and had turned against us,

Dr. Ham to correct this 'phoned me long distance and has written two friendly letters denying that he had been maligned or had changed one iota from the stand he took in his conversation with me and in his letter which I quoted on page 5 of my "Trigger Norris" article.

Dr. Ham' letter to me, 9/29/41, closes with: "Trusting that you are still coming out victorious in your conflict against the anti-Christ..." His letter of 10/15/41 closes with: "The trick to discredit me is not new - I have had to fight it all in my entire ministry. The fact that you and I have the same convictions on this matter does not mean that either one of us is a tool of the other, or that we are tools of some alien powers, as some people would try to make it appear. Jesus had to fight the same subtle conspiracy...As far as I am concerned, there has been no change."

Changing "Line", Not Purpose

My unswerving course in support of Christianity and Americanism for the past ten years has been to labor to seek then make facts available to patriots to enable them to detect and combat subversive "boring from within" all churches and organizations. "It is later than you think."

The many Red Marxist parties keep confusing our best people with their changes of "line". The same Norman Thomas who, as director year after year of the communist Garland Fund which issued the communist New Masses magazine, has supplied every phase of the Red movement, the same Norman Thomas who split his party by insistence on Socialist Party united front with the Communist Party (for militancy, some feared, would illegalize the Party) now has become a "Saint" to many patriots because of his current opposition to U. S. involvement in the world war. But he is a Marxist just the same.

The Communist Party, which abruptly reversed its fight-the-axis "collective security" policy as soon as the Nazi-Soviet pact was signed, as quickly reversed to warmongering when it was broken.

The desertion of Stalin's Communist Party by flocks of Jewish intellectuals, following the Nazi-Soviet pact, indicates no change of heart but merely resentment at Stalin's temporary "betrayal" of Jewry and their intention to build Marxism along "local" lines here in the U.S.A. under their own, instead of Moscow's leadership.

Lyons Carves Up The Stalinists

It takes one Red intellectual to "artistically" carve up another Red former comrade. Eugene Lyons, Russian-born Jewish socialist, is one of the present luminaries of the Jewish-socialist "Social Democratic Federation" and a contributor to their paper, the New Leader, along with ex-Stalinist Benjamin Stolberg, Trotskyite Max Eastman, etc. I bought Lyon's book, "The Red Decade", after the Bertrand Russell lecture, in the red Rand School book store which is featuring it.

Of course, Lyons detests me and my anti-Marxist kind as much or more than he does the Stalinist rivals in the Socialist field. The article which he printed about me in American Mercury (July, 1939) by radical Milton Mayer was a frantic attempt to discredit me by ridicule. No one can accuse me, therefore, of being motivated by a desire to aid Lyons in the sale of his book by expressing the opinion that it is delightfully witty, brilliantly written and, with few exceptions, accurate. Nothing has ever amused me more. Page after page, he humorously relates what I have so laboriously catalogued, writing with a pen dipped in the acid of ridicule and sarcasm, which must irk, no end, the Stalinist comrades he knows so well from the inside. But how few reading his knife-like expose of Stalinism would observe how carefully he shields Marxian socialism itself, as well as certain pet Marxist devotees who have now, like him, decided to shed Stalin or are workers in his own camp.

For example, in poking fun at former gin-drinking middle class Bohemians who became Stalinists, he says (p.129): "With the egocentric yowling of their species they rushed into intellectual slumming as heatedly as they had gone in for slummy intellectualism...A lot of budding and a few overripe novel writers suddenly became interested in the plain people and got all puffed up over their new virtue as though Upton Sinclair, Jack London and a lot of others had never written." (Marxist Jack London's appeal for revolution appears in my ROOSEVELT RED RECORD AND ITS BACKGROUND and if the Soviet-kissing Upton Sinclair has ever failed Moscow that is news!) On page 134, Sinclair Lewis, radical Thornton Wilder (see my books), are similarly shielded, etc.

Lyons' comments on proletarian Red Culture convulsed me as I have had to deal with so much of it. Anyone who has seen an exhibition of Red "art" must laugh at the truth in his description (p.128) of Stalinist artists "portraying in paint, words, stage characters or dance rhythms - the idealized 'workers' of their fond imaginations; tall men with immense biceps, and squat women with buttocks like mountains, robust and rough-hewn and chanting of sweat and blood, or revolution and dialectics."

Help 100% Americans!

How it hurt to have to "blow" $3.00 to buy Lyons' book! With his Socialist connections he will sell plenty of copies. I want to give time soon to finish reading, then reviewing, the fascinating book by Dr. Bessie Burchett, a real 100% sound American Christian who has suffered martyrdom in Philadelphia and been retired from her important teaching position because of her patriotic opposition to Red influences in the schools. You cannot afford not to read her new book, her own interesting, vital, first hand experiences! It is only $1.50. She knows whereof she speaks and writes on the subject of "Education for Destruction". You should send for it and get others to do so. Her address is 5200 Warren St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Get Lyons' book from the public library but pay Dr. Burchett for hers. No Reds of any brand will help distribute her book for she shields no phase of Marxism! Therefore, she can only expect to be smeared as a "Nazi".

Jan Valtin Not Anti-Marxist

Jan Valtin (Richard Krebs), the former Soviet O.G.P.U. agent who so luridly assails Stalinism and Naziism in his book "Out of the Night", is being featured and vociferously upheld by the Socialists of the Social Democratic Federation and the Socialist Party of Norman Thomas, in whose affairs and Conferences he participates. He is married to and has a daughter by "a Rabbi's granddaughter - Abigail Harris, whose father was Adriel Harris the son of the late Maurice H. Harris of Temple Israel." (Sentinel, 9/4/41)

U.S. Trys Stalin's Rivals

One of the silliest things going on now is the trial by the U.S. Government of 28 Trotskyite Communists because of their Red revolutionary designs on our government, while the Stalinist Communists, their more powerful rivals with identical aims, are being feted at the White House and given taxpayers' Lend-Lease millions!

The Russian War Relief Comedy

Perhaps you saw the full page newspaper advertisement in the New York Times (10/10/41) of the Russian War Relief Benefit to be given by Russian War Relief, Inc., 535 Fifth Ave., New York, at Madison Square Garden, Oct. 27, 1941, seat prices ranging from 28¢ to $10 each. To quote it: "Russia's men and women are revealing themselves to the world - brave, proud, stalwart!...The dollars you give in this cause are dollars given to freedom's cause. Our Government is providing all possible military supplies to the Government of Russia. The people of America will stretch out a helping hand to support the people of Russia..."

"THESE EMINENT AMERICANS ASK YOUR HELP ON BEHALF OF THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE" is the heading at the bottom of the page above a list of over 300 names. And what a pot pourri they are of Communists and "fellow travelers", Marxists of every shade and hue, radical educators, writers and churchmen, New Deal politicians, Jewish capitalists, stooges of the radio and motion picture industry, and representatives of the whole pack of Soviet-loving Socialists and "liberals", who so obediently reverse themselves on any policy whether from urging radical-pacifist disarmament of the U.S.A. to warmongering or anything else, when Moscow, the spiritual "Fatherland", pushes the button. These names include: Jay Allen, correspondent; Mischa Auer, actor; Dr. Frank Aydelotte, Princeton; Allan C. Balch, Calif. Inst. Tech.; Tallulah Bankhead, actress; Eugene E. Barnett, gen. secy. man, U. of Chgo. Divinity Sch.; Albert Rhys Williams; David Rhys Williams; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise; Mary E. Woolley, Mt. Holyoke Coll.; Efrem Zimbalist, and many more.

The inconsistency of these people calling butcher Stalin's cause "freedom's cause" equals the inconsistency of Eugene Lyons (in his "Red Decade") breathing only reverence for the "old Bolsheviks" including Trotsky who with Stalin gained power by slaughtering and torturing millions in the Red Russian Revolution which Lyons calls "the greatest single event in our epoch" (p.237 -) while he flays Stalin on the same pages as the greatest monster of the centuries for "purging" thousands of his fellow "old Bolsheviks" by the same murder and torture treatment.

Reds Razz Halifax

The news report of how things got out of hand at this Russian Benefit at Madison Square Garden is droll. To quote:

"Viscount Halifax, British ambassador to the United States, stood mutely before a throng of 22,000 persons at a Russian war relief rally in Madison Square Garden tonight while Soviet sympathizers shouted: 'Open up a western front!'

"Continuing against a rising storm of taunting cries of active British military aid for the Russians, the long, lean English diplomat declared that aid from the two governments - the United States and Britain - would be forthcoming. As the hubbub increased in volume, Halifax was forced to strike out the next to the last paragraph and final sentence in his prepared speech.

"New Party Line Slogan

"'Open up a western front!' is the new party line slogan of the local communist organization and supplants the policy of 'the Yanks aren't coming!' that was the policy when the Soviet-Nazi nonaggression pact was in force several months ago.

"Party workers hawked 'Open up a western front!' buttons on the street corners around the garden, while girl vendors sold the Daily Worker, official communist newspaper, at the entrance. A big banner with the words 'Knit for Russia - register here' hung in the outer lobby.

"Inside the huge sports arena, 11 huge red flags, with the golden hammer and sickle emblazoned on them, hung from the balconies. They were threaded in between the United States stars and stripes, British Union Jack, and the flags of the nations conquered by Hitler.

"Pictures on Background - of Pink

"Suspended from the ceiling and dangling 50 feet - right over the ring where a battery of lights usually glares down on perspiring fistic gladiators - was a gigantic, four-sided, hollow 'V', the British victory symbol, with photomontage pictures of grim soldires, sailors, starving children, grief-stricken mothers, plastered on a background of pastel pink.

"There was just a hint of the coming trouble when Joseph E. Davies former ambassador to the U.S.S.R. and chairman of the President's committee on war relief agencies, started to speak. There were scattered cries of 'open up a western front!' but they subsided when a stentorian voice from the gallery yelled, 'Save it for Halifax!'

"Davies pictured Russia as 'standing in the breach, on the frontier of civilization, fighting for us'..Russia had built up her armies and 'cleansed her house of treason' while democracies slept, Davies declared. In fact, every one had slumbered except President Roosevelt, he remarked...

"Yells Delay Halifax's Start

"When Halifax was introduced by Edward C. Carter, national chairman of Russian War Relief, Inc., he had to wait several minutes, nervously fingering his script, while the yelling demonstration went on. The cries came from the upper reaches of the galleries, from the 25¢ seats (28¢ with federal tax) while the occupants of the $10 boxes in the arena looked up and glowered.

"There was applause when the British ambassador said that never before in all history had any nation shown 'a finer spirit of resistance' than had Russia, but someone in the gallery yelled: 'You didn't show it, but we did!'...

"Quoting Abraham Lincoln's words about the Civil war dead - 'The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here' - Viscount Halifax stirred up some more noise when he said that in the present situation 'what counts now is not what we say but what we do.'

"'Hurray - Western front!' shrieked a heckler and the gallery began to chant: 'Western front!'

"Viscount Halifax hurried along and wound up with a declaration that altho there had been differences in the past, in the future the British and Russian would 'march side by side.' That touched off the chant from the balconies louder than ever and the ambassador stepped off the platform.

"Others who appeared on the program included: John Green, Scottish born president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America; George W. Thompson, British trade union representative; Genevieve Tabouis, French political journalist; Benny Goodman, 'swing king'; Paul Muni, the actor; Richard Wright, Negro author of 'Native Son'" (a Communist best-seller); "Andrei A. Gromyko, soviet charge d'affaires; Clark M. Eichelberger, national chairman of the interventionist organization, Committee to Defend America, and Dr. Frank Kingdon, British born chairman of the New York City chapter of the prowar, Fight for Freedom, Inc." (Chicago Tribune, 10/28/41)

The only way to keep out of war now, it seems, is to join the British Army.

A Hoax

In my August letter I mentioned the tears Mary and I dripped when news came that one of our five regular contributors, upon whom I have, too long, depended to pay the girls and rent, was unable to continue and we lost $25 per month.

A little later, referring to this, a very "sweet" letter of encouragement arrived, signed by "Alice Haynes Jordan" of 1045 Park Ave., New York, enclosing a cheque for $250 drawn on the Harlem branch of the Corn Exchange Trust Co. She urged me to carry on and she would send the same every three months. On the strength of it, as prices were rising, I gave the girls a little raise and almost took on needed help.

We were elated with relief and surprise until my letter of thanks and literature sent to the "lady" was returned with 17¢ postage due and marked "party unknown" and the cheque bounced back with a charge of $1.40 for bank fees! A New York friend, who investigated, reported a colored maid by that name at this Park Avenue address but whether her name was used with her knowledge or not, we do not know.

This is the Time to Go On!

For several years, since I became unable financially to carry the expense in addition to donating my time to the work, five self-sacrificing patriots have made it possible for me to carry on factual research which, according to both patriots and Reds, was responsible for formation of the Dies Committee, and which has been felt, as one Red writer put it "in every town and hamlet in the United States." Present New Deal efforts to hector me indicate some "nuisance" value on my part.

At the same time we have built up and are continuing (short handed) to keep records of priceless value to the entire Nation. It is safe to say that there is no one active in the anti-Red fight today who has not used my material. The American Legion National Americanism Committee is only one of countless groups who have thanked me for my assistance.

If I were "smart" and did not cringe from personal begging more than from being hung and were not so tied down day and night at the work, I rightfully should be able to beg, from the thousands of people who have received my aid gratis, enough to get us increased instead of decreased office space and help.

When a second of the five kind "overworked" contributors had to discontinue last week, reducing our budget $50 more, we started measuring and figuring how we could crowd everything into one of our two office spaces to save on rent. But, even by stacking everything in aisles like a warehouse and storing some elsewhere, the problem would be how to be able to work without poking our elbows in each other's eyes!

One thinks, if only someone would donate office space, or if a number of people would only pledge small regular monthly amounts on which we could depend, we might not only make up this deficit but extend our efforts!

Never have so many people been writing in and expressing interest. But most of these real workers are "common people" with slender funds, the kind of whom Lincoln spoke when he said, "God must have loved the common people, he made so many of them!"

From a Few of Many Nice Letters

From Redmond, Oregon: "I write to let you know of my uneasiness and anxiety. I have not heard from you since the August news letter. Has the enemy stopped your great work? All hopes and prayers are for the continuance of your patriotic and Christian work."

From Brooklyn: "Many thanks for your efforts and hope you will be able to continue on."

From Wapato, Wash.: "I enjoy your bulletins and I pass them on to friends to read. May God give you wisdom, strength and protection."

From Denver, Colo.: "I wish that the necessity for making a living did not so completely engross my time and efforts. For every true patriot should be in business with you saving our country, our free government and institutions and our

"(1) Every organization subject to foreign control which engages in political activity;
(2) Every organization which engages both in civilian military activity and in political activity;
(3) Every organization subject to foreign control which engages in civilian military activity, and
(4) Every organization, the purpose or aim of which, or one of the purposes or aims of which, is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure, or overthrow of a government or subdivision thereof by the use of force, violence, military measures, or threats of any one or more of the foregoing."

I am replying as follows:

Dear Mr. Smith:

In reply to your inquiry as to whether my "organization" falls within any of the types in Section 2 (a) of the Voorhis Act, I would say "No", unless the New Deal holds that my ten years effort to uphold the Republic and oppose Marxism and dictatorship now classifies me as the agent of the "foreign" Government-in-Exile-of-George-Washington.

While I have no "organization", in my research and writing which is purely for religious and educational purposes, I am assisted by three, sometimes more, lovely Christian women and girls. We would be glad to have you come in at any time and look us over to decide whether or not we should be registered as an army or military organization.

While we do not know how to shoot, wrestle or do Jiu Jitsu tricks, as yet, we are willing to learn whatever you care to teach us in that line; you might find the work agreeable as one of the girls is a pretty petite blonde and another a striking brunette.

Sincerely,

(Mrs. A. W.) ELIZABETH DILLING

A FEW CAN SAVE A NATION

Corrupt cities and nations have been saved by God if only a few persons in them showed themselves worthy of saving. "And the Lord said, If I find in Sodom fifty righteous, then I will spare all the place for their sakes." (Genesis 18:26)

And so, today, may the repentance and sincere love of God which inspired the immortal psalms of David regenerate enough Americans to save our nation.

"The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God. They are corrupt, they have done abominable works, There is none that doeth good." (Psalm 14)

"Save me, O God; for the waters are come in unto my soul. I sink in deep mire, where there is no standing: I am come into deep waters, where the floods overflow me. (Psalm 69)

"By terrible things in righteousness wilt thou answer us, O God of our salvation; who art the confidence of all the ends of the earth and of them that are afar off upon the sea:" (Psalm 65)

"Who will rise up for me against the evildoers? Or who will stand up for me against the workers of iniquity? Unless the Lord had been my help, my soul had almost dwelt in silence." (Psalm 94)

"Judge me, O God, and plead my cause against an ungodly nation: O deliver me from the deceitful and unjust man." (Psalm 43)

"The Lord bringeth the counsel of the heathen to nought: he maketh the devices of the people of none effect." (Psalm 33)

"I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust...He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shall thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler...For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." (Psalm 91)

"Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered." (Psalm 32)

"Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him. For he knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust." (Psalm 103)

"Say among the heathen that the Lord reigneth;...he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth." (Psalm 96)

"For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand. To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your heart." (Psalm 95)

BY THE GRACE OF GOD AND YOUR HELP NEITHER MY OFFICE NOR OUR CAUSE SHALL FOLD UP!

Sincerely,

(Mrs. A. W.) ELIZABETH DILLING

WOMEN'S PEACE CONFERENCE NUMBER

THE CHICAGO LEADER

100% American Weekly — Now entering its 27th year

VOLUME XXVII: NUMBER 6 • FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1941 Fred R. Hunt & Sons Company, Incorporated

PEACE MEETING OPENS SATURDAY

CONFERENCE IS CONVENTION KEY

Women's Organizations of Entire Nation Are to Be Represented

SESSIONS TOMORROW AND SUNDAY

We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, Sponsors Gathering Convening in Chicago September 27 and 28

We, the Mothers Mobilize for nerica, has issued the following ap- al to all women's peace groups in the United States, from its national headquarters, 27 West Van Buren Street:

"Dear Fellow Worker in the Cause of Peace:

"As you know, the frantic efforts of the administaration to push this nation into war against the will of the people, reached a climax on September 11 when the president ordred the American Navy to 'shoot first.'

"Yesterday in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the American Legion Convention passed a resolution endorsing another 'A.E.F.' The hour has struck for the woman of America to get together and STOP the war mad minority that is leading this nation of ours to destruction. ACTION NOW IS IMPERATIVE!

"A preliminary conference to plan the Women's Peace Convention proposed in our previous letter, will be held in Chicago on Saturday and Sunday, September 27 and 28. (a name ap- plied to anyone intelligent enough to age, strengthened and spurred on to greater goals. A quick glance at the names listed reveals that.

All of these women have been tireless workers in the cause of peace

Mrs. Rosa Farber of the Mothers of the United States, one of the outstanding figures in mothers' organizations, has spent much time in Washington, quietly acquiring vital information, testifying before Congressional committees, ably and brilliantly representing the mothers' cause. Two other delegates from her group will participate in the conference.

Mrs. David Stanley, of the Cleveland Mothers of America, a most energetic organization, advises us that two delegates of that organization will be with us in Chicago. We have met Mrs. Closey of this group and recognize her genuine ability.

Form Indianapolis, Indiana, we will have four delegates from the Service Mothers of Indiana, a young organization, but certainly going places. We know these mothers will add enthusiasm and spirit to the conference.

A long-distance call from New York informs us that Mrs. J. Sargent Cramm of Peace House, New York, will be with us and will see that a delegate from California joins her here. Mrs. Cramm has given unstintingly of her time and money to preserve the youth of this nation from the bestial butchery of war.

Mrs. Beatrice Knowles another highly regarded worker in the mothers' cause, will participate in the conference with a delegation from a new organization, "American Mothers" which is taking the offensive immediately. In her letter Mrs. Knowles says, "We are with you 100%. If the president thinks he can put us into war we do not want—especially when the boys in the camps and the mothers on the outside are of the one and same idea—he's just plumb crazy."

VOTERS DEMAND DRASTIC CHANGE

Evidence of Good Faith by Leaders on Both Sides Will Be Required

BETRAYAL OF 1940 STANDS OUT

Collusion between Candidates in Opposing Camps Will No Longer Be Tolerated, Declares Writer

[Reprinted from a previous issue]

By MRS. GRACE KEEFE
Secretary We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, Inc.

Now that the party organizations are starting to make up their slates, we would suggest the advisability of "taking a look at the record" as Al Smith was wont to say in the good old days.

Just what does the Republican label on a candidate mean today? Mr. Willkie is still counted a member of that party and is scheduled to do some campaigning for certain New Dealish Republican candidates. It has been customary in the past for political parties to provide the people a choice on fundamental issues. In fact is not that the prime reason for the existence of political parties? During the last presidential campaign the two major parties failed to provide a means for expression of the public will on such vital questions as "Aid to England" and peacetime conscription. Mr. Willkie and Mr. Roosevelt, even during the campaign were in accord on these major issues. The debate on conscription ... Congress ... diately when Mr. Willkie announced his endorsement of "some form of ... two and one-half years for the draftees unless they can wiggle out of it, either because of legitimate reasons or wire-pulling. This lack of honesty has occasioned a loss of faith in the government on the part of these drafted men, with a consequent lowering of morale which is the worst possible thing that could happen to an army and a most serious blow at defense if we were actually endangered as the administration would have us believe.

Well, "cash and carry" soon also went out the window and the "lend-lease bill again labeled as a bill to "keep us out of war" opened the floodgates of American wealth to be poured out to Britain China, Greece, etc. all, of course to "keep war away from our shores." A servile Congress, throwing overboard the constitution, abdicated its power and gave Dictator Roosevelt the green light. This was done despite the deluge of protests that poured into Washington and contrary to all established precedent. Hardly was the ink dry on this infamous bill, when the cry began, and despite solemn assurances of "no convoys", one bright day we were told the navy was "patrolling" the Atlantic keeping the sea lanes open. Like sheep the American people have been led, step by step. The American boys, who we were promised "again and again" would not be sent into foreign wars, are now on foreign soil occupying jointly with a warring nation the foreign land of Iceland. Now we are told the American navy will "shoot first" if hostile ships interfere in our carrying supplies to Iceland, two thousand miles away from the United States, and at this moment Congress is being asked to arm merchant ships. The whole shameful record of this deception constitutes the blackest page in our his- ... sponsibility, the situation adds up its way.. There exists in this country ...

FIELD NOTES

The regular monthly luncheon for September was held in the beautiful Adams room of the Midland Hotel. Mrs. Lyrl Van Hyning presided. A capacity audience, after enjoying a hearty repast, gave rapt attention to the very interesting address delivered by Mrs. Fielding Marshall, well-known newspaper woman, who prefaced her remarks with the sincerest compliments on the work of our organization.

Speaking of her experiences at the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held in Atlantic City last May, at which 4000 delegates, representing some 2,000,000 club women were present, she described the scene enacted when a resolution favoring "whatever aid is necessary" to insure Hitler's defeat, was brought up on the floor.

"Half a dozen women rose and offered their sons on the altar of freedom, but not one woman of the several thousand present spoke for peace. Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, Maryland, the president-elect, twice appealed from the platform for a frank expression of opinion pointing out that the resolution favored going to war, if necessary. After the second appeal, one woman, a physician unmarried rose and suggested that it ... and our boys ...

"We, the isolationists (a name applied to anyone intelligent enough to read history and courageous enough to speak for himself [illegible] of the people, but because we stand as isolated units all over this great land and have no cohesion, we have been largely unheard. We must find each other, we must lift our voices in chorus, not solos—we must be heard—WE ARE FOR AMERICA—FOR A CONTINUANCE OF OUR FORM OF GOVERNMENT UNDER THE CONSTITUTION

"This convention gives us this chance—only by thus joining our hands can we make these alien-minded mouthpieces of the administration see that the people are determined not to follow Mr. Roosevelt into his war. WE, THE PEOPLE, ARE AMERICA! We don't want anyone to fight for us—we don't want empire or possessions—we don't want to impress our way of life on those who do not like it. We know that THE BREATH OF FREEDOM DOES NOT COME FROM CANNON'S MOUTH, but by putting into practice the theory of freedom—already expressed in our Declaration of Independence.

"This is the hour of destiny for the free women of America! By all that you hold dear, your hopes for the future of your children and your country, we urge you in this crisis to put everything else aside and come to this conference or send a delegate from your organization. We will lay the plans for a gathering of women such as has not been seen in this nation or in the world. The courageous, intelligent womanhood of America dare not fail in this hour so fraught with peril, to measure up to the magnificent opportunity, the sacred obligation that lies upon them to save, not our own beloved country, but to rescue the human race from the degardation into which it has fallen.

"Wire or write us to when and where and how many will arrive. Arrangements will be made for your accommodation at reasonable rates.

This call goes forth on the 154th anniversary of the birth of our Constitution. In the name of the Prince of Peace we ask you to respond."

By GRACE KREBS
Secretary, We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America

The response to our invitation to the conference to plan a nationwide Congress of Women, has been prompt and heartening. To the delegates who will assemble here to plan this congress and work out a program of cooperation, we extend our warmest welcome. The realization that so many sincere, intelligent, experienced leaders from different sections of the country, will have this opportunity to plan together, gives one a deep sense of gratification, a feeling of relief that at last we have found each other and can go forward with renewed courage and hope we shall be able to are of the one [illegible] just plumb crazy.¶

From the very [illegible] New York, Mrs. Borwn wires us she will be with us, and this is most gratifying as these women have been sending delegations to Washington regularly and they certainly know what's going on.

Mrs. Lulu Avery, of the Minneapolis Mothers, sends a cheery card to tell us to expect a delegation from the Twin City. Mr. Andrae B. Nordskog recently put us in touch with this organization, so we know they aren't being fooled about what's happening in the world.

Mothers Mobilizing Against War, wire us they are sending two delegates. Wisconsin will be well represented by this organization.

From Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Mrs. Maire Lohle sends word that a group from her state will join us together with Mrs. Catherine Baldwin of New York. These women have been very active in anti-war work with America First and also carried on individual efforts to arouse an indifferent citizenry to the peril that surrounds it, today. Their experience should be most helpful.

Flint, Michign, will be represented by Katherine M. Sutter of Neutral Mothers of America, and from Saint Paul, Minnesota, will come Mrs. W. H. O'Toole of the Parents of America.

Many others, whom we have heard from, are with us in spirit, but because of expense involved or because time was too short, will not be at the conference but will join in the larger gathering which we hope to set for the very near future.

Mrs. Julia I. Nicholas, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, writes:

"Dear Mothers:

"I send my deepest regrets that I am unable to attend your conference and want you to know myself and friends are with you 100%. If we had more time we could have sent some sort of delegation. We surely hope and pray you will meet with the greatest of success."

Mary Alice Ball, our brilliant correspondent in Gulfport, Mississippi, writes:

"Dear Mrs. Keefe:

"Circumstances I cannot manage deny me the happiness of attending your pre-convention conference. To the convention itself I hope to be able to come. What American could fail to be inspired, and steeled, by the principles and purposes of We, The Mothers? Heaven bless the conference and the convention!"

From San Francisco, California, Mrs. H. Archbold, secretary TheMothers' Committee, writes:

"Dear Mrs. Van Wyning:

"We thank you for your kind invitation to send a delegate to your conference, but the present state of our treasury makes it impossible to do so at this time. We wish you every success and hope we shall be able to send a delegate to the convention."

These are typical of many others who send their blessings and prayers and express high hopes for the success of this meeting. To these we extend our sincerest appreciation and we hope to see them all at the convention which will follow this conference as quickly as plans can be completed.

Mrs. C. E. Young of New York City, writes: "I do hope your meeting will be a success, and I can assure you millions of patriots are with you."

As this goes to press we are still expecting to hear from a number of other notable leaders in the cause for which we are striving, the salvation of our Republic and its sons.

The statement has been constantly reiterated that the majority of the American people favored "aid to Britain," but the fact is the people never had an opportunity to express an opinion against it. Both major candidates declared themselves for it, and millions of people voted for Willkie, in spite of his stand on that question, not because of it, as they regarded him as less likely to involve this nation in war than the reckless Mr. Roosevelt. The people were deliberately trapped into this situation. Subsequent events revealed Mr. Willkie in his true colors, but the people meanwhile are still without a party to express their will clearly and fearlessly on the question of intervention or non-intervention in foreign affairs. The huge defense program that is disrupting the entire economic life of this nation, the vicious conscription that has needlessly sundered men from homes and jobs to stagnate in army camps unequipped to handle them, would have had no reason for being if we had retained our neutrality and refused to repeal the arms embargo. That was the first step as Senator Borah warned us, even though the "cash and carry' provision was added to confuse the people into thinking we were "strengthening our neutrality." This deliberate deception of the people has been typical of the method pursued by the administration in putting over its program. The repeal of the arms embargo proved the undoing of our neutrality, as any thinking person could foresee. The business interests now had a stake in the war as the arms trade took on new life. Of course we were in reality aiding Britain and unthinking persons accepted the situation without inquiring just how we got that way.

Conscription was sold to the people under the less offensive title of "selective service" and the year's training as a much needed program of development for our youth. Well, you know the rest of that bedtime story—

[illegible] opposed to the policy of interfering in the affairs of foreign nations with all its evil consequences, such as a huge defense program calculated to wreck this nation economically, a militaristic regime putting us back where our ancestors were when they fled Europe generations ago to escape such tyranny, and the loss of our independence and our Republic, in a foolhardy, hypocritical attempt to impose our system everywhere in the world.

A Republican Party that has no more to offer than meek submission to this tyranny content to carp at minor transgressions has no reason for existence. We must have party candidates and a party platform courageous enough and intelligent enough to repudiate the acts that have led this nation to the brink of catastrophe. Party lines if they are to mean anything in this crisis must divide the true Americans who believe in an independent destiny for America from those who would link our destiny with the British Empire or any other foreign nation. The only issue that means anything today is the preservation of our Republic from the enemies within that have through cunning trickery denied the people the opportunity to clearly understand and then vote on the real issues. Republican and Democratic parties have outlived their usefulness, if they no longer serve as channels for the expression of the public will on major issues of policy.

Give us a party that stands for the constitution and the tried and true foreign policy of Washington, Jefferson and the founding fathers, that will demand repeal of all unconstitutional legislation, such as the "lease lend bill," the conscription act, the property seizure bill, etc., that will eliminate the special privilege of "money creators" and other vested interests that have left the dispossessed masses a prey to Communism and the quack remedies of doles, W.P.A. projects and "defense" spending. We want party labels to mean something. We want the issues clearly understood and thoroughly discussed before election, not dragged in and slipped over after the votes are counted.

Today we see the unprecedented spectacle of the American people, without benefit of either organized political party, waging a campaign to keep this nation out of war. Every poll shows the overwhelming majority of the people opposed to involvement in the insane orgy of destruction and death raging across the sea. While the organized machinery of both major political parties lies [illegible], individuals and groups throughout the nation are battling with might and main to stay the forces of entrenched power that in flagrant violation of

One hundred fity years ago the founding fathers were thinking of us—their posterity. They secured our rights in the Constitution of the United States of America—the truest expression of the human soul next to the Holy Bible. All that a mighty nation can do to defend its people and territory the United States can do. As they mutually pledged to each other their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor, so we, their posterity, bind ourselves in like manner, to uphold the constitution, "with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence." campaign pledges, is dragging this nation step by step into the suicidal struggle.

In the name of common sense, if neither of these parties can function for the people except when they are seeking to get in or stay in power, why should the people support them? Why should it be necessary to organize volunteer groups, placing heavy burdens on individuals, both from a financial and physical standpoint to carry on this campaign to save the country, and then turn around to a political party that has done nothing as an organization and accept the candidates put up by such a party? Isn't it about time we looked at this situation squarely and faced the facts? The old habits are so strong we can't seem to shake them off, but this time we are determined there shall not be another phoney campaign like the late Willkie fiasco.

The women of this nation are not tied down to the old political parties to the extent that men are. They are thinking in terms of realities, and they want men or women who stand for principle. They know and bitterly resent their betrayal at the hands of both parties and the men who stand for Congress next term must

Women should blush for their sex, at such craven conduct. Surely this points out the desperate need for such organizations as ours, that enables women to speak out bravely and confidently in any assembly. Right here, let it be noted this idea of organizations prides themselves on the fact that they are non-political and barring political discussions, has left women no place to get both sides of a question. They have deprived themselves of the opportunity to become politically informed and are at the mercy of a few clever manipulators when a political issue is brought up in a convention. If women are to vote intelligently, they must learn to discuss the issues and back up their convictions in public when the necessity arises. Our program of EDUCATION and ACTION is designed to accomplish just that.

Mrs. Marshall also related another revealing incident of that convention. Adolph Berle Jr., assistant secretary of state, told the general federation at this convention that the day of private enterprise was past, and that after the war the U. S. Government "will provide the tools, build the factories, open the mines and develop the resources" not only for its own citizens, but for "like-minded" peoples everywhere in the world." Although women reporters from all over the country were present, this statement was not regarded as of sufficient importance or the ladies pleaded ignorance of economics, and completely ignored the significance of this startling statement.

Mrs. Helen Wetherall, and Mrs. Grace Keefe gave reports on the interviews with Congressmen Sabath and Schwartz which provided some amusement and much food for thought on the type of men who are sitting in Congress at this moment exercising power over the lives and fortunes of the American people.

Andrae B. Nordskog, who was in town briefly, attended the luncheon also and gave an inspiring message to his listeners based on the quotation "Sovereignty is born with the individual, goes with him through life, and is transmitted to the Capitol only by proxy."

The date of the luncheon coincided with the "Defense Day" and as Mr. LaGuardia was to be inflicted on the people of Chicago for that day, it was deemed advisable to protest in a telegram to the mayor that Chicago's true Americans needed no advice or instruction from an alien-minded New Yorker. Ten thousand copies of a handbill titled "We Are for Defense Against" were carried from the meeting and distributed at various

Congressman Schuetz and Sabath who voted for the extension of the draft that will keep American boys in army camps for two and one-half years, were questioned, in individual interviews during the past few days, by representatives of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America. The first colloquy is described by a member of the interviewing group as follows:

Mr. Sabath, a gentleman who boasts of thirty-five years in Congress, proved to be highly emotional. During the course of the one-hour interview, Mr. Sabath literally blew up four distinct times. In fact, the interviewers were concerned lest he get a stroke, so vehement were his gestures and words. The remarks that seemed to arouse his ire particularly were the statement that we represented 85 per cent of the people, when he accused us of causing dissension and dissatisfaction in the army, and our reminding him that even the dumbest person could understand the injustice of keeping American men in the army two and one-half years when we were not at war, while in Canada, which is at war, only four months is required.

We calmed him down each time, and proceeded to the discussion of the issues. We reminded Mr. Sabath of the fact that his vote alone caused the bill for two and a half years to pass, with the consequent demoralization of the army when the men lost faith in their government's promises. Mr. Sabath said he was not the only one; there were 400 others, but we repeated only one vote did it, and we held him responsible. He affirmed his faith in Mr. Roosevelt and his promises to keep us out of war. He said he did not think Knox and Stimson were right in advocating our further involvement, but when asked what could be done about removing them, offered no solution. He said their appointments had been presumed by the [illegible] asked why billions of American goods, [illegible] Mr. Schuetz told the mothers they did not understand the article, but left him food for thought when we again reminded him that this discrimination against American youth was something the politicians couldn't laugh off. The simplest person understood the issue.

Mr. Schuetz, Congressman from the seventh district, told the mothers that Roosevelt is pro-British, but nevertheless he is willing to vote for unlimited funds for England.

The interview with Congressman Schuetz is described by one of the interviewers as follows:

At the hour appointed by Congressman Schuetz, three representatives of We, the Mothers, Mrs. Helen Wetherall, president of the Seventh District unit, together with Mr. Lyri Van Hyning and Mrs. Grace Keefe, appeared at the Congressman's office at 3620 Kilbourn Avenue, which by the way is in the middle of a prairie close to the railroad tracks, where Mr. Schuetz conducts a lumber business.

By way of introduction, Mrs. Wetherall recalled to the Congressman her last interview when in Washington, D. C., he advised her to go home and tend to her knitting. Laughing, he admitted the acquaintance but said he still felt that way.

The first question was concerning the vote on the extension of the draft. It was pointed out to Mr. Schuetz that his vote kept these men, who had relied on the administration's promise of a year's service, for two and one-half years, whereas in Canada, actually at war, only four months was required and no overseas service. Mr. Schuetz said he wasn't bothered about what Canada did, in fact he maintained they did not even have conscription in Canada, which, it happens is not the case.

Mrs. Keefe brought up the question of the size of his district where 914,000 people had but one Congressman, thus effectively depriving two-thirds of the voters in his district of proper representation. He maintained this was not a matter for Congress to worry about; that we should start suit to get redistricting. Mrs. Keefe pointed out the absurdity of voting billions ostensibly for the purpose of establishing or protecting democracy in foreign nations when right here in Illinois the people were unable to maintain it. Upon his insistence that Congress had no responsibility, Mrs. Van Hyning took sharp issue with him and quoted the constitution as her authority. Mr. Schuetz denied that the constitution made such provision, but when after considerable searching a copy of the constitution was finally produced, Mrs. Van Hyning read the section referred to as follows: "The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States and within every subsequent term of ten years in such manner as they shall by [illegible]

[illegible] was launched in Gary, Indiana, last Friday evening when Mrs. Lyri Van Hyning and Mabel Willard from Chicago headquarters made the trip at the request of Mrs. C. B. Wells, and told the story of our work and our plans for the future. A warm reception was accorded them and we know this fine group of women will go forward rapidly.

Mrs. C. B. Wells, vice-president; Mrs. L. F. Maybaum, secretary; Mrs. E. Haack, treasurer.

On Thursday, September 4, the South Side Chapter staged the most successful card party and rally to date. A crowd of 500 occupied two halls and while they enjoyed the games and refreshments and the other activities, officers of the organization distributed the new folders with the message to the Congressmen, and many new memberships were obtained.

Mrs. Van Hyning gave one of her stirring addresses, telling the story of our ceaseless efforts to awaken the women to the power that is in their hands, of the inescapable responsibility women of this generation have to rescue this generation from the insanity of war. "Women must learn how to vote intelligently: these men who go to Washington to represent them have power over their lives and their fortunes and the lives of their children." Women cannot plead ignorance; in this day of literacy, it behooves every one of us to learn the facts; the penalty for indifference we see clearly today.

The proceeds of this party will be used for the support of the Washington and Chicago headquarters. It is from the quarters and dimes of the masses that this organization expects to draw its support, and while the sums may be small, the numbers are legion. These women know what we are fighting for, and as long as we keep faith with them we shall never lack support.

The next meeting of this energetic chapter will be on Thursday, September 11, at the usual place, 7822 South Union Avenue, at 8:15 p. m.

THE IDEAL FORM OF LIFE INSURANCE

The National Underwriter of May 31, 1941, contained an article by a vice-president and actuary of one of the large Life Insurance Companies, urging the separation of Protection from Investment.

He urged the sale of more protection and less investment in Life policies. Too often he said, "Life Policies are surrendered or inadequate insurance carried because of the compulsory investment feahe did not think Knox and Gumson were right in advocating our further involvement, but when asked what could be done about removing them, offered no solution. He said their appointment was due to pressure by the newspapers for representation of the Republicans in the cabinet. When [illegible] of American goods, foodstuffs, etc., were being given to England while millions of Americans were in want, he said that England was giving us something for it, but when pressed to tell what we were getting, a gleam of satisfaction lit up his face as he repeated that we were being given something in return. What is was, we couldn't imagine, unless, perchance it might be the refugees that are flocking to our shores.

Quizzed about his illegally representing a district in the state when but little over a hundred thousand people resided therein, he maintained he had tried to get redistricting so that he might have a larger constituency, but downstate people had blocked it, fearing to give Chicago a majority in the state legislature. We pointed out that the politicians in power were more responsible for maintaining the status quo, which favored them.

Mr. Sabath brought up the Hitler bogey of penetration in South America and loss of our foreign trade. We told him our foreign trade consisted in giving everything away, which wasn't exactly profitable, and Mrs. Van Hyning scoffed at the idea of Hitler taking over South America, where, she said practically every country has a dictator as able as Hitler, and many of them could show him tricks. This, she told him, was from practical experience, and when he said, "Oh, so your's a South American," she pointed to her D.A.R. pin and told him she was an American and of American descent since 1700, and every generation of her family had served in the armed forces of the nation when the country needed them, something that could not be said for the Roosevelt family.

Another outburst of Mr. Sabath's occurred when we asked him why we were giving butter to England, when American children had to go without. His only answer was choleric anger. He told us we were prejudiced, unfair and misinformed, whereupon Mrs. Van Hyning asked him if he would be willing to debate the subject on a public platform. He said he would with any fair-minded person. That, probably, would be someone unlike ourselves, probably one of the "aid to Englanders" who have led the people into the trap that now yawns before them. We reminded Mr. Sabath that the young men whose liberties have been taken from them, never had an opportunity to vote on this drastic step, whereupon he told us these young men of 20 and 21 were not competent to vote on such issues. He has no children of his own, probably one reason he is so careless with other people's children. Mr. Sabath, unable to endure any more questioning rose the section referred to as follows: "The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States and within every subsequent term of ten years in such manner as they shall [illegible] direct." Mr. Schuetz told the mothers they did not understand the article, but should have a constitutional lawyer interpret it, whereupon Mrs. Van Hyning said she had done just that.

The question: "Will you vote for additional billions for the lease-lend appropriations?" Mr. Schuetz said he most certainly would. "Then you are in favor of giving unlimited aid to England," asked Mrs. Keefe. To which he said, "I am, and you can quote me on that." Asked whether that represented the sentiments of his constituents, Mr. Schuetz said he thought so. "When the lend-lease bill was up, Mr. Schuetz, did your mail run for or against it?" was the next question, to which he replied, "The majority of the letters were for the bill, those against it were mostly signed by the same person." He said that only a few letters were received against conscription, but he admitted his mail was two to one against extension of the draft. Asked whether he thought the people of his district should be followed on this legislation, he said he had confidence in Mr. Roosevelt, and would be guided by his wishes.

"Then you do not believe the people are competent to determine the policy of the nation on such issues," he was asked. He quoted in answer Mr. Roosevelt's pledge that our boys would not be sent to foreign soil. But, we reminded him, American boys have been sent to Iceland, certainly foreign soil, and Congress wasn't consulted about it. He told us that Iceland was a peaceful country. His reasoning seemed to be that this made a difference, and also he said British troops were being withdrawn from Iceland. We pointed out that the business of keeping lines of supplies open to Iceland would likely cause more incidents like the Greer. It was all too evident that Mr. Schuetz is not representing the people in his district, but is just another rubber-stamp for Roosevelt. He says he would not vote for war, but such words are empty when he has given Roosevelt power to involve us without any formal declaration. He reiterated his faith in Roosevelt's promises, but we reminded him he was taking a dangerous course in ignoring the wishes of the people in his district. "What are we going to do, Mr. Congressman, if after we give away everything, in a few months England and Hitler are found fighting side by side?" to which he gave the amazing answer: "That's what I am afraid of."

The department of agriculture yesterday announced it wishes to send abroad—chicken that packers' defamats will cost the taxpayers $1 pe[illegible] pounds or more in lend-lease [illegible].

The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, the government buying agency, asked for bids on unspecified quantities of the canned chicken meat—the offers to be in the hands of the FSC on or before September 15.

Canning company officials and meat packers questioned said that canned chicken is an expensive food to give away.

This Paper Needs You!

A Five-Point Appeal:

1 THE MIDWEST MONETARY FEDERATION sponsors weekly articles in these columns which trace the influence of the international money-control in world politics for decades past, showing how it engineered the crash of 1929 in America and the 'follow-up' with a 'frozen' depression, in the grip of which the nation is still writhing. These illuminating articles, from the able pen of Willis A. Overholser, rip the mask from the hideous features of the "gold ring" and reveal the machinations behind the plot to reduce the nations of the world to the status of financial peonage. Years of research qualify Mr. Overholser to speak with the highest degree of authority on the vastly important subject of money and banking.

2 THE CITIZENS KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR COMMITTEE. Weekly articles appear in these columns describing the activities of this virile organization, together with the weekly views of Captain William J. Grace, chairman, and Earl Southard, secretary, as well as expressions of fine Americanism from the many eminent speakers the nation have been unearthed by these courageous women and exposed to public attention in the columns of this paper. Watch every issue for their authenicated weekly announcements on the issues of peace and war. No record of contemporaneous events is complete which fails to include their activities.

4 RALPH FRANKLIN KEELING. This new and rising figure on the journalistic horizon of America has made a powerful impress upon the minds of the reading public. His poignant pen, buttressed by an almost uncanny gift of political analysis, has brought forth one of the most prophetic weekly commentaries on international affairs that have appeared in the press of the nation in recent years. His contributions on the issue of money monopoly, also appearing frequently in these columns, are veritable masterpieces of cogent editorial expression. Mr. Keeling has the rare faculty of making a supposedly complicated subject seem simple and understandable. His [illegible] retary of the Midwest Monetary Federation are making history.

Do not fail to follow the progress of this body of determined defenders of the Republic and its supporting institutions.

3 WE, THE MOTHERS, MOBILIZE FOR AMERICA, Inc. This growing band of militant, patriotic women has selected this paper as a vehicle for conveying weekly messages to its members and to the reading public, regarding its progress and views on the significance of passing events in the theater of national and international affairs. 5 PUNGENT, SCINTILLATING EDITORIALS. Forthright weekly expressions of opinion, characterized by neither fear nor favor, keep the reader apprised of the constantly shifting situation in the national and international political arena. The editor of this paper is beholden to no political faction or party, to no big advertiser or financial power. He is free to express his convictions from the heart as well as from the shoulder, and innumerable letters in our files attest the gratitude of approving readers for the privilege of enjoying a journalistic medium that has never bowed the knee to either political or financial domination. Freedom of the press as promulgated and protected by the Constitution of the United States, has never had more untrammeled exemplification, than in these columns for the past quarter-century.

"A DROP OF A BUCKET"

In the course of an interview by members of We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America, with a Chicago Congressman during the past week, a startling admission was drawn from him by the inquisitors. The following question was propounded: "What are we going to do if, after we give away everything, in a few months England and Hitler are found fighting side by side?" To the amazement of his interlocutors, he answered, "That's what I'm afraid of!"

The Congressman in question has been consistently regarded as a rubber-stamp for the administration, doing the bidding of the executive no matter what was asked of him. He admits that he is willing to give, and intends to help in giving billions of America's money to the British Empire. And in the same breath he confesses that he looks upon England as an ally or quasi-ally of so fickle and treacherous a nature that she may at any time literally slap us in the face and join hands with Hitler in an anti-American or anti-anybody campaign to retain her prestige and gain world-supremacy.

In the face of this Congressman's telltale admission, what defense could he rationally offer to a charge that he has "sold his country down the river"? For if he is committed to so asinine a proposal as giving his nation's wealth away to another people with no semblance of an equivalent therefor, the least virtue one might wish to ascribe to him would be enough consideration for his constituents' weal to select as the beneficiary of our largesse a nation that is dependable, honorable, and not given to betraying the confidence of a friend and comrade-in-arms. By his own admission, on the financial shows which [illegible] to her military campaigns last World War. She has successfully done so thus far during the present war. But her attempt to fool all our people all the time is doomed to ultimate defeat. Some day this nation will wake up: and we trust the awakening will not prove to be a greater shock than we can bear.

For many months past we have adjured our readers to judge England "not according to the appearance, but to judge righteous judgment." For decades on end British cunning has proved more than a match for Yankee intelligence. We should be honest enough to admit that she has literally wound us around her finger. "Divide and rule" has been her strategy. She has invariably succeeded in splitting American opposition to her schemes to a point bordering upon total impotence, whilst on the other hand she has consolidated American support of her nefarious plans to an extent sufficient to insure the success of her [illegible]

England [illegible] may let us give him, we are not prepared at the moment to prognosticate. But what with the aid of a president of sycophantic predilections where royalty is concerned, to say nothing of his Tory ancestry and leanings; what with a rubber-stamp Congress ready always to function as a sounding-board for executive bombast and despotic dictation; and what with a supine and seemingly somnolent electorate,—John Bull bids fair to outdo himself on this occasion as a proverbial absorber of some other nation's substance. As a supreme and final honor, we should crave from him the privilege of paying him interest, in perpetuity on the billions we are now pouring into his lap without money and without price.

We do feel entitled, however, to lay claim in the premises to the possession of a modicum of editorial prescience. For when the King and Queen of England were doing our great president the honor of eating "hot dogs" with him at Hyde [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] would be enough consideration for his constituents' weal to select as the beneficiary of our largesse a nation that is dependable, honorable, and not given to betraying the confidence of a friend and comrade-in-arms. By his own admission, on the contrary, he has proved that he regards so lightly the responsibility imposed upon him as to be willing to give away the electors' billions to a nation that may turn out to be a double-dealing ingrate.

For what says the record? What of Oran and Dakar? What of Syria and Iran? O, Albion! Perfidious Albion! How strewn with the bleached bones of quondam coadjutors and allies is thy pathway to glory!

Said Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in his Oklahoma speech:

"It is not at all inconceivable that before this war is over England may herself turn against us, as she has just turned against France and Finland. Reasons are always found to justify whatever action a nation takes in war. It was no more improbable in 1939 that England would turn against Finland and France than it is today that she will turn against us if it becomes expedient to her welfare in the future.

"If you question my words now, I ask only that you read a history of the relationships between the United States and England during the last hundred and fifty years and that you combine with this a rereading of the pledges of everlasting loyalty that took place between England and France less than two years ago. If you do this I believe you will agree with me that we must depend upon ourselves and ourselves only for our security in the future."

Sometime Great Britain's record of duplicity will "catch up with her." She "pulled the wool over the eyes" of America during the total impotence, [illegible] her hand she has consolidated American support of her nefarious plans to an extent sufficient to insure the success of her every artifice.

England does not have to earn the financial sinews wherewith to underwrite her military campaigns to establish a world-hegemony for herself. All she has to do when the funds begin to run low is to milk America for a few billion pounds—we dare not say dollars, for "the silly old dollar-sign" has been abolished—and the war goes merrily on again.

And when the smoke of battle clears away, does she effusively thank her benefactor for his unflagging support of her supremely selfish schemes? No, indeed! For by so much pampering she might run the risk of "spoiling" him. She merely informs stupid old Uncle Sam that his name is Shylock, that, in the words of Prime Minister Churchill, he should have "stayed at home and minded his own business," instead of stirring up strife and consternation and Communism in Europe. For she has learned by experience that Americans seem to respond more readily to cajolery and deceit than they do to fair-dealing and gratitude in other nations.

And her technique appears to improve as the years roll by. For whereas there were those among us who went so far as to whisper that John Bull was a "dead-beat" and a "welsher" for not having repaid or attempted to repay the billions we loaned him in order to help him starve the Germans, he has taken precious good care in the present instance to see that no such charge can be lodged against him hereafter. For instead of borrowing our billions, he is now actually doing us the honor of letting us give him our billions. How many billions he [illegible] rial prescience. For when the King and Queen of England were doing our great president the honor of eating "hot-dogs" with him at Hyde Park, many moons ago, we estimated consentaneously that America would be required later to pay for those canine concoctions to the tune of about one billion dollars each. Howbeit we must confess that our claim to the title of prophet as predicated on our prediction of that time is slightly dimmed by the fact that we failed to take into consideration the cost of the mustard! We therefore crave the indulgence of our readers as we revise our figures to read two billion, or perhaps, eventually, three billion per "hot-dog."

Be that as it may, and all joking aside, Congressman Schuetz of Chicago may well be alarmed at the prospect of a "double-cross" on the part of that paragon of unselfishness and altruistic intent, the aforesaid John Bull. As a matter of fact, we are beginning to feel well enough acquainted with this delectable personage to be justified in rechristening him with the appellative "John, Bully"!

Meanwhile we deem it a privilege to extend to We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America our heartiest congratulations. They are beginning to realize what a lot of empty barrels our voters have elected to high positions in the body politic. For our part, the more we see of that sort of men the higher rises, by contrast, our admiration for American womanhood. As Adam, in the allegory of old, sought to shift the responsibility for his derelictions upon the shoulders of Eve, so today millions of American Adams seek to shift their responsibilities to God and country to the shoulders of our modern Eves; and it is beginning to appear that if Eve does not obtain a knowledge of American trade secrets which will give her the advantage over us in the war for commercial supremacy of which the martial activity now occupying the international stage is but the precursor.

Great Britian, with her perfect system of propaganda, has so filled the hearts of Americans with fear of Hitler, of whom we have practically no reason to entertain any fear whatever, that we have failed completely to note the stealthy approach of John Bull, shrouded in a mantle of altruistic attestation, into the temple of our liberty, into the national treasury, and into the minds of a propagandized, indoctrinated citizenry.

But this deceit will in time be uncovered, this mesmerism will be broken. The people are not ready as yet for a complete revelation; but the day is not far distant when John Bull will be disrobed, his role as trickster and betrayer of friendships will be exposed, and he will pay a harsh penalty for his misdeeds.

"That's what I'm afraid of!" But—mark our words!—the Congressman who thus expressed himself to a group of courageous women regarding his apprehension of a prospective betrayal of America by Britain, has not as much reason to fear by a thousandth part the possibilities of the situation thus predicated as he will have to fear the wrath of the American electorate when they awake to realize the modus operandi by which that betrayal was connived at and abetted by our own national legislators!

"Britannia rules the waves," we freely admit. But God still reigns in the realm of human thought, wherein the British Empire, mighty as it may be, is but as "a drop of a bucket"!

SUBJECT: Air Force

TITLE: Is America Flying Blind?

The widespread popular delusion that the world was caught unawares by the terrific effectiveness of Nazi Germany's air force provides a comforting alibi for humiliating defeats. Only it happens to be wholly untrue. The fact is, Hitler has not thrown into action a single aircraft model or unfolded a single principle of aviation warfare which had been thoroughly familiar to aero-nautical experts of all other nations long before the outbreak of the war.

I had myself inspected Nazi aviation but a few months before Poland was attacked. The Germans showed me their Stuka dive bombers, their swiftest pursuits and their horizontal bombers. The Nazis imposed no restrictions on us in conveying our observations to the outside world. They had no need to do so - all German types had been on display repeatedly at international aeronautical shows and had been fully described in the aviation press of all countries. Moreover, the progress of the Nazi Luftwaffe had been continuously reported to other governments by their military observers in Germany.

Why, then, were other nations so dismally unprepared to meet the German onslaught from the air? Certainly not because they lacked aviation brains equal to the challenge. The great strides made by the British aeronautical industry under stress of war, and that impressive progress being registered at long last by some American aircraft builders, prove that there was no dearth of designing talent.

The answer to the mystery must be sought in the mentality of nations. By this time it is clear that they were, each in its own fashion, afflicted by a species of psychological paralysis.

France had been hypnotized by a fatalistic reliance on its Maginot Line and its faith in "the world's finest army". Even in that long interval after German aviation had demonstrated its power in the devastation of Poland, France continued to ignore the obvious.

England, similarly, had been leaning back complacently on faith in its glorious and impregnable navy. Hypnotized by tradition, she found it literally impossible even to imagine a crucial battle in which the navy would be little more than a helpless onlooker - the kind of all-air battle, that is to say, which has actually been under way now for almost eight months.

And it is likewise in psychological factors that we discover the real explanation for the dismal backwardness of military aviation in America. The fact alone that our commercial aeronautics is the world's best indicates that the military ~~xxx~~ lag cannot be blamed on lack of aviation talent. The simple truth is that America has been lulled into a complacent sense of safety by its two oceans. That has been - and unfortunately remains today - the American equivalent of the "Maginot mentality" in France. Unless overcome quickly, it holds the threat of the same kind of disaster.

There can be no reason in logic why, if we build warplanes at all, they should have been below the standards of performance technically possible at the time of their design and construction. The absence of immediate danger of war or foreign invasion might justify the maintenence of a skeleton air power rather than a full-sized one. But it decidedly did not justify the inferiority in the quality of aircraft. Even if we had only one airplane, it should have been at least the equal of any extent.

But while the public may have been startled by recent disclosures about the shortcomings of American aircraft under conditions of actual warfare, aviation people were not. They had known all along, for instance, that American pursuits had neither the armor nor the armament to match the British Hurricanes and Spitfires or the German Messerschmitts and Heinkels. They had known, to cite an even more striking example, that our so-called "Flying Fortresses" lacked the very essential of a fortress, which is adequate defensive ability.

The American people have a real cause for complaint. They had for years been lulled into thinking that our military aviation was not only on a par with others, but even better. In the face of reports by American observers about the obvious superiority of European air forces, a national magazine of millionfold circulation, for instance, continued to boast, parrot-like, that, "Our Own War Birds Are Best".

It is about time we stopped bragging about our aeronautical superiority. Every champion who underestimates his challenger loses his crown. The more sensible course is to overestimate our potential opponents and to be ready to meet strength with greater strength. If we persist in continuing to live in a fool's paradise of self-congratulation, there is nothing ahead of us but humiliation at the hands of our enemies.

Hard-pressed Great Britain welcomed anything she could get. Desperate men trying to reach shore in a leaky boat are grateful for broomsticks and handkerchiefs, though they need oars and sails. The British are carrying on gamely without complaint and without quarreling over spilt milk. Until the night fighter, now in an experimental stage, becomes fully effective, the American 'Flying Fortresses' may prove useful in night-time bombing, when the shroud of darkness makes up for inadequate defensive equipment. Our pursuits have given a good account of themselves apparently in the Mediterranean area, as long as they were pitted against inferior Italian aviation. But the fact remains, all the same, that these planes were far below the standards of performance established by other nations.

Our failure, in short, was not technical but psychological. It can be traced to a basic refusal in high quarters to acknowledge the crucial role of aviation in modern warfare. That, in turn, has kept American military aviation tied into an organizational set-up that prevents its natural development. It is as though a fine-mettled race horse were yoked together with a pair of oxen and expected to compete against horses without such encumbrance.

The fact is that aviation designers have, for years, made specific and detailed proposals to our military authorities for increasing the fire-power, the armor and other elements in our fighting planes since demonstrated as indispensable. Such proposals were pigeon-holed almost automatically, because they failed to touch the imagination of men conditioned to thinking only in terms of surface fighting. My own files, for instance, hold a series of such proposals, which were not only arbitrarily rejected but ridiculed by a high military authority.

Our military aircraft have also been seriously handicapped by what we might call our 'luxury complex'. Because air defense seemed, to the naval and infantry people in control of it, an indulgence rather than a critical necessity, we have built into our fighting planes many comforts and super-safety provisions at the expense of combat efficiency. For instance, after an unfortunate freak accident, where a pilot was killed when his airplane turned over in landing, all our tactical airplanes were built with huge towers, like reinforced greenhouses, directly behind the pilot's head -- at a cost of additional weight and reduction in speed. Our gallant military pilots, whose safety was directly concerned by this change, objected to these encumbrances. After all, under fighting conditions, the pilot's ultimate safety depends on the performance of his machine, rather than the luxury of its construction and excessive margins of safety. Their judgment has been completely vindicated by the fact that a mere twenty-five-mile speed edge of the British pursuits over the German Messerschmitts held off the numerical superiority of the Nazi air power.

The whole subject would not be worth discussing if it were merely a matter of history. But it isn't. The same brakes which have retarded the development of our air power are still in xxxx place. Airplanes are still treated as extensions of existing weapons rather than new weapons requiring new forms of organization, administration and tactics.

Psychologically, the American people, and even more so, our highest military leaders, are still leaning back on our own "Maginot Lines", the two oceans and their respective fleets. In the designing of tomorrow's aviation we are still only "catching up" — a fatal procedure when the need is to outdistance, out-plan and out-think the potential adversary. Despite the clear lessons of the tragic experience in Europe, we are still obsessed by problems of mass production, while the more crucial questions of range, greater fire power, defensive armor and maneuverability are treated lightly if at all.

The most serious fault of all, though, is that the fundamental defense scheme for our nation is predicated on the assumption that the science of war remains the same as it was in the Argonne-Meuse battle of 1918. We have as yet failed to grasp the role of air power in the near future. The same assumption cost France its life and has endangered the British Isles. The shorter distances involved naturally made them vulnerable to air power sooner — but that is the only difference between their position and ours. And even that protection of distance is being narrowed with every passing month. National security plans which do not recognize this fact are doomed to disaster.

If our country is obliged to go to war — actively — the offensive will be possible only through the air. Our fleets will be unable to attack enemy shorelines or to land xxxxxxxxxxxxxxx troops while the skies are under enemy control. If we come to actual grips with a foe it will be first of all in the air. That phase must be determined before our naval and land strength can be brought into effective play.

One high ranking Air Corps General, in a speech on February twenty-eighth, stated that the United States "should have no fear of being outstripped in the race for air power", and added that the nation's resources "insure our ultimate command of the air". Unfortunately, natural resources by themselves can insure nothing. Despite their abundance, our country has been devoid of genuine air power to date, because of the lack of proper leadership. Our military aircraft will not take their place way out front in the race for world superiority until aviation thinking and planning has been unshackled to enable us properly to exploit our natural resources.

That, I submit, will not happen until air power is dependent and administered by aviation experts of proven experience, knowledge and vision.

Before Crete there was still room for argument over the relative merits of sea power and air power. ...Plain fact is that for the first time in history, a major military victory has been gained ENTIRELY by an air force DESPITE the presence of a strong and unopposed fleet of warships. Indeed, while the British Navy prevented all but a few Nazis from landing on Crete from boats, it did so only by paying a heavy toll of cruisers and destroyers to the Nazi air arm.

We know now that sea power without air power is no defense at all. The Battle of Crete means that the British Navy is a far less important defense weapon than we had previously thought. Unless England can achieve AIR superiority, the Navy cannot turn the tide of the war, and this remains true even if the United States were to lease her another 50 destroyers or more. For it is plain that while in the last century the fact that Britannia ruled the waves meant that she possessed the greatest offensive weapon of war, mid-twentieth century tactics have shown that the offensive power of a fleet disappears as it nears the shores of an enemy-held country. For enemy land, means enemy air bases from which $400,000 long range bombers can scour the seas; search out and destroy great battleships which cost $100,000,000 each and require a much longer time to build.

> What all this means to the United States is that the idea that convoys would materially aid in winning the war for Great Britain is shown to be false, unless as those convoys near the land mass of Europe, they are protected by interceptor PLANES. Otherwise, long range bombers or submarines will continue to sink them. (Another factor contributing to the difficulty of the convoy system is that AIR bombings have reduced to ruin all English ports except Liverpool and Glasgow. It is now reported that the turn-about time is three weeks -- i.e. the time necessary for a ship to dock, unload, and depart. Obviously, more ships is no answer to this problem.) People who have been asking for convoys should now ask instead that planes be sent UNLESS they only want convoys so that shooting will begin. It is still true that convoys would get us into the war.

In the second place, the fact that even a powerful Navy, if not sufficiently protected by air power, cannot successfully approach the enemy shore, gives a cold, FACTUAL answer to those who have been yelping for another A. E. F. to Europe. The question is -- where would they land? AND no interventionist can dispute production figures and export figures. They may wish the situation was different. So does the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE, though for a different reason. The FACT is that plane production in the United States is distressingly small, especially production of long range bombers. Furthermore, in a recent column, Boake Carter pointed out that we are sending abroad up to 70% of the weapons we would need in any such invasion. An invasion accompanied by our present air force would only mean that we wanted to undergo a Dunkerque in reverse i.e. not have to retreat from a land position but find ourselves unable to even gain a landhold.

In the third place it demonstrates the truth of what the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE has said, that the United States and the Western Hemisphere CAN be defended IF we will build a real air force and if that air force has bases close to the shore lines, that our safety does not depend upon the British Empire or upon ~~Hanxix~~ the Empire's Navy, that the defense of America depends upon American factories and upon American workmen, and upon American pilots. Rather than a mass army of 5,000,000 men, we need a small army of men and a big army of mechanized equipment. (There is an excellent article on this subject in the June, 1941 Reader's Digest written by Representative Ross A. Collins, chairman of the House Subcommittee in charge of military appropriation.)

This will take time to build and it will take time to train men in the use of this equipment. We believe America is equal to this task. But American soldiers can never be trained in the use of this equipment if we continue to give away up to 70% of our production. A sane appraisal of our own defense needs would seem to indicate that we can spare precious little in the way of airplanes and mechanized equipment. (The N. Y. Times recently pointed out editorially that "before 1938 our own War Department was spending more on horses, mules, harness and wagons than on tanks and armed vehicles.")

"WHAT IS BEST FOR AMERICA?"

The following are some excerpts from a recent address by Mrs. Robert A. Taft.

> "We have no right to let emotions guide our course ... The question, What is best for America, is the only question which should influence our decisions.
> "The interventionists have but two arguments which are directed to this question. The first is that we cannot defend our freedom here unless we fight abroad ... certainly if it were true that we were too weak to defend ourselves here, we should be still less able to fight over there, for it would take at least twice as great a force for attack at such a vast distance as for effective defense.
> "The second argument of the interventionists is that we should go to war for trade. They overlook the fact that even from a material viewpoint such a course would be utterly foolish, since one year of war would cost us more than the loss of all our foreign trade for 20 years. Such a proposal is not only foolish but it is immoral, for it sets material values above human values, markets above young men's lives.
> "No, the arguments of the interventionists are breaking down, so now they raise the cry that it is too late for us to oppose the entrance of the United States into the war - that we are committed.

"How can this be? We have been assured by our leaders that each step we have taken has been a step toward peace. Without that assurance the American people could not have been persuaded to take the steps. But surely, a man can walk to the edge of a precipce, look at the view, and refuse to jump off!"

TRAINING CAMPS OPPOSE WAR

Mounting reports are being received indicating that an enormous number of military men are of the "Defend America - but no foreign war" sentiment.

Here is a report on army sentiment from Representative John M. Vorys of Ohio.

Representative Vorys served in the United States Overseas Naval Airforce during the last war.

"The boys in the training camps, including the officers are for keeping out of the wars in Europe, Asia and Africa. I know from personal observation and from those who have been touring the camps. I Have a letter from a Colonel in the regular army who substantiates the contention that regular army officers are strongly opposed to getting into foreign wars, while, of course, everybody is for defending America. Boys in training camps have told me "Keep us out of this" and many officers have thanked me for my efforts in restoring peace.

It may be significant that the Second Corps Area, which comprises NewYork City and environs, and which is the center of agitation for rushing us into total war, is the only Area running below its quota for pilots. In the New York section they are very strong for somebody else going over and doing the fighting."

"THE QUESTION NOW IS -- ARE WE GOING TO FIGHT TO MAKE EUROPE SAFE FOR COMMUNISM?"

JOHN T. FLYNN
(noted newspaper columnist and economist)

"This is where we came in. This was started with Germany moving to the East, her objective being the Ukraine and the Rumanian oil fields. Then England and France said, 'No, you can't do that. Come and fight us

"The result was the destruction of the Low Countries and France and the near-destruction of England, Russia alone being saved.

"Now Germany is resuming where she left off when Britain interrupted. If Germany wins, Russia will go Fascist. If Russia defeats Germany, Germany will go Communist. There is no choice for us at all. THE QUESTION NOW IS? ARE WE GOING TO FIGHT TO MAKE EUROPE SAFE FOR COMMUNISM?"

"WATCH HOW FAST AMERICAN COMMUNISTS BECOME PROPAGANDISTS FOR ENTRY INTO WAR!!!"

"For Stalin we have no sympathy. In every way his cruelty and duplicity have equaled Hitler's own. It was his agreement with Hitler which unleashed the military force of which he is now a prospective victim. The lion has now turned on the jackal and marches Finnish troops against the dictator who assayed the conquest of Finland.

"We shall watch with interest to see how fast American Communists and the organizations which they control or influence will become propagandists for American entry into the war on the side of those "great democracies", Stalin's dictatorship and the British Empire.

"We, whose concern has been to keep America out of war in order to make our own democracy work and whose interest is in peace and not in Stalin, see in the tangled course of events new reason for maintaining the fight to keep America out of War."

(Statement from the New York Times, June 23, 1941)

ANSWER THE "SOUTH AMERICAN INVASION" ARGUMENT

A favorite argument of the interventionists has been "seize bases in Africa to prevent an invasion of South America."

General Wood, John T. Flynn, Colonel Lindbergh and others have exposed this as a preposterous military adventure designed to drag us into the European war.

NOW -- HANSON BALDWIN, RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF THE FOREMOST

MILITARY AUTHORITIES IN AMERICA, DENOUNCES THIS PROPOSED SEIZURE AS -- "STRATEGICAL ABSURDITY" !!!!

Mr. Baldwin, who is military and naval expert for the New York Times, Points out how foolhardy any attempt would be to arm and maintain bases off the European Coast and in Africa.

He denounces and disproves the "invasion" theory.

He outlines the simple procedure the United States must follow to develop an impregnable defense.

STRATEGICAL ABSURDITY

The following is a condensation of an article on "The Realities of Hemisphere Defense" written by Hanson Baldwin, Military and Naval expert for the New York Times. It appeared in the Reader's Digest for July, 1941.

"Africa has recently become to our alarmists the base from which swarms of planes and fleets of ships will maneuver against South America. We cannot defend the Americas unless we seize a base in West Africa, it is argued .... So runs the argument and if it is valid, we must change our whole Hemisphere Defense policy -- not temporarily, but permanently....

"Let us look at the matter more closely. There is, first of all, the problem of the Narrowed World. In terms of time the world is smaller. But what is often overlooked is that this helps the defense as well....In the balance of offense and defense, it is just as far as ever from Dakar to Brazil". Moreover, we are rapidly getting new bases (Trinidad and British Guiana) roughly as close to the shoulder of Brazil as Dakar. "There is altogether too much disposition in this country to lose sight of the influence of geography upon war, to regard 1600 miles of ocean as a mere bagatelle in the seven-league strides of Adolph Hitler." Over these 1600 miles he could not more block us from this area than he can block England from using the English Channel; and invasion over these 1600 miles would be vastly more difficult than invasion of England over 25 miles of English Channel.

"Furthermore, even though the Germans do occupy Dakar, they would still have to establish a huge base there with elaborate equipment. This would take a long time. Even supposing that they did reach Brazil eventually, supplying bases and armies there in that jungle would be a colossal job. "This is a military problem which makes the invasion of Britain seem child's play".....

"Reverse the picture, and it gives a fair idea of our own difficulties should we try to maintain a base in West Africa...

But clearly such bases are not vital to Hemisphere Defense; they would probably be more of a liability than an asset...The argument that we have to establish bases in another hemisphere to protect our own land quickly reaches a strategical absurdity...

"What is needed to make Hemisphere Defense a workable military policy?....If we take the right measures this hemisphere can be defended and we need fear no evil" from any hostile coalition of great powers. We need

1. Sea power -- the present program is ample.
2. Air power --long range bombers particularly
3. Land power -- a mobile, finely trained small army of 500,000 to 700,000 men.
4. Bases -- we have or have planned all that we need except a large air and naval base on the shoulder of Brazil.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WILL ADVISE

Representative Hamilton Fish has announced that the final results of his poll in the President's own district showed 90.02% of the people against war.

Life Magazine discovered a midwestern town and attempted to pin " interventionist" on its name with great pomp. Later Neosha, Missouri, was polled and showed 70% against war.

Washington, D. C., the home of the war-makers, was polled and turned in 93.65% against war.

Indianapolis polled its citizens through leading newspapers and 95% proved to be opposed to foreign intervention.

A PEACE OFFENSIVE

The following is a portion of a speech delivered by Representative John M. Vorys (R. Ohio), on the floor of the House.

! WAGE PEACE AS BRAVELY AS WE WAGE WAR !

"Perhaps it would be wise for us to know this time that war would come again unless we waged peace as bravely and wisely as we waged war.

"Congress can aid in formulating such a policy, the people can urge it, but the President alone can launch it and carry it to a successful conclusion. It is the President who must make the decision that now confronts the Nation, for power has been gathered into his hands.

"If the decision is for war, the responsibility is the President's. Congress will not be held responsible, for the President asked for the powers granted in the lease-lend bill on the guaranty that it would keep us out of war. His Cabinet is pressing for war, but the President's Cabinet are his appointees under his control, and the President cannot transfer his responsibility to them. Nor will war blame rest upon the people, for they have never had a chance to vote on war.

"On the other hand, if the President's decision is for an all-out effort to bring the war to an end, the glory will be his, for he will make that decision under the heaviest pressure from his intimate advisers and from foreign governments that any Executive has ever endured."

(Congressman Vorys served in the naval overseas air force in the last war.)

PUTTING THE WORLD WAR COST TO USE

War is a costly project.

The billions of valuable dollars tossed recklessly into the cauldron of useless wars brought on by ageless enmities could have been spent in a thousand beneficient ways.

The late Victor L. Berger, World War Congressman, once estimated the cost of that martial venture and pointed out the good that all that money could have done.

BERGER INDICATED -----

> "According to the best statistics obtainable the world war cost thirty million lives and $400,000,000,000 in property. With that amount we could have built a $2500 house and furnished this house with $1000 worth of furniture and placed it on five acres of land worth $100 an acre and given all this to every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, and Russia. After doing this there would still be enough money left to give each city of 200,000 inhabitants and over in all the countries named a $5,000,000 library, a $5,000,000 hospital and a ten million dollar university. Out of the balance we could still have sufficient money to set aside a sum at 5 per cent interest which would pay for all time to come a $1000 salary for an army of 125,000 teachers and an army of 125,000 nurses. And, having done all this, we could still have enough left of our $400,000,000,000 to buy up all of France and Belgium and everything of value that France and Belgium possess."

Congressional Record

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 77th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

We Must Keep America Independent

RADIO ADDRESS

OF

HON. STEPHEN A. DAY

OF ILLINOIS

June 15, 1941

(Printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD of June 16, 1941)

Mr. DAY. Mr. Speaker, under leave to extend my remarks in the RECORD, I include the following address which I delivered yesterday over the radio:

Before I was elected to the Congress of the United States, I promised the people that I would take the radio and issue a call for their support when I found that the Nation which we love so dearly was in danger. I am completely satisfied that a grave peril now confronts us. Unless we act immediately and a vigorous protest from all loyal citizens reaches Washington at once, our form of Government under the Constitution and our American independence will be overthrown not by a foreign invasion using military force but by a treasonable betrayal which is already in the making.

There is a powerful movement thoroughly financed throughout the British Empire and in all parts of the United States to surrender great, free America into a permanent confederation or union which will cancel the Declaration of Independence written by Thomas Jefferson in 1776 and completely undermine the Constitution of the United States. Hore Belisha, former Secretary for War in London, this week stated publicly that the plans have been worked out and it now awaits a word from Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt to complete the colossal surrender of all time. While we have been engaged in discussing the wars in Europe, Asia, and Africa, and whether the United States will be involved, the first secret steps have been undertaken.

Millions of good Americans were shocked when the Congress passed the land-lease bill [illegible]

What did it mean? What was to become of the Johnson Act forbidding loans to nations which have not paid their debts owing to us from the first World War? What was to become of the Neutrality Act, with its cash and carry provisions? Why did President Roosevelt turn over 50 of our destroyers to Britain without payment? Why did the President say that Britain was fighting our war and that our first line of defense was on the Rhine? Why was Stimson made Secretary of War? Why was Knox made Secretary of the Navy? Why did Ambassador Kennedy resign his post as our Ambassador to Great Britain? Why did Ambassador Bullitt who represented us in France tell the French that if they started the war we would finish it? Why have the American people been urged to aid Britain "short of war"? Why did President Roosevelt promise the American people that our boys would never be sent to fight and die in a foreign war?

All these questions can be answered when we understand that we are to become a part of the British Empire. All news now coming out of Washington is censored, and the people are not told the facts. The truth is known only to the President and those within the inner circle handling and operating the $7,000,000,000 of war materials which we are giving to Britain. When the plan for union with Britain is completed there will be no need for Britain to repay us, since the American people and all subjects of the British Empire in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Ireland, the British Isles, and Africa will be all citizens of one government, the rulers of which will be Winston Churchill and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The Senate of the United States will be absorbed in the parliament of the new union. All Members of the American Congress will be deprived of their seats, and new delegates will sit in the parliament of the new union. You will no longer be a citizen of the United States. Your new allegiance will be to this new union, and you will be a fellow citizen of the hordes in India and the tribesmen of Africa. The [illegible]

Lord Halifax has been sent here to put this deal over. Anthony Eden has proclaimed it. Winston Churchill has said that the movement is flowing steadily onward, and like the great Mississippi River cannot be checked. When Wendell Willkie went to London he carried a note to Winston Churchill stating that the union would sail on. Ambassador Winant has just returned from Britain with a report that all is well.

How near is this new union? American armed vessels are now acting as patrols all over the high seas escorting merchant ships to Britain. The President, proclaiming the freedom of the seas, has issued an order for an unlimited national emergency. He is carrying on an undeclared war with Germany and will never come to the Congress for a declaration of war as provided in our Constitution. Secretary Stimson and Attorney General Jackson have publicly stated that all previous international law has been canceled. Secretary Stimson testified before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations that we are acting under the edicts of a conference of international lawyers held at Budapest, Hungary, in 1934; that President Roosevelt can make war anywhere in the world without any authorization from the Congress.

Plans are now under way to ask the Congress to recess and go home from the middle of July until after Labor Day. The Congress has already appropriated $43,000,000,000, while less than one-third of this sum is all that is needed for American defense. Experts in the Army and Navy have testified that we do not need an Army of over 800,000 for our own defense. On July 1 this Army will already consist of 1,800,000 men. The Congress is appropriating for this year $10,000,000,000 for the Army. Why such gigantic appropriations? All experts in the Army and Navy admit that there is no danger of an invasion of this country by Hitler. Facts and figures have been given to absolutely prove this. Former President Hoover has stated that we can be of more help to Britain if we stay out of the war. Everyone in Washington knows that we are unprepared to carry on successfully a foreign war at this time. Everyone in Wash ington knows that we cannot have a two-ocean Navy until 1946. Everyone in Washington knows that Japan will attack us if we make war on Germany. Japan is bound by treaty with Germany to come to Germany's aid. We cannot successfully fight a war in both the Atlantic and the Pacific at the same time. You are asking what does all this mean?

Those who advocate the union now with Britain do not mean a union after the war. They mean a union now. If this union be accomplished, then Britain's war is our war, and no matter how it comes out, we will be a part of the British Empire. The fears of the American people are to be played upon until we are forced to accept this union now. The press and radio are flooded with appeals to our sympathy. By day and night we are told the merits and bravery of the British people.

Lord Halifax and Senator PEPPER have toured the Nation calling upon us to espouse the cause of Britain. The will of the people is being broken down by every scheme and device to the point where we will accept an agreement which President Roosevelt will proclaim that he has made with Winston Churchill. The American Navy will be pooled with the British Navy; all private property will be seized by the President; strikes fomented by Communists will furnish the occasion for the use of military force with which to take over manufacturing plants; Mayor LaGuardia is forming the citizens into an army for home defense; Mrs. Roosevelt is about to draft American women into her army; all those who oppose these plans are called Copperheads, Hitlerites, and "fifth columnists." Charles Lindbergh and Senator WHEELER have been smeared. A magazine of wide circulation has carried an article that Americans of foreign stock will be interned and it is even suggested that the rank and file of such organizations as America First Committee and the Keep Us Out of War Committee will be carefully investigated with a view to internment.

In the name of God, whither are we heading? When I say, "We must keep America independent now," you know what I mean. This Nation is full of foreign agents. They are not all Communists. Many are British agents. We shall not tolerate undivided allegiance. We shall condemn all subversive doctrines whether they be Communist, Fascist, Nazi, or British. The minority in Congress which has made the fight for the American people need your help. In my campaign for election as Congressman at Large, I pledged the voters that I would never vote to send the son of an American father or mother to fight and die in any European or Asiatic war. I shall keep that pledge. I also pledged that I would never vote one cent for this purpose. I kept that pledge and voted against the lend-lease bill, against the amendments as they came from the Senate, and I voted against giving Britain the $7,000,000,000. President Roosevelt proclaims a national emergency, unlimited in scope. Since we are not at war, he has no more right to do this than I have. He is usurping the powers of the people. He has no more right to seize all private property than I have. He is acting as a dictator and will continue so to act unless he hears from the American people.

Let us get this straight. Can it be possible that the Congress will sit idly by and watch the President take us into an undeclared war in open defiance of the Constitution of the United States which clearly states that the Congress alone can declare war? Can it be possible that the American people will sit idly by and see their sons shackled into a Union Now with Britain without any authority from them, from the Congress, or from the Constitution? Some will say that it cannot happen here. To all these I make answer How can you explain the fact that just a few days ago the President submitted to the Congress for its approval an agreement to build the St. Lawrence seaway project as a defense measure when at the same time in his message to the Congress he admitted that it cannot be built within 4 years from now? How can you explain this action by the President when all in authority know that such agreement amounts to a treaty and should be submitted to the Senate of the United States, as was done several years ago? Why is it not a treaty today? What has happened to change the status of the project? Conceded to be a treaty heretofore, how has it become a mere agreement now? Can you not see that in the mind of the President the Constitution means nothing. If he can undermine the Constitution in this instance, who can say that he is not ready for Union Now with Britain?

Today we find the Congress of the United States in about the position that the French Council of the Five Hundred was in the early autumn of 1799, just before Bonaparte drove them out of their chamber with his dragoons. Measures are offered for the consideration of the Congress under rules which put a gag on debate. Amendments are offered to bills on the floor of Congress which the Members have not even read. If this condition continues our Republic will pass away and we shall have an endless emergency dictatorship, and only those measures will be submitted to the Congress which Hitler would submit to the Reichstag.

On this day, June 15, the interest is due from Britain for the debts owing to us from the last World War. No interest has been paid; instead, the debtor is seeking to absorb the creditor and thus wipe out the debt. Who could have foretold that anything so monstrous could happen in America? This is Father's Day. I appeal to the fathers of America to weigh well what I have said. I appeal to you to make known to the President and the Congress that you will not tolerate any further steps in betrayal of our American independence. We all agree that we must do our utmost to defend the United States. But that does not mean that we must accept a Union Now with Britain and that you and your sons for all time to come will be subjects of the British Empire. What have we done that this should come to us? God knows that it is hard enough to give up a son for military training in defense of our common country. It cannot be possible that He will inflict this curse that will deprive us of our American citizenship. I call upon the American people to awake to this danger and write or wire the President and the Members of Congress at once, tonight, that you will not permit the loss of our American independence. We applaud the loyalty of the subject of the British Empire for standing by Great Britain; we expect Frenchmen to be for France; we expect Italians to be for Italy; we expect Hitlerites to be for Hitler. But why, in the name of God, can we not expect Americans to be for America first, last, and always?

The tide is turning in Washington. The Congress is determined to drive the serpent of internationalism from the free soil of America. We have commenced to put the Communists in their place. We must not stop there. With your help, we will check the betrayal of America into a Union Now with Britain. We have a right to cherish our American independence. No man can take this birthright from us. Just as in 1776 the wrath of the American people must be made known and when the American people decide that this mongrel New Union shall not happen here then I am satisfied we shall remain free and independent. Let us hear from you. We need your help. May God bless you all.

NOT ENOUGH SHIPS FOR A.E.F.

REAR ADMIRAL YEATES STIRLING, JR., UNITED PRESS NAVAL CRITIC, HAS BEEN DRUMMING FOR SENTIMENT TO SUPPORT ENTRANCE OF THE UNITED STATES INTO WORLD WAR II.

HOWEVER, YESTERDAY ADMIRAL STIRLING CONCEDED THAT THERE ARE NOT ENOUGH SHIPS AVAILABLE FOR A SECOND AMERICAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

The following is the complete text of Admiral Stirling's United Press column. (From the Chicago Times, Wednesday, July 16, 1941.)

"In view of the controversy over whether there will be another American Expeditionary Force before the end of the war, it seems appropriate to review the herculean task accomplished by our navy in ferrying 1,000,000 men to France during the last war.

"When the United States entered the war in 1917, it owned but few ships fit for transport service. Fortunately, there were a dozen or more large interned German merchant ships in our ports. These ships had been seriously sabotaged by their crews, but through the process of electric welding were repaired and by October, 1917, most of them were ready to carry troops.

"Great Britain had a number of ships that were available as transports, and nearly 1,000,000 of our men were transported across the Atlantic in British convoys from Canada, escorted by British warships.

LACK TRANSPORTS

"IF THERE SHOULD BE A SECOND A.E.F., THERE WOULD BE THE DIFFICULTY OF PROVIDING ENOUGH FAST AMERICAN TRANSPORTS FOR THE TASK AND SUFFICIENT DESTROYERS TO GUARD THEM.

"In large measure we would have to depend upon England's shipping and foreign vessels interned in the United States.

"All transport should be of 20-know speed or better. The higher the speed of the ship the greater the immunity from submarine attacks. A torpedo as a rule leaves behind it a white wake from its exhaust air bubbles. This, if seen in time, enables a ship to use helm and engines to cause a torpedo to pass ahead or astern.

TORPEDO PROBLEM

"It has been claimed that the Germans have found a means of absorbing the air bubbles, which causes torpedoes to leave no wake. This would make a transport's task of avoiding torpedoes more difficult. There would be no warning when the torpedoe was fired, and if the aim were good a hit would be the first intimation of the presence of a submarine.

"Both British and American anti-submarine vessels are provided with listening devices. The effectiveness of those devices is questionable, because of the noise within the listening vessel from engines and pumps. There is a device using a ray which is said to be more effective.

"Convoys would have to be guarded by an escort large enough to defeat any possible raiders sent against it, and be surrounded by destroyers, not only to attack the submarines after they have been discovered but also to rescue the troops and crews of torpedoed transports.

6-DAY MINIMUM

"The route taken would depend upon the destination in Europe. By all routes the distance is close to 3,000 miles. A 20-know convoy could make the voyage in little over six days. During World War I., troop convoys required as much as 14 days.

"From my experience in the last war the troops dreaded the trip across the ocean far more than they did the battlefields. It was to them something mysterious against which they could do nothing. There would be the same dread today, and the troops would have to be given every reason for believing they were safe. It is important for troops to know that if a transport is torpedoed, sufficient rescue ships will be on hand to take off the men. It is the duty of the navy to man the transports, providing sufficient escort to give reasonable security. While the convoys are at sea, the fight against the submarine and the airplane must be carried on by separate forces of anti-submarine vessels and airplanes. The routes taken by convoys must be assiduously patrolled.

"By this means attacking submarines and bombing planes would be so constantly occupied in warding off attacks they would have little opportunity or inclination to risk attacks on convoys."

ADMIRAL STIRLING HAS POINTED OUT THE QUANTITY AND TYPES OF SHIPS NEEDED FOR TRANSPORT DUTY. PLEASE RECALL HIS PREVIOUS STATEMENT IN THIS ARTICLE OF THE DEFICIENCY IN THOSE SHIPS.

AMERICA FIRST CHAPTERS FROM BOSTON, MASS. - TO SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

! ! ! YOH ARE WINNING THIS FIGHT ! ! !

1....YOU WON NO CONVOYS - Today there are no convoys!!! This has been avowed in sworn testimony before the Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

2....YOU WON THE POSTPONEMENT OF THE SPEECH ORIGINALLY HERALDED AS "THE WAR SPEECH" - Early in May the President contemplated a fireside chat. The war-party circulated the report that this speech would be tantamount to a declaration of war. The country had been "primed". BUT - America First Chapters poured mail into the President and Congress. America First Chapters by their efforts showed that 80% of the nation opposed war. THE PRESIDENT POSTPONED THAT SPEECH. He delayed two weeks and rewrote that speech because it was at last evident that America had not been "conditioned" for war. Because he realizes that the overwhelming majority of the people are against war the President has never made that "war" speech. Each message has touched vaguely on "danger" and "pirates".

3....YOU WON THE FIRST "NO A.E.F." FIGHT The administration withdrew the clause in the original bill which asked for the "removal of boundary restrictions". (However, there will still be attempts to push legislation which will license an A.E.F. We must continue to press the campaign against bills and proposals which may ultimately mean "expeditionary force".)

4....YOU ARE GAINING CONGRESSIONAL STRENGTH - A meeting of the non-interventionist leaders in Congress was held on July 22, 1941, Present at this meeting to discuss policy and means of carrying out the non-interventionist program were 20 members of Congress who had never before attended the non-interventionist caucus.

REPORT ON REPORTING

On April 24 Charles A. Lindbergh addressed a non-interventionist rally in New York. The New York Times reported that Father Coughlin's Social Justice was sold outside this meeting, that "German accents were numerous", and that the audience cheered remarks unsympathetic to Britain.

On July 17, the Committee to Defend America and Fight for Freedom Inc. held a pro-war rally in the same hall presided over by Wendell L. Willkie. Outside the meeting communists distributed copies of the Daily Worker, the New Masses and the latest statement of the Communist Party. Inside the hall communists revealed their presence by applauding references to the Soviet Union. Most of the speakers emphasized their hope that the peoples of the dictator countries would be freed, and mentioned specifically Germany, Italy and the conquered territories. But they failed to mention Stalin's people. None of these aspects of the meeting were reported by the New York Times. (from UNCENSORED, July 19, 1941)

COLONEL KNOX
Testifies to the Senate Naval Affairs Committee when seeking confirmation of his appointment as Secretary of the Navy.

Question: You would not favor sending our boys to Eurppe under any circumstances in the present crisis?

Col. Knox: That is right.
... we ought to aid them in a moral and economic way, never in manpower...
... I mean everything short of sending military assistance, either army or navy assistance.

COLONEL KNOX
Speaks in Boston one year later.

... Now is the time to put in motion the machine we have been building...we must, if need be, match with American tears, American toil, American sweat, and American blood, the toil, the tears, the sweat, and the blood which Britain has...spent... The time to clear the Atlantic of the German menace is at hand...

THE SMEAR BRIGADE

There has been a violent attack upon the patriotism of Senator Burton K. Wheeler by Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson.

The war secretary's attack was based on postcards sent out over the Senator's franking privilege urging the recipients to write the President to express opposition to entry into the European war. Two of these cards were received by members of the U.S. Army, Staff Sergeant William L. White, Company C., 8th Infantry, Fort Benning, and Lieutenant Alfred P. Herne, Post Adjutant, Fort McIntosh, Laredo,

Texas, who turned them over to the war department.

Secretary Stimson sought to make it appear that Senator Wheeler deliberately mailed the cards to army personnel in an effort to incite opposition to the Administration's legislation requesting extension of service.

THE TRUTH OF THE MATTER IS:

1.....The cards said nothing whatever of a draft service extension proposal. They contained speeches of Hoover, Nye, Kennedy, and President Roosevelt.

2.....The cards were mailed in June before General Marshall made his proposal to extend the service of the men in camps.

3.....Th e cards were mailed to over a million people.

4.....An outside magazine mailing list was used. The mail clerks neglected to remove the names of the few soldiers in the million.

5.....IT IS BELIEVED THAT SECRETARY STIMSON'S SMEAR WAS DESIGNED AS AN EVASION TO THE INQUIRY ADDRESSED TO HIM BY WHEELER ON WEDNESDAY ASKING HI' TO AFFIRM OR DENY REPORTS THAT 12,000 TO 20,000 AMERICAN TROOPS HAD BEEN LANDED AT SUEZ. STIMSON HAS NEVER MENTIONED NOR REPLIED TO SENATOR WHEELER'S INQUIRY!!!!

NO REASON FOR ENTERING WAR

(An editorial published in the Denver Post, Denver, Colorado, July 21, 1941)

---

* "We are arming ourselves not for any purpose of conquest *
* or intervention in foreign disputes. I repeat again that *
* I stand on the platform of our party: "WE WILL NOT PARTIC- *
* IPATE IN FOREIGN WARS, and WE WILL NOT SEND OUR ARMY, *
* NAVAL OR AIR FORCES TO FIGHT IN FOREIGN LANDS OUTSIDE *
* THE AMERICAS EXCEPT IN CASE OF ATTACK'." - Pres.Roosevelt *
* at Philadelphia, October 23, 1940. *

Observing that "some of us have short memories nowadays", Amos Pinchot, New York city attorney, has written a letter to President Roosevelt r minding him of this and other peace pledges made during the 1940 campaign. Copies of this letter have been sent to senators and congressmen. Pinchot also has told the president: "TODAY THERE IS NO 'DEFENSE'

REASON IN GOD'S WORLD FOR ENTERING A DECLARED OR UNDECLARED WAR THAT DID NOT EXIST IN GREATER MEASURE WHEN YOU MADE YOUR PEACE PLEDGES LAST FALL AT PHILADELPHIA, HARTFORD, BOSTON, NEW YORK, BROOKLYN AND WASHINGTON."

It is a good idea to remind the president and members of congress of these peace pledges. They have forgotten too many campaign promises in the past. Washington is cluttered with repudiated pledges to cut down government spending, reduce taxes, stop the deficits. There are too many signs now that the peace assurances of 1940 are going the way of the economy promises of 1932.

The doctrine that we cannot defent ourselves and will be enslaved by Hitler unless we go forth and fight him in Africa or Asia or Europe on his home grounds "does not make sense". Pinchot insists in his letter to the president, "Yet, from the moment of your re-election, you have not ceased to use every expedient to spread a psychology of hysteria and blind funk in the United States. You have invited German attack and total war by aggressive, provocative acts that follow each other in ever-faster succession. Meanwhile, you and your spokesmen, in and out of congress, are reviling every loyal American who says now precisely what you said nine months ago, and whose cardinal sin is that he loves his own country better than any other,"

Postmaster General Walker was beating the war drum and spreading fear in Denver Saturday. What might happen to the United States in the event that Germany defeats Soviet Russia was the theme of his speech. "The people in the western part of this country have now come to a full realization that a complete Nazi conquest of Russia would bring a serious threat to our national security along the west coast and in the territory of Alaska", he declared. "America is threatened."

Sentiment against America involvement in the war has been especially pronounced in the West. Propaganda that the United States would be the next victim of Hitler aggression IF England falls and IF the Nazis get the British fleet hasn't stirred up much war sentiment in this part of the country. So now we are being dosed with speculation about how the Nazis might strike at the western part of the United States IF Russia falls and IF they occupy all of the Soviet territory.

It will not be easy to scare the American people into thinking there is any more immediate danger of a Nazi invasion thru Siberia and Alaska than there is from across the Atlantic ocean. We want to be prepared to stand off attack from any and every quarter. But American defense does not require the United States to plunge into the European war.

Postmaster General Walker did not exaggerate when he said that the cost of the national defense program "will test the spirit of self-sacrifice, the courage and patriotism of America". The most staggering tax bill in history is being prepared for the American people. And what it brings in will amount to less than one-third of what has been appropriated.

* ADVISORY WAR REFERENDUM *******

MR. NYE Mr. President, I ask consent to submit a concurrent resolution. I am joined in its submission by the Senator from Montana (MR. WHEELER), the Senator from Kansas (MR. CAPPER), the Senator from Wisconsin (MR. LA FOLLETTE), the Senator from Idaho (MR. CLARK), and the Senator from Minnesota (MR. SHIPSTEAD). I ask that the concurrent resolution be read at the desk.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Without objection, the concurrent resolution will be read.

The legislative clerk read the concurrent resolution (S. Con. Res. 7), as follows:

Whereas the Democratic Party platform of 1940 stated: "We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our Army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack"; and

Whereas the Republican Party platform of 1940 states: "The Republican Party is firmly opposed to involving this Nation in foreign wars"; and

Whereas the President, during the 1940 campaign, stated: "I hate war now more than ever. I have one supreme determination--to do all I can to keep war away from these shores for all time. I stand with my party upon the platform adopted at Chicago." (Address to teamsters' union convention, Washington, September 11, 1940.)

"To Republicans and Democrats, to every man, woman, and child in the Nation, I say your President and your great Secretary of State are following the road to peace. We are arming ourselves not for any purposes of conquest or intervention in foreign disputes. I repeat that I stand on the platform of our party. * * * It is for peace I have labored; and it is for peace I shall labor all the days of my life." (Address in Convention Hall, Philadelphia, October 30, 1940.)

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars; they are going into training to form a force so strong that by its very existence it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores." (Address at Boston Garden, October 30, 1940.)

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war." (Address at Cleveland, November 3, 1940.)

And

Whereas public-opinion polls taken since September 1939 show over 80 percent of the American people opposed to the United States entering the war; and the poll completed March 15, 1941, on the question, "If you were asked to vote on the question of the United States entering the war against Germany and Italy, how would you vote--to go into the war or to stay out of the war?" shows 83 percent opposed; and

Whereas the Congress has made clear its intention to keep out of foreign war through such provisions as it wrote into the Selective Service Act against use of those inducted in service outside the Western Hemisphere or the possessions of the United States: Now, therefore, be it

RESOLVED BY THE SENATE (THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCURRING), That in order to ascertain the will of the people regarding the use of our naval and air forces, as well as land forces not inducted under the Selective Service Act, outside the Western Hemisphere or the Territorial possessions of the United States, the Congress shall, before it shall authorize, or support by appropriation, the use of such forces elsewhere, order a national advisory election of all eligible voters on the following question:

"Shall the Congress under existing conditions approve the use of land, naval, and air forces outside the Western Hemisphere or the Territorial possessions of the United States and appropriate funds necessary for such military and naval operations?"

Congress shall by law provide for the fulfillment and enforcement of the provisions of this act.

The VICE PRESIDENT. Without objection, the concurrent resolution will be received and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Speaker's Bureau

TITLE: "FREEDOM OF THE SEAS"

By: AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE RESEARCH BUREAU

VOLUME NO: 8

DATE: June 26, 1941

DID YOU KNOW

That the President's call for "freedom of the seas" was really a demand for the right to help one country at war defeat another?

That the right to ship arms and other contraband to one belligerent without interference from its enemy is not recognized under international law, and has been rejected by both England and the United States?

That England has opposed, and would oppose now, genuine "freedom of the seas", since England's power to keep all supplies from reaching her enemy is her strongest weapon?

"FREEDOM OF THE SEAS"

Our own Secretary of State admitted during the World War that "freedom of the seas" in wartime was determined by the belligerents:

> "The fact that the commerce of the United States is interrupted by Great Britain is consequent upon the superiority of the Navy on the high seas. History shows that whenever a country has possessed that su superiority our trade has been interrupted and that few artivles essential to the prosecution of the war have been allowed to reach its enemy from this country." (Secretary of State Bryan to Chairman of Senate Senate Committee on Foreign Relations on January 20, 1915; quoted in Report of Special Senate Committee on Investigation of the Munitions Industry, 74th Congress, part 5 , page 163).

Winston Churchill has pointed out that, at the close of the World War, the representatives of the Allies refused to accept "freedpm of the seas" as proposed by President Wilson:

"The second Point was then read.
'Absolute freedom of navigation upon the seas, outside territorial waters, alike in peace and in war, except as the seas may be closed in whole or in part by international action for the enforcement of international covenants.'

"This point about what is called the 'Freedom of the Seas' naturally aroused British concern.... Mr. Lloyd George said he could not accept this clause under any condition. If it had been in operation at the present time we should have lost the power of imposing a blockade. Germany had broken down almost as much from the effects of the blockade as from that of military operations.... Clenenceau and Sonnino agreed with Lloyd George." ("The Aftermath" -19 pages 103-104, report of a meeting of representatives of the Allies in the World War to discuss Woodrow Wilson's "Fourteen Points" as a basis for an armistice with Germany).

THE PRESIDENT DEMANDS FREEDOM OF THE SE S

In his "unlimited emergency" speech of May 27, 1941, President Roosevelt stated that "we re*assert the ancient American doctrine of freedom of the seas". His characterization of the doctrine ~~xfxfxxxxx~~ for which he contended was inaccurate on at least two counts. First, the doctrine he asserted was neither ancient nor "American" in the sense of representing American foreign policy. Second, the doctrine he asserted cannot be called the "freedom of the seas"; What he asked in reality was th "freedom to aid at will one belligerent nation without danger of interference by the other belligerent" - a freedom which our own government and the British government had denied on past occasions, and which the British would be the first to reject now, if it were to their advantage.

The sinking of the Robin Moor an American ship, in the South Atlantic, afforded the President another opportunity to raise indirectly the question of the "freedom of the seas", in an oratorical message to Congress on June 20, 1941. Of course, the manner in which the ship was sunk and the crew and passengers treated was unjustified and ruthless, but the President failed to mention the Robin Moor was carrying to a belligerent state (the Union of South Africa) a cargo of goods of which 70 pe per cent was banned as contraband of war by both Britian and Germany (see DID YOU KNOW,#1)/

REPEAL THE NEUTRALITY ACT?

The Neutrality Act is a substantial barrier to the President's conception of "freedom of the seas". Despite earlier demands for repeal of the Neutrality Act and return to "freedom of the se by Secretary of the Navy Knox (New York Times, May 22, 1941), th and Secretary of War Stimson (New York Times, May 22, 1941), the President stated at his press conference following the "Unlimit emergency" of speech, that he was not then considering a request asking for repeal or amendment of the Neutrality Act (New York Times, May 29, 1941)/

The President's attitude therefore indicates three possibilities 1) he may have used the phrase "freedom of the seas" merely as a glittering oratorical attraction; or 2) he may plan to seek repeal or amendment of the Neutrality Act later; or 3) his concept of "freedom of the seas" may involve a course of action designed to prevent German warships from interfering with American aid to Britain, which may not conflict with the Neutrality Act. In view of the history in American foreign policy of "freedom of the seas", and of the background of the President's remarks, the latter course seems the most likely.

"THE ANCIENT AMERICAN DOCTRINE"

In his "unlimited emergency" speech, the President referred to a few historical examples to prove America's devotion to "freedom of the seas". The irrelevance of those examples to the present situation is matched only by the omission from his speech of other and much more important historical instances. He cited our difficulties with the French in 1799, our war against the Barbary pirates a few years later, the War of 1812, and our assistance in ousting French from Mexicao, none of which was analogous to our present claim to the right to supply one belligerent with arms and contraband without interference from the other belligerent. Much more important is the fact that the President failed to mention the Civil War and the World War -- not to mention the Neutrality Act and the current war.

In the Civil War, the Union seized British ships which sought to run the Union blockade and to carry goods to the South. (Borchard and Lage, "Neutrality for the United States" (1937), page 15).
In the World War, despite merely formal protests made for the sake of the record, the Wilson administration actually acquiesced in the British blockade and the all-embracing ~~xxxxxxxx~~ contraband list adopted by the British, which exposed American trade with the neutrals of Europe and even South America to the complete control of Britain and the Allies (Borchard and Lage, pages 34, 36, 39, 43,61-62, 65, 72). The Neutrality Act, of course, limits our freedom of trade in time of war, and was adopted as an indication of strength, not weakness, in our desire to ~~xx~~ keep out of war.

In the current war, despite another mild protest made for the sake of the record, we have again acquiesced in the British blockade and an even more-embracing contraband list. We have acquiesced in the British system of "navicerts", under which our shippers must submit their cargo lists to British agents -- even if the cargo is destined for a neutral country -- in order to minimize interference with a voyage by British warship Now, we face a British system of "mailcerts", which amounts to a tax on American mail and operates on the same principle as the "navicerts (New York Times, June 24, 1941).

FREEDOM TO AID A BELLIGERENT

The President's remarks showed clearly that what he means by "freedom of the seas" is freedom to send arms and other contraband to Britain and her Allies. This is not the "freedom of the seas" recognized under international law, which means the freedom of American shippers to trade freely with all belligerents. What he means by "freedom of the seas" is shown by his statement that we must help "cut down the losses on the high seas", although at the time of his speech no American ship was known to have been sunk. He is primarily concerned with ousting German ships from Atlantic waters. Whether or not that is wise cannot be determined unless the issue is presented for what it really is.

There is a war in progress. Naturally, Germany will seek to sink or capture British ships carrying arms or contraband, even if the cargoes come from the United States. If American ships carry contraband to ports belonging to part of the British Empire (belligerent territory) it is to be expected that German ships will seek to block such voyages. American ships on such voyages cannot claim exemption from visit and search, or even capture, by German ships, because they can be held liable to capture under the accepted rules of international law, which American courts helped to formulate. (Borchard and Lage, pages 16-17, 118-119)

BRITAIN OPPOSES FREEDOM OF THE SEAS

Obviously, "freedom of the seas" is not the policy of the British government, which rejected it in the World War, and which rejects it in the current war. The British must always reject it, since their strongest weapon is the naval blockade, by which they seek to prevent any supplies from reaching their enemies. No President can profess to seek "freedom of the seas" if he accepts unreservedly the British policy.

Villard Quits America First

By Leo Jay Margolin

PM Exclusive

Oswald Garrison Villard has resigned as a member of the national group of the America First Committee, PM learned today.

Until Oct. 10, the date of his resignation, Mr. Villard was a member of the committee's hierarchy, which numbers among its members such arch-appeasers as Henry Ford, Hugh S. Johnson, Alice Roosevelt Longworth and William R. Castle.

Mr. Villard quit the committee because he disagrees with its Principle No. 1 which was and still is: "The United States must build an impregnable defense for America."

Mr. Villard, who wrote for The Nation for 46 years before he quit last June, still feels the U. S. A. does not need to arm to the teeth.

"I believe with Gen. Wood," said Mr. Villard, "that there is no danger of an invasion of the U. S. A. The 3000 miles of ocean is an impassable barrier to any potential invader."

Asked whether the America First Committee was, in his opinion, made up of appeasers, Mr. Villard stated:

"I have the highest respect for these real Americans, their integrity, patriotism and soundness. I don't think its appeasement to keep America out of war."

Mr. Villard said he left the committee roster on the most friendly terms.

La Follette spoke at a mass meeting held under auspices of the America First Committee.

Cites Three Principles

Mrs. Bennett Champ Clark, wife of the Missouri Senator, told the audience at the opening of the meeting that the Committee was formed to support three principles:

1. To keep the United States out of war.
2. To build up an impregnable defense for this country.
3. To give Britain all possible aid under existing law.

The Committee is engaged in fighting the lend-lease bill, now before Congress.

La Follette, who was the last of three speakers at the meeting, cut his address short because he is "fighting a Washington flu germ," he said.

Must Prove Hitler Wrong

"There is a danger to the world abroad. Our way of living is under attack," La Follette declared.

"Hitler has said to the German people that no man can be free and have a job. That they would have to make a choice between the two.

"It is up to us to prove that men don't have to make this choice. We can prove in the United States that a man can be free and have a job."

John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the America First Committee, who also spoke, scoffed at the idea that Hitler will invade this country if he conquers Britain. He ridiculed the theory that Hitler would try to land a force of men on the American coast or that he would attempt to bring them across the ocean from Africa to Brazil.

Cites Military Figures

"I have been informed by military experts," he said, "that it would take 13,000,000 tons of shipping to bring sufficient equipment and ammunition across the Atlantic to support an army of 1,000,000 men.

"I have been told that no combination of sea power is sufficient to bring an army of a million men and their equipment to this country and to keep it fed and equipped."

Mrs. Taft said she was present to represent the women's point of view.

"I maintain that this lend-lease bill would give to one man the right to abolish the American pattern," she declared.

The meeting was presided over by Senator D. Worth Clark (R.), of Idaho, who introduced the speakers and indicated full support of the committee's platform.

ERICA FIRST GIRDS FOR FINAL WAR BILL FIGHT

Chapter Heads to Meet in Washington Feb. 21.

Chapter chairmen of the America First committee will meet in Washington, D. C., Feb. 21 to discuss plans for a final drive to defeat the war dictatorship bill, R. Douglas Stuart, national director of the committee, announced yesterday.

The chairmen will meet with Stuart and Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the committee, to devise means of urging voters to write their senators. They also will visit their senators and register their objections to the war legislation.

Robert L. Bliss, organization director of America First, reported yesterday that six new chapters have been organized at Manitowoc, Wis.; Hartford, Conn.; St. Paul, Minn.; Oakland, Cal.; Springfield, Mass., and Alhambra, Cal. The new chapters bring to 586 the total of chapters and affiliated units of America First.

La Follette Speaks Tonight.

Philip F. La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, will speak at 10:30 o'clock tonight over the Columbia Broadcasting system network. The talk will have no local outlet, but will be rebroadcast over WBBM, Chicago, from 10:45 to 11 p. m. La Follette's speech, "With Malice Toward None," will be a reply to a similar talk made recently by Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, over the same network.

The veterans' division of the America First committee last night asked Senator Scott W. Lucas, Illinois Democrat, to reconsider his refusal to debate Wayland Brooks, Republican senator from Illinois, on the war dictatorship bill. The meeting is tentatively set for Feb. 23 in the Chicago Civic Opera house.

The telegram, asking that Lucas reconsider, explained that the debate will be bpadcast and expressed belief that the meeting would bring the senators mail and telegraph expression of the true reactions of Illinois voters. "The people of Illinois are entitled to hear the views of the two war veterans who represent the views in the United States senate," the telegram said. [illegible]

PRO-NAZI GROUP RALLIES TO AID OF ISOLATIONISTS

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

A ringing appeal to assist the America First Committee and the Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee in "their fight for you" has been issued to the members of the German-American National Alliance.

The pro-Nazi alliance, also known as the Einheitsfront—United Front—makes the plea in the leading article of its current "News Letter."

Signed by Paul A. F. Warnholtz, head of the organization, the article urges the members to "demand" of their senators and congressmen that they "oppose steps leading us into war or into dictatorship" and that they "defeat the dictator bill, H. R. 1776, completely."

Plugs for Isolationists.

Warnholtz then plugs for America First and the C. K. A. O. W. committee as follows:

"There are organized cliques, which beat the drums of war, backed by unlimited funds. But there are also several committees efficiently aiding you in your fight to save the lives of the sons of America and to preserve American institutions and the American way of life. Assist these committees in their fight for you. Assist them financially and morally. They need money to arouse the public. Assist these committees at once! Here are the names and addresses of these committees who are against war, etc.:

"Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee, 77 West Washington street, Chicago, Ill.

"America First Committee, Board of Trade Building, Chicago, Ill."

Does Not Define 'Etc.'

The champion of the Einheitsfront version of "the American way of life" does not define what "etc." means in his assertion that the committees named are "against war, etc." As for Americans who, he alleges, "shout loudest for war," he offers language reminiscent of the press of Dr. Goebbels.

"They are usually old men, sterile biologically, and sterile even of all dreams and memories of life, love and youth and would deny the right of youth to live," avers Mr. Warnholtz. "Their senile bodies, their cold, calculating brains, frequently find compensation for their lost youth in hatred and false ambitions for glory and gold."

In another article Mr. Warnholtz waxes equally eloquent in charging that the Allies after the last war "sacked and plundered Germany completely" and in lambasting "that greedy Moloch which has or had its home in London," but which "now for matters of safety is gradually slinking into America, with its gold, diamonds and all."

Clergymen Back Aid-Bill.

Immediate enactment of the lease-lend bill in defense of democracy and Christianity is demanded by a new agency of opinion, a publication entitled "Christianity and Crisis," published in New York.

Among its sponsors are Dr. J. Harry Cotton, president of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Chicago; Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker and the Episcopal Church, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Morrow, widow of the late ambassador to Mexico and mother-in-law of Charles A. Lindbergh; Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"We are witnessing the first effective revolution against Christianity since the days of Constantine," the journal says. "To those committed to the support of democracy in its struggle against the totalitarian menace, it is overwhelmingly urgent that the bill be passed."

An organization to promote unity in defense of American institutions and aid to the enemies of Hitlerism was launched today at the Morrison Hotel by leaders of citizens' groups with Polish, Czech and Slovak ancestry. Sponsors of the movement have urged enactment of the lend-lease bill. Editors of Polish, Czech and Slovak language newspapers are prominent in the organization.

America First Group Smeared, Gen. Wood Charges in Chicago

CHICAGO, March 7 (C.T.F.S.). Difficulties encountered in organizing an America First committee chapter in New York city because of strong interventionist sentiment there were told today by Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the committee. He said that tremendous social pressure was brought to bear against New Yorkers desiring to affiliate themselves.

A New York chapter has been established, however, and is growing rapidly in membership, General Wood said. It is headed by John T. Flynn, economist and author, and many of the chapter activities are directed by Edwin Webster, an investment banker.

Says Members Smeared

"Because the committee is one of the leading groups opposing the Administration's lend-lease bill," General Wood said, "interventionist circles in New York have tried to smear anyone joining the chapter. I know of one corporation official who wanted to become a member. But his board of directors told him he couldn't."

Even publicity men have been afraid to take jobs with the New York committee, the General said, because interventionists have warned these men won't be able to get any other work later. Social pressure against prospective members has been so strong, he remarked, that they have been virtually ostracized by former intimates.

If a New Yorker of any prominence joins the committee chapter, he is likely to be attacked in print by several columnists and newspapers, and to be branded an appeaser and a traitor, General Wood said.

Honest Opinion

The committee believes in an honest division of opinion regarding this country's position in foreign affairs but in New York, the interventionists make every effort to suppress contrary opinion, the General added. These conditions are also true in Philadelphia, and to a lesser extent in Boston, he said.

"In much of the rest of the country," he said, "I believe our position on the lend-lease bill is that of the majority of people. Our work has done much to give people a chance to learn that this bill is a war measure."

CHICAGO, March 12—The America First Committee reported today the organization had received $127,615 in contributions from 15,014 persons and listed 66 contributions of $100 or more. The 66 included Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The list was issued after former Sen. Ernest W. Gibson of Vermont, chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, had listed contributions of $100 or more to his organization and challenged the America First Committee to do likewise.

In addition to Col. Lindbergh, the list included:

Max W. Babb, president, Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee; John T. McCutcheon, Chicago Tribune cartoonist; Ernest T. Weir, the Weirton Steel Co.; Robert E. Wood, Sears, Roebuck & Co.; Robert Treat Paine 2d, Boston attorney; H. L. Stuart, president, Halsey Stuart, brokerage firm, and Wallace E. Pratt, New York geologist.

Contributions listed by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies included:

J. P. Morgan, less than $500; Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, less than $500; Katherine Hepburn and Lynn Fontaine, actresses, between $250 and $500; Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, wife of the governor of New York, between $500 and $1000. Others are Henry R. Luce, publisher, David Dubinsky, president International Ladies Garment Workers Union, and a group of about 50 playwrights, stage and screen producers, novelists, actors, publishers and composers, a total of $24,000.

Called 'Nazi Front'

NEW YORK, March 12—The Friends of Democracy charge that the America First Committee, headed by Gen. Robert E. Wood, is "a Nazi front and a transmission belt for the Nazis."

L. M. Birkhead, national director of the Friends of Democracy, said literature of the America First Committee was being circulated at Nazi and Bund meetings and that Bund members and sympathizers were being urged to support it.

Aid Bill Foes Won't Reveal Backers

Senate Probe May Subpoena Records Of Committees

By JAY FRANKLIN.

The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies has finally justified itself to the American people. The committee's action in making public the full list of its major contributors—those who gave $100 or more — has put the Little Americans group behind the eight ball.

Jay Franklin.

The America First Committee, for example, has not followed suit and has released an incomplete list of financial angels. For some curious reason certain of the backers of this organization have refused to allow their names to be made public. Though it has long been a Communazi tactic not to let its left wing know what its right wing is doing, it will appear odd that Americans who believe in the isolationist doctrine of America first are too modest to let their names be made known in this connection.

This is just asking for a congressional investigation, and it is considered probable that the contemplated Senate investigation of axis propaganda in the United States will call on the America First Committee and the others to produce their records under subpoena.

It is probably unjust, but I know of no one thing which would arouse such general suspicion as the refusal to make contributors public. The America First Committee has already been charged with serving as a "transmission belt" for Nazi propaganda by the Friends of Democracy, Inc. Coyness and the reluctance in the face of national interest in the real backers of this supposed "grass roots" movement tends to breed suspicion. The operators of this publicity machine can either destroy their records and face the legal consequences or they can make public their affiliations.

Publication Calls Bluff.

During the long debates on the aid-to-Britain bill, the Little Americans repeatedly charged that the public was being mislead by propaganda. The Committee to Defend America has called this bluff by making public the names of those who supported its energetic and often effective publicity on the lease-lend measure. Now it will be inferred the real propaganda—in the sense of alien influences seeking to affect our national decisions in the interests of foreign governments—has lined up behind the opposition.

This suspicion will persist until the full list of names is made public, both by the America First Committee, the Keep Out of Foreign Wars Committee and the rest of the gang. Let's hope that publication will show, as it should show, that financial sponsors of contemporary isolationist propaganda are simply American citizens.

No Crime to Contribute.

The cause of the national unity requires that we should clear the air of general suspicions. So far as I know, it is no crime to contribute to the cause of America first; or even to the cause of America last. So there would be no legal reprisals or "tendency to degrade and incriminate" involved in full publicity. The worst that could happen would be to discredit, by revealing the source of funds, the isolationist movement whipped up in Congress in an attempt to prevent effective aid to Britain. Perhaps the effectiveness of some of the Little American Senators and agitators could be reduced by revealing the strange bedfellows involved in their crusade.

So it seems more than likely that in order to achieve national unity the next administration move will be a dignified and thorough Senate investigation of Communazi intrigues and propaganda inside our borders.

Lindbergh Talks Here April 17

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will discuss the United States' foreign policy at a midwest rally of the America First Committee, April 17, in the Chicago Arena, 410 E. Erie st., R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of the committee, announced today.

The rally is being staged as part of a campaign to enroll 5,000 chapters with a membership of 10,000,000 under the America First banner, Stuart said. Chapters in Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin and Iowa as well as Illinois are expected to send delegations.

Col. Lindbergh will discuss America's relationship to Europe and the folly of this country's entering the European war, Stuart said.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the committee, outlined plans for the membership campaign at a meeting last night in the Palmer House. The committee will go into even the smallest villages to acquaint the people with its aim to keep America out of foreign wars, Wood declared.

By means of the campaign, he said, the committee hopes to make rapid strides toward its ultimate intention to have a chapter in every community in the country.

O. Z. Whitehead, a member of the cast of "Life with Father," will address a rally at 4 p. m. this Sunday in John Woolman hall, 1174 E. Fifty-seventh st., under the auspices of the committee's Hyde Park chapter.

AMERICA FIRST OPENS DRIVE FOR BAN ON CONVOYS

Asks Telegrams to Back Tobey Resolution.

The America First committee marshaled its forces yesterday for a nation-wide drive to insure congressional passage of the Tobey anti convoy resolution, which would prohibit the use of American men and vessels to transport war supplies to belligerent nations.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the antiwar organization, called for a barrage of letters telegrams, and telephone calls eclipsing in volume those sent to Washington, D. C., during the lend-lease bill fight. Members of the 700 America First chapters thruout the nation were urged to write to their senators urging immediate action on the resolution.

Other Antiwar Developments.

The move in the anticonvoy campaign was only one of a number of developments yesterday in the America First committee's drive to keep the United States at peace. Others included:

1. Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan units of the America First committee announced they would send delegates to the giant antiwar rally Thursday night in the Chicago arena, 400 East Erie street, at which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will speak. An audience of 10,000 persons is expected.

2. Plans were drawn for another massmeeting in the arena Sunday, April 27, when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will visit Chicago on his cross-country speaking tour which will carry him into nine states during the next month.

3. Plans went ahead for the first appearance as an America First speaker of O. Z. Whitehead, young actor from the cast of "Life with Father," who will address a rally at 4 p. m. today in John Woolman hall, 1174 East 57th street. Whitehead was prevented from addressing an America First rally last week, but the ban since has been lifted by the New York producer of the play.

4. Six other community meetings were scheduled in the drive for 1 million America First members in Illinois.

Wood Warns Convoys Mean War.

In announcing the campaign against the use of American convoys to transport supplies to Great Britain, Gen. Wood declared:

"It is generally conceded that if we convoy goods some of our ships will be sunk, and then we will be in the war up to the hilt. When the lend-lease bill was before congress, most of the senators and representatives who voted for that measure said they were against our becoming involved in a shooting war.

"That being the case, we are confident that the Tobey resolution will be passed by congress if the majority of Americans who are opposed to our entering the war make known their desires to congress.

Fight Up to People, He Says.

"Whether we do or do not use our ships and men to convoy goods into the war zone is up to the people of America. The congress has the will to pass the Tobey resolution, or that I am certain. That body must, however, be shown that the majority is against war. The only way that can be accomplished is by means of letters, telegrams, and telephone calls to the members of congress."

The anticonvoy resolution, introduced in the senate by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.] is pending before the senate foreign relations committee.

It provides that "except in a time when the United States is engaged in war, hereafter no part of the land or naval forces of the United States, and no vessel documented, or aircraft registered or licensed under the laws of the United States, shall be used, directly or indirectly, beyond the limits of the territorial waters of the United States and its territories and possessions, to transport or deliver . . . any articles or materials to or for the use of any foreign country . . . which is engaged in actual hostilities with one or more foreign countries. . . ."

Lindbergh to Urge Peace.

All 61 America First chapters in Illinois will be represented at the antiwar rally Thursday night. Gen. Wood will introduce Col. Lindbergh, who will speak on the necessity for the United States to remain out of the European conflict. An organ recital and mass singing of patriotic airs will precede Col. Lindbergh's address. The rally will begin at 8 p. m.

Dr. William Gellerman, associate professor of education at Northwestern university, will address a meeting of the Oak Park chapter at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the chapter headquarters at 736 Lake street in the suburb. The Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, professor at the University of Notre Dame, will speak at 8 p. m. Tuesday at a rally sponsored by the Glencoe chapter of the America First committee in the community house in Wilmette.

John W. Maselter, staff lecturer, will address two meetings this week—Tuesday at 8 p. m. at 1211 Devon avenue and Wednesday at 8 p. m. at 3730 North Clark street.

ICKES LAMBASTS AMERICA FIRST AND ITS BACKERS

Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, assailed the America First committee and its purposes last night. He spoke at a dinner sponsored by the Jewish National Workers' Alliance of America at 32 West Randolph street. The dinner was held for the benefit of the Jewish National fund.

Ickes singled out Col. Charles A. Lindbergh for his bitterest denunciation. He called Lindbergh the "No. 1 Nazi fellow traveler" in the United States and declared him to be "the first American to raise aloft the standard of pro-Naziism," and "the proud possessor of a Nazi decoration which has already been well earned."

Raps Anne Lindbergh's Book.

Lindbergh's wife, the former Anne Morrow, was also included in Ickes' attack for her book, "The Wave of the Future," which he described as "the bible of every American Nazi, Fascist, Bundist, and appeaser." He referred to Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh as "this pair of fellow travelers and appeasers."

Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the America First committee, was depicted by Ickes as "apparently a fellow traveler."

Ickes said the America First committee should be renamed "the America Next" committee. He asserted that the committee attracts "antidemocrats, appeasers, labor baiters, and anti-Semites" and that "Hitler is enthusiastic about it."

Hits Committee Backers.

Among the active supporters of the committee, said Ickes, are Gen. Hugh Johnson, Hanford MacNider, Henry Ford, and Ernest Weir. He added, "It would be difficult to find a collection of worse reactionaries than these."

Ickes charged that a recent editorial published by THE TRIBUNE had been "hailed with joy both in Berlin and Rome, and with good reason."

The secretary told his audience that their hope for a Jewish homeland will be crushed if Hitler wins. America is "still in the first phase of the deadly conflict," he added.

The dinner was attended by more than 1,000 guests. Rabbi Morton M. Berman of Temple Isaiah Israel, president of the Jewish National Fund, presided. Judge Harry M. Fisher and Dr. Henry Epstein also spoke.

New York, April 13 (AP).—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley told a banquet of the National Labor Committee for Palestine tonight that the American people are determined that "a new Pharoah who has risen shall not enslave mankind."

N. U. TEACHER SCORES ICKES FOR ATTACK ON AMERICA FIRST

William Gellerman, professor of education at Northwestern university, was the principal speaker last night at a rally of the Oak Park-River Forest chapter of the America First committee at 736 Lake street, Oak Park. More than 200 persons attended.

Prof. Gellerman criticized Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, for his Sunday night attack against Gen. Robert E. Wood and other national leaders of the America First committee. "It is one of the most pitiful exhibitions of burocratic arrogance," said Prof. Gellerman, "for Ickes to castigate such men as Gen. Wood for his efforts to protect the interests of more than 80 per cent of Americans who are opposed to getting into the war."

Ask Police Guard at 'Lindy' Meet

Special police details have been requested to prevent activities by subversive influences when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh speaks at the America First rally here Thursday night, it was announced today.

The meeting is to be held in the Chicago Arena, 400 E. Erie st., and Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the America First Committee, asked Commissioner James P. Allman for the police aid to prevent disturbances or distribution of literature.

FOR AMERICANS ONLY.

Demonstrations by the Bund, Fascists or Communists were feared, she indicated, adding:

"This meeting is for patriotic Americans only. From its inception, the America First Committee has refused membership to Communists, Fascists, and members of the Bund."

A flood of inquiries at headquarters of the Chicago chapter indicates an overflow crowd at the rally, Mrs. Fairbank said. Doors of the Arena will open at 7 p. m., and the meeting will start an hour later.

WOOD TO PRESIDE.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman, will preside.

Col. Lindbergh will discuss America's role in world affairs and the danger to this country if it becomes involved in the European war.

Gen. Wood, commenting on an attack made on the America First Committee by Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, before the Jewish National Workers' Alliance Sunday night, said:

"It's an old trick for a war party to claim a monopoly in patriotism, but the people are wise to it.

"SWIVEL CHAIR PATRIOTS."

"Secretary Ickes speaks for the swivel chair patriots. America First speaks for the boys who will have to fight and die if Ickes and others involve this country in the war."

This morning the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien of the University of Notre Dame spoke at the State Teachers' College in Carbondale.

He predicted that by translating the American dream of democracy, social justice and the four freedoms into realities at home, America will render its greatest contribution to the world.

Professor William Gellerman of Northwestern University last night replied to Secretary Ickes' attack on the America First Committee. He said:

The bill, introduced by Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, is before the Senate foreign relations committee.

The nature of Col. Lindbergh's address is not to be revealed in advance, but he is known to be one of the most earnest opponents of American entanglement in the war. He will be introduced by Gen. Robert E. Wood.

LINDBERGH ASK UNITED ACTION TO STAY OUT OF WAR

Text of His Address at Chicago Arena.

Following is the text of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's speech delivered last night at the Chicago Arena:

"There are times in the history of a nation when its people must give up their personal interests and desires, and devote their primary attention to the welfare of their country. We are going thru such a time now in America. That is why you and I are assembled here tonight.

"We are faced with an issue of as great importance as any that ever confronted the people of the United States. The immediate issue before us is that of war or peace. But underlying this issue is one of even greater importance. Is this nation of ours, this new world of the west, to have an independent destiny of its own, or must our future be forever entangled in these endless wars between the countries of Europe?"

Seeks Independent Destiny.

"I stand with those people who believe in an independent destiny for America. I believe that this country is strong enough to defend itself regardless of what takes place in other sections of the world—if only our government will devote its attention to our defense.

"The time is here when those of us who have similar beliefs must band together to obtain the strength that comes only with organization. It is for this reason that I speak to you from the platform of the America First committee tonight. I am making a plea for unity among the forces and the people in America who stand against our intervention in this war.

"The America First committee is a purely American organization formed to give voice to the hundred odd million people in our country who oppose sending our soldiers to Europe again. We believe that the United States has been led toward war by a minority of its people, thru misinformation and thru confusion of the issues involved. One of the functions of this committee is to clarify the facts and issues of the war.

Principles of Committee.

"The committee's principles are simple and broad. Our objective is to make America impregnable at home, and to keep out of those wars across the sea. Some of us, including myself, believe that the sending of arms to Europe was a mistake—that it has weakened our position in America, that it has added to bloodshed in European countries, and that it has not changed the trend of the war. Other members of this committee have supported aid to Britain, trusting in the promises of our President and our congress that such aid would actually be 'short of war.'

"The America First committee is open to any patriotic American citizen who opposes intervention, regardless of what his attitude on aid to Britain has been. As I said before, we are now confronted with the actual issue of war, and on this issue we take our stand.

"War is not inevitable for this country. The claim that our participation is inevitable is simply propaganda by those who want to get us in. If we can be forced into a foreign war against the opposition of more than four-fifths of our people, then the idea of representative government and democracy will be proved such a failure at home that there will be little use fighting for it abroad.

Decision Is Up to Us.

"Whether or not America enters the war is within our control. The decision rests upon the shoulders of you in this audience, upon us here on this platform, upon meetings of this kind in every community in the United States. Our forefathers have guided this country safely thru greater dangers than we face today. If our generation has become so weak that we cannot guard what they conquered with a fraction of our present population, then we deserve to lose the heritage they gave us.

"We, in America First, must face realities, for we are dealing with the hard facts of war. But here we have one great advantage over the interventionists. Our mission is to clarify the issues before the American people. Theirs is to confuse them. Our mission is to build self-confidence and strength in America. Theirs is to create fear and willingness to be dependent upon others.

"When we advocate an independent position for America, the interventionists shout that we are defeatists because we oppose jumping blindly into a war in Europe. But I ask you: Whose policy has led to defeat, ours, or theirs? What have they to say about the long list of prostrate nations in Europe who, under their leadership, jumped into war hastily and unprepared?

Asks Realistic Thinking.

"When I was a cadet, learning to fly, I was taught that success, and life itself for that matter, depended upon adequate preparation. If a man took off on a difficult flight hastily and unprepared, he lowered himself in the esteem of his fellow men, and more often than not, he never returned from his flight. But the interventionists in America seem to have a different sense of values, quite contrary to ours. What we called caution, they now call 'cowardice.' What we called preparation, they call 'defeatism.' And for what we called success they seem to have no name at all.

"But again we must be realistic. These values have not changed. We are simply experiencing the hysteria and propaganda that come with a major war. We must recognize the fact that along with perfectly sincere people, there are groups in this country whose prime objective is to get us into the war. Words are to them weapons to be used in any manner they think will be effective, regardless of whether truth or falsehood is involved.

"These groups are our real enemies. They constitute our major danger of involvement in the war. Against their activities we must be constantly on guard. These are the people who, under the guise of 'steps short of war,' have led us to the verge of war itself. They now demand that we convoy ships to England with the American navy. If we do this it is inevitable that we will have American battleships sunk, and American sailors killed. Under no guise of imagination or propaganda can this be called a step short of war.

England's Desperate Position.

"We must face the fact that England is in a desperate position. Up to date she has lost every major campaign in which she has participated. Her shipping losses are of utmost seriousness, and her cities have been devastated by bombs. Her geographical and economic position is as great a disadvantage in this age of aircraft and submarines as her past was an advantage to [illegible] the era of sailing ships.

"Personally, I believe it will be a tragedy [illegible] Germany—if the British empire collapses. But I would tell you frankly that I believe this war was lost by England and France even before it was declared, and that it is not within our power in America today to win the war for England, even tho we throw the entire resources of our nation into the conflict. With all our organization and industry we are not, and will not be able to transport an army across the ocean, large enough to invade the continent of Europe successfully as long as strong European armies are there for its defense.

"But I thank God it is not yet too late for us to save our own country from the chaos and the failure of this war. With all the errors that have been made, and notwithstanding the arms that have been taken from our own military forces to send to Europe, the United States is still able to defend itself against any foreign power. But if we are to maintain the ability to defend ourselves in the future we must not expose our fleet in European war zones and we must stop sending most of our modern fighting planes abroad.

Our Favorable Situation.

"From a military standpoint the United States is more favorably situated than any other nation in the world. In addition to an isolated geographical position we are highly industrialized, we have great natural resources, and a population of 130 million people upon which to draw for our army, our navy, and our air force. We have all the necessary elements in this country to build a civilization that is as strong, and permanent, and progressive as the world has ever known. Never before has a nation been in as good a position to protect and advance the ideals of democracy and freedom. Let us not sell such a heritage for the uncertainty of a European future and the chaos of a European war.

"We of the America First committee ask you to join us in support of an American destiny for this hemisphere—a destiny not of isolation but of independence, not of reliance upon others, but of strength among ourselves, a destiny that knows no place for fear of any foreign land."

Lindbergh Says Allies Lost War Before It Began

Holds Collapse of Britain Would Be 'Tragedy,' but Calls U.S. Aid Ineffective

CHICAGO, April 17 (AP).—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh asserted tonight that "it will be a tragedy to the world—a tragedy even to Germany—if the British Empire collapses," but he opined that the "war was lost" by the allies "even before it was declared."

He called for unity among people opposed to United States intervention and, in an address before a rally in the Chicago Arena sponsored by the America First Committee, declared that "it is not yet too late for us to save our own country from the chaos and failure of this war."

"Personally, I believe it will be a tragedy to the world—a tragedy even to Germany—if the British Empire collapses," Col. Lindbergh said. "But I must tell you frankly that I believe this war was lost by England and France even before it was declared, and that it is not within our power in America today to win the war for England even though we throw the entire resources of our nation into the conflict.

"With all our organization and industry, we are not and will not be able to transport an army across the ocean large enough to invade the Continent of Europe successfully as long as strong European armies are there for its defense."

Col. Lindbergh stated that "England is in a desperate position," and added:

"Up to date she has lost every major campaign in which she has participated. Her shipping losses are of the utmost seriousness, and her cities have been devastated by bombs. Her geographical and economic position is as great a disadvantage in this age of aircraft and submarines as it was an advantage in the era of sailing ships."

He said the United States was able to defend itself against any foreign power, but held that if it was to maintain that ability "we must not expose our fleet in European war zones and we must stop sending most of our modern fighting planes abroad."

Col. Lindbergh contended that, if the American Navy convoyed ships to England, American battleships would be sunk and American sailors would be killed.

He also held that sending arms to Europe was a "mistake" because it "weakened our position," added to bloodshed in European countries," and failed to change the "trend" of the war.

"Interventionists shout that we are defeatists because we oppose jumping blindly into a war in Europe," he said. "But I ask you: Whose policy has led to defeat, ours or theirs? What have they to say about the long list of prostrate nations in Europe who, under their leadership, jumped into war hastily and unprepared?"

It was announced before Col. Lindbergh spoke that he had become a member of the America First Committee, an organization opposed to United States participation in the war abroad.

ARENA JAMMED; CROWD OF 4,000 STANDS OUTSIDE

Great Ovation Given to Flyer.

The text of Col. Lindbergh's address will be found on page 6.

Speaking last night before nearly 18,000 persons jammed into the Chicago Arena, which has seats for only 8,000, and with an overflow of 4,000 listening to loudspeakers outside, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh delivered an earnest plea for Americans to unite and make their efforts to stay out of war effective.

Col. Lindbergh spoke under the auspices of the America First committee, which he has just joined, and urged all noninterventionists to ally themselves with that organization. He expressed confidence that the United States is able to defend itself at home against any power, and that it can and should avoid the "chaos and failure" that would follow European involvement.

31 Bursts of Applause.

Thirty-one times, by actual count, Col. Lindbergh was interrupted by great bursts of applause in a talk of only 2,000 words. As he finished his hearers rose in a tribute that lasted several minutes.

The crowd began gathering at 6 p. m., two hours before the scheduled time of the meeting, and the seats were all filled by 7:30 o'clock. A police detail of 70 men was present to handle the throng and direct traffic near the arena, which is at Erie street and McClurg court.

Among the principal points made by Lindbergh were: The United States is being led to war by a vociferous minority; if we can be forced into a war that four-fifths of the people oppose, democracy will be proved a failure at home; some sincere people are interventionists, but among this class are also groups whose prime object is to foment warfare, and it is not in our power now to win the war for England.

Opposes Convoy Proposal.

There was a chorus of loud "noes" when he mentioned that the interventionists now demand that United States naval vessels convoy war materials abroad. He urged that the fleet be kept intact and that "we stop sending most of our modern fighting planes abroad."

Before his talk began a collection was taken up. A total was not announced.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of America First, presided at the meeting. He said that America First has had no connection with any subversive groups and has been "pro-American, first, last, and always."

"We have left intolerance to the other side," he averred. "We believe every citizen has the right to express himself on any public question. The great majority don't want war."

Name of Ickes Booed.

Gen. Wood urged that strong efforts be made to persuade the senate to pass the anticonvoy bill already introduced, and predicted that as soon as convoying begins the "shooting war" must follow almost immediately.

Samuel B. Pettengill, a former congressman from Indiana, said he objected to Secretary of the Interior Ickes questioning the patriotism of men like Gen. Wood and Col. Lindbergh. A chorus of boos greeted the mention of Ickes.

"The secretary is giving advice to everybody in the world but Joe Stalin," Pettengill said. "He hasn't criticised Big Joe yet."

Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond spoke briefly. The meeting ended with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience.

WHEELER TO TALK AT CHICAGO RALLY OF AMERICA FIRST

Speaks Next Sunday; New Member Drive Planned.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler will address an antiwar rally in Chicago next Sunday on the return leg of his transcontinental speaking tour, the America First committee announced yesterday.

The meeting, which is expected to surpass in interest that addressed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh last Thursday night, will be held at 3:30 p. m. in the Chicago Arena, 400 East Erie street. Lindbergh drew 14,000 persons to the same hall.

Senator Wheeler, leader of the anti-interventionist forces in congress, has informed the committee he will speak for the Tobey anti-convoy resolution now pending in the senate foreign relations committee.

Would Ban Use of Convoys.

The resolution, which would ban the use of convoys by the United States in transporting war materials into the war zone, is to be considered April 30 by the senate committee. The America First committee is concentrating its activity on forcing the resolution onto the senate floor for action. The resolution was offered by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.].

The Chicago chapter of America First will open a drive today to enroll a million members in Illinois. Four meetings will be held this afternoon and tonight. Dr. Anton J. Carlson, physiologist at the University of Chicago, will address the Hyde Park America First chapter at 4 p. m. in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue.

Youth Group to Meet.

The Albany Park Youth group will hold an anti-war meeting at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the River Park fieldhouse, 5100 North Francisco avenue. Yaeger Cantwell Jr., a law student, will discuss "Youth in the Present Crisis." At 6 p. m. F. Shaw Burd, an industrial psychologist, will address the Post College club of the Washington Boulevard Methodist church in the church parlors at Washington and Austin boulevards, Oak Park.

Attorney Robert D. Ross will address a rally at 6:30 p. m. in the Downers Grove Methodist church at Main and Maple streets in the suburb.

One meeting will be held Monday and four Tuesday in Chicago and its suburbs, the committee announced.

Like Pegh's Way

Col. Lindbergh spoke in Chicago Thursday ... audience under the sponsorship of the America First committee. We have never been persuaded that a great airman is ipso facto a great military or political philosopher.

Yet without hesitation we credit Col. Lindbergh with believing what he says—and with the motives of a patriotic young American. In this we believe we are wiser than those of the America First committee who attack the motives of those of us who believe that only in Hitler's defeat will this nation or the world again know peace and security.

We cannot, however, avoid comment on what seems to us the moral apathy displayed by Col. Lindbergh and by those who are led by his belief. In 1914 when Germany denounced treaties as "scraps of paper," and violated the neutrality of Belgium, a wave of indignation swept this nation. Not even apologists for Germany condoned that flagrant immorality. It was universally denounced.

Since September of 1939 Nazi Germany has demonstrated a callous and contemptuous disregard of all national honor and decency, of all precepts of moral conduct of nations. Goaded by six immoral and hate-minded ruling cliques, the German nation has made a mockery of our American concepts of civilization and Christianity. Yet there is not one word of protest, no evidence of revulsion or disapproval in anything Col. Lindbergh has said.

But let us pass that for the moment. Let us analyze Col. Lindbergh's position, and the position of the America First committee, by applying a simple test. Let us, for the sake of argument, suppose that the United States now elects to do exactly what the isolationists urge upon us.

Suppose that tomorrow President Roosevelt notified England, China, Greece—and the rest of the world—that from this time forward no arms or war materials could be furnished any other nation until we were completely armed. Suppose that he publicly announced that we shall not, under any circumstances conceivable, convoy ships across the Atlantic; that our government would "devote its attention solely to our own defense."

What are the results which would logically follow such a step? They are not too hard to anticipate.

First of all it is certain that on the continent of Europe the last vestige of opposition to Hitler would collapse. Greece would make an early peace on Nazi terms. Turkey would hasten to fall into the Axis orbit. Spain and Portugal would do likewise. In a matter of weeks Suez and Gibraltar would fall into Axis hands.

Britain might continue to hold out for a few months. But not longer than that. The stout British spirit would be crushed—and it is only that spirit which enables the little island nation to carry on. The Churchill government would fall and be succeeded by one seeking cravenly to "collaborate" with the triumphant totalitarians. And does anyone believe that the British and French navies would not be Hitler's merely for the asking? Would the betrayed nations of Europe care whether they fell into his hands?

In the Pacific Japan would be free to do as she would. Abandoned China could do nothing but yield. Australia and New Zealand would be at the mercy of Japan. From Vladivostok to Calcutta Japan's new "order" would reign.

How long, under those circumstances, would our neighbors below the Rio Grande look confidently toward this nation as the defender of liberty and man's rights? How long before they, slyly at first, then openly, would seek likewise to bask in the favor of the Axis?

And across our northern border—that magnificent 3,000 miles of undefended border—what would be the feeling toward us? What would our brave Canadian friends think of the "great" power which had betrayed all that our proud history has stood for?

Perhaps—for a little while—we might save our own "peace." Perhaps for a little while we could prevent American blood from being shed. But in the eyes of every nation on earth whose good will and friendship and high esteem means anything to us we should be a pariah. In the eyes of every human being to whom the United States has meant man's hope for someday attaining the real blessings of liberty and justice we should be scorned and damned for all time.

We might survive. We might build for ourselves the most gigantic military and naval power on earth. We might wield our giant economy into a force which could meet that of the totalitarians and beat them at their own game. But not as a democracy.

Perhaps we have dallied too long. Perhaps England will fall despite the utmost that we can do. But at least we are not abandoning democracy to certain extinction. And we believe that Americans—more than 130 millions of them—still hold more precious than anything else the preservation of their national and personal honor and self-respect.

FLOOD OF MAIL ASKS APPROVAL OF CONVOY BAN

America First Members Write to Senators.

Thousands of letters, rivaling in volume those sent to Washington, D. C., during debate on the lend-lease bill, are pouring into the capital requesting passage of the Tobey anticonvoy resolution, R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of the America First committee, said yesterday.

Senator Tobey.

The resolution, introduced by Senator Charles W. Tobey [R., N. H.], would prohibit use of United States warships and men to convoy war supplies to belligerent nations.

Letters to Senators Urged.

America First chapters thruout the nation are urging persons who want to keep the United States out of war to write to members of the senate foreign relations committee in an effort to force the bill out of the committee and onto the senate floor. The committee is scheduled to act on the resolution April 30.

Stuart said Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and other anti-interventionist leaders now touring the country to warn the people of the war peril are concentrating their efforts on the anticonvoy resolution. Senator Wheeler will address an anti-war rally in Chicago at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday in the Chicago Arena, 400 East Erie street.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who drew 14,000 persons to the Arena last week, will address another America First massmeeting in St. Louis, Mo., May 3, Stuart announced. Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] will speak at the same meeting.

Policy of Guile Charged.

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, University of Chicago professor, told a rally sponsored by the Hyde Park chapter of the America First committee yesterday that the present foreign policy of the United States was adopted thru guile and propaganda before the people had a chance to make their choice.

"A foreign policy of our country, radically departing from the Monroe Doctrine, should not be adopted in a period of general fear and hysteria," he said. "It should be placed before all the people, with all the cards on the table, face up, for their judgment when men's minds are calm."

The rally was held in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue.

May Welcome Bund Women

The National Legion of Mothers and Women of America is considering inviting women associated with the Kyffhaeusser Bund into membership, the Philadelphia president of the group said today.

Mrs. Edith Scott, 1610 Haworth St., whose organization is affiliated with the America First Committee, 34 S. 17th St., said the invitation was "under consideration" by her group.

"We are making an investigation," Mrs. Scott said, "and if we find that the women who attended the meeting last Saturday night are loyal Americans, we will welcome them.

"We Are Not Pro-Nazi"

"However, we are not pro-Nazi or pro-anything except Americans."

Mrs. Scott's group met last night at the Adelphia, and 75 persons attended.

The Kyffhaeusser Bund met Saturday night and part of the entertainment was a travelogue film. Peter Kreckmann, assistant general passenger agent of the North German Lloyd, denied today that the film had been supplied by his firm.

"The North German Lloyd does not supply such films and is not associated or co-operating with any Bund or Nazi organization," Kreckmann said. He added that an investigation disclosed the film had been made by a passenger aboard a North German Lloyd ship.

Denies Consulate Link

He explained that his firm was not closely associated with the office of the German Consul here, but contacts it "only in the ordinary business relationship of any steamship agency."

Heinrich Schafhousen, German Vice Consul here, has not occupied office space with the firm for more than a year, Kreckmann added.

PLAN TO CARE FOR WHEELER OVERFLOW

Final plans were announced last night for the handling of the overflow crowd expected at the America First rally at the Chicago Arena next Sunday afternoon to hear Senator Burton K. Wheeler, champion of an America united for peace, but not for war.

Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the America First Committee, will preside.

Anticipting an overflow crowd, such as that which greeted Col. Charles A. Lindbergh last Thursday, committee officials have installed loudspeakers outside the arena.

More than 15,000 persons heard Col. Lindbergh plead for American defenses for America only.

In warning anew to the war perils confronting the nation, Senator Wheeler will discuss means of keeping the United States out of the war, and he will urge united action to obtain passage of the Tobey anticonvoy resolution now before the Senate foreign relations committee.

This resolution has brought thousands of letters to the capital urging its passage. The resolution introduced by Senator Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, would prohibit the use of United States warships and men to convoy war supplies to any belligerent nations. It is to be considered by the committee on April 30.

WHEELER WILL ADDRESS RALLY IN ARENA SUNDAY

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will speak in the Chicago Arena next Sunday on behalf of the Chicago chapter of the America First committee, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the organization. Senator Wheeler is returning to the middle west after a speaking tour of the Pacific Northwest.

Preparations for an overflow crowd at the Arena are being made. Loudspeakers will carry Senator Wheeler's words to listeners outside the Arena, as they did last week when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh addressed an antiwar rally here. The rally will begin at 3 p. m. All seats will be free.

F. S. Hurd, industrial psychologist, urged a common sense attitude rather than an emotional one in regard to present world conditions in a talk last night before the Oak Park chapter of the America First committee at 736 Lake street, Oak Park. He also said that America may face an economic catastrophe and that the people should be awakened "to those who are taking us blindly into such a catastrophe."

HELP FOR THE VOTERS.

By tens of thousands, American citizens have joined the America First committee. It can safely be assumed that far larger numbers are in sympathy with the cause of keeping this country out of the fighting and accept the committee's leadership.

The America First movement has drawn its following from both the principal parties. In their 1940 platforms and in the declarations of both candidates during the campaign, the point was constantly stressed that this nation would not enter the European war. The Democratic party said "we will not participate in foreign wars and we will not send our army, naval, or air forces to fight in foreign lands, outside of the Americas, except in case of attack." The Republican party, among other expressions to the same effect, condemned "all executive acts and proceedings which might lead to war."

These promises have been forgotten by some of the men who gave them, with the result that after an election in which both parties were pledged to do their utmost to preserve the peace the nation is far closer to war than it was last autumn. Those who now are shouting loudest for the preservation of democracy have betrayed a cardinal principle of democratic government: the maintenance of good faith with the voters.

In these circumstances the America First committee can serve a most useful purpose in future elections and particularly in the national elections of 1942. It can make recommendations. There are tens of thousands of voters in both parties who will welcome an appraisal of candidates by the America First committee, based upon the records and promises of those who are seeking election. Thru this means a repetition of the disastrous experience of 1940 may be avoided.

DELEGATIONS TO HEAR TALK BY WHEELER

Delegations from seventy America First Committee chapters throughout Illinois, Indiana and Michigan will gather at the Chicago Arena Sunday afternoon to hear an address by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, urging the passage of the Tobey anti-convoy resolution.

The Montana senator has been on a nationwide tour urging the people to "stand firm against all efforts to throw the nation into the European war." An overflow crowd of 15,000 persons heard him speak in Milwaukee Tuesday.

Aroused public interest in passage of the Tobey bill, Wheeler declared, is "the most important immediate step to keep America from going to war."

HEARING NEXT WEEK.

The resolution, which would prohibit use of American warships to convoy war materials to belligerent nations, is scheduled for a hearing by the Senate foreign relations committee April 30.

Another speaker at the patriotic gathering, to be held under the auspices of the America First Committee, will be Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor of the Christian Century magazine.

The doors of the Arena will be opened at 1 p. m. Sunday and special arrangements, including the installation of loud speakers outside the building, have been made to handle an overflow crowd.

Wheeler Sees Peril of Convoying Eased

BY GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN.

Special to The Chicago Herald-American.

MILWAUKEE, April 24.—Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, spokesman of a group of seventy-five members of the Senate and House of Representatives who are fighting efforts to involve the United States in foreign wars, headed back to the Northwest today, convinced that the peoples' battle to preserve peace is won.

Wheeler will speak tonight in St. Paul, and will follow with addresses on succeeding days at Sioux Falls, S. D., and Sioux City, Iowa.

PERIL EASED.

Keeping in close touch with all developments in the possible use of convoys by this government, through his office in Washington, Senator Wheeler expressed himself as satisfied that the convoy peril is measurably less than it was. He said:

"I do not believe that President Roosevelt will authorize the use of convoys, without going to Congress for express legislation. I am confident that if the President should ask for congressional authority to use convoys in combat areas, it would be refused.

"For this reason, I believe the outlook for peace is brighter than it was a month or two ago. I think the President has sensed the desires of the people for peace, and realizes they are opposed to the use of convoys.

PEACE SENTIMENT GROWS.

"The sentiment against war is growing rapidly in this country. Everywhere I have been the people are against getting into the European conflict. Undoubtedly they are making this opinion felt in Washington.

"Congress will be in no mood to authorize the use of convoys, which means fighting war, until it is ready to declare war. It isn't ready. The outlook brighter."

AMERICA FIRST'S 70 ILLINOIS UNITS TO HEAR WHEELER

All 70 chapters of the America First committee in Illinois, as well as several in Indiana and Michigan, have announced their intention of sending delegations to hear a speech by Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] Sunday at the Chicago arena, Erie street and McClurg court.

This announcement was made yesterday by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the committee, who will preside at the gathering.

An overflow crowd is expected and plans have been made to carry the speeches outside the arena over a loud speaker system as was done last week when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, speaking at a similar America First rally, urged the nation to unite for peace.

Veterans of three wars will act as a guard of honor for the senator, who is on a nation-wide speaking crusade seeking to arouse Americans against involvement in foreign wars.

New A. E. F. England's 'Last Desperate Hope,' Lindbergh Asserts

Flyer Says British, Losing, Want U. S. to Share 'Fiasco of This War'

(Picture on Page A-1.)

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh says Great Britain seeks another A. E. F. to turn the tide in a "losing" battle.

"It is now obvious that England is losing the war," he said at an America First Committee rally last night, "but they have one last desperate plan remaining.

"They hope that they may be able to persuade us to send another American Expeditionary Force to Europe and to share with England militarily, as well as financially, the fiasco of this war."

Making his first appearance here as a leader of organized opinion through his membership on the committee, Col. Lindbergh reiterated parts of an address made in Chicago last week in which he said United States aid could not win the war for England.

Melee Brings Arrest.

A crowd thronged the streets outside packed Manhattan Center as Col. Lindbergh made his anti-war plea, and for a brief time there were scenes of disorder as police, pickets and bystanders clashed.

One man was arrested and later sentenced to one day in jail for seizing the bridle of a mounted patrolman's horse during a kicking and slugging melee as pickets with anti-Lindbergs placards were dispersed.

Col. Lindbergh declared he did not blame England for its hope of an A. E. F.

"But we now know," he added, "that she declared a war under circumstances which led to the defeat of every nation that sided with her, from Poland to Greece."

On the subject of any United States entry into the war, he said this country "is not prepared to wage war in Europe successfully at this time.

Objective View of War Urged.

"It is not only our right," he said, "but it is our obligation as American citizens to look at this war objectively and to weigh our chances for success if we should enter it.

"I have attempted to do this, especially from the standpoint of aviation, and I have been forced to the conclusion that we cannot win this war for England, regardless of how much assistance we extend."

He placed the blame for "the downfall of the democracies of Europe" on "the shoulders of the interventionists who led their nations into war uninformed and unprepared."

Col. Lindbergh's non-interventionist views were backed at the meeting by Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, and Novelist Kathleen Norris. John T. Flynn, author-economist and chairman of the America First Committee's New York chapter, presided.

'England Is Losing the War'

Britain Wants U. S. to Go Down Too, Lindy Says

By United Press

Col. Lindbergh

NEW YORK, April 24 — Col. Charles Lindbergh told a widely cheering meeting sponsored by the America First Committee last night that every nation which has sided with Great Britain in the war, "from Poland to Greece," has been defeated, and that now the British hope for an American expeditionary force to "share the fiasco."

A crowd of 10,000 packed the Manhattan Center Auditorium and an estimated 20,000 stood in the street listening to speeches thru loudspeakers.

ONE BIG FIGHT

German accents were numerous in the crowd. There were several minor brawls and a brief melee involving several hundred persons from the crowd and about 100 anti-Nazis pickets who marched to the scene with placards.

Col. Lindbergh, in an appeal for support of the committee which he joined in Chicago last Thursday, drew one of his loudest cheers when he said, "It is obvious that England is losing the war," and another when he said, "England has misinformed us."

He charged that "we have been led toward war by a minority of our people; this minority has power; it has influence; it has a loud voice, but it does not represent the American people."

Seat prices ranged from $1 general admission to $25 for boxes. There were 75 persons on the speakers' platform including Mrs. Charles Lindbergh, Amos Pinchot, Bruce Barton, former New York congressman; Katherine Lewis, daughter of John L. Lewis, head of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, and J. F. Condon, who as "Jafsie" tried to negotiate with the Lindbergh baby kidnaper.

Col. Lindbergh charged that "our air force is deplorably lacking in modern fighting planes because most of them have seen sent to Europe," and the audience hissed.

He said, "the policy of the interventionists has led to the defeat of every country that followed their advice since this war began," and the crowd cheered.

He said the America First Committee's policy of concentrating on defense of the Western Hemisphere is one "not of isolation but of independence: not of defeat but of courage."

Nazis Hail Lindbergh as Real American

By the Associated Press

Berlin, April 24.—The important German newspaper Hamburger Fremdenblatt, commenting on last night's America First rally in New York, described Col. Charles A. Lindbergh tonight as "a real American of Swedish descent out of the Middle West."

It said he was "not a war opponent through emotionalism, but through devoted love of his country."

This was part of an article by Adolf Halfeld, who often strikes a keynote for German editors, headlined "America First."

It said Germany had no illusions about anti-German expressions in the United States from Atlantic to Pacific; explaining that Americans know the danger of invasion of their country is not from Germany but from the increasing British influence on the American continent."

Wheeler to Tell How to Shun War

Carrying his fight against war into Chicago again Senator Burton K. Wheeler will address a huge America First rally at the Chicago Arena at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

An overflow crowd is expected to hear Senator Wheeler speak on "What America Must Do to Keep Out of War." He has been on an extensive tour urging Americans to take a firm stand against the involvement of their nation in foreign conflicts.

URGES CONVOY BAN.

Twelve thousand jammed a Milwaukee auditorium Tuesday, to cheer the Montanan as he told them that it was not too late to act, and advocated the Tobey anti-convoy resolution.

A hearing on the bill, which would prohibit the use of American warships to protect shipments of materials to belligerent nations, is scheduled before the Senate foreign relations committee April 30.

Ten thousand postcards will be distributed among the audience Sunday, so that the citizens present can send brief personal messages to President Roosevelt, denouncing war and war-provoking tactics.

ALL SEATS FREE.

Senator Wheeler will arrive in Chicago at 7:40 Sunday morning, and will rest a few hours at the Palmer House before going to the Arena, accompanied by a police escort.

The Arena is at Erie st. and McClurg court. The doors will be opened at 1 o'clock.

All seats are free.

Carl Craven, noted musical director, will lead the audience in singing patriotic songs.

Lindbergh's Appeal Wins 3,000 to Anti-War Group

In response to the appeal of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh for citizens to unite with him to keep the United States out of the war, 3,000 membership applications were received yesterday by the America First Committee, which the colonel himself joined only last Thursday.

The committee announced that 2,000 of the membership blanks were signed during the Lindbergh meeting at Manhattan Center Wednesday night, and that 1,000 additional were entered yesterday by telephone, telegraph, mail or personal visits to the committee headquarters at 515 Madison Avenue. Each member is required to subscribe to a declaration that he has no affiliation with any foreign power.

NEW YORK RALLIES AGAINST WAR

The America First rally in New York on Wednesday evening filled two large halls and left an overflow crowd of 3,000 standing in the rain to hear the speeches as they came over the public address system.

The size of the audiences and the enthusiasm with which they greeted Col. Lindbergh and the other speakers served to dispel the notion that New Yorkers generally favor American participation in the fighting and approve the steps which are intended to get us into the war. Those who were present at the meetings came away greatly encouraged. As they looked about them, they realized, perhaps for the first time, that millions of patriotic Americans in New York want to keep this nation at peace.

Their viewpoint has had relatively little publicity in New York. The well organized minority, with its wealth and its control of many of the means of public expression, has succeeded in giving a wholly false impression of the state of public opinion.

The meetings the other night broke what might almost be called a boycott. Now, at last, New Yorkers realize that the belief that American foreign policy should be devised with a view to American interests and welfare is not a minority view but the judgment of the majority. From now on we may expect the patriots under the leadership of America First to be more and more vocal, more and more confident, more and more determined that the wishes of their majority be respected and followed.

This country does not need to send its navy to fight in European waters. It does not need to send its conscripts to fight and die on European battlefields. It does not have to send ill-equipped and half-trained men into battle against heavy odds. There are no American interests now at stake which require any such sacrifice. Our country can defend itself against any threat which may be directed against it, now or in the future. We have no reason for fear, provided we do not dissipate our strength in ill considered adventures. It is immensely encouraging to discover that this opinion is at last asserting itself in the largest of our cities.

More than any other community in America, New York is bound to Europe by a skein of racial ties, as well as by commercial and financial associations, and the social allegiances of many of its leading citizens. The great headway which the America First movement is making there is heartening. It indicates that the efforts of the interventionists to stampede New York will be overcome if the campaign is pursued with energy.

Roosevelt Slur on Lindy Assailed by J. T. Flynn

NEW YORK, April 26 (I.N.S.). The New York America First Committee today came out in defense of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in a statement issued in reply to President Roosevelt's comparison of the noted flyer with appeasers of the past.

John T. Flynn, chairman of the committee under whose auspices Lindbergh spoke Wednesday night, said it cannot permit "the slur" cast upon Lindbergh by the President to go without comment, adding:

"Of all the men who have debated the issue of war or peace no one has borne himself with more dignity and a more meticulous observance of the unwritten laws of civility and decency in public discussion than Colonel Lindbergh. He has reasoned with his hearers and no aspersion upon the intelligence or good faith of any man has passed his lips, yet every time he has spoken, a group of men have rushed to the radio and into the newspapers to vilify him. No one, however, has dared, even by indirection, to call him a traitor. It remained for the President of the United State to do that.

"I am sure the President, when his anger cools, will regret such a slur against so good an American as Colonel Lindbergh.

"The America First Committee stands behind Colonel Lindbergh, is honored by his membership and supports his stand. That stand is to mobilize public opinion behind the pledge of the President of the United States to keep America out of this war."

Lindbergh Defended

Kathleen Norris Denounces 'Smooth, Well-Rounded' Prophecies of Miss Thompson

By KATHLEEN NORRIS.

Wednesday night there was a mass meeting in New York addressed by three Americans. I was one, the Massachusetts Senator, David I. Walsh, was another, and Col. Charles Lindbergh was the third. Within the hall we had expected there might be some disturbance. We were speaking for the America First Committee, the object of which is to prevent our ships and men from being used for convoy duty, prevent our country from entering Europe's latest of a thousand years of war, and confine our defenses—and make them strong—to our own country.

In the packed hall there was no interruption of the program except prolonged applause. Col. Lindbergh was cheered for minutes together when he entered, and when he rose to speak. Nobody hissed anything and there was no heckling. Two thousand members of the audience joined the committee that night, another thousand stormed the New York headquarters enthusiastically to offer co-operation the next day.

Two friends of mine, women, could not get into the hall on Wednesday night. They milled about in a street crowd that was, they said, always good-natured, and well handled by the police. This crowd, they said, listened to the loud speakers, laughed and applauded, shared ledges and boxes and any other available seats.

Wants Further Particulars.

Now I have been shown an article by Miss Dorothy Thompson (this article appeared in Friday's Star) describing on that particular occasion the action of the America First Committee, which she seems strangely and anxiously to fear is a Germany-first committee. She says that until that meeting "no actual violence had been employed." And this time, she continues, "it was precipitated, not by those who were picketing the colonel's meeting, but by his supporters, who let fly at the picketers."

It seems to me Miss Thompson should be required in common justice to give us further particulars of a street fight that no newspaper reporter nor policeman observed, and of which eye-witnesses saw nothing. She herself was many miles away at the time.

Now this inaccuracy may well be considered typical of the exciting and disturbing tenor of many of Miss Thompson's articles. In this same article she predicts that the supporters of Col. Lindbergh will "grow increasingly violent." When our arms production is well under way "there will be a series of strikes and there will be sabotage." There will be "cries for the suppression of" [illegible]

KATHLEEN NORRIS.

Sees Only Ruin for Victors.

How dare she make these smooth and well-rounded prophecies against an American movement already joined by millions of Americans who are courageous enough to find in Europe's endless wars only ruin for victors as well as vanquished, who believe firmly that no frontiers are ours to guard but those included in our Monroe Doctrine, no army ours to depend upon but our own, no national quarrels important to us but our own, and no navy our first line of defense but the American Navy.

Some of our best-informed Army and naval authorities support Col. Lindberg in everything he said. History, in its story of trans-Atlantic wars, supports him. Miss Thompson says Mr. Lippman finds him "naive." She doesn't think he's "naive." Neither do I. I think he's wise and strong and brave enough to tell us the truth; that no nation will be winner when this disastrous fight is over across the seas, and that bloodshed and hate never will end war.

Incidentally, why "naive?" Miss Thompson speaks perfect German. How about her French? Isn't it "naif" that she and Mr. Lippman mean?

Says Miss Thomspon Is Afraid.

We have in our glorious history been many times in darker danger than today—and we have not been afraid. Within the memory of living men we have had British troops in Canada; Austrian, French and Mexican troops strong against us in Mexico; we have had Franz Josef, Napoleon III and Victoria against us—and we were not afraid. Miss Thompson is afraid. She says every speaker and writer who is supporting the administration lives "under a constant cold terror."

We of the America First Committee don't. Thousands of us—millions of us—mothers of sons, wives of potential soldiers, know that this isn't our war, because, truly and deeply as we sympathize with England, generously as we are willing to help her in ways of peace and rebuilding, it is not for one great nation to dictate to another in the serious matter of war. Incidentally, I was saying this, as thousands of American mothers known from club platforms everywhere, during all the years when Dorothy Thompson was in Germany and Russia. And it is not for her to say that an American in the ninth generation, like myself, who opposes Dorothy Thompson and President Roosevelt in the order named, is anything but 100 per cent and proudly and passionately loyal to everything American, and nothing that isn't American.

Very few of these fire-eaters of today participated in the last war. My men did, and in the Spanish War, the Civil War, and one of them lies buried on Breed's Hill. And my friendship for Col. Lindbergh, my faith in him, my knowledge as well as profound belief that he means the simple, forceful statements he makes is as deep as my faith in America itself. He's fighting now for America; he's paying now for his loyalty. But when the sons of mothes and fathers in all humble little towns and farmsteads of America are on the red battle line, or drifting to and fro on or under the icy Atlantic tides, Dorothy Thompson, Walter Lippman and all the rest will still be safe on the side lines.

They are in the position of the prize-fighter's manager who shouts "Go in there and punch him. He can't hurt us!"

READY FOR WHEELER OVERFLOW

Final arrangements were made today to handle the overflow crowd expected to throng the Chicago Arena tomorrow to hear Montana's Senator Burton K. Wheeler's pleas against American entrance into the European war.

The American First Committee, sponsor of the patriotic rally, said loudspeakers have been installed so that crowds unable to obtain seats may hear the speakers.

Sen. Wheeler, returning from a tour through the northwest, is expected to discuss the Tobey anti-convoy resolution which would prohibit the use of American vessels in convoying war supplies to belligerents.

He has charged repeatedly that the nation is being led into war and has indicated his belief that the use of naval patrols is a new step in that direction.

Another speaker on the program will be the Rev. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor of Christian Century magazine.

Dr. Morrison will discuss a clergyman's outlook on efforts groups endeavoring to throw the nation into European conflict.

Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice-chairman of the American First Commitee, who will preside, said, 10,000 post cards will be distributed to the audience so personal messages may be written to President Roosevelt urging that he keep his pledge to save the country from war.

(Senator Wheeler, in a speech last night at Sioux Falls, S. D., assailed the "warlike utterance" of two cabinet members. Story on page 4.)

America First Drives for 100 State Chapters

More than 100 chapters of the America First Committee will be flourishing in Illinois and the Chicago area by June 1, it was predicted yesterday by Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman in charge of Illinois for the committee.

There are sixty-four chapters and units now operating, while eighteen more are in process of formation under the supervision of Mrs. Gertrude S. Gardner, downstate chapter chairman, and Mrs O. H. Robertson, in charge of Chicago units.

With the rising tide of sentiment against the United States becoming involved in the European war, new members are coming in by the thousands, according to Mrs. Fairbank who said that an incomplete check of Illinois members indicated more than 163,000 on the America First rolls.

"Patriotic Americans who believe as we do—that the United States can serve itself by staying out of war while building an impregnable national defense—may enroll in the America First movement by getting in touch with either the Illinois headquarters at room 901, 122 S. Michigan av., or by signing up with the se unit nearest their home," Mrs. Fairbank said.

SEEK MILLION MEMBERS.

"Our goal is 1,000,000 members in Illinois and it will be attained if only part of those opposed to war join with us. There are no membership dues, although contributions will be thankfully received and expended in promoting the cause of America First."

Wheeler's Isolation Speech Brings Boos for President.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

A suggestion that the Army and Navy of the United States might not obey their commander in chief has been launched by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, leader of the appeasement minority in the Senate.

Addressing the America First rally in the Chicago Arena yesterday, Wheeler declared:

"President Roosevelt may have the power—if the Army and Navy obey—to send convoys, but he has no right to do so."

The keynote of the America First rally was a threat that if this nation is involved in war it will go as "a divided nation."

Boos for Roosevelt.

The rally was characterized by lusty boos for President Roosevelt, Wendell L. Willkie and members of the cabinet, as well as boos for Winston Churchill and England. Some who had been in the audience were heard speaking in German after the meeting.

Despite the claim of Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor of the Christian Century, from the platform that "15,000" attended the meeting, including "thousands outside the hall," a check revealed the total attendance as under 8,000. The Arena has 8,156 seats, the management stated today. The hall was not filled and the police outside said that the stragglers who listened there were not more than 200 or 300.

The "nation divided" theme was stressed in a resolution adopted by the gathering and emphasized in a speech by Dr. Morrison, who spoke before Wheeler. It was implicit in Wheelers' oration, when he alleged that "warmongers" wanted Hitler to sink American ships, and went on:

"If I correctly judge the temper of the American people today they are not going to blame some other government for blowing up a ship. They will blame the President of the United States."

The Rev. Dr. Morrison declared: "We can tell him (the President) that if he makes further commitments he will take not only a reluctant and perhaps a resentful but certainly a divided America into war."

war."

U. S. Participation Condemned.

The resolution put to the assembly by Morrison and declared adopted unanimously following a show of hands was addressed to President Roosevelt. It "respectfully" asked that aid to Britain "stop in its tracks."

"Fifteen thousand citizens assembled in Chicago look with grave anxiety upon the drift of this country into war," the resolution said. "As free citizens we respectfully express our condemnation of any further steps toward further involvement in the European war.

"We demand that the policy of aid to Britain shall now stop in its tracks. We condemn convoys disguised as patrols. We condemn any further promises of aid to belligerents. This is not America's war and we declare that if the exercise of your great powers of President lead the country into war we shall go as a reluctant and divided nation. Keep America out of this war, Mr. President."

Boos for F. D. R. Suppressed.

Before the set speeches, resounding boos for President Roosevelt boomed out from the audience when Frank Craven, music master of the rally, referred to the President's recent rebuke for the defeatism of Charles A. Lindbergh.

A few minutes later Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice-chairman of America First, presiding, told the audience:

"A note has been sent me saying the President of the United States has been booed. I was busy getting a reading desk ready for the speakers. I would be sorry if the President were booed. He must be held in respect."

That restrained boos for the President for some time, but did not prevent them. Although they never reached the volume of the original concerted boos, the President was repeatedly booed by many individuals thereafter.

Boycott Idea Advanced.

One of the most spirited of many booing sessions of the day occurred when Wheeler congratulated his hearers on their "coolness" despite "propaganda by Dorothy Thompson, Wendell Willkie, the movies and Col. Knox's newspaper." Wheeler, after listening to the boos and cheers with which he was rewarded said:

"Someone just suggested 'Boycott them.' I think that is a good idea. The best way to get at the warmongers is to hurt their pocketbooks."

Wheeler drew only scattered applause from a small minority, however, when he said he "admired" the British people and "opposed all Hitler stands for." Those were propositions that definitely did not go over with the crowd.

Senator Wheeler Calls for Unity to Keep Nation Out of War

CROWD IN THE CHICAGO ARENA FOR AMERICA FIRST MEETING ADDRESSED BY SENATOR WHEELER.

NITE TO AVERT WAR, WHEELER URGES AT RALLY

Senator Blasts Roosevelt for Unneutral Stand.

Scnt Theodore Roosevelt and President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He said the former strove for the cause of peace and the latter for the cause of war. His reference to Theodore Roosevelt was in connection with the Russo-Japanese war of 1904.

"More than 30 years ago," said Wheeler, "there was another Roosevelt in the White House. A great war broke out between two nations. We were at peace with both of them. The then President—Theodore Roosevelt—kept this nation neutral.

"Because he kept it neutral in thought as well as in act, and because he himself was neutral, he was able at an appropriate time to offer the services of the United States to the belligerents to effect an armistice. Because the United States was neutral in thought and deed both of the warring nations were able to, and did, accept the President's suggestion. They sent delegates to a peace conference, held in a neutral country at Portsmouth, N. H. A treaty of peace was adopted. The war was ended. Japan and Russia have not been involved in actual warfare from that day to this."

Service of T. R. Hailed.

Theodore Roosevelt's service to the cause of peace was one of his outstanding achievements, Wheeler asserted. But what as to the other—the present Roosevelt? he inquired.

As a result of President Franklin Roosevelt's policies, Wheeler charged, there is not left in the world today a first class neutral power which would be able to bring the warring nations together into a peace conference.

"We had another Roosevelt in the White House at the outbreak of the present war," said Wheeler. "But this Roosevelt did not keep either his country or himself neutral.

"He issued a neutrality proclamation with his tongue in his cheek and his fingers crossed. From that day to this the whole policy of Franklin D. Roosevelt has been to ignore and destroy the neutrality of the United States, until today this nation is not neutral. It has become a non-belligerent poised on the brink of war.

World Stand Described.

"There is not a first class neutral power left on the face of the earth, and this because of the policy of President Franklin Roosevelt. His has been a policy not only to destroy the neutrality of this country, but to promote the unneutrality of the whole of Latin America.

"Thus the world finds itself today in the most appalling condition—the most shocking since the beginning of recorded history. There is not a first class nation in all the world that, thru the processes of sanity and reason, can assume leadership for peace.

"There is not one nation that can initiate a movement for the cessation of hostilities to the end that humanity can be saved from further suffering and the total annihilation of our magnificent, modern civilization."

Situation Termed Tragic.

Wheeler said it is tragic that at such a fateful time in the history of the world the United States, strong and rich, cannot speak out authoritatively for peace.

"It is tragic," he said, "that the President is unable to assume that leadership for peace for which his high office as the head of a nation of 130 million peace loving people would have so admirably fitted him."

All that can be left, said Wheeler, is an appeal to prayer in the name of the Prince of Peace, an appeal to the leaders of all the churches to unite in a demand that peoples lay down their swords of brutality. Otherwise, he warned, the blood of Americans will be shed.

Joint Appeal Urged.

"Because our President has not seen fit to lead the nations of the world to sanity and peace, let us today appeal for divine guidance, to the leadership of the pope and to the leadership of all the great Protestant churches," said Wheeler.

"Let them join together and insist that the warring nations stop their wholesale murder of men, women, and children before the whole human race sinks into a common grave of death.

"The world today needs leadership to stop this senseless slaughter, and to bring the war to an end."

Not Our War: Dr. Morrison.

Dr. Morrison, like Senator Wheeler, received an ovation from the crowd. The theme of his talk was that "this is not America's war."

"The burden of proof rests upon those who declare that it is America's war," he said. "So far this proof has not been forthcoming."

Now has it happened, asked Dr. Morrison, that the idea has been established in the minds of many Americans that this war is America's or that it is America's duty to enter Europe's struggles for the second time?

"My answer must be very frank," said Dr. Morrison. "My answer is that the President of the United States, thru a long series of utterances and a cumulative series of deeds, has put the nation in a position where public opinion is no longer free to express its deepest conviction against participation in this war.

"The nation has been committed, step by step, to a war policy, steadily and stealthily committed, thru a period of three years of official propaganda and official action until now the desperate and climactic argument for war is that we already have gone too far in to back out.

"Yet the American people do not believe this is their war. The succession of polls of public opinion reveals a constant, overwhelming majority against our participation."

Dr. Morrison said that far from being "America's war," this is "the

SENATOR RAKES PRESIDENT FOR UNNEUTRAL AIM

Public Must Speak Out, Rally Told.

BY THOMAS MORROW.

President Roosevelt may have the power to force the United States into the European war but he has not the right to do so, and the American people can stop him from doing it if they act now, Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] said yesterday in a stirring address in the Chicago Arena.

Senator Wheeler.

"It appears that the war mongers are praying that an American ship will be sunk in order to promote war," Wheeler said. "But judging from the temper of the American people, they are not going to blame some other country for blowing up a ship. They are going to blame the President of the United States. He is inviting war and he has been inviting war ever since the election last fall."

Crowd Exceeds 8,200.

Senator Wheeler spoke at a mass-meeting under auspices of the America First committee. More than 8,200 men and women, cheering his utterances, filled the hall, except for a few undesirable seats at the end of the balcony. Several hundred more stood outside and listened to the speech over loud speakers.

The crowd, receptive and eager to applaud, rose and cheered when the senator stepped to the microphone. He drew a roar of laughter when he referred to the President's son, James.

"When the Jugo-Slavs stood up," said Wheeler, "they were going to send Jimmy over to help them—but it was too late. What a shame Jimmy couldn't get there. So then they sent him over to Chiang Kai-shek. I understand he took some motion pictures there."

America First

THE AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE has become increasingly fearful of being spied on or having its wires tapped. So fearful that R. L. Bliss, one of the committee's chief officials, recently sent an inter-office memo to all members of the staff which read as follows:

"I suggest that you conduct all your meetings in your office as quietly as possible, and that you do not discuss confidential business matters in the hall, or in going to and from the teletype. This will prevent visitors in the outer office from overhearing remarks. Let us keep our material and ideas to ourselves. R. L. B.

"Postscript: I notice that there is also a lot of loose talk in De Met's over the tables where 90 per cent of us eat. Watch your discussions within hearing of strangers.

"PS: We will appreciate it if you will plan your lunch hours so there is always someone in your office during the day."

NOTE: The America First Committee has sent its branch offices a list of speakers available to promote the cause. The list includes a great many names, ranging from Wilbur Helm, who is willing to speak for only $25 to Major General Paul B. Malone, who will speak for $200. This is the highest fee except one, whose fee and whose name leads all the rest. General Hugh Johnson is willing to promote the cause of America First for the sum of $750 per lecture.

Invasion of U. S. Styled Fool's Dream

Peace Speaker Says No Enemy Could Overrun America

Successful invasion of the United States by Germany or by any combination of powers is impossible, Marshall Perhan, writer for scientific periodicals, said last night at a peace rally at the Y. W. C. A. promoted by the America First Committee.

"This is not our war. We do not need to invade Europe in order to defend America. We can defend America here. Here lies our greatness. In Europe lie our failure and destruction," Perhan said. He was introduced by William Dodson.

Franklin G. Makepeace, teacher, and Mrs. Eileen E. Folsom, Long Beach head of Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, are temporary cochairmen of the local A. F. C. organization. Weekly meetings are planned.

A resolution protesting attac on Colonel Charles A. Lindberg and free speech and addressed t President Roosevelt was circu lated for signatures. A petitio in support of the Tobey anti convoy resolution was numerous ly signed.

"There has never been a more callous lie than the assertion that 'we are next' if the British are defeated; and it is a known lie by the men who say it," Perhan said. "Invasion of the United States, in particular, and of the Western Hemisphere, in general, is only a fool's dream."

Mrs. Sarah Quinn Hill sang a song that she wrote, "America First," dedicated to the A. F. C. Boys from Jordan High School provided musical entertainment.

The newly chosen executive committee was announced as follows: Mrs. Eileen Folsom, Mrs. G. Lewis, Miss Celia Potts, Mrs. Sophia Klein, Mrs. A. R. Tabbert, Frank C. Engle, Mrs. Mary B. Buerger, Mrs. Bertha Kirby, Dr. C. A. Noland, Miss Zella Ascherman, Henry L. Moffet, Mrs. Fleta Rhodes, Dr. Henry Kendall Booth, David Barge, Miss Catherine Vesta Sturges, Mrs. Stella O. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Smith, Clarence P. Wallick, Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Makepeace and Roger Williams.

It was announced that 300 members were enrolled last night.

THE CASE OF AMERICA FIRST.

Members of the America First Committee continue to be acutely distressed over what they term "smear campaigns" directed at various of their leaders. They seem to be allergic to such epithets as "appeaser," "American Cliveden set," "copperheads," and "Fifth Columnists," holding that such expressions are defamatory and unsportsmanlike—and anyway, not true. "We're not appeasers, we just want to see a negotiated peace now while Germany can dictate the terms."

It will be well, amid these wails of anguish, to keep the following facts in mind:

1. There have been no wails from those whom the America Firsters have denounced as "British colonials," "rabid interventionists," "warmongers," "hysterical alarmists," "overage destroyers" and "ploughers under of American youth." Those who have been recipients of the America First brand of abuse have not felt compelled to protest. They have been willing to let the American people decide whether those epithets are justified or not.

2. Senator Wheeler has been especially vocal in denouncing propaganda; but he has yet to acknowledge publicly that he deliberately lied or disseminated, without troubling to check the facts, the canard that the War Department had ordered 1,000,000 coffins, presumably for a million American casualties expected as result of a contemplated American expeditionary force to foreign soil.

3. Senator Wheeler has yet to apologize for the fact that during his America First meeting in Chicago Sunday, the President of the United States, commander in chief of our armed forces, was booed.

4. The America Firsters talk a great deal about sinister and secret influences. But there is nothing secret about the personnel of, say, the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. That group has made public a full and complete list of those who have contributed funds to carry on its campaign. The America First Committee has not made public a full and complete list of its supporters. Many of them decline to come out in the open, or permit their identity to be revealed.

Until the America First Committee comes clean with such a full and complete list, its members cannot complain if many regard them with suspicion.

HITS HALF-TRUTH BY WHEELER AS 'SMEAR' TO U. S.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

By reiterated misrepresentation of the stand of the overwhelming majority of Americans on the issues of the war, Senator Burton K. Wheeler and other isolationist orators are "smearing the American people," it was declared today by John A. Morrison, director of the Chicago Committee to Defend America.

Morrison was referring to persistent dinning into audiences of America First of the proposition that "83 per cent" or similarly huge percentages of Americans "don't want war"—without mention of percentages which, as shown in public-opinion polls, want effective aid to Britain, even at risk of war.

"It must be remembered," Morrison said, "that Hitler himself, in 'Mein Kampf,' declared that by telling a big enough untruth often enough, you get it believed.

'Hides Essential Truth.'

"Hammering home a half-truth—as do the America First orators—while hiding the essential larger truth of which it is a part, is an ancient stand-by in the science of demagoguery.

"Yes, the American people hate war—all of us—but there are some things we hate even more. Senator Wheeler and similar orators are hiding the facts. With their cheap demagoguery they are attempting to smear the American people.

"The significant figure, which Senator Wheeler & Co. never mention is that 71 per cent of the American people, as shown by the Gallup poll, favor use of American naval vessels to insure the delivery of the weapons promised to Britain if necessary to Nazi defeat.

"Nor do we hear citation from Senator Wheeler or America First of the Gallup poll figures this week showing that—although 81 per cent would vote to stay out of war today—68 per cent of the American people favor entering the war if defeat of Hitler can be assured in no other way.

"The spine of America is much better than you admit, Senator Wheeler."

Progress with Petitions.

Rapid progress continues, Morrison reported, in the massing of signatures on petitions to President Roosevelt asking whatever action is necessary to deliver supplies [illegible] could, and to her he remained of [illegible] good job with her sitter. She knew [illegible] portrait of the German, but Miss Moir [illegible] and Hitler. This mittees of appeasement, the No Foreign War Committee, headed by Verne Marshall, who blitzed from Iowa to brief fame in New York as head of the group, has breathed its last. Marshall has announced its disbandment with the explanation that "the purposes for which the committee was organized last December have been served." Just how they have been served was not made clear by Mr. Marshall. He urged friends of his committee—which was largely a one-man outfit—to join America First.

3,000 Expected at America First Rally

A capacity crowd of over 3,000 is expected at the America First Committee rally in Orchestra Hall tonight to hear the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, Notre Dame University law professor, in his plea for unity in the nation-wide campaign to keep America out of war.

Dr. O'Brien, who has been touring the Midwest urging the public to unite to stop the march toward war, declared in a recent speech:

"If we are not craven cowards, we will use our constitutional rights and thunder to Washington:

"'This is a democracy. The will of the people must prevail. More than 100,000,000 American citizens want no war. We shall tolerate no betrayal.

Carl Craven will lead group singing of patriotic tunes at tonight's mass meeting. The doors of Orchestra Hall will be opened at 6 o'clock and the meeting will begin at 8.

THE CHICAGO AMERICAN

AMERICA FIRST LEADERS ELATED BY PEACE GAINS

Upsurge Against War Is Seen Thruout Nation.

Leaders of the America First committee commented jubilantly yesterday on the remarkable momentum gained during the last month by the campaign to keep America out of war.

"Judging by quickened interest, increasing demand for membership blanks, and mounting crowds at rallies, the warmongers are on the run," said Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Fairbank called attention to the diversified interests of persons brought together in the cause of peace. She also pointed out that political leaders, bitter enemies on many matters, have banded to keep America free of the European conflict.

Religious Differences Forgotten.

Religious lines of demarcation have been broken down by the demand for peace, Mrs. Fairbank said, citing that Catholics, Methodists, Lutherans, Presbyterians, and Baptists are on the growing membership lists of the America First committee.

Bishop Wilbur E. Hammaker of the Methodist church is one of the leaders of the National committee, while Dr. Samuel K. Wilson, S. J., head of Loyola university, and Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, Disciples of Christ and editor of Christian Century, are listed as sponsors of the Illinois America First group.

Chief among the political leaders who have given their time to the campaign to keep the country out of war are Senators Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho], Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.], and Congressmen Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], Carl T. Curtis [R., Neb.], and J. Edgar Chenoweth [R., Colo.].

Cites Change in Sentiment.

Senator Wheeler is now engaged in a country-wide tour in behalf of peace. In Chicago last Sunday he cited the change in sentiment during the last two months.

"Passage of the lease-lend bill had brought on the feeling of defeatism among Americans," said Wheeler. "They felt 'we are in the war' and they had no one to crystalize the antiwar sentiment and convince them they could stop the drift to war if they would stand up and fight. Work of the America First committee in bringing speakers to the people has changed this."

Senator Clark will address a meeting at the University of Missouri in Columbia tonight, and will speak tomorrow in Kansas City, Mo., where he will be joined by former Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas. Clark and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will speak at an America First rally in St. Louis Saturday night, and Clark will speak at another America First rally Sunday afternoon in Indianapolis.

America First, which began operations in September 1940 with R. Douglas Stuart Jr. as national director, and Gen. Robert E. Wood as acting national chairman, has been the foremost organization in the fight for peace. The committee has grown until it now possesses 718 chapters, including groups in every state in the Union.

In response to widespread public demand, reflecting intense interest in the issues at stake, The News today opens a new Battle Page series on the role this nation should play in World War II. It is turning this space over to the two leading organizations with opposite viewpoints — the America First Committee and the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. Do We Want an American Hitler?

The AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE is organized for one purpose and one purpose only—to keep America out of the present foreign war.

Its aim may be very simply stated. It does not wish to see a Hitler in America. It does not want a Mussolini here. It does not want a Stalin here.

It fears very much the appearance here of any of those degrading and alien forms of government and life which are found under Fascist governments.

The AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE, however, does not fear that Hitler or Mussolini or Stalin will bring those baleful ways of life here, because it does not believe that Hitler can invade and conquer this country.

But it believes that dictatorship and Fascism can appear here just the same, and take away our liberties and our democratic government.

The AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE believes that Hitlers and Stalins come when certain conditions are favorable for their appearance. There are plenty of Hitlers besides Adolf. There is a Hitler in Germany. There is a Hitler in Italy, another in Russia, another in Spain. There were Hitlers in Greece and Bulgaria, and there are still Hitlers in Romania and Turkey. They have different names, but they stand for the same thing and are produced by the same forces.

The things that make Hitlers are poverty, depression, widespread unemployment, distress, fear and despair among the people—workers without jobs, farmers without money, business men without profits—a nation without hope.

When this happens people—good people, too—not knowing what to do—listen to the siren song of those false leaders who promise abundance, prosperity, national hope. Then the Hitler appears. He takes a little power at first. And as a little power turns out to be not enough, he takes more power and then more, suppresses those who criticize him, silences all opposition, makes himself master.

This is how Hitlerism came to Italy and then to Germany. It did not come into them from outside. Armies did not march in and impose it on them. People in Italy and people in Germany, led by violent men, imposed it on Italy and Germany. And that is how it will come to America if it comes at all.

Our country is in trouble. For eleven years it has had a terrible depression. Millions of men have been without work. Millions of others at work have not earned enough to live decently. Millions of farmers have not been able to sell their crops for the necessities of life. Millions of business men have not been able to make profits or to see with reasonable safety into the future.

The only thing that has kept all these people going—and hoping somehow for better days—has been the spending of money by the Government. And the Government has been getting this money by borrowing it and plunging itself into debt. We need not be too hard on the Government for doing this. The distress has been great. It did not know what else to do. But we all know that sooner or later some other way must be found. We all know that the Government cannot go on borrowing and spending and burying itself in debt forever. Yet no one appears with any other remedy.

Now a war comes in Europe! Poor old Europe! Torn by wars, tormented by poverty for ages! Because this European war was provoked by Fascist dictators we in America have sympathized with those nations who have been attacked. But from the beginning we have said: This is not our war. It is a dreadful and barbarous thing. But it is not ours. We sympathize with the victims and we are willing to help. But we must stay out of it. And AMERICA FIRST has said just that. And it continues to say that.

It says that because it knows—as all know—that we are already in deep trouble from the depression. If we go into the war we will add deeper and more terrible trouble. We will pile on debts such as no nation has ever known. We will produce a business boom for a while, and then plunge down into a depression beside which 1933 will seem like prosperity. More millions than ever will walk the streets and clamor for bread. More farmers will know greater poverty. More business men will see hope vanish. Then, amidst all the disorder and chaos and poverty and despair which follows, the time for the American Hitler will come. And the American Hitler will come. That is the Hitler we are afraid of—not the Hitler in Germany.

AMERICA FIRST wants to keep our country out of war so that it will not be weakened and bankrupt by the war. We want to keep her out so that we may be able to deal with our great problems and find the way to security. We want to keep out of the war, because we want to keep America strong and healthy so that there will be no place here and no opportunity for the kind of leaders who have seized power in Italy and Germany. We want to stay out in order to save our democracy.

We are against Fascism and dictators. We are against the forms of life in Italy and Germany. We are not against England. But we are FOR America. We believe that war will destroy America. That is, it will destroy the things in America which we want to keep and which we love. We want to save America.

They Are Afraid

By WALTER MILLIS.

Look carefully at the arguments of America First, of former Colonel Lindbergh, of all the others who are trying to defeat the vigorous policy of giving all-out aid to Britain and seeing that it gets there. You will see that every argument boils down in the end to just one thing: Fear.

They are afraid. They are not arguing for what they want to happen; they are arguing about what they are afraid might happen.

They are afraid of war; and they never see what great ends of security and freedom there are to be gained by taking that risk.

They are afraid that Britain is about to be defeated anyway; and they never see that if their advice were taken Britain would go down tomorrow and the situation would be infinitely worse than it is now.

They are afraid that America would only make a worse mess of another victory than was made at Versailles. They have so little confidence in America that they forget how terrible the mess is bound to be if the totalitarians are left to make it.

They are afraid that vigorous action will mean "the end of democracy." They have so little faith in democracy that they are paralyzed by the thought of what might come about instead of rising up to make certain that it doesn't come about.

They are afraid that aid to Britain may strip our own defences. They never see that by sending present production to Britain where it can be used now we are creating the vast capacity to produce the improved weapons which we may need by the time we would need them.

They are afraid. They don't know these things will happen; they are just afraid they might, and they are so full of these fears that they never see the great danger that by their timidity they stand to lose everything, exactly as every little European democracy has done. Because this is a hard, risky world some risks have to be taken. But the United States is not a small European country; it is a great people with a tremendous strength, occupying an unrivalled geographic position that enables it to exert that strength in time to be effective with only a minimum of added danger in case such efforts should fail. And no policy which is simply a collection of all possible negative and defeatist fears for what might happen is a sound or sufficient policy for such a people, in such a time as this.

Wheeler's Advice Bad On American Defense

If this country had followed the advice of Senator Wheeler, it would be as unprepared to defend itself today as Norway was unprepared to defend itself a year ago. Here are a few things the isolationist Senator has said:

December 20, 1937—"I see no necessity for spending millions and millions of dollars for armaments and battleships."

Is it safe to listen to the man who said this in 1937 when he now says that he sees no reason for using our navy to deliver war materials to Britain?

June 4, 1940—"Let us not create the impression that some other nation will come over here and attack the United States because there is not any reason why it should."

Apparently Senator Wheeler was unaware that Hitler has let it be known that it is his purpose to conquer the world. The Senator should be told that Der Fuehrer has said: "Two worlds are in conflict, two philosophies of life . . . one of these two worlds must break asunder."

July 25, 1940—"I do not believe it is necessary in the United States at the present time to conscript the wealth of the country or the youth of the country. I think it is only stirring up war hysteria."

The men who tried to warn France that its preparedness was inadequate were also denounced for "stirring up war hysteria."

August 5, 1940—"At the present time I do not see any emergency so far as the peace and security of the United States are concerned."

Senator Wheeler insists on playing ostrich. The people of the United States should have no interest in what he does not see beneath the sand.

August 20, 1940—"I am one of those who do not believe our first line of defense is in Great Britain. I am one of those who do not believe the British navy is any protection for us. I am one of those who believe the United States is strong enough to protect itself against any country in the world."

It would be well to ask those who have some expert knowledge about naval matters if the British navy is any protection to us. You might also ask the Senator if he believes the British navy would be no danger to us were it in the hands of Germany. Does Senator Wheeler believe that, had the United States followed his advice of 1937 against increases in armaments, it would now be strong enough to protect itself against any country in the world?

December 27, 1940—"I think we are doing Great Britain a great disservice in urging her to go on and fight until she is exhausted. On the other hand, I think we should do everything possible for peace."

What kind of a peace, Senator? You know, and all the rest of us know, that the only kind of a peace possible before Great Britain has defeated the Nazis would be on Hitler's terms.

Writing of Wendell Willkie's answer to Charles A. Lindbergh in Collier's, which goes on the newsstand today, John Temple Graves, II says:

"Handicapped as he is by not being a great aviator, Mr. Willkie is able nevertheless to offset the resulting limitation on his statesmanship by being a Great American and having eye-witnessed England considerably more recently and authoritatively and gregariously than the great aviator has."

Rally Ban Protested By 'America First'

CHICAGO, May 2 (U.P.).—R. Douglas Stuart jr., national director of the America First Committee, yesterday branded as "un-American" the refusal of Miami city and county officials to allow the committee's Miami chapter to use the Dade county courthouse for a rally. Stuart said he was sending a message to Dade county commissioners and Mayor Alexander Orr jr., asking reconsideration.

Find midwest isn't center of isolationism

The America First committee claims its greatest strength lies in the Middle West.

Recently, after attending an America First meeting in Chicago (where Churchill's name was loudly booed and Hitler's just as loudly applauded) the Baltimore Evening Sun's Great Plains correspondent decided to test this claim.

He stopped on the postoffice steps of Emden, Ill., a farming community in northern Logan county, and asked the first 15 persons who appeared for their mail one question:

"How far should the United States go in aiding Great Britain?"

10 OF 14 GO 'ALL-OUT'

One refused to answer. Of the 14 who replied, says the Great Plains correspondent, "one thought we have no business helping Britain at all, two thought we ought to keep our armaments for ourselves, one favored aid to Britain short of war, and 10 out of the 14 favored aid to Britain short of nothing."

Here are their replies, as published in the Baltimore Sun:

S. A. Elliott, retired farmer: "I don't think we should aid them as much as we have. It's their own problem. I'm a little like Lindbergh. I feel that if we had let them alone, they wouldn't have depended on us to help them, and then there wouldn't have been much to it at all. The war would have been over by now and everything would have quieted down. I don't think there's any chance of Hitler harming us. Anyway, there's no bombing fleet that could make it this far."

'AID TOO LATE'

C. S. Kent, filling station operator: "I don't think we can give Britain aid in time. They wouldn't get it quick enough, so why not keep it at home? It isn't that I'm opposed to aid for Britain. I had hoped that we could help them, but I just don't think we could get it over there soon enough."

Gunder Rullestad, farm owner: "I wish we could help Britain, but we can't deliver the stuff, so we might as well stop taking chances and keep the armaments for ourselves. Anyhow, if the Germans can't take England I don't see how they can take us. We're a big country, a rich country, and a good country. If we went into it, it would cost something awful. I would like to see Great Britain win, but now it doesn't look as if she will."

C. E. Rod, printer-publisher: "I think that the only way to aid Britain is to send them all the materials, but convoys—that's taking a chance. I wouldn't risk the lives of our men. As far as I can see, I think that England can hold her own at home, down in the Balkans, the way it's gone, they haven't done so well. No, mark me down for no convoys."

'GIVE 'EM EVERYTHING'

Wrex Wilson, farm hand: "I think that the United States should give Great Britain all possible aid—and give it to them while they got a chance. I'm in the draft, but got a 3-A classification. I'm married, but if they need me, I'm going."

Ole J. Nernes, farm hand: "I think that if the United States doesn't give aid to Great Britain, the war will go the other way, and I can't think of anything that'll be worse for this country. I believe that we should stimulate airplane production in this country, and not only give the British all the planes we got, not only deliver the goods, but send some spare pilots along, too. That Hitler is a menace to all of us."

Matt Vespestad, farm owner: "I think this whole opposition to aid Britain is propaganda spread by fifth columnists. Look what those fifth columnists did to France and Norway. I do think we should give Churchill everything we can, and more, even if it bleeds us white. If they haven't enough men, let's send some of ours. I'm ready to go any time after 30 days' notice. We shouldn't have let Germany get as far as she has."

'THEY NEED OUR AID'

John Weeks, farm owner: "I think they need aid over there in Great Britain; they need food and materials and airplanes. We ought to send them everything we can and see that it gets there. I think that we ought to keep out of war ourselves, if we can—but if we can't, we can't."

John Lee, farm owner: "If we can stay out of war ourselves, all the better, but let's send everything we can to England. We enjoy living in a free country. There's nothing we should not give them if it will keep us free. If they haven't got food and materials, they're going to get licked—and if they get licked, it'll be our turn next, and by ourselves, too. So rather than see Britain licked, I'm for sending convoys, and everything that goes with that."

Nels Vespestad, farm renter: "I believe that we should help Great Britain, and I don't mean just by shipping a couple of airplanes. Let's give them all we got, throw in a few battleships, too. We can't do too much to defeat Hitler. If we have to send convoys, let's send them; men too, if necessary. I'm ready to go if called. I'd sooner fight knowing we had some allies than have to fight Hitler alone. And who knows where we'd have to fight him?"

'CARRY BIG CLUB'

J. F. Berbracht, retired farmer: "I feel like Teddy Roosevelt used to say—'Speak softly, but carry a big club.' I think that if we don't help Great Britain, Hitler will lick them. As far as we're concerned, that's the worst thing that can happen to this country. I don't know anything about convoys. The President and his admirals know about that. If they decide that convoys are necessary to help Britain, then I'm for convoys."

Mrs. I. T. Sande, wife of a farm owner: "I think we should have helped Britain sooner and more. Maybe it's too late now, but I'm for shipping food and materials to the bitter end. I don't like the idea of convoys, but then we can give them enough naval vessels so that they can convoy them themselves. But if that doesn't work, then convoys are all right. We must get help there of all kinds. No. I haven't any boys subject to the draft. There's only one boy in our family, and he enlisted in the navy last year."

Rob J. Nelson, insurance salesman: "I'm in favor of going the limit in aid to Britain—give them everything they need, munitions, medical supplies, food, guns, even if we have to convoy them across. There's no use to start them over and have them go to the bottom of the ocean. I don't know if we can keep out of the war, but I don't care. A Hitler victory is worse than anything I can imagine."

Marvin Stenson, filling station attendant: "I think that the United States should help Great Britain, because if Hitler does beat them, it'll be tougher for us. I think he would eventually come out at us because he's after the world. I think we should send the materials and convoy them if necessary. Any time the President says convoys are necessary is all right with me. Me? Yes, I'm in the draft, probably will be called up this summer."

So, concludes the Great Plains Correspondent:

"The sentiment for all-out aid to Britain is growing so rapidly in the Middle West that it is no surprise to find this Emden poll running so one-sidedly in favor of that proposition."

'America First' in Will County

A strong chapter of the American First Committee is being established in Will County, with headquarters in Joliet, Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman for Illinois, announced today.

The chapter, headed by J. Henry Baird, 211 Nicholson st., Joliet, has a membership in excess of 500. Units have been established in Elmwood and Wilmington, and preparations are being made to launch others in Plainfield, Braidwood, Beecher and other small communities. Baird explained:

"Workers at the Wilmington munitions plant are showing a marked interest in the America First movement, and we expect to enroll hundreds of them as members.

"Membership cards will be circulated throughout the entire county, and within a short time we intend to have one of the strongest chapters in the country."

The Joliet chapter is making plans for a mass meeting, at which an outstanding speaker will be heard.

Landon, Clark Blast F. D. 'Peace Pledge'

By United Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 3—Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential candidate, and Sen. Bennett C. Clark last night called upon the people to make President Roosevelt fulfill his "campaign promises" to keep the United States out of war.

Landon presided at a meeting of the America First Committee, and introduced Clark to an estimated 2000 persons.

"The American people have a distinct recollection of many promises of the President to keep the United States at peace," Landon said. "They had the right to continue to feel safe and secure, but the people now are becoming distinctly disturbed by the Administration's twilight steps to war."

"Congress has abdicated its functions, but the right of petition guaranteed by the Constitution still exists," Clark said. He asserted the country would remain at peace if the "four-fifths majority" who oppose the war "will make themselves articulate."

War May End Our Liberties,' Clark Warns

Senator Sees U. S. Dictatorship After Entry Into Conflict

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 2 (C.T.P.S.). — Senator Bennett Champ Clark, Missouri Democrat, in an address before an America First committee rally here tonight, warned that the campaign to keep America out of war also is a last ditch stand for democracy in the United States.

He repudiated the support of members of subversive organizations, Communistic or Fascist, who he said attempt to affix themselves to patriotic meetings.

'Should Face Firing Squad"

"If any such are here," Clark said, "let me say I utterly repudiate their presence, and express my sincere belief that their ultimate destination should be a firing squad."

A totalitarian government, he said, is probably the best form of government for conducting a foreign war, and for that reason he expressed the fear that if the United States enters the present war, the country might acquiesce in a complete dictatorship.

"Stripping Of Our Defenses"

"My fear is that we might win the war and lose our liberties, that the generous adulation of great names—the Churchills, the Halifaxes, and the Roosevelts—may mean the stripping of our own defenses and breaking down of our system of government."

Hitler CAN'T Invade America!

The basis of the whole argument to bring America into the war has been "This is our war;" that when Hitler defeats the British Empire he will invade America.

The President says "we will lose our independence." Secretary Hull says "Hitler will be able to cross the Atlantic easily." All the speakers, writers, propagandists on radio and movie repeat daily "We are next on Hitler's list."

The object is to fill Americans with fear—to frighten them, terrify them, put them in a panic.

The AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE tells Americans they have nothing to fear from a German invasion: First, because it is impossible, and Hitler knows it; second, because we can make ourselves so strong no foreign power would dare attack us.

Just think it over calmly. To invade us Hitler would have to bring at least a million soldiers. He took a million into Poland and into Yugoslavia. He would not think of coming here with less.

What makes Hitler's armies so terrible? The machines, armored trucks, tanks, planes, motorcycles and guns they carry. Hitler would have to bring those.

Now what would he require? Here is what military authorities list (Hitler actually uses more): 65,000 armored trucks, 19,800 armored trailers, 4,500 tanks (some weighing 70 tons), 7,900 motorcycles, 1,600 tractors, 1,756 ambulances, 1,120 passenger cars.

He would need 19,000 machine guns, 7,700 automatic rifles, 2,500 anti-tank guns, 2,520 75 mm. field guns and thousands of howitzers, mortars, siege guns. He would have to bring at least 10,000 airplanes and thousands of anti-aircraft guns.

All this vast mass of men and metal would have to be brought here in ships, with large convoys, moving slowly. It would have to land at modern docks with machinery to unload it. The English had to leave all their equipment at Dunkerque and in Greece because they escaped from open beaches. This stuff cannot be put on or off ships at open beaches.

After they got their million men and equipment here they would have to supply it with mountains of rations, mountains of munitions and vast quantities of oil. They could not get this here until the country was conquered. It would have to be brought in ships—a steady stream of ships. Military experts estimate it would take 13,000,000 tons of shipping a month to do this. Hanson Baldwin, military expert of the New York Times, says:

> "The problem seems impossible. Not even Britain or a combination of Britain and Germany has sufficient shipping to divert such an enormous amount of it from their ordinary trade routes to military purposes."

Rear Admiral Cook, U. S. Navy, told a congressional committee:

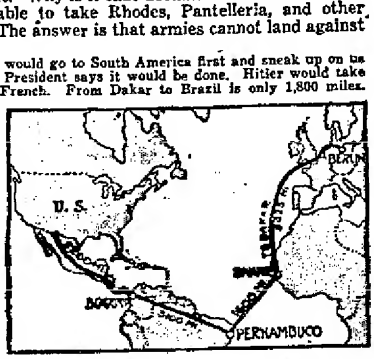
> "I do not think that any fleet could make an effective landing on our coast, whether we had a Navy or not, provided there are enough shore-based aircraft available . . . I do not think that any thinking person ever feels that any nation can successfully invade our country."

Even the President now admits that Hitler "would not dare make a direct attack on us." But, he says, Hitler would operate from bases here. At present we have possession of all the bases in this hemisphere, within striking distance of us. Hitler would have to take them first. But he could not, even with the British fleet. Why is it that Britain with her fleet in the Mediterranean has been unable to take Rhodes, Pantelleria, and other island bases of Italy there? The answer is that armies cannot land against aircraft defense.

But the President says Hitler would go to South America first and sneak up on us from there. Here is the way the President says it would be done. Hitler would take Dakar in West Africa from the French. From Dakar to Brazil is only 1,800 miles. Then he would take Brazil. He would then move on us from Brazil.

This belongs in the realm of the comic. Of course, however, if Hitler moved he would have to bring at least a million men and all that vast array of tanks, trucks, guns, rations, munitions, oil, etc.

Now just consider this. The only reason for a base is to get nearer to the object of attack. Germany and the French coast is roughly only 3,000 miles from our Atlantic coast. But to attack us from the base in Brazil, Hitler would have to make the fantastic journey shown on this map.



He would have to transport a million men and equipment 3,200 miles to Dakar by sea. Then he would have to transport them 1,800 miles from Dakar to Brazil by sea. That's 5,000 miles. He would then be 5,090 miles from the United States—or 2,000 miles further than when he started. He would then have to march his million men and their tanks and trucks over poor roads, inadequate rails, through Brazil (a country as big as the U. S.), through Colombia and Venezuela, then up through the Isthmus, through Guatemala, Nicaragua, Panama, Salvador, and Honduras into Mexico; then across the trackless plains, the tangled, pathless jungles, over the mountain gorges and the swamps of Mexico to the Rio Grande.

He would have marched his hosts 10,000 miles and he would still not have entered the United States.

This fairy tale has been invented to scare Americans. AMERICA FIRST says HITLER CANNOT COME HERE, he will not dare try. AMERICA FIRST says let us make ourselves strong and no nation will dream of attacking us.

Write to the President and protest against convoying ships into war zones.

Petition to the President

MR. PRESIDENT:

We believe that the security of the United States demands that "We Deliver the Goods to Britain Now." To this end we will support

(1) full mobilization of the industrial, economic and moral life of this country for production of war materials and

(2) use of American naval forces for police, convoy, or in whatever way is most effective to insure the delivery of these materials to Britain.

The above is the text of a petition being circulated by the 800 chapters of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. It has already been signed by great numbers of Americans, who believe: (1) that the defense of the United States makes necessary the all-out material aid for Britain and her allies which has become our national policy; and (2) that we will not be giving this aid by producing vast quantities of goods, which are sent to the bottom of the Atlantic by German U-boats and sea raiders.

Mobilization of our national life for production, without furnishing naval police to assure delivery of the goods, would be like making gun shells with bullets in the ends but with no powder behind the bullets. To this point Frederic R. Coudert Sr., prominent international lawyer, said, when signing the petition:

Mr. Coudert Said

"It is perfectly obvious that 8 billion dollars of war material is not to be provided for the benefit of the gaping jaws of a relentless Neptune. Every thinking man must realize that the decision of Congress involved the certainty that the goods will have to be delivered through United States aid. This government, both through the Administration and the Congress, has adopted as a policy to be acted upon the fact that Germany and Italy are to be treated as aggressors and are not entitled to the benefit of impartial neutrality.

"We are in a profound crisis. The security of the nation is involved. A million of men are in training as soldiers and our factories are working to the utmost in the construction of war material. A policy so definitely adopted for the defense of the nation must be maintained. A refusal to accept its consequences now would be an example of inaptitude and cowardice impossible for the American nation.

"Means to vindicate the policy of American security through aid to Britain against aggressors attacking the very fundaments of civilization and international law should no longer be questioned. The sole remaining problem is how to vindicate that policy. American shipments must be protected from destruction while in transit and the goods must be delivered. So far, no other effective means have been found. Hence American naval units must be employed."

The Ostrich's Body

By SOPHIE KERR.

It happened at 49th Street and Fifth Avenue. A man pushed some pamphlets into my hands and said, gutturally: "Read this, lady, it explains you vy Amerika must giff no help to England."

That's German propaganda at its stupid worst. No one can fail to recognize it.

But there's a more subtle, insidious German propaganda going on and it hasn't a Teutonic accent. It is spread by Americans who simply won't face facts.

These Americans say: "We don't like war." But the dictators do like war and are going ahead making cruel, bloody, devastating war regardless of what America likes.

These Americans say: "Oh, Hitler won't come over here!" Every time they say it they open a door for Hitler's coming.

These Americans say: "It's all the fault of the Versailles Treaty." They have never read the Versailles Treaty any more than I have, but they ought to know that blaming the Versailles Treaty cannot keep submarines from shelling our coasts, or bombing planes from blasting our homes into rubble.

These Americans say: "It's none of our affair." Listen, my friends, freedom is our affair, resistance to tyranny and to totalitarianism is our affair—if we're honest Americans. England is making a desperate fight to save freedom for her own people, and if she wins she will have saved freedom for us as well. If she loses, then freedom is lost—to her, to us, to the coming generation—perhaps forever.

The best tools of the Nazis in America today are the American defeatists, the American excusers, the America appeasers, and the American isolationists. They are, in effect, Hitler's own men, exactly as if they got their orders from him. They won't face facts.

The ostrich is the bird that puts his head in the sand, refusing to see his enemy, the hunter. He leaves his body outside the sand. So the hunter walks right up to him and spears him dead.

'America First' Rally Blocked by Miami

MIAMI, Fla., May 2 (C.T.P.S.). An America First Committee rally scheduled tonight was blocked today by the refusal of city and county authorities to allow the use of public meeting places. The refusal was accompanied by the charge that the America First Committee is a subversive organization because the view it holds on American entry into the European war are contrary to "national policy."

AMERICA FIRST UNIT DRIVES FOR 50,000 IN BORO

Attorney Sees U. S. Entering Conflict in 'Preconceived' Plan

A drive to obtain 50,000 members for the Brooklyn chapter of the American First Committee before Memorial Day was announced yesterday by William T. Leonard, exec tive chairman of the chapter.

Leonard declared that Brooklynites were flocking to the chapter's headquarters, 44 Court St., to join th organization.

George Dyson Friou, borough attorney and one of the organizers of the Brooklyn chapter, sent a letter yesterday to Senator Robert F. Wagner in which he asserted that the Roosevelt Administration was working out "a preconceived plan" to enter the European war.

"The American public is awakened at last to this fact and to the realization that throwing our resources into the conflict can only prolong it endlessly, cost us our manpower and result in national bankruptcy," Friou wrote.

Subchapters will be opened in each of the Brooklyn Congressional districts, Leonard said. The first subchapter is expected to be opened in Bay Ridge within a week.

Former Representative Marcellus H. Evans is chairman of the membership drive committee. He is being assisted by Charles Adams, Mrs. Ernest W. Boyce, Mrs. Owen Neill Brown, Edward T. ANOTHER APPEASER

The citizens who support the America First committee have heard something of Vallandigham, the northern traitor in the civil war.

The White House secretariat dug him up out of the copperhead history of the United States for Mr. Roosevelt's use in angry comment upon Col. Lindbergh.

Mr. Roosevelt also spoke of appeasers who wanted Washington to quit in the war of independence. His secretariat did not supply him with names. The America First committee can give him one. It should go on the letterheads of the Union Now organization.

When Benedict Arnold conspired to surrender the defenses of his country to the British his self-justification was that it would be better for the countrymen to remain in colonial subjection to the British crown and parliament.

GANGSTERS LOLL WHERE 'AMERICA FIRST' IS BARRED

Miami Known as Haven for Gamblers, Racketeers.

Miami, Fla., May 3 [Special].—This city, which has refused the America First committee a public meeting place for a patriotic rally, has long been a winter haven for gangsters, racketeers and gamblers. The revelry in Miami and Miami Beach at the height of the season has had a shady background, both cities being peopled by underworld figures who have muscled into the lucrative pickings from the hordes of vacationers seeking amusement and relaxation.

Authorities have made only spasmodic efforts to shut down gambling. Slot machines are not operating and there have been a few raids on gambling establishments in the last few years, but this last winter it was commonly known that the big games —craps and roulette—were going on a larger scale than ever before. Many swank night spots enjoyed big revenue from the games. Gangsters have been reported to be backers of some of these spots.

Gamblers Violate Law.

Gamblers and racketeers are numerous at the race tracks — Hialeah Park and Tropical Park. They take private wagers from big bettors who do not want to plunge in the pari-mutuels. The pari-mutuel system is legally regulated by the state at the horse and dog tracks, but bookmaking is a violation of the law.

The most notorious resident in this area is Al Capone, who once headed Chicago's outlaws. Capone has a year around home on Palm Island in Biscayne bay, near Miami Beach. While he personally has not been identified with any Miami rackets, his name still has a coercive weight.

In April, 1940, Mrs. Myrtle Buckholtz, former executive secretary of the Miami Waiters' and Bartenders' union, told of membership in the union swelling quickly when Dan Coughlin, Capone's brother-in-law, became its business agent. Reluctance to join the union or permit unionization of night spots usually disappeared, she said, after a remark that "Al Capone's brother-in-law will be in to see you." Coughlin denied her allegations.

Told To Push Nitti Products.

Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, head of the latter day Capone gang in Chicago, is a frequent visitor in Miami during the season and is reported to have a home in Miami Beach. Mrs. Buckholtz said that waiters and bartenders were instructed to push the use of a certain brand of Chicago beer and a sparkling water sold by Nitti.

George Scalise, racketeer and ex-white slaver, now serving a 10 to 20 year Sing Sing prison sentence for embezzling funds while he was president of the International Building Service Employés' union, is another who frequented Miami in season.

Tracks Ruled by O'Hare.

At the executive committee session of the American Federation of Labor here in February, 1940, Scalise was a prominent figure, nattily clad and accompanied by bodyguards—all paid, of course, from the union treasury he was looting.

Edward J. O'Hare, front man for the Capone gang who was shot to death in Chicago on Nov. 8, 1939, was a stockholder in Tropical Park race track and controled the Miami Beach dog kennel racing establishment. One theory advanced for his assassination was that gangsters feared a double-cross by O'Hare in negotiations for another race track. The latter was the Gulfstream track, which opened near here early in 1939 but operated only for a few days.

Frank Erickson, known as "king of the bookies" in the east, and Owen [Owney] Madden, paroled convict and former New York gang leader, have been seen at the race tracks here and are said to have booked many large private wagers.

The city has been the scene of numerous big robberies. Last February, Edward S. Moore Sr., industrialist and turfman, formerly of Chicago, and his wife were robbed of jewelry valued at more than $200,000. The two masked men who held up the Moores have not been found, nor has any of the loot been recovered.

DEFIES MIAMI CENSORING OF AMERICA FIRST

La Follette Asserts He'll Talk There.

New York, May 3 [Special].—Philip F. La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin and a leader in the effort to keep the United States out of war, tonight defied the city authorities of Miami, Fla., which holds the dubious distinction of being the only place in the country where the America First committee has been denied the right to hold an antiwar rally.

Altho the Miami and Dade county authorities refused to permit an America First meeting last night on public property and altho the Miami city commission today invoked a virtual censorship by withholding permission for La Follette to address a similar meeting on May 17, unless the commissioners had first approved his text, the former governor declared that the meeting would be held and he would make a speech.

Will Senator Be There.

At the same time he issued a challenge to Florida's prowar senator, Claude E. Pepper, to meet him in debate at that time. "I am shocked to learn that in your state free speech is denied," said La Follette in a telegram to Pepper. "I will be in Miami on May 17 and it would be a great thing for you and your state to debate 'War or Peace?' Will you be there?"

"The May 17 rally will be held in Miami even if we have to hold it on a street corner or in a cow pasture," La Follette told a reporter. "If in a cow pasture, it would be perfectly fitting that Senator Pepper be present. The airing would do the gentleman a lot of good.

Still a Constitution, He Says.

"Despite the shortsightedness of Miami officials in gaining new notoriety by making Miami the first city in America to refuse a patriotic group the privilege of meeting on public property, there still is a constitution. It applies to Miami along with the rest of the United States, altho that city's authorities apparently are unaware or forgetful that it guarantees free speech.

"The American flag is still flying without impediment by Miami politicians. It will be flying on May 17, and we shall present the viewpoint of the vast majority of Americans, who want to keep the United States out of another European conflict."

La Follette recalled, as have America First leaders, that Bay Front park, the place sought for both the banned meeting last night and for the May 17 rally, was the scene of a recent gathering of war interventionists addressed by Douglas Fairbanks Jr., a movie actor.

Judge to Revoke Charter.

Miami, Fla., May 3 [Special].—While the Miami city commission today was acting to withhold permission for the use of Bay Front park for an America First committee meeting on May 17 Circuit Judge Worth W. Trammell declared he would dissolve the state charter he issued to the antiwar organization on the ground that its form was illegal at the time he issued it.

CAN DEFEND U.S. HERE, BUT NOT ABROAD: LINDY

Lone Eagle Tells St. Louis Audience Country Is Being Led Into Major Disaster

Text of Col. Lindbergh's speech on Page 31.

ST. LOUIS, May 3.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh came back tonight to the city which sped him on his gallant flight across the Atlantic—came back with a plea for peace for his nation.

Stirring a great ovation from a throng of 15,000 in the Arena, he warned that America is not prepared to wage a war abroad, but pleaded that we must—and can—defend our own shores.

Cheers echoed through the auditorium as he appeared with Senator Bennett Champ Clark, Missouri Democrat, and Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First Committee.

SEES BRITISH LOSING.

He viewed Britain as already falling in its wars with the Axis powers, and declared that, no matter how the United States saps its strength by sending aircraft to Britain, there can be no hope of bringing England to equality—much less superiority—with Germany in military aviation. He added:

"Not only is the performance of some of our vital types of ervice aircraft inadequate, but our total air force in the United States today, including both army and navy, both modern and obsolescent types, is not more than Germany can produce in a few weeks. It is a small fraction of her present air force. To enter a European war today with our air force would be almost as great a folly as that committed by France when she declared war on Germany in 1939."

Senator Clark accused President Roosevelt and his administration of violating pledges to the voters by adopting policies which threaten to plunge the United States into war. (Details on Page 29.)

"HAD TO RESIGN."

It was Lindbergh's first speech since he resigned his colonel's commission in the air corps reserve last Monday. The resignation followed President Roosevelt's press conference statement grouping Lindbergh with appeasers of the revolutionary war and the Copperheads of the civil war.

Concerning his resignation, he said:

"I resigned because I felt that the statements of the President left me no honorable alternative. This situation arose because I

Write or Wire the President Today—Demand He Keep His Pledges to You

President Roosevelt said, just before election: "Fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again and again, your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars."

Now his Secretary of War demands that American battleships—manned by American boys—convoy supplies into the war zones. THIS MEANS WAR. The President himself said, "Convoys mean shooting and shooting means war." IT IS UP TO YOU—THE 83 PER CENT. OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WHO DO NOT WANT WAR—TO STOP THE PRESIDENT FROM BEING PUSHED INTO WAR BY THE SMALL NUMBER WHO SURROUND HIM.

MAKE YOUR VOICE HEARD—WRITE OR WIRE TODAY.

See Life Steadily And See It Whole"

By JAMES M. GILLIS

That wise counsel is a quotation from an English scholar, Matthew Arnold, who was speaking of a Greek dramatist, Sophocles. We must see our problem—to fight or not to fight—steadily and see it whole.

The worst enemy of the American people is not a European dictator, but any fellow American, be he politician, newspaper columnist, radio commentator, after dinner speaker, military "expert," or whatnot, who, this critical moment, would whip us up to hysteria. With him ranks the name-caller, the epithet-flinger, the smearer.

Avoiding any claim—explicit or implicit—to speak for a church or a religious society; avoiding also the appeal to passion, we Americans will do well to look at our problem steadily and see it whole.

Is this a war for the status quo, the continuation of the British Empire, the financial and commercial domination of the world by English-speaking powers? Would we for that cause be willing to sacrifice billions in money, millions of lives, and even, if need be, our existence as a nation?

Or is it a war in defense of freedom? If so, what if those for whose freedom we would fight have never enjoyed freedom, do not want it, never did believe in or practice freedom when they were their own masters; do not share our view of freedom and wouldn't appreciate it? Must we inflict freedom—our kind of freedom—upon them whether they desire it or not?

Long before Hitler came to power, Greece, Bulgaria, Jugoslavia, Turkey had dictators. Even Poland had a dictator. If we were anxious now to free all dictator-ridden countries, why were we not anxious before? Why this sudden spasm of zeal for the freedom of the world?

If we go to war to release Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and the Balkans from under the heel of Hitler, shall we also fight to release the Ukrainians, the Finns, and the White Russians from under the heel of Stalin? And how about the Chinese from under the heel of Japan? If this is a war for humanity, must we not make it a war for all humanity?

More than a hundred years ago, Lord Byron tried to work up his own people to save the Greeks from repeated massacres at the hands of the "unspeakable Turk." But England remained apathetic, and so did America. Why are England and America now so eager to avenge the Greeks, when they were previously so unconcerned?

Fifty years after Byron, Mr. Gladstone used all the power of his oratory to persuade the English to rescue the Bulgarians, and twenty-five years after that, the Armenians, who were threatened with annihilation at the hands of the Turks. But with all his eloquence, Gladstone could not persuade England to fight for the Bulgarians or the Armenians. When, therefore, did the English interest in humanity commence? And why?

As for ourselves, why do we listen to Churchill after turning a deaf ear to Gladstone?

Coming closer to our own times, why did we not prevent the Japanese from gobbling up Manchukuo; or why did we not drive them out after they had stolen that province from the Chinese? Is it sufficient to say that Mr. Stimson invited England to join us in ejecting the Japanese, and that when England declined we subsided? Since England declined to go to war for the oppressed in Asia, can it be cowardly or criminal of America to decline to go to war for the oppressed in Europe? Is Japanese inhumanity less inhuman than Nazi inhumanity?

Looking at the question thus critically, but without emotion and impartially, are we not driven to the conclusion that the interests of humanity are not really paramount in the present war? Is there not some different motive that is primary and essential? Some motive without which this war would not be fought? What is that motive?

If that other motive—the all-important motive—is the status quo of the Empire, or financial-commercial-industrial hegemony of the world by England, or an Anglo-American domination of the seven seas and all the continents, are we prepared to fight for that cause?

Would that be a crusade?

Unless we have asked and answered these questions, we have not seen the problem steadily nor have we seen it whole.

What Price Peace?

The isolationists prate much about peace. But what have they ever done for peace? What price will they pay for it?

Let us look at the record.

It was an isolationist leader who, in handling of the Oriental immigration problem was largely responsible for needlessly offending the Japanese people in 1924. This affront undoubtedly had much to do with turning Japan in the direction which has now brought it into the aggressors' Axis.

Other isolationists were largely responsible for refusing to consider a generous solution of the Allied debt problem, which could have been used to secure a more far-sighted policy on the part of Britain and France toward Germany. This might have prevented Hitler's rise to power.

Isolationists raised our import duties through the Hawley-Smoot tariff. This did much to increase the economic difficulties of countries that owed us money—which was another thing that helped Hitler.

Isolationists kept the United States out of the League of Nations. Had this country assumed its responsibilities with the other nations which were trying to build machinery of enduring peace, we might be living in a peaceful world today.

The isolationists kept the United States out of the World Court. They invented "jokers" for our arbitration treaties, which make them meaningless. In other words, they said they wanted peace while preventing our support of any effective machinery for pacific settlement of disputes.

In the frontier days, we learned that to maintain order men must either form a vigilante committee or organize a police force. The isolationists have opposed doing either.

Since the isolationists opposed our co-operating with other nations; since they prevented our support of means for pacific settlement of disputes, one would think they would have favored a strong Army and Navy for national defense. But no. Most of them opposed increased armaments up to the last moment, when it was near being too late.

We could read on from the record indefinitely. It shows that the isolationists' service to peace is nil or worse. They have opposed any peace action while lolling back and hoping that everything would come out right. "Do nothing" is the price they would pay for peace—the same worthless coin they urge us to offer now.

Since the isolationists prevented our contributing toward a system of world peace, we now have the alternative of giving speedy and effective aid to Britain and her allies or a terrible war or waiting until the aggressors' Axis brings that war to our shores.

Can Hitler Invade America?

By LIVINGSTON HARTLEY

Author of "Our Regiment Lives"

Can Hitler invade America? The answer is "Yes." If that meant marching a million German soldiers directly across New York State or Texas, probably not. But if it means destruction of American cities from the air, and creation of conditions for our country which would bring about our defeat, the argument of the America First Committee on this page May 3 is false.

The easy road for Nazi attack upon the United States is via South America. Hitler can invade South America if he conquers Britain, provided only that he can control the South Atlantic. And he would not need anything like a million men to do that.

There are three points to be remembered in this connection:

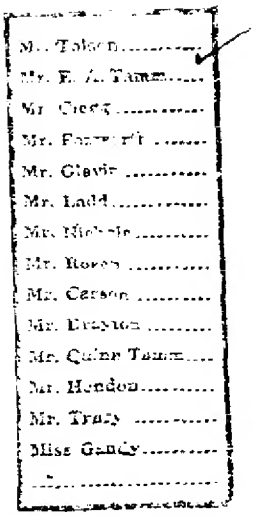
(1) Dakar and the present British fleet base at Freetown in West Africa are nearly a thousand miles nearer to South America below the bulge of Brazil than are our southernmost Caribbean bases. These will be German bases if Britain is defeated.

(2) The United States will have 18 battleships by the end of 1942. By that time the three Axis powers will have 28, not including any French units or any they might get from Britain if the Axis won. So it looks as if they would have greater bases and greater forces for control of the South Atlantic.

(3) Many experts fear that South America would go to Hitler without war if he defeated Britain. The story of Romania or Iraq might be repeated successfully. In this case Germany could support Nazi governments from West African bases more easily than we could oppose them from our Caribbean bases. If Germany controlled the South Atlantic, she could easily send over enough troops from her African bases to put pro-Nazi revolutionists in power. If that happened, we would have to do the invading or face the consequences.

If Northern Brazil, Ecuador or Colombia can be lined up with the Nazis, their bombers will have fairly easy steppingstones from Berlin to the Panama Canal. Their large bombers will be able to reach American cities. These are reasons why our Government holds that national defense means hemisphere defense. Isolationists who side-step the issue of the Monroe Doctrine pretend that it doesn't.

Even then the United States might not be invaded by a million soldiers. But under such conditions, including loss of command of the Atlantic sea routes, it was stated by the Senate Naval Affairs Committee on May 15, 1940, that "Without the power to carry the fight to the enemy, there can be no alternative other than subjugation to his wishes."



ANOTHER APPEASER

The citizens who support the America First committee have heard something of Vallandigham, the northern traitor in the civil war.

The White House secretariat dug him up out of the copperhead history of the United States for Mr. Roosevelt's use in angry comment upon Col. Lindbergh.

Mr. Roosevelt also spoke of appeasers who wanted Washington to quit in the war of independence. His secretariat did not supply him with names. The America First committee can give him one. It should go on the letterheads of the Union Now organization.

When Benedict Arnold conspired to surrender the defenses of his country to the British his self-justification was that it would be better for the countrymen to remain in colonial subjection to the British crown and parliament.

Freedom of Speech

A warning is uttered by the Miami Herald in its rebuke of commissioners of Miami and of Dade county, Florida, for denying the right of assembly and free speech to the America First committee. "They could think of no better reason than to brand the America First organization as subversive," says the Herald. "Certainly no organization which advocated arming and protection of its own country first ever was accused of being subversive." One of the commissioners, it adds, is chairman of the Miami chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies and in that capacity staged a public appearance by Douglas Fairbanks, jr., in behalf of his committee.

Could there be anything more subversive than to urge and practice violation of the first article of the bill of rights providing freedom of speech and of the press? We hear constantly and ad nauseam that in order to compete with the dictator powers the democratic states must suspend the processes of democracy. There is truth in this as it concerns ordering of our lives to produce weapons and supplies and drafting of our men. All the more reason for not encouraging those who are ever ready to "call out the guard" against those with whose opinions they disagree.

The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies had a wide opportunity to preach its doctrine. It did so and continues to do so. Many Americans believe in it. Some do not believe in it and prefer the America First committee, in general identified with isolationist views. The America First committee has the sponsorship, among others, of several United States senators. It certainly has not proposed anything contrary to the government of the United States or the principles on which it is founded.

American democracy is threatened from abroad, many Americans believe. It also is threatened at home when it is proposed to shut off a minority because a majority is strong enough in government—local, state or national.

Had this nation declared war, constitutional rights would now be suspended for the common good during the life and death struggle. So far, despite what the Florida officials may feel, no such emergency has been declared.

'Nazis' Heckle Nye Outside Freeport Rally

Distribute 'Greetings From Fuehrer' As Isolationist Is Cheered by 1,200

Freeport, May 6—With the heckling confined to outdoor distribution of derisive literature, Senator Gerald P. Nye (R., N. D.) told 1,200 cheering listeners here last night that the United States has a "50-50 chance" of remaining out of the war.

At a rally of the South Shore chapters of the America First Committee, held in the Freeport High School, the isolationist asserted that keep-out-of-war sentiment had swept the country in the last three weeks to take the play away from a "war-mongering minority pressure group."

Two men in messenger uniforms outside the school lampooned the committee in facsimile copies of telegrams addressed to "All Members of the America Last Committee," and signed, "Ribbentrop, Goebbels and Goering."

'Greetings' from Fuehrer

"Der Fuehrer," the messages read, "sends greetings and best wishes for success of your presentation of 'Alice in Wonderland' at Freeport High School tonight. With the help of Lindbergh (Winken), Wheeler (Blinken) and Nye (Nod), we are sure that your ersatz American committee will succeed in softening, dividing and confusing America, preparing it for der great world order Der Fuehrer has prepared."

Expressing belief that "even with our help England cannot win the war if winning the war means driving the Germans back across the continent," Senator Nye declared that "Washington has found out that the American people have been led as far as they can be led in aiding another nation at war."

Stop Aid to Britain

The veteran legislator, who earlier proposed before 100 students of New York University that this country stop sending aid to Britain and thus make certain its future neutrality, added that the furtherance of democracy here demands "more frankness on the part of our national leaders."

He evoked cheers by crediting the President with pleading for freedom of speech for all the world and then remarking, "except Charles A. Lindbergh," and summed up a hasty review of the last election campaign with an assertion that he now has "more respect for Franklin Roosevelt than for Wendell Willkie."

Edgar J. Treacy of Woodmere presided at the rally, and the other speakers were Henry Van Rensselaer, Princeton University student; Mrs. John Theobold, chairman of the committee's Rockville Centre Chapter, and James A. Coveney, head of the Freeport Chapter, none of whom referred to the outdoor hecklers.

AMERICA FIRST IN MIAMI.

Of course, the municipal authorities of Miami, Fla., have made themselves more than usually ridiculous by refusing permits for another appeasement bull session under the auspices of the America First (Next) Committee. The refusal is unconstitutional, and the America Nexters need only go to court to get the proper injunction papers. Then they can talk their heads off.

But the comical aspects of the squabble on both sides almost obscure the constitutional issue. The city and county authorities of the metropolis of meretricious Mazuma brand the America Nexters as "subversive," and give them the usual bum's rush meted out to Commies, I. W. W.'s and C. I. O. organizers in communities of the Miami type south of the Smith and Wesson line. To be "subversive" in Miami—well, that's the depth of something, and it's no wonder the America Nexters are boiling mad at the insult.

The city dads of Capone's city of refuge, and the county bosses of dubious Dade, probably do not understand the heinousness of applying a pet epithet like "subversive" to a body that contains so many gentlemen who believe that they have a copyright, even a divine right, to use the term on others.

Naturally enough, the America Nexters have used Phil La Follette to front for them in the controversy. The La Follette name is still worth something in a battle for free speech, even if Phil did run Glenn Frank out of the University of Wisconsin. But it would be a rare show if the America Nexters would use a more characteristic front. Names of a maverick like La Follette or a perennial Jeremiah like John Flynn are a case of misbranding when used as labels by the America Nexters.

Many of the big paying members, especially those whose contributions have not been made public, have never before been found in a free speech crusade. To several of them, free speech demonstrations have been "subversive" indeed, so to be called "subversive" themselves by a lot of carpetbagging machine politicians down in Florida swamps is simply excruciating.

However, they have wished it on themselves. One cannot play with pink and red pitch without getting red fingernails. Somehow the Miami incident seems to call for a new tale by Uncle Remus—"Bre'r Rabbit Meets a Red Tar Baby."

'Face War Problems Calmly,' Oare Tells America First

"What are the real practical dangers to this country of a victory of either side in Europe?" Robert L. Oare, attorney, asked Monday afternoon when he addressed the South Bend chapter of the America First committee at a tea in the A. A. Eastman home, 2114 Portage avenue.

"Assuming it is to our advantage to aid one side or the other, just how much aid can we give before the losses we sustain by giving the aid outweigh any gains that might accrue?" he queried.

"Do we think it possible, and if possible, is it to our benefit to reestablish the status quo of the world prior to 1933? How far is it to our advantage to undertake to police the world and pass moral judgment on the acts of other nations? What can we do to protect America vs. all hazards—the hazard of a Hitler dominated Europe is just one hazard—there are many more—both external and internal? Where, practically speaking, are we going and why are we going there?"

These questions, he asserted, are the practical problems that should be faced by America calmly. Admitting that he did not know the answers he declared that "the unfortunate thing about it is that the American public is not even discussing them."

Mr. Oare deplored the absence of logical answers to the questions which he said are usually met with an outburst of emotions and sentimentalism, but never facts and figures.

Mrs. Walter H. Baker, chapter president, presided at the business meeting. For tea, tables were decorated by white lilacs and red tulips. Mrs. H. E. Altgeld poured.

'SUBVERSIVE.'

Official discrimination in Miami, Fla., against the America First committee on the ground that it is "subversive" did not come as a surprise. Nobody knew precisely where it would happen first; but everybody knowing the nature of partisan politics expected such a manifestation somewhere. Practical politics being what it is it seemed inevitable that some local or state officials would decide that an organization opposed to the Roosevelt administration on the war issue was "subversive" and act accordingly.

Until the United States formally declares war on some nation or group of nations it will be the privilege of American citizens, organized or otherwise, to express opposition to sending young Americans to die overseas "for democracy." The America First committee is wholeheartedly endorsing national defense up to the point where it becomes a world crusade. If that is subversive doctrine the vast majority of Americans, not merely the America First committee, must be accused of a subversive attitude.

It might be a serious mistake to judge Florida or even Miami by the spurious patriotism proclaimed by the Miami politicians who are arrayed against the America First committee. Genuine Americans everywhere prefer to believe that the real spirit of Miami and Florida is expressed in the Miami Herald's editorial denunciation of the "mental hobbling" undertaken by the self-styled saviors of democracy who would destroy it at home even when the government is avoiding a formal declaration of war.

His Stand Is Quite Different

Editor The Chronicle — Sir: I have a letter from the America First Committee of California in which it says my name is listed in its files "as an enthusiastic supporter" of its movement. I wonder how many more "enthusiastic supporters" of my type it has on its lists?

I am for America first, not America last — after Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland, Norway, Belgium, Holland, France, Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece, thus far, and God knows how many more countries before they get to us.

I am for an America that rejects peace (!) terms such as those suggested recently in Japan.

I am for a United States that will live its own life, whether that be good, bad or indifferent, and not a German-Japanese dictated existence, however good in some respects that might happen to be.

Before the war started I favored a strong stand by the United States, which might have prevented the outbreak of war. And I favored immediate United States entry, which would certainly have had us farther along the road toward German defeat than we now are.

War now will be a terrible affair. I favor that rather than war later, when it will not only be yet more terrible, but also will cost this country its independence. If Germany is difficult to beat now, when we might have the resources of the British empire on our side, she will be an easy and certain victor when British aid is lacking or even lined up on the other side. I am for America first and America only.

I am not for England for England's sake, but I am for England or Russia or anything at all that will help us save this country by knocking hell out of our enemies while there is yet time.

Bund Rallies Appeasers for 'America First'

The Free American and Deutscher Weckruf und Beobachter, organ of the German-American Bund, in its issue circulating today pleads: "Join the America First committee and continue to bombard your representatives in Congress with letters and telegrams of protest."

The appeal closes a front-page editorial, which begins with reference to "the speaking campaign conducted by Col. Lindbergh, Nye, Wheeler, Walsh, Clark and others." It ties in with an appeal printed in last week's issue for messages protesting against any proposals of convoys.

Feature Lindbergh's Speech.

Other columns on the front page contain quotations from Congressman Hamilton Fish, Senator Wheeler, and Col. Lindbergh, the last featured under a seven-column banner: "We Cannot Win This War for England." The issue devotes six columns, half in English and half in German, to the text of a speech delivered by Lindbergh over a week ago, and a column and a quarter to Berlin correspondence praising the Axis-Tokio pact.

"The voices of 'democracy'," sneers an editorial inside, "have become somewhat faint lately."

The paper also prints a long address in German verse "To Albion" (England) which in translation reads in part as follows:

". . . Not for long
Will the bad times continue;
You think yourself still so safe, too,
Behind your walls of water.

"German strength will not weaken!
German mettle will not disappear!
In the depths, on the heights,
You know where to find the German soul.

"Therefore tremble, chief hangman!
Germany will not rest
Till the envy and pride of Britain
Break and fall like its masts!"

Justify Balkan Invasion.

Other contents of this issue include an editorial justifying Hitler's Balkan invasion, the standing department "From the Movement," and an item applying contemptuous terms to the United German Societies of Rochester, N. Y., because they donated their hall to a committee for Greek war relief.

This issue contains another installment of the serial, "Hitler Is Right." Like previous issues for some weeks, it carries a plug for Wilhelm Kunze's propaganda tract, "The Blood Is Holy."

A Distinction He Repudiates

Editor The Chronicle — Sir: I have a complaint against the America First Committee. On January 12, 1941, I had written to Senator Burton K. Wheeler at Washington, D. C., requesting some information regarding the statements he made at the Chicago Round Table Conference. Instead of receiving the information I had requested, the America First Committee sent me a lot of uncalled for propaganda regarding its organization and now, adding insult to injury, has proceeded to make me a member of the organization without my request.

I have to put it well before the America First Committee that I have no desire to join that organization or any other organization that will not support President Roosevelt's policy of all-out aid to world democracies fighting totalitarian aggression.

All true democratic Americans will always remember the speech Lindbergh delivered in Chicago Thursday night last week, and how his statement of "a beaten England" was greatly applauded by his audience, composed largely of Nazi, Fascist and Communist sympathizers and anti-democratic dupes.

I am returning to the committee the membership card sent me which would be an insult to any true democrat to have in his possession. SIDNEY ELLIS.

AMERICA FIRST GROUP LISTS 4 MEETINGS

Growing interest in the fight of the America First Committee to keep the United States out of war has caused an increasing demand for America First speakers, Mrs. Elizabeth Landa, chairman of the Chicago chapter's speakers' bureau, announced today.

Speakers for the group will address four meetings tomorrow afternoon and evening, she said, and listed them:

John W. Maselter will discuss "Is This Our War?" at the Archer Road Kiwanis Club luncheon at 4270 Archer av.

CLUB TO HEAR FLYNN.

The Town Hall Discussion Club, which holds a meeting every week in conjunction with the radio broadcast from Town Hall in New York, will listen to John T. Flynn on "Should Our Ships Convoy Materials to Britain?" over the air, and to local comments on the same subject by Urban G. Willis, principal of the Pullman Technical High School. The meeting starts at 7 p. m. at 7020 Jeffery av.

Philip LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, will be the chief speaker at an America First rally in Hinsdale High School gymnasium, sponsored by the Hinsdale chapter of the America First Committee. State Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill will also speak, and Howard Swann, University of Chicago physiologist, will preside.

REV. O'BRIEN TO TALK.

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor of apologetics in the graduate school of Notre Dame, will address a rally under the auspices of the Arlington Heights chapter in the Arlington Heights High School at 8 p. m.

The Evanston chapter of the America First Committee will sponsor a Negro anti-war rally Friday night in the auditorium of the Foster school in Evanston. William Robinson, prominent for his work with the Monumental Church, will speak. The meeting will open at 8 p. m. with the singing of patriotic songs.

1,200 HEAR LA FOLLETTE TONIGHT

A capacity crowd of more than 1,200 is expected to hear Philip F. La Follette at a meeting under the auspices of the Hinsdale chapter of the America First Committee in the Hinsdale High School tonight.

La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, will discuss "War or Peace." He will share the platform with State Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago physiologist, will preside.

FATHER O'BRIEN TO SPEAK.

The Rev. Father John A. O'Brien, D. D., professor of apologetics at Notre Dame, will also speak tonight, addressing a rally in the Arlington Heights High School sponsored by the America First Committee.

The committee announced, meanwhile, that it has set a goal of a million letters and telegrams from American mothers to President Roosevelt, protesting against convoys and war, and timed to reach the White House Sunday, May 11—Mother's Day.

Sunday, in addition to being Mother's Day, has been designated "S. O. S." Day—Save Our Sons Day—by the America First Committee. Leaflets telling of the day and urging mothers to write or telegraph the President have gone out to more than 700 America First chapters in the United States.

STUART REMINDS.

R. Douglas Stuart, national director of the organization, said:

"It is altogether fitting that Mother's Day should be a day upon which the mothers of this country should appeal to the President to avoid sacrificing their sons on foreign battlefields.

"The mothers of America remember the several pledges made by Mr. Roosevelt that he would not send their sons to die abroad. They remember that no longer ago than October 30, 1940, he said:

"'And while I am talking to you, fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance. I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again, and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.'"

SEVEN STEPS TO WAR

The President says AMERICA FACES ONE OF THE GREATEST CRISES IN HER HISTORY.

That is true. But who made this crisis? How did it come about?

A war began in Europe. Another one of Europe's hundred wars. People said we must stay out. Congress said we must stay out. THE PRESIDENT SAID WE MUST KEEP OUT. He promised America he would not "intervene in Europe's wars."

Then somehow we began to meddle. And we proceeded to take seven steps—SEVEN FATAL STEPS. Each of these steps we took at the demand of the President. And as we took each step he soothed us—"We must aid Britain, but not with ships or men. Follow my lead," he said, "my way is the way to stay out of war."

Here are the steps we took:

STEP ONE. We amended the neutrality act and permitted the sale of arms for cash to the Allies. But no ships. No credit.

STEP TWO. The propaganda began. The slogans appeared. "This is our war." "We are next on Hitler's list." "He will ruin our trade if he wins." "We cannot live alone in a world of dictators." "We are helpless without the British Navy." The movies, the radio and many newspapers went into action. The country swarmed with British agents. American committees were formed to pour the propaganda over our minds.

STEP THREE. The President turned over a million Army rifles to a steel company, and it sold them at a bargain to Britain. We must aid Britain—but "short of war," said the President.

STEP FOUR. The President forced conscription—an Army of 1,500,000 men. Military experts said this Army can be explained in only one way—it is for use in Europe and Africa. But the President said: "The [illegible] ing into training to form a force so strong that, by its [illegible]ence, it will keep the threat of war away from our shores."

STEP FIVE. The President handed over 50 destroyers to Britain. He said: "This will keep us out of war. My way is the way of peace." Just after that in the election, he said: "I have said it before, and I will say it again and again, your boys will not be sent to foreign wars."

STEP SIX. The Lease-Lend Bill. That was a bill to lease, lend or give any part of our arms or Navy to Britain. Senator Wheeler said: "This is a bill to enable the President to carry on undeclared war on Germany." The war groups denounced him. Senator Barkley said: "This is an anti-war bill." When the bill was passed, Mr. Herbert Agar, high official of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, which occupies the adjoining column, said:

"There has been too much lying by the supporters of the lease-lend bill in the Senate and in the press . . . As one who had taken a leading part in supporting the bill, I prefer Senator Wheeler's interpretation of it . . . Our side kept saying it was a bill to keep America out of war. That is bunk." But the American people didn't know that.

STEP SEVEN. The following proposals:

By Secretary Stimson, the demand for convoys of ships to Britain with war supplies.

By Senator Pepper, White House spokesman, the demand for an expeditionary force to Dakar, troops to Singapore, and bombers to Japan to "make a shambles out of Tokio."

IF WE DO THAT, THAT MEANS WAR!

* * * *

There are no more steps.

There is your crisis. No nation in Europe has attacked us. No nation in Asia has attacked us. Men in those countries have said harsh things about us, just as we have said harsh things about them. But in spite of that, in spite of all the promises to keep us out of war, to send aid short of war, to keep our boys at home, we are now on the BRINK OF WAR.

That is indeed a terrible crisis. But it is a crisis that was made right here in America, made by those who began to meddle in Europe's war and end by demanding that we go in. Going in means millions of men, countless millions of dollars, hundreds of thousands of dead American boys, hundreds of thousands of wounded boys, national bankruptcy, chaos—who knows—maybe revolution here when it is all over.

Is it too late to stop this? NO, IT IS NOT.

But nobody can stop it but you.

You can tell your Congressmen, your Senators, and above all your President, that you want his promise kept.

Do not be afraid to write.

Remember you are in the majority—83 per cent. of the American people are against war. This is your Government. It does not belong to the 17 per cent. who want war. Speak up. WRITE THE PRESIDENT TODAY.

YOU ALONE CAN SAVE AMERICA.

All Out Against Hitler

By DR. FRANK KINGDON, Chairman, New York Chapter.

OUR COUNTRY, THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, faces at this moment the gravest danger of its entire history. This is the number one fact we have to face, and we have to face and do something about it right now.

THE PRIMARY QUESTION is not whether Great Britain can or cannot survive. It is whether the United States shall continue to be a free country. Hitler hates us as viciously as he hates Britain. He has said so, and his stooge Mussolini has echoed him. He will use all his power—economic, political and military—to impoverish, to weaken and to destroy us if he conquers Britain and becomes master of Europe and Africa, and, with the help of Japan, controls Asia.

HE IS AT WORK AT THIS MOMENT IN THIS COUNTRY through his consuls, his Bunds, and his other agents manufacturing opinion to keep us from acting until he has defeated Britain and is ready to tackle us alone. He is making capital out of every American who talks appeasement and defeatism. He is being supported by every anti-democratic individual and organization that is seeking to divide and weaken us. Hitler is the avowed enemy of the United States. Nobody here made him our enemy; he did it himself.

WE SUPPORT BRITAIN AND HER ALLIES BECAUSE THEY ARE MAKING OUR FIGHT. What they need is the weapons with which to carry on. These we are making in increasing quantities. But the goods we make must be delivered. They are no good at the bottom of the ocean. Therefore we must act to help deliver the goods. The crucial place is the North Atlantic where the German attack is so successful that our whole future is threatened by it. The very [illegible] that this is no time to hesitate, but to do what needs to be done to assure the maximum aid to safeguard Britain against invasion and possible surrender.

THE COMMITTEE TO DEFEND AMERICA BY AIDING THE ALLIES believes that democracy must recognize its enemies, and without fear act to ensure their defeat. Hitler can be beaten. He is not a superman before whom all the nations must bow. His chief asset up to the present has been the hesitations of his opponents. America must not play into his hands by failing to make up its mind and to knit its will to defeat him.

America Spoke at the Garden

By GEORGE FIELD, Secretary, New York Chapter.

The most dramatic meeting in the history of Madison Square Garden and the greatest demonstration of the unity of the American people unfolded on Wednesday night. A true cross section of America spoke as if with one voice, the will of the American people that freedom shall triumph. Native and foreign born, rich and poor, capital and labor, Catholics, Protestants and Jews, old and young, rallied to the call of the New York Chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Wendell Willkie and Mayor LaGuardia met on a public platform for the first time and joined hands as a symbol of their devotion to the cause for which the small democracies of Europe have fought and sacrificed.

Contrast this meeting with one recently staged by the opposition to the policy of the American government. Contrast the tremendous applause and warm response at the mention of the name of the chosen leader of our people at the Garden meeting with the sullen jeers for our own leaders at the other meeting. While the loyal Americans at the Garden expressed their undying hatred for everything Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini stand for, there was not a murmur of disapproval of the dictators by the opposition. Whether they will it or not, the isolationists cannot stage a mass meeting in America without depending upon the active, small, pro-Nazi minority for their audience.

While the small minority of isolationists is preaching the doctrine of appeasement and defeat, the overwhelming majority of the American people, as was expressed at the Freedom Rally, have their hearts and their wills set for the ultimate triumph of the forces of right, of justice, and of liberty.

The rally sent its message to the President of the United States. Many who were unable to get into the Garden will want to urge the President to do all that is necessary to insure the safe delivery of the materials produced by the "Arsenal of Democracy."

SEND YOUR MESSAGE TODAY TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, TO YOUR CONGRESSMAN, AND TO YOUR SENATORS. THE MAJORITY MUST EXPRESS ITSELF, AND THIS IS THE HOUR.

ANTI-WAR GROUP SPURNS BUND AID

German Organ Prints Flynn's Letter Saying Its Readers Are 'Not Eligible' as Members

HAD URGED THEM TO JOIN

But America First Committee Declares Hitler Supporters Are Not 'Good Americans'

The America First Committee required and obtained yesterday the publication in full on the front page of The Free American and Deutscher Weckruf und Beobachter a letter rejecting the support of this organ of the German-American Bund, which has long proclaimed its devotion to the Hitler philosophy known as Nationalsozialitische Weltanschauung.

The officers of the Bund are also officers of the newspaper: G. Wilhelm Kunze, president; August Klapprott, vice president; Gustav A. Elmer, treasurer; and Willy Luedtke, secretary.

In publishing the letter, the editor of the Bund newspaper adds a printed explanation that he has "no desire to see the America First Committee suffer from the undeserved reflection cast on the Bund by the chosen minority who denounce the America First Committee as a pro-Nazi agency, with the same degree of injustice the Bund has had to endure in the past."

The letter, signed by John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York Chapter of the American First Committee, was printed in full as follows:

May 2, 1941.

Editor,
Free American and Deutscher
Weckruf und Beobachter,
175 East Eighty-fifth Street, New York City.

Dear Sir:

A copy of your newspaper has been mailed to me and my attention called to an article in which you ask your readers to join the America First Committee. Let me say to you that not only does the America First Committee not solicit their membership, but that they are not eligible for membership. The America First Committee is against America's entry into the war not because it approves of the philosophy, the government, the aggression or the methods of Hitler's Germany, but because it wishes to protect this nation from involvement in Europe's wars.

We do not want in our organization men who support the philosophy of Hitler's government, because we do not believe them to be good Americans. The very first and one of the indispensable qualifications for membership in our organization, as stated in all our literature, is that it is not open to those who are members of the Communist or Fascist parties or the German Bunds in this country, or those representing any foreign power which desires to involve us in this war.

May I suggest that you give this letter the same publicity in your newspaper as you gave to the article to which I have referred?

Yours very truly,
JOHN T. FLYNN.

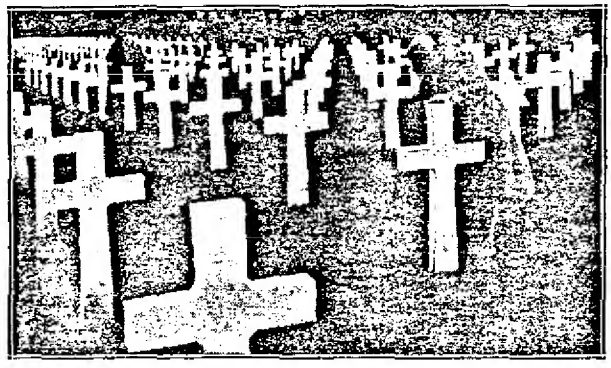
Mother's Day



By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Mothers and Fathers of America:

These are our graves. In every one of them lies the forgotten dust of what was once a part of the glorious youth and strength and hope of America.

We dug these graves, we American mothers and fathers. We were frightened by lies of our immediate danger; danger from exhausted foes four thousand miles away across the ocean! We were blinded by propaganda; propaganda that included the stirring beat of drums, the thrill of martial music, the fluttering beauty of a thousand flags. We were excited by change; new phrases, new jobs, new action everywhere.

We sent our boys away, young and strong and splendid and brave. Some stumbled back, to fumble with Braille, to limp on crutches, to see in the eyes of all women horror of their disfigurement. Useful lives, young married joy, fatherhood, success were denied them forever.

Some didn't come back. They, in their soiled and blood-stained uniforms, when their broken limbs had ceased to struggle and their smashed jaws could moan no longer, were tumbled into these graves. You and I couldn't kneel beside them, dying, couldn't put one last kiss against the thick young hair we had kissed so often. They called to us in that darkening moment, but we couldn't hear.

Hear them now. Hear them crying out to us from their thousands upon thousands of graves. Crying out that we and they were deceived. That there is no democracy where we sent them to die, no peace, no brotherhood. That until those countries follow America's way of holding her neighbors in the bonds of friendship and understanding, there never will be peace overseas. Crying out lest every generation of our boys die in turn to protect trade rights, commercial privilege, imperial power. But never democracy, for these countries know not the meaning of the word.

Hear the voices we once loved so dearly calling to us: "Never again! Never again! Never again! Never again!"

S.O.S. — SAVE OUR SONS

MOTHER'S DAY IS SUNDAY—MAY 11th

Save America's Sons for Their Mothers

The drums of war are beating louder in this nation every day. BUT WE CAN be kept out of Europe's wars if YOU and others will demand of President Roosevelt and your Senators and Congressmen that they NOT sacrifice our youth to fight the battles of other nations.

WRITE NOW TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT DEMAND THAT HE FULFILL HIS PROMISES—KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR. ALSO WRITE YOUR SENATORS AND CONGRESSMAN.

Mothers and Fathers - - Save Your Sons

Make It a Real Mother's Day for Every Mother in America

(Provided by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 8 W. 40th St., New York City)

For Defense of America

[The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies desires that there be no doubt about where it stands; about what it believes is necessary for the defense of America. The following is a new statement of the Committee's basic policy, as released to the press of the nation today.]

The hour has come when this nation must face the facts. We can no longer evade the full demands imposed upon us by Hitler's threat to our liberties.

Step by step over the past twelve months the meaning of the world conflict to our existence has become clear to the American people.

We know that free institutions cannot be secure on this continent if annihilated on every other continent. Even if we could maintain our physical security, life would be a nightmare of industrial regimentation, conscription, taxation and eventually war.

To permit Britain to go down, China to be subjugated and the blackout of civilization to occur everywhere but in the Western Hemisphere, would be not only stupid, but indicative of a complete loss of moral values. We cannot allow the defense of Great Britain and her Allies to be overwhelmed. To assure its success, we have enacted the Lease-Lend Law to convert our nation into the arsenal of democracy.

But recent events have brought home to us one further realization: Our civilization can be made secure only by engaging the full strength and power of the United States in the common cause. With all of our resources the threat to our way of life and our liberty can and will be halted.

This ultimate issue can no longer be avoided. Each week of delay aggravates our peril, brings the war closer to our shores and will take its toll of American life and property. The issue should be met now, without evasion or reservation and with prompt action. We must assume our share of burden and sacrifice in the united defense of civilization.

URGE ENACTMENT OF SIX SPECIFIC MEASURES

To this end the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies now urges that the American people call upon their President and Congress for the immediate enactment of the following measures:

1. The declaration of a full state of national emergency.

2. Employment of the naval and air forces of the nation to safeguard the lifeline between the Western Hemisphere and the British Isles. Specifically we support use of American armed forces for police, convoy or in whatever way is most effective to insure delivery of our goods to those nations resisting aggression.

3. Co-operation with Great Britain and her Allies for the employment of our united military resources to safeguard the North Atlantic, the South Atlantic and the Pacific against further Axis aggression.

4. Effective aid to China. Rigid embargo against Japan. Clear indication to Japan of our determination to prevent a conquest of Singapore and the Dutch East Indies.

5. Freezing of Axis assets. Control of subversive propaganda and sabotage emanating from Axis consulates by whatever measures may be necessary, including severence of diplomatic relations.

6. Declaration of the intention of the United States to take its full responsibility in organizing enduring peace on the basis of political, social and economic justice. The American people must now prepare themselves to face this responsibility.

This course may lead to armed conflict. From Hitler's point of view we are already enlisted with his enemies. If it does not suit his purpose he will not attack us, no matter what the provocation. If it promises to advance his cause, he will attack us whenever and however he chooses. To those who stand in the path of his designs, the choice is never war or peace. It is submission to his will or resistance to the death.

WILL UNIFY OUR WILL AND MOBILIZE OUR RESOURCES

This course may bring to us, as it has brought to other people who are enlisted in the cause of freedom, blood, toil, tears and sweat. It will unify the will and mobilize the resources of our own people. It will demand of us and win from us sacrifice and resolution. It will make possible control of sabotage and subversive conspiracies in our midst. It will hearten our Latin-American neighbors in the common defense of our American heritage. It will have a demoralizing effect upon Axis morale. It will bring unmeasured strength to the heroic defenders in the first lines of our common cause at this hour of their supreme trial. In the souls of men enduring subjugation under tyranny, it will kindle new hope and resistance.

FLYNN'S FLIMFLAM.

Members of the America First Committee, who have been quoting parts of recent Gallup Polls while ignoring other parts, are not fooling the people. The reaction of a large portion of the audience to the remarks of John T. Flynn at Thursday's Town Hall Meeting of the Air demonstrated that fact beyond any doubt. The audience forced Mr. Flynn into a very embarrassing position. It was particularly embarrassing because Mr. Flynn is justly famed as a meticulous researcher. He has repeatedly demonstrated his ability to ferret out obscure facts. He rightfully prides himself on his ability as a reporter. But, in his zeal for the cause he has espoused, he ignored facts unfavorable to that cause. Faced with the allegation that he was ignoring them, he pleaded ignorance.

Mr. Flynn quoted from the Gallup Poll of April 28 the statement that 81 per cent of the American people would vote to stay out of the war, while only 19 per cent would vote to go in. It is a tabulation no America-Firster neglects to mention these days. What they never mention, and what the audience at the Town Hall Meeting unsuccessfully sought to bring to Mr. Flynn's attention, was that the same poll showed that, while 81 per cent did not favor getting into the war, 68 per cent nevertheless favor getting into the war, if it appears certain that there was no other way to defeat the Axis Powers.

When voices from the audience demanded that Flynn cite the rest of the Gallup Poll from which he was quoting, he replied:

"I never heard of any other poll."

Are we to believe that John Flynn, with his years of experience as a reporter, read only half of the Gallup release of April 28? His reputation has been built on discovering the jokers in small-type footnotes of corporation reports, legislative hearings and such. He is a master at it. But this time his foot slipped. He never saw that half of the poll. He never heard of it—or so he asserted.

SAVE OUR SONS PLEAS TO PILE UP IN WHITE HOUSE

Substantial progress in the campaign to place a million antiwar telegrams and letters in the White House tomorrow—Mother's day—was reported yesterday by national headquarters of the America First committee. More than 200,000 women already have sent "save our sons" pleas to President Roosevelt, according to reports from 70 local chapters. Mothers everywhere are responding to urgings contained in a leaflet which declares against convoys and foreign wars, and demands that peace promises be kept. The telegrams and letters are being timed to reach the President today or tomorrow. Illinois chapters of the America First committee received more than 75,000 SOS leaflets.

Landon Hits Suppression Of Speech

TOPEKA, KAS., (AP)—Alf M. Landon said yesterday things had reached the state of affairs in the United States "that citizens cannot advocate their idea of the realities of the English and American situation without being virtually accused of treason to their country."

"The suppression of free speech is always contagious," the 1936 Republican presidential nominee declared in a telegram to Robert L. Bliss, Minneapolis, to be read at an America First Meeting last night.

Landon called "a sin and a shame" an action of authorities in Miami, Fla., last week "in suppressing an American First Committee meeting."

"While there is a divided view on the course our country should take in entering the European war there is little division on the right of a man to say what course he thinks our nation should follow," the former Kansas Governor continued.

"There also is practically unanimous support for greater intense national defense preparations and support of England with materials. That policy was agreed in in the last national election and if it is to be changed the President should submit his recommendations to the Congress."

The 69 downstate chapters and 20 Chicago units now have a total enrollment of more than 200,000 persons, compared with 64,000 at the time the lease-lend bill was passed.

With administration leaders edging the United States closer to war every day, citizens of Illinois are rallying under the banner of America First, Mrs. Fairbank said. Persons who want to keep America out of the European conflict were urged to write to the America First offices at 122 South Michigan avenue.

No Fees for Joining Group.

"There are no membership dues," she pointed out, "but contributions to carry out the work of America First will be accepted, if the person cares to give."

Two antiwar rallies sponsored by the America First committee will be held today, Mrs. Fairbanks said. Maynard C. Krueger, professor of economics at the University of Chicago, will address the Hyde Park chapter of the America First committee at 4 p. m. in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue. The Earleville chapter of the America First committee is sponsoring a rally at 3 p. m. in the Presbyterian church at Earleville. John W. Maselter will be the speaker.

Phil LaFollette to Speak At 'America First' Rally

Former Wisconsin Governor to Be Here Tomorrow Night

The first rally of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the America First Committee will be held tomorrow night at North Side Carnegie Hall with Philip F. La Follette, member of the famous Progressive Party family who served three times as Governor of Wisconsin, as the chief speaker.

Mr. La Follette's appearance here will be one of several addresses he is scheduled to make throughout the nation under the America First Committee's auspices.

He will be introduced at the North Side meeting by Dr. Judson A. Crane, of the Pitt Law School, who was one of Mr. La Follette's instructors when the latter was a law student at the University of Wisconsin.

'National Chaos' Foreseen

Presiding at the rally will be John B. Gordon, executive vice chairman of the Pittsburgh Chapter.

Concerning Mr. La Follette's Pittsburgh address, K. D. Magruder, secretary of the local America First unit, says it "comes at a time when a certain minority group in favor of our plunging completely into the current European combat is making a final attempt to swing an unwilling public into a situation which at the very best can result only in national chaos."

Open to Public

The meeting is open to the public and there is no charge for admission.

Mr. La Follette had also been scheduled to address the student body at Carnegie Tech tomorrow afternoon but that talk was cancelled under rules laid down by the Faculty Executive Board.

PHILIP LA FOLLETTE
"America First" rally speaker.

The board had agreed to Mr. LaFollette's appearance on condition that a speaker advocating aid to Britain also appeared on the same program. Such a speaker could not be obtained so the program at Tech was called off.

WHEN IT COMES TO SMEARING.

America First leaders have objected to being called appeasers. They resent it when the support they are receiving from the Bund and other subversive elements is mentioned. They say this is "smearing" them. And the implication is that they would like to conduct the debate on a high plane, without name-calling.

But what happens in their meetings? There, name-calling is by no means frowned upon. Senator Wheeler can suggest, without reprimand or interruption, that our Army and Navy may refuse to obey their commander in chief. Cries of "Traitor" can be heard when Mr. Roosevelt's name is mentioned, and the President of the United States can be booed.

Only last Wednesday, at an America First rally, the national vice-chairman of the committee, who has herself complained of "smear tactics against present and prospective members of the organization," had these things to say of Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state under President Hoover, and now Secretary of War under President Roosevelt:

"Does Mr. Stimson propose to violate the Constitution of the United States? . . . Does he propose to violate the Neutrality Act of 1939? . . . Does he propose to fight in China to protect a few investments? . . . Mr. Stimson may declare war, but he will not fight it. . . . Wrong Horse Harry is to have his war if the people permit. . . . He has been itching for war for a long time. . . . Stimson is a 'scared old man.'"

Smearing? Oh, no. Just arguing—just debating—in the America First manner.

Wars to End Wars

The Congressional Record lists the following "high-minded, idealistic" wars that have been fought abroad since only the beginning of the last century—

1934 Italy takes Abyssinia.
1937 Japan develops an "incident" in China. Sino-Japanese war.
1938 Germany takes Austria and Czecho-Slovakia.
1939 Present war starts.

—and the interventionists now tell us, if we fight just one more war, it will end all their wars!

Do you want to entangle America in another of these wars? The interventionists promised us in 1917 that we were fighting "to end war." If we fight to "end war" in 1941, in ten or twenty years we may have to fight to "end war" again.

You Can Stop the War-Makers!

Write or wire the President and your Senators and Congressman today. DEMAND THAT THEY KEEP THE PRESIDENT'S SACRED PLEDGES TO KEEP THIS COUNTRY OUT OF WAR.

Get others—your friends, relatives, associates in business—to write or wire now. YOUR LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS WILL BE HEEDED.

You must act now . . . before it is too late. Your own and your children's heritage—your American way of life—may be at stake.

(Provided by the Committee [illegible] America by Aiding the Allies, [illegible] York City)

This picture gives you a glimpse of a section of the vast audience which packed Madison Square Garden last Wednesday night and overflowed thousands into the streets. The mightiest roar of approval given by that audience was the voice of the American majority revealing what is now its most intense concern. That roar came when Wendell Willkie said:

"We want those cargoes protected and we want those cargoes protected at once and we want less talk and more action."

What Mr. Willkie believes and what the cheering thousands at the Garden believed is that the job of the United States is to see that what is produced for use on our first line of defense is not sent to the bottom of the sea.

If you believe that there must be less talk and more action, go into action today by wiring or writing the President and your Congressmen to use our navy to protect shipment of war materials to Britain.

Seven Steps to Slavery

If we would know what are the [illegible] steps not only to war but to defeat and slavery, we need only remember the steps taken by countries which have already become victims of Hitler's aggression.

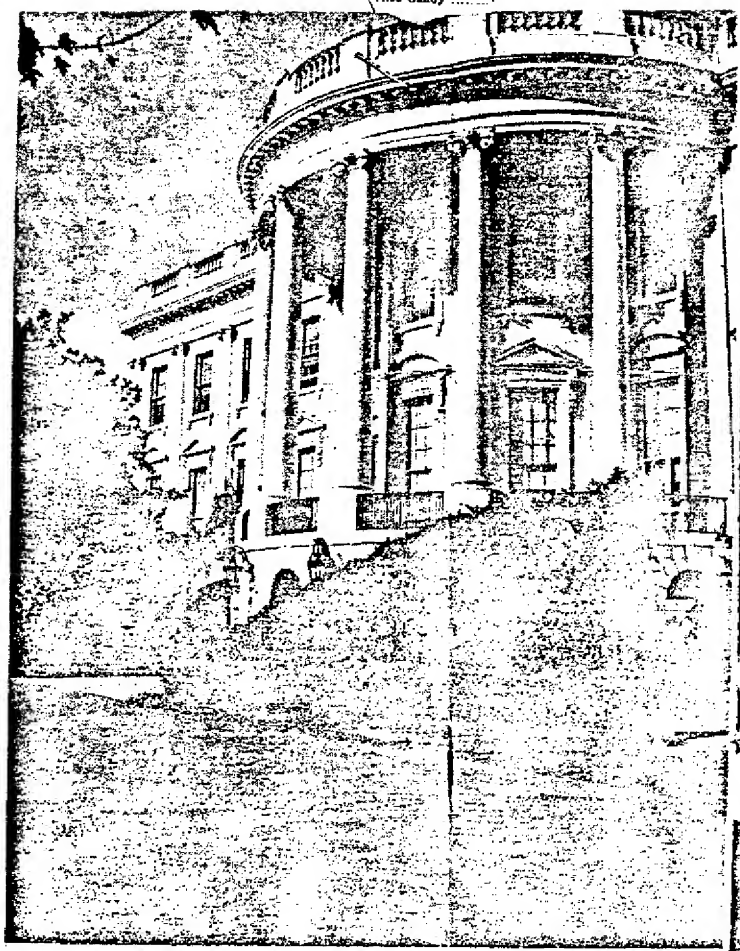
Here are the seven steps to slavery: steps taken by those [illegible] still stands, fighting with [illegible] [illegible] is no man's [illegible] it is history. And yet there [illegible] in America that would have our country go the same path.

In the adjoining column [illegible] things were enumerated as "steps to war." They were [illegible] entirely different path than those which we know did lead to [illegible] these steps were for aid to the Allies, as our first line of [illegible] they had not been taken, not only the fourteen other countries [illegible] Britain probably would have been defeated by now and Hitler [illegible] would be on their way to Latin America. And had we not taken [illegible] these "steps"—conscription—we would be left waiting for the [illegible] to reach us, with a pitiful little army (far smaller than the [illegible] of the Little Democracies) for our defense.

If these seven steps had not been taken, we would have been sitting idle while war rushed at us. All the country has done toward holding from our shores the whirlwind that [illegible] devastated Europe is summed up in these seven steps. But the America First Committee says they should not have been taken.

The final step to which the America First Committee objects is use of our navy to assure material aid to Britain. Not to take this step would be to surrender the last bulwark between Hitler and America. To fail to take this step would put us in greater peril than the abandonment of Czechoslovakia put France and Britain.

WILL HE DO IT ?



THE PEOPLE'S WHITE HOUSE

HERE, in this historic mansion, sits a man who holds in his hands the weightiest, the most momentous decision in American history.

Last October 30th, President Roosevelt made a speech in Boston. When he spoke the situation in Europe was much as it is now. France had been beaten. Norway, Holland, Denmark had been overrun. Britain was being mercilessly attacked from the air. The future looked dark for her. Yet at that moment, in those circumstances, President Roosevelt said in that speech:

> "While I am talking to you, fathers and mothers, I GIVE YOU ONE MORE ASSURANCE. I have said this before and I will say it AGAIN and AGAIN and AGAIN, your boys will not be sent into any foreign wars."

The American people have trusted this solemn pledge. Today 81 per cent. of those people expect this pledge to be fulfilled. But a small group of war-minded men are working day and night to drag the country into war. In spite of the warnings that we are not prepared to fight a war in Europe, Asia and Africa; in spite of the opposition of the American people, they are willing to hurl the nation into war even though by so doing they sacrifice our economic system, pour out the blood of our sons, bankrupt the nation and destroy Franklin D. Roosevelt himself.

They say to the President: "TO HELL WITH YOUR PLEDGE TO THE PEOPLE"! They call on him to convoy ships to the war zones; to occupy Singapore; to declare a national emergency in order to silence the opposition to war. They ask him to break his solemn promise to the nation. WILL HE DO IT?

Will the President listen to the war-minded men who flock about him? Or will he listen to the voices of the hundred million people against war which come up to him from the farms, the workshops, the homes of America?

These hundred million men and women say to him: "You have said to us, Mr. President, that you will not send our boys to fight in any foreign war; that you will say it again and again and again. Now, Mr. President, in this solemn hour of decision, we ask you to SAY IT AGAIN. The men who urge you to lead us to disaster tell us they believe you will break your word to us. We say we do not believe that monstrous slur upon your honor."

The handful of war-minded men are powerful. They have access to the White House. They can talk directly to the President. You, the People, cannot all crowd into the White House. But you have the power of numbers. You are the majority. This is your country. THE WHITE HOUSE IS THE PEOPLE'S HOUSE. You can enter it by means of a letter or a post-card or a telegram.

Write to the President. Your letter will be received, noted, classified, counted—AND HEEDED. WRITE TODAY. WRITE TO PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT—just a simple line protesting against war, against convoys, against any steps that lead to war. Tell him you remember his promise and that you rely on it. Tell him you remember that he said: "Convoys mean shooting and shooting means war." This is something YOU can do TODAY to save your country.

ay It Again, Mr. President!

This is a picture of President Roosevelt addressing a great ence at Boston, October 30, 1940.

What is he saying to these voters?

Here are his words:

"And while I am talking to you, fathers and mothers, I give you one more assurance.

"I have said this before, but I shall say it AGAIN and AGAIN, and AGAIN, your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong that, by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

"Yes, the purpose of our defense is defense."

These words were spoken after France had fallen, Denmark, and, Belgium, Norway and Poland had been invaded, and land was under aerial bombardment.

IF THESE WORDS WERE RIGHT THEN, THEY EQUALLY RIGHT TODAY.

President Roosevelt will speak again to the nation on 27.

The American people are waiting to hear what he will say. Those mothers and fathers to whom he made that pledge, say im:

What Is Ours to Choose?

The United States has not the choice between peace and war. We do not have this alternative any more than Czecho-Slovakia, Poland or Scandinavia had it.

As things are today this is a matter that lies in the hands of Hitler and he has made entirely clear what are his intentions.

In this column last week, Livingston Hartley wrote that Hitler could invade the United States, and told how. The highest military experts agree that the United States is not impregnable.

No one disputes that Hitler and Mussolini have huge Fifth Columns in Latin America. We know something about the immense Fifth Columns the Axis has in the United States. These cost vast sums and require skilled Nazi and Fascist agents, who could be used for much needed service to the Axis elsewhere.

The Axis is not spending money and men on this hemisphere for the fun of it. These Fifth Columns are here for the same purposes that Hitler's Fifth Columns were in Scandinavia and the Low Countries. The United States is in the same peril that these conquered countries were in a little over a year ago.

We Do Have One Important Choice.

But we do have a choice that Norway, Belgium and Holland did not have. We can choose between waiting for Hitler to come to America and helping to stop him on the other side of the Atlantic.

We can choose to wait until Hitler makes America a battlefield—the modern kind of a battlefield where children and women and the aged are defenseless against death from the air. Or we can choose to do what is needful in helping to end the war by defeating the barbarians on the fields they have already made bloody thousands of miles away.

We can make the choice. We have already made it. By Presidential proclamation, by action of the Congress, by the clear demand of an overwhelming majority of the American people we have declared our purpose to give aid in the battle to stop Hitler where it is now being fought. This we have done in the determination that American soil shall not be drenched with blood. But having made this choice, we have yet to determine that it shall be fully effective.

For an army command to hesitate about making the effort necessary to keep a line open from the base of supplies to the front line of defense would be criminal. It is as bad for us to hesitate about doing what is necessary to keep the supply line open from America, the Arsenal of Democracy, to the front line of America's defense, where Hitler must be stopped.

Mr. Hoover's Fallacy.

In his speech Sunday night, Herbert Hoover counselled doing nothing to protect the supply line.

We have all due respect for Mr. Hoover's sincerity and his abilities in fields where he has achieved success. But his counsel should not be heeded on a matter of this kind. Herbert Hoover was President when Japan invaded Manchuria. His Secretary of State, our present Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, wanted the United States to participate in joint international action to stop Japanese aggression. If this had been done, probably the world would have suffered none of the wars that followed. But Mr. Hoover would have none of it.

Herbert Hoover could have led in action ten years ago which might well have meant enduring peace for the world. He did not. Would it be safe to listen to his advice on how to escape the consequences of the calamity he could have done much to prevent?

Let Britain have every available American weapon, regardless of temporary unpreparedness at home, Mr. Hoover advised. He said that in eight or ten months American industry will be capable of arming both Britain and America to the teeth. But do not, he advised, use the American Navy to assure delivery of these weapons.

Weapons are Useful Only When Delivered.

How can we let Britain have the weapons, if the supply line is not kept open? It would be as sensible to attempt to save a man from starvation by cooking food for him and leaving it untasted in the kitchen.

The best weapons in the world will not stop Hitler when piled up on American docks or when lying at the bottom of the Atlantic.

What good will it do if we are able to arm ourselves and Britain to the teeth in eight or ten months if Britain has by that time been defeated? And Hitler may be victorious before eight months have passed if we do not deliver the goods to Britain now.

If the Battle of the Atlantic is lost, Britain will be lost. If Britain is lost, we will have to defend ourselves against Hitler in America. If the American Navy is not used, the Battle of the Atlantic probably will be lost.

There is no time to waste!

We should act this week!

You must lose no time in wiring or writing the President, your Senators, your Representative, that you support use of convoys to keep the lifeline open.

We ARE Winning The Fight for Peace

This is a call to the 81 per cent. of the American people who are firmly opposed to our going into a foreign war.

It is a call for courage and for action.

We are winning this fight against war. The voices of the plain American people are being heard in Washington. Our President, our Senators and our Representatives are beginning to realize now that we Americans stand unyieldingly for full National Defense . . . but that we refuse to fight again for foreign causes on foreign battlefields.

For the first time, AMERICANS FIRST are taking the initiative in this issue of War or Peace. And they are turning the tide against convoys, against war, toward peace and unassailable security at home.

The next few weeks may be the most decisive in our history. They may determine the fate of America for generations to come . . . whether we are to sacrifice hundreds of thousands of lives on foreign soil, disrupt our economy through billions of dollars in new taxes, submit to a dictatorship at home, possibly only for the duration of the war, but probably for a century . . . or whether we are to strengthen ourselves, through peace, to a position of such power that no nation will ever dare attack us.

In this critical period you of the 81 per cent. must make your influence felt.

You who elected President Roosevelt or voted for Wendell Willkie on their promises to keep America out of war, must insist that these sacred pledges be kept with the people.

You who have accepted Aid-to-Britain and the Lend-Lease Bill on the assurances of your Senators and Representatives that such acts will keep us out of war, must insist now that they prove their assurances by taking no further steps to bring us into war.

We have followed our President and our elected Representatives down the line until now . . . and now the cry is being raised in Washington for convoys to the war zones.

CONVOYS MEAN SHOOTING AND SHOOTING MEANS WAR.

To our President who has pledged peace, and to our Senators and Representatives who have assured us they will lead us to peace, we must say now:

NO CONVOYS AND NO WAR!

This fight for peace can be won only with your help.

Write or wire President Roosevelt at the White House, Washington, D. C.

Write or wire your Senators at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Write or wire your Congressman at the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Get others to write or wire.

DO NOT BE AFRAID TO WRITE. The President and Legislators in Washington are your elected representatives. They will not lead the nation to war if we of the majority prove to them that we are determined in our opposition to foreign war.

You must act now. In the critical weeks that lie ahead, YOU MUST MAKE YOUR OPPOSITION KNOWN.

A little sacrifice of your time and a few cents in stamps . . . NOW . . . may save hundreds of thousands of American lives and billions of dollars in taxes later.

THIS IS YOUR FIGHT TO SAVE AMERICA.

You cannot believe that a free America could exist when encircled by a world ruled by Hitler.

Therefore, to keep America free, write or wire the President, your Senators and your Representative that you favor use of our Navy to convoy goods to Britain.

If Hitler Wins

What the Axis Gets if We Let Britain Fail

HITLER GETS:

1. Permanent possession of key Atlantic bases and islands: Iceland, Gibraltar, Dakar, the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands.
2. Legal claim on French, Dutch and British possessions—Martinique, key base in West Indies; Dutch Islands in Caribbean, the Guianas, British and French islands in Pacific south of Hawaii.
3. Undisputed mastery of Europe, Africa and Southwest Asia.
4. Control of the remainder of the French fleet and probably some of the British fleet.
5. Possession of great shipbuilding, armament and aircraft works in Great Britain, France, Holland and Czecho-Slovakia—enough to assure the Axis permanent advantage in naval and military armament over the United States.
6. A hundred and fifty million slaves who must work for him or starve.

JAPAN GETS:

7. Final victory over China.
8. Singapore and Dutch East Indies—and therefore control of the United States rubber supply.
9. A position that assures success of attack on Australia if she wishes to do so.
10. Possibly the Philippines.

—in short, Germany, Italy and Japan get unlimited raw materials for their war machines—steel, oil, copper, rubber, etc.—and the power to shut off the United States from rubber.

And This Is What the Map Will Look Like!

America First Leader Assailed as Fascist

John B. Hughes, radio commentator, participating last night in an American Citizenship week program at Veterans' Auditorium, charged that the America First Committee in Northern California has been "penetrated" by subversive, pro-Fascist elements.

"A notorious Fascist, a supporter of the Silver Shirts, and a rabid anti-Semite, recently was appointed chairman of an important America First chapter in Northern California," Hughes asserted.

KNOWN TO F.B.I.

"This man's support of the Goebbels propaganda machine is known to the FBI and other Federal agencies. In the same community another chapter of America First recently elected as its leader a man who pleaded guilty to a Federal offense.

"I am sure that the legitimate and sincere element in America First and other isolationist organizations doesn't want to make bed-fellows of such people. And as one loyal American to another, I call upon them now to purge their ranks of such individuals."

Hughes was the final speaker at the meeting, at which a "progress report" on national defense provided the theme. Other speakers included Stuart R. Ward, Major Herbert T. Hunt, Captain C. S. McDowell, U. S. N., ret., and Alexander Watchman.

WILL JOIN IN TRIBUTE

San Francisco's jurists and attorneys will join this morning in tribute to the right of trial by jury, as a phase of the city's second annual observance of American Citizenship week.

When Federal, Superior and Municipal Courts open at 10 o'clock, attorneys will rise to preface proceedings with a tribute to one of the salient prerogatives of American citizenship.

At noon, the Barristers' Club and Queen's Bench will meet in joint session at a "Trial By Jury Day" luncheon at 241 Pine street. Professor Max Radin of the University of California will speak on "Historical Development of Trial by Jury."

The week-long celebration, planned under direction of Mayor Rossi's Citizens' Committee, embraces numerous activities emphasizing the precious quality of democratic liberties—freedom of worship, freedom of speech and assembly, and freedom of press and radio.

A SPECIAL PROGRAM

The Parents' Assembly of the Visitacion Valley Community Center, will hear a special citizenship week program at its luncheon today at the Center.

Raymond Schoen of the Barristers' Club, will speak at 2 p. m. today before the Glen Park Parent-Teachers' Association. And the interfraternal council will bring together representatives of the city's many fraternal bodies in a citizenship smoker at 7 p. m.

John B. Molinari, secretary of the Columbus Civic Club, will speak on "Trial by Jury" at the third of the week's public school forums. Tonight's forum, open to the public, will be held at the Glen Park School.

Superior Judge Thomas M. Foley was the principal speaker at the Citizenship week luncheon of the San Francisco Section, Council of Jewish Women, yesterday.

LA FOLLETTE AT PEACE RALLY

Brooklyn Meeting Urges President Keep Pledge.

More than 4,000 persons who attended a rally of the Brooklyn chapter of the America First Committee called upon President Roosevelt today to abide by his campaign promises and keep the United States out of war.

Unanimously they adopted a resolution to this effect at the meeting last night at the Brooklyn Academy of Music at which former Gov. Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin and other speakers assailed administration steps as leading the nation into the European conflict.

Mr. LaFollette referred to Secretary of the Navy Knox and Secretary of War Stimson as "two Republican jokers running wild in the New Deal" and accused them of trying to frighten the American people into a war the people do not want.

Other speakers included Representative James Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, Kathleen Norris and John T. Flynn. The Rev. Dr. Gideon Olson, pastor of the Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Third avenue and Pacific street, Brooklyn, was chairman. The Rev. Edward Lodge Curran, president of the International Catholic Truth Society, delivered the invocation.

Mr. LaFollette held that Secretary Stimson's recent speech was downright defeatism, containing, instead of an expression of faith in America an admission of weakness and failure—an America so afraid that we must "hide behind the British fleet and hope that it will save our skins for us."

He declared the President should eliminate from his cabinet those who publicly urge him to break his pledge to the nation.

"He should at once make clear to our people and to Britain that he intends to keep our aid short of war," Mr. LaFollette asserted. "He should bring our ships back to our side of the Atlantic and thus abandon this attempt to take us to the war. The time has come for Americans to get their bearings, to find out exactly where they stand right now."

Text of Resolution .

The resolution was introduced by Edward I. Cullen and read: "This audience hopes that it is your earnest wish to keep America free of war unless there is an act of aggression by any foreign Power or any provocation that would justify the republic in taking up arms to defend itself.

"We believe that we have no right to provoke a foreign Power to war with the United States by acts of aggression upon our part. We beg you in the name of God and humanity and the unity of the United States to keep the pledges of your election campaign."

A detail of 325 police under Deputy Inspector Louis Schilling were assigned to the meeting, but no disorder was reported.

Why The War-Makers Smear Lindbergh

Bishop Manning, Episcopal Bishop of New York, demands immediate entry into the war. A number of writers, poets and preachers also clamor for war at once.

War is a FACT—a grim and terrible fact. But those who want war—"war to the death," "war to the uttermost"—refuse to treat it as a fact. They are full of rosy, glamorous thoughts of high crusading. In the pulpit and at the typewriter it is "high crusading." On the battlefield it is a FACT.

This explains the furious anger at Charles A. Lindbergh. He insists that America face the facts. And now he finds two powerful supporters for what he has been saying. Lindbergh said:

> "We are not in a position to wage a successful war in Europe under present conditions. We ourselves are not prepared, and even if we were, where would we send our soldiers to fight? How are we to force a landing on the European continent against the prepared positions of the strongest military power in the world?"

Then all the war-poets, war-columnists, war-preachers cried out: "Defeatist."

But now comes former President Herbert Hoover. He told the American people Sunday night:

> "America is yet unprepared even for adequate defense . . . our industry will not be prepared for another eight or ten months to produce enough of the tools of war to equip our own defense, and at the same time supply the needs of Britain. We do not have men sufficiently equipped, and planes, tanks and guns to meet 300,000 Germans, to say nothing of over 5,000,000 of them . . . we have no substantial air force of the type being used in this war."

And so the pulpit and the typewriter go into a gallant eruption against Hoover, calling him a defeatist. Facts annoy such men.

But now along comes another witness for Lindbergh, who corroborates much that Lindbergh has said. He is one who knows. He is Hanson Baldwin, military authority of the New York Times. Mr. Baldwin has written a book—"United We Stand"—which every man should read. The war-clerics, the war-poets, the war-columnists will not like it. It is too full of facts—GRIM, SOBERING FACTS.

Like Lindbergh and Hoover, this eminent military writer says we must begin by facing facts. Like Lindbergh, he reminds us that the French were not told how weak they were, and that the British were told they were winning the blockade. Like Lindbergh, he recalls that the French were disunited and the British united, but unenthusiastic about the war. And like Lindbergh, he says we cannot carry on a successful war unless 90 per cent. of our people are ENTHUSIASTIC for the war.

He says we have no plan of defense either for immediate war or long-range preparations. He warns that such a war might be a painfully long affair. He laments that "we are offered a cheap and bloodless participation," but THAT IT CANNOT BE. If we go to war, he tells us, we must put armies on the Continent and perhaps in Europe, Asia, Africa. And he repeats what Lindbergh and every authority knows—that "to land forces upon a hostile shore in the face of the enemy is the most difficult operation in military art." If England can hold her island to use as a base we may be able to aid her to the extent of a stalemate. But if she is forced to abandon its defense after we come in we cannot help her.

> We have not got the air force. We will not have enough planes until the middle of 1942—if we are lucky. Our Army well into 1942 will be merely "an aggregation of half-trained and half-equipped youths."

America Speaks

Herbert Bayard Swope Jr., Youth:

"Many of us would like to be indifferent to what is happening. We can't do it. If war comes, it is the youth who fight it. And when peace follows, it is the youth who live it.

"What we young people have to do is to put our minds and our hearts to the problem and decide what kind of a world we want, and how best that world can be realized. But we have to do this soon so that we can be as certain and strong in our minds and hearts as we are in our physical defenses.

"The freedom of choosing our kind of world is ours only so long as England stands. What concerns us is what she stands against. In that, the United States and England are united."

Luigi Antonini, Labor Leader:

"If Hitler is defeated, there will again be a Norway, a Holland, a Belgium, a Denmark, a France, a Czecho-Slovakia, a Poland, a Romania, a Greece, a Yugoslavia.

"If Hitler is defeated, there will also be an Italy, because Italy is now an occupied country and this occupation will end only with the defeat of Hitler.

"If Hitler is defeated, there will be freedom for the men and women of labor, and there will be freedom for all religions, for all creeds, for all races.

"From the point of view of labor's vital interests, and as a duty to our enslaved brothers of European labor, as well as for American labor's safety, and as an American of Italian descent, I firmly stand as Garibaldi would stand, for all aid to the English people and to all democracies, so that our mortal enemy, Hitler, shall not become our master."

Virginia C. Gildersleeve, Educator:

"Teachers and students want more keenly than anyone else to keep the flood of Nazi domination away from our shores. We have seen what Nazi rule does to universities and schools. We do not want to lose our best teachers and scholars; to have our books burned; to be forced to teach a creed of prejudice and hate. We want to remain free to seek the truth and teach it.

"The British and their allies are holding back this Nazi flood, giving us time to arm. Help them stand firm. Send weapons to them more swiftly and more surely!"

Ward Cheney, Business Man:

"American busi[illegible] whether it is important to them AS HUMAN BEI[illegible] form of life tolerable to decent peo[illegible]ld. Well, who is going to beat him? I used to [illegible]peans could do it alone. Now obviously only with full help [illegible] the job be done at all. May American business men not forget the black lesson of what happened to the German business men who tried to play ball with Hitler."

Dr. William M. Agar, Catholic:

"Catholicism cannot live in a world ruled by Hitler. Witness the Poles, the Austrians, the other Catholics of Europe. Large numbers are dead, many are in concentration camps, others live furtively, fearful of what the next day may bring—because they are Catholics. Their churches are desecrated, their priests insulted, their right to worship denied.

"How long can we escape if Hitler wins? Is it not time to back our President's every action toward uprooting that tyranny? The way may be hard but our duty is clear. We face the task of saving our Country and protecting our Faith."

Dr. Israel Goldstein, Rabbi:

"If our aid cannot reach England effectively without convoys, then convoys should be used. It is not an easy decision to come to, but it is an inescapable one.

"I join, therefore, in the view expressed by the Inter-Faith Committee for Aid to the Democracies representing leading Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churchmen throughout the land: 'To use whatever means are adequate to guarantee that the lifeline between Britain and America be kept open, and that the goods now being produced in this country in ever-increasing amounts, actually reach Britain safely.' "

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, Pro[illegible]tant:

"What do sincere Americ[illegible]t enough to hold public office and command publ[illegible] tell us that England's battle is not [illegible]t our Government in spending bil[illegible]rming?

"Hitler's Germany is the common [illegible] of all nations and all values. Against Hitlerism and for our very lives and our most precious liberties we are building up a colossal war machine. England is our friend and to help her is to help ourselves. 'All out' aid and aid now to Britain is our best defense. Let us have a maximum of production, and a maximum of delivery by whatever means necessary, and the war need not reach our shores."

Brooklyn America First Rally Reveals Christian Front Ties

Philip F. LaFollette, former Governor of Wisconsin, may be putting the finger on someone in the above photo bu isn't the Christian Front. In his speech, he charged the "War Party" with trying "to save yesterday" by lead the U. S. A. to foreign battlefields, then invited FDR repeat his campaign pledges of no foreign wars. La Follette did not mention that the Rev. Edward L. Curran, oldtime Christian Front advocate, gave the invo tion that started the rally off. More than 3000 jammed the Academy of Music last night to hear not only Mr. Cur and Mr. LaFollette but also John T. Flynn, Mrs. Kathleen Norris and Representative James E. Van Zandt of Penn vania.

INCREASE ANTI-WAR LETTERS NOW! PLEA OF AMERICA FIRST

An appeal for a greater volume of anti-war letters to President Roosevelt was made yesterday by the Illinois America First committee. With cries growing louder daily for our immediate entry into the war, the committee emphasized that it is vital that peaceminded citizens make themselves heard.

Bulletins calling for "hundreds of thousands" of letters were mailed to 90 Illinois chapters of the peace organization.

"The 17 per cent who want war are highly organized," the bulletin warned America First members. "They can sound just like the 83 per cent opposed to war unless you speak now. Speak now and often while you are still free to do so. The issue now is peace or war."

Contributions and memberships are being accepted at America First headquarters, 122 South Michigan avenue.

CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE

5-15-41

The People's Voice

The America First Committee wound up its full-page advertisements on Tuesday, calling upon the public to bow to Hitlerism by opposing convoy, with the somewhat curious statement that it "has no list of wealthy backers." That it has no list—or at any rate no complete list for publication—the Herald Tribune is well aware, having sought to secure one as a matter of public interest; but it scarcely occurred to us that this was a fact to be proud of. As for the wealthy backers, we can only observe that in the partial list with which we were furnished of those who had contributed $100 or more to its funds, there were the names of many persons whose position in the community is by no means that of paupers.

The implication which America First has consistently sought to spread, in these advertisements and elsewhere, that it is sole spokesman for a vast majority of little men and women as against a mythical "handful of war-minded men" in seats of power, would be a great deal more convincing were it not for the committee's marked reticence about all its financial arrangements—a reticence not found among opposing groups in this field. But one hardly requires financial statistics. The vast majority of Americans are literate and vocal persons who do not need self-appointed committees to give them a voice; and they have shown over and over again, by letters, votes, polls and action that they do not share the timid defeatism and self-doubt which America First seeks to put in their mouths.

Can Hitler Invade America?

Hanson W. Baldwin, Military Expert of the New York Times, says NO!

(The following paragraphs are taken from Mr. Baldwin's latest book, "United We Stand," published by Whittlesey House, New York. Every American, who wants to know the truth about our National Defense problems, should read this important book.)

"From the days of Horatius to the present, the fear of invasion has been used both legitimately and spuriously to arouse the public to the necessity of adequate defense. Most men will fight for their homes, their churches, their own land. The threat of invasion, the threat to security is therefore a definite challenge and one that any country that has not lost its virility is certain to meet. But too often the challenge is spurious; too often men or groups with ulterior purposes cry 'Wolf, wolf!' when there is no wolf; too often it has had to be used to arouse the people to other dangers that are no less real, if far less immediate.

FALSE INVASION THREATS HERE

"It has been so used in this country in the recent past. The author does not know a single responsible military or naval officer or government official who believes that this nation is threatened by direct invasion, even if Germany wins. Consider the difficulties:

"No potentially hostile European or Asiatic power possesses territory or bases in this hemisphere.

"The Atlantic is 3,000 miles across; from 4,000 to 7,000 miles of Pacific waters intervene between the continental United States and Asia.

"Invaders can reach this country only by ship or by plane; armies cannot swim to victory.

"No single power except Britain has a navy equal to our own. No two other powers are building as many combat ships as we are.

"A fleet is much more effective near its own bases. Its combat effectiveness and fighting power decreases the farther it gets from its own bases and the closer it approaches the enemy bases. Its effective combat operating range is generally reckoned at between 1,500 and 3,000 miles. This is not an absolute figure, however, and increases or decreases depending on the cruising radii of the ships, geographical factors, lines of communication, availability of mobile floating drydocks, etc. . . .

LINDBERGH WAS RIGHT

"By air, the problem is even more difficult, and Col. Lindbergh, as all military observers know, was perfectly correct when he said that the United States could not be invaded by air. President Roosevelt, in his famous geography-lesson speech, used air power as the big bad wolf apparently in order to shock the country into the need for defense. But his similes should not have been taken literally; his distance figures were misinterpreted. Air power has not yet shown its ability to hold territory or to consolidate conquests. It is a terrible engine of destruction, but alone it could not be the instrument of victory against America . . .

"Isolated bombing raids, submarine operations off our coast, hit-and-run surface raiders—yes, all these are possible, even probable, if war comes, but that is not invasion, and these things cannot conquer America.

"What of an army transported to these shores?

"It cannot reach here by swimming; it cannot reach here by air; the only carrier with capacity enough to transport the soldiers and the stuff of war is the vulnerable cargo ship. If our defensive forces on sea and in the air were sufficiently alert no army could ever reach these shores."

The Air We Breathe

By ROBERT [illegible]ES

Who speaks for the isolationists? Their favorite organ is the Chicago Tribune. Is the publisher of this paper the seventh son of a seventh son? Let's see. At the darkest hour of the Union cause in the Civil War, Joseph Medill of Chicago, grandfather of the present publisher, wrote: "Everybody feels that the war is drawing to a disastrous and disgraceful termination. Money cannot be supplied much longer to a beaten, demoralized and home-sick army." That was early in [illegible]63, but on July 4th, 1863, Grant entered Vicksburg in triumph. Why assume that Mr. Medill's grandson is right about Britain today?

Hitler Says He Can Divide Us

Consider another leading isolationist—Col. Lindbergh. Not long ago the Colonel shook the dust of the United States from his feet, and retired to England. He repaid the courtesy of the English by accepting a medal from the Nazis whom he has always admired extravagantly. Now that he is back, most of us entertain the same grave doubts about Col. Lindbergh's perspective and balance which we had when he quit these shores.

Hitler boasts that he can divide the United States without landing a soldier. He says we are ripe for revolution. All that is needed is to stir up racial and economic hatreds. If he combed the country, he could find no better pawn than Lindbergh, and the Colonel would not even know he was being used.

The claim of isolationists that we can live happily within our own borders without foreign trade, without the respect of our neighbors, without constant insults and indignities from the dictators, without shrinking into a frightened, apologetic, contemptible third-class nation, is baseless.

Another delusion is that the annihilation of space by airplane, radio and other inventions necessarily draws the scattered peoples of the earth together in a closer communion of interest and sympathy. The fact is that unless aims are similar, closer association may increase animosities just as it does within families.

The isolationists reason thus: Three thousand miles of ocean protect us from invasion. Propaganda can't hurt us. The collapse of Britain would be sad but not fatal. Soft soap will keep the Latin-Americans friendly. Japan is a big bluff. Hitler rides the wave of the future, and there is no struggling against it. We can get along nicely with him if the right people represent us. The right people are the isolationists.

"Mein Kampf" the Bible of Lunacy

A character in the Bible expressed the pious wish that his enemy would write a book. Hitler has written a book, and no one who reads it can doubt the world-wide aims of his madness. "Mein Kampf" is the very bible of lunacy. In his ravings and bellowings over the radio we can hear the death rattle of civilization.

Don't Take Menace Seriously Enough

There is no use invoking the memory of such splendid Germans as Luther, Kant, Brahms and Beethoven, because the heroes of the German people today are Hitler, Himmler, Goering and Goebbels. The stock which gave us Muhlenberg, Carl Schurz, Wendell Willkie, and millions of others who are the very backbone of our nation, must still survive in Germany, and there must still be underground passages there like the ancient catacombs where the spirit of liberty and worship is kept alive. It would be folly, however, to underestimate the number of misguided young people who are crowding the older generation out of the picture.

After decades of debate, Lincoln forced the issue on the great question whether a nation half slave and half free can survive. Fifty years later, Woodrow Wilson pointed out with prophetic insight that a world half totalitarian and half democratic could not survive. Never forget that the basic aim of Nazis, Fascists and Communists is world domination!

Are we ready to stamp out the [illegible] which stands between us and the extinction of democracy? Most [illegible] do not take this menace seriously. They grasp it intellectually, but they are not as yet willing to make the supreme effort and sacrifice without which victory for democracy is impossible.

Democracy is handicapped in fighting dictatorships because its processes are slow, because we depend upon education rather than force to get results, and because while we take polls of public opinion, and reason with the opposition, the dictators suppress them and have ground out the implements of war.

Under Hitler no one has to be conciliated, because everybody has to work for him. There is no question of law, precedent, tradition, procedure, or discussion. The dictator commands and the slaves obey. Whoever interrupts this process is liquidated.

Hitler promises the same things which we claim are the fruits of democracy, and says that he will produce them quicker and cheaper without our checks and balances, but in the event of a Nazi victory, the advantages promised by Hitler will be poisonous because of the atmosphere in which they will be exercised.

All the comforts, discoveries and gadgets of this mechanical age, all outward, material things and, of course, all things of the spirit, are as ashes if they cannot be enjoyed in an atmosphere of freedom. That is why Hitler has nothing to offer to liberty loving people, why we don't want HIS kind of efficiency even if he can make it work among his own people, and why we cannot allow him to succeed against Britain.

"The Yanks Are Not Coming"

William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, is one of America's most distinguished editors. He organized the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

On Dec. 23, 1940, Mr. White wrote a letter to Roy W. Howard of the Scripps-Howard newspapers. Here are the most important paragraphs in that letter:

"The story is floating around that I and our committee are in favor of sending convoys with British ships or our own ships, a silly thing, for convoys, unless you shoot, are confetti, and it's not time to shoot, now or ever.

"Still one more charge: It is not true, even remotely, that we favor repealing that portion of the neutrality law which forbids American ships to carry contraband of war into the war zone. That would be leading us to war and our organization and I personally are deeply opposed to it.

William Allen White

"If I was making a motto for the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, it would be 'The Yanks are not coming.' We could not equip them, transport them, and feed them if they went. We have less than 200,000 ready, and we need them worse at home on the assembly belt than we need them in Europe.

"War would defeat the first and last end for which our committee is organized to defend America by aiding Britain, and would bring on a 30-year conflict. The 'Yanks are not coming,' because if they went to war they would lose our cause. That is my firm, unshakable belief . . . (They called Lindbergh a defeatist for saying this.—ED.)

"Moreover, I have sat in all our executive councils, all our policy-making committees, and I have never heard war as an alternative objective seriously discussed by any official group of our organization at any time. America will go to war or stay out of war not because we make Hitler mad, but only when, as and if Hitler thinks he can win the war. And so long as we arm behind the British fleet and England fights while we are, Hitler never will think he can win the war unless he starts war to slow down aid to Britain.

"ANY ORGANIZATION THAT IS FOR WAR IS SERIOUSLY PLAYING HITLER'S GAME."

For saying this, Mr. White was called an "American Laval" by one of the foremost members of the committee. Shortly thereafter, Mr. White resigned as chairman, but became honorary chairman.

We refer his advice to the American people and to the committee he once directed. That committee—the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies—now openly advocates convoys and sending the Yanks to Singapore and Asia.

AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE, New York Chapter.

STOP HITLER OVER THERE

The America First Commitee argue from the simplest basis of self-interest. But even here their arguments are wrong.

They believe that this country can choose between peace and conflict.

But Hitler has made it clear to any one who can read or listen that he will not give us this choice. He has made it very clear that he intends to conquer the world, and that the United States and South America are last on the list.

Hitler has already started doing to us what he has done to all of his intended victims before they were aware of it. He undermines his victims and softens them up before he attacks them. Through his Fifth Column in this country and South America he is now trying to undermine us. He had the nerve to boast that taking America would be an inside job.

Over There Or Over Here?

Our choice is not between peace and conflict; that would be easy. Our choice is between co-operating with the British and their allies to stop Hitler over there, or doing nothing and having to stop Hitler over here all by ourselves. The one practical question Americans should ask themselves is how can we get the most safety for the least risk. The answer is clear.

If we stop Hitler over there, Europe and Asia are the battlegrounds. We may be able to get by with sending the Allies a tremendous amount of military equipment and using the American Navy. It will mean some shooting, but we will have allies and the shooting will be a long way off.

But on the other hand, if we let Germany, Italy and Japan take the rest of the world—and now Joe Stalin seems anxious to cut himself in on the deal—we will be up against five-sixths of the world ruled by the gangsters. Just to illustrate how much stronger they would be than ourselves, they would have seven times the shipbuilding facilities that we would have. They would control certain necessary raw materials, could tell us that we can have these raw materials on their terms.

Not so long ago, the German Minister of Agriculture said that when Hitler had established his system of slavery in Europe, the American worker, with his high wages, couldn't compete, and when Hitler had caused forty million unemployed in the United States, Roosevelt would have to beg Hitler for terms.

Why Choose The Hard Way?

In order to protect the Western Hemisphere, this country would have to maintain a huge Army with every person undergoing military service; it would have to spend many times more then for military preparation than it is spending now, and the freedom that we know today would be sacrificed in perpetual warfare to protect the Western Hemisphere. The chances are that we couldn't do it.

The American isolationists, like the isolationists of France and Britain and other countries in Europe that are now defeated, want to do things the hard way. The French thought it would be too much trouble to defend their security in Czecho-Slovakia, so they counted on the Maginot Line. And now where is France? The British thought the English Channel would save them, and they woke up almost too late. But the ostriches in the America First Committee learn nothing and forget nothing, and so they would have us regard the Atlantic Ocean as our Maginot Line.

If Lincoln were alive today he would say to the ostriches in the isolationist camp, "A world cannot exist five-sixths slave and one-sixth free," meaning that the United States could not be an island of freedom in a world of slavery.

We notice that the America First Committee announces its Madison Square Garden meeting. We believe that leaders of the America First Committee are sincere patriots. But unfortunately a man is known by the company he keeps. If you attend their meetings you will find Bundists, Nazis, Communists and every subversive screwball you can think of. When you hear an audience hiss Roosevelt and Churchill, boo Great Britain, and by comparative silence applaud Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin, you can be sure you are in the wrong crowd.

THIS COUNTRY HAS DECIDED ON ALL-OUT AID TO BRITAIN AND HER ALLIES

We cannot give that aid unless we "deliver the goods to Britain now."

Write or Wire the President, your Senators and your Representatives that you are for CONVOYS!

America First Group Demands Vote on War

Demand that Congress grant American citizens the right to vote on the question—"War, or No War?" —was voiced and approved last night at the organization meeting of George Washington Chapter of the America First Committee.

The meeting was held in American Hall, Sixteenth and Valencia streets. The chapter includes residents of the Central Mission district.

S. L. Brogden, director of organizations for America First in Northern California, presented the issue of a war referendum.

"In our democracy," said Brogden, "the government is permanent and the administration is temporary. We must stand by our government at all times, but this does not prevent us advising our administration; in fact, as good citizens we have the right to criticize our administration."

FOR THE RECORD: William Griffin's orange-covered New York Enquirer ran a piece yesterday to the effect that the Rev. Edward Lodge Curran, president of the International Catholic Truth Society, was out to get John T. Flynn's job as head of the America First Committee's New York chapter. According to the Enquirer, the Rev. Mr. Curran's feelings were hurt when Mr. Flynn tried to withdraw an invitation to the priest to deliver the invocation at an American First rally in Brooklyn. The Rev. Mr. Curran, who insisted on going ahead with the invocation, is going to take the matter up personally with Gen. Robert E. Wood in Chicago, said the Enquirer.

America First Head Queried On Dr. Curran

Flynn Committee Asked for Showdown on Pro-Fascist, Anti-Semitic Support

The America First Committee, which earlier this month publicly rejected support from the German-American Bund, was bewildered yesterday as pressure increased from within and without for a showdown on the backing the committee has been receiving from pro-Fascist and anti-Semitic groups.

The problem of what to do about these groups, it was learned yesterday, has bothered officers of the committee for some time, but did not come to a head until last week, when John T. Flynn, chairman of the committee's New York chapter, tried unsuccessfully to persuade the Rev. Dr. Edward Lodge Curran, president of the International Catholic Truth Society and alleged supporter of Brooklyn's Christian Front, to refrain from speaking at a committee rally at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn last Wednesday night. The Brooklyn priest appeared amid muuch applause and delivered the invocation despite Mr. Flynn's request.

Since the Wednesday night meeting, which was attended by a large enough group of anti-Semites to make easy pickings for a number of hawkers of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlan's "Social Justice," Dr. Curran has left New York for a speaking tour in the West. Persons close to him say that he will stop in Chicago long enough to speak to Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the America First Committee, about ousting Mr. Flynn.

Flynn Withholds Answer

Mr. Flynn, confined to his home in Queens yesterday by a cold, refused to comment on the Curran episode. Meanwhile the situation was further aggravated by a letter sent to Mr. Flynn yesterday by the Fight for Freedom Committee, 1270 Sixth Avenue, asking whether the America First Committee, in view of its rejection of German-American Bund support, would also "repudiate the support given you by the Rev. Edward Lodge Curran and those associated with him in the Coughlin movement?" This, too, Mr. Flynn refused to comment on, saying that he would withhold his answer until he has time to study the letter when he returns to his office today.

Others associated with the committee here expressed the hope that the query might finally bring a showdown on the anti-Semitic question so that the committee can hold what is expected to be its biggest meeting, at Madison Square Garden this Friday night, without the stigma of suspicion of giving pro-Fascist groups a free ride on its bandwagon.

The Fight for Freedom Committee query to Mr. Flynn, which was addressed to the America First Committee office at 515 Madison Avenue, was signed by two members of the committee, Michael Williams, former editor of the Catholic magazine, "The Commonweal," and Dr. William M. Agar, visiting lecturer in theology at Columbia University.

Their letter, citing the America First Committee's repudiation of Bund, said that many people took that as an indication that "your committee would dissociate itself from all un-American elements."

Cite Dr. Curran's Presence

"It is, therefore, with considerable surprise and disappointment," the letter said, "that we note from the newspapers that the Rev. Edward Lodge Curran was asked to deliver the invocation at the May 14 meeting of the America First Committee held in Brooklyn. It is inconceivable to us that your committee does not know that Rev. Mr. Curran acts as an unofficial 'gauleiter' for the Brooklyn associates of Father Charles E. Coughlin.

The letter stated that Dr. Curran's picture was published on the front cover of "Social Justice" on July 31, 1939; that he made a radio address answering critics of Father Coughlin and that he spoke at several meetings at which known Christian Front leaders spoke. It concluded: "I think there is no reasonable d[oubt] of the fact that Rev. Edward L[odge] Curran is in sympathy with t[he] anti-Semitic, pro-Fascist activiti[es] the Christian Front and that[,] fact, he has been one of those [who] have given it an aura of relig[ious] respectability."

America First Unit Leader Arrives to Arrange Rally

EARL C. JEFFREY
. . . here to stay the way.

Jeffrey Sees Growth Of Support for His Anti-War Group

Terming war trend developments in Washington as the "greatest betrayal of the American people," tall and engaging Earl C. Jeffrey came to Rochester yesterday to lay the groundwork for organization of a local unit of the America First Committee.

Specifically, Jeffrey is seeking sponsors for a mass meeting here Saturday night which will be addressed by Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho, successor to the late Senator Borah. Between now and then he hopes to have formed the nucleus of an active group of America First supporters.

National director of state organization for the America First Committee, Jeffrey, a Chicago advertising man, was outspoken in his enthusiasm for the manner in which he said the American public is rallying to the committee's fight. He listed four cardinal principles on which the committee's action is based:

1. Build an impregnable defense for America.

2. Keep out of foreign wars.

3. Give humanitarian aid to all countries—"the people ought to be fed if we can feed them, and if we can do so without becoming involved in war."

4. Give what we can to aid Great Britain, what we can give without impairing our own national defense.

Jeffrey confesses himself to having waged a strong battle between his emotions and his mind before he became actively associated in the America First movement. Of English descent, Jeffrey said he is certain England cannot be beaten by Germany, and added that most of the America First Committee believed the same and favored aid to Britain.

"For a time," he said, "I fought between strong emotional desires and the facts presented by my mind. Like many other people I was all for going out and licking the daylights out of Hitler—and I still want to see him licked—but when I considered the fact that if America enters this war it will simply mean prolonging the war to perhaps a 40-year struggle, I decided to give my full support to the America First Committee.

"The big issue today involves the very cornerstone of democracy—whether a candidate can go into office with definite promises to the people that he will do one thing, and then deliberately do something else. Both Willkie and Roosevelt in their campaigns promised us peace. Now they are deliberately taking us into war, and the actions of the Washington administration today constitute the greatest betrayal of the American people.

"But we are winning the battle. The common man now realizes that we are right and is rallying to us in ever increasing numbers. A long drawn out war can only mean great repercussions in post-war depressions, inflation and piling up of troubles that the people cannot stand.

"The tremendous effect on Washington of the huge amount of support given us at mass meetings throughout the country undoubtedly resulted in the cancelation of President Roosevelt's speech scheduled for May 14. If he had a stomach ache, we gave him that stomach ache. We don't know what he intended to say, but there were substantial rumors that he was either to declare an emergency or announce use of American convoys. Now he is going to speak May 27. You can be assured there will be no announcement of convoys, and he will not declare an emergency, but he will try something foxy. Whatever it is, we expect it will be one more step toward war."

Ranks Open to All

Jeffrey said the ranks of the America First movement were open to all, with four exceptions. It bars Communists, Fascists, Nazis and pacifists.

"If America gets into the war, we'll go out of business and support the government," he said, "for we are for America first. But we want to make sure beforehand that before we act in any direction, that action will be for the best interests of America."

During his overnight stay here, before leaving for Binghamton and Albany where similar mass meetings are being arranged, Jeffrey planned to confer with Dr. George H. Whipple of the University of Rochester School of Medicine, who is a member of the America First Committee, and other leaders.

Lindbergh Denied Philadelphia Hall

Philadelphia, May 20 (AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh, scheduled to speak here May 29 under the sponsorship of the America First Committee, today was denied the use of the Academy of Music.

John Frederick Lewis, president of the Academy Corporation, said he refused to rent the Academy to the committee "because the audiences Lindbergh attracts are Communists and Nazis and enemies of our American form of government."

"The heads of America First Committee are not objectionable," he said; "they're isolationists and idealists, but the mobs that come to hear Lindbergh are lovers of Germany and haters of democracy."

Philadelphia Hall Barred to Lindy

PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—If Col. Charles A. Lindbergh makes his scheduled speech against American participation in the war for the America First Committee in Philadelphia May 29 he will not make it in the historic Academy of Music.

John Frederick Lewis, president of the Academy Corporation, said tonight the corporation had refused to rent the hall to the committee for the speech. He added:

"The audiences Lindbergh attracts are Communists, Nazis, and enemies of our American form of government. The heads of America First are isolationists and idealists, but the mobs that come to hear Lindbergh are lovers of Germany and haters of democracy."

Plea to President Hour Plan Hailed

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the America First Committee, reported today that the group's plans for a "Plea to the President Hour" Friday have met with enthusiastic response.

Many Illinois units have prepared letters and telegrams to be sent the President during the mass peace hour from noon to 1 p. m., Mrs. Fairbank said.

Bulletins were sent Monday to the ninety-three units in the state urging members to join in the mass posting of letters and wires to the President before his scheduled "fireside chat" May 27.

If the deluge of protests abates the President may be led to believe public sentiment has changed toward war, Mrs. Fairbank warned today as she urged members to press the fight against pro-war interests.

America First Ruling Deferred

Court Waits Information On Internal Dispute

Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick today continued once again the hearing of the America First committee suit, setting the new date as June 30.

He did this because national headquarters in Chicago had not yet sent any word as to which faction of the local group it recognizes, the John R. Osmun group or the H. Harrington Stoll group. Judge Merrick repeated today that he intends to follow the decision of the national office.

Internal troubles of the local America First committee came to light when Mr. Osmun filed suit against Mr. Stoll and other former officers of America First, who, he said, were deposed from office and then formed a group for their own, called the America First Committee of Ohio, Inc.

The suit contends the new organization has refused to give up more than $2000 it had collected, has declined to give up cards and records and is trading on the name of the original group.

Before the case was continued today, the attorney for the Stoll side dropped the contention that the Stoll group was the original one, said they never intended to contend that. Mr. Osmun is a former assistant U.S. attorney. Mr. Stoll lives at 2061 Carabel avenue, Lakewood.

Meanwhile, Mr. Stoll has organized the United States of America Foundation, which he terms a national organization with headquarters at Hotel Carter.

Objectives of the group, he says, are to preserve the independent sovereignty of the United States of America.

One of the aims of the body, as pointed out in literature distributed by Mr. Stoll, is to "discover and eliminate all subversive activities in this country now."

Osmun Wins Tilt In America First

Judge Merrick Rules In Factional Fight

The long, heated battle between the Stoll and Osmun factions of the America First Committee's local chapter came to an end today as Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick ruled for the Osmun group.

His decision came after the national board of America First sent a resolution from Chicago that it had held a special meeting and decided that the Osmun group should be recognized.

The controversy came into court after the action led by John B. Osmun, former assistant U. S. attorney, seized control of the local chapter, ousting H. Harrington Stoll, 2061 Delaware avenue, Lakewood, who had been chairman.

Mr. Stoll then went to Columbus and incorporated under a new name, America First Committee of Ohio. Mr. Osmun brought suit charging the Stoll group was trading on the original name, and declined to give up membership lists and other records of the original group and had refused to turn over money it had collected.

Judge Merrick's ruling gave the Osmun group exclusive use of the America First name and the exclusive right to collect money under the name. He also ordered the Stoll group to return the records. It could not be learned whether the Stoll group would continue to function separately.

Lindy Will Talk In Philadelphia Despite Rebuff

PHILADELPHIA, May 21 (UP). —Despite a series of rebuffs, including refusal to use the Academy of Music, the America First Committee went ahead with plans today to have Charles A. Lindbergh talk at a meeting here May 29.

The committee negotiated for the use of the arena, a sporting center, after John Frederick Lewis, president of the Academy Corporation, told the group:

"The real reason for refusing to rent the Academy to you is that we don't care to rent it for such a purpose."

SCORES FOLLOWERS.

"The 'front' of the America First Committee here, as in other cities, consists of sincere American isolationists," Lewis said later. "But the audience such meetings attract is made up largely of lovers of Germany and haters of England—in other words, enemies of our form of government."

The committee also was shunned by an advertising agency, which refused advertising in trolleys and buses.

Likewise, a request to buy radio time was turned down by stations WCAU and KYW.

SEE DISBANDING OF AMERICA FIRST IN CASE OF WAR

If America becomes engaged in a "shooting war," disbandment of the America First Committee, it is understood here, will be proposed by its chairman, Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, retired—whether or not a declaration of war is involved.

Concern of Gen. Wood and other officers of the committee over the course ahead is reported in the current Newsweek in the "Periscope" department.

"America First Committee leaders are worried over the problem of just what constitutes war," the magazine says. "Gen. Wood and most other heads of the organization, while still hoping to help keep the country out of war, have long planned to enlist 100 per cent in the war effort whenever America becomes a belligerent. They plan to disband the organization and take steps that leave no doubt as to its leaders' essential patriotism. The trouble is that they can't decide just when this move should be made, fearing that the United States will just ease into war by successive steps—more patrols, 'state of emergency,' escorts, limited naval co-operation, etc."

It is understood that the magazine's summary represents the quandary in which leaders of the committee have found themselves.

Want Tickets to America First Rally? See German-American Bund or Joe McWilliams

By Helen Canavarro

The America First Committee has announced that tickets for its rally against war, featuring Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden, may be obtained at its headquarters, 515 Madison Ave. and 44 Court St., Brooklyn. Reserved seats are $1, boxes $2 and balcony seats are free.

The Madison Square Garden box office will sell $1 and $2 seats tomorrow, if there are any left, and will also give out free tickets.

However, there are two other places where you can get tickets for the rally—for nothing:

¶ The American Destiny Party, 1591 2nd Ave.

I know. Yesterday, I got eight free tickets from the Bund office and six from the Destiny party. All with smiles.

The Brooklyn Tablet

My first try, the Brooklyn Tablet, 1 Hanson Pl., Brooklyn, was unsuccessful but the information clerk there was helpful enough to direct me to the Brooklyn office of the America First Committee.

The International Catholic Truth Society, 407 Bergen St., Brooklyn, also had none. But clerks there spent a good ten minutes telephoning around to see if they could get some.

At the New York State Economic Society, 505 Fifth Ave., my request for tickets met with raised eyebrows and a quick disclaimer of any connection with America First.

But that was the last of my disappointments. The next two places had plenty of tickets.

At 178 E. 85th St. is a grimy, unprepossessing building which is headquarters of the German-American Bund, the German-American Business League Inc. and the newspaper The Free American and Deutscher Weckruf und Beobachter.

The directory in the dark entrance hall said one flight up for all three. The arrow pointing to the elevator didn't look as if it meant business, so I walked up the wide noisy stairs. A door indicated that the three German-American groups share the same office.

'Guten Morgen!'

Two attractive maedchen were busy at their desks when I walked into the badly lit office.

I said "Hello," and one girl said "Guten morgen?"

"Have you any tickets for the Lindbergh talk Friday night?"

"Wie viel wollen Sie?" she asked.

I said I wanted quite a lot. She fished around in her desk, produced two, looked upset and called to someone in the back room.

Quickly, out came a smiling stout bald German in his shirt sleeves, with a cheerful greeting and a stack of tickets.

He also insisted on asking in German how many I wanted and when I said "Six, if you early." And he bowed me out with still more smiles.

Down a few blocks, at 1591 Second Ave. is the office of Joe McWilliams and the home of the American Destiny Party.

Over the street entrance door it says simply Club Haus. This is also the entrance to a bar and restaurant the menu for which features weiner schnitzel.

Up a wide flight of dark stairs again and I was right at the American Destiny Party. No activity here, either. Just an empty meeting room, in back, an uncarpeted, unshaded front office room filled with nondescript office furniture. A lone secretary, the large, housewifely type, sat at a tiny switchboard.

"I was told I might get some tickets for the America First Friday night rally here."

"Why certainly," she said. "How many?" She had no accent.

"I think six." And it was a deal.

She took the six tickets from a stack of 75 or more, put them in a neat bare envelope and advised me to get there early. I could also have more later, if I wanted.

America First Garden Rally To Be Guarded

More than 500 police were assigned to guard the scheduled rally of the America First Committee at Madison Square Garden tonight as anti-Nazi groups threatened to picket the meeting.

Efforts to picket the Manhattan Center the night of April 23, when the America First Committee held its first big New York mass meeting, were broken up.

This time the Social Democratic Youth organization has announced that more than 250 draft-age youths will conduct mass picketing outside the Garden.

REFUSED PERMIT.

F. H. Peter Cusick, executive secretary of Fight for Freedom, said the police had refused permission to place a picket line across the street from the Garden.

Following this Ulric Bell, for the Fight for Freedom, telegraphed Mayor LaGuardia in Washington, asking that this order be reversed.

Speakers at the rally will include Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, and Kathleen Norris, novelist.

A nationwide radio hookup, said to be the largest on record in the present debate on whether America shall enter the war, has been arranged.

TO BROADCAST TALKS.

Locally, Lindbergh's speech will be broadcast from 9:30 to 10 p. m. over Station WOR. Senator Wheeler's speech will be broadcast by Radio Stations WEAF and WABC from 10:30 to 11 p. m.

John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York committee of America

American First Committee headquarters today, have been sold.

The garden has a capacity of 26,000. Indications were that this would be entirely filled, and that there would be an overflow crowd. Police said they were preparing to handle an outside crowd of at least 10,000.

Platforms have been erected on 49th st., oueside the Garden, and both Lindbergh and Sen. Wheeler are expected to appear there to make brief speeches.

LOUDSPEAKERS SET UP.

Loud speakers also will broadcast the speeches inside the garden to the crowds outside.

The America First Committee has announced a long list of sponsors of the rally. Among them are Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, Mrs. Philip J. Roosevelt, Sinclair Lewis, Mrs. Bruce Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson, Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt D. Barnes, Jr., Senator D. Worth Clarke, the Most Rev. The Wrong Way

However vigorously we disagree with the views of Charles A. Lindbergh and the America First Committee, there is a distinctly unhealthy twist to developments in Philadelphia in connection with Mr. Lindbergh's scheduled speech there on May 29. He has been denied the use of the historic Academy of Music, chiefly on the ground that his followers are haters of democracy. Moreover, the committee's bid for paid trolley and bus displays has been turned down because the subject is "too controversial." And two local radio stations claim to have found a provision in the broadcasters' code which obliges them to refuse advertising time.

All of this, we submit, is entirely satisfactory to cynical Nazi propagandists. They will exploit it as proof that this country's vaunted freedom of speech is just another shibboleth to be discarded at will. Time and again, when evidence of suppression over here has cropped up in the news, the Nazis have made the most of it. They lampooned the controversy over Marian Anderson's right to sing in Constitution Hall. They caricatured the smear tactics used in the last Presidential campaign. And they have consistently sneered at the wrangling over Mr. Lindbergh's views, and at sporadic efforts to silence him, as proof of democracy's incipient breakdown.

No, the antidote for the ostrich-like isolation which the America First people advocate is definitely not censorship. Let them have their say—if there are those who will listen. Not to permit it comes under the heading of flattering the enemy by imitation.

CITIZENS SEND MASS— APPEAL AGAINST WAR TODAY TO PRESIDENT

An appeal to Americans who still value their liberty to participate in the Plea to the President hour from noon to 1 p. m. today was made last night by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman of the America First committee.

More than 250,000 members of 125 units in Illinois and Iowa have promised to send to Washington during that hour wires and letters protesting against any involvement in the war and against any steps which might lead the United States into the conflict.

"We urge all Americans who still value their liberty," said Mrs. Fairbank, "to join us in setting aside this one hour to write or wire President Roosevelt protesting our entry into another foreign war and also to tactics which might involve us in war. If you oppose our entry into the fight take part in this campaign to let the President know how the majority of the people feel. Help us to keep out of the war."

GRAFTON TRACES ISOLATIONISM TO HATRED FOR F. D. R.

Finds America First Here Rallying Point for New Deal Foes.

BY SAMUEL GRAFTON.

(New York Evening Post Correspondent.)

(This, the second of Mr. Grafton's articles written from Chicago, is printed by permission of the New York Evening Post.)

Chicago, May 23.—Young R Douglas Stuart, 25-year-old organizer and executive head of America First, is intensely proud that so many "practical" men are in his organization, manufacturers, engineers, people who "get things done."

I had wondered, while waiting in the anteroom of America First's unpretentious offices in the Board of Trade Building, just how clear in its own mind this organization of practical men could be. For on the anteroom table lies a pamphlet by Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, in which it is said that England cannot lose and therefore convoys are unnecessary. Beside this lies a pamphlet by Mr. Charles A. Lindbergh, in which it is said that England cannot win and therefore convoys are useless.

Young Stuart, utterly sincere, speaks glowingly of the need for improving our democracy at home. He wants a better break, economically, for the American people. "We want to preserve and extend our ideals here. We would lose them in a war." He takes Gen. Wood's line, that we must stay out and give our people an improved version of New Deal reforms.

Detest New Deal Reforms.

Yet the practical men, whom he admires, almost universally detest those reforms; they have flocked to isolation as one of the ways to stop the relentless march of change.

Take the hard core of the most resolute Roosevelt haters in Chicago, take the Chicago Tribune circle of influence, take Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, once a prominent Democrat, who campaigned for Landon in 1936, "animated," she says, "by a desire to defeat Roosevelt," take Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, an eloquent anti-Roosevelt ian, and you have the hard core of articulate Chicago isolation.

Stuart, in his national America First office, talks of reform; Gen. Hammond, for the local America First office; of which he is chairman, speaks of his detestation of recent reforms. This is Chicago isolation, confused, tormented, determined not to save an England which is bound to lose and bound to win, as the only means of both promoting and stopping reform at home.

Don't get me wrong. I went to see Gen. Hammond at his plant in suburban Harvey; it was one of the finest and most illuminating experiences in my life.

Impatient with the World.

Here, in his small office at the Whiting Corporation, sits something like the traditional old-time American shipmaster, tough, hard, almost frighteningly able; a man who makes machines that cut through two-inch-thick slabs of steel like cheese, a man whose mind resents the foreign tangle and would like to cut through that, too, in the same buzz-saw style. I am afraid Gen. Hammond is rather impatient with the world.

He looks like a general. He was once a great Michigan football man; he looks like that, too. He does not seem to like to sit at his desk in his second-floor office amid his cluster of worksheds. We walked through the plant, talking. He does not merely stand off and point to a machine tool; he almost nuzzles it, getting close to the cooling spray and the jumping metal chips. "Look at those chips!" he says. "Look at them fly off." To the machine attendant: "Is this hard work?"

"No, sir. All automatic. Only work is putting the bar steel in to be cut."

Boasts of Accident Record.

"See!" The general's arm swings about, pointing to the high roof, the huge windows. "Nice place to work, isn't it? If we didn't have this war nonsense, we could build more units like this, give people a decent place to work. That's what they want." He points to a sign which boasts that the plant has now passed more than 800 days without a lost-time accident. "That's morale! See?"

"General, don't you think that, in spite of isolation, we've got to do something about Martinique, Dakar——"

"Appoint a nonpartisan board of military experts. See? Let them study it like a problem. If they say we have to do something, why do it. If not, not. Let's stop shooting off our mouths and talking about grabbing stuff, just like Hitler."

"Should the President appoint the board?"

"No. Congress. Get it out of politics. If the board says we need Martinique, buy the blank, blank place."

"And about help to England——"

"Sure, if we can spare it, give it to them. I'd feel better about them if they'd paid their debts. Let the same board say what we ought to do about England. I want to see her win, but not any hurt to us."

His mind tackles the problem. "If we are preparing to fight Germany, then aid to England makes sense. If we want peace, then it's the bunk. Tell you what we need."

Urges a Selling Campaign.

His mind rips into the thing again: "We ought to put on a good selling campaign about this country as the best place to live in in the whole world. Let's get some propaganda up about individual initiative and private ownership of property. That's what made us a nation of go-getters. We can compete with anybody in trade. We're not ready for war. If we cut out the war nonsense, we can put our money into machines for peaceful production, cut costs, give everybody jobs without this blank, blank leaf-raking. We could subsidize our whole foreign trade cheaper than war."

Thus the Whiting Corporation, at the height of our crisis, stands like a fortress of steel, fighting off the changing, eroding tides of time. Chicago business is younger than business in the East. It has a certain elemental Carl Sandburgian something about it. It does not believe that the world has changed. It does not believe we can't return to the normal way of life. Its isolation flows from its determination that there shall be no change.

It is utterly sincere. It can contemplate no future unlike the past. Something has changed in the world, but the roaring plants outside the city just don't believe it. They sense touch of Roosevelt in everything that ails the world. But these plants are not all of Chicago, by any means, and later I shall show how the city breaks into clusters and groups on the issue.

In response to many requests, The News today resumes publication of America's Battle Page, presenting opposite views on the role this nation should take in World War II. You Can Prove The U. S. Wants Peace

As this Battle Page re-opens its columns, the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE can bring glad tidings to the people.

At last the great sovereign voice of the people in a democracy has been heard. For over a year a small minority—from 15 to 20 per cent. of our population—has been pushing us hotheadedly into war. They have not said they were pushing us to war. They have said they were trying to save us from war. They were telling us they wished to aid Britain, but without war. But now there are no more steps to take without war, and so they cannot deceive us longer. Now they clamor for war. AND SUDDENLY THE PEOPLE HAVE SEEN THE AWFUL TRUTH WHICH HAD BEEN HIDDEN FROM THEM BEFORE.

The stage was all set last week by the war-makers to put us over the precipice. But all over the land something happened. The farmer out on his Western farm got out his stub of a pencil and wrote to the White House: "You promised to keep my boy out of war. I am looking to you to keep that promise." On postcards, on scraps of paper, on the letterheads of great business houses, on perfumed stationery, the letters poured in on the White House and the Senators and Congressmen from every corner of the land.

This is still a democracy, and the voice of the people was raised against war—raised so loud and so strong that the march to war was halted . . . halted at least for the moment.

Now tonight—Friday night—AMERICA FIRST calls on all citizens of New York to assemble in Madison Square Garden to register one mighty protest here in this very heart of the war movement—a protest that no servant of the people dare misunderstand. Come in such numbers that Washington will know where New York stands.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, the great leader of the fight against war in the Senate, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose brave telling of the truth has aroused the people, come to us after a swing around the country. They have given themselves without stint. Now you can do your part tonight. Go to Madison Square Garden.

Remember, it is not just a case of going to hear great and historic speeches. This is your chance to do your bit by making this meeting a great and impressive demonstration against war and for your country.

National Death

The Saturday Evening Post has been one of the chief isolationist journals of this country. This week it abandoned its opposition to our national policy of all-out aid to the Allies to stop Hitler over there.

The Post still believes that we should not have adopted this policy. With that we disagree. But, as the Post realizes, that is water under the bridge. Now that this policy has been adopted, and we are at work carrying it out, it is too late to turn back.

The peril now, says the Post, is not in making the wrong choice. The peril "is there whatever we choose to do. We cannot now escape."

After saying that there is peril in going on, the Post declares that the peril in going back "is no less, maybe even greater."

To go back, says the Post, "is to face the possibility of national death."

And still there are those who are trying to make us believe that we have a simple choice between peace and war! They are trying to make us believe that to stop our aid to the Allies, to turn back, would be to choose peace.

Those who would have us believe this have been friends of the Saturday Evening Post. It has been on their side; their spokesman. Now, it faces the truth and tells them that we have no such choice. It tells them that to turn back is to face the possibility of national death.

Will they continue to try to throw dust in our eyes, and their own, by harping on what are no longer issues?

What the President said six months ago is not an issue now.

What Wendell Willkie said in the campaign last Fall is not an issue now.

Nor are the horrors of war and the benefits of peace at issue now. There can be no sane issue where we have no choice.

Here is the issue now, as pointed out by the Saturday Evening Post:

Shall we take the risks involved in going forward the way we, as a nation, have chosen, or shall we turn back to the possibility of national death?

The Saturday Evening Post has been wise, patriotic and courageous in settling the issue for itself. It will not face the possibility of national death. It will accept the risks involved in going ahead.

How about you?

Those Who Cheer

If you go to the mass meeting at Madison Square Garden tonight, you will mingle with Nazis, Fascists and Communists. You will mingle with persons of all shades of opinion subversive to the United States and the democratic way of life.

We say this because these Communists, Fascists and Nazis have been numerous and prominent at other mass meetings held by the America First Committee.

We have advance notice that one group of more than 200 persons will be at the mass meeting tonight. It came in a letter from a man who may not be a German, in spite of his German name. He says, "We intend to be there, over 200 of us, and I dare you or any one else to smear us. What a surprise you would get."

We believe the leaders of the America First Committee when they say that they want no financial support from subversive elements. We believe that the America First leaders would prefer that persons of un-American ideals stayed away from America First rallies. But that is not the point.

The point is that un-American organizations have made appeals for contributions of money to America First. Un-American elements crowd America First rallies. They applaud America First speakers. They boo the President of the United States. They do not boo Hitler or Mussolini or Stalin.

At the rally in Mecca Temple, they cheered when a speaker said that the last free democracy in Europe will be defeated by Hitler.

Remember, these persons are not in sympathy with our American way of life.

Some of them belong to the Nazi Bund, which is pro-Hitler. They believe with Herr Hitler that the Nazi-Fascist world must break asunder the whole democratic world.

Some of them belong to the Communist Party. They supported Stalin when he made war on little Finland. But they boo mention of the United States defending itself by sending aid to Britain.

If these Nazis and Communists came to mass meetings of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies and cheered what our speakers said, we would be sure there was something wrong—with us. What Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin and their friends in this country applaud cannot be good for America.

Bundists and Communists do not cheer serving America first.

TODAY TELL THE PRESIDENT, YOUR SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES THAT YOU ARE IN FAVOR OF CONVOYS, TO HELP STOP HITLER OVER THERE.

LEADER ASKED BY LINDBERGH

Wheeler Urges Peace Appeal by President

[Boston Herald-N. Y. Times Dispatch]

NEW YORK, May 23—Charles A. Lindbergh, making his second anti-war address in New York under the auspices of the America First Committee, joined with Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana tonight in attacking President Roosevelt's foreign policy and in demanding leadership at Washington to keep this country out of war and to return to isolationism.

Wheeler appealed to the President to issue an appeal for peace to the peoples of Germany, Italy and England, and to demand that the "war makers," among whom he classed Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war; Frank Knox, secretary of the navy; former Ambassador William C. Bullitt and Col. William J. Donovan with "the Hitlers in Germany and the Churchills in England," step down and out. He urged a "just" peace, not in the interests of either British tories and imperialists or of power or land-hungry dictators.

RECALLS PROMISE

The senator denounced "one-man government" and warned that the American people might lose faith in their government if the President "repudiates" his election pledges not to take the country into a foreign war.

Lindbergh also warned of the danger to our system of government from the same source, asking both Democratic and Republican leaders to take notice, and followed this with an appeal to his hearers to support him and his associates in the America First Committee in creating new leadership.

Both speakers asserted that America has nothing to fear from foreign invasion, providing it has the right leadership, and both asserted there was a growing development of public opinion throughout the country against the President's position on the war issue.

The Fight for Freedom Committee, the Friends of Democracy, and several other organizations were notified by police before the meeting that picketing would not be allowed. About 500 policemen were on duty.

Deputy Chief Police Inspector Louis F. Costuma estimated the audience inside at 20,000 persons. A crowd of 2000 persons was outside the building.

Five youth organizations, the League of Youth for Democracy, the Federated Council for Americanism, the Social Democratic Youth, Democracy's volunteers and the Student Defenders of Democracy, issued a statement declaring that "the right to picket is a constitutional one and to be arbitrarily denied this right is an infringement upon our civil liberties.

LACK LEADERSHIP

Lindbergh said Americans "should have no reason to fear."

"We lack only a leadership that places America first—a leadership that does for 130,000,000 people what Washington did for us when we were only 3,000,000—a leadership that tells us what it means and means what it says. Give us that, and we will be the most powerful country in the world. Give us that and we will be so united that no one will dare attack us."

Without mentioning the President by name, Lindbergh continued to allude to him in warning of the loss of democracy at home under the guise of protecting it abroad.

"We have been shouting against intolerance in Europe," he continued, "but it has been rising in America. We deplore the fact that the German people cannot vote on the policies of their government—that Hitler led his nation into war without asking their consent.

"But have we been given the opportunity to vote on the policy our government has followed? No, we have been led toward war against the opposition of four-fifths of our people. We had no more chance to vote on the issue of peace and war last November than if we had been in a totalitarian state ourselves.

"We in America were given just about as much chance to express our beliefs at the election last fall as the Germans would have been given if Hitler had run against Goering."

If the United States enters the war, Lindbeghh continued, our losses are "likely to run into the millions" and "victory itself is doubtful." He asked interventionalists to "stop and consider whether democracy, tolerance and our American way of life are likely to survive in such a struggle," adding, "or may we not find conditions as bad or worse after the war than they are in the dictator-

He said he opposed the war before it started because he knew England and France were "not in a position to win," and he "did not want them to lose," and that he now opposes Amercian intervention because he thinks the American way of life cannot survive our particpaiton.

Reporting on his recent Western trip, Lindbergh said he had found strength growing everywhere for the American First movement. Saying a cry is rising against war from every section of the country, he ended by urging his audience to join with the America First Committee to enable it to "create the leadership necessary" to spread American ideals abroad and defend the Western hemisphere from invasion without entering the war.

CAN DEFEND SELVES

Wheeler paid tribute to Lindbergh for braving the "warmongers' scorn and abuse," and urged support for him not only to "save your sons from the bloody battlefields of Europe, Asia and Africa," but also "to fight against one-man government, and denounced Nazism, Fascism, Communism, British imperialism, American tories "and all war-makers."

Joining with Lindbergh in reporting the country, both east and west, on the basis of a 7600-mile trip in 20 states, as overwhelmingly against war, he called "pro-English next to being pro-American," but said England was selfishly trying to get us into the war to fight for her interests, and insisted that we could defend ourselves without the aid of England, or the English fleet.

Wheeler ridiculed all theories that Hitler could invade this hemisphere, even if he took over the British fleet, or that he could subdue the United States by economic invasion.

"I am not afraid," he continued, "of any of these imaginary threats conjured up by those who want to take us into a jolly war. I am afraid that if President Roosevelt repudiates his election pledges to the American people—not to take us into a foreign war—that the American people will lose faith not only in the President but in their government."

The Senator expressed fears of the President waging an undeclared war, of the end of constitutional democracy, of inflation or debt repudiation, of trouble from wounded soldiers returning from the war, of post-war economic breakdown and of resultant dictatorship.

URGES PEACE APPEAL

Attacking "jingoistic journalists and saber rattling bankers in New York" for trying to push the President into war, he said the American people as a whole, and the people of the entire world also, look to Mr. Roosevelt for leadership for peace.

"The President of the United States," he continued, "could appeal to the world for peace—he could appeal not to Hitler or to Mussolini or Churchill but to the people of Germany, Italy and England. He could demand that the war-makers, the Hitlers of Germany, the Churchills in England andthe Knoxes and Stimsons step down and out. I believe he could dictate the peace of the world if he would. But first he must rid himself of those war makers that surround him—who refuse to understand the wishes of the people."

In closing, he said:

"Tonight most of the world is engaged in bloody battle. I ask in behalf of millions that the President of the United States, at the risk of being called an appeaser, appeal to all the people of the world to stop war—now—before it is too late."

PLEAS AGAINST WAR CHEERED AT GARDEN

anti-Nazi pickets and supporters of the America First Committee, that organization held its widely advertised "anti-war rally" in the Garden.

Crowds Arrive Early

The doors were opened at 5 o'clock and within an hour crowds had begun to stream into the auditorium in rapidly increasing numbers. By 7:30 most of the seats were filled. Men and women ushers passed out small American flags to each person, and the auditorium itself was hung with flags and red, white and blue bunting. At 7:35 the audience opened a musical program with the singing of "America."

One of the early arrivals was Joseph McWilliams, self-styled fuehrer of the Christian Mobilizers, whose appearance caused a mild flurry. Two ushers wearing the official arm band of the committee jumped from the platform and asked a patrolman to request McWilliams to leave, but the patrolman told them they would have to see a higher police officer. Then the matter was dropped.

McWilliams Again in Limelight

Another episode over McWilliams occurred after the meeting started, when John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the America First Committee and chairman of the meeting, shouted that he had been told McWilliams was present, but that the committee was in no way responsible for his presence.

"What he is doing here, how he got in, or whose stooge he is I do not know," said Mr. Flynn, "but I do know that the photographers for the war-making newspapers always know where to find him."

Amid loud boos, hisses and cries of "throw him out," while detectives of the alien squad lined up alongside McWilliams' aisle seat in the seventh row center, a heckler stood up near by and began shouting back at Mr. Flynn. While McWilliams, who stayed in his seat and said nothing, remained, the heckler was ejected by the police. He declined to tell reporters his name.

The arrival of a delegation of about fifty persons carrying a large sign bearing the words "Copperheads of Westchester" was applauded.

A line of policemen surrounded the platform, and others stood against the wall around the hall, facing the audience.

Soon after 8 o'clock, the time scheduled for the rally to begin, the audience had almost reached the Garden's 22,000 capacity for such events.

During the musical program before the rally itself, Robert Crawford, song-leader, asked the audience if it wanted to sing "God Bless America." He was drowned out by a chorus of "Nos" and said "Let's drop it." A spokesman for anti-war groups said it was regarded as an interventionist song.

Lindbergh, Wheeler Cheered

Mr. Lindbergh and Senator Wheeler received an enthusiastic reception from a standing, cheering, flag-waving crowd when they made their entrance on the platform at 8:30 P. M, with Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, and Kathleen Norris, novelist, the other speakers. The ovation continued for five minutes. When it stopped the crowd in the north balcony started a chant, "We want Lindbergh," repeated over and over, during which Mr. Lindbergh rose and bowed. Then it began, "We want Wheeler" and continued until the Senator rose and waved.

Mrs. John P. Marquand, wife of the Boston novelist, opened the rally at 8:40 o'clock by calling on the audience to sing "The Star Spangled Banner" and then to recite "The People's Pledge to the Flag," which was done all standing with arms outstretched.

After saying the America First Committee repudiated any support the German-American Bund, the Communist or Fascist parties or their sympathizers might give "for the furthering of their ulterior political motives," Mrs. Marquand asserted the social philosophies of such organizations "are un-American and completely foreign to the spirit of religious and intellectual tolerance for which the America First Committee stands."

Mr. Lindbergh said Americans "should have no reason to fear."

"We lack only a leadership that places America first--a leadership that tells us what it means and means what it says. Give us that, and we will be the most powerful country in the world. Give us that and we will be so united that no one will dare attack us."

Without mentioning the President by name, Mr. Lindbergh continued to allude to him in warning of the loss of democracy at home under the guise of protecting it abroad.

Warns of Intolerance Here

"We have been shouting against intolerance in Europe," he continued, "but it has been rising in America. We deplore the fact that the German people cannot vote on the policies of their government--that Hitler led his nation into war without asking their consent. But have we been given the opportunity to vote on the policy our government has followed? No, we have been led toward war against the opposition of four-fifths of our people. We had no more chance to vote on the issue of peace and war last November than if we had been in a totalitarian state ourselves. We in America were given just about as much chance to express our beliefs at the election last Fall as the Germans would have been given if Hitler had run against Goering."

If the United States enters the war, Mr. Lindbergh continued, our losses are "likely to run into the millions" and "victory itself is doubtful." He asked interventionists to "stop and consider whether democracy, tolerance and our American way of life are likely to survive in such a struggle," adding, "or may we not find conditions as bad or worse after a war than they are in the dictatorships of Europe today?"

Reporting on his recent Western trip, Mr. Lindbergh said he had found strength growing everywhere for the America First movement. Saying a cry is rising against war from every section of the country, he ended by urging his audience to join with the America First Committee to enable it to "create the leadership necessary" to spread American ideals abroad and defend the Western Hemisphere from invasion without entering the war.

Mr. Lindbergh received a four-minute ovation at the end of his speech. There was a shower of torn paper from the north balcony. With his wife sitting behind him on the platform, he rose several times and waved to the crowd.

Senator Wheeler paid tribute to Mr. Lindbergh for braving the "warmongers' scorn and abuse," and urged support for him not only to "save your sons from the bloody battlefields of Europe, Asia and Africa," but also "to fight against one-man government in the United States."

The American people, he continued, resent the efforts of Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador, and "the royal refugees" to get us into the war "to save the British Empire."

Senator Wheeler also ridiculed all theories that Hitler could invade this hemisphere, even if he took over the British fleet, and that he could subdue the United States by economic invasion.

Undeclared War Feared

The Senator expressed fears of the President waging an undeclared war, of the end of constitutional democracy, of inflation or debt repudiation, of trouble from wounded soldiers returning from the war, of post-war economic breakdown and of resultant dictatorship.

Attacking "jingoistic journalists and saber rattling bankers in New York" for trying to push the President into war, he said the American people as a whole, and the people of the entire world also, look to Mr. Roosevelt for leadership for peace.

Mr. Lindbergh made few changes in his manuscript, but Senator Wheeler frequently departed from his, both interpolating and omitting sections. He modified his prepared speech by saying he was "sympathetic to the English" instead of "pro-English" next to being pro-American. He added the statement that Hitler would need at least 2,000,000 men to make "any kind of an invasion" of this country.

In his manuscript he left out the people of Japan, whom he included in those to whom he said President Roosevelt should appeal for peace over the heads of their leaders. He told the audience the British Empire was "tottering"—an adjective he did not write in his advance copy. Also he added the statement at the end of his speech that the American people want no convoys, want no substitute for convoys and want no war.

Mr. Thomas appealed "from the Roosevelt of today to the Roosevelt of yesterday" on the issue of war or peace, which he said was the only issue today. He doubted whether the Administration knew what it was doing in leading us to war, and sometimes thought it was making a great gamble and hoped to escape war.

The Socialist leader urged immediate efforts to bring about peace, saying that even if it failed it might drive a wedge between the dictators and their peoples. It might be successful now or if not eventually, he added.

Mr. Thomas led the audience in an ironical recitation of President Roosevelt's election pledge that American boys were not going to be sent into any foreign wars, the audience repeating each line after he said it.

Mrs. Norris spoke after Mrs. Ida O'Brien was introduced as New York State chairman of the Gold Star Mothers by Mr. Flynn, who said the meeting wanted to make sure there should be no more Gold Star Mothers here.

According to Mrs. Norris the American people have not been told what we should fight for in Europe, but have been "propagandized," but the America First Committee refuses to be frightened by Hitler or any one else.

"We know," she added, "that only one Navy will ever defend us and that's the American Navy."

The voices of our dead soldiers in the last war, she added, call to us: "Never again, never again, never again!"

Speakers Lauded by Flynn

Mr. Flynn said that the speakers were all Americans in contrast to the Madison Square Garden meeting of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies two weeks ago, at which representatives of European nations conquered by the Nazis spoke.

Mr. Flynn said efforts have been made to "smear" and "discredit" the America First Committee by calling its members and supporters Nazis and fellow-travelers. Referring to Cardinal O'Connell of the Roman Catholic Church in Boston, whose "prayer and blessing" for the rally Mr. Flynn had just read, he asserted ironically that the Cardinal was a Nazi "because some misguided fool somewhere in Manhattan, with Nazi sympathies, manages to get a few tickets to one of our meetings."

"This organization seeks the support of the 100,0000,000 Americans who are against war," he said. "It is not crazy enough to want the support of a handful of Bundists, Communists and Christian Fronters who are without number, without influence, without power and without respect in this or any other community."

Other telegrams read to the audience included anti-war sentiments from Sinclair Lewis, novelist husband of Dorothy Thompson, interventionist columnist, Lillian Gish, motion picture actress, and Robert E. Wood of Chicago, national chairman of the American First Committee.

Among those on the platform were Mrs. Robert A. Taft, wife of the Senator; Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Lindbergh, Mrs. Archie Roosevelt, Mrs. Philip Roosevelt, Michael Strange, William Gaxton, actor; Oswald Garrison Villard, Amos R. E. Pinchot, the Rev. James J. Gillis, editor of The Catholic World, and Professor Edward R. Elrner of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Station WOR and the Mutual system broadcast Mr. Lindbergh's speech; the NBC and CBS networks Senator Wheeler's.

A youth who identified himself as Frederick C. Langbein of 190 Harrington Street, Bergenfield, N. J., a member of the America First Committee, was ejected from the Garden by detectives, one of whom he accused of hitting him in the face. He insisted that he had done nothing but stand up and applaud. He said he had attended the meeting with his mother and father.

The overflow crowd, which listened to the speeches over amplifiers set up in Forty-ninth Street between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, was estimated at between 8,000 and 14,000 persons. The crowd gathered after the doors of the Garden were closed at 8:27 P. M. by order of the Fire Department to all extant holders of reserved seats. Previously tickets had been supplied to some of the crowd by the police, who said they had received them from the sponsors of the meeting.

Police orders forbade picketing outside the Garden, and most anti-Nazi organizations that had asked the right to picket contented themselves with flags and handbills at street corners. Charles A. Lindbergh, making his second anti-war address in New York under the auspices of the America First Committee, joined with Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana last night in attacking President Roosevelt's foreign policy and in demanding leadership at Washington to keep this country out of war and to return to isolationism. They spoke to a capacity crowd of 22,000 at Madison Square Garden. An estimated 8,000 to 14,000 listened at loudspeakers in the street.

Senator Wheeler appealed to the President to issue an appeal for peace to the peoples of Germany, Italy, England and Japan, and to demand that the "war makers," among whom he classed Henry L. Stimson, Secretary of War; Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy; former Ambassador William C. Bullitt and Colonel William J. The Senator denounced "one-man government" and warned that the American people might lose faith in their government if the President "repudiates" his election pledges not to take the country into a foreign war. Mr. Lindbergh also warned of the danger to our system of government from the same source, asking both Democratic and Republican leaders to take notice, and followed this with an appeal to his hearers to support him and his associates in the America First Committee in creating new leadership.

Both speakers asserted that America has nothing to fear from foreign invasion, provided it has the right leadership, and both asserted there was a growing development of public opinion throughout the country against the President's position on the war issue.

The audience was highly demonstrative and noisy, breaking into speeches with repeated outbursts of applause for every statement that America wants to keep out of war, for every mention of Mr. Lindbergh, Senator Wheeler and other isolationist leaders, for all isolationist slogans, and for all assertions that the United States is strong and mighty enough not to worry about its defense from any invader, even if Britain falls and the British fleet is taken over by Hitler.

It gave vent to its enthusiasm on the negative side with equally loud boos and hisses for President Roosevelt, for Wendell L. Willkie, for Secretaries Knox and Stimson, for Ambassador Halifax of Great Britain, for the British Empire, and for all other persons and organizations who favor all-out aid to Britain, or who argue that it is in the interest of the United States to keep Nazi Germany from defeating Britain.

Welcome, Brother --:- By Frank C. Waldrop

THAT old Communist, Fascist, labor baiter, scared millionaire, country bumpkin and confused Japanese spy, Mr. Sinclair Lewis, has just come over to the America First Committee.

Frank C. Waldrop

He has even fallen so low as to sponsor a rally at New York for such foreign agitators as Charles A. Lindbergh, Burton K. Wheeler and Kathleen Norris.

This calls for some explaining because, as you must know, Mr. Lewis's missus is in the papers all the time against Hitler and surely there must be some mistake.

Nope. No mistake. Mr. Lewis just happens to believe in America First after weighing all elements, even including the excellent living that cussing Hitler has produced for his missus.

MR. LEWIS is not alone as an intellectual who does not swallow the proposition to pin democracy down over all the earth with bayonets.

(He may be offended at being called an intellectual, and who could blame him, but there must be SOME word to indicate a fellow who thinks about abstractions for a living.)

He is not the only intellectual now standing with America First.

There was an incident in Washington only a week ago today that shook some certain persons like, as P. G. Wodehouse has so aptly put it, a jelly in a high wind.

THE incident was the appearance of Felix Morley before the ~~America~~ First Committee of Washington. Mr. Morley is also one who thinks about abstract matters for a living, though not all the time, for he is a college president.

For several years, Mr. Morley was editor of The Washington Post, a newspaper notably devoted to a foreign policy now commonly described as interventionist.

As editor, Mr. Morley was strong for the United States' entering the League of Nations, collaborating with Britain, and otherwise falling in with various schemes of what used to be known as "collective security."

ABOUT a year ago, Mr. Morley left Washington to become president of Haverford College, in Pennsylvania. And in his occasional writings ever since he has moved further and further away from intervention.

At that meeting of Saturday a week ago, he left his past entirely behind and announced:

1. Charles A. Lindbergh is a great American because, if for no other reason, he has the guts to stand up for what he really believes.

2. The America First Committee is on the right track in opposing these present steps toward war.

3. We should arm fully and completely for defense and prepare against the peace when we must—Mr. Morley didn't put it in these exact words—take over the world leadership the British Empire once exercised; not a brutal military leadership, but a leadership in commerce and industry.

4. The newspapers and the college professors are taking the weak and easy way out when they let an apparent flood of public opinion carry them into approval of the war policy now dominating the Administration here.

5. The America First Committee may now represent a minority public opinion but very shortly it will be a majority—said Morley—and he intimated the speed will be determined by the speed with which the Administration seems to move toward a shooting war.

THAT was no easy stand for Mr. Morley to take, no matter how easy it might now have become for Mr. Sinclair Lewis to go contrary to his missus.

Felix Morley is the son of an Englishman. He was educated in England. His brother, Christopher, is even now writing poems for the Bundles for Britain campaign. And Felix Morley genuinely wants America to help Britain win.

But—and this is the important thing—he does not want to see his country go into this foreign war. He fears it is about to. He has cast out and aside all his inherent emotional bias, therefore, and laid himself open to cruel accusations by friends and relatives, to say:

"Stay out of the war!"

IF YOU have been feeling the lack of heavy thinkers to offset the galaxy of twittering playwrights and poetists trotted out by the interventionists ever and anon to prove their project noble in purpose and approved among the laurel groves, we give you a new recruit to America First, Mr. Sinclair Lewis.

His Nobel Prize and long career as a great author weigh for much, even balanced against his bouncing missus.

And if you want a representative of high moral purpose, note Felix Morley.

Above all:

STAY OUT OF THE WAR!

Lindbergh, Wheeler Call for Leadership

Montanan Demands President Get Rid Of 'War Makers'

By the Associated Press

New York, May 23.—Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler joined tonight in a call for "adequate leadership" to keep the Nation out of the European war.

With the declaration that America could be the "strongest and most influential" country in the world, Lindbergh asserted that "we lack only a leadership that places America first, a leadership that does for 130,000,000 people what Washington did for us when we were only 3,000,000 people, a leadership that tells what it means and means what it says."

Saying that a "rising cry against war" was coming from the country, Lindbergh asserted: "It asks how this situation came about. It demands an explanation of what happened at the elections last November. It demands an accounting from a Government that has led us to war while it promised us peace."

Wheeler Assails "War Makers"

Senator Wheeler, Montana Democrat, demanded that President Roosevelt "rid himself of those war makers that surround him, who refuse to understand the wishes of the people," and said he believed that the President could demand that "the war makers, the Hitlers of Germany, the Churchills of England and the Knoxes and Stimsons, step down and out."

Lindbergh and Wheeler were the principal speakers at a rally of the America First Committee at Madison Square Garden.

In his prepared address, Lindbergh drew a parallel between the foreign policy of the American Government and that of the Hitler regime in Germany, saying that "we had no more chance to vote on the issue of peace and war last November than if we had been in a totalitarian state ourselves."

About 500 policemen stood guard. Officials of the Fight for Freedom Committee, the Friends of Democracy and several other organizations were notified by police that picketing would be prohibited.

An hour and a half before Lindbergh was scheduled to speak, Deputy Chief Police Inspector Louis F. Costuma estimated the audience inside at 20,000 persons. All tickets had been sold at 7:40 p. m. An overflow crowd estimated at 2,000 persons was outside the building.

Youths Issue Statement

Five youth organizations, the League of Youth for Democracy, the Federated Council for Americanism, the Social Democratic Youth Democracy's Volunteers and the Student Defenders of Democracy, issued a statement declaring that "the right to picket is a constitutional one and to be arbitrarily denied this right is an infringement upon our civil liberties."

L. M. Birkhead, National Director of the Friends of Democracy, charged in a telegram to Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the America First Committee, that the rally was to be a focal point for "Nazi and Communist forces in the New York area."

Boos and loud yells resounded through the Garden when John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York Chapter of the America First Committee, disavowed any Nazi support of the rally and excoriated Joseph E. McWilliams, founder of the American Destiny Party and unsuccessful candidate for Congress in last fall's election.

Pointing out McWilliams, seated in the fifth row, Flynn, after declaring that all who urged peace were labeled as Nazis, shouted above the din:

"And right here, not many faces from where I am, is sitting a man named McWilliams. What he is doing here, how he gets in here, whose stooge he is I do not know, but I know the photographers of these warmongering newspapers can always find him when they want him.

Heckler Leaves by Request

"The America First Committee does not want the support of a handful of Bundists who are here, without respect, without power, in this community or any other."

Several persons seated near McWilliams, twice convicted of disorderly conduct for making anti-Semitic speeches in the German community of Yorkville, rose and shouted at Flynn. One especially loud heckler was asked to leave, which he did.

Two other persons in the rear of the Garden were escorted out when they jeered during a speech by Socialist Leader Norman Thomas.

Early in his speech, Senator Wheeler disavowed any Nazi or Communist support and described his followers as "simply pro-Americans."

"I was denouncing Hitler when Lord Halifax was shooting wild boar with Goering in Germany," Wheeler said. "I was denouncing Mussolini when Churchill was saying (in 1927) 'if I were an Italian I would be a Fascist.'"

At the outset Wheeler paid tribute to Lindbergh, saying that "upon him the warmongers have turned their scorn and abuse, but he has continued to fight the fight of peace and democracy."

Lindbergh reiterated the theme of other recent addresses, that he opposed "our entry into the war because I do not believe that our system of government in America, and our way of life, can survive our participation."

"From every section of our country a cry is rising against this war," Lindbergh said. "But it is a cry that reaches beyond the question of war alone . . . it echoes from the very foundations on which our system of government is built."

Wheeler expressid a fear "that if the President accepts the advice of that little coterie who surround him, most of whom never faced an electorate or met a pay roll or tried a lawsuit, he will wage an undeclared war. And then—constitutional democracy will end."

Lindbergh contended that democracy cannot be spread by force of arms.

"If we cannot make other nations wish to copy our American system of government, we cannot force them to copy it by going to war," he said.

"On the contrary, if we go to war to preserve democracy abroad, we are likely to end by losing it at home. There are already signs of danger around us.

"We have been shouting against intolerance in Europe, but it has been rising in America. We deplore the fact that the German people cannot vote on the policies of their government—that Hitler led his nation into war without asking their consent. But, have we been given the opportunity to vote on the policy our government has followed? We in America were given just about as much chance to exxpress our beliefs at the election last fall as the Germans would have been given if Hitler had run against Goering."

Lindbergh said he opposed the European war before it started because he felt it would be disastrous for Europe.

"I knew that England and France were not in a position to win," he said, "and I did not want them to lose. I now oppose our entry into the war because I do not believe that our system of government in America, and our way of life, can survive our participation."

War to Doom Democracy, Lindy Says

U. S. Being Led Into Conflict by Hitler Methods, He Warns

By WILLIAM FULTON

NEW YORK, May 23 (C.T.P.S.). A cheering crowd of more than 22,000 packed Madison Square Garden tonight to hear a warning from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh that the people in this country were being led to war just as "Hitler led his nation into war without asking their consent."

Speaking before the largest gathering held on the Eastern seaboard by the America First Committee were the famous flyer, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Socialist Leader Norman Thomas, Economist John T. Flynn and Kathleen Norris, well known author.

War Hysteria Ridiculed

Senator Wheeler ridiculed what he referred to as the war hysteria in this city, saying that some people seemed to think that Hitler's panzer divisions soon were going to roll down Broadway. He urged that President Roosevelt use his office to promote world peace and turn from the advice of "the warmongers and their satellites" in their "crusade of blood and destruction."

A near-riot occurred soon after the meeting started when Chairman Flynn, of the New York chapter, denounced Joseph McWilliams, who was sitting in the seventh row, as a local apostle of fascism.

There were shouts of "Throw him out!" and Flynn could not proceed for several minutes. A number of America First members encircled McWilliams menacingly, but he stayed in his seat.

Message Read

Flynn read a message from William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, declaring that virtually the country's whole population was against continuation "this stupid and insane war."

There were also messages from Lillian Gish, the actress, and Sinclair Lewis, the author who once wrote a novel about dictatorship coming to America. Lewis' wife is Dorothy Thompson, one of the most avid interventionists in the movement toward war.

Socialist Leader Thomas attacked the Administration's leading war advocate, Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida, as a "Hitler on the floor of the Senate." He assailed the Senator for proposing in the Senate a war on five continents in the name of peace.

Lindbergh asserted that if the country was plunged into the conflict abroad in the name of saving democracy, we would likely end up by losing it at home.

Intolerance Attacked

"There are already signs of danger around us," he said. "We have been shouting against intolerance in Europe, but it has been rising in America. We deplore the fact that the German people cannot vote on the policies of their government—that Hitler led his nation into war without asking their consent. But, have we been given the opportunity to vote on the policy our Government has followed?

"No, we have been led toward war against the opposition of four-fifths of our people. We had no more chance to vote on the issue of peace and war last November than if we had been in a totalitarian state ourselves."

Colonel Lindbergh called for what he termed "an independent destiny" for America. This did not mean isolation, he said, but it did mean that the future of America would not be tied to the eternal wars of Europe.

"An independent American destiny means, on the one hand, that our soldiers will not have to fight everybody in the world who prefers some other system of life to ours," he continued. "On the other hand, it means that we will fight anybody and everybody who attempts to interfere with our hemisphere, and that we will do so with all the resources of our nation."

Senator Wheeler offered a plea that President Roosevelt lead a peace movement.

Leadership Needed

"Tonight the warmongers and their satellites demand that President Roosevelt assume leadership in their crusade of blood and destruction," he said. "They decry his leadership. Why? Because he has merely taken us to the brink of war. These sordid romanticists—jingoistic journalists and saber-rattling bankers in New York criticize the President for barely keeping his promises. Only war—blood—sweat—tears—and destruction can satisfy their lust.

"The people of all the world look to Franklin D. Roosevelt. They see him—a symbol of li—a champion of the downtrc—they see him as their knigl leader for peace.

"The President of the U States could appeal to the for peace—he could appeal to Hitler or to Mussolini Churchill but to the people of (many, Italy and England. could demand that the makers—the Hitlers of Gern—the Churchills in England the Knoxes and Stimsons down and out. I believe he c dictate the peace of the wor he would. But first he must himself of those warmakers surround him—who refuse understand the wishes of the ple."

Texts of the Addresses by Lindbergh and Wheeler Before 22,000 at Garden Peace Rally

The texts of the addresses of Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler at the Madison Square Garden rally under the auspices of the New York Chapter of the American First Committee follow:

Charles A. Lindbergh

We are assembled here tonight because we believe in an independent destiny for America. Such a destiny does not mean that we will build a wall around our country and isolate ourselves from contact with the rest of the world. But it does mean that the future of America will not be tied to these eternal wars in Europe. It means that American boys will not be sent across the ocean to die so that England or Germany or France or Spain may dominate the other nations.

An independent American destiny means, on the one hand, that our soldiers will not have to fight everybody in the world who praises some other system of life to ours. On the other hand, it means that we will fight anybody and everybody who attempts to interfere with our hemisphere, and that we will do so with all the resources of our nation. It means that we rely on our own strength, our own ability and our own courage to preserve this nation and to defeat any one who is rash enough to attack us. It means that we have faith that these United States of ours can compete in commerce or in war with any combination of foreign powers, and that we are no more afraid of the Europe of Germany than our forefathers were afraid of the Europe of France or England or Spain.

No Reason for Fear

We in America should have no reason to fear. With adequate leadership we can be the strongest and most influential nation in the world. No other country has as great resources. None is as easily defended. We look only a leadership that places America first—a leadership that tells what it means and what it says. Give us that and we will be the most powerful country in the world. Give us that and we will be so united that no one will dare to attack us.

Our country is not divided today because we fear war, or sacrifice, or because we fear anything at all. We are divided because we are asked to fight over issues that are Europe's and not our own—issues that Europe created by her own short-sightedness. We are divided because many of us do not wish to fight again for England's balance of power, or for her domination of Iraq, Mesopotamia, or Egypt, or for the Polish Corridor, or for another treaty like Versailles. We are divided because we do not want to cross an ocean to fight on foreign continents, for foreign causes, against an entire world combined against us. Many of us do not think we can impose our way of life, at the point of a machine gun, on the people of Germany, Russia, Italy, France and Japan. Many of us do not believe democracy can be spread in such a manner. We believe that we are more likely to lose it at home than to spread it abroad by prolonging this war and sending millions of our soldiers to death in Europe and Asia.

war in which our losses are [illegible] Flynn, all of us on the Atlantic [illegible] against one man government in [illegible] nightlier. No nation dependent upon another is or can be an independent nation, and those who parade as Americans but who tell us that we are dependent upon the British Navy are unworthy of the name of American.

We are building a two-ocean navy. It will protect this hemisphere. Except for a few units it will be ready for service within two years. Unless Hitler can invade this hemisphere within the next few months he could never do it even though he captured the entire British fleet and the remainder of the French and Italian fleets and these fleets were his to command. This is not idle talk from a swivel chair expert—ask any top ranking, active, working American naval officer.

Let us examine the facts: If Hitler seized the British fleet tomorrow years would be required in which to train crews and officers to man these ships. Each man must be trained for his task; many require the greatest skill and longest experience. Likewise, to command and to manoeuvre fleets demands years of study and then more years of drilling aboard ship. And each of these planes, submarines and ships must drill with each other before a fleet has been trained for action.

Nazis Hold Week at Sea

Hitler has no fleet now and he will not have a fleet until long after we are ready for him, if he attempts to invade this country.

But, my friends, it is inconceivable that the British Fleet would ever come into Hitler's hands. In 1918 the Germans sank their whole fleet rather than deliver it to England. Without the British navy it would take Hitler at least seven years in which to build a fleet equal to ours.

To invade South or North America the invader must have a tremendously superior fleet. It is significant that the British and the French navies never attempted a coastal invasion of Germany. They always chose land operations.

Any of our naval experts will tell you the German fleet today is inconsequential. The British have humbled the Italian fleet. For Hitler to attempt an invasion of the Americas would be suicide. Transports carrying men require fleet protection. German submarines are small. They were designed to operate close to their base—within a few hundred miles of England. They could not be used to accompany transports in any great number, while American submarines are large. They are built for long range. They can cross the Atlantic and back without refueling. They could harass and sink transports over the entire route. No invader could maintain a supply line from Dakar to South America or from Berlin to New York. American bombing planes, protected by fighters, would meet any invaders.

Assume the Germans captured the British Fleet—where would he get the ships, where would Hitler get the ships to transport the troops? Two or three thousand transports for men, another thousand ships to carry the heavy tanks, the motor vehicles the military supplies that would be necessary. Tonight it is doubtful whether Germany could obtain a hundred small transports, or transport a hundred thousand men. Why, we would wipe out a hundred thousand men in no time. It would take at least two years to transport and land an army of a million men in Europe. Hitler knows this. He knows that he could not conquer England, even if he had the British Fleet.

Hitler knows that he could not conquer England, even if he had the British Fleet. He knows that he could not conquer America. He knows that he could not conquer Canada. He knows that he could not conquer Australia. He knows that he could not conquer New Zealand. He knows that he could not conquer South Africa. He knows that he could not conquer India. He knows that he could not conquer China. He knows that he could not conquer Japan. He knows that he could not conquer Russia. He knows that he could not conquer Europe. He knows that he could not conquer the world of Germany, Russia, Italy, France and Japan. Many of us do not believe democracy can be spread in such a manner. We believe that we are more likely to lose it at home than to spread it abroad by prolonging this war and sending millions of our soldiers to death in Europe and Asia.

Democracy is not a quality that can be imposed by war. The attempt to do so has always met with failure. Democracy can spring only from within a nation itself, only from the hearts and minds of the people. It can be spread abroad by example, but never by force. The strength of a democracy lies in the satisfaction of its own people. Its influence lies in making others wish to copy it. If we cannot make other nations wish to copy our American system of government, we cannot force them to copy it by going to war.

Isolationism Seen Rising Here

On the contrary, if we go to war to preserve democracy abroad, we are likely to end by losing it at home. There are already signs of danger around us. We have been shouting against Nazi treason in Europe, but it has been rising in America. We deplore the fact that the German people cannot vote on the policies of their government—that Hitler led his nation into war without asking their consent. But, have we been given the opportunity to vote on the policy our government has followed? No, we have been led forward war against the opposition of four-fifths of our people. We had no more chance to vote on the issue of peace and war last November than if we had been in a totalitarian state ourselves. We in America were given just about as much chance to express our beliefs at the election last Fall as the Germans would have been given if Hitler had run against Goering.

This state of affairs should make every American—even the interventionists—stop and think before we plunge blindly into a second world war. There are many interventionists who actually believe that by going to war we can strengthen democracy throughout the world, and with it all the civilized virtues which we in this country support. Those people overlook our failure in the last war "to make the world safe for democracy." They overlook the persecution and the intolerance which followed that war in Europe. They do not seem to realize that the elements they dislike in Germany lie beneath the surface of every nation; that they are here in America just as they are in Europe, and that nothing is as likely to bring them out as war—especially a prolonged war.

I opposed this war before it was declared because I felt it would be disastrous for Europe. I knew that England and France were not in a position to win, and I did not want them to lose. I now oppose our entry into the war because I do not believe that our system of government in America can survive our participation or our way of life can survive our participation.

Plea to Interventionists

And here I address a plea to any interventionists who may be listening to me tonight. I ask them to consider what a prolonged war will bring. I ask them to consider what the last war brought to Europe—to Russia, to Italy, to Germany and now to France and England and even the smaller countries. I ask them to remember that we in America returned from that war with the loss of relatively few soldiers, but that now we face a war in which our losses are likely to run into the millions and in which victory itself is doubtful. I ask them to consider whether democracy, tolerance and our American way of life are likely to survive in such a struggle. Or may we not find conditions as bad or worse in America after a war than they are in the dictatorships of Europe today?

It is all very well to shout for war, to say that aggression must be stopped, that our ideals of democracy must be preserved all over the world. But when the shouting is over, then we will be faced with the reality of war. Some one must lay plans for invading Germany, for invading Japan, for invading possibly Russia, France, Italy and Spain as well. Some one must do the fighting; some one the dying. When we turn from sentiment and emotion to reality and action, the task we face is staggering. We find ourselves unprepared for war, about to enter a battle that will require us to cross two oceans and to invade nations with a far greater population than ours, nations with armies that have been trained for years, armies that have been hardened by generations of warfare, armies that are larger now than ours ever has been. We find ourselves in a position where we would have to force landings on hostile coasts against the prepared positions of the strongest military powers in the world.

Democracy is not likely to survive a conflict such as this will bring. Does any one think that freedom can exist even in America if we are forced into such a war? The United States is a nation of mixed races, religions and beliefs. We came from every part of Europe and from every portion of the earth. Here in this country, we have learned to live peacefully together. Here we have developed a racial tolerance such as the world has never known before. Here we have developed a unification in many ways never previously approached. Why must all this be jeopardized by injecting the wars and the hatreds of Europe into our midst? Why, in this second century of our existence, must we be confronted with the quarrels of the old world that our forefathers left behind when they settled in this country?

It is to answer these questions, it is to oppose intervention in this war, it is to preserve our American way of life, that you and I have assembled here tonight. We have assembled to show that in times of crisis there still are men and women in this country ready to give up their normal interests and their normal occupations so that our way of life and our right to determine it may survive.

Sacrifices Are Cited

Every one of us has made some sacrifice in attend the rally. You have given up an evening at home or with your friends. Senator Wheeler has come from Washington to talk to us. He represents the type of leadership that places America first. Mr. Thomas has added this engagement to an already crowded schedule. If all of our leaders had the courage, integrity and vision that these men have shown, this country would not be on the verge of war today. Mrs. Norris, Mrs. Marquand, Mr. Flynn, all of us on the America First Committee are contributing everything we can to prevent this war and to maintain the way of life we believe in for America.

I am glad to be able to tell you that our strength is increasing. This meeting is one of many. I have just come from the West, and I can tell you that in every State, in every city, on street corners and on farms, men and women are meeting, as we have met tonight. From every section of our country a cry is rising against this war. But it is a cry that reaches beyond the question of war alone. It is more penetrating than that. It echoes from the very foundations on which our system of government is founded. It asks how this situation came about. It demands an explanation of what happened at the elections last November. It demands an accounting from a government that has led us to war when it promised us peace. To both Democratic and Republican leaders, this cry should be a warning of an awakened spirit in our nation—a spirit that has carried us through times of crisis before, and that will carry us through times of crisis again.

We in America can make our nation an example for the rest of the world. We can spread our ideals in other countries. We can defend this hemisphere from invasion. And all of this can be accomplished without entering the war. With your assistance, we will create the leadership necessary to do it. The America First Committee asks your help in carrying out this program. We ask you to join with us in demanding that election promises be kept. We ask you to organize your community, to write to your Representative in Washington, to attend meetings of this kind whenever they are held. Our American ideals, our independence, our freedom, our right to vote on important issues, all depend on the sacrifice we are willing to make, and the action we take at this time.

Burton K. Wheeler

It is a great pleasure to come to the City of New York and address this great gathering of American citizens.

Keeping this nation at peace and free from foreign wars is the most noble and patriotic service that an American can render the republic. By these standards no man has served the United States more intelligently, more courageously, and more effectively than Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh. Upon him the warmongers have turned their scorn and abuse. But he has continued the fight of peace and democracy. To Colonel Lindbergh, I say—the greatest eventual glory comes not from wars won or lost but from wars prevented. Some day that glory will be accorded Colonel Lindbergh, and it was accorded his illustrious father and Old Battling Bob LaFollette.

I speak to you tonight not as a Democrat, not as a Republican, but as a plain ordinary citizen who is deeply interested in this country of ours. I am here to urge you to muster the courage to fight as you have never fought before—to fight to save your sons from the bloody battlefields of Europe, Asia and Africa to fight against one-man government in the United States.

Peace or war is not a partisan issue—it is an American issue.

I hate one man government. I was denouncing Mussolini when Churchill was saying in 1927 "if I were an Italian I would be a Fascist." I was denouncing Hitler when Lord Halifax was hunting wild boar with Goering in Germany.

War Will Doom U. S. Democracy, Lindbergh And Wheeler Assert

Advisers Want Roosevelt To Wage Undeclared Fight, Senator Charges

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 24.--Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana predicted in speeches last night that United States participation in the European War would mean the end of American democracy.

They spoke in Madison Square Garden at a rally sponsored by the America First Committee and attended by a crowd estimated by police at 20,000.

Col. Lindbergh opposed United States entry into the conflict because, he said, "I do not believe that our system of government in America and our way of life can survive our participation."

It was Senator Wheeler's thought that "If the President accepts the advice of a little coterie who surround him * * * he will wage an undeclared war. And then—constitutional democracy will end."

Says U. S. Wants Accounting.

Col. Lindbergh pleaded for a leadership that would do "what Washington did for us when we were only 3,000,000 people, a leadership that tells what it means and means what it says."

The country, crying out against war, he said, "demands an explanation of what happened at the elections last November. It demands an accounting from a Government that has led us to war while it promised us peace."

Boos and yells echoed through the Garden when John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the America First Committee, repudiated any Nazi support of the rally.

Pointing to Joseph E. McWilliams, founder of the American Destiny party who twice has been convicted of disorderly conduct for making anti-Semitic speeches in the German community of Yorkville, Mr. Flynn shouted:

McWilliams called "Stooge."

"And right here, not many paces from where I am, is sitting a man named McWilliams. What he is doing her, how he gets in here, whose stooge he is, I do not know * * *

"The America First Committee does not want the support of a handful of Bundists who are here, without respect, without power, in this community or any other."

Disavowing Nazi or Communist support and describing his followers as "simply pro-Americans," Senator Wheeler said "I was denouncing Hitler when Lord Halifax was shooting wild boar with Goering in Germany. I was denouncing Mussolini when Churchill was saying (in 1927) 'if I were an Italian I would be a Fascist.'"

Five hundred police stood guard inside of the garden during the meeting, which passed without incident except for the ejection of one heckler after Mr. Flynn's excoriation of McWilliams and of two others who jeered Norman Thomas, Socialist leader.

60% AT GARDEN RALLY PRO-NAZI, MORRIS SAYS

America First Conclave Held Similar to Bund Session

At least 60 per cent of the persons who attended the anti-war rally sponsored by the America First Committee in Madison Square Garden last Friday night were members of or sympathizers with the German-American Bund, Newbold Morris, President of the City Council, declared last night. He spoke at the annual dinner of the Knights of Pythias, State of New York, given in honor of the present Grand Chancellor, David M. Engelson, at the Hotel Commodore.

Mr. Morris told the 800 members and guests of the order present that after observing most of the 20,000 persons enter the Garden for Friday night's rally he was convinced that "60 per cent" were of "the same type" as those who attended a rally in the Garden sponsored by the Bund in 1938. At that time, he recalled, he, as acting Mayor, had refused to cancel the Bund's permit for the rally, which was held ostensibly in honor of George Washington.

"The audience last Friday was of the same type and it made the same noises," Mr. Morris said. "In 1938 George Washington was their patron saint, but his spirit rebelled and their peanut Fuehrer is now serving a prison sentence. Now they are using Senator Wheeler (Burton K. Wheeler) and he doesn't seem to mind.

The "peanut Fuehrer" he referred to is Fritz Kuhn, former leader of the Bund.

America First Head Would Give Up Area Below 'Bulge'

He Would Scrap the Monroe Doctrine and Surrender Territory Within Bombing Range of the Panama Canal

By Kenneth Crawford

CHICAGO, May 24.—Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the America First Committee, submitted to questioning about his isolationist position for more than an hour today, with the following results:

Q. From what we have read, Gen. Wood, we understand that you opposed passage of the lend-lease bill but that once it was passed you accepted it and have since expressed approval of the provisions for helping the British in their war with the Fascist countries of Europe—with certain very important reservations.

A. Yes, we have accepted the lend-lease legislation with certain reservations. Our principal reservation is against interpretation of the bill as an authorization of convoys. We were given to understand by Administration senators favoring the bill that it did not authorize convoys—in fact, that the question of convoys was not involved. This, mind you, was not our own interpretation. It was the interpretation of senators speaking for the Administration.

Q. To be specific, now that the act is passed, you would have us sell to the British here in this country—but we would under no circumstances help get the goods across the Atlantic. No matter what happened you would stick to this because you think that any further measure of aid, such as convoying, would lead to our involvement in the war?

A. That is not quite my position. I would help the British to the extent of lending them or giving them cargo ships and even battleships—provided these ships were manned by British crews and flew the British flag. Provided, also, of course, that gifts of fighting ships did not, in the opinion of the President, weaken our defensive position. It is my opinion, however, that convoying by our own Navy under the American flag would lead us into war inevitably. I draw the line at convoying.

IN SHARP VARIANCE WITH FDR POLICIES

Q. Thank you for that summary of your position. The course you advocate is at sharp variance—is it not?—with the policy of the U. S. Government, which, while it is not committed to a policy of convoying goods to Britain, has made it completely clear that it feels we are already menaced by aggression from abroad and that we should ourselves take the aggressive to meet this threat—that is, leave no stone unturned to get military aid to Britain and China. In that case, if the people of America follow your advice and bring pressure on the Administration to change its interpretation of the lend-lease bill to conform with your policy, they will be advocating a very different course of action from that now being pursued. Do you agree?

A. Not entirely. The America First Committee has never opposed aid to Britain within the limits of the neutrality law. But we are unalterably opposed to convoys.

Q. Now let us presume that the American people have done what you want them to do—and the Administration has accepted your policy. Let us imagine that in the President's next fireside address he says: "The purpose of the lend-lease bill is to be interpreted as all aid short of war. We will not lift a finger to help Great Britain get the supplies of war. We are going to stick 100 per cent to hemisphere defense." That is what you want, isn't it?

A. To say that I would not lift a finger to help Britain get the supplies of war is an overstatement of my position. I am in favor of giving Britain the help that doesn't involve us in war. We can send all sorts of provisions and munitions without getting involved. Use of our Navy to escort these goods would be bound to involve us. If you mean: Am I against such escort service? the answer is yes.

RISK ON U. S. BECOMING A FASCIST STATE

Q. Do you think we risk turning into a Fascist state ourselves if we pursue the present policy of risking war with the Axis in order to aid Great Britain and China.

A. If we get into the war we will get Fascism, Communism or some other ism as the inevitable result.

Q. Now I think we have got the groundwork laid. If America follows the course you advocate do you consider Great Britain in any danger of defeat?

A. I have considered that Great Britain is in danger of defeat from the beginning. I agree with Col. Lindbergh on that. By this I mean that Great Britain is in danger of losing part of her Empire. I don't believe she is in danger of having to surrender the British Isles. I make a distinction between helping Great Britain defend England proper and underwriting a victory for the British Empire. These are two quite different things. To underwrite an Empire victory we would have to go into the war lock, stock and barrel and even then we might not be able to do it.

Q. Your policy means one thing if there is no danger of Great Britain's defeat. It means another if there is danger. We are trying to decide on the wisest policy to follow. You have emphasized facing realities in your speech. Is there or isn't there, in your opinion, a real chance that Great Britain will be defeated if we stop in our tracks and refuse to give her any more aid than the lending or giving of food and military materials in this country?

A. We are more than just lending and giving food and material. We are giving the British planes and ships. Even so, the danger of the British defeat remains very real.

Q. Before the Germans invaded and occupied Holland, Belgium and most of France your isolationist position was based on the opinion that the Germans could never get through the Maginot Line and therefore that talk of helping Britain as a necessity for defense of democracy was insincere. You said this many times, did you not?

A. No, I didn't say that talk of defending democracy was insincere. I did say that I didn't think the Germans could break through the Maginot Line. As a matter of fact, they never did; they flanked it. I assumed that the military experts were right when they said there was a little Maginot Line on the French flank but there wasn't.

ENGLAND MAY LOSE THROUGH ENVELOPMENT

Q. You concede now that Britain may lose the war if it cannot get enough food and supplies through the submarine and aerial blockade Is that correct?

A. Yes, Great Britain may lose the war by envelopment from all sides. But I do not believe Great Britain can be successfully invaded I have always contended that the islands could repulse any invader. She may be defeated by losses in other parts of the Empire—in the Mediterranean, for example. She may be so weakened that she will want to make a negotiated peace. Incidentally, I am of the opinion that the apparent German success in Crete does not mean anything so far as the defense of the British Isles is concerned. Crete was weakly garrisoned and its natural defenses are bad. That is not the case with England. The Crete affair doesn't prove any more about the vulnerability of England than did the German victory over Holland.

...Would Not Defend U. S. Trade in This Hemisphere

Q. Do you feel that there is a strong possibility, if not a probability, that if we don't go a step further in helping Britain, if we continue to require the British to pick up American cargoes in American ports and run them through the blockade, their shipping reserves may be whittled down to a point where they cannot get enough munitions through the blockade to carry on the war against the Axis or even enough food to eat? In other words, that they will have no choice but to accept the terms of a Hitler-dictated peace?

A. Let me say again that I am perfectly willing to help the British solve their shipping problem by any act short of convoy. I am even willing to strip our coastwise shipping to provide the British with merchant tonnage. Britain, I believe, may have to accept a negotiated peace but that will not mean outright surrender.

Q. You do not believe, do you, that Hitler, if Britain capitulates, will settle on anything less than his own terms. Has anybody ever persuaded Hitler to soften his terms except at the point of a cannon?

A. I don't believe the British will have to accept any terms Hitler demands. This will be like a business deal in which one of the parties is in a stronger bargaining position than the other. But if the stronger presses his advantage too far, the weaker refuses to do business with him.

HITLER-DICTATED TERMS FOR PEACE

Q. If your policy is pursued, then isn't there a strong chance that Britain will lose the war and that they will have to accept Hitler-dictated peace terms? Do you think this statement needs any qualification?

A. Yes, I think it does. I think it is probable that Hitler will get what he wants in Europe but that he will not be able to destroy the British Empire. I think he will probably get, besides what he wants in Europe, a part of the British Empire, not all of it. He probably will get the Mediterranean area, including Gibraltar, Malta and Egypt.

Q. Do you think Hitler would be satisfied with Europe and the Mediterranean in view of his repeated statements that he will be satisfied with nothing less than total defeat of Britain?

A. As I have said, I do not think he will be in a position to take all of the British Empire.

Q. Do you agree that a German victory over Great Britain would, in all probability, leave the world roughly divided among three great powers, each with its own sphere of political and economic influence—Germany, the U. S. A. and Japan?

A. I should add to those three Russia and Great Britain. I believe Britain will remain a world power.

Q. Even such a diversion would leave some territory in an area of uncertainty and perhaps controversy, for example, Greenland. The Administration has announced that it considers Greenland part of the Western Hemisphere and therefore subject to U. S. protection under the Monroe Doctrine. The Germans, on the other hand, may consider it a necessary outpost of their own continental defense. They may undertake to make it a North Atlantic Singapore. What would you do about Greenland?

A. Greenland is a part of the Western Hemisphere. I would defend it. In this I concur in the Administration's position.

ULD RISK WAR IN GREENLAND'S DEFENSE

Q. Would you risk war with Germany to establish the claim that Greenland is part of the Western Hemisphere?

A. I would risk war with Germany in reference to apy territory in the Western Hemisphere.

Q. In the event of a German victory, do you believe that we wi or will not be able to do business with Hitler?

A. In my opinion we shall be able to deal with him. Europe wi need us worse than we need Europe. He will have to deal with us.

Q. Will we have to deal with Hitler on his terms?

A. There will have to be mutual commercial understandings. H will not be able to impose his will upon us entirely or we on him. W will have the advantage in dealing with him because we have the re sources to be independent.

Q. Assuming that Hitler wins the war, needing raw materials fro the Western Hemisphere as he of course will, do you think he is mor likely to enter into barter deals with Latin-American nations or with w

A. He will trade where he can get the best terms. . . . deal witl both of us. It must be remembered, that Germany doesn't engage i barter trade from choice. Having no gold, she must exchange her fin ished products for the raw materials she needs. Actually, the Germa system is not simple barter, it is a matter of clearing accounts in good rather than gold. After this war, England may have to adopt barter, too

Q. Do you regard the Latin-American countries as democrati nations that naturally will be drawn into our orbit, or as dictatorship that may take more naturally to Hitler's way of doing business.

A. I lived in Latin America—in Panama—for many years and I know there are no democracies there—no democracies, that is, as we think of them. A South American doesn't go to the polls and freely cast a secret ballot. But trade isn't a matter of ideological attraction. It is a practical matter. Just as the Balkans are a natural customer of Germany, so Mexico and the Central American republics are natural customers of the United States. The continent to the south has to be divided up to be understood. Mexico and the nearby republics naturally do business with us. Argentina, Chile and Uruguay naturally deal with Europe. They are in the temperate zone, as we are, and raise the same things we do, whereas the countries near the equator sell us coffee and bananas and Mexico sells us metals. We have advantages of transport and communication in dealing with the nearby Latin Americas that Europe can never have. Brazil divides her trade, selling cotton in Europe and coffee to us.

WOULDN'T RISK MILITARY WAR FOR TRADE

Q. If it turns out that Hitler tries to muscle us out of the Latin Americas and exchange his own finished goods for raw materials, what will we do about it? You have said, I believe, that we should tolerate no unfriendly power in this hemisphere.

A. It all depends upon what you mean by muscling. If you are talking about a trade war, we shall have to fight him on the economic front in the Latin Americas—that is, we shall have to compete. I wouldn't wage a military war to expel a trade rival from South America. But I would wage war to expel any European power that tried to establish political sovereignty in this hemisphere. I would fight in a minute anyone who tried to establish a military or naval base here.

Q. How much of our Army and Navy would this require and for how long, in your judgment?

A. I haven't been in the military service for a good many years and I'm not competent to answer that. I will say this: that it depends upon how much of South America we defended. It would make a great difference whether we undertook to defend all of the South American continent or only the part as far south as the

Wood's Proposal Would Imperil U.S. Security

If Axis Had Half of South America, Lima Could Be Base Against Us

What are the physical realities of Gen. Robert E. Wood's project of handing over South America "below the bulge" of Brazil to the Axis?

A great many patriotic and defense-minded Americans have fallen into a state of understandable confusion on this point.

They look at the map and announce that Hitler would be further away from Bar Harbor in Rio de Janeiro than he is in Hamburg and let it go at that.

They forget that the U. S. A. does not begin at Bar Harbor, does not begin at New York, does not begin at Savannah—does not even begin at Miami. The U. S. A., defensively speaking, begins at the Panama Canal—the lifeline of the nation's naval operations; its point of impact from an enemy's offensive positions against us on the same land mass.

This was realized as long as 61 years ago by President Rutherford B Hayes—hardly a warmonger executive—when he wrote in a message to Congress regarding his alarm over the threatened control of the future Panama Canal by France:

"It would be . . . virtually part of the coastline of the United States."

Thus, in permitting occupation of the territory of the Americas by a strong and potentially hostile power, the question of peril to the U. S. A. is not a matter of how far the enemy's bases are from Washington or Keokuk, but of how far they are from Panama.

Axis—or Nazi—Wehrmacht established "below the bulge" of Brazil would be at several important points on the South American mainland within less than 1000 miles bombing range of the republic's "defense jugular."

Gen. Wood's proposition is thus comparable to an invitation from the British statesmen to Hitler to help himself to Western Egypt. Manaos in the Brazilian Amazon jungle, Iquitos on the upper Amazon Peru are no further from the Canal than Tobruk is, relatively, from Suez.

U. S. Would Lose Affluence

To get a clear picture, though, of the meaning of the hemisphere—and domestic—defense handicap Gen. Wood proposes to give to Hitler, we need to consider it in three phases:

¶ The Axis would be handed complete economic and political control over 70,000,000 people in the wealthiest, most productive, most progressive and most rapidly growing sections of Latin America—the areas most likely to develop in the next few decades in industrialization and democracy. This would mean that great countries like the Argentine, Brazil, Chile, most of Peru, Uruguay, and Bolivia with its enormous tin and metal deposits, would be totally and permanently removed from the sphere of U. S. influence. Washington would have no more chance of playing a part in their future economic development, of holding their sympathies or of affecting their diplomatic policies than it has today of winning an influence for itself in the Nazi-controlled Balkans.

¶ The military peril has been only vaguely suggested in the opening paragraphs of this article. Within two or three weeks after their entrance into South America, the Nazis, with their super-modern military gadgetry, would control the key more completely than Cortez with his horses, his armor, and his terrifying toy cannon controlled the Aztecs. Within a year or two after German occupation of "South America below the bulge," German technicians would be able to build the roads, the military airports, the railways, the submarine and naval bases, the shipyards, the communication and transportation systems by which a major attack could be launched northward toward the center of Yankee security at Panama.

It is silly even to talk of defending South America "at the bulge." If the Nazis were given a treaty line five miles below the bulge, why should they stay there? They would inevitably, unless the whole nature of the Axis conquering drive should disintegrate, seek at once to drive a few miles beyond the bulge, which would take them to strategic points like Manaos and Iquitos.

In this case, the only defense recourse the U. S. A. would have would be to throw a defensive army into northern Brazil and across northern Peru and Ecuador on a par with the kind of defensive armies the European powers have used to carry on their balance of power wars since the middle of the 19th century. The sacrifices to Hitler appeasement which Gen. Wood recommends would, in other words, condemn the U. S. A. inevitably and indefinitely to the kind of militaristic life which Europe has led for 100 years and which today is destroying her.

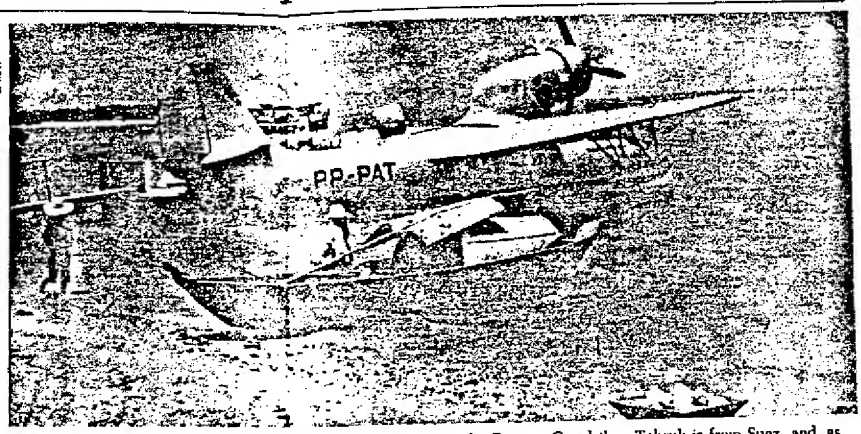
¶ Gen. Wood's appeasement recommendations would mean, if adopted, the official abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine. And, taken at its uttermost selfish terms as a policy of self-protection for the U. S. A., the Monroe Doctrine makes sense for the security of every man, woman and child in the U. S. A. and their future progeny.

The key sentences in the Monroe Doctrine read:

¶ "The political system of the allied (Axis, to 1941 readers) powers is essentially different . . . from that of America. . . . We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety."

Gen. Wood of the America First Committee does not believe that our "peace and safety" would be endangered by having the Nazis with their dive bombers and Stukas, their gliders and parachute troops, their submarines and pocket battleships, their panzer divisions as our "good neighbors," five miles below Natal and Recife and less than 1000 miles below the Panama Canal.

What are the rest of us—including the rarer Monroe Doctrinaires—going to do about it?



Manaos, deep in Brazilian Amazon jungle, is little farther from the Panama Canal than Tobruk is from Suez—and, as this picture shows, it has air connections. Letting the Nazis have part of South America would obviously menace the security of our Canal.

Christian Front Row May Split Isolationist Ranks

By James A. Wechsler

The aggressive role of Christian Fronters in the anti-war campaign may precipitate a serious split among American isolationists, it appeared yesterday.

Conflict between liberal isolationists (who believe that America can live alone and like it if we appease Hitler) and professional Coughlinites (who believe in appeasement for Fascism's sake) has been waged behind the scenes for many weeks. It broke out at Madison Square Garden Friday night when Charles A. Lindbergh brought his America First road company back to New York for a return engagement.

Center of the clash was John T. Flynn, pugnacious chairman of the New York chapter of the America First Committee. Mr. Flynn, who presided at the Garden meeting, is an ex-columnist for the New Republic and believes, among other things, that Bertrand Russell should have been allowed to teach at City College.

Uneasy in a bed which holds the Rev. Edward Lodge Curran and other Coughlinite emissaries, Mr. Flynn has been privately battling with the Frontmen. Before 22,000 people who filled the Garden Friday night he angrily put the finger on Coughlinites, Bundsmen and Communists and told them to go back where they came from. (Most of them came from Brooklyn where Front influence is strongest).

Ostensibly the target of Mr. Flynn's attack was Joe McWilliams, leader of the American Destiny Party, who stands on the extreme edge of the lunatic fringe. Only McWilliam's name was cited in Mr. Flynn's repudiation of pro-Fascist flag-wavers hiding behind America First's skirts.

The bulk of the Garden throng seemed sympathetic to Flynn's attack on McWilliams. There was only a smattering of applause for the Yorkville fuehrer who resembles an aging matinee idol and whose indiscretions (he never sugars his anti-Semitism) have embarrassed Father Coughlin's respectable spokesmen. McWilliams had to set up his own party because the Front found his presence too embarassing.

But Flynn's blanket blast against the Front, which has been blessed by Coughlin and his Eastern lieutenants, created knottier problems. It was again apparent in the Garden turnout that one of the strongholds of the America First Committee is the bailiwick of Dr. Curran. The Brooklyn Tablet, which preaches Front doctrine and publicizes Front activity, was presumably included within the scope of Flynn's attack.

The fact behind the furor is that Flynn has been battling hard to rid the America First movement of any tie with Coughlinites. And the Curran faction has been striving with equal vigor to rid the America First movement of Mr. Flynn.

When the America First Committee held a Brooklyn revival meeting a fortnight ago, Mr. Flynn was reported to be opposed to selection of Dr. Curran to deliver the invocation. Mr. Flynn lost. Then the New York Enquirer, which has reliable sources in Front circles, reported that Dr. Curran was out to get Mr. Flynn; and that the Coughlinite wing was angered not only by Mr. Flynn's role but by the presence of Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, on America First platforms.

Friday night Mr. Flynn won. Norman Thomas was one of the chosen oratorical quartet.

It was obvious that, while the bulk of the Garden crowd was ready and willing to turn thumbs down on Joe McWilliams, it was less unanimous on the subject of Dr. Curran, whose name was spouted into the Garden air by an unidentified heckler.

It wasn't clear whether the heckler was for him or against him. It was clear that the assemblage was split between those who think he is a great man and those who believe he is a slicker McWilliams.

There is no way of calculating the precise strength of the Coughlinite contingent in the America First movement. But in some areas (like Brooklyn) the movement has its primary backing in Coughlinite quarters, and the Brooklyn Tablet is virtually its house organ.

Despite this internal conflict the sponsors of the meeting seemed pretty pleased with the performance. Police estimated that 22,000 people were inside the Garden, 10,000 outside. It was the largest isolationist jamboree in this area.

At various intervals they yelled that they wanted Lindbergh or Wheeler for President, preferably Lindbergh. Nobody yelled "Thomas for President."

AMERICA FIRST GAINING IN IOWA

Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the America First Committee, announced yesterday that the work of organizing Iowa —a task assigned to the Illinois chapter—is well under way.

Enthusiastic meetings, she said, have been held in Sioux City, Des Moines, Clinton and Dubuque. The Sioux City meeting adopted a resolution urging the national government to refrain from "any further steps which might involve the United States in war." Copies were sent to President Roosevelt and to the United States senators from Iowa.

Membership in the Illinois chapter has reached 27,000, it was announced.

This afternoon Dr. A. R. E. Wyant of Chicago will speak before the Hyde Park chapter in Graham Taylor Hall. His subject will be "Preserving Our American Way of Life."

Dr. Howard G. Swann of the University of Chicago will speak under the auspices of the Highland Park chapter.

But THIS Is!

Make your opinions count . . . TODAY . . . in the fight for peace.

Write or wire President Roosevelt at the White House, Washington, D. C.

Write or wire your Senators at the Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.*

Write or wire your Representative at the House Office Building, Washington, D. C.

Tell them you oppose convoys and war, that you do not want the widespread depression and misery —the probable destruction of our democracy—that war would cause.

Get others—your friends, relatives, associates in business, members of your church, social and civic groups—to write or wire today.

You must make your voice heard to save our way of life.

F. D. R. Will Speak

Tomorrow night Franklin Delano Roosevelt will speak to the people of the United States as their President. Whatever he says will make history. Hard pressed on every front, the democracies desperately need weapons—now. The defense lifeline between the Americas and Britain is fraying thin. Too many ships loaded from the arsenal of democracy are going down. What shall we do?

In this crisis the President's shoulders bear a heavy load. Under our Constitution he is charged with the conduct of foreign affairs, as well as being sworn to guard our safety as Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy.

The American people have given the President these responsibilities under a mandate to speed aid to the Allies. Whether we voted for him or not, we are Americans. F. D. R. is our elected President. We await his speech to hear what our country must do to make sure of its own security by making sure that the aid we demanded is effective.

That aid is not being made effective now.

Rear Admiral William A. Glassford warned us only last week that the war is being lost in the Atlantic. Here is how this practical old sea dog, commanding the American Yangtse Patrol, sizes up our situation:

> "There is only one thing that can be done and that is to see to it that the ships get safely across the ocean. How it is to be done remains to be seen, but whether by convoys or otherwise, we cannot permit the situation to continue with sinkings which are five against two of replacement."

The Gallup Poll shows 71% of the American people favoring convoys if it appears that Britain will otherwise be defeated. That time now threatens. It may be later than we think.

We have all prayed that this war would not come to involve us. We have all hoped and prayed that our country might be spared. But for all our hopes and prayers it has pushed closer and closer to us. We can feel the hot breath of world war and world revolution from the east and from the west. We are surrounded.

Those who murdered liberty on one continent are stabbing into two others. They have sworn that democracy must die everywhere.

The dictators have parlayed their world war and world revolution across the board, grasping ever closer to the Western Hemisphere itself. With their fifth columns, their propaganda and their sabotage they have already invaded South America and Central America. THEY HAVE ALREADY INVADED US.

We cannot escape this challenge. We cannot meet it with words or with supplies on the bottom of the ocean. Yet meet it we must. We must meet it with action, effective action. Whatever the cost we must remove this threat to the safety of our homes. Tomorrow night F. D. R. will give us the facts and the leadership that only our elected Commander-in-Chief can give.

Will you strengthen his hand in meeting this menace?

A noisy minority would have the President take an ineffective and dangerous course. The great majority that knows where our safety lies must make itself heard.

Wire the President TODAY

that you will support wholeheartedly all courageous leadership he gives us Tuesday night for strong and quick action to stop Hitler over there.

Tell him that you believe that any compromise with the aggressors' Axis would be fatal to America.

Tell him that you do NOT believe our two oceans are enough to keep Hitler away from America.

Tell him that you do NOT want America to do too little and do that too late!

WIRE THE PRESIDENT TODAY

6,000 MORE JOIN AMERICA FIRST ANTI-WAR DRIVE

The Illinois America First committee enrolled 6,000 new members last week, bringing its total membership to more than 227,000, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, announced yesterday. In addition, five new chapters were formed.

The new units, which raise to 93 the number of America First chapters in Illinois, were organized in Des Plaines, Orland Park, Harvard, and Carthage, and in the Morgan Park district in Chicago.

Dr. A. R. E. Wyant, Chicago physician, will discuss "Preserving Our American Way of Life" at a rally sponsored by the Hyde Park chapter of the America First committee at 4 p. m. today in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue.

AMERICA FIRST TOLD OF PERILS TO FREE SPEECH

President Roosevelt's refusal to renew the army commission of Hugh Johnson, former NRA chief, "smacks of an effort to intimidate and suppress free speech in opposition to the President's wishes," Dr. A. R. E. Wyant, a retired physician and educator, said yesterday in an address before the Hyde Park chapter of the America First committee at 5757 University avenue.

"Has the reprobation of Charles A. Lindbergh been because of his exercise of free speech in opposition to the President's anticipated involvement in a foreign war?" Dr. Wyant asked. "Why talk about fighting abroad for freedom of speech and expression and deny it at home?"

Dr. Wyant said prowar forces are trying to cut off public debate on the question of peace or war for the United States by persuading the President to declare a national emergency. He warned that this would give President Roosevelt complete control of the radio and would muzzle the voice of the nonintervention-ist majority.

OUR DEMOCRACY.

Entry of the United States into the World War would doom democracy in America, Dr. A. Eustace Haydon, professor of comparative religion at the University of Chicago, asserted in a speech before an "America First" rally. In one breath he asserts that democracy is doomed if we go to war; in the next he says, in effect, that we have never had democracy.

"America must first build a true democracy before it takes up arms against the totalitarian form of government," he declared. Note the word "true." We must build up "true democracy"; therefore we haven't had it in the past. We haven't had democracy; but democracy is doomed if we get into the war. We are about to lose something we never had!

Nor is Dr. Haydon any more lucid when he argues against himself on our mission to spread democracy throughout the world. Having failed to establish it here, we must spread it throughout the world.

"Half of the world could not be long held in serfdom if the other half was radiant with the beauties of an actualized democracy." (Note the word "actualized".) We have made a terrible botch of the democratic process, according to Dr. Haydon. Democracy, as we have known it, is not worth defending.

"If we are really loyal to the ideal we are being called upon to defend," he said, "we must begin here by curing the inequalities of our own life—by economic justice; by eliminating the poll tax; by opening the doors for the Negro; by crushing anti-Semitism; by freeing our people from the fear of homelessness and unemployment, and by breaking the shackles of special privilege that fetter our freedom."

Truly, there have been flaws in our system. Truly, flaws still exist and always will. But over a century and a half our system has produced a higher standard of living, and culture for a greater proportion of our people than any other system has ever produced for any other people anywhere, any time. It has made us foremost among the "have" peoples of the world. It has given us riches that have aroused the envy of those who have not. Our system is in no great danger from within. The danger lies without. And it is no fanciful danger.

Perhaps what we have called "democracy" is really not democracy at all, as Dr. Haydon contends. But it comes nearer to conferring the benefits of democracy than any system that mortal man has so far been able to make function. It is not perfect. It never will be perfect. But there are many Americans who believe that, with all its faults, it is worth fighting for.

Dr. Haydon would fight to improve it. He would not fight to preserve it. Apparently he believes that—come what may—we will be left free to achieve the reforms he advocates. Apparently he believes that, regardless of the outcome of the war—if only we keep out of it—we will be free to continue to enjoy our eminence among the "haves" of the world; free to pursue the will-o'-the-wisp of Utopian democracy unhindered by Hitler's new world order. Apparently he believes that, regardless of the outcome of the war—if only we remain aloof—there will still be chairs of comparative religion in American universities.

There are few spots on this globe at the moment where Dr. Haydon could practice his calling. There will soon be none, if those who believe as he believes, prevail.

'AMERICA FIRST' TO HEAR LECTURER

BERKELEY, May 26. — Franklin Sinclair, lecturer writer, will speak Thursday evening before the local America First Committee in a mass meeting at the Garfield School, Vine and Sacramento Streets.

Sinclair, who formerly was a college lecturer in economics and once served as special investigator in the Farm Credit Administration, recently was appointed State chairman of the California America First Committee.

defense of the America First Committee, not the national policy of effective action for the defeat of the totalitarian powers.

F. D. R. Statement Disregarded.

Disregarding such epochal declarations by the President as that over and beyond our naval patrols now helping insure delivery of supplies to Britain, the United States will use "any and all further methods or combination of methods" that can or should be used, and that are "now being devised by our military and naval technicians" for delivery of the goods to Britain, the committee statement says:

"The President's speech last night was the least warlike of any of his utterances since election."

Despite President Roosevelt's declaration that the United States will "actively resist" Hitler's "every attempt to gain control of the seas" and intends to keep him away from "any point in the world which could be used or would be used as a base of attack against the Americas," the America First statement argued that the Chief Executive's address showed the results of tremendous isolationist opposition.

Opponents of America First philosophy and tactics, upon learning of the statement, declared this afternoon that clearly the isolationist organizaion felt it could justify its existence longer only by attempting to believe that the President's speech did not say what it did.

Chat Is Called 'Long.'

The text of the America First statement follows:

"The President's speech last night was the least warlike of any of his utterances since election. It bears unmistakable evidence that he has begun to listen to the American people.

"Last night's fireside chat was one of the longest ever made by the President. It was not as clear as it was long. This, undoubtedly, because it was an impossible attempt to satisfy the war party, Winston Churchill, and the noninterventionists. But it is the first time since election that the President has recognized so clearly the tremendous opposition of the American people to our involvement in foreign wars.

"In contrast with his more recent statements, the emphasis of his speech last night was on American defense rather than saving the world. To the extent the President adheres to the actual defense of America he will have a united nation behind him.

"It is important to remember that the declaration of emergency adds little, if at all, to the President's powers, and to whatever extent it does it relates solely to home affairs. The President has no power whatever to declare war or to carry on armed hostilities without the consent of the Congress.

'War or Peace' Held Issue.

"The President quite properly avoided any direct statements which would infringe upon the constitutional power of Congress to declare war. The main issue facing the American people is still war or peace. On that issue the people of the United States must make their wishes known, in no uncertain terms, to the President and the Congress of the United States.

"The America First Committee urges the carrying out of the defense measures contained in the President's proclamation. The America First Committee also urges all Americans, in the interest of democracy and the welfare of this nation, to do everything in their power to maintain peace and avoid participation as a belligerent by this country in the European war now raging. We shall redouble our efforts to crystallize public opinion in support of the President's pledges to keep America out of other people's wars."

Still Isolationist, Says 'America 1st'

Leaders of the America First Committee, following a hastily convened parley in the Palmer House today, issued a statement seeking to minimize the significance of President Roosevelt's address, and asserting that the isolationist organization will now "redouble" its efforts.

The statement, issued by Brig. Gen. R. E. Wood, retired, national chairman, in the name of the national executive committee, was in sharp contrast to that of another nationally prominent America First leader, in Miami, Fla.

Close Ranks! Coe Pleads.

Charles Francis Coe, author and attorney, chairman of the recent much-publicized America First rally addressed by Former Governor Philip La Follette of Wisconsin, called in Miami for a closing of the ranks.

"By the President's speech the die is cast," Mr. Coe declared today. "Only one course remains to good Americans. Each must put his shoulder to that of his neighbor and keep his eyes fastened upon the sole objective, which is preservation of our homeland and institutions.

"In whatsoever capacity I can serve, I am ready to do so without equivocation, reservation or complaint."

Secrecy Veils Session Here.

The session of the America First Committee leaders here was conducted in extreme secrecy. Secretaries of three of the leaders declared in advance that it was to be held but that they did not know where. Reporters who went to the committee's national headquarters in the Board of Trade Building were given to understand by attaches that the meeting was under way somewhere in the suite of committee offices there.

After the formal statement of the committee was issued it was disclosed to newspapermen that the meeting was in Room 791 of the Palmer House. When the reporters arrived at the Palmer House no member of the America First group could be found.

That the session had been a long one was indicated by the fact that the statement, issued just before 1 p. m., came two and a half hours after the meeting was reported by committee attaches to be under way. It was understood that in addition to Wood, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice-chairman of the national committee, and R. Douglas Stuart Jr., director, were there.

The identity of others present was not learned.

The "executive committee" statement asserted that to the extent the President adheres to what it terms "the actual defense of America," he will have "a united nation" behind him. It says the committee urges the carrying out of the "defense measures contained in the President's proclamation."

But it makes clear that its idea of "defense" is the familiar isolationist

McDonough Asks Ban on Peace Rally

State Education Department officials were urged today by William F. McDonough, former president of the Association of State Civil Service Employes, to close the doors of Chancellors Hall to a peace meeting of the America First Committee tonight.

Writing "as an individual" to Commissioner Ernest E. Cole, McDonough asked cancellation of the permit under which U. S. Senator D. Worth Clark, Idaho Democrat, was to speak against U. S. intervention in the war.

Permit Already Issued

The office of Dr. Lloyd L. Cheney, assistant commissioner of education who has supervision over the hall, said the permit was obtained by Mrs. Frank Bernhardt, president of the Albany Chapter of Mothers of America.

"There doubtless are halls and meeting places which may be used for any purpose, but state buildings should not, it seems, be used for dividing public opinion in times of national emergencies," wrote Mr. McDonough.

"Chancellors Hall," he continued, "should never be the scene of words or actions disrespectful to the government or to government officials."

The Education Department, under rules of the Board of Regents, is permitted to lease the hall to outside organizations at a $50 fee, the price Mrs. Barnhardt agreed to pay for tonight's meeting.

No Action Expected

Filling in the permit application form, she said the nature of the program would be a "peace meeting." A "collection" is to be taken during the night to defray expenses, she said.

There was little prospect McDonough's letter would gain headway, although education officials indicated no action either way. Commissioner Cole is out of town.

McDonough asked that use of the hall be prohibited to "any group whose motives or whose patriotism is questioned by millions of Americans as wholly improper."

"The theories and principles enunciated by speakers such as Lindbergh, Wheeler and Clark . . ." he wrote, "are distasteful to loyal Americans if not actually helpful to the enemies of American freedom."

McDonough, a World War veteran, is a member of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies. He is an executive in the State Agricultural Department.

AMERICA FIRST UNITS IN 2 STATES ASKED TO INTENSIFY WAR FIGHT

America First committee groups in Illinois and Iowa were called on yesterday to intensify their drive to enroll new members and to continue writing President Roosevelt in opposition to convoys and this country's entrance into foreign war. Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of America First, also urged the chapters to conduct telephone campaigns to rally sympathizers.

"The President's proclamation that an unlimited national emergency exits," Mrs. Fairbank said, "does not take away the right of free speech, and does not infringe on the right of assembly, or the right to petition congress. Therefore, all citizens have a constitutional right to express their point of view on all subjects freely. I feel convinced that if we all work hard enough, we can succeed in keeping the country out of this war."

Harold E. Fey, field editor of the Christian Century magazine, will speak at 8 p. m. today at the Lincoln Park chapter's rally in the North Side auditorium, 3730 Clark street. The subject of his talk is: "Americans Can Still Choose Peace."

AMERICA FIRST TELLS OF GAINS IN MEMBERS SINCE FIRESIDE CHAT

More than 6,000 new members have joined the Illinois America First committee since President Roosevelt's fireside chat Tuesday, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, announced yesterday. She said the 98 units in Illinois now have 236,000 members. New chapters were formed last week in Midlothian, Maywood, Warrenville, Yorkville, and Streator, Ill. The Iowa America First committee reported an addition of 2,000 new members since the President's speech, Mrs. Fairbank said.

Memberships and contributions may be sent to headquarters of the Illinois America First committee at 122 South Michigan avenue, she said.

J. Kentner Elliott, a Chicago attorney, will address the Loyola chapter of the America First committee at 6519 Sheridan road at 8 p. m. tomorrow. Walter F. Boye, an attorney and author, will speak at the same hour before the Oak Park chapter in the unit's headquarters at 736 Lake street in the suburb.

ASSAILS CHARGE BY WAR MONGERS OF LACK OF UNITY

Contrary to claims of interventionists, the American people are united in their stand for the defense of the United States, J. Kentner Elliott, attorney, asserted last night in a speech before the Loyola chapter of the America First committee at 6519 Sheridan road.

"There is no lack of unity among the American people," Elliott said. "At no time in our history has our determination to defend to the utmost our country and perpetuate our way of life been more universal than it is now. Our differences are only as how best to accomplish this end."

At a meeting in the Oak Park chapter club rooms, 736 Lake street, Walter F. Boye, author and attorney, attacked the interventionists for attempts to lead the country into war by subtle methods. His subject was "Plowing Under Democracy."

Dr. D. S. Swain, secretary general of the Order of St. Paul, an Episcopal group of McNabb, Ill., will speak at 8 o'clock tonight at a meeting of the Park Ridge America First committee at Prospect and Stewart avenues, Park Ridge. Dr. Anton J. Carlson of the University of Chicago also will speak at the meeting.

Daisy Harriman draws a bead on 'America First'

By HAZEL MACDONALD

Mrs. J. Borden (Daisy) Harriman dashed about between showers today, dropping a few well-chosen words here and there for:

1. The Committee To Defend America, of which she is national vice-chairman. ("Chicago people I know on the America First Committee seem awfully embarrassed at the subversive company they find themselves keeping. Now in the East, all the America Firsters are from the out-and-out subversive element.")

2. British War Relief Society, which feted her at luncheon—unrationed—in the Casino Club.

3. Her book, "Mission to the North," just out. ("And don't say 'late minister to Norway'—makes me sound as if I were dead—say former minister," she cautioned the young woman who introduced her for a radio broadcast.)

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman

ADDRESSES HOUSEWIVES

Daisy Harriman came in over WLS just after a swing version of "My Heart At Thy Sweet Voice" and an aspic salad. She was wearing a blue redingote-type ensemble with that square-shouldered distinction that once made Charlie Dawes, encountering her in a hotel elevator in Paris, mistake her for Mary Garden—only woman in his experience with a back like that, he said.

Mrs. Harriman snuffed out a cigaret—"Don't say I smoked; I don't approve of smoking for my grandchildren"—and told the listening housewives of the radio audience about her collection of first editions.

"I had to leave them all in Oslo, except the government code book," she said.

NORWEGIANS DUPED

She affirmed that the Norwegians were betrayed by their native sense of fair play into refusing to believe the Nazis' intentions were anything but honorable. This even though the German ambassador treated the diplomatic corps to a showing of official horror-films of the demolition of Warsaw and Nazi engineers openly made a survey of the Oslo airport "for a commercial airline."

Sentiment in this country has crystallized and clarified remarkably since President Roosevelt's "full emergency" declaration, Mrs. Harriman observed. "All the people wanted was leadership," she said.

'AMERICA FIRST' IN N. Y. HIT BY CATHOLIC GROUP

'Unfair, Partisan Use' of Quotation About War Is Charged.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

A stinging rebuke to the New York chapter of the America First Committee has been delivered by officers of the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, it was disclosed in Washington today.

Charging "unfair, partisan use" of an excerpt from a recent statement of the board on the war, a letter addressed to America First in New York by Msgr. Michael J. Ready, general secretary of the N. C. W. C., declared:

"Men and women motivated by common decency and simple honor do not stoop to such deceit in promoting a cause deemed worthy."

Msgr. Ready stated in the letter that the chairman of the N. C. W. C. administrative board, which is composed of 10 archbishops and bishops, had directed him to send it.

Quotation Used in Leaflet.

He was directed, Msgr. Ready wrote, "to protest the unfair, partisan use of the statement (of the board) by quoting a few sentences out of the context and to condemn the devious tactics of endeavoring to use the influence of the board in favor of the America First Committee."

Msgr. Ready disclosed that the America First quotation was included in a leaflet distributed in New York May 18 "at the Telephone Ladies' Corporate Communion Breakfast." It bore the address of the "America First Committee, New York Chapter, Inc., 515 Madison avenue and 3 East 47th street."

The leaflet of the isolationist organization summarized a statement issued by the archbishops and bishops of the N. C. W. C. administrative board April 26 as calling "for prayers for the victims of war, for a just peace and for the guidance of America's civil authorities." Then, lifting part of one paragraph from the context, the leaflet quoted the board as follows:

"The will of America today is set on peace, not war, as the aim of our defense program. The strongest defense weapon with which we can equip the American soldier is a clear vision of the kind of peace that constitutes our ideal. An august voice has sounded again and again in an America still at peace, as well as in a Europe already at war, applying to the conditions of our day the Gospel message of peace on earth to men of good will."

A reading of the next sentences in the actual statement of the board, and other strong passages, shows that the America First quotation suppressed the meaning of its authors.

Immediately after the sentences chosen by America First for its uses, the statement cited "five essential points of world order and therefore of enduring world peace" laid down by Pope Pius XII in his Christmas allocution of 1939. They are far removed from Hitler's project of peace in his New Order.

The America First leaflets mentioned the board's allusion to the Pope's five points on peace—but in no way quoted or described them.

As cited in the board's statement, the Pope's five points were:

"First—The assurance to all nations of their right to life and independence—the will of one nation to live never justifying the death sentence of another.

"Second — Progressive disarmament, spiritual as well as material, and security for the effective implementing of agreements to this end.

"Third — Juridical institutions guaranteeing loyal fulfillment of peace terms and providing for revisions called for by changing conditions.

"Fourth—Satisfaction of the fair demands of national and racial minorities.

"Fifth—A deep sense of responsibility for the observance of the precepts of justice and charity among men and nations."

'True Peace' Desired.

Those who "dismiss high-minded statements of principle as hopelessly idealistic in what they would call a world of hard facts can find no comfort in the pronouncements of the Pope," the archbishops and bishops declared.

Having emphasized that what they desire is "true peace and true freedom," they concluded:

"We shall pray for an early peace; we shall pray for a world-wide peace; we shall pray for a peace, not based on the oppression or the destruction of peoples, but for a peace that will guarantee the rights and the honor of all nations and satisfy their vital needs. And in our prayers we shall not forget fervently to beg God to guide and strengthen our President, our Congress and all our civil authorities in the overwhelming responsibilities of this tragic hour."

Headed by the Most Reverend Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, as chairman, the administrative board includes Archbishops Francis J. Spellman of New York, John Gregory Murray of St. Paul and John T. McNicholas, O. P., of Cincinnati. Also members are Bishops John B. Peterson of Manchester, N. H., John A. Duffy of Buffalo, Francis C. Kelley of Oklahoma City and Tulsa, John Mark Gannon of Erie, Hugh C. Boyle of Pittsburgh and Edwin V. O'Hara of Kansas City.

Who Wants Disunity?

Since the President's speech declaring an unlimited emergency American ranks have been closing.

On last Monday's Battle Page we presented an extraordinary example of that unity, of the way in which in a crisis American partisanship really does end at the water's edge.

We presented the statements of five American leaders who call for unity in this crisis. These men have all been candidates for the Presidency of the United States. Altogether they received 132,648,945 votes for the highest office in our land.

The President who voiced our foreign policy is the only man in our history to be entrusted with that power by the people for a third term. One of those calling for a closing of the ranks behind that policy was his opponent in the last campaign, the present head of the Republican party. Two of the others also have opposed the President vigorously on other issues. Now they call for us all to stick together behind our elected Commander-in-Chief. Such is the American Way.

Who are the strongest against the President's policy?

HITLER

Berlin, May 29 (U.P.)—The German press castigated President Roosevelt today as a Jewish-influenced warmonger, and an official Nazi spokesman denied that the President spoke for the American people when he laid down United States foreign policy Tuesday night.

MUSSOLINI

Virginio Gayda, Il Duce's stooge, called the President's speech "Plethoric, subtle, alarmist, aggressive and yet extremely equivocal and confused." He said, "The President continues his game of offering hopes and even aid in exchange for dollars and pieces of English territory."

MATSUOKA

After studying the President's speech, Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka conferred with the German ambassador and then reaffirmed Japan's loyalty to the Axis.

AMERICA FIRST GROUP DENIED USE OF SCHOOL

Kezar Stadium Also Barred to Committee by Park Board; Lindbergh Invited to Talk

The San Francisco Board of Education, by unanimous vote, yesterday denied the request of the America First Committee for use of Marina Junior High School as a meeting place tomorrow night.

At the same time John J. Taheny, regional director of the America First Committee, disclosed that his committee had been denied use of Kezar Stadium by the board of park commissioners.

The committee, Taheny said, had hoped to have Charles Lindbergh as chief speaker and had every assurance that the famous flyer would have accepted their invitation had they succeeded in obtaining the stadium for the meeting.

PROGRAM DECLARED.

Philip Lee Bush, president of the board of education, said the board's action followed an established policy of refusing use of schools for meetings on controversial issues.

Taheny said the park commission based its refusal on the grounds that Kezar is restricted to recreational uses only. The commission's refusal was contained in a letter replying to a request for a June date at which a mass meeting was planned, said Taheny.

"I shall ask a committee of our group to investigate both refusals," Taheny said.

VETERANS OPPOSITION.

Opposition to use of the school was voiced before the board by W. L. Wilson and M. C. Herman, leaders of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Herman asserted the group is "trying to disrupt American unity." Wilson declared veterans would attend if the meeting were held and added there "might be disorder."

Taheny, an attorney and leader of the United Irish Societies, said the two veteran leaders were "rather presumptuous" if they undertook to represent the opinion of the VFW.

"We have members of the veterans' organizations in our committee, and I don't think that these two men could presume to speak for them," Taheny said.

AMERICA FIRST WARNS OF DEATH IN F. D. R.'S PATROL

Norman E. Saunders, member of the America First committee speakers' bureau, charged last night that "the blood of any American youth lost on so-called neutrality patrols will be a direct result of broken promises to the parents of America." He spoke at a meeting of the Near North Side chapter at 33 East Oak street.

"If the American people suffer a military defeat," said Saunders, "that defeat will be chargeable to the fact that the President defended foreign investments of banking interests in preference to the physical welfare of the American people."

Two meetings have been scheduled by the America First committee for the Chicago area tonight. The Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor of law at Notre Dame university, will speak in Gary church, Gary, Ind., at 8 o'clock. Dr. Howard S. America First Claims Big Membership Gains

CHICAGO, June 6 (I.N.S.). Large gains in membership during the last month were announced today by the America First Committee, and Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, claimed the gains proved "that public opinion is solidly against America's entrance into the war." SPREAD OF WAR BUTCHERY HIT BY FATHER O'BRIEN

Urges America to Work Toward Peace.

America can render the warring nations of Europe its greatest service by bringing the combatant leaders to the peace conference table, the Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor of graduate apologetics at Notre Dame university, asserted in a speech last night in Seaman's hall in Gary.

The audience of about 1,000 cheered Father O'Brien frequently and there were bursts of applause when he mentioned Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, leaders in the first to keep the United States out of the overseas struggle.

No Profit In War, All Agree.

The Notre Dame professor was introduced by the Rev. Harold Schmidt, pastor of the Chapel of the Dunes. The meeting was sponsored by the America First committee.

Dr. O'Brien said the greatest disservice to humanity would be action by the United States to spread the war to untouched areas and "increase the butchery of the masses in all lands."

"No nation profits from modern war," he said. "Hitler, Daladier, and Roosevelt proclaimed this before the war, and agreed that death and destruction would be the only victors."

United for Peace, He Says.

He asserted that the warring nations forgot this and were led like sheep to slaughter to cover up their leaders' bankruptcy as statesmen. He said the American people were never so united in their wish for peace as at present.

"No amount of war mongering, of inflammatory speeches stirring hatreds and fears, of Utopia plans for reforming the world, can budge them from their determination not to be pulled into the horrors of Europe's never ending feuds," Dr. O'Brien said.

Manifest Will "Ignored."

He asserted that the real American unity was in the desire for peace, and that President Roosevelt was ignoring the manifest will of more than a hundred million citizens while he proceeds "by every form of indirection, camouflage, and subterfuge to drag the nation closes to the brink of Europe's war."

"You have declared, Mr. President, that our defenses are weak," he continued. "Why strip them further by sending so much defense material abroad? Are you more interested in bolstering up the tottering British empire, with its domination over 500 million people, than in protecting the lives, welfare, and peace of the American people?

"Is American policy being shaped in Washington or at 10 Downing street? Why do you permit a British ambassador to tour our country, spreading propaganda to break down our neutrality law?"

Dr. O'Brien made it plain he was not talking as a representative of the Catholic church or of Notre Dame, but as an American citizen.

A...ERICA FIRST ENLISTS 250,000 MORE FOR PEACE

4 Week Gain Gives Illinois Chapter 450,000.

Growing sentiment against United States involvement in the European war was seen yesterday by officials of the America First committee as they announced a membership increase of 250,000 in the Illinois unit during the last four weeks.

This gain brought the total enrollment to 450,000, according to a report made public by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman of the Illinois chapter. Forty new chapters have been added during the same period, Mrs. Fairbank said, bringing to 100 the units affiliated with the Illinois committee.

3,000 Join Drive in Day.

"Within the last few weeks as many as 3,000 membership cards have poured into the committee offices in one day," she asserted. "An average force of 20 volunteer workers is busy 12 hours a day sorting cards and mailing literature. Other members are enrolling by the thousands in smaller units thruout the state.

"This is certainly proof that public opinion is solidly against our entrance into the war. America First rallies are drawing larger audiences nightly."

List All Illinois Chapters.

The complete list of chapters affiliated with the Illinois chapter, which includes part of Indiana in its territory, is as follows:

In Chicago—Auburn Park, Austin, Belmont, Christopher Columbus, Edgewater, Hyde Park, Lakeview, Lincoln park, Logan square, Loyola, Morgan Park, near north side, Rogers Park, south side, south shore, southwest, University of Chicago, Uptown, Woodlawn, Parkway.

Wheeler Fears U. S. Backs a Loser

Pittsburgh, June 6 (INS).—Senator Burton K. Wheeler yesterday called on American people who, he said, "do not want to back a loser," to face the "hard cold facts" and speak out against intervention in the European war.

The United States cannot force the "four freedoms" upon the world, "at least not in our generation," the Montana Democrat declared in broadcast address at a rally sponsored by Pittsburgh's America First Committee.

"The American people must speak. They must let the President know—that they expect him to stand by his pledges—that they expect him to continue his resistance to war . . ."

IT IS HAPPENING HERE NOW!

Frightening the poor of America is still going on. The War-Making committee is still picturing hapless Americans with Hitler's soldiers standing behind them here in America. This is the shameful invention that has been used to scare Americans into sending their young manhood to the bloody battlefields of Europe. Hanson Baldwin, famous military expert of the New York Times (war-making newspaper) says: "I do not know a single responsible military or naval officer or government official who believes this nation is threatened by direct invasion even if Germany wins." Of course there are "irresponsible" government officials who peddle that fraud to scare people.

But there are some things that resemble Hitler which ARE HAPPENING RIGHT NOW IN AMERICA.

"Sorry, Mister. The Government's Taking Over Now"

In Washington today there is a bill before congress. It has been presented by the WAR DEPARTMENT, with the approval of the PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES. It gives the President the right to send his officers or troops into any factory, shop, property in America, take it over, without limit in time and for any price he fixes, and run it under government officers.

This is not something that may happen after the war if we lose. This is something that is happening now. In Washington they call this bill the BRASS-KNUCKLE BILL.

This is the way a war to bring democracy to Europe goes along in America. Our first step is to destroy democracy here.

Creamless days, gasless Sundays, soaring prices, confiscatory taxes, crushing national debts—and now OWNERLESS FACTORIES AND SHOPS.

WHAT WILL BE THE NEXT STEP TO IMITATE HITLER HERE?

It is urgent that you write or wire the President today. Get others to write or wire. Urge him to work for peace now. Only by peace can we retain our democracy.

(Provided by the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, 8 W. 40th St., New York City)

They Trusted Hitler

Hitler now says we should trust him. He says he can't imagine why we think he wants to attack us. He sobs that he hasn't enough transport to attack us anyway. The wolf is talking softly now. He thinks he has found another Little Red Ridinghood.

He said he had no designs on Austria. He annexed it.

He said that if he got the Sudetenland there would "be no further territorial problems in Europe." Then he marched into Prague.

Poland trusted his non-aggression treaty. He took Poland.

Scandinavia trusted his peaceful promises. He took Denmark and Norway.

Holland and Belgium trusted his word. They were blitzed.

You have seen this picture of what happened to a trustful isolationist country in THE DAILY NEWS before: A Belgian mother flees with her children from their devastated home.

We do not need to call the roll of the other Red Ridinghoods. We know that when the wolf's words drip honey, that is the time to watch out. That is the time he thinks he is getting ready for the kill.

Already Hitler is waging war on the Americas. A year ago we had to rush two cruisers because of a self-confessed Nazi plan to seize Uruguay for the Reich.

Military Fifth Columns are in Brazil, Bolivia, Chile and Columbia, champing at the bit because Britain still holds out.

A couple of months ago THE DAILY NEWS exposed the blueprint of an Axis drive in which "Germany is to send warplanes via Dakar, Africa, to assist revolutionary movements in Argentina."

A negotiated peace now would only let Hitler consolidate his gains for his final assault on us. We would be dupes to trust his soft words. No, Grandmother, we see your sharp teeth.

A COINCIDENCE? LINDY AND HITLER USE SAME IDEA

Analysis Shows Similar Phrasing in Reference to River 'Frontiers.'

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

A coincidence of Lindberghian and Hitlerian phrase-making about the Mississippi River was brought to light today by comparison of an address by Charles A. Lindbergh and an interview with Adolf Hitler.

The Hitler interview was with John Cudahy, former United States ambassador to Belgium—an interview that President Roosevelt in his press conference last Friday linked with appeasement efforts pushed by Berlin in this country.

Not published until June 6, the Hitler-Cudahy conversation took place at Berchtesgaden May 23, Cudahy reported. That was six days before Lindbergh made the speech in question, in Philadelphia, May 29.

In that address at an America First rally, Lindbergh remarked:

"If we say that our frontier lies on the Rhine, they can say that their's lies on the Mississippi."

"They" clearly referred to the forces of Hitler.

Cudahy in his account of his Hitler interview of May 23, wrote:

"He (Hitler) said he had never heard anybody in Germany say that the Mississippi River was a German frontier in the same spirit that the prime minister of Australia has referred to the Rhine as a frontier of that country."

The Cudahy interview was published simultaneously in Life Magazine and several score American newspapers, including The Daily News.

Comparison of the phrases by Hitler and Lindbergh about the Rhine and Mississippi, and the aforementioned sequence of dates involved—May 23 when Hitler was interviewed, May 29 when Lindbergh spoke and June 6 when the Hitler interview was published—have caused much speculation here and in Washington as to whether the American flier or the German Fuehrer first conceived the striking words about the rivers.

Lindbergh Denies He Hinted At Overthrow of Government

By the Associated Press

New York, June 9.—Charles A. Lindbergh, spokesman for the America First Committee, said today that any statement that his recent speech in Philadelphia was directed toward President Roosevelt was untrue.

Lindbergh said that his call for a "change in leadership" was aimed at interventionists—"the leadership of the opposition which we (the Nation) have been following in recent months."

"Neither I nor anyone else on the America First Committee advocates proceeding by anything but constitutional methods," he said.

Lindbergh's remarks were made in reply to a telegram from William E. Moore, managing editor of the Baltimore Sun, received at the committee's office which said:

"Since you recently began using the phrase that the America First Organization is 'seeking new leadership in Washington,' it has been noted that other foremost speakers for the America First Committee are using the same phrase. Gov. La Follette used it here in his speech last night (Thursday). The Sun would be glad to print your explanation of the meaning of this phrase, and how a new leadership could be set up under our constitutional form of government before the next election."

Lindbergh replied:

"In reply to your telegram of June 8, my reference to the need for new leadership applied to the leadership of the interventionists which the Nation has been following in recent months.

"This is obvious if you read the paragraph of my Philadelphia address in which I asked, 'is it not time for us to turn to new policies and to new leadership?' In many press reports my question was removed entirely from its context. Neither I nor anyone else on the America First Committee advocates proceeding by anything but constitutional methods. It is our opposition (the interventionists) which endangers the American Constitution when it objects to our freedom of speech and expression. Under the Constitution, we have every right to advocate a leadership for this country which is non-interventionist and which places the interests of America first. This is, in fact, the primary objective of our committee. We believe that a non-interventionist and fundamentally American leadership is of vital necessity to the security and welfare of our country."

WARNS OF FOUR 'THREATS' IN FD TALK

Four "potential and dangerous threats" to the American way of life were contained in the latest Roosevelt "fireside chat," the Rev. William M. Medler of Hyde Park Lutheran Church said last night at an America First rally.

He warned that repeal of the neutrality act, convoys, intervention in the war and totalitarian government or dictatorship are ahead unless the people unite against them. He said:

"It is the zero hour. There is a graver battlefront menacing the American people today than that of Europe, Asia or Africa. It is the battle for our own freedom, our independence, our traditional Democratic way of life and government.

"We are facing a stern battle today to save our own democracy from those of our own citizenry who would jeopardize and destroy it."

HITS WAR LOGIC.

Dr. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago physiologist, addressing a large anti-war rally in Burlington, Ia., declared arguments being presented by interventionists steering this country to war are without logical merit.

From the same platform Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank of Chicago, national vice-chairman of the America First group, asserted:

"Many foreigners have been arriving in New York during the past few years and have brought with them the panic and terror of war-torn Europe. The result of all this has tended to make the east more war-minded than ever before. Such a condition is not prominent in the west."

"FACTS DISTORTED."

Dr. Swann told his many hearers that intervention arguments would not bear scrutiny in the light of cold facts. Talk of imminent invasion, he said, is not sustained by military experts.

'AMERICA FIRST' ORGANIZES HERE

Thirty Attend Initial Meeting; Armstrong Seeks Speaker for Rally

To plan a big keep-out-of-war rally, probably for the last week in June, and to organize a chapter of the America First Committee in Springfield, about 30 persons met at the home of O. K. Armstrong last night.

Mr. Armstrong will leave for Washington tonight, and while there will try to arrange for an outstanding keep-out-of-war speaker—perhaps Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho, Senator Gerald Nye, or Ex-Governor Phil La-Follette.

Tipton Chairman

Tentative plans are to have the rally either in White City ball park or the Shrine Mosque. Mr. Armstrong predicted an attendance of 4000 to 5000 persons.

Sesco V. Tipton, who has been named organizing chairman for America First in Springfield, had called the meeting.

Those who have signed the application for a charter for an America First chapter here include: Mr. Tipton, Mr. Armstrong, W. Clifton Hayes, Mary R. Coussens, Joseph E. Ray, E. H. Hartley, Mrs. Hartley, Mrs. John A. Krall, Mrs. George Kastendieck, Francis X. Ruscha, Mrs. Edward Ruscha, E. L. Williams.

The keep-out-of-war group will meet against next Thursday evening, June 19, at 8 o'clock, in the circuit court room in the court house, to complete plans for the mass meeting.

Name Committees

Mary R. Coussens was made secretary of the group. The Reverend W. H. Upton, pastor of the Congregational church, and Mrs. Krall, were made the speakers' committee.

Mr. Hayes, Ben Van Hook, and Mrs. Dryden Small were appointed to decide on the place of meeting.

Others present last night included Mr. Krall, Dr. D. O. Cowgill of the Drury faculty, Mrs. B. B. Brodhacker, Arthur Rummill, Mrs. Murt S. Crumpley, the Reverend W. C. Armstrong, Julian Lark, Mrs. F. O. Hartley, R. L. Terr, Dryden Small, Thora Shepard and P. L. Hayes, and most of the applicants for the America First chapter.

Who's Running This Show?

'Peacemakers' Declare War on Sister Group

There's war on the peace front! An offensive has been launched by the American Peace Mobilization, which appears to be the extreme left wing, against the America First Committee, which includes all the rest of the peace front from Herbert Hoover to Norman Thomas.

The objective seems to be: Who's gonna boss the peace show?

The bugle was blown last night by Dr. Walter Scott Neff, New York secretary of APM, as he exhorted an audience of 400 at the National Press Club to a crusade against the America First Committee.

Dr. Neff charged that the committee's aim was "Latin-America first" and said that it represents "as much a danger as our war-mongering administration."

America First has kept aloof from the APM, which has been described in Dies Committee testimony as having been organized by the Communist Party.

Dr. Neff charged that the Administration "has followed carefully a scheme to involve us in this struggle. . . . Now we are ready for the final plunge."

The meeting adopted a resolution condemning the Government for taking over the strike-bound North American aircraft plant at Inglewood, Calif.

3 AMERICA FIRST RALLIES DEMAND U. S. SHUN WAR

Warnings Issued on Loss of Democracy.

Demands that the United States keep out of the European war and initiate a peace movement now were made last night at three rallies of the America First committee. A warning also was voiced that if America enters the war its democratic form of government will be replaced by national socialism.

The meetings were held in Acacia hall, Glen Ellyn; 736 Lake street, Oak Park, and 6517 Sheridan road, under the auspices, respectively, of the Glen Ellyn, Oak Park, and Loyola chapters of the committee. A total of nearly 1,000 men and women attended the rallies.

Father O'Brien Urges Peace.

The Rev. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame university, speaking at the Glen Ellyn meeting, said:

"In the interests of the people of Britain, of the overrun countries of Europe, as well as the common masses of Germany and Italy, and in our own interests as well, we should put on a vigorous peace offensive. We should demand that the war leaders get around a conference table before a civilization built up over 2,000 years is reduced to dust and ashes.

"Now is a propitious time to besiege our President, senators, congressmen, and our fellow citizens to unite in presenting a solid American front for peace."

Fruit of Last War Cited.

America gained nothing but dead from the last war, and can gain nothing more from involvement in the present war, Dr. O'Brien said. He assailed as war mongers Secretary of the Navy Knox, Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of State Hull, and Senator Claude Pepper of Florida and urged that if they do get America into the war "they ought to be placed aboard the first convoys."

The principal speaker at the Oak Park rally was the Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of the Hyde Park Lutheran church. He said America faces a greater peril than war itself

A SLUR ON THE PRESIDENT

The President's friends among the war-makers are saying some strange things about him. Two of the columnists of the war-making bund printed a story this week in which they make the following amazing statement.

The President, they say, is deeply affected by his pledge not to send our army and navy into the war. He feels he must keep that pledge. But he thinks he would be relieved of that pledge if the Germans were to shoot at the American flag or an American ship first. Therefore, say the columnists, the President is going "to be smart." He is going to keep his word to the American people by "not shooting first," but he is going to play the game of the war-makers by "provoking the Germans to shoot at us first." He is going to keep on sniping at them until they open fire.

This, of course, is actually accusing the President of the United States of cunningly practicing the most shocking duplicity on the American people. If AMERICA FIRST made a charge like that against him, it would be denounced. But AMERICA FIRST does not endorse that charge.

The President did not promise the American people that "he would not shoot first." He promised he would not take them into a foreign war. And this, of course, includes not provoking foreign nations to shoot at us. The President knows that. And we believe he will act upon that understanding with the honorable course and not with the deceitful plan urged upon him by the war-bund.

Notre Dame Professor Asks: "Why Crucify Our Youth?"

By JOHN A. O'BRIEN, PH. D.
Of the University of Notre Dame, South Bend, Ind.

The supreme service that America can render to the world is to bring the warring leaders to the peace table now.

The supreme disservice would be to enlarge the area of slaughter and destruction, and fasten still deeper the institution of war upon the helpless peoples of the world.

Daladier, Hitler, Roosevelt acknowledged before the outbreak that the only victors would be destruction and death. Military victory and defeat are alike sterile. They solve no problem of justice or right.

Herein lies the unspeakable tragedy of war—it is meaningless, utterly, abysmally meaningless.

"War," declared Pope Pius XII, "settles nothing." Truer words were never spoken. The British bomb, starve and kill a million Germans. The Germans slaughter a million British. What problem of right or justice have they solved? The butchery of two million human beings has not brought them closer to the solution by so much as a hair's breadth.

This is the cancer that vitiates all the pleading of the interventionists. It is the ugly worm festering in the Dead Sea apples they are trying to sell to America.

More than a thousand students at Notre Dame University, coming from virtually every State in the Union, petitioned the President not to sentence them to death in Europe, Asia and Africa by dragging America into the European slaughter. They echo the voice of all those who must do the bleeding and dying. Why crucify the youth of America on the cross of hate and insanity? Why butcher them like cattle? Why yield to the insanity of modern war? Why plunge America into national suicide?

Our duty is crystal clear. Stay out. For the welfare of the British, the over-run nations, the common masses in Germany and Italy, and for America, let our government play the Christ-like role of peacemaker, not after the world is in ruins, but now.

Write to the President, your Senators and Congressman today.

Get others to write or wire today.

Impress them with your desire for peace and democracy and your opposition to foreign wars.

By writing today you can do your part to help keep the country out of war.

SMALLPOX DOCTRINE

After the President's national emergency speech, we pledged ourselves to work for unity. The American people had spoken on policy through their elected Commander-in-Chief. The time for debate on policy was over. This last the America "First" half of the Battle Page apparently agrees with. It has made no effort to debate. Instead it has come out in open attack on America and our American Government.

A week ago on the Battle Page the America "First" Committee presented Ku Kluxers and share-croppers as samples of our level of democracy, belittling on that count America's right to fight for liberty. Last Monday, as the Government moved with overwhelming public support to end a wildcat Communist strike that was robbing us of a fifth of our war-plane production, America "First" presented a cartoon of an American businessman being seized by an American soldier. It pooh-poohed worry over Hitler's storm troopers, headed the cartoon, "There are some things that resemble Hitler which ARE HAPPENING RIGHT NOW IN AMERICA."

Does America "First" really think the American Government and the American doughboys are more of a menace to our country than Hitler's storm troopers?

Which threatens YOUR security?

THIS OR THIS?

Just Hitler Troopers — American Doughboys

Why can the America "First" Committee find nothing good to say about our country? Why does it attack America, our Government, our doughboys? In time of danger does the American eagle foul his own nest? Could Goebbels himself do a better job for Hitler?

Reporting early Italian Fascism, William Bolitho wrote: "There is no serious doctrine in these things, nothing but bad faith and practical maneuvers. . . . There is no more a doctrine of Fascism than a doctrine of smallpox."

AMERICA FIRST RALLY BARRED BY MACPHAIL

Row Over Use of Ebbetts Field Revealed in Letter

A controversy between the Brooklyn Chapter of the America First Committee and Leland Stanford (Larry) MacPhail was revealed yesterday when the group said it had tried to rent Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers, for an anti-war rally, but that permission had been refused by Mr. McPhail, president of the ball club.

William T. Leonard, advertising man, who is executive chairman of the Brooklyn chapter, made public a letter he had written Mr. MacPhail, asking an apology for "offensive and insulting language" allegedly used last Wednesday when Mr. Leonard telephoned him about renting Ebbets Field. For his part, Mr. MacPhail stood pat, and said the home of the Dodgers never would be used for any "propaganda" rallies.

Mr. MacPhail is chairman of the Brooklyn division of the New York Chapter of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Declaring that "those who attempt to browbeat any one they do not agree with are usually followers of a totalitarian idea," Mr. Leonard expressed astonishment that Mr. MacPhail should "insult" the "thousands of members of this committee in Brooklyn."

"I am 100 per cent American and have no tolerance whatever for any Bundists, Communists or any other fellow-travelers of any nature or description," Mr. Leonard wrote.

"No comment," Mr. MacPhail said when asked about the incident. Then he went right ahead and explained:

"Mr. Leonard called me and asked for the field and I told him he couldn't have it, whereupon he began to tell me who he was and who I was and what they were going to do to me. Then I told him what I thought of him and the America First Committee. They are not going to get Ebbets Field for any America First rally."

AMERICA FIRST SPEAKER ASSAILS FOREIGN POLICY

Dr. Anton J. Carlson, University of Chicago physiologist, told an America First rally last night at 3730 North Clark street that "a foreign policy differing radically from the Monroe doctrine should not be adopted thru guile and propaganda in a period of fear and hysteria."

The way of democracy, he said, is to place all the cards on the table and decide the issue when minds are calm.

"In my experience and judgment," said Dr. Carlson, "racial animosities are intensified by war, not minimized. We disregarded the advice of Washington in 1917. Are we myopic enough to repeat in 1941?"

BANKER LAUDS U. S. RESTRAINT

The fact that the United States has not become involved in the war despite the intense emotional pull toward the suffering peoples of Europe is a great tribute to American common sense, J. Sanford Otis, vice president of the Central Trust Company, told the Peoria Rotary Club.

Speaking under the auspices of the America First Committee, of which he is national treasurer, Otis called the European war:

"A war which has its origin in the complex racial, social and economic conditions of Europe and in which we are still unprovoked."

GAIN GROUND.

He asserted the America First organization has definitely gained ground in its no-war crusade.

United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler, leader of the noninterventionist forces at Washington, will return to Chicago next week to address an America First mass meeting in Highland Park. Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the committee, predicted more than 1,600 persons will crowd the Highland Park High School Auditorium next Sunday night to hear the vigorous Montanan.

WOOD TO PRESIDE.

Gen. Robert E. Wood will preside at the meeting, for which handbills and letters are being circulated by the Highland Park chapter. Wheeler's last appearance in Chicago was April 27 when he spoke at the Chicago Arena before a crowd of 10,000.

Senator Wheeler is scheduled to speak next Saturday evening at Dubuque, Ia., in the Loras College Stadium under auspices of the newly organized America First chapter, which has recruited members in two weeks' time.

BATTLE OF CRETE CITED AS PROOF OF U. S. SAFETY

Speaker Says Air Power Can Beat Invader.

The battle of Crete proved that the hysterical scream of the interventionists—"America will be invaded!"—is utterly fantastic, J. Sanford Otis, treasurer of the national America First committee, asserted last night. He spoke before the Evanston chapter of the committee in the suburb's Community house, 908 Seward street.

J. Sanford Otis.

"That battle proved that the side with the most planes in the air can protect its bombers while they attack naval or military objectives," he told the audience.

What This Means to Us.

"Think what that means to us. With an adequate air force, we can get more planes into the air from our land bases than any invading fleet—or combination of fleets—could launch from aircraft carriers."

Otis branded as "silly" the theory that America would be invaded economically.

"England and Germany are neighbors," he said. "As neighbors it is better for them to settle their own disputes rather than for us to waste millions of men and most of our resources to establish peace between them—and then try to maintain that peace.

Want to Trade with Us.

"Germany, England, Italy, and Japan all want to trade with us. And buying and selling is not a one way street. It takes two to make a trade, and we have plenty with which to bargain."

EXPECT THRONG TO WELCOME WHEELER

Preparations were being made today to handle an overflow crowd when Senator Burton K. Wheeler brings his anti-war drive to the Chicago area Sunday night. The non-interventionist leader will address a meeting sponsored by the America First Committee at the Highland Park High School auditorium.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the committee, will preside at both meetings Senator Wheeler's talks will be broadcast.

Mrs. Philip Johnson, chairman of the Highland Park chapter, said additional chairs have been placed to accommodate more than 2,000 persons in the auditorium. She added that amplifiers will carry the talk outside.

In an America First meeting last night at 1554 Devon av. Mrs. Thomas E. Joyce, history teacher at Hyde High School, demanded that investigation of subversive groups in this country include a study of the "Union Now" movement and the English - Speaking Union: She said:

"The 'Union Now' and 'English-Speaking Union' comprise a traitorous movement intended to destroy the American Constitution. Their membership should be made known to the American public and their source of income disclosed to every opponent of subversive groups."

The War Bund Never Learns

The WAR BUND is shouting for war. It wants blood. It hires three-quarters of a page in the newspapers and shouts at the President, "What are you waiting for, Mr. President?"

There was a war bund in France and Britain. When Hitler attacked helpless Poland, the war birds screamed: "We must save democracy in Poland. To war!"

The British and French were stirred. The French politicians told them the Maginot Line was impregnable; that France's Army was the greatest in Europe. The British politicians told Britons her Navy was invincible.

French and British people were told Germany was weak. She did not have food, oil, steel. She had no Navy. Britain's Navy and France's Army would bottle Germany up and starve her into submission. There would be little fighting—the blockade would win.

But these French and British politicians lied to their people. France's Maginot Line was not impregnable. Her army of valiant men was helpless because it had no tanks, guns, planes. It marched on foot. The Germans came at it with armored trucks, huge tanks, an overwhelming air force. The French stood with their guns in their hands. The German tanks rolled over them. The French politicians knew Germany would have mastery of the air the first day fighting started. They did not tell their people. The people went to war because they were deceived—lied to about their strength. AND FRANCE—ONCE MIGHTY FRANCE—WAS CRUSHED IN A FEW WEEKS.

The people of Britain were not told the truth. Churchill said in his speech last week that when Britain entered the war "she was short of every essential supply and particularly of those special classes of weapons—anti-tank guns and tanks—which have proved themselves vital in modern war." She was even more lamentably short of planes. Churchill says that NOW. But the people of Britain were not told that WHEN THE WAR STARTED. Yet these politicians, knowing all this, took their people into war.

The tragic fruits of that folly are before us. Before the war began, Germany was planning to attack Poland. She cared not for Poland, but needed it as a pathway to the grain fields of Russia and the oil fields of Romania. Hitler was driving at Russia. But Britain and France said, "If you attack Poland we will attack you." That drove Germany to make terms with Russia. Then Britain and France declared war and sat down to starve Germany without any fighting. They did not save Poland's freedom. Instead, they lost the freedom of France and pulled down in the ruin the freedoms of Norway, Denmark, Holland and Belgium. ALL BECAUSE THEY WERE NOT PREPARED FOR WAR. AND THE ONLY COUNTRY THEY SAVED WAS COMMUNISTIC RUSSIA.

Now American war birds are trying to commit here the same terrible blunder—to take the American people into war thousands of miles away in Europe and Asia—AND WITH FAR LESS EVEN THAN FRANCE AND BRITAIN HAD.

Mr. Morgenthau cries out: "The time has come to fight." The War Bund Committee says: "What are we waiting for?" WE ARE WAITING FOR SOME WEAPONS AND WE WILL NOT HAVE ENOUGH FOR YEARS.

The only force that can stop the war birds is the people. The one agency through which the people can express their opposition to war is the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE. The way YOU CAN STOP the war birds is to join the AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE. JOIN TODAY.

American Action

In his speech declaring an unlimited emergency President Roosevelt stressed the sound old American doctrine of Freedom of the Seas. He pledged America to see that our supplies are delivered across the oceans. He said, "This can be done; it must be done; and it will be done."

The Axis torpedo that blasted the Robin Moor out of South American waters was a bald challenge to American policy. Berlin has gone out of its way to underscore that challenge. Berlin has said in effect, "We can sink everything in sight; we must sink everything in sight; and we will sink everything in sight."

Quite a change from the soft words of Adolf on May 23, when he said in an interview, that he had no intention of attacking America. Even while Adolf was speaking so softly the hulk of the Robin Moor was already at the bottom of the ocean, had been for more than two days. For all he knew the 46 men, women and children aboard, mostly Americans, were rotting in the water, too. So much for Adolf's soft words.

Remember, the Robin Moor was sunk by piracy, contrary to a treaty solemnly entered into by the Reich, ourselves and others. It was bound for South Africa, was not in any belligerent zone. It carried no munitions, only a general cargo for civilian use, including brassieres and one case of .22-caliber pop-guns.

To satisfy Adolf, it seems, we should not only keep our ships out of belligerent zones, but seal our ports. Next he may be claiming the right to sink ships in our harbors.

This Axis challenge cannot be allowed to go unanswered. It must be answered by American action. We have every faith that it is being answered. In his speech, F. D. R. said:

"We will not hesitate to use our armed forces to repel attack."

The American people are behind you, Mr. President, in whatever action may be needed to keep this attack from our shores.

BROKEN PLEDGE

We have been asked by our friends why we let America "First" beat us by appealing for members and funds on the Battle Page. We have not done so because we entered into a gentleman's agreement with America "First" not to use the page for such solicitation. On last Monday's Battle Page America "First" broke its pledge.

SHALL WE FIGHT FOR RED RUSSIA? GEN. WOOD ASKS

Dictatorship on Both Sides, He Asserts.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, said yesterday entry of communist Russia into the war should settle once and for all the intervention issue here at home. He added that the war party can hardly ask the people of America to take up arms behind the Red flag of Stalin.

At the same time Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, announced that increasing anti-war sentiment in Iowa had added 300 members to the newly organized chapter in Des Moines. She said several new chapters have been organized in Iowa.

Course Becomes Clearer.

"With the ruthless forces of dictatorship and aggression now clearly aligned on both sides," said Gen. Wood, "the proper course for America becomes even clearer. We must continue to build our defenses and take no part in the incongruous European conflict.

"With Stalin—the mortal enemy of the small democracies—now in the picture, and with Finland fighting on Hitler's side, new questions of national policy are presented which our government must decide at once.

He Asks Questions.

"In the name of the four freedoms are we now to undertake a program of all-out aid for Russia? Are we to produce the guns, planes, and tanks which will be used against Finland? Are we to continue our aid to Britain without some assurance that everything we send will not be relayed to Stalin in accordance with the Churchill pledge of aid?

"Are we now to welcome communists to the factories of our country? Are we going to close the Finnish consulates? Or are we at last to return to a constructive program that is essentially and traditionally American?"

Dr. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago physiologist, asserted last night that if President Roosevelt "chooses to align himself with Russia, now that she is at war with Germany, the wave of public opinion will win the battle for America First. He spoke at a meeting of the Oak Park America First chapter at 73 Lake street, Oak Park.

Urban G. Willis, principal of Pullman Technical High school, last night told the Loyola chapter of America First that "the America nation is united on the point of national defense, but it is not united on sending an armed force to fight in Europe." The meeting was held at 6519 Sheridan road.

PUT WAR ENTRY UP TO U. S., URGES AMERICA FIRST

Drop Disguises, Leaders Ask Administration.

Three leaders of the America First committee called on the Roosevelt administration last night to strip away what they described as the window dressing which has disguised the road to battle as a path to peace and to put the plain question "Do You Want War?" to the American people.

These leaders, Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman, and Gen. Thomas S. Hammond and Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the Illinois chapter, reiterated their demands that the United States build an impregnable defense but at the same time avoid the age old quarrels of Europe.

They held that the American people, altho confused by "administration shadow boxing with frozen foreign assets, ejected consuls, and other camouflage side issues," would vote an overwhelming "No" against sending American boys to die on foreign battle fields in defense of England.

Stand Unchanged, Says Wood.

"I wish it were possible to settle this matter thru a simple referendum on the question of peace or war," said Gen. Wood. "Leaders of our committee feel that the people are confused concerning the main issue by the current side issues. But they see no evidence of the people weakening in their desire to stay out of the European war."

Gen. Hammond concurred in Gen. Wood's statement and said that since the last war, when the nation saw boys unprepared for war pitted against those who had been prepared, he had worked to awaken the country to its military needs.

"A country that wants peace must watch its neutrality and be prepared to fight on land, sea, and in the air," he said. "The people should realize that talk of winning a war in the air is just talk. They should know that if a military victory is to be won eventually some one must go and dig the enemy out with a bayonet."

Efficient Defense Urged.

Mrs. Fairbank said she believed a general referendum on the question of war would show more than 90 per cent of the American people against involvement in the European conflict.

She said America First speakers would continue to demand that the country build efficient defenses and "stay home and concern ourselves, behind this protection, in building the greatest country in the world for our citizens."

"At this time, when dictators are ruling so much of the world," she said, "the necessary curtailment of democratic processes which war brings might well mean destruction of our republican form of government. We ask that all citizens support the principles on which the gov-

AMERICA FIRST RALLY WARNED ON AID TO REDS

Residents of Crystal Lake, McHenry county, were urged last night to support the America First committee's stand against war "before you are called upon to sacrifice your sons for Stalin." The appeal was made by Walter T. Woodcock, Elgin, Ill., publisher, who addressed 235 persons at Crystal Lake's first America First committee meeting.

"International gangsters are using the press, radio, and movies to inflame hatred in American minds so they can ease us into another money war," Woodcock said. "President Roosevelt undoubtedly is preparing another fireside chat in which he will ask us to take Japan and Finland to save democracy."

Mrs. B. C. Bacon, temporary chairman, and P. R. Frederick, secretary of the new chapter, presided at the meeting.

America First Speakers Lash At Communism

Bennett Clark Says Entry Into War Would Assist 'System of Heathenism'

The first meeting of the America First Committee since the outbreak of German-Russian hostilities was held last night in Columbus Hall, 1 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn. The burden of the speeches that the United States now has less reason than ever to enter the war since it would be fighting on the side of Communism and, in the words of Senator Bennett Champ Clark, Democrat, of Missouri, would be "helping one system of heathenism against another."

The Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, professor in the graduate school of the University of Notre Dame, told the 3,000 persons gathered in the hall that "the American people can't be driven by propaganda, trickery or deceit into fighting to maintain the Christ-hating despot, Stalin, in his tyranny over 180,000,000 enslaved people."

Classes Stalin With Hitler

Dr. O'Brien continued: "The propaganda that we must eventually enter the war to save democracy and Christianity has now received its death blow. For in duplicity and cruelty Stalin is the equal of Hitler and surpasses him in his hatred of Christianity, of our system of private ownership and in our democratic way of life. In asking the American people to turn our weapons against brave little Finland, the one country which has honored its obligations to America, to maintain on his bloody throne the worst butcher of Christians in the world, Churchill (Prime Minister Winston Churchill) does violence to the feelings of our people."

Dr. O'Brien charged the Roosevelt administration with leading the country to the brink of war and declared that the "overwhelming majority" of the American people are opposed to this country's involvement. He argued that involvement would injure Britain since it would deprive her of the supplies of war materials this country is now sending.

Quotes Cardinal O'Connell

He ended with a plea to President Roosevelt, saying in part: "If you will not listen to those authentic voices of the American people, Lindbergh, Wheeler, Nye, Clark and all those valiant pleaders for peace, I beg of you Mr. President, listen to that venerable prelate, the dean of the hierarchy of the Church in America, Cardinal O'Connell, when he pleads: 'There is no doubt in my mind that the American people desire a cessation of this stupid and brutal war and I may add that no one can doubt their desire to keep out of the conflict.'"

Senator Clark said: "What profit is it to a God-fearing people to gain dominion over the earth in union with Communism and lose our souls?" He asked why American money "made by the toil and sweat of her taxpayers should be po[ured] out to protect Russia." He decl[ared] that four-fifths of the Amer[ican] people are opposed to this nat[ional] involvement and repeated the a[rgu]ment that war would bring a d[ic]torship and exhausting fina[ncial] burden to generations of Americ[ans].

Another speaker was the Rev [Dr.] Gideon Olson, pastor of the B[e]lehem Lutheran Church, who as[ked] "Shall American might make [the] world safe for Communism? [Shall] we aid a nation whose policy du[ring] centuries has been one of oppre[ssion] of all people under its sway?"

SAN FRANCISCO EXAMIN

WARNS THAT WAR MONGERS DRIVE TOWARD CLIMAX

A desperate but steadily decreasing number of war mongers are still beating the war drums furiously in an effort to force the United States into war, it was asserted last night in a statement issued by the America First committee. The statement mentioned three events of the last 48 hours as being significant of a climactic propaganda effort. They were:

1. Stories appearing in nearly all London papers that the United States may enter the war soon. One London paper intimated that Independence day should be the day on which the United States should join Great Britain in war.

2. A radio talk by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox last night in which he asserted that now is the time for the United States navy to clear the Atlantic of German submarines.

3. A proclamation by Mayor Kelly calling on all Chicagoans and all organizations, whatever ceremonies their program calls for, to arrange to listen to an Independence day address by President Roosevelt at 4 p. m. [Chicago time] July 4.

Contents Not Indicated.

The President has not given any advance information as to what his address will contain. In previous talks he denounced the axis powers in no uncertain terms.

R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of the America First committee, said:

"It is now clear that America is not going to be hoodwinked a second time and that the Independence day celebration this year will see Americans saved from the designs of the war makers and the 'Union Now' group."

Three Other Speakers.

Three speakers who addressed America First committee rallies in Chicago and suburbs last night called upon President Roosevelt to strengthen America's defenses and denounced aid to Russia.

J. Kentner Elliott, attorney who spoke before the Oak Park chapter meeting at 736 Lake street, in the suburb, are putting a new dress on old 'Mrs. Emergency' and the slogan now is 'fight to save communism.'"

Miss Gertrude Coogan, economic analyst and author, addressed the Evanston chapter meeting in the Ridgeville Community house, 909 Seward street, in that suburb. She recalled former Russian-German collaboration to show the dictators' promises cannot be trusted.

Norman E. Saunders, addressing the Loyola chapter meeting at 6519 Sheridan road, declared: "The present administration can have national unity the minute it institutes an American policy for Americans and by Americans."

ARE YOU A UNION NOWZER?

Some shrewd men have said that when this war is over—assuming we get into it—one of three things will happen to us:

We will go socialist or communist.

We will go fascist.

We will join the British Empire.

In Washington and London is a group of radicals of the Laski-Tugwell brand who envision what may be called the NEW ORDER in America and London. They are powerful now in both countries.

In New York, Washington and London is another group—conservative—which has another plan—UNION NOW. This is a plan which in essence proposes to put an end to the Independence of the United States. Many of the most influential and vocal leaders of the movement to hurry America into this war are also leaders of this UNION NOW MOVEMENT. In the British Parliament last week when a British member expressed disapproval of UNION NOW, from all over the Chamber came cries of "Shame! Shame!" They recall the cries which greeted Patrick Henry's famous speech—cries of "Treason! Treason!"

Briefly the plan of the NOWZERS is to get the United States to join the British Empire. Of course they do not put it that way. They say the United States and Britain will unite to form one country. We will become citizens of a great empire—which they will call the British-American empire. But in reality we will be a dominion just as Canada, Australia, South Africa are.

Of course England will be a dominion too. Our Senate and House will become a local legislature to legislate for our dominion. But our foreign affairs and the common affairs of "our" empire will be in the hands of a new legislature in which we will have representatives. Our Congress will then take its place on the level of a state or provincial legislature, while the over-all Congress or Parliament will have representatives from England and all her sister dominions, including the United States.

This over-all parliament—sitting half-time in London and half-time in Washington—will rule "our" empire. Here are some of the pretty features of this plan:

1. England—our sister dominion—will hold on to her king, queen, dukes, lords and earls. They will form part of "our" empire constitution.

2. England will hold on to her colonies—India, Malay, the Gold Coast, and countless other places all over the world—395,000,000 subject peoples, part of "our" empire, but belonging to our sister dominion, England. Our chief interest in them will be to go to war every time one of them gets rambunctious or is threatened.

3. Our trade barriers will come down so that the factories of Britain's home towns and her colonies—one worked by semi-pauper labor and the other by semi-slave labor—can pour their goods across our borders to compete with our plants.

It's a great scheme if we are suckers enough to take it. But are we? ARE YOU A NOWZER?

STAND UP FOR AMERICA. RESIST THESE ATTACKS UPON HER INDEPENDENCE. TALK TO YOUR FRIENDS, WRITE TO YOUR NEWSPAPERS. ABOVE ALL, WRITE YOUR SENATORS, CONGRESSMEN AND THE PRESIDENT. TELL THEM YOU ARE FOR AMERICA AND AGAINST GOING TO WAR.

Hit Hitler Now

A Statement by the Executive Committee of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

The turn of the war today involves the greatest peril to this country since Germany struck. The attack upon Russia is part of the Battle of Britain and the Battle of America. If Hitler defeats Russia quickly, he will have unlimited oil supplies and will be that much stronger to attack Britain and the United States. Also if his defeat of Russia is complete and a Quisling government is in control at Moscow, Germany may even have a base in Siberia, across the Strait from Alaska. There are Russian submarines at Vladivostok and a Russian air force which could be used by Germany.

So far Japan has been lukewarm toward her Axis obligations because there was no way in which Germany could assist her. If Germany wins it will control Russian military equipment in Siberia and Germany can go to Japan's aid against China, Singapore, the Dutch East Indies and the United States in the Pacific.

On the other hand, so long as Russia holds out, Britain and the United States will be given a breathing spell to prepare and an opportunity to take the initiative in the Battle of Britain and the Battle of America. Presumably Germany is unable to wage air war on two fronts at the same time—she has neither the planes nor the gasoline.

The United States should, therefore:

1. Send to Britain for use over the English Channel or in Egypt or anywhere else every army and navy plane that the President finds can be spared and the maximum product of our factories to enable Britain to continue the offensive which she has so well started.

The delivery of this equipment should be protected by American naval forces.

Our planes should be manned by American pilots to whatever extent Americans will volunteer for such service and every obstacle should be removed in the way of British recruitment in this country.

2. The United States should take over the job of cleaning up the Atlantic, sinking on sight the German submarines, surface raiders, etc. that are destroying the freedom of the seas.

There should be full participation by this country in the Battle of the Atlantic. This would release British naval forces for service in the Battle of the Mediterranean and elsewhere.

3. We urge the occupation of such bases in the Atlantic and Pacific as may be necessary for the defense of America.

4. Realistically, while reaffirming its opposition to Communism as such, the United States should give whatever assistance it can to Russia in Russia's resistance to Germany.

5. Without taking our eyes off the main target, which is the Battle of the Atlantic, the United States should make whatever arrangement is necessary with China, the Dutch East Indies, Britain in the Far East and Russia, so that Japan may be immobilized as an Axis partner.

We are a practical people; we are not concerned with hypothetical states of war based upon rules which Germany has discarded. Let us be bold, therefore. We are interested in the most practical and forceful measures we can take today and the next day and the next day to contribute to a defeat of the Axis powers.

This Spy Suspect Likes the America First Idea

By John Kobler

As U. S. Attorney Harold M. Kennedy began the presentation of his evidence to a federal grand jury yesterday in the spy case, PM learned that at least one of the 29 defendants has been an admirer of the America First Committee.

He is Heinrich Carl Eilers, the glassy-eyed little seaman born in Brunschweig, Germany, a naturalized American and a former steward on the S. S. Manhattan, who lived with his cousin at 441 E. 76th st. He pleaded not guilty Monday to charges of transmitting U. S. military secrets abroad.

At the American First-Lindbergh rally in Madison Square Garden this spring Ray Platnick, PM photographer, spied Eilers in a box amid other German-Americans. He wore an AF armband and averted his face when Platnick began shooting his way.

Platnick has positively identified Eiler's rogues gallery full-face as that of the man in the box.

An America First press agent was ask "Is there a Heinrich Carl Eilers on you membership list?"

"No. There's a Henry Eiler, but the a dress is different."

Heinrich Eilers

"May I ha Eiler's address?"

"I couldn't gi you that. I would want to annoy innocent man."

"Are your mem berships open to in spection?"

"Certainly not."

None of the sp case defendants ha yet put his $25,00 bail, nor is any e pected to. The total amount is $625,00 With Axis funds frozen and suspicion boun to fall on any friend or relative who puts u a bond, this sum is not likely to be forth coming. The three women defendants wi remain in Manhattan's Woman's House of Detention until trial time, the men in th Federal House of Detention.

Arraignment of three more defendants bringing the total to 32, was postponed 2 hours yesterday. The three are Adolph Henry August Walischewsky, steward on the Moore-McCormack liner Uruguay; Otto Dold, second steward on the American ex port liner Excalibur; Paul Fehse, a ship's cook, already serving a year for failing to register as agent of a foreign government.

Odds-on chances are that the seven who pleaded guilty Monday will testify for the Government.

Lindbergh Assails Russia as Worst Possible U. S. Ally

Tells Peace Rally He Is Ready to Fight For American Defense

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—Charles A. Lindbergh, denouncing Russia and European entanglements, pleaded for "an independent destiny for America" amid prolonged applause at an overflow mass meeting sponsored by the America First Committee here last night.

The crowd filled the 12,000 seats of the Civic Auditorium before the meeting began and overflowed into the street where they listened to outdoor loudspeakers. About 7,000 seats were free.

The audience roared its loudest approval when Mr. Lindbergh declared:

"I would a hundred times rather see my country ally herself with England, or even with Germany with all her faults, than with the cruelty, the Godlessness and the barbarism that exist in Soviet Russia. * * *

"But there is one thing upon which we can agree, upon which we are not divided, and that is that we are ready to fight for America if the need should ever arise."

Lindbergh quoted Jefferson's statement that the countries of Europe "are nations of eternal war" and reiterated Washington's warning "against European entanglements."

Mr. Lindbergh responded with engaging grins to the ovation which greeted him and his wife, the former Anne Morrow, as they took their places on the platform with other speakers: Author Kathleen Norris, Actress Lillian Gish and Senator Clark of Idaho.

But his mouth wore grim lines when he spoke of "interventionist propaganda," commenting:

"A refugee who steps from the gangplank and advocates war is acclaimed as a defender of freedom. A native-born American who opposes war is called a fifth columnist."

MRS. FAIRBANK WARNS AGAINST U. S.-SOVIET TIES

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman of the America First committee, yesterday said in a letter sent to chapter heads that "if the war makers had their war, Americans might be bombing Finland with the Russians."

"This," she continued, "might have happened in spite of the fact that Finland is the only country which, until its enemy occupation, made regular payments on its debt to the United States as they came due.

"London newspapers are already suggesting that Soviet military supplies may be obtained from the United States, under the lend-lease act. There is no question that if we enter the war as an ally of England, we will find ourselves entangled with Russia in an alliance sure to be unpopular to a people believing, as we do, in the republican form of government."

REMOVE KNOX!

Article I, Section 8, U. S. Constitution:
The Congress shall have power:
To declare war . . . To raise and support armies . . .
To provide and maintain a navy . . . to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces.

This is the CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES which gives the power to Congress—and to Congress alone—to declare war and to make the rules for the army and navy of this country.

THIS IS COL. FRANK KNOX. He is Secretary of the Navy. He took an oath to support the Constitution. Yet in Boston, June 30, in a speech, he declared that "now was the time to strike," that we should use our navy NOW to "clear the Atlantic of the German menace." In other words, he advocated without consent of Congress, sending our navy under his command to start shooting it out with German subs, surface vessels and planes in the Atlantic Ocean. This sworn high officer proposes to defy the Constitution, to defy Congress and to start war with Germany on his own hook.

HERE ARE A BRACE OF GRIM FACTS. FACT NO. 1. The Gallup poll says 76 per cent. of the people oppose war and only one in four favors it. Congressman Hamilton Fish made a carefully guarded poll of his New York District—the President's own—and 27,000 voted against war, 3,000 for it. Only one in ten favored it. The Daily News poll thus far taken shows only three out of ten favor it in New York State. THE PEOPLE ARE OPPOSED TO WAR.

FACT NO. 2. Military Critics of all interventionist papers now say Lindbergh is right—the United States, after two years of preparation, has nothing to fight with—an army with no weapons—about 300 tanks against Germany's countless thousands—about 500 bomber planes against Germany's 30,000—no big guns—only a handful of machine guns—no modern anti-tank guns—no modern anti-aircraft guns.

Frank Knox knows this. YET HE WANTS TO DRAG THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TO WAR—a million young men with no weapons in their hands.

WHO IS FRANK KNOX?

He ran for vice president in 1936 on the Republican ticket. He is Secretary of the Navy in this Democratic administration. He is essentially a violent and loose talker. In 1936 he was carrying on a campaign of terror, telling the people the savings banks and insurance companies were all doomed, just as he is now saying that Hitler will invade us. Here is what his present colleagues, the Democrats, thought of him. In the Daily News Battle Page in 1936 the Democratic Party said:

"Knox is galloping around the country as the nominee of a major political party . . . Dazed and amazed by the unexpected honor the Colonel is indulging in absurd exaggerations that both shock and disgust intelligent people . . . Knox's campaign of terror is failing to impress the electorate, except to demonstrate his unfitness for public office. It is about time he put away his cowboy suit and started playing with grown-ups."

Alsop and Kintner as well as Pearson and Allen charged that the Navy under the Colonel's command has started shooting at German boats. Senator Wheeler demands that he be removed from the Cabinet. It is appalling to have this dangerous man in a post of such grave responsibility. HE SHOULD BE REMOVED AT ONCE.

Write your Senators and Congressman today. Urge them to act for the removal of this Secretary Knox who is striving to defy the Constitution, Congress and the American people. Urge that Knox be replaced by a Secretary who stands FOR America, FOR the Constitution, FOR the people, and FOR THE DEFENSE OF AMERICA.

Who Votes For Sin?

Speaking the other day of Representative Ham Fish's straw vote on war, F. D. R. said that voting on such polls was like voting on sin. He illustrated with the story of Calvin Coolidge, who is supposed to have returned from church and told Mrs. Coolidge that the preacher spoke on sin.

"What did he say?" asked Mrs. Coolidge.

"He was agin it."

Now the DAILY NEWS is asking a husky sample of New York State voters, "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?" Although we declined to take part in watching the tabulation, we have every faith in the integrity of the count. We just don't feel the poll clearly raises a question that is at issue.

In the first place, it assumes that we are not at war.

Whether you call it war or not, Hitler has been attacking this country and this country's interests for years. He has attacked with everything in his arsenal except an expeditionary force. He has attacked economically and diplomatically. He has attacked with spies, propaganda, sabotage and the organization of armed fifth columns. In times past, that would have been called war.

In Times Past This Would Have Been Called War

Whether you call it war or not, the United States has responded to defend itself against Hitler, responded with overwhelming public support. Army and Navy expansion is aimed at him. Axis funds have been frozen, Axis consuls sent home. With the overwhelming support of the people, the Congress and the Administration, we are pledged to the defeat of Hitler by the Lease-Lend Act. We are giving ships, tanks, planes, guns, food; we are giving all material aid to the Allies, withholding all these from Hitler. In times past, that would have been called war.

And at this point the NEWS asks, "Shall we enter the war?"

First tabulations of the poll show the "anti-war" vote somewhat less than the Gallup polls have found. But the chief thing we know about polls is that the result depends upon how the question is put.

3 to 1: F. D. R. Right or Hasn't Gone Far Enough

The latest Gallup polls show 85 per cent. of the American people in favor of American convoys. They show that by 3 to 1 the American people feel F. D. R. has been right or has not gone far enough in his aid to Britain. This, after the unlimited emergency speech in which he promised all necessary steps to see that our cargoes got to Britain and said military dispositions were being taken.

But when Dr. Gallup asks these same people a question worded like the question being asked in the NEWS poll, he finds that they vote by 3 to 1 against our entrance into the war at this time.

In voting this way aren't they voting against an A. E. F.? And aren't many voting against an A. E. F. because they don't see how it could be effective?

Dr. Gallup himself has explained the seemingly different trends of his polls thus: "From a score of surveys, the Institute has found that the term 'entering the war' generally means only one thing to the American public—the dispatch of men as in 1917."

The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies does not advocate a declaration of war. Therefore, when in advance of its poll the NEWS courteously asked us, along with America First, "as leading interventionist and isolationist organizations," to watch the tabulation, we suggested that the question be altered to raise a clear-cut issue between us. Specifically, we suggested the addition of a second question, such as Shall the United States use its Navy in the Battle of the Atlantic?"

The Issue: Shall We Use Our Navy in the Atlantic?

That is the issue actually before the American people.

Stated in this way, the voter would have known exactly what he was being asked to vote on, and those who follow the poll would know what the results meant.

America First Groups in Illinois Grow to 100

With the addition of units in Ottawa, Downers Grove, Taylorville and Carrollton, the number of chapters of the America First Committee in Illinois and the Chicago district has reached 100, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, announced yesterday.

The link of chapters, reaching from Johnson City in the south to Libertyville on the north, forms a strong chain in the anti-war crusade, Mrs. Fairbank said.

As a sample community, Mrs. Fairbank pointed to Kankakee, where the chapter is headed by Leslie Hinkle. In his report, Hinkle said:

"The entire district is 90 per cent opposed to involvement in any foreign conflict, an' there is little danger of any deviation from these figures."

Hinkle charged that Wendell Willkie is taking orders from President Roosevelt and relaying them to Willkie's "stooge," Joseph Martin, to be passed on to Republican committeemen.

The following America First meetings have been announced in the Chicago district:

Crystal Lake Chapter, I. O. O. F. Club, Crystal Lake, Monday night; Norman E. Saunders, businessman and lecturer.

Loyola Chapter, 6519 Sheridan road, Monday night; John Mourant, teacher of history, economics and philosophy.

Evanston Chapter, 908 Seward av., Evanston, Monday night; John W. Maselter, student of propaganda and research.

Oak Park Chapter, 736 Lake st., Oak Park av., Monday night; speaker not chosen.

Princeton Rotary Club, Princeton, Ill., Tuesday night; J. Sanford Otis, vice-president of the Central Public Company and treasurer of the National America First Committee.

U.S. Called Tool of Imperialist Britain; Communism Viewed as Worse than Nazism

America Firsters Cheer Mrs. Van Heineman's War Indictment.

BY WAYNE WHITTAKER.

The American people are the most cowardly, white-livered people in the world if they follow their leaders into war to help Great Britain defeat Hitler.

The Selective Service Act is an unholy thing.

Willkie was driven out of Chicago on his last visit here.

The British government is selling diamonds to the German toolmakers to aid in the manufacture of munitions.

The British imperialists taught the Indians to scalp the American colonists.

The former allies of the United States would throw the bones of American soldiers from the graves in Flanders Field if the rent was not paid regularly.

Hitler did the Rumanians a favor by driving out King Carol and they are grateful to him.

Hitler's taking land from the Poles does not differ morally from the American colonists taking land from the Indians.

100 at Oak Park Meeting.

The above statements were made by Mrs. Lyri Van Heineman in the course of an address and question period before the Oak Park chapter of the America First Committee last night in the group's headquarters at 736 Lake street in the suburb. Approximately 100 persons cheered the speaker.

"America is the finest nation in the world," said Mrs. Van Heineman, a fashionably dressed woman with flashing brown eyes. "I ought to know. I have traveled all over the world and made speeches in South America. Are we going to be led into a war to save British imperialism like a lot of cowards, a lot of dupes, a lot of geese?

"What would our forefathers who fought to break away from Europe say? What would they think of an American president who threw himself into the ocean to welcome a British ambassador to this country?"

References to Roosevelt as the "great white father" evoked cheers and whistles from the crowd.

"We don't have any leaders today," she said. "They have all gone into their holes. And remember this: You hired them and you can get rid of them."

Warns of Propaganda Warning.

Mrs. Van Heineman warned against British propaganda that would teach the American people to hate the Nazis.

"In the last war the British spent $350,000,000 to spread propaganda here," she said. "Lord Northcliffe, himself, said we were a lot of sheep. They spread lies, lies. Now the British are spending $500,000,000 for propaganda in this country. Are we going to fall for the same old bunk?

"Now you see young men marching down the streets in uniform—victims of that unholy thing, the Conscription Act. Our boys marched once before to make the world safe—so safe that there is no democracy today. As you see those boys marching remember that Churchill, himself, said that the world would never have been in its present chaotic condition if we had not entered the last war. He wrote it."

Mrs. Van Heineman, who said she was born in Ohio and was the daughter of a Civil War veteran, warned against appeals to patriotism at this time. As she spoke a large American flag stood at her right. On the wall behind her was a gold American eagle with two smaller flags and on either side large silhouettes of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

"There is a hospital in Canada today filled with 1,300 basket cases," she said. "They contain the heads and torsos of what were once beautiful young men, just as beautiful as the sons of you mothers in the audience tonight. You tell the warmongers to romanticize those basket cases. Tell that to Dorothy Thompson, who would sacrifice a million lives."

She reminded her listeners that England ruled the world for 400 years that "weren't so good."

"Remember that when people stick their fists in you face and ask: Who would you rather have win this war, Hitler or England? Why should either one win? Just ask them that. And remember that it was the English who taught the Indians to scalp your ancestors."

She recalled the hatred for the Kaiser in this country during the World War.

"They are trying to stir up the same hatred for Hitler today," she continued. "I remember how I hated the Kaiser. I knew he must be destroyed." She paused, lowering her voice to a soothing tone. "Don't you know you can't destroy ideals? You can't destroy a people. You must put new ideas to work."

Mrs. Van Heineman said she made speeches for Willkie during his campaign—Willkie "who sold out to the warmongers." The name of Willkie was booed.

"Willkie was driven out of Chicago the last time he was here," she said. (Later, during the question period, a woman asked to hear more about Willkie being driven from Chicago. Mrs. Van Heineman said that he wasn't "really driven out" but "practically driven out.")

Compares Hitler and Colonial U. S.

Also, during the question period, a woman asked if there was any difference between Hitler taking land from the Poles and the American colonists taking land from the Indians.

"Not morally," replied Mrs. Van Heineman, smiling. "Of course, maybe the Indians weren't using the land."

During her speech she dramatized a scene at the ceremonies over the Treaty of Versailles where, she said, Clemenceau spat into the face of Woodrow Wilson. Asked during the question period to enlarge on this, and where she obtained the information, she replied:

"Oh, I read it somewhere. I've forgotten just where, but it is really true. Clemenceau grabbed Wilson by the tie, shook him and spat right in his face. That was the kind of allies we had."

Titters and Frowns Mark Isolationist Rally by Loyola Chapter.

BY DON NEWTON.

Frowns and whispers marked the meeting of the Loyola chapter of America First last night, when 75 persons, mostly women, gathered to hear an instructor in a girls' school inveigh against the Communists, the warmongers and the British.

James O'Hare, acting chairman, called the meeting to order a half hour late, after the last stragglers arrived at the vacant store under the Loyola "L" structure on Sheridan road. The America Firsters scattered through the space, which could hold 150 people, in groups of two and three, talking in low tones. Nobody wore America First buttons except the group leaders, although they were offered free with the literature.

The group was reminded time after time to "write, write, write your congressman, your senators and the President. Write your Democratic congressman as well as your Republican congressman."

The Audience Titters.

After a salute to the flag, a lovely, black-haired girl read the minutes of the last meeting. She was the only person present under 30. The speaker was introduced as Dr. John Mourant, instructor of political economy and history at St. Xavier's College for Women on the South Side.

"I have spent the last eight years in girls' colleges," Dr. Mourant began in a high, pleading voice. "I don't want you to expect a high-binding speech with inflammatory oratory. I will leave that sort of thing to Secretary Knox."

The audience tittered, and were treated to an hour of instruction on what to guard against, who started the war (it might not have been Hitler, Dr. Mourant suggested), and the futility of any fight we might make against Germany. Of the two evils, Mourant stressed, communism was much worse than nazism.

Reds Better Organized.

"Communism is better organized than nazism," Mourant said, as residents of the Loyola community stopped to stare through the uncovered windows. Some grinned, although the doors were closed and they could not hear what was said. A few glowered at the meeting and the speaker. Nobody returned the stares.

"The Nazis would hardly get the support of the Negroes, Jews and other non-Aryan groups in this country," Dr. Mourant continued painstakingly. "The Nazi creed is built on a philosophy of race, you see."

"The Nazis tell businessmen what to do," Dr. Mourant syllogized. "So does this government, to some extent." (Titters and whispers.)

"But at the same time there is no loss of the natural right of private property under the Nazi system," Dr. Mourant said, "whereas under communism everything is pooled and religion is extirpated on every hand."

Whispers and nods of approval broke out when Dr. Mourant emphasized: "There is not much democracy in England. England is a political democracy—but not a social democracy."

Gen. Wood gets a challenge.

Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee, was challenged today by Fight For Freedom, Inc., to debate with an unnamed young man who has recently volunteered for army service.

The challenge, made public by Courtenay Barber Jr., acting director of the Fight For Freedom organization in Chicago, condemned Gen. Wood's view that the occupation of Iceland was "another step to edge us into war."

"His view is shocking evidence of plain and fancy ignorance," Barber's statement said. "The general seems to take his cue from the well-known colonel and his morning paper. This is regrettable, and we recommend that the general and other Chicagoans adopt our motto:

"'Billions for defense, not two cents for Tribune!'"

Free Wheeler

WHILE A great many good Americans feel that Senator Burton K. Wheeler has used up more than his share of free speech, we do not believe any appreciable number of Atlanta citizens would bar him from expressing his views so long as there is no law compelling them to listen to them. No doubt there are some who wish to hear Senator Wheeler and perhaps Colonel Lindbergh, who, it now appears, will be an added attraction at a later date, if and when the City Auditorium or some other hall is secured for the speaking.

The right to free speech is guaranteed under the Constitution of the United States. The right to speak in the Auditorium of the City of Atlanta seems to be, and properly, within the discretion of the Mayor and Council. While we are fed up on Senator Wheeler speeches, we are willing for all and sundry, who would like to hear him, to listen to him whenever and wherever they please. But we cannot shed any tears over Senator Wheeler's failure to secure as big an auditorium as he thinks he rates, because we feel sure the Senator's difficulties in getting a hall are of his own making.

No man in public life has spoken more often or more recklessly or with less regard for the responsibilities that are enjoined by the privilege of free speech. His stubborn refusal to acquiesce in the will of the majority and his abusive mouthings against the administration's war policy, arrived at by democratic processes, have disgusted many patriotic Americans. Indeed the Senator's abuse of free speech has driven some good Americans to the extreme of wishing to deny him the right to speak at all. The Senator is the victim of his own larynx. He is talking himself out of an audience. Which is the best answer to those who would forbid him to speak in Atlanta.

And now, just as we were signing off on Senator Wheeler and his bill of rights, comes a friend bearing a piece of America First propaganda, delivered to his home in Atlanta by the postman, franked by B. K. Wheeler as United States Senator. This long, yellow card, carried free through the mails because of Senator Wheeler's misuse of his franking privilege, brings the printed isolationist arguments of Wheeler (in bold type), Ex-President Hoover, Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, Ex-Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Gerald P. Nye. Underneath Senator Wheeler's page-one appeal for letters to the President against our entry into the war, a line in parentheses says: "Not printed at Government expense." Nothing is said about the cost of distribution. Wheeler's name in the place where a stamp should go takes care of that.

If Senator Wheeler would change the subject of his address to "A Frank Discussion of Franking," the America First Committee, which seems to include Bailey Stortz, secretary of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee (Senator Wheeler, chairman), might have less trouble in securing the Atlanta City Auditorium.

Truly, Burton K. is a Free Wheeler.

Liberties Union Backs Wheeler on Auditorium

Contends Hall Should Be Available, 'No Matter How Unpopular' Talk May Be

The American Civil Liberties Union Friday joined the America First Committee in its efforts to secure the Atlanta City Auditorium for Senator Burton K. Wheeler's "Alternative to War" address.

The union wired Mayor LeCraw and City Council's building and grounds committee as follows:

"The American Civil Liberties Union, whose sole object is to protect constitutional liberties, and is in no way concerned with the subject of Senator Wheeler's address, urges you to grant the application.

Urges Freedom of Hall

"The use of the municipal auditorium for public forums, we hold, should be free from discrimination against any group, no matter how unpopular or how distasteful its pronouncements may be. The American Civil Liberties Union stands on the general principle that all thought on matters of public concern should be freely expressed without interference. Public buildings are erected by the taxpayers of the entire community and should, therefore, be open to use by minority groups who are taxed like others for their erection and maintenance."

The buildings and grounds committee is scheduled to meet July 18 to pass on the committee's application for a date. Senator Wheeler originally was scheduled to speak here July 10 but gave it up when he was unable to obtain the Auditorium.

Meanwhile citizens of Atlanta were being flooded with franked postcards from Senator Wheeler urging them to write the President and protest "our entry into the European War."

While on the front of the card there was a statement — "not printed at public expense" no mention was made of the postal expense.

AMERICA FIRST RALLIES LASH ICELAND AEF

The landing of an American expeditionary force in Iceland and efforts of interventionists to put America in war as an ally of Russia, were attacked by speakers addressing America First Committee rallies in Chicago and Elmhurst last night.

Speaknig before the Lincoln Park chapter of the committee at 3730 N. Clark st., J. Kentner Elliott declared:

"War mongers tell us to hate and suppress communism in the United States, but would have us fight for it in Europe.

"Now the interventionists have caused us to invade Iceland. They say it is an 'outpost of our defense.' Given a free hand they would presently establish 'outposts' on the moon as protection from Mars."

At the Elmhurst meeting John W. Maselter said:

"The dispatching of American troops to Iceland was made in the face of President Roosevelt's speech in Philadelphia last October in which he declared that our army, navy or air forces would not be sent to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas except in case of attack."

Demands Isolation to Save America

The United States needs isolation now more than at any other time in its history, Capt. William J. Grace, chairman of the Citizens Keep America Out of War Committee, said last night at the organization's weekly meeting in the La Salle Hotel. He declared:

"The Russians say they have the Nazis stopped. If the Germans collapse under the combined British and Russian attack, who will stop the Bolshevik doctrines from spreading all over Europe and destroying Christianity?

"If the Russians lose, how will we be able to stop them from swarming out of their country and flooding the America?

"The only solution is to close the western hemisphere against both sides. Isolation is the right policy for America."

AMERICA FIRST CAMPAIGNS FOR MORE MEMBERS

An intensified drive to enroll new members in the Illinois America First committee was announced yesterday by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman. Present members of each of the state's 101 America First units will receive five membership cards with requests that they return them signed by new members, Mrs. Fairbanks said.

She urged all persons who believe that the United States can serve itself best by staying out of war and making its defenses so strong that no country would attempt an invasion to get in touch with either the Illinois America First committee at 122 South Michigan avenue, Chicago, or the chapter or unit nearest their home.

Seventy-eight heads of America First committee chapters thruout the nation met with national leaders of the organization yesterday in the Palmer House. Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman, and R. Douglas Stuart Jr., nation[illegible] director, addressed the meeting, which was called to discuss administrative procedure and methods to better carry out the America First program.

Removal of Knox Urged For Plea to Clear Atlantic

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 14.—A resolution adopted by 118 representatives of 10 American First Committee chapters urged that Secretary of the Navy Knox be removed from office because of his recommendation that the Navy be used to "clear the Atlantic of the German menace."

Secretary Knox's call for such action in a recent Boston address was viewed at a meeting yesterday by committee representatives as one which "advocated that the American Navy intervene in the present war now."

This, the resolution said, was in disregard of constitutional provisions that Congress has the sole power to declare war and for that reason "we do declare it to be the sense of this group that the Secretary of Navy is no longer a fit person to hold his present high office and should be removed. * * *"

Remove Knox! America First Heads Demand

Secretary of Navy 'Violating His Oath,' Resolution Charges

CHICAGO, July 13 (C.T.F.S.). Removal of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was demanded here today at a meeting of 118 representatives of the America First Committee, representing key chapters of the isolationist organization.

A resolution condemning the conduct of the Secretary of the Navy in advocating intervention of the American Navy in the war was passed as the group met to discuss general policies of the anti-interventionist group.

Knox, by his outright advocacy of undeclared war, is violating his oath of office, the resolution declared, "and should be removed from that office."

Text of Resolution

The text of the resolution, introduced by Joseph Forshaw, chairman of the St. Louis chapter of the America First Committee, reads as follows:

"Whereas, the Constitution of the United States provides that Congress has the sole power to declare war; and

"Whereas, the Secretary of the Navy, in public utterances, has advocated that the American Navy intervene in the present war now; and

"Whereas, such intervention of the American Navy would constitute actual and open war without the consent of Congress; and

"Whereas, by his solemn oath of office, the Secretary of the Navy has sworn to uphold the Constitution of the United States;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved: That we, the representatives of chapters of the America First Committee from San Diego, Calif., to Boston, Mass., do condemn and repudiate the unauthorized utterances and conduct of the Secretary of the Navy and by reason of his outright advocacy of undeclared war, in defiance of the Constitution, we do declare it to be the sense of this group that the Secretary of the Navy is no longer a fit person to hold his present high offices and should be removed from that office."

Senator George Praised

The chapter heads also passed resolutions praising Senator Walter F. George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, for his recent strong statements opposing entry of the United States into war, and opposing unalterably the proposed changes in the draft law which would allow the President to send a new A.E.F. to Europe.

Chairmen of America First chapters in Baltimore, Boston, New York, Bridgeport, Conn., San Diego, Minneapolis, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Cincinnati were among those attending. Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman presided.

Hope Hitler Attack Will Change Rep. Hill's Stand

SEATTLE, July 14.—Hugh DeLacy, president of the Washington Commonwealth Federation, expressed hope that the new world situation created by Hitler's unprovoked invasion of the U. S. S. R. will cause Congressman Knute Hill to reconsider his support of the America First Committee.

Congressman Hill was scheduled to address a mass meeting here under the auspices of the America First Committee.

"Without the least desiring to detract from Congressman Hill's reputation as a progressive or his right as an American citizen to speak his convictions," said DeLacy, "his friends cannot but wonder whether the congresesman in speaking under the auspices of Mr. Lease and the America First Committee is willing to appear in the same light as Mr. Lindbergh, who recently announced at an America First meeting in California that he would 'one hundred times' rather see our country ally itself to Germany than aid the Soviet Union.

"We hope that through consideration of the new world situation created by Hitler's unprovoked invasion of the U. S. S. R. will convince Representative Hill, as it has convinced thousands of his well-wishers, that President Roosevelt's pledge of aid to Britain, China and the Soviet Union is the only policy which can free our nation from the danger of having eventually to stand alone against a Nazified world."—E. 'Bold Patriot' Has Big Idea: Lindbergh for President

BY DON NEWTON.

A Lindbergh-for-President speech brought applause at the meeting of the Loyola chapter of America First last night, and even a housewifely woman who dozed through most of the meeting roused herself long enough to clap vigorously.

The Lindbergh partisan and speaker of the evening was Carl O. Sands, identified only as vice-chairman of the Lincoln Park chapter of America First. Twice during the evening Mr. Sands expressed fear that he might go to jail.

"If my beautiful wife has to work when I am in jail," said Mr. Sands at first, "I mean to carry on this fight to keep America out of war."

'He Will Brave Jail.'

Another time he drew applause when he cried: "If this means jail for me, this is what I am going to do."

The meeting started 45 minutes late. It was held in the usual place, the vacant store under the Loyola "L" structure, and the group of 48 America Firsters and two curious people attracted the usual curious stares from the passers-by.

"I looked forward to the day," Mr. Sands said, waving his pencil, which he called the "sword of the spirit"—"to the day when America shall dare again to nominate and elect a man to the Presidency, a man who has appeal and lack of retaliation.

He Refers to Lindbergh.

"I refer to the man who dared join America First—the man who followed his father in a barnstorming tour around the country in the terrible days of 1917 and 1918—I refer to former Col. Charles A. Lindbergh."

The speaker, a tall, thin man, betrayed a slight lisp as he implored the audience to write to their friends in Minnesota to vote for Lindbergh in the coming senatorial race against Gov. Stassen, "a man with a large neck who said 'We want war.'"

Acting Chairman James O'Hare gave a halting resume of the war situation to date, referring to the Secretary of the Navy as "Fireball" Knox. Mr. Sands said of Knox: "That man must go."

Sell Social Justice.

Shock and cries of "Oh" and "Ts, ts" came forth when Mr. O'Hare said that "he understood" that at a recent meeting of the USO in Washington, the suggestion had been made to place the magazines, Life and Time, in each Army barracks. The magazines are notoriously pro-war, he asserted.

Social Justice, Father Coughlin's anti-Semitic magazine, was sold to the America Firsters outside the meeting place. A reference made by one of the audience to how "the Jews want us to get into this war" was discounted by a Harvard law student present, who said "In my class the Jews are 100 per cent against war."

A belligerent young insurance salesman drew applause when he pointed to the continued growth of the Loyola chapter. Attendance last week was 75. Last night the tally was 48.

Again members of the audience were enjoined to write their congressmen. Mr. O'Hare said the "mail has reached a dangerously low point."

YOU ARE AGAINST WAR

You told the DAILY NEWS you are against going into this war to help Britain defeat Hitler. Only one out of three in the "war capital"—Manhattan—is in favor of that war. In Queens only one out of five favors it.

You are no different from AMERICANS in other parts of the country, save that in other states it is only one in five or six or ten who favors war.

Who is that one fellow in three or ten who favors war? And while you meditate that question, keep this in your mind. You are against war—but YOU ARE NOT GOING TO HAVE ANY CHANCE TO DECIDE THE ISSUE. It is going to be decided for you. And it is going to be that minority—that one fellow out of three, that one fellow out of ten—who is going to tell you whether you will go or not, when you will go and where.

You are not going to get a chance to settle the question by a declaration of war by Congress. That is not the way this minority is going to push you into this war. It is going to be done one inch at a time, one decision at a time. Not one of these advances, none of these decisions taken singly will mean war. But the total result of all of them when added up will mean this—that one fine morning you will wake up and find yourself at war.

Who is doing this? Your leaders in Washington are doing it and they are being supported in this effort with money, with shouts, with vilification by a small minority of the American people.

AND THE TIME HAS COME TO KNOW WHO THESE WAR-MAKERS ARE. Who are the leaders? Who is putting up the money? Who is inspiring all this shameful vilification of Americans who are trying to save their country from the blood-letting in Russia and Britain? Who is this one fellow out of three who is dragging the three fellows to war?

Senator Wheeler has demanded an investigation of the war-makers. The American people have a right to know who they are. The British agents here, some of them like Sir Josiah Wedgewood, who openly and brazenly insult an American senator? The agents of other foreign and racial groups who are trying to drag America into the wars of Europe at the probable cost of America's own liberties? WHO ARE THEY? Tell your congressmen and your senators that you want to know.

War-Makers Hatch New Scheme To Push Draftees Into War Zones

Each week the war-makers contrive some new scheme in the name national defense. But that is a scheme to add another step to the trip the dark path to war. The latest is (1) to break faith with the men who were drafted by forcing them to stay in the Army, not only beyond the year of service, but as long as the emergency lasts; (2) to give the President without a declaration of war the power send them to Europe, Asia or Africa. WHY? TO DEFEND AMERICA? NO!

The only purpose is to take you into one of those fatal decisions which, added up, will mean war. If you want to keep out of this war there is only one way to do it—balk every step these war-makers propose to put deeper into Europe.

Congress is YOUR SERVANT. In the end these congressmen are answerable to you. Because you have been speaking up, Congress has at last summoned up the manhood to talk up for AMERICA and tell the President he cannot have our boys to send to China, to Northern Africa, to Russia, to Britain, to Dakar. For the moment that snake is dead.

But the other one—the plan to hold the boys in the Army indefinitely—that is still squirming and spitting its poison. Congress is against it. So the President, the War Bund, the smearers, with all the money of the Government, the defense contracts, have gone to work on these congressmen and senators.

The only one who can scotch this snake is YOU. YOU VOTED AGAINST GOING TO WAR. Now write to your senators, to your congressmen, to the President—TODAY, WITHOUT DELAY, and demand that the plan to hold the selectees beyond their year of service be killed and at once.

Vas You Dere, Sharlie?

At last Charles A. Lindbergh finds that spiritual things count. He hates Godlessness. Of course, he found he hated Godlessness just in time to keep step with the Nazi Party Propaganda line. Hitler is trying to pose as a defender of the Christian faith. Hitler has stuck the knife in Pal Joey. So now Lindbergh publicly hates Godlessness in Russia—to cry down American aid against Hitler.

How different things used to be when Germany and Russia were dividing the swag! Then Pal Joey was a full-fledged partner in the "Wave of the Future."

We welcome Lindbergh's new view. But Lindbergh is helping Hitler's attempted build-up as defender of the faith. Does Lindbergh wash his hands of Nazi Godlessness?

After Hitler attacked Russia the German Catholic bishops, in a pastoral letter read from every pulpit, assailed Nazi attempts against the Church which are threatening the very existence of Christianity in the Reich. Did you read it, Mr. Lindbergh?

Hitler has done his best to throttle religion in Germany. Do you remember the wholesale persecution of the nuns, Mr. Lindbergh, on phony money charges, the wholesale persecution of priests and lay brothers on phony charges that are unprintable?

Do you remember the plea to Hitler of the Protestant chaplains of the German Army, telling of 1,300 pastors arrested, charging that the State and Party were waging a death struggle against Christianity, Catholic and Protestant?

Do you remember the ringing Encyclical of the late Pope Pius XI, denouncing the Nazi regime for its infamies against the Church and against the dignity of man?

Do you remember, Mr. Lindbergh, the eloquent pastoral letter of the Norwegian bishops, the persecution of the churches in Holland and the other occupied countries, the Nazi-ravished altars of Poland?

Do you remember that when you took your Goering medal, brave Pastor Niemoller had languished for more than a year in Nazi prisons and concentration camps? That just ten days earlier a Nazi stooge mob had smashed the windows of Cardinal Innitzer's palace and assaulted Catholic priests and women on the streets of Vienna? That the Party was at that time readying the Reich for the most awful pogrom in modern history?

Others spoke up like men against this Godlessness.

Vas you dere, Sharlie?

Attack on F. D. Stirs 'Impeach' Shouts

By United Press

PITTSBUGH, July 19—An America First Committee mass meeting last night shouted for impeachment of President Roosevelt after Congressman Stephen A. Day of Illinois charged him with failing to uphold the Neutrality Act.

Rep. Day called Harry Hopkins, lend-lease administrator, "a secret agent of Roosevelt, a stooge who would sell out America and who lives in the White House."

He accused the President of failing to uphold the "law of the land" by failing to invoke the Neutrality Act in the Russo-German war. The audience of about 1000 voiced continuous demands for impeachment of the President.

AMERICA FIRST OUSTS TWO FOR ANTISEMITISM

Northern California Unit Tells of Dismissing Pair Accused of Propaganda Against Jews

John J. Tehaney, regional director in northern California for the America First Committee, announced yesterday that George Baker, chairman of the George Washington Chapter in the Mission District, has been dismissed from the organization.

"Baker and Sam Brogden, who was dismissed in May," charged Tehaney, "have been dispensed with because they head a small clique which has been trying to disrupt the organization, largely through anti-Semitic propaganda.

DISPUTE TOLD.

"The principal reason for the action against Baker was his refusal to halt his propaganda, after he had been called to task for this attitude last Monday night.

"He meanwhile has joined up with Brogden, who was ousted on May 27, in a new organization called 'The No Foreign War Coalition, Inc.' and announced his new affiliation at the Thursday night meeting of the George Washington Chapter at 454 Valencia Street."

CHAPTERS FORM.

Tehaney added that the number of San Francisco chapters of the America First Committee now totals nine, with the formation of a new one, the Burton K. Wheeler Chapter, named for the noted isolationist Senator, which held its first meeting Thursday night at Desiano Hall, 2455 Lombard Street.

He dismissed the flurry over the Brogden-Baker group as "unimportant and of no consequence."

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR AMERICA FIRST.

In the America First movement the people of the United States have an organization bound together solely by principles of national policy. In this respect there has been nothing properly comparable to the rise of America First since the formation of the Republican party. In this respect, too, the movement has a quality of integrity which distinguishes it from either of the major political parties.

Today the Democratic party is nothing but a political machine. Its greatest strength in the north lies in the boss ridden metropolitan cities. It exists for corruption and by corruption. It buys votes with doles and political favors. These are all that hold it together.

The Republican party, having had little in the way of spoils to distribute for many years, is far more reputable. The Republican apple is mostly sound, but it is not without its rotten spots, especially in the east, where it has long been under the influence of the wealthy and the socially ambitious.

The position of America First today is very strong. The public has confidence in its leaders and in their integrity and every poll proves that the committee is expressing the will of the vast majority of the people from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The committee, if it will, can contribute a great deal toward returning the government of this country to the people.

America First should resolve now to indorse those candidates for the senate and the house of representatives who have stood by America in her hour of need. There will be a national election a year from November. Candidates for reelection who have helped push America toward war, who have participated in the conspiracy to send American soldiers to Europe and Africa, must be defeated. Candidates who can be trusted to keep faith with their constituents must be elected. To achieve that end will require careful study and organization. It is not too soon for America First to start its preparations.

America First Here 'Welcomes' Probe

The Greater Cleveland chapter of the America First Committee last night at is headquarters at 1227 Prospect Avenue S. E. adopted a resolution welcoming an investigation of the organization by the United States Senate.

John B. Osmun, chairman of the chapter and former assistant United States district attorney, said the action was taken in response to the request made Sunday by a group of World War veterans at the Veterans Facility at Brecksville in a letter to Vice Presient Henry A. Wallace.

In its resolution, a copy of which Osmun said would be sent to Vice President Wallace, the chapter suggested that "the warmongers" be investigated also.

The resolution, as given by Osmun, follows, in part:

"We welcome any form of investigation by anyone. The accusation that Senators Wheeler and Nye and the America First Committee are doing anything in line with what Hitler would have them do is typical of the smear campaign inaugurated by the administration at the instigation of British propagandists and our own warmongers, encouraged by the hatred-inspired, revenge-seeking Communists. * * *

"Of the three, Germany, Russia and England, the latter two have proved themselves to be America's worst enemies. * * * *

NEGRO SUPPORT FOR AMERICA FIRST.

A colored people's division of the America First organization is being formed under the leadership of J. Finley Wilson. The movement ought to have a pronounced success. There is no divided national loyalty among the Negroes of this country. They are Americans from 'way back, with no ties which bind them to one or another of the European belligerents. If any group in this country can view our international relations with an eye solely to the welfare of our country it should be the Negroes. With the fewest exceptions their ancestors have been in this country for 150 years or more.

In a letter addressed to prominent colored people in various parts of the country Mr. Wilson has called attention to the peril which war presents to all the minority groups in America. The warning is a timely one. It is no accident that the Ku Klux arose after the last war. The klan was born of the disillusionment, the economic distress, and the social unrest which were the direct consequences of the war. The race riots at about the same time in Chicago and other cities had much the same origin. If our country gets into the present war the same sort of consequences are to be expected, but the scale of intolerance may be expected to rise far higher.

We started the last war with a negligible national debt. Today the debt approximates 50 billion dollars. In the last war the government spent something like 40 billion dollars. Congress has already appropriated more than that amount for armament and that is only the beginning. If we get into this war we can hardly expect to emerge with a debt of less than 200 billion dollars. Inflation or repudiation or both would follow. Hitler and his movement of intolerance followed inflation in Germany because the middle classes which might have checked his rise had been wiped out and were without hope.

Great wars lead to great depressions. If we get into this war it will be the greatest of all wars and may well be followed by the deepest of all depressions. In such circumstances the minority groups always suffer the greatest hardships. Their people are the first to be fired and the last to be hired.

The Negroes of this country have no connection with Europe and can look at our problem with clear eyes. The Negroes, like all of us, have an immense stake in the preservation of peace. As Mr. Wilson well said, war will imperil the position of all minority groups and set the country back 50 years. He has reason and experience on his side.

This Is Subversive Action

As clear as day is the certainty that our army cannot be a political club. When it is a political club its discipline as an agent of the Government is gone. It is then no longer an army; it is a Praetorian Guard, a body of Mamelukes, usurping power over the government which should control it. Instead of a servant it becomes a master and as the Praetorians and the Mamelukes ever were, a capricious and tyrannical master.

It is for this sound reason that army regulations, navy regulations also, forbid the writing of personal letters to influence official action. The letters draftees have been writing to Washington to protest against extension of their service period are offenses against army law, as they should be. Draftees may not have known this, though ignorance of the law is never an excuse, and they have, as General Marshall says, been egged on by outside forces. At the same time this must be stamped out if there is to be a disciplined army.

Fomentation of these letters is a subversive activity. Internal evidence in the letters themselves, similar phraseology, recurring expressions of similar attitudes, show that groups of them have come from common sources. The Wheeler and Taft America First Committee bears a responsibility in this. It has been urging protest of service extension as one of its varied attempts to spread confusion among the American people and weaken American defense.

Wheeler and Taft, by making public such letters, as Wheeler has done, and by press-agenting the movement, as both of them have done, have directly encouraged soldiers in the army to write these letters. They go too far, even for immune Senators, when they attempt to spread disruption in the army. The guilty soldiers are subject to military law; it is too bad that the guilty Senators are not likewise amenable to military discipline.

AMERICA FIRST ORGANIZATIONAL WORK DISCUSSED

Sixty chapter chairmen and representatives of the speakers' bureau of the America First committe met last night at 122 South Michigan avenue to report progress in organizational work of that group.

Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, was in charge of the meeting and urged that a special effort be made to interest the nation's farmers in the committee's work. P. R. Fredericks, chairman of the Crystal Lake chapter, supported this plea by declaring that the farmer is overwhelmingly in favor of America First "since, unlike men living in the city, he can think independently."

There also was a discussion of the Union Now movement by John W. Maselter of the speakers' bureau.

'AMERICA FIRST' GETS BACKING IN NEW MAGAZINE

Anti-Semitic Publication Carries Letter 'Signed by Robert E. Wood.'

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

The battle of "America First" has new more enthusiastic champions, it was learned today, than a new magazine with strong convictions, published in Englewood, Colo.

The magazine is "The American Citizen." Its initial issue, for July, which reached Chicago today, plunks hard for "America First." It plunks equally hard for the well-known anti-Semitic book, "The Octopus," and the similar broadside, "War Guilt and Warmongers."

Half of the back page of the opening issue is devoted to an advertisement, or public notice, reading:

"Now is the time for Americans to Unite for Peace. Join the America First Committee today. Contact the Colorado chapter of the America First Committee immediately. 637 18th street, Denver, Colo., Cherry 7493. Your help is needed."

'Robert E. Wood Letter.'

Half of the rest of the page is given over to a letter, purporting to be signed by Robert E. Wood, acting chairman of the America First Committee, Chicago, to Dewey McKinley Taft, editor of the magazine.

The letter begins:

"Colonel Lindbergh has asked me to express his thanks for your kind communication. Such sentiment as yours means a great deal to him personally as well as to the America First Committee."

After six paragraphs telling of the writer's beliefs regarding the "fight to preserve America," it concludes:

"We hope you will keep in touch with us and you will ask your friends to become members of the committee. Meanwhile, write the President. Write your congressman, your senator. Continue to demand that there be no war. Do it NOW!"

The letter as published does not indicate whether Gen. Wood knew of Taft's connection with the magazine or of the magazine's existence. The magazine is not mentioned.

Character Magazine Protests.

The news of the publication of the new magazine came as a shock to Chicago members of the National Council on Education for Character and Citizenship, whose magazine has carried to title "The American Citizen" for more than a year. The council's publication was started in 1934 with the title "Character."

Horace A. Young, attorney for the council, said steps will be taken either to ask or force the Colorado group to discontinue using the title. He reported the council as especially embarrassed by the Colorado publication inasmuch as the Chicago magazine is devoted to the improving of education and character.

America First's Statement

At national headquarters of the America First Committee here, a spokesman, asked concerning the magazine pushing its cause in Colorado, declared:

"We have absolutely no connection with it nor do we subscribe to its policies. No advertisement was solicited of us or of the Colorado committee. It must have been run without authorization."

Certainly, however, the magazine is doing its best—as it sees it—for the committee.

The words "America First" or "Americans First" are hammered home to its readers on different pages. "Defend America First" appears as a slogan heading the cover-page. "'America First' News" is the heading of one of its columns. "Were it not for the 'America First Committee' and its Lindberghs, Nyes and Wheelers—your sons would now be dying on foreign battlefields and going to watery graves in the seven seas," this column states.

"Jobs for Americans First" heads another column. It concludes: "Refugees are at work everywhere in America, and every time a job is filled by one of them, an American is thrown out of work."

It Attacks Many 'Foes.'

The magazine cracks at many foes. Among them: "Royal 'democratic' English," Frances Perkins, "Communism," Walter Winchell, President Roosevelt.

An announcement in the magazine offers subscriptions to it, combined with "your choice of 'Octopus' or 'War Guilt and Warmongers.'"

The author of "The Octopus" is the Rev. Frank Woodruff Johnson. The yellow-backed volume is a hair raiser about "the Jews." E. N. Santmyer is author of "War Guilt and Warmongers." It is similarly anti-Semitic.

Mr. Dillaway ('Sillaway') Gets Propaganda From 2 Sources

Newton Dillaway, writer, of Reading, Mass., made public yesterday photostatic copies of two envelopes received by him, one containing propaganda from the German Library of Information in New York and the other from the America First Committee in Chicago. Both envelopes were addressed to his postoffice box and both misspelled his name as "Sillaway," as indicated in the accompanying reproductions.

Mr. Dillaway drew no conclusions from the coincidence, but noted that he had been receiving "Sillaway" addressed envelopes from the German Library of Information for nearly a year before he received the one from the America First Committee about five months ago.

The communication from the America First Committee, containing printed matter, arrived during the debate in Congress over the lease-lend bill, and urged opposition to the legislation. Mr. Dillaway has heard nothing further from the America First Committee after this first letter. The propaganda from the German Library of Information, consisting largely of "Facts in Review," a publication with a circulation of 80,000, ceased several weeks ago with President Roosevelt's order closing Axis consulates and propaganda agencies.

Speaking for the America First Committee, Page Hufty, director of organization, said that a check of records in national headquaters in Chicago showed that the name of Dillaway or "Sillaway" was sent to the committee on Feb. 18 by a private individual who recommended the Reading, Mass., man as a good prospect to receive the committee's literature and an application for membership.

Mr. Hufty said that the name was recorded on the committee's mailing list as "Sillaway" and that presumably this was the spelling given to the committee. He remarked, however, that the letters "S" and "D" frequently are transposed, since they are adjacent on the keyboards of all standard typewriters.

Mr. Dillaway explained that he had been receiving batches of propaganda mailed from the German Library of Information, Room 1923, 17 Battery Place, for more than a year, although he had never solicited it.

Several weeks before the passage of the lend-lease bill, he said, he received the envelope from the America First Committee's national headquarters, 101 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, containing literature urging defeat of the bill. He said he had never received any material from the committee before or since. He added that he submitted photostats to the House committee investigating un-American activities (Dies committee).

Mr. Hufty said that the committee's files showed that a "kit" went to "Sillaway," containing a form letter urging him to support the organization, an application for membership, a card soliciting contributions and several current items of the committee's literature.

Mr. Hufty said that the committee undoubtedly had among its records the name of the person who sent in the name of Dillaway or "Sillaway." He said, however, that the filing system used by the committee made it impossible to get this information without a search requiring at least a week.

Mr. Hufty said that the committee had bought a list of names from a private organization in at least one instance for mailing purposes, but that the bulk of its mailing list has been compiled from names sent in by members and supporters of the committee.

Mr. Dillaway, a retired stock broker, has written two books, "The Gospel of Emerson" and "Prophet of America," and published them himself. He classifies himself as an interventionist.

Wheeler Answers Roosevelt Charge

WASHINGTON, July 25 (UP).—President Roosevelt's assertion at a Hyde Park press conference that Senator Burton K. Wheeler had gone "too far" and was on "dangerous ground" in attacking United States' international policies drew from Senator Wheeler today the response that the President feels that any one who opposes United States entry into the war goes "too far."

"Of course, the President feels that anybody who opposes our involvment in war goes too far," Senator Wheeler retorted. "Some time ago, I challenged him to come to Congress and ask for a declaration of war. I said if Congress granted his request, I would go along with the war effort but that otherwise I expected national unity for peace.

"They (the Administration) know that the people are not with them and the President ought to know that those postal cards had nothing to do with pending legislation concerning extension of the draft but they were only sent out to ask people to request him to keep the promise he made that he would not take this nation into war."

Negro Papers Lambast Lindbergh as 'Subversive'

Criticize Negro Leaders for Allowing Their Names to Be Used by the Pro-Hitler 'America First Committee'

Two prominent Negro weeklies, the New Jersey Herald News of Newark, and the Norfolk Journal and Guide of Virginia, carried editorials in their July 26 issues condemning Charles Lindbergh and other leaders of the America First Committee. The publications called the Lindbergh clique "jim-crow" and "subversive."

Under a satirical heading "America First is Colored Now," the Herald News said:

"Our editor in charge of our 'Things to Throw in the Wastebasket' department was in a quandary the other day upon noticing in the mail a letter from an America First Committee whose chairman and secretary are no other than the noted gentlemen J. Finley Wilson and Perry W. Howard, with national offices at 612 F Street, Washington, D. C. . . .

"We didn't see the names of Charles A. Lindbergh and Burton Wheeler on the stationery; all the names were of colored men, bishops, and doctors and judges and political leaders. Lindbergh and Wheeler were absent from the roster of names, but the stuff of the letter was theirs.

"Lindbergh's the guy who a few months ago was spouting over the radio that the white races should get together—Germans, Hitler and all—and stop the rising tide of color. He's still the guy who keeps the medals Hitler gave him.

"Why, even the America First Committee is jim-crow. At least, the one that sent the letter that puzzled our editor in charge of 'Things to Throw in the Wastebasket,' department."

LEADERS CONDEMNED

Criticizing J. Finley Wilson and Perry Howard, prominent Negro leaders for permitting their names to be used by the America First Committee, the Journal and Guide said:

"It is a great pity that Messrs. Wilson and Howard have selected the name of Col. Charles E. Young (late Negro army officer) who had a distinguished record in the United States Army, to identify their branch or division of the America First Committee.

"We do not believe they want to endanger their country's sovereignty, but it is possible to gravely endanger these through the type of campaign the America First Committee is conducting against the present administration's program for national defense.

"Shortly after Germany attacked Russia, Col. Lindbergh, chief platform man for the Committee, gave the Nazis a clean bill of health as compared to the Soviets, revealing his interest in Hitler."

The Guide referred to such activities of Lindbergh as "subversive." It also condemned Wheeler and other members of the America First Committee.

ANARCHY SEEN IN U. S. STAND ON INDO-CHINA

America First Committee's Leaders Say Interference Is 'Monstrous Doctrine'

America's attempt to interfere in the Japanese-French Indo-China dispute is tantamount to "international anarchy," the America First Committee charged last night.

A sharp message of protest was sent to Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles by the organization's entire executive committee —John T. Flynn, Mrs. John P. Marquand, Amos R. E. Pinchot, H. Dudley Swim and Edwin S. Webster, Jr.

'NEW AND DANGEROUS.'

Criticizing Welles' stand in the Indo-China crisis, the protest said:

"By that stand you in effect lay down the new and dangerous doctrine that if a foreign power acquires bases of another foreign power, this may be construed as an attack on our country and treated accordingly.

"It is clear that this monstrous doctrine is equally repellent to common sense, international law and the interests of American security and defense.

"If we claim the right to intervene to prevent Japanese acquisition of bases in Indo China, Japan has an equal right to intervene to prevent our acquisition of bases in Brazil. Your proposition is obviously one of international anarchy.

CREATING 'ATTACK'

"We do not believe that inviting a war that must be waged with lines of communication 7,000 miles long is a proper measure of defense."

The Administration is trying to create the impression this country is being attacked, the protest added, and to get America into a war "the people do not want."

Denunciation Of Japan by U. S. Called 'Anarchy'

New York, July 26 (AP).—The executive committee of the New York chapter of the America First Committee wired Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles today that the Government's denunciation of Japan as an aggressor in French Indo-China constituted "international anarchy."

The telegram declared Welles' statement of Thursday on the Japan-Indo-China affair laid down a "new and dangerous doctrine that if a foreign power acquires bases of another foreign power this may be construed as an attack on our country and treated accordingly."

"Your proposition is obviously one of international anarchy," the telegram added.

It also asserted that if this country claimed the right to intervene to prevent Japanese acquisition of bases in Indo-China, Japan had an equal right to prevent the United States' acquisition of bases in Brazil.

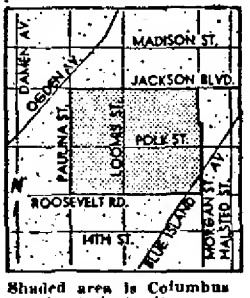
AMERICA FIRST ENROLLS 1,600 IN FOREIGN AREA

The Christopher Columbus chapter of the America First committee, which is located in a community populated by 11 different nationalities, has built up a membership of 1,600 in two months, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of America First, announced yesterday.



Shaded area is Columbus chapter's territory.

The chapter's area, bounded by Morgan and Paulina streets, Jackson boulevard and Roosevelt road, contains Italians, Irish, Greeks, British, Germans, Russians, and descendants from the several Balkan countries, Mrs. Fairbank said. The chapter was organized by Peter Greenfield, 1226 Taylor street, a railway switchman. The day he started organizing an America First chapter he signed up 100 members.

America First Leaders Welcome Coughlinites

July 28 Issue of Social Justice Prints Letters from Mrs. Wheeler, General Woods Calling for Support from Pro-Nazi Anti-Semites

Father Coughlin's anti-Semitic, pro-Nazi street rioters are still welcomed with open arms by the American First Committee which is rooting in this country for a Hitler victory.

Social Justice, Father Couglin's personal organ, in its July 28 issue proudly prints two letters from American First Committee leaders who give assurances that, contrary to reports, "there never has been any discrimination against Father Coughlin's followers."

One letter is signed Lulu Wheeler, wife of pro-Nazi Senator Burton K. Wheeler, and the other by General Robert E. Wood, one of the heads of the committee.

Mrs. Wheeler's letter, addressed to a Coughlinite who wrote her following press reports that the committee had broken with Father Coughlin, said: "I am afraid that you are a victim of newspaper propaganda, because there never has been any discrimination against Father Coughlin's followers."

General Wood's letter was similarly addressed to a Coughlinite who had written him.

"I have not rejected the Christian Social Justice movement," writes the general. "I welcome their support in our common objective. This whole report (of rejection) has come about through the magnifying of what was a very small incident which happened at a rally in Highland Park."

Coughlinites Make Bid For Farmers

Form New Organization in Mid-West; Try to Capitalize on Unrest

(Special to the Daily Worker)

FRANKFORT, Ind., July 27.—Coughlinite and America First forces this week invaded the farm field in their drive to paralyze American defense efforts by promoting pro-Nazi sentiments.

Both groups jointly held a meeting here recently to launch their new organization, the National Marketing Quota Protest Association, and named Lamont O'Hara its president.

Participating in formation of the organization were officers of the National Farmers' Guild, long known as Father Coughlin's farmer organization.

Blessings on the new organization were pronounced by Robert Spencer of Monticello, Ind., president of the National Farmers' Guild and the Indiana Farmers' Guild.

The new organization is exploiting the resentment of farmers to a new 49-cent penalty set by the AAA on all wheat marketed in excess of allotments.

A national referendum favored the marketing quotas, but many farmers charge that the vote was taken while they were in the fields, and that they did no know a 49-cent penalty would be levied.

Farmers are also aroused at new acreage cuts announced by AAA, which has decreed that an additional 7,000,000 acres will be cut out of wheat next year.

With Coughlinites now seeking family-sized farm support, many farmers remember that E. K. Kennedy, formerly of the National Farmers' Guild, and Cal Ward, former editor of Coughlin's "Social Justice," both testified in Washington for a price-fixing bill which would have discriminated sharply against the small farmer.

HEIL HUTCHINS---CHICAGO UNIVERSITY AIDE FOR 'AMERICA FIRST' OUSTS ANTI-NAZI INSTRUCTOR

By Carl Harris

(Special to the Daily Worker)

CHICAGO, July 29. — The disclosure that a University of Chicago instructor had been fired for his opposition to President Maynard Hutchins' pro-Nazi edicts hit the campus like a bombshell this week.

Richard Scammon, 26-year-old research secretary in the university radio department revealed that he had been discharged because he had dared to challenge Gen. Robert E. Wood, millionaire "America First" chief, to a debate.

Indignant professors at the school have voiced the belief that the order to fire Scammon had come directly out of Hutchins' office after the young anti-fascist instructor had made his views public. Scammon said he was forced to resign, after he was called in and told to "get out or else."

Thus the Hutchins' "academic freedom" bubble exploded with a loud detonation and the U. of C. prexy made it clear that Hitler tactics will be used if necessary.

Hutchins' chapter in "higher education" borrowed from Goebbels and Gov. Talmadge came as no surprise to those who have been watching the rise of the university head as the intellectual hatchetman for the appeasement ring. Today, Hutchins is the bright boy of America First, representing the recent efforts of the pro-Nazi organization to cover up its "back-to-barbarism" line with the fig-leaf of respectability. The U. of C. chief became an official spokesman for the America First Committee just about the time that Henry Ford's name was officially taken off its stationary.

URGED "PEACE" PLAN

It was only about two weeks ago that Dr. Hutchins proposed his "plan." In brief, he proposed that action on the western front be paralyzed while Hitler is given every opportunity to carry on his invasion of the Soviet Union without any interference from the British. This was called a plan for a "negotiated peace," and couldn't have been more neatly blue-printed by Hitler himself.

The Chicago University head, who is supposed to be carrying "the torch of enlightenment" here, makes no bones about his alliance with the most reactionary pro-fascist elements of Chicago. His program is designed to build more than just an architectural relationship between the Gothic towers of the U. of C. and the Gothic spires of Tribune Tower.

REACTIONARY RECORD

Hutchins sees eye-to-eye on the movement back to the Middle Ages with the Tribune's chief, Col. Robert R. McCormick, who has been called "one of the finest minds of the Fourteenth Century."

Hutchins' 12 years as president of the university has been a record of reaction in education. He has allowed full "academic freedom" to turn back the clock of learning at the big institution on Chicago's South Side.

The University of Chicago is endowed with $71,000,000, most of which is Rockefeller money. In the field of "pure Aristotelian philosophy, Hutchins has attempted to turn the students' body and faculty into metaphysical jitterbugs. And in the political field, the prexy is just another Standard Oil office boy.

It is true that the Rockefeller family, like the McCormick family, is divided in its political sympathies. However, Hutchins is the mouthpiece for the dominant Rockefeller interests just as the Tribune is the spokesman for the dominant McCormick group — both of which regard Hitler's downfall as the greatest possible catastrophe.

Handsome Hutchins, who took his U. of C. post at the age of 30 and was considered a child prodigy, is fauned over by the wealthy fascists of Chicago's Hyde Park. He is frequently a guest in the homes of the South Side stockyards magnates, some of whom grace the U. of C. Board of Trustees.

Thus Hutchins provides the intellectual mayonnaise for the America First - Christian Front - Nazi fund axis. He and his artist wife even pose as "liberals."

Back in 1931, Hutchins, speaking before the American Association of University Professors, declared that "the only question that can properly be raised about a professor with the institution to which he belongs is his competence in his field. His political views, his social attitudes, his economic doctrine, these are not the concern of his university. . . ."

Professors and students this week recalled these words with a horse laugh.

The Scammon case was a clear test of the Hutchins brand of "academic freedom." The young instructor was fired briefly after two years at the university, coming there as graduate of the University of Minnesota, with a master's degree from the University of Michigan.

There is plenty of fumbling among the faculty and students about braving the purge system and coming to a showdown with Hutchins and his Hitler - style "higher learning."

LYONS ACCEPTS AMERICA FIRST BID FOR SPEECH

Richard J. Lyons, Illinois Republican leader, yesterday accepted an invitation to speak at an America First rally next Thursday in the Evanston Township High school. He will share the platform with Former Governor Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin.

Lyons, a resident of Libertyville, campaigned for governor in 1940, and at that time urged a strong defense but no foreign wars. America First officials said that Lyons' acceptance, coupled with La Follette's appearance, assures an overflow crowd in the auditorium, which seats 3,300. Plans are being made to accommodate those unable to gain entrance by installing loud speakers outside the hall.

Wilbur Helm, America First speaker, last night told the Elmhurst chapter, meeting at 122 Addison street in the suburb, that "certain men would put us in this war by declaring continued emergencies just to maintain power."

The Mistake of 'America First'

Treason is defined in the Constitution as taking up arms against the United States, or giving "aid and comfort" to our enemies.

Few Americans would deny that Hitler is our enemy. Because of him and his menacing encirclement pact with Japan, we are engaged in a gigantic armament effort. Because of him, we are shipping arms to every nation actively opposing him.

In the legal sense, "aid and comfort" means actual aid, positive support. And as our own armed forces are not at present in the fight, a few might argue that, in the legal sense, the word "enemy" does not apply.

But there is also the moral sense. Morally, even materially, this is already our war. We have made up our minds. Hitler and all his works are abhorrent to us. We have "frozen" German assets. We have "blacklisted" German firms. We have seized German ships. We have withdrawn our ambassador from Berlin. We have closed German consulates here. We have tracked down and arrested German agents. We have drawn together the American nations in a defense treaty. We are arming Britain to the utmost possible extent, and helping China and Russia. We are repairing British warships. We are maintaining with our Atlantic fleet safe and open communications with Iceland, and we do not intend to let Hitler use either the Cape Verde or the Azores islands. We have established bases in the British West Indies and Canada. We have occupied Greenland and Iceland. We are negotiating for bases in South America. Our government has given us its promise that the goods we give Britain will be delivered, not sunk. We are pledged not to let Britain succumb. We are committed, formally and positively, to the defeat of Hitler. In all except manpower, we are at war with him today, and anyone who does not recognize it is simply refusing to face the facts.

This is a free country—thanks be to God and to the valor of our ancestors. Each may speak his mind. Of partisan politics, we have made, for some, a career; for the rest, a favorite sport. But the moment the safety of the nation is threatened, partisanship can be regarded as a sport no longer. It becomes something much more serious. For most of us are agreed that, at the ocean's edge, where we meet the open seas and the aims of other peoples, partisanship must stop, and loyalty to country must supersede mere pride of opinion or loyalty to party.

In the present emergency, the only serious opposition to the national policy comes from a determined minority group calling itself the America First Committee. The very name is false, for it insinuates that its adversaries do not put America first. This group has set itself, by public argument and agitation, to block, if it can, the national policy, and even to reverse it.

To this end, its speakers and writers have cast away all restraint. They have sought deliberately to misrepresent the motives and assail the character of the President and the members of his cabinet. Though we had a national election only last November, they demand that we accept their "new leadership." Upon virtually every phase of our defense program they have cast doubt and suspicion. In so doing, they have worked, indirectly, to obstruct the draft and to lower the morale of our armed forces—that morale which, in a fight, is as essential as arms and training. One of their leaders, himself a United States senator, has even dared to suggest that our soldiers might refuse to obey orders! It has seemed at times as if no specious claim was too bold for them, and no insinuation too base, so long as it tended to disunite the country and to destroy confidence in our form of government and our constitutionally chosen leaders.

Hitler's interest is that American opinion be confused and divided, in order to hamper defense, cripple aid to Britain, dull patriotism and paralyze the national will. And what is our own interest? It is, surely, that our people, in the crisis, should stand united confidently and courageously behind their government. We do not doubt that they do so stand, and will so stand. But that is despite the America First Committee.

If the committee were composed only of known Bundists and Fascists, it could do little harm. Everyone would then understand its motives and resent its purposes. We know what similar groups did to national defense in Norway, Holland, Belgium, France, Rumania and Yugoslavia. But unfortunately, some of the committee's leaders, and a considerable number of its members, are honest citizens, who, in their partisanship, their pacifism or their blindness, have convinced themselves, somehow, that they are actuated by the purest patriotism. They overlook the consideration that, in thus organizing opposition to the national policy, they have provided, however unintentionally, a rallying point for every Fifth Columnist in the land. Indeed, the mistake of the America First Committee is that, in furnishing, however innocently, a cloak for these disloyal elements, it has dressed subversion in the garb of respectability.

Strange Coincidence

A gentleman by the name of Newton Dillaway lives at Reading, Mass. His post office box is 333.

For several years he received mail from the German Library of Information, which has recently folded up under orders from the president.

The peculiar thing is that the German propaganda organization always spelled the man's name "Sillaway."

He now discloses that when the lend-lease bill was under debate in congress he received some literature from the America First committee, urging him to oppose this legislation and, strange to say, the America First committee also misspelled his name. He was addressed as "Sillaway."

The embarrassing question has been raised as to whether the organization for which Senator Wheeler has been stumping the country was using the address files of the German propaganda organization as a mailing list. If so, to what further extent is the America First committee tied up with Nazi propaganda?

About the best excuse the America First committee can put up is that on a standard typewriter the "D" and the "S" stand side by side and it was just a coincidence that typists for America First and for the German Library of Information struck the same wrong key.

It sounds a little thin and folks are known by the company they keep.

No "Foreign" Wars

All Countries Interested in Defeat of Hitler

To the New York Herald Tribune:

I have just received a letter from Mr. John T. Flynn asking me to join the America First Committee. You might be interested in my reply:

"I would like to take this opportunity to tell you that I believe the America First Committee is acting on absolutely false premises. This is exemplified by the statements made in your principles and implied in your recent letter. In the first place, there are no foreign wars. War is a cancer of the whole world, and it must be treated surgically to effect a cure.

"The present conflict is as much our responsibility as that of any other nation, in fact, more our responsibility. In 1917 we went into the war on perfectly reasonable and legitimate grounds and should have made it a war to end war. The crime of the century was America's loss of the peace. We utterly neglected our responsibility to establish and maintain the machinery for world order. We cannot preserve our democracy by letting Hitler destroy the democracies of Europe one by one. We cannot defend the Western Hemisphere or our own country if the British Empire goes down. There would not possibly be time to build such a defense before 1946 or maintain it after 1946 in the face of a German or Japanese dominated world.

"I believe that these are the premises upon which we must decide our action in this present world crisis. Hitler must be stopped and every nation must learn that nothing can be gained by military aggression. We must establish order in the world based on law and justice, and America must take a leading role in establishing and maintaining it."

CLEARING OCEAN BY U. S. CALLED UNDECLARED WAR

America First Speaker Assails Willkie.

R. Douglas Stuart Jr., founder and national director of the America First committee, asserted last night that the war party proposal to "clear the Atlantic now" is in reality a demand that "our navy and our air force enter the war immediately as a full belligerent, carrying out the will, not of congress, but of Secretary of the Navy Knox."

In a nationwide radio speech Stuart lashed at Secretary of the Interior Ickes for using the "technique of Goebbels" in attacking those with opposing views. He took to task Wendell L. Willkie for his refusal to debate the question of war or peace with Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, and declared that entrance into war would be a repudiation of the views of 80 per cent of Americans.

Cardinal American Principle.

"Here, then, is the threat that strikes at the very heart of the American way," said Stuart. "For if there is one cardinal principle upon which this government is based, it is the principle of majority rule. The day Americans surrender this historic precept will be the day when our democracy can be pronounced dead."

"As usual," the speaker said, "the war party couches its proposals in soft, disarming terms. 'Clear the Atlantic now,' they urge. What they mean to say is that our navy and our air force should enter the war immediately as a full belligerent, carrying out the will, not of congress, but of Secretary Knox.

"Once this were done, they know there would be no turning back. We would be at war. Congress and the American people could only lapse into sullen silence—their only function being to honor the dead and pay the bills, as the war went its long and weary course.

Must Frighten Opponents.

"How can the war party hope to achieve so monstrous a purpose? So base a fraud? Not by American methods, certainly; not by free speech and fair debate—rather by means as tawdry as the very end they seek. For they well know they cannot succeed until they frighten into craven silence every person who would honestly oppose their way."

Of Willkie's refusal to debate Thomas at Elwood, Ind., Stuart said, "Mr. Willkie replied, of all things that there are no issues. These are strange words coming from one who has been touring the country trying desperately to answer Charles A. Lindbergh.

"Can the real reason be that he dare not face his home town friends who heard him accuse the President of warlike views so short a time ago? Or is he simply determined still to keep the issue from the people—even the people of his own Elwood?"

Wood Warns Against War

Economic Upheaval Stressed by 'America First' Speaker Here

American entry into the war would cause our country to suffer because at its conclusion an economic upheavel is certain to follow and bring a lowering in our standards of living, according to Gen. Robert E. Wood.

Gen. Wood, principal speaker at the America First Committee rally last night in the Oakland Auditorium theater, declared:

"These people who urge our entry in war are not really Americans. They are internationalists, and they don't face facts.

ENORMOUS COST

"War costs an enormous amount of money and human life," Gen. Wood said, "and when it ends calls for reorganizations just as drastic as war preparation itself."

Gen. Wood said that America had been on the verge of war twice in April and June due to the efforts of "warmongers."

"Regarding the warmongers," he said, "there is no need for their fear of economic invasion. Many prominent business men in our eastern States say that America can compete in world trade even if Europe is dominated by Hitler. They have no doubt of America's ability to care for herself."

Police arrested two persons outside the auditorium for distributing literature without a permit and refusing to pass on when so ordered.

CHAIRMAN COMPLAINS

They are George Beers, 28, of 2583 35th Avenue, and Miss Ruth Wood, 27, of 2632 Channing Way, Berkeley. They were distributing handbills entitled "Victory Over Hitler." The complaint was made by Guy M. Wright, rally chairman.

Other rally speakers were Phillip Bancroft, Walnut Creek rancher and former U. S. Senate candidate, and Joseph Scott, Los Angeles attorney.

America 1st Chief Blasts War Party

"The united determination of the American people that we shall not enter war abroad is as strong today as it was when the war began."

So said R. Douglas Stuart Jr., founder and national director of the American First committee, in a stirring radio speech broadcast last night over a nationwide network from the National Broadcasting Company's Chicago studios. He declared:

"Try as they may, the war party cannot question or refute it. Month after month, by every authentic test, by every reliable poll, the evidence has piled up against them. Not the bare majority—not two-thirds, but four-fifths of the American people stand agreed on this one ground—that we shall not enter Europe's war.

MINORITY TAKING US IN.

"By every rule the people's will should be decisive. Yet, how foreign to the democratic way is the spectacle which confronts us. The more the people's opposition to the war has grown, the closer the minority has brought us to the brink.

"This is the threat that strikes at the very heart of the American way. For, if there is one cardinal principle upon which this government is based it is the principle of majority rule. The day Americans surrender this historic precept will be the day when our democracy, and all it stands for, can be pronounced dead.

know their limitations. They can never have their way while majority rule prevails. Why else do they shun every suggestion that the people, those who would do the fighting and dying, be allowed to vote?

"Why do they so steadfastly refuse to place the issue before Congress in the constitutional way?

"The answer is simple enough. The only thing these 'fighters for democracy' have to fear is democracy itself."

Stuart declared that spokesmen of the "war party" have been repudiated by the American people and are afraid to "face the test."

CITES POLL EVIDENCE.

Citing the evidence that has piled up to support the America First Committee's claim that Americans want no part of the European conflict, he said:

"The Gallup poll, week after week, reveals its consistent anti-war majority of 80 per cent. Every survey bears this out. Newspapers, members of Congress and a committee of college presidents headed by Robert Maynard Hutchins of Chicago, all have conducted exhaustive tests in widespread areas. Always the result has been 70, 80 and, in some cases, 90 per cent solid opposition to our entry into Europe's war."

Attacking what he termed the war party's attempt to couch their proposals in "soft, disarming terms," he added:

"They urge us to 'clear the Atlantic now,' a suggestion which sounds attractive to the unwary. What they mean to say is that our navy and our air force should enter the war immediately as a full belligerent."

NEED REASON AS GUIDE.

Stuart declared the rashness of those who want war is explained by the depth of their emotions, but added that the people need reason, not emotion, to guide them now. He asserted:

"No modern war can be waged successfully without the wholehearted and enthusiastic co-operation of 90 per cent of the people. We may enter war without that approval, but the nation will suffer if we do."

He closed, urging that the nation adopt the symbol: "A—as in America—strong and unafraid."

COUGHLIN PREACHES OPEN TREASON: CALLS FOR HITLER VICTORY IN HIS FASCIST PAPER

By Lawrence Emery

Open treason to the United States is being preached today by Father Charles E. Coughlin through his personal organ Social Justice which is campaigning violently in this country for a Hitler victory.

The fascist priest has already put himself on record with the threat that "if the United States were to fight as a military ally of Soviet Russia" he would regard it "as a Christian duty to warn Catholic youth of America not to fight."

Coughlin brands any one today speaking against Hitler as an enemy of democracy, and has even gone so far as to threaten to split the Catholic church in this country unless it sides with the Nazi war machine.

HITLER DIATRIBE

In taking issue with Bishop Joseph Hurley of the Roman Catholic Diocese of St. Augustine, Fla. who in a recent address denied that the Soviet-Nazi war is a "holy crusade against Communism" and declared that the Nazis remain the No. 1 enemy of America, Coughlin's Social Justice in its July 14 issue said:

"Bishop Hurley said that the Nazis are the No. 1 enemy of America and of the world. By his own statement Bishop Hurley, and those for whom he spoke, stand indicted today as Enemy Number One of American democracy."

In the same issue the paper "warned" that if the National Catholic Welfare Conference for whom Bishop Hurley spoke continues to support his views "only one result will eventuate—a schism in the ranks of the Catholic Church."

100 PER CENT FOR NAZIS

Father Coughlin took his side unqualifiedly with the Nazi war machine in the July 7 issue of his paper in which he sought to wrap his pro-Hitler stand in a holy crusade against Communism.

"We are either with Communism or against Communism," proclaimed Social Justice. "We are either with those opposing Communism or against those opposing Communism." Coughlin stands 100 per cent with Adolf Hitler—even though he feels impelled to create a false issue to justify his embrace of mankind's worst enemy.

And as Coughlin embraces Hitler, so he embraces the two other outstanding champions of a Hitler victory in America: ex-Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who still wears his Nazi medal, and Senator Burton K. Wheeler: "These two men we applaud and revere," wrote Social Justice in its July 7 issue.

The feeling here is mutual, and the America First Committee welcomes Coughlin's followers with open arms. In the July 28 issue of Social Justice two letters from leaders of the America First Committee are proudly published. One signed by Lulu Wheeler, wife of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, declares "there never has been any discrimination [by the committee] against Father Coughlin's followers."

AMERICAN FIRST TIES

The other, signed by General Robert E. Wood, says: "I have not rejected the Christian Social Justice movement. I welcome their support in our common objective."

The radio priest is now actively campaigning for a revival of the terrorist Chrisitian Front and is becoming more and more outspoken in his vicious anti-Semitism.

"We are opposed," says his paper, "to having atheistic Jews impose their code of life upon our political structure, our social structure, our economic structure and our national structure."

Social Justice for July 28 declares that this is a "Jewish war" and proceeds to proclaim that "it is time for Americans to recognize that Washington, D. C., is being dominated by a Jewish concept of life and that our people are being regimented into a totalitarianism which is best described as a 'Jewish democracy'."

This declaration is picked up word for word from the Nazi propaganda mill in Berlin and is identical with the "line" of the fascist "racist theoreticians" who refer to Franklin D. Roosevelt as "President Rosenfeld."

VILE ANTI-SEMITISM

The same issue prominently displays a letter which demands: "Why must we fight to avenge the Jews?".

And on this vile issue of anti-Semitism there is a pro-Hitler united front forming in the United States which recognizes Lindbergh as its logical leader.

Joe McWilliams, street brawler who openly calls for pogroms, has said: "Lindbergh is on our side. We must not hinder him. Blaming the war on the Jews," he added, "is the best weapon we've ever had. And nobody can use it better than me."

BACK TOKIO AGGRESSION

Francis Moran, a Christian Front leader in Boston, has likewise said: "Wait until Colonel Lindbergh is ready to take over . . ."

Coughlin now is embracing Hitler's Far Eastern Axis partner. Violently opposing recent steps by the United States to curb Japanese aggression, Social Justice for August 4 says:

"Japan announces her empire policy of 'Asia for the Asiatics.' What is wrong about that ambition of theirs?"

The same issue opposes violently the action of sending troops to Iceland on the ground that "Hitler already has decided that this island fortress is outside the Western Hemisphere!" Yet the paper itself admits that the action was taken "to defend the island base and, incidentally, our own shores, from threat of attack or invasion."

The conclusion is inescapable: Social Justice would welcome a Hitlerite invasion.

One of Father Coughlin's greatest heroes is Francisco Franco. The latest issue of Social Justice calls the hangman of the Spanish people a "keen observer and great soldier." It prominently features his recent "warning" to the United States and makes this comment: "That Franco is definitely on the side of the Axis in the fight against Russia is a certainty. And where Franco goes, there goes Salazar of Portugal. Does the United States comprehend that Franco's speech indicates a united Europe?"

Social Justice hopefully predicts a Hitler victory in Europe and declares that when it comes "Europe will have crawled out of the ditch and will be able to bask in the sunshine of freedom . . ."

TABLET ECHOES COUGHLIN

Echoing Social Justice is The Tablet published by the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn which, in its current issue, demands editorially on its front page: "Why must Hitler be stopped?"

The paper also asks: "Why must we denounce Japan . . .? Why must Americans aid the USSR?

The Tablet carries the same note of open treason as does Social Justice. In its letter column this is found:

"If Catholics must die, let it be as martyrs of a truly atheistic government [of the United States] that must throw off its mask eventually . . ."

And in the same letter column is a communication from a priest urging Tablet followers to refuse armed service by becoming conscientious objectors.

Lest there be any doubt that Social Justice and its allied forces of anti-Semites and terrorists are 100 per cent for Adolf Hitler, the latest issue of Father Coughlin's paper declares editorially that there is little hope for the world "unless the German forces can overcome Russia and successfully invade England by the end of September . . ."

REPORTS HEAVY DEMAND HERE FOR ANTI-WAR TRACTS

America First Distributes 2 Million Pieces.

Two million pieces of America First literature have been distributed by the Chicago America First committee since January, Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the committee, announced yesterday.

Speeches of prominent citizens leading the fight to prevent the United States' involvement in the war, interviews with well known economists on the question, "Can Hitler Cripple America's Economy?" cartoons, automobile stickers, and mimeographed letters have been passed out to interested citizens in such heavy volume that the demand hardly can be met, Mrs. Fairbank said.

The Various Subjects.

Included in the various forms of literature available are the principles of America First, and the speeches of Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting chairman of the national America First committee; of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh; of the Most Rev. Francis J. L. Beckman, archbishop of Dubuque; of John T. Flynn, author and economist; of Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago; of Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain; and of United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

Also available are interviews with Bernard M. Baruch, head of the war industries board in 1918; Raymond Moley, one of President Roosevelt's original brain trusters; and George N. Peek, former New Deal agricultural adviser.

Three Suburban Meetings.

During the coming week three suburban meetings will be held under auspices of the Chicago America First committee.

Tomorrow night Attorney Hugh O'Neill Jr. will address the Oak Park America First chapter, and Walter F. Boye, attorney and author of the book, "Steps Short of War Mean War," will speak before the Arlington Heights group. Wednesday night, Dr. Howard G. Swann, University of Chicago physiologist, will speak before the Park Ridge America First committee.

No-War Rallies in 3 Suburbs

Walter F. Boye, Chicago attorney, will argue that "Steps Short of War Mean War" at an America First Committee rally in the new park fieldhouse in Arlington Heights tonight.

This is a week of rallies for the antiwar group. A parade in Evanston tomorrow night will announce a Thursday night meeting in Evanston Township High School, when former Governor Philip F. LaFollette of Wisconsin and Richard J. Lyons, prominent Illinois Republican, will share the platform.

Hugh O'Neill Jr., Chicago attorney, warned that if the government's priorities on steel and aluminum lead to preferences on labor, the rank and file of America's workers will be bound into slavery, at an America First meeting in Oak Park last night.

He asserted that if America must go to war, it is to our advantage to have the Axis powers fight in this hemisphere rather than on European soil.

AMERICA FIRST DENIES LINK TO 'RACIAL' REVIEW

Anti-SemiticMagazineNow Crossed Off Mailing List, Director States.

The America First Committee, through its director, R. Douglas Stuart Jr., today formally denied any connection with The American Citizen, a magazine published in Englewood, Colo., and exhibiting definite indications of anti-Semitism.

The magazine as related in The Daily News July 26, also contained an advertisement for America First and a letter signed by Robert E. Wood, its acting chairman, asking for support from Dewey McKinley Taft, the editor, and his friends.

"The letter signed by Gen. Wood," Mr. Stuart wrote today, "was in the first place a mere form letter written in response to a letter from Mr. Taft, who expressed interest in America First as an individual. The letter from Gen. Wood did not mention the American Citizen, let alone solicit its support. In fact, Gen. Wood and the committee did not know of the magazine's existence at the time the form letter was written.

"The magazine was at one time, and for a brief time, on the committee's mailing list. This was before it started to publish anti-Semitic advertisements. When those advertisements were discovered by a member of the national headquarters, the publication was immediately crossed off the mailing list."

Meanwhile the National Council on Character and Citizenship, of which Thomas H. West, Chicago attorney, is chairman, was conducting its own investigation. Its interest lay in the fact that the council also publishes a magazine called The American Citizen and does not wish to be confused with the Colorado publication.

LINDBERGH TO SPEAK AT NO-WAR RALLY IN CLEVELAND SATURDAY

Charles A. Lindbergh, a leader in the fight to keep the United States out of the European war, will speak Saturday night in Cleveland, O., it was announced yesterday at national headquarters of the America First committee, which will sponsor the meeting.

R. Douglas Stuart Jr., director of the committee, said the sponsors hope to have a United States senator join Lindbergh on the Cleveland platform.

Officials of the Evanston chapter of America First announced that a parade will be held in the suburb tomorrow night to promote the Thursday meeting at which former Gov. Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin and Richard J. Lyons, Illinois Republican leader, will share the platform in the Evanston Township High School auditorium.

Hugh O'Neill Jr., Chicago attorney, last night addressed a meeting of the Oak Park chapter of America First at 736 Lake street in the suburb. The Arlington Heights America First committee, which meets tonight in the new park fieldhouse, will hear Attorney Walter F. Boye at 8 o'clock.

ANTI-WAR RALLY IN EVANSTON

The Evanston chapter of the America First Committee will sponsor an anti-war rally in the Evanston High School tomorrow night.

Cars and floats from nearly every America First chapter in the Chicago area will move from Calvary Cemetery, on Chicago av. in the south end of the suburb, at 7 p.m.

The cavalcade will move north on Chicago av. to Davis st., west to Fountain square, north on Sherman av. to Central st. and west on Central to Crawford av.

A feature will be junior musicians in gold and blue uniforms, under the leadership of David McElroy. A $30 prize has been offered for the best float, and $20 for the outstanding automobile.

WILL WARN OF SECOND AEF.

Judges will be Carl Ekman, Evanston chief of police; Charles Cheadle and Walter S. Lovelace.

Rally speakers will include former Governor Philip F. La Follette of Wisconsin and Richard J. Lyons, former Republican nominee for governor and United States senator.

LaFollette will speak on "The Course of True Americanism," and will warn that plans are being made for an American Expeditionary Force—plans that will be put into effect unless the people forcibly voice their objections.

Lyons said he would stress the fact that intolerance grows in war hysteria, and would point out the serious consequences of breeding intolerance here under the guise of stamping it out in the rest of the world.

MUSIC ON PROGRAM.

Music will be provided at the rally by the Zion Junior Band, and Stanley Erickson, accordionist, will be on the program. Master of ceremonies will be Desault B. Kirk, Chicago Civic Opera Company baritone.

He will lead the audience in singing, and will sing two solos, "Old Man River," and "Stout Hearted Men." The Rev. William H. Madler of the Hyde Park Lutheran Church will give the invocation, and Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of America First, will preside.

Just Another Slap at F. D. R.—America 1st Rally in Evanston America First, with two popular orators on the program, brought out some 3,000 people to an anti-Roosevelt rally in the Evanston Township High School Auditorium last night.

It was supposed to be an antiwar rally, but the bits Evanstonians cheered were the familiar echoes of the 1936 and 1940 campaigns in which President Roosevelt and his cabinet were ridiculed.

The war is just another incident of "power politics," said Philip M. LaFollette, former governor of Wisconsin, an effort by the British governing class to maintain itself in power. And that class, he said, through its stupidity, cupidity and selfishness, is responsible for getting the courageous British common people into its present plight. It is also anxious to drag the United States into the war so that, after the fighting is over, the United States will not have become the dominant factor in the world.

It is futile to take a hand in the war, LaFollette said, for various reasons—the risk of defeat, the ensuing depression, British perfidy.

"And there is one thing I am sure of," he continued. "Europe is coming out of this war a united whole, wiping out all the petty political divisions that have kept it wrangling for centuries. Whether the dominating power will be England or Germany I do not know, but whichever it is, it will not be interested in the welfare of the United States."

Roosevelt and Churchill have both followed the policy of misleading their own peoples while not deceiving the enemy, he said.

"The Roosevelt administration has traveled the road to war," he continued, "under a smoke screen of pledges of peace. The 'war' policies, minus peace talk, have been constantly exposed to Europe in general and to Britain in particular, but for home consumption here it has been 'peace' policies minus the trappings of war."

Churchill has reversed this process, he continued, promising American participation to his people, but toning that promise down in his utterances for America.

Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, a former Republican candidate for various offices, defended freedom of the press, which he said is threatened in the United States, by telling the story of Thomas Cooper, who in the early 1800's fought the alien and sedition laws.

Cooper, he recalled, was convicted of publishing "false, scandalous and malicious writing" against the government, Congress, the President and his cabinet "with intent to defame them or bring them into contempt or disrepute." He served a term in jail and paid a $400 fine. As a result of the fight, Lyons indicated, the laws were repealed and it is now permissible to publish "false, scandalous and malicious writing" against the President and his cabinet.

Evanston Rally Protests War 'Road to Ruin'

A demand that President Roosevelt keep his peace pledges and take the country off the road to war met a lusty vocal indorsement last night at an anti-war rally in Evanston High school auditorium.

Those who voiced the demand and urged that the American people do likewise were Richard J. Lyons, Illinois Republican leader, and former Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin. The meeting was sponsored by the America First committee. Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman of the committee, presided.

Lyons warned that the present European conflict was caused by the placing of unlimited power in the hands of one man. He was cheered when he urged that his listeners speak out now against the possibility of the United States going down the same road to ruin.

Fears One Man Rule.

"Unless this trend is stopped," Lyons said, "and congress takes over its entire duties, that same power the dictators of Europe now have may be placed in the hands of one man in this nation.

"If that happens, good-by to the kind of America that you and I have always known. That must not happen here. It cannot happen if the people in this audience and elsewhere contribute what little they can."

Lyons said war mongers who would suppress all opposition to their own conceptions of America's foreign policy are not patriotic.

"They would impair the rights of fellow citizens to express their views," he continued. "The day congress passes a resolution declaring war no patriotic American questions the wisdom of the course. But up to that moment, the individual is free to debate, join societies and committees.

President Must Choose.

"It is no mark of patriotism to be pro-British just as it is no mark of disloyalty not to be pro-British because, after all, we are not part of the British empire—we are the United States of America."

La Follette asserted that President Roosevelt has reached a point where he must choose between his peace promises to the American people and his innuendo pledges to the British.

"The Roosevelt and Churchill regimes have at least one bond in common," La Follette said. "Both have violated a basic principle of free government. Instead of pursuing the policy of being frank with their own people and deceiving the enemy, they have reversed the process.

"The Roosevelt administration has traveled the road to war under a smoke screen of pledges of peace. Day by day, month by month, the American people have been dragged nearer and nearer to outright war on the soothing assurance that the 'Yanks are not coming.'"

"At this critical crossroad the President is cruising in 'northern waters of the Atlantic," La Follette continued. "He has apparently taken two of the four freedoms with him. All the American people can learn is what is fed them from the British censor in London. The British can be told. Stalin, Hitler, and Mussolini can find it out. Only the American people must be kept in ignorance. Again, another illustration of the synthetic secrecy manufactured in the White House."

Lindbergh will share the platform with Senator D. Worth Clark, Idaho Democrat, who has joined the fight to keep the United States out of the war. Representative Martin Sweeney, of Ohio, will preside and R. Douglas Stuart, national director of the America First Committee, will speak briefly.

Attorney John B. Osmun, chairman of the local America First Committee, said a police detail had been assigned to take care of the crowd expected at the auditorium, which seats 22,000.

The speech will be the eighth made by Lindbergh under the auspices of the America First Committee, and officials said that he had spoken to 169,000 persons.

LINDBERGH SEES WAR 'HYPOCRISIES'

He Tells America First Rally in Cleveland False Pledges Accompany Each Step

FINDS 'INCIDENTS' PLANNED

Government Makes No Effort to Follow People's Stay-Out 'Mandate,' He Declares

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9—Charles A. Lindbergh charged tonight that American defense policy was marked by hypocrisy and subterfuge.

Speaking at a rally of the America First Committee in the Public Auditorium here, he asserted that "the war party" was scheming to create "incidents" to force the United States into war in Europe or Asia "under the guise of defending America."

Mr. Lindbergh specifically charged that President Roosevelt and the Administration had not even tried "to follow the mandate of our people to stay out of war." High government officials "have made every effort to evade that mandate," he asserted. He also accused the President and the Administration of withholding important information from the people.

Although arrangements were made to accommodate a crowd of 10,500, fewer than 5,000 were in the hall when the speech started.

Says War Vote Was Refused

"In the past we have gone on the assumption that our country was governed according to the will of the people," he said. "We were taught that government by the people was inseparable from the freedom and liberty for which our forefathers fought.

"We were taught that, as American citizens, we inherited the right to know about, and to vote upon, the fundamental policies of our nation. In the past we have elected candidates to office to represent us and not to rule us. In the past our President was responsible to our representatives in Congress. And the Supreme Court sat, incorruptible, as a final safeguard for freedom and justice.

"But now the question arises whether we any longer have a representative system of government in this country, whether we any longer have the right to know about and to vote upon the fundamental policies of our nation.

"We are faced with the stark fact that we have been carried to the verge of war against the opposition of a majority of our people, a war not of defense but of attack, a war not in America but in Europe and Asia.

"We are faced with the realization that our President consults our representatives in Congress with less and less frequency and that, while the direct attempt to pack our Supreme Court failed, its membership has now changed indirectly through retirement.

"We are faced with the knowledge that the most important issue of our generation, that of peace or war, that of defense or attack, has not been placed before a vote of our people."

Says People Were Misled

Recounting steps alleged to have brought the country closer and closer to active participation in the war, Mr. Lindbergh said they were all accompanied by "false promises." Repeal of the arms embargo, he recalled, was pictured as a means of keeping the United States out of war, the lease-lend bill as a means of insuring victory without participating in the war. Other "steps short of war" enumerated were the transfer of planes, warships and cannon and selective service.

"These are not only proofs of the subterfuge in our present government," he continued. "Not many months ago our President told us that 'convoys mean shooting and shooting means war.' Then we were informed that our Navy was not 'convoying,' but that it was being used to 'patrol' the seas. The American people were misled.

"The hypocrisy and subterfuge that surrounds us comes out in every statement of the war party. When we demand that our government listen to the 80 per cent of the people who oppose war, they shout that we are causing disunity.

"The same groups who call on us to defend democracy and freedom abroad demand that we kill democracy and freedom at home by forcing four-fifths of our people into war against their will. The one-fifth who are for war call the four-fifths who are against war the 'fifth column.'

"Men and women of Ohio: The war party's plan is clear. Since this country will not enter war willingly, they plan on creating incidents and situations which will force us into it. The interventionists know that if our defense program is extended far enough into Europe or Asia they can get us into a foreign war under the guise of defending America.

"They now say, with all the power of their propaganda, that we must occupy Africa in order to defend America. They say that we must control islands lying off the coast of the Eastern hemisphere. They want us to send our soldiers to the East Indies, the Cape Verdes, the Canaries, Madeira, the Azores, Scotland, Ireland and possibly England as well.

"And they know that if our occupation of Iceland doesn't bring on the shooting, the occupation of these other places will."

Asserting that freedom was in danger in America, Mr. Lindbergh charged that "agents of a foreign power" were encouraged to speak and travel our land while use of the same lecture halls was denied to members of the America First Committee.

"I will tell you where freedom lies," he continued. "It lies in the meetings of fearless men and women throughout this land, in meetings such as we are holding here in Cleveland tonight; in hundreds of similar meetings in every section of the United States.

"Freedom for us does not lie on any Soviet battlefield, or on any coastline of Europe, Africa or Asia. It lies today in the question of whether or not the action of our government is controlled by the will of our people. If we are represented in Washington we are free men; but if we are ruled by Washington, we are not.

"The issue today is even greater than the issue of war or peace. It is the issue of whether or not we still have a representative government; whether or not we in the United States of America are still a free people, with the right to decide the fundamental policies of our nation."

'Subterfuge' Government Leading Nation Into War, Says Lindbergh

Cleveland, Aug. 9 (AP).—Charles A. Lindbergh charged tonight that the nation was operating under a policy of government by subterfuge leading to war.

"I fully realize that the charge of subterfuge is serious in the extreme," he told an America First rally, "but let me recall to your mind a few facts that lie behind it."

First, he asserted, Americans were told that repeal of the arms embargo would be the surest way to keep out of war. Next, he added, the country was told that to sell arms on a cash-and-carry basis would insure victory for the Allies.

Lease-Lend Promises.

"They were emphatic in saying no one asked us to lend money or to send troops abroad," he continued.

"It was only last Spring that the lease-lend bill was passed, again with promises that it would keep us out of war; but by that time we were informed that we had to lend arms to insure victory."

Lindbergh asserted that while the American people were promised peace, the British were told the United States would enter the war. He charged that President Roosevelt had not renewed his election promise that American boys would not be sent to fight in a foreign war. He said the American people were misled by substituting the word "patrol" for "convoy."

"They Shout 'Disunity.'"

"The hypocrisy and subterfuge that surrounds us comes out in every statement of the war party," he asserted. "When we demand that our Government listen to the 80% of the people who oppose war, they shout that we are causing disunity.

"The same groups who call on us to defend democracy and freedom abroad demand that we kill democracy and freedom at home by forcing four-fifths of our people into war against their will. The one-fifth who are for war call the four-fifths who are against war the 'Fifth Column.'

"Since this country will not enter the war willingly, they plan on creating incidents and situations which will force us into it. The interventionists know that if our defense program is extended far enough into Europe or Asia they can get us into a foreign war under the guise of defending America.

"We are told that we must fight for the freedom of mankind. But the greatest battle for freedom is being fought right here in America today. If we cannot maintain our freedom in the New World we cannot force freedom on the Old World. What is freedom if it is not the right of a free people to vote on the issue of foreign war?"

Reiterating his contention that it "would be disastrous, both for America and Europe, if we took part" in the war, Lindbergh said:

"But the issue today is even greater than the issue of war or peace. It is the issue of whether or not we still have a representative government; whether or not we in the United States of America are still a free people, with the right to decide the fundamental policies of our nation. This is an issue that strikes to the foundations of our way of living, our government and our rights as citizens."

Clark Hits Foreign Policy.

Senator D. Worth Clark (D-Ida.) who shared the platform with Lindbergh, contended Roosevelt was in some ways carrying on undeclared war.

"Iceland," he declared, "has been taken by force from helpless little Denmark, and we are now rattling a rather dull saber at Japan.

"The only reason that full-dress, undeclared war has not been embarked upon is because the great voice of the American people shouts 'NO!'"

Clark accused a "supine Congress" of passing the War Power Act, under which "the President was given power to carry on an undeclared war anywhere on earth."

Lindbergh Says U. S. Nears War By 'Subterfuge'

Tells America First Rally Interventionists Intend to 'Create' Incidents

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh charged tonight that the nation was operating under a policy of government by subterfuge leading to war.

"I fully realize that the charge of subterfuge is serious in the extreme," he said in an address prepared for an America First rally, "but let me recall to your mind a few facts that lie behind it."

First, he asserted, Americans were told that repeal of the arms embargo would be the surest way to keep out of war. Next, he added, the country was told that to sell arms on a "cash and carry" basis would insure victory for the Allies.

"It was only last spring that the lease-lend bill was passed, again with promises that it would keep us out of war, but by that time we were informed that he had to lend arms in order to insure victory."

Charges Hypocrisy

Colonel Lindbergh asserted that while peace was promised to the American people, the British were told the United States would enter the war. He charged that President Roosevelt had not renewed his election promise that American boys would not be sent to fight in a foreign war.

He said the American people were misled by substituting the word "patrol" for "convoy."

"Battle for Freedom"

"Since this country will not enter the war willingly," he said, "they plan on creating incidents and situations which will force us into it. The interventionists know that if our defense program is extended far enough into Europe or Asia, they can get us into a foreign war under the guise of defending America."

The flyer asserted: "We are told that we must fight for the freedoms of mankind. But the greatest battle for freedom is being fought right here in America today. If we cannot maintain our freedom in the New World, we cannot force freedom on the Old World. What is freedom if it is not the right of a free people to vote on the issue of foreign war?"

O'BRIEN AND NYE WILL SPEAK AT ANTI-WAR RALLY

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, associate professor of the graduate school at Notre Dame university, will share the platform with Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], at the anti-war massmeeting tomorrow night in the Chicago arena, 400 East Erie street. This was announced last night by officials of the America First committee, sponsors of the rally. The Rev. Dr. O'Brien shares with Senator Nye the distinction of being a leading anti-war speaker in the middle west.

America's destiny away from European battlefields was stressed last night by speakers at meetings of suburban America First committees. In Glen Ellyn Miss Gertrude Coogan, a Chicago investment counselor, declared that this country will be kept out of war if the American people continue to oppose the present armament program, which she said was designed not for defense but to drag us into the war.

The Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of the Hyde Park Lutheran church, told the Evanston group that if the United States entered the war, for which it is unprepared, the country would be ruined financially and democracy would be lost. In Oak Park the Rev. C. W. Tedrahn, pastor of the Markham Evangelical Lutheran church of Markham, declared that this country should be able to imitate the Swiss and remain neutral, particularly with the advantage of the Atlantic ocean.

NYE AND DR. O'BRIEN SPEAK AGAINST WAR IN THE ARENA TONIGHT

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] will speak tonight at an anti-war rally sponsored by the America First committee in the Arena, 400 East Erie street. His subject will be "Cheating."

The North Dakota nonintervention-ist will be joined on the speaker's platform by the Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor in the graduate school at the University of Notre Dame, who also is strongly against this country's meddling in Europe's squabbles. The speakers will be introduced by Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of America First, who will preside at the meeting.

America First officials said that delegations from Indiana, Michigan, Iowa, and Wisconsin, as well as representatives from downstate chapters, are expected to attend. Doors of the Arena, which has a seating capacity of 8,000, will be opened at 7 p. m.

A program of organ music and community singing led by Carl Craven, America First song leader, will entertain earlycomers until 8 o'clock. Gen. Wood will introduce Dr. O'Brien at that time.

Parking lots in the immediate vicinity of the Arena will accommodate several thousand automobiles, America First officials said. A special detail of 50 police will be assigned to handle traffic near the hall.

[Senator Nye, upon his arrival in Chicago last night, predicted that senate investigation may prove existence of movie war plot. Story on page 10.]

Nye Exhorts America First To Fight F. D. R.'s 'War Plans'

BY FRANCIS J. CONNOR.

America First advocates, under the urging of Senator Gerald P. Nye (Rep., N. D.), Senate isolationist leader, were resolved today to thwart any attempts of President Roosevelt to have Congress declare an outright national emergency.

The North Dakota senator last night exhorted an audience in Chicago Arena to "stand by their guns and fight" what he predicted as the next step of the Roosevelt administration declaration of a national emergency.

Nye was roundly applauded by his audience, estimated at 7,000 by the Arena management.

"The next move—if they dare make it—will be for the administration to appeal to Congress to declare a national emergency so the President can break down existing laws and send troops into service outside of this hemisphere," Senator Nye said, and begged his listeners to fight this next step."

Makes 2-Hour Speech.

Nye's prediction climaxed a two-hour speech in which he accused President Roosevelt and high administration officials of "cheating" the citizens of the country by preaching peace when, he charged, "it is quite clear that our government has rather deliberately proceeded step by step toward involvement in Europe's suicide."

As is usual at America First rallies, the audience booed at every reference to the President by name, and cheered loud and long at every mention of Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, first-water isolationists.

"Senator's Dire Warnings."

Some of the senator's assertions that drew the most applause were:

"We have been told we would lose our foreign trade if we permit a 'new deal' to take hold in Europe. If we stood to lose all of our foreign trade, I say the saving of it would not be worth the spilling of the blood of one solitary American boy on foreign soil. For years our foreign trade has constituted only between 3 and 4 per cent of our total economic dependency."

"The greatest enemies of Great Britain are those American interventionists who keep telling Britain: 'Stay in there and fight and in a few weeks we will be over there to help you.' It has reached the point where Great Britain is afraid to consider a negotiated peace because it might be displeasing to persons in Washington, D. C."

"If Japan should make a success of her undertaken conquest of China, the day will come when the histories of the world must record that no one gave larger help to Japan than did the United States, by reason of the President's failure to invoke the laws of neutrality which he himself praised."

Nye was preceded as the principal speaker by the Rev. John A. O'Brien, Notre Dame University professor, who said he appeared on the program as an American citizen and was speaking "neither for Notre Dame nor the Catholic church." He told the audience:

"Under the guise of saving Christianity, civilization and democracy abroad, we are being pushed into a loathsome partnership with the greatest enemy of Christian civilization in the world today—Soviet Russia."

LOS ANGELES EXAMINER

America First Chief Answers State Legion

There are no communists, bundists or "affiliate of any foreign government or agency" in the membership of the America First organization in Southern California.

That was the declaration last night of John L. Wheeler, chairman, America First Committee of Southern California and son of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana.

He made that point clear in a telegram to Robert F. Garner Jr., just elected Department Commander for the California American Legion, in which Wheeler said the Legionnaires could "rest assured no person other than an American citizen can be a member of America First."

The telegram was inspired by a resolution adopted at the state American Legion convention in Sacramento Tuesday requesting that an investigation be made to determine if Communists or bundists were among America First members.

Wheeler telegraphed Garner that America First believed:

"1. It is our duty to keep America out of foreign wars.

"2. Not by acts of war abroad but by preserving and extending democracy at home can we aid democracy and freedom in other lands.

"3. We must build defense at home so strong that no foreign power or combination of powers can invade our country or jeopardize our national interests.

"4. We believe in aid to Britain and to the people of occupied countries as the humanitarian duty of a strong, free country at peace."

In conclusion Wheeler said:

"Standing as we do for truly American principles, we feel certain that if the American Legion were truly advised it would not lend itself to any smear campaign which has for its purpose the intimidation of American citizens."

Peace Group Head Would Impeach Knox, Stimson

Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, last night called for the immediate dismissal of Secretaries Knox and Stimson by President Roosevelt, and warned that if the Chief Executive does not act, "the American people, through their Representatives, must impeach the two Cabinet members."

Speaking under the auspices of the America First Committee, in the Friends' Meeting House, 2111 Florida Avenue Northwest, Libby charged that Knox "is not a fit person to hold office" and that Stimson, "an old man, is not fit to prepare this Nation for a crisis."

Libby then read excerpts from a brief which he said had been prepared in anticipation of impeachment proceedings in the House of Representatives.

Nye Declares Leaders Are 'Cheating' U. S.

Notre Dame Cleric Joins in Assailing Campaign for War

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (C.T.P.S.). Senator Gerald P. Nye (R.), of North Dakota, asserted tonight that "the American people are seeing today how some of their leaders, those in whom they placed largest confidence, have been misleading and cheating the people of the one remaining great democracy upon this earth."

In a speech at the Chicago Arena, under auspices of the America First Committee, Senator Nye recalled the acts through which the Administration has carried the United States to the brink of war while mouthing "beautifully honeyed words" of reassurance.

Compliments Nation

He complimented America on clear thinking which has kept the country from being stampeded into battle, and held that the United States is winning the war to stay out of war.

Also on the program, over which Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national head of America First, presided, was the Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor in the graduate school at Notre Dame University. He urged the ouster of "those two war provacateurs, Secretaries Stimson and Knox, because they are the real enemies of America's peace."

The supreme service possible is to halt the stupid and brutal mass slaughter, Father O'Brien held, and urged President Roosevelt to bring the warring leaders to the peace conference table.

Fascist Groups Push Appeasement Campaign in Municipal Elections

By Harry Raymond

Local fascist organizations—openly or secretly supporting Hitler's campaign for conquest of the world—have begun, since the Nazis launched their attack against the Soviet Union, an intensive drive to influence the municipal election campaign.

A super-roundup of groups taking political guidance from the fascist priest Charles Coughlin and his magazine, Social Justice, has thrown itself into the mayoralty race, backing Tammany candidate William O'Dwyer and attempting to force Mayor LaGuardia, candidate for re-election, into a position of conciliation of the forces of fascism at home and abroad.

Centering around the America First Committee, New York's fascist movement is divided into seven specific organizations:

1. Flying Squad for Americanism.
2. The Christian Front.
3. American Fellowship Forum.
4. Social Justice Party.
5. The American Rock.
6. Committee for Religious Recovery.
7. Paul Revere Sentinals.

These groups, under the guise of fighting for peace, have formed a central guiding organization, known as Americans United, behind an isolationist facade composed of Senators David I. Walsh and Gerald P. Nye, Domestic Relations Court Justice Herbert A. O'Brien and William Griffin, publisher of the Enquirer.

All of these men are listed as speakers at recent Queens County rallies of Americans United.

Behind the scenes at these rallies, pulling the string, were Bernard O'Aby, Father Coughlin's lawyer; Robert Harriss, Coughlin's broker, and William Goodwin, Coughlin's local representative and a Queens local Democratic leader.

The immediate declared objective of the fascist front, according to the pro-Coughlin Brooklyn organ, the Tablet, is to stop all American aid to Britain and especially the Soviet Union.

In the municipal election campaign, the fascist front has set itself the objective of capturing or influencing the old-line politicians.

In Queens the American Rock Party, headed by Goodwin, has planned a series of street meetings to gather 100,000 signatures to a petition demanding a permanent councilmanic committee to investigate "un-American" activities among city employes.

The aim of this movement, according to Mae E. Tynan, one of its leaders, is to:

"Put a good Democratic Mayor in City Hall and you will have no worry about Joe Stalin's Communists or any other un-Americans undermining our civil service system."

In the recent past, the Mayor conceded partially to the attacks of the pro-fascists and appeasers by launching an investigation of his own and ousting from city positions employes and officials named in the red-baiting attacks.

Progressives are insisting that LaGuardia cease his appeasement policy in municipal affairs. They insist he can gain their support only by openly and vigorously opposing the local fascists in their attack on progressive government and fair labor relations.

AWAIT MAYOR'S MOVE

They are awaiting the Mayor's next steps in this matter.

LaGuardia was obviously angered by the remark of Joseph McWilliams, founder of the fascist Christian Mobilizers, who said the Mayor was "nothing but a Jew trying to turn City Hall into a Red Kremlin."

Observers believe that LaGuardia by acting firmly against the fascist front of appeasers before, can be assured of the old support which elected him by overwhelming majority in 1937 over Tammany candidate Jeremiah T. Mahoney.

An example of a proper two-fisted attitude against the local fascists and other brands of appeasers, according to observers, was set recently by Larry MacPhail, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball Club, when he refused to rent the baseball field for a Lindbergh rally.

William T. Leonard, Christian Fronter and sponsor of the rally, threatened to boycott the Dodgers and "abolish night baseball" if the field could not be obtained for the rally. MacPhail stood firm, saying: "The America First outfit is the only group which has adopted tactics resembling the Hitler technique to force the club to alter its policy with respect to use of the field. I have no use for William Leonard, Lindbergh, the Bund, Christian Front, etc."

PACT A REBUFF FOR CHURCHILL, SAYS GEN. WOOD

Peace Demand Being Felt, America First Finds.

Three leaders of the America First committee last night saw evidence in the joint statement issued by Prime Minister Winston Churchill of England and President Roosevelt that the administration has begun to listen to the demand for peace made by 80 per cent of the American people. The America First leaders are Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman; Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice chairman, and R. Douglas Stuart Jr., director and founder.

"If there are no secret agreements beyond the signed declaration, this joint statement is evidence that President Roosevelt realizes he must listen more carefully to the American people than to Winston Churchill," said Gen. Wood. "It would seem that the English prime minister has suffered a diplomatic rebuff. Having come for a conference of war, he returns with a program for peace.

"Devoid of Commitments."

"The statement is utterly devoid of commitments on the part of the President. There is no promise of convoys, of troops, or of further occupation of distant points. The significance of the statement is in its mildness. Its effect is calculated to allay the fear of the German people. Notably absent are Churchill's customary threats and promises of vengeance.

"Instead he has finally consented to state the English war aims. He sets forth a plan for peace which may find a receptive hearing even in Germany—if the statements are made in good faith."

Mrs. Fairbank held that the significant point in the statement was that President Roosevelt made no pledges which would involve the United States in the fighting. She said the statement, judged on its face value, indicates that President Roosevelt realizes that the overwhelming majority of American people do not want to go to war.

"The eight points of the present statement and the 14 points of Woodrow Wilson in the last war have much in common," said Mrs. Fairbank. "However, the American people are more cynical and a lot more realistic than they were in 1918.

Cites Fate of 14 Points.

"If Mr. Roosevelt's eight points are to be taken seriously as a peace pledge, then it is well for citizens of a democracy to dwell on the fate of Mr. Wilson's 14 points. The people should realize that once the war is won, the eight will inevitably follow the 14 into oblivion."

"We all knew that Churchill went fishing," said Stuart, "but from what they tell us the big one got away. I only hope that what we read in the papers is true. It would be a shock for the American people to learn that it is all a fish story. Along with 80 per cent of the people, I hope that we will not learn later of secret agreements."

LET'S MAKE OWN FOREIGN POLICY, O'BRIEN DEMANDS

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, University of Notre Dame professor who will speak tonight at an anti-war rally in Arlington Heights, said yesterday that the people of the United States must join in a demand that the foreign policy be framed not at 10 Downing street, London, nor at the Kremlin in Moscow, but at Washington, D. C. He added that the people should urge that this policy reflect the will of the American people and not the wishes of foreign statesmen.

The Arlington Heights meeting, which will be held in the new park fieldhouse, is under sponsorship of the America First committee. George Glow, chairman of the Arlington Heights chapter of America First, will preside.

"The American people," said the Rev. Mr. O'Brien, "are sick at heart at the spectacle of an administration, solemnly sworn to peace, which instead of lubricating relations with European powers has made them yield spark after spark with the apparent intention of setting off the explosion of war."

Fascist Groups Unite Behind Lindbergh

Survey Shows Coughlinites, Anti-Semitic Outfits Throughout Country Support Pro-Hitler Program of America First Committee

By John Arnold

America is criss-crossed and honeycombed with virulent little home-grown circles of furiously producing and disseminating anti-Semitism and the Nazi creed of violence. They flood the mails with their horrors and the poisonous stream of their influence flows into many high places.

For many years efforts have been repeatedly made to unify and centralize these innumerable bands, but without success. It is the nature of each little fascist to be his own fuehrer until such time as a man of sufficient proportion appears who can command and dominate them all.

That man has now appeared. His name is Lindbergh. A unifying center has been found. It is the America First Committee.

The treasonable work of that group to block an American anti-Hitler front has won the support and the allegiance of every anti-Semite and every fascist in the country, from Charles E. Coughlin and Henry Ford down to the chin-whiskered William Dudley Pelley and New York's street brawler Joe McWilliams.

McWilliams has said: "Lindbergh is on our side. We must not hinder him . . ."

Francis Moran, a Boston leader of the terrorist Christian Front, has told his followers: "Wait until Colonel Lindbergh is ready to take over."

Father Coughlin's personal organ, Social Justice, has proclaimed that Senator Wheeler and ex-Colonel Lindbergh "... must be supported ... for to them, following the war, will we look for leadership."

In a recent issue Social Justice proudly displayed two letters from leaders of the America First Committee under this line: "America First Committee Still Welcomes Coughlinites."

The men who now bestow their full allegiance upon the ex-colonel with the Nazi medals makes no secret of their ultimate aim: a world dominated by Hitler.

Coughlin's Social Justice said this in its June 30 issue: "Hitler's declaration of war on Stalin points the way for America."

POGROM CALLED

William Dudley Pelley's weekly Roll Call for June 30 wrote as follows in the typical florid style of the goateed anti-Semite "Great days are around the corner of the hours. A world with the Judeo-Communistic menace laid will be a world in which universal mischief makers are cataclysmically cooped. Humanity shall have the chance to breathe the pure air of Aryan integrity and sincerity again. Hitler with Russia's inexhaustible resources at his back will be a Hitler strong enough to challenge combinations of all other nationalities on the face of the globe."

Another America First supporter, the Rev. Luke Rader, fascist evangelist of Minneapolis, made this forecast recently: "After this country enters the war, we will have the bloodiest civil war ever experienced by any nation. Every international Jew will be eliminated, for the people of this country will attend to that. We Americans are very tolerant, but we've had enough of the Frankfurters, the Ben Cohens, etc."

Still another America First backer, the so-called National Workers League of Detroit which inherited the dregs of the notorious Black Legion, wrote this in a recent issue of its confidential bulletin: "Fellow citizens! Don't you often feel a primitive urge to get your hands around the throat of one of these 'democrats' who believe in Union Now with England? It seems murder does have some patriotic values."

Lest it be believed that these are but the expressions of crackpots or of a lunatic fringe, it should be known that these groups now backing America First are in turn backed, supported and encouraged by men within the halls of Congress.

The Hour, anti-fascist newsletter published here, revealed in its Aug. 2 issue that George Paganelli, editor of a violently anti-Semitic paper called Christian Defender, has recently been in conference with members of the Congressional appeasement bloc.

Paganelli's paper recently published this: "Just a bit of warning to Jews: Once sales (of Social Justice) are effectively and finally stifled, then will also have come the time to resort to means other than the soapbox, the court and peaceful assembly."

REP. RANKIN IN IT

The Hour reports as follows:

"George Paganelli . . . held conferences last week in Washington, D. C., with Congressman John E. Rankin of Mississippi and Ex-Congressman John C. Schafer of Wisconsin. Under discussions were plans for promoting and consolidating anti-Semitic sentiment in the United States and the use of this Nazi tactic as a political weapon in this country.

"When Paganelli returned from Washington to New York City, he boasted to fascist intimates about conferring with anti-democratic politicians at the capitol.

"According to Jew-baiter Paganelli, Congressman Rankin advanced the following formula for keeping America out of the war and preventing further aid to the Allies: 'Blame the war on the Jews. Label this a Jewish war, a war brought about by international Jewish bankers. Spread this around the country and our battle is won.'

"Ex - Congressman John C. Schafer," The Hour further reveals, "undaunted by his recent defeat in the Wisconsin elections, is building a secret organization which he hopes will be the focal point for anti-democratic, anti-Semitic feeling in the United States. He told Paganelli that he hopes to enlist the support of large numbers of World War veterans and that he will soon start for the Middle West on a speaking tour. He intends to make Washington the headquarters of his Fifth Column organization."

PRO-HITLER ROSTER

The Hour also reports that Paganelli "has been maintaining close contact" with Senator Robert Reynolds of North Carolina, now chairman of the powerful and strategic Senate Committee on Military Affairs.

Other Congressmen either identified with the America First Committee directly or applauded in the fascist press of this country are Martin Dies, Senator Nye, Hamilton Fish and Stephen A. Day

Hitlerism must not only be fought on the battlefields of Europe. It must be combatted at home. Its focal point in the United States today is the America First Committee.

'Rebirth of Freedom At Home' Urged at America First Rally

Vassar Head Deplores Churchill-Roosevelt Pact; Sees Huge War Toll

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College, says "What our country needs is not empire abroad but a rebirth of freedom at home, if government by the people is not to perish from the earth."

Dr. MacCracken, analyzing the eight-point agreement signed recently by President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill, spoke last night at an America First Committee rally in Carnegie Hall.

At the outset, he said he believed the President's expressed intention to keep the Nation out of war, but added that if the United States was committed "to the final destruction of Nazi tyranny, that certainly would be war."

Sees Senate Snubbed.

Dr. MacCracken said he deplored "the sudden and melodramatic element in the meeting with Winston Churchill, and the apparent attempt to commit our country to what is in effect a treaty, without the constitutional provision of a two-thirds concurrence of the United States Senate.

"The eight-point treaty is signed officially by the British government through its Prime Minister, and by the President of the United States, who under our system has no such authority as the Prime Minister. It is, first and last, a Churchill treaty, therefore."

Continuing, he asked, "If we go to war now, what kind of war would it be? About that question the war party has left us in doubt. Three hundred billions of dollars, 10,000,000 men under arms, 100,000 airplanes, thousands of ships, and an equipment so vast that we could not make it before 1945.

40 Million Dead Seen.

"But that is the least of the It will cost millions of Ame lives, the total starvation of rope so far as blockade can complish it, with no doubt 40 000 deaths from starvation, total destruction of European by bombing, the exhaustion of resources in oil and metals t complish this.

"And in the meantime, wh us? How much democracy w left in these United States, for five years we have, like many, become a militarized * * *"

He asked if this Nation win such a war, and if it "is it well that we should wir

ASSAIL SECRECY OF ROOSEVELT'S OCEAN PARLEYS

Three America First speakers last night joined in denouncing the secrecy surrounding the meeting of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of England. The speakers also warned of increasing taxes and held that army morale could be bolstered by operating draft laws under a frank and open process.

Dr. Brent D. Allinson of the American university, Washington, D. C., spoke at a meeting of the Lincoln Park chapter in the north side auditorium, 3730 North Clark street. He held that congress had not authorized any one to say or think that the President has authority to pledge resources of and power of American people to underwrite English victory.

The Rev. William H. Medler, pastor of Hyde Park Lutheran church, said the joint statement of Churchill and the President may well be the prelude to another 10 billion dollar tax ride and the prolog to a shooting war. He spoke at an open air rally in Elmhurst.

Attorney Walter F. Boye, speaking at a meeting in Lombard, said that any indication of low morale in the army comes from broken pledges by leaders in Washington in the draft extension.

MAKE LABOR DAY AMERICA FIRST DAY AT FESTIVAL

Labor day—next Monday—also will be "America First day" at the 37th annual fall festival in St. Charles, officials said yesterday. Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will address an anti-war rally at 8:30 p. m., in the natural amphitheater at Potawatomi park. The festival starts Friday.

The amphitheater will seat 7,000 persons, but loudspeakers thruout the 40 acre park will carry Wheeler's address to the throng of visitors expected for the final day of the festival. In addition, the speech will be carried by the Mutual Broadcasting system. Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting chairman of America First, will introduce Senator Wheeler.

Two America First rallies are scheduled for tonight. Attorney Walter F. Boye will address the Oak Park chapter at 736 Lake street, and Harry A. Veeneman will speak before the Evanston chapter at 908 Seward street. Both meetings start at 8 o'clock.

LEGION LEADER LAUDS RED ARMY STAND

(Special to the Daily Worker)

LONG BEACH, L. I., Aug. 22.—High praise for the fighting qualities of the Red Army was voiced by Commander Robert C. O'Grady of the Long Beach American Legion Post at a joint rally by the Council for Soviet Relations and the United Service Organizations.

The rally, well attended by Long Beach residents, was held at the Masonic Temple last Tuesday night.

Other speakers were Rev. Thomas L. Harris, National Secretary, American Council on Soviet Relations, and Yeung Liu Ping-Mo, member of the China Aid Council.

Meanwhile, efforts of the pro-Hitler America First Committee to hold a public rally at Long Beach were blocked yesterday by Mayor Charles M. Emerson.

Lindbergh to Talk In Oklahoma, Even 'If in a Pasture'

Oklahoma City, Aug. 26 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh will speak in Oklahoma Friday, "even if he has to use a cow pasture," a spokesman for the America First Committee said today after the city council canceled a permit for use of the Municipal Auditorium.

"If we can't get a place here we'll go somewhere else, but we definitely will speak, and it will be in Oklahoma," added Herbert K. Hyde, a former United States district attorney and Oklahoma City chairman of the America First Committee.

The council acted unanimously on protests submitted by two local American Legion posts, the Women's Ambulance and Transport Corps of Oklahoma, Harmony Chapter, No. 3, of the American War Mothers, and the Knights of Pythias.

Councilman A. P. Van Meter, moving the cancellation, said:

"We're not denying the right of free speech by refusing to rent a public building.

"Let him go elsewhere to speak; and when he gets tired talking, he can go home."

Does It Mean America First?

With the avowed intention of opening offices in Pine Bluff, representatives of the America First Committee arrived this week.

With Lindbergh as its spokesman, the Committee has established chapters over the United States. Granting the sincerity of Lindbergh and his friends who form the Committee, the fact remains that to the colors of the Committee flock in countless numbers the very Fascists, Nazis, Communists and members of the Bund which the Committee in its literature points out are not eligible for membership. Commentators in national publications point out repeatedly that the open meetings of the Committee in industrial centers draw heavily on these subversive elements as an audience.

It is not that the Committee in spite of itself has the support of these classes that is alarming, it is the fact that a growing strength is shown by an organization whose every publication, every public meeting is cheered by well-wishers to the Axis.

The Committee views the future with dark prophecy. It charges, through its spokesmen, that the President is deliberately leading the United States into war. It bewails our lack of preparation, and frankly gives its credo; that America could not properly defend itself from invasion. It condemns the lease-lend bill, and rather oddly, advocates humanitarian aid to occupied countries, saying nothing of humanitarian aid to those democracies still fighting. It is not strange that such a creed of faith finds an appreciative audience among the sects and cults that would glory in the downfall of Britain, as well as those sincere United States citizens who believe the Committee may keep us out of a foreign war.

The great pity is that the Committee which draws so heavily on prophecy for its principles did not exhibit a little of this foresight during the pre-Munich period. There was no Committee then urging that we arm our manhood and create a mechanized army that is unbeatable.

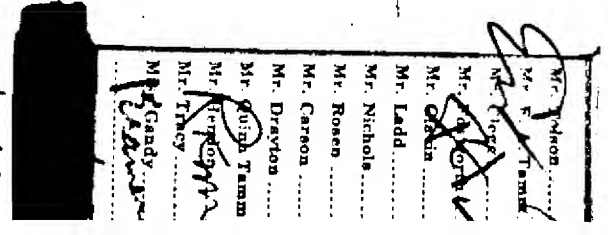
The America First Committee has flooded the rural mailboxes of Arkansas with its literature. It now attempts to establish itself in towns the size of Pine Bluff. It may succeed, but its motives should be submitted to the closest scrutiny. Its aims are clear: to instill in the American mind the fact that the European war is none of our business and that it will have no effect on us whether Britain wins or not.

At that point, prophecy, not solely the perogative of the America First Committee, becomes the property of anybody who wants to predict.

We believe and dare to prophesy that the downfall of Britain will create a world in which not only the America First Committee will find itself silenced, but also all groups who have an opinion and the desire to express it.

The Graphic urges all Pine Bluffians to examine most thoroughly the principles and practices of the Committee before giving their support to an organization so vulnerable to the charge of fifth column activity.

—Agnes Watson.



What Do You Think?

By WALTER SORRELLS

Hereafter and henceforth The Commercial will offer to publish all information concerning the America First committee available . . . at the regular open rate of seventy cents an inch . . . or more.

The organization of a chapter in Pine Bluff is news. But the aims and purposes of that chapter are propaganda. In other words the America First Committee has no definite objective . . . that is, no obvious objective, except to try to harness public opinion, for the purpose of using it to force their doctrines, and policies on Congress.

In other words, nothing can be made out of the America First Committee except a lobbying organization nation-wide in scope.

In order that there might be no misunderstanding later on, we do not consider information concerning the America First committee as having any news value, hence regular open advertising rates will be charged.

And neither do we consider such action as having any relation to censorship or suppression of news, as it is the paper's privilege to determine what is news and what is free publicity, or propaganda, and the fact that the editor doesn't always do a very good job of making a distinction is beside the point.

Beside the editor's desk there is a large wooden box . . . two feet wide, three feet deep, and three feet long. Once a day that box is filled up with what the editor considers free publicity, and propaganda.

The one exception is promotional matter for worthy projects of a public and non-profit nature. And of course that gets us back to the policy that the editor must of necessity decide causes that are worthy.

It will not be our intention to go into the merits or demerits of the America First Committee. It is enough for us that the organization is engaged in trying to influence the members of Congress, and that we consider propaganda . . . for good or for bad.

As far as The Commercial is concerned this paper doesn't care who joins or why. That is a matter over which we have no control and have no desire to control. But what the committee offers for publication in The Commercial is our business.

And it shall be our business to interpret as advertising information concerning this movement, since it has no value to The Commercial as news.

PINE BLUFF SAYS GOODBYE

Hats off to the patriotism and the common sense of the people of Pine Bluff, and to the quick action of the American Legion.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Lohbeck, representatives of the America First Committee, left Pine Bluff at 3:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon, headed presumably for headquarters in St. Louis. Sunday morning's Graphic carried a resolution of the American Legion condemning the activities of the America First Committee. Mr. Lohbeck read the resolution, according to persons living at the boarding house where the America Firster was staying, and very shortly announced his intention of leaving Pine Bluff. In washing his hands of Pine Bluff, he left in his room reams of America First literature, which happily has reached the bonfire.

So there will be no America First offices in Pine Bluff. We can only hope that throughout the South, America First will be equally discouraged.

Saturday afternoon Mr. Lohbeck paid us a call that lasted well over an hour. We were glad of the opportunity to talk with an accredited representative of the organization, and for the benefit of those who did not hear the polished, practiced speec hof Mr. Lohbeck we want to pass on a few of his statements. First Mr. Lohbeck made it plain that the Committee does not care who wins the war. At least that's what he said. What he implied is another matter. For an hour he condemned Great Britain for imperialism, sloth, indifference, self-interest, and oppression of minorities. He charged Roosevelt with deliberately keeping the American people in the dark about conditions in Europe and blundering us into war. He said that America is making self-sacrifices and that Canada is making none. He condemned France for corruption, Russia for ineptness, America for its inability to defend itself. Leaders and nations all over the globe came in for their share of criticism, with one exception. Hitler and Nazi Germany were not mentioned.

It is our considered opinion that the America First Committee, at least in the person of Mr. Lohbeck, is totally pro-German in sympathy. It may not recommend our throwing up our hands as it so strongly recommends for Great Britain, but it regards a German victory in the present war as a fair and equitable settlement to the battle, none of the blame for which is laid at Germany's door.

Mr. Lohbeck, when questioned about the "negotiated peace" he so strongly urges Roosevelt to sponsor, thought that Germany should be left in control of all Europe, England should surrender some of her colonies to the Nazis, give self-determination to India, and make friends with National Socialism. He did not regard a German victory over all of Europe and Great Britain as any threat to our security. When questioned about Hitler's rather well-known penchant for not keeping promises, he stated that Hitler's action upon victory would be "just a guess," but that he saw no reason for us to be concerned.

Our only concern, Mr. Lohbeck said, is to arm ourselves, and watch over the Western Hemisphere.

Mr. Lohbeck goes about his business of watching over the Western Hemisphere and "opening offices" for the America First Committee, and we of the Graphic are happy that his Committee found no welcome here. We express our gratitude to the American Legion and the principles for which it stands. Their published resolution echoed the opinion of a vast majority of the citizens of Pine Bluff, but it was their alertness and their firm expression of disapproval of the Committee that sent its representatives to greener pastures.—A. Watson.

America First Committee Will Be Formed Here

Don Lohbeck, Organizer For National Group, Is Here To Form Local Chapter

A chapter of the "America First Committee," an organization which has received much publicity since the current European war began, will be organized in Pine Bluff soon, if plans of Don Lohbeck, organizer for the patriotic group, succeeds.

Principles of the America First Committee, according to Lohbeck, who has organized recently chapters all over the nation, include two main factors. To stay out of war and to prepare the United States an adequate defense.

He said, in explaining the program of the nationwide peace organization: "We believe that this is not our war now being fought in Europe and there is nothing to gain by entrance of the United States, unprepared, into a war that has been going on in Europe for over 2,000 years.

"We contend that if we enter the war in Europe that will be the first step toward a loss of democratic government at home. The statement that if we failed to enter the war, it would mean a heavy loss of foreign trade is mildly mis-represented. If we entered the war but for two months, the cost would be greater than the revenue we would collect from foreign trade for ten years.

"It is the consensus in Washington," he continued, "that thus far only the America First chapters, throughout the United States have kept us out of war. This is the first time in the history of the United States that the people have expressed themselves so strongly when they were in a crisis.

"By polls through newspapers and other disinterested organizations, we have found that 80 per cent of the people were against intervention and that the least in any state is 65 per cent. Even in Roosevelt's own Congressional district the count was nine to one.

"We work through letters of the people to the Congressmen of the United States. By convincing them that we do not desire any form of war, we can go far toward preventing the United States entering. There are some 2,000 chapters in the United States at the present time. All of them are

Food Local 302 Collects Funds for Britain-USSR

In accordance with a resolution its membership adopted earlier, the general council of Cafeteria Employes, Local 302, AFL, issued collection lists to its hundreds of shop chairmen for funds to aid British and Soviet labor.

The lists which are arranged under a petition to President Roosevelt, urge the President again to "take all necessary steps to make support of British and Soviet labor in their fight against fascism effective."

Quoting the membership's earlier resolution urging immediate aid to the people of Britain and the Soviet Union, the appeal of a special committee of the local to aid British and Soviet labor declares that the collection lists are one step to "translate words into action."

The committee of the local directing the campaign includes President Costas Dritsas, Secretary-Treasurer Sam Kramberg, F. Fernandeh, with M. Capdevilla as its chairman and B. Pollack as secretary.

The petition addressed to the President also says:

"We wish at the same time to say, as we did in our resolution, that 'in order to defeat the aims of the "America First" appeasers within this country as well as abroad, the rights of trade unionists and the principles of democracy be extended within our country because only increased democracy can and will defeat fascism both here and abroad.'"

Local 302, with a membership of 10,000, has agreements and shop chairmen in some 500 establishments.

Lindbergh Gives Thanks To Oklahoma Governor

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 29.—Charles A. Lindbergh, whose right to speak here tonight was defended by Gov. Leon C. Phillips, paid a courtesy call to the Capitol yesterday and expressed his thanks.

Gov. Phillips, who said he disagreed with the flyer's views, reported Col. Lindbergh "thanked me for making the suggestion that he had a right to be heard and I said: "Hell, that's just pure Americanism to me, that's all it is."

Col. Lindbergh was accompanied by representatives of the America First Comittee, sponsor of his talk.

Col. Lindbergh arrived today by plane from St. Louis.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, who is to appear with Col. Lindbergh on the speaker's platform, is expected late tomorrow.

Their talks were scheduled originally for the municipal auditorium, but the City Council canceled the reservation. America First Committee officials then obtained use a sandlot baseball park.

Preparations were under way last night by sponsors of the 37th Fall festival in St. Charles to accommodate an overflow crowd when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] makes a Labor day address Monday night in Pottawatomie park.

More than 7,000 persons are expected in the open air amphitheater in the 40 acre park on the banks of the Fox river. Officials estimated, however, that an additional 60,000 in the fair grounds will listen to the talk over the public address system. The address will be broadcast coast to coast.

The Fall festival was opened last night with an Indian pageant in which Whirling Thunder, full blooded Winnebago, directed a group of Indians in their ancient native ceremonials. A children's parade thru the park, with prizes for the best Indian costumes, also was scheduled.

Senator Wheeler's address at 8:30 o'clock Monday night will climax the four day festival. Monday has been designated "America First day."

LINDBERGH VIEWS HOTLY ASSAILED

Charge That England May Turn on Us Is 'Twisted Thinking,' Eichelberger Asserts

HELP TO HITLER, HE ADDS

Biddle Urged to Investigate America First Committee by Former Magistrate

Charles A. Lindbergh's statement that England before the war ends "may turn against us, as she has turned against France and Finland," made in a speech Friday night in Oklahoma City, Okla., was characterized yesterday by Clark M. Eichelberger, national director of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, as "probably the most striking illustration of the perverted and twisted thinking of some of the isolationists."

"There seems to be no twisting of the facts too bold to undertake for some of the America First Committee crowd if it helps Hitler," Mr. Eichelberger said. "Britain has not turned against France and Finland. On the contrary, Vichy has turned against England, becoming an ally of Germany against the growing protest of ninety per cent of the French people, and unhappy Finland also has allied herself with Germany."

United States Attorney General Francis Biddle was requested to investigate the America First Committee as a Nazi propaganda agent in a letter sent yesterday by Joseph Goldstein, former magistrate. In making the letter public Mr. Goldstein said he was authorized to make the request by the Voluntary Public Defender Committee of Kings County, of which he is counsel.

"I contend that the name it has chosen is merely a cloak for the greatest Nazi propaganda movement that has ever flourished in this country," he said in the letter.

Mr. Goldstein's request was endorsed by Herman Hoffman, grand master of the Independent Order B'rith Abraham, who said he planned to appoint a committee next week to confer with the Attorney General on an investigation of the America First Committee. Mr. Goldstein is a member of the legal staff of the order.

Mr. Hoffman, speaking at a lodge meeting at 37 Seventh Street, characterized Lindbergh as "Hitler's puppet-agent in America" and challenged him to a public debate.

Answering an attack that the America First Committee "is a thinly disguised front for Hitler," John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the committee, asked Americans to look at the names of the men and women on the committee's board. The criticism was made by Professor James H. Sheldon, chairman of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, in addressing the Jewish War Veterans in Bufalo Thursday night.

"Does any one believe General Robert E. Wood or Hanford MacNider or Alice Longworth or Governor Lowden or Kathleen Norris or Samuel Hopkins Adams or any number of others are capable of representing the interest of so unspeakable a system as that of the Nazis?" he asked. "The committee affords expression to those who feel America should stay out of the war."

WHEELER CALLS FOR WAR ON POVERTY

Labor leaders who would send their workers to war "are without peer among the Judas Iscariots of all history," Senator Burton K. Wheeler declared last night in a Labor Day address at St. Charles.

Speaking before an estimated 30,000 persons in Pottawotamie Park on "America First Day" at the St. Charles, Ill., Fall Festival, he warned that America faces a critical decision—"peace or war—freedom or slavery—democracy or dictatorship." He said:

"Today could well be a historic Labor Day—if we have the will, the courage and the intelligence to make it such. Today, the workers of the nation could and should resolve that this republic will not become embroiled in a foreign war.

WAR AGAINST POVERTY.

"Today the workers of this nation could and should resolve that they will enlist in a war—a noble war—a war against poverty—a war against unemployment—a war to give the farmer equality with other groups of our nation—a war against monopoly—a war against disease—a war against all our unsolved economic problems.

"How I wish it was this war against unsolved domestic problems that President Roosevelt meant when he said last week: 'We have a war to win.'"

But, he said, it is a different kind of war that the President meant:

"A war that will send American boys to the slaughter pens of Europe—a war in the Pacific to preserve the British Empire—a war to save the Chinese city of Hong Kong for British exploitation—a war to maintain British subjugation of the Malay States and India, where four hundred million people live in abject poverty and slavery."

WARNS OF LABOR DANGER.

The day America is plunged into war, he said, labor can forget its hard-won rights. He declared:

"Some will tell you that it will be only temporary—that it is better to have an American dictator than a foreign dictator. That is sheer poppycock. It took a hundred years to win the right of collective bargaining—once it is lost, labor can bid it good-bye for generations."

War, he declared, will cost us our democracy, with civil rights, freedom of speech, press, religion and assembly gone. He said:

"If you do not have faith in the people, then you lie when you say you believe in democracy.

"If you break faith with the people, you are stabbing democracy in the back, and it then becomes an ehpty shell. I say to those of you who believe in the democratic process: do not permit the government of the United States to break that faith. Insist upon the determination of the greatest issue which a free people have faced for many generations by democratic process."

AMERICA FIRST— UNIT PROJECTED

Group of Roanokers Will Organize Tonight

A group of Roanokers interested in the formation of a local unit of the America First committee will meet this evening at 8 o'clock, daylight time, at Hotel Patrick Henry to discuss formation of a permanent local organization, and has extended an invitation to the public to attend the meeting, one of the group said last night.

The group met Sunday and formed a temporary committee, and probably will set a time for a general public meeting at the session this evening. Names of the temporary committee were not learned.

Principles Outlined

Membership in the America First committee and in its local unit, if one is formed, is open to any "patriotic American," but specifically excludes fascists, communists, nazis, members of the German-American bund, and "Union Nowsers"—the last-named being advocates of immediate union of England-speaking countries, as proposed by Striet.

The six principles on which the America First committee is founded were stated by the local member yesterday as follows:

(1) no foreign war; (2) a strong defense at home, so that no power or combination of powers can invade the United States; (3) save and extend American democracy; (4) no convoys, since ships sent into war zones in 1917 led to our involvement in the World war; (5) humanitarian aid, administered to alleviate the worst of the suffering in England and the occupied countries; and (6) a national advisory referendum on the question of war and peace, so that when Congress is called upon to make the decision on the question, as provided for in the Constitution, they may know how the people of the nation feel.

General Robert E. Wood, acting quartermaster general of the army during the World war, is national chairman of the America First committee.

In The News

REP. DIES SHOULD INVESTIGATE REP. DICKSTEIN

COL. MOORE-BRABAZON, distinguished minister of aircraft production of England, is accused violently in Britain of having "voiced the hope that Germany and Russia would exterminate each other and leave Great Britain the victor."

There would seem to be nothing particularly reprehensible about that utterance and desire on the part of anyone sincerely interested in the welfare of the British Empire.

But the peculiarity of the war situation in both Britain and America is that the great body of ultra-radicals appear to be more interested in the success and survival of Bolshevist Russia than they are in any other phase of the military or political situation.

THE man who makes the accusation so dramatically and sensationally against the British cabinet minister for expressing the hope that the totalitarian powers would exterminate each other and leave Great Britain dominant is one Jack Tanner, a labor leader, president of the Amalgamated Engineering Union.

And the accusation was made before the Trades Union Congress.

Whereupon the congress proceeded to call for the "establishment of an Anglo-Russian Trade Union Council," and pledged its support to all efforts to supply war materials—TO RUSSIA.

The Trades Union Council then formally approved the alliance of England and the United States WITH RUSSIA and "praised the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration of aims."

All of which brings up the plain and pointed question: "What on earth is all the shooting about?"

What are we fighting against, and what are we fighting for?

IF we are fighting against totalitarianism as a foul principle and oppressive policy, why in the name of high heaven should we NOT desire to see the two totalitarian powers exterminate each other and destroy not only the principle but the practice of despotic government?

If we are citizens—or subjects—of a genuine democracy and if we are devoted to the ideals of democracy and honestly desirous of preserving and perpetuating those ideals, why should we not desire to see the enemies of democracy destroy each other?

Why should we not long to see democracy raise its strong structure—its temple of liberty and justice—upon the ruins of ALL totalitarian tyranny?

But no! In both Great Britain and America the ultra radicals want to see Russian tyranny preserved.

They do not object to despotism if it is despotism of their class and despotism of THEIR class.

They hate the brutal tyrant, Hitler, but they love the bloody tyrant, Stalin.

They are like the politician boss who said of the corrupt alderman:

"I know he is an S.O.B. But he is our S.O.B."

WELL and good as a battle cry for those who are fighting for BOLSHEVISM.

But are the rest of us straining every nerve for the benefit of Bolshevism?

Is our free country piling up deficits, bleeding its citizens white with confiscatory taxation, rushing headlong into national bankruptcy, shoveling out our wealth abroad and shipping our war materials to alien nations to bolster up Bolshevism in Russia to spread it over all of Europe, including Britain, and to breed it and broadcast it in our own America?

We may not think that this is what we want to do, but this is EXACTLY what we ARE doing with our Bolshevist alliance, and no smoke screen of fine phrases can obscure that outstanding fact.

No country which fights for Russia can claim to be honestly opposed to tyranny, since Bolshevism is the basest and bloodiest tyranny that has disgraced the supposed civilization of Europe since the time of Ivan the Terrible.

WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD

No country can truthfully claim to be crusading for democracy and the four freedoms when it is supporting a tyranny which is the most evil enemy of democracy—a tyranny where all the four freedoms have been brutally suppressed—a tyranny with no liberty, no opportunity, no morality, and no God.

THE sympathy with Bolshevism is not confined to Britain. It is just as prevalent and pronounced in the United States as it is in England—or as it was in France before that nation's fall.

All sorts of strikes and sabotage impeded our construction and shipment of war material when we were supporting the democracies of Europe, and opposing BOTH totalitarian tyrannies.

But when we changed our national policy and supported Russian tyranny and sought to bring the bravely battling democracies of Finland and Esthonia and Latvia and Lithuania back into the grip of Russian despotism—when we made a virtue of feeding the civilized republics of Central Europe to the greedy maw of the medieval Bolshevist Bear, the interference with our construction and transportation of war material suddenly ceased.

Our Communist fifth columns were—as a rule—satisfied with a policy which sustained communism in Russia and stimulated its spread over the rest of the world.

But the ultra radicals in America are not even contented by the alliance of Russian tyranny with our country and the support of Russian communism by our government.

These extreme radicals openly object to any activity of any American organizations in behalf of democratic ideals and traditional American principles and policies.

It is an evil in the eyes of these ultra radicals for Americans to desire to keep their beloved country out of the devastation of war.

It is the unpardonable sin for Americans to wish to save the flower of American youth from again being sacrificed on foreign fields.

It is base betrayal of what—OF BOLSHEVISM—to express the fond hope (while giving all-out aid to England) that the totalitarian powers will exterminate each other and leave the democracies triumphant and unscathed.

REPRESENTATIVE SAMUEL DICKSTEIN, radical Democrat, of New York, chairman of the House Immigration and Naturalization Committee, announced Tuesday, according to the dispatches, "that he had telegraphed Representative Martin Dies, of Texas, urging an immediate investigation of the America First Committee," and saying:

"This group acts contrary to the principles enunciated by President Roosevelt in his Labor Day address, and there is no doubt, in my mind at least, that the source of funds with which this group operates is questionable."

Mr. Dies should answer that telegram by investigating not merely the America First Committee, but investigating Mr. Samuel Dickstein.

PERHAPS Mr. Dies can find out why so many Communist immigrants are allowed entrance into this country, and why so few are exposed and expelled.

Perhaps Mr. Dies can further discover why so many traitorous to our free American institutions are aided in becoming naturalized citizens to pursue their treasonable activities clothed and protected by the rights and liberties of American citizenship.

Mr. Dickstein, chairman of the House IMMIGRATION and NATURALIZATION Committee, would certainly welcome a fraternal investigation by Mr. Dies, chairman of the House committee investigating UN-AMERICAN ACTIVITIES.

And while investigations are in order, the loyal citizens of America—all of them—would better investigate for themselves the dangers to their American institutions and to their liberties and to THEIR LIVES through the widening spread of Communism in the United States and the encouragement given to that deadly contagion not only by subversive individuals but by certain departments of our Government.

Lillian Gish Does Fadeout From Role in America First

Mystery almost complete today surrounded the resignation of Lillian Gish, actress of stage and screen, from the America First Committee, for which she was a much-heralded speaker last spring.

The one known fact—admitted by all concerned—is that Miss Gish went to see Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, retired, chairman of America First, on Aug. 28, in Chicago, and verbally resigned.

That is agreed by Miss Gish and by a spokesman for Wood at headquarters of America First. But neither principal sees fit to discuss the fadeout.

Some rumors have linked the resignation with the hearings conducted by an isolationist subcommittee of the Senate in Washington on "war propaganda" in the films.

Feared Senate Call?

According to a Hollywood dispatch to the theatrical magazine, Variety, Miss Gish, in addition to resigning orally to Wood, wrote a letter stating that she did not believe America First would function as it did when she joined, and that she was not going to be used as a cat's paw by it to testify against the movie industry.

At headquarters of America First it was denied that she sent any letter or that she made any verbal statement such as the version Variety mentions.

Denies Any Discrimination.

One Hollywood trade journal recently said Miss Gish might be called to testify in Washington before the "propaganda" investigating subcommittee — composed of four isolationist senators and one with views unknown, all appointed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler. It said there was a "rumor" that Miss Gish could not obtain employment in Hollywood because of her America First activities.

That story, in turn, has been denied by Miss Gish. Dispatches from New York quote her:

"I have nothing to tell the Senate committee and I know nothing of any discrimination against me."

Miss Gish would not say whether she'd changed her mind on the war since the day when she won headlines for America First in Chicago and elsewhere.

"I just resigned," she said.

In Chicago last April Miss Gish, then starring in "Life with Father," summed up her political credo thus:

"My platform is pro-American and anti-hate. I didn't vote in the last election as I felt both candidates were more interested in other countries then in their own."

A Group to 'Combat' America First

Formation of the United Patriots of Berkeley, the stated purpose of which is to combat the activities of the America First Committee, was announced yesterday in the East Bay.

Sponsors of the United Patriots were various leaders of veterans' organizations, who called upon "all true and patriotic citizens to repudiate the leadership and activities of the so-called America First Committee, within our community and elsewhere."

In a six-point statement of its position, the new organization charged the America First Committee with misrepresentations and its spokesmen with endangering the lives of members of the American armed forces. Sponsors were:

George Brown, commander, United Spanish-American War Veterans; John H. Ducket, president, Society of the First Division, California branch; Charles C. Dawson, commander, Disabled American Veterans of the World War; Morgan V. Spicer, commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States; Marshall E. Craig, commander, Post No. 7, American Legion; W. J. McGinnis, commander, Campalle Post, American Legion, and Joseph McKee, president, United Veterans' Council of Berkeley.

A spokesman for the group said plans are being made to hold a mass meeting soon in Berkeley.

Stop the War-Makers Now And They'll Be Stopped for Good

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—In Washington no man can fail to sense the air of conspiracy. There are men here—men in the very highest places—who are busy conferring, running around, telephoning, busy trying to turn the heat on the American people to force them to the final, fatal act which will mean war.

The people must understand very clearly that today they are the objects of as clearly defined a conspiracy as has ever appeared in American history—a conspiracy in which officials of the American people are acting in close communion with the officials of the British government to plunge America into England's war.

Neutrality Act Was Passed To Keep Country Out of War

The facts as they appear here are very simple. The Congress of the United States passed a law soon after the war began. That law—the Neutrality Act—was passed to prevent America from being drawn into the war by a mere incident. That law forbids vessels flying the American flag from travelling in war zones. That is a good law—a sound one—and had, when passed, the approval of the whole American people. The President himself approved the wisdom of this law.

But shortly afterwards American shipping firms found ways to get around that law. And they did it with the connivance of the American government. The American shipping firm merely took the American flag off its ship, "transferred" it to the protection of Panama or some other South American government, hoisted the flag of Panama and operated it as a Panamanian ship.

At the time, sober minded men protested. They said that if such a ship were torpedoed the war-makers would promptly begin to shout for war. Well, very soon some of those ships were sunk. The war makers did yell. But the American people appraised the incidents at their proper value. They said these are not American ships. They sail under foreign flags. They do this to be able to travel in war infested zones. It is their own risk. And they paid no attention to the incidents. Very soon papers even ceased to make important news stories out of such incidents.

Now two ships have been fired on and sunk. One is the Sessa. The other is the Steel Seafarer. The Sessa flew the flag of Panama. In the case of this ship, the shameful legal finagling was utterly unworthy of the great United States government. The Sessa belonged to a Danish company. The United States Maritime Commission bought it and transferred it to the Panama flag and sailed it into the worst war zones. The spectacle of the United States government sailing one of its own ships under the flag of little Panama is a contemptible subterfuge.

Britain Puts the Pressure On; War-Makers Grow Desperate

But the war hawks are in a hurry. You can feel here the feverish haste of the conspirators to rush America in. The reasons for this hurry are very clear. Britain has just learned that America is NOT GOING TO SEND THE YANKS. It has shocked them. The war spirit in America is falling apart. Only this week one of the leading war-mongering columnists sadly bemoaned the terrible slump in the war spirit—he felt it was past repair. The Gallup poll still shows the anti-war spirit rising. So Britain is putting the heat on the President. Churchill wants us in or he wants to be told definitely that we are not coming in.

The course of honesty is tell him the truth. Instead, however, the war [illegible]e making a last desperate effort to hurry the fatal step. They [illegible]t before January because then the congressional campaigns will [illegible] congressman will dare face his constituents and tell them he [illegible]them in war. The war hawks know all this. THEY KNOW IT IS WAR NOW—OR NEVER.

Hence the frantic appeals from Churchill, from Eden, from Bevin, from Morrison, from the Australian minister, from the war-hawk committees with their big newspaper ads begging the President to start shooting now. And finally from the President himself, who is sworn, under the Constitution and by his own sacred pledge, to protect the people from these dangerous men who love other countries more than they love America and are willing to sacrifice a million American boys to save an alien empire.

The answer to all this is: HOLD FAST. DO NOT BE STAMPEDED. Hold your heads — the vast majority of the American people are against war.

Just sit down and write to the congressman in your district, to your two senators and to as many congressmen as you can reach. Write letters telling them you expect them to keep this country out of war—no convoys, no foreign expeditions, no A.E.F., no American naval vessels shooting at any nation's ships. Do this today.

Lick this crazy war mania for a few more months—maybe just a few weeks—AND YOU WILL HAVE IT LICKED FOR GOOD.

HITLER'S AGENT?

The America "First" Committee used its part of this page on September 6 to cry about being "smeared" as "agents of Adolf Hitler." Then, on its part of the very next Battle Page (September 9) the same committee provided a sensational example of what brings upon it the accusation of being Hitler's agent.

On September 9, America "First," in effect, accused "the White House" of lying about the Greer incident, and implied that Berlin told the truth.

"The American people cannot settle the matter," America "First" declared, "by saying that the German government is lying." It being too absurd, however, for even America "First" to defend Hitler as an ever truthful statesman, that committee attempted to minimize his falsehood by saying that Great Britain and the United States have also lied—in the last World War. Hence, we may take it that America "First" believes that, in general, Hitler's word is as good as that of President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill, and is better as regards the Greer incident.

Nazis' Word As Good As Ours?

To know the truth about the Greer incident, we are told to look at "plain facts." These facts, according to America "First," are that Germany doesn't want war with us, but that some of the Cabinet members, the Fight for Freedom Committee, and "another War Committee" have called upon the President to begin shooting.

Moreover, three months ago a newspaper column said that the President "hopes to drive the Germans to shoot first."

Referring to this same matter on the Battle Page of June 12, America "First" called it "a slur on the President" and said "America First does not endorse that charge." Now it seems that America "First" has changed its mind and does endorse the slur on the President, for it says (on September 9) "The Germans refused to shoot first."

That means that America "First" accepts the Nazis' word that the Greer attacked the German submarine.

In saying that the Germans refused to shoot first, America "First" is not only accusing the President of falsehood, but also our State Department, which gave out the news of the attack on the Greer, and the American naval officers who reported the attack to Washington. Further, saying that the Germans refused to shoot first accuses all of the sailors on the Greer of being parties to a base deception of our government, to get us into war.

On previous Battle Pages we have pointed out how America "First" constantly belittles America and does not denounce the Nazis. We have pointed out in specific detail how America "First" has belied its name by slurring our democracy, our government, our doughboys. We have shown how men prominent in America "First," including Senator Nye, Charles A. Lindbergh and John T. Flynn, have "followed the Nazi party line," using the same arguments that are put out by the Goebbels' propaganda mill. Now America "First" is openly taking sides with the Nazis in a vital issue between Berlin and Washington.

Taking Side With Nazis

We do not accuse America "First" of consciously doing Hitler's bidding. We do not believe that many America Firsters are in sympathy with the Nazi cause. But Webster's Dictionary defines "agent" as "that which produces or will produce a certain effect; an active cause."

Whatever the motives of America "First," its propaganda has the certain effect of strengthening the Nazi position. It has the certain effect of weakening American defense efforts. It is an active cause of American disunity in this hour of extreme emergency. Thus it is of great service to Adolf Hitler.

"AMERICA FIRST" STATEMENT

War Makers Urged U. S. To Shoot First

A U-Boat and an American destroyer fire on each other in the Atlantic. Who fired first? The White House says the U-Boat fired first. The Germans say the destroyer fired first.

The American people cannot settle the matter by saying that the German government is lying. Of course the German government will lie when that serves its purpose. But, alas! in war all governments lie. Hitler has filled high heaven with his lies. The British government filled the world with its lie of atrocities in the last war and when the war was over, boasted of it. The American government in the last war denied there were secret treaties and later the secret treaties were printed.

Americans want to know the truth. Therefore, let's look at the plain facts. Who wants America in the war? Certainly not the Germans. With England and Russia to fight, they have been careful not to invite us in. Hence firing on an American destroyer does not jibe with their own selfish policy. But the American government bankers to get in. The Secretaries of War, the Navy, and the President's close advisers have begged him to "shoot."

The Fight For Freedom Committee, a front for White House propaganda, recently printed a big newspaper ad beginning: "WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR, MR. PRESIDENT?" The ad urged "Shooting of any Axis U-Boat and raider which the American Navy sights."

It printed another ad reading: "DON'T WAIT FOR THE WHITES OF THEIR EYES!" It added in heavy black type: "SHOOT FIRST! SHOOT NOW!" Later another War Committee printed a big ad starting off with big, blocked, black letters: "LET'S START SHOOTING, MR. PRESIDENT!"

Now what the Germans are saying is merely that the President has obligingly complied with the frantic appeals of his own closest supporters. They should be delighted to learn the Nazi charge is true. It would disappoint them to find it false.

Alsop and Kintner were two communists until the draft drove them to enlist in soft berths in the Navy and Army. One is a relative of the Roosevelt family. Both were looked upon as pipe line columnists from the White House to the public. Read what they said in the New York Herald Tribune on June 4th:

> "In the past week, he [the President] has been repeatedly urged to order immediate action. He has been warned that to delay was to court disaster. He has been able to act, for all the necessary preparations for meeting the Germans' threat in the Battle of the Atlantic have at last been completed. Yet he has not acted because he hopes to drive the Germans to shoot first.
> "Perhaps instead of depending on one simple question the future depends on two. The men around the President are now united in urging him to order action out of hand, without waiting for a pretext. If they fail, if the President's determination is not weakened by the remorseless logic of events, then a second question will have to be answered. Will the President's plan succeed?
>
> "The problem was mentioned in this space in a recent discussion of the Atlantic patrol, in which it was pointed out that THE PRESIDENT AND THE MEN AROUND HIM PRIVATELY HOPE THE PATROL WILL PRODUCE AN INCIDENT.
> "No one can doubt the German high command will do everything possible to avoid shooting first."

What these two columnists friendly to the White House are saying is that the President himself is trying to trick the Germans into shooting first and that if they won't shoot first, then his intimate advisers want him to do the shooting.

The President told you he would never take you to war. Yet here is inside news from the White House that he is trying to get around that pledge by inducing the Germans to shoot first. What could be worse than that? The Germans have refused to shoot first. Has the President now complied with the advice of the men around him and with his own secret desires?

AMERICANS, BE ON YOUR GUARD! THE PRESIDENT IS PREPARING TO STAMPEDE YOU INTO WAR. WHEN HE GOES ON THE AIR, REMEMBER, YOU ARE BATTLING FOR YOUR HOMES, YOUR SONS, TO GUARD THEM FROM WAR AND SLAUGHTER.

DO NOT LET YOUR GOVERNMENT BETRAY YOU!

THE statement above, given to The New York Daily News by the New York Chapter of the America First Committee and printed in that newspaper on Sept. 9, is reproduced in response to inquiries as to the source of a charge by Secretary of the Navy Knox before the American Legion at Milwaukee.

In that speech, discussing the encounter between the U. S. S. Greer and a German submarine, Col. Knox said, "it offered a chance for that curious organization known as the America First Committee to tell the American public that, in its judgment, it was more likely the German U-boat commander was telling the truth than the American Naval officer who commanded the Greer."

Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman of the American First Committee, challenged the Secretary's statement, saying that "the national committee has never made any statement on the subject nor has any such statement to my knowledge been made by anyone representing the committee."

America First Leader Assails Lindbergh

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17.—Herbert K. Hyde, State chairman of the America First Committee, said last night that Charles A. Lindbergh's speech at Des Moines, Iowa, was "un-American."

"Col. Lindbergh's attempt to divide America into racial or religious groups by making charges against the Jews of America is un-American and should be subjected to the most vicious criticism," Mr. Hyde said. "I am unalterably opposed to his views in that respect. . . .

"It's my opinion that he did not reflect the views of the America First Committee in his speech. If he did, then I'm going to get out of the America First Committee.

VFW Asks Repudiation Of Lindbergh

Demand for repudiation by the America First Committee of last week's attempt by Charles Lindbergh "to create disunity among the American people" was issued yesterday by the Department of California, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In a telegram addressed to General Robert Wood, national chairman of the committee, Department Commander L. G. Taggart said:

"Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of California, demand from you, on behalf of your organization, a complete repudiation of attempt by Lindbergh last Thursday to create religious prejudice, thus deliberately striving for disunity among the American people. This issue is entirely apart from any honest difference of opinion as to our country's foreign policy, and must be viewed by every patriotic citizen as a calculated attack on democratic solidarity of this Nation.

"In spreading doctrines of hate and prejudice, Lindbergh is making a mockery of his American citizenship and of all the privileges for which it stands.

"Failure of America First Committee to disown his statement will give positive evidence of un-Americanism."

Alameda Bans America First From Its Halls

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted a resolution denying use of all county buildings to the America First Committee.

The resolution sustained a protest by the Emeryville Post 1010, Veterans of Foreign Wars, against use of the Oakland city Auditorium for a speech next Monday by Senator Burton K. Wheeler.

Adoption of the resolution followed the mysterious cancellation Monday of the Wheeler speech. At that time R. B. Wurlitzer, secretary of the AFC in Oakland notified Oakland city officials that the proposed meeting with Senator Wheeler as speaker would be held "a few days following" (next Monday).

He gave no exact date and no explanation for the delay, even though tickets have been printed and distributed. Wurlitzer said he conferred with Wheeler's son, John L. Wheeler, in Los Angeles, and that the son was vague about the delay, saying only he was trying to arrange an engagement for his father on September 25 in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The resolution by the Alameda Supervisors has little effect on the AFC engagement of the Oakland city Auditorium, according to J. F. Mullins, director of Oakland city buildings. The Supervisors have jurisdiction over county buildings only, and use of the Auditorium is up to the Oakland city administration.

Mullins also said the fee for the Auditorium had been paid by Wurlitzer, and that he doubted if public protests, in themselves, bring about a cancelation.

SENATOR WHEELER TO SPEAK HERE DESPITE PROTESTS

U.S. Senator Burton K. Wheeler, leading non-interventionist, will deliver his postponed speech under America First Committee auspices at the Oakland Auditorium Arena on September 25 despite protest resolutions adopted by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors and Emeryville Industrial Post 1010 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The speech was originally scheduled for next Monday but was postponed.

Other developments in the controversy included:

1—John J. Taheny, regional director of the America First Committee for Northern California, denounced Post 1010 as a "war-mongering organization," challenged any Post speaker "to a public debate on the question of whether the America First Committee represents true Americanism," and termed the organization's resolution as "an un-American attempt to deny American citizens their constitutional right of free assembly and of free speech . . ."

LETTER TO SLAVICH

2—Alameda's Eastbay Navy Post No. 3765, Veterans of Foreign Wars, sent a letter to Mayor John F. Slavich and the Oakland city council protesting the use of the auditorium or any other public building by the America First Committee or any of its speakers such as Wheeler, Lindbergh and other speakers that are trying to cause disunity among our people . . ."

3—R. B. Wurlitzer, executive secretary of the America First Committee in San Francisco promised "new facts and revelations" when Sen. Wheeler delivers his speech here.

Wurlitzer said the meeting would be held "despite efforts of a veterans group to prevent renting of the arena for the purpose.

BANCROFT TO SPEAK

Wurlitzer said Philip Bancroft, Contra Costa County ranch owner, leading Republican and defeated U.S. senatorial candidate, would be the preliminary speaker at the meeting and Taheny would introduce Senator Wheeler.

Meanwhile, on the letterhead of the Metropolitan Oakland Group of the America First Committee, Frank D. McGrath, chairman of the committee's Northern California executive board, announced that a telegram had been dispatched to President Roosevelt saying in part:

"We. . . demand the return of our armed forces from Iceland; the discontinuance of patrols, and that our ships get out of war zones, thereby complying with the words and the spirit of your pledges."

The supervisors (with George A. Janssen, chairman, and George P. Hellwig, absent) adopted a resolution yesterday denying use of all county buildings to the America First Committee, and endorsing Post 1010's stand.

Post 1010 urged denial of use of buildings to the committee because of its preachments of disunity . . ."

Portland Reverses Ruling, Allows Wheeler Talk

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 17 (C.P.S.).—The weight of public opinion on the side of free speech was hailed today as having impelled the Portland's city council surprise decision last night to reverse itself and authorize use of the municipal auditorium for an antiwar speech by Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D.), of Montana, next Monday.

A growing wave of protest over the council's earlier informal decision to deny Senator Wheeler use of the hall had reached such proportions, according to the sponsoring America First Committee, that the council decided against encountering the embarrassments of a public showdown.

Still Suing School Board

Despite the changed attitude of the city council, America First leaders announced they would continue to press court action against the Portland school board, which on September 10 refused the use of any of the school system's auditoriums for the Wheeler meeting.

"The council is right in reversing itself and is to be commended," said Dellmore Lessard, Oregon State chairman of the America First Committee. "But that does not mean we are going to sit quietly by and let the School Board get away with its intolerable action.

"Old American Custom"

"Discussion of vital public affairs in school and municipal auditoriums has become a fine, old American custom too dear to surrender, particularly when the issue is over meetings proposed by a democratic organization trying to keep the nation out of war."

HOT WORDS FLY IN E. BAY ROW ON WHEELER TALK

Activities and plans of individuals and organizations displaying lively interest in America's foreign policy included the following today:

Veterans' organizations in Alameda County and the America First Committee—with the support of the American Civil Liberties Union—were squaring off today for a verbal battle tonight at an Oakland City Council meeting. It will be the showdown in a controversy that has been increasing in bitterness for several days over use of Oakland Municipal Auditorium the night of Sept. 25 for an America First Committee rally at which Senator Burton K. Wheeler, isolationist leader, is to be the principal speaker.

East Bay veteran groups, led by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will ask that the council set aside a contract providing for use of the auditorium by the America First Committee.

Sample Row

A sample of what may be expected tonight was displayed today at a meeting of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors when leaders of the opposing groups clashed. The fireworks were touched off when the supervisors refused to rescind their indorsement of a VFW resolution assailing the America First Committee and urging that Alameda County and city officials deny the committee the use of any public buildings.

The resolution charged that the America First Committee "has publicly condemned the President of the United States for performing his legally prescribed duty as Commander-in-chief of the Army and Navy," and that the committee is "agitating against special religious groups and in favor of organizations tending to disrupt unity in the United States."

Committee Attacks

This resolution was attacked on behalf of the America First Committee by James H. Cavagnaro, who told the supervisors he was a corporation executive, member of the San Francisco Commonwealth Club and a former pilot and flying instructor in the first World War. Mr. Cavagnaro termed the VFW "a political pressure group, unpatriotic, and consisting of men who had done a few months service and have lived off the bounty of the nation ever since."

George A. Jansen, Board of Supervisors chairman, replied that "your remarks are insulting—the VFW and other service groups have the respect of the people of Alameda County and of the nation."

'Tools of British'

"They are tools of those interested in British international propaganda," insisted Mr. Cavagnaro, "and represent only about one-quarter of the veterans in the United States. The other three-quarters know they were duped in the last war and refuse to be so abused in this war."

(The American Legion convention at Milwaukee yesterday recommended repeal of the Neutrality Act and removal of all geographical restrictions on use of the U. S. Army and Navy.)

Speaking for the veterans, Francis H. Gonsalves denied Mr. Cavagnaro's charge and declared "most of the veterans are men who had years of service—many of them were hospitalized."

Mr. Gonsalves said the VFW was determined to block use of public buildings "where our children go to school, for public criticism of the President."

"Our children need particular guidance now, and if that sort of thing is permitted, God help the children," said Mr. Gonsalves.

Members Named

Mr. Cavagnaro mentioned the names of a number of widely known Americans who were members of the America First Committee.

"You omitted Lindbergh," said Supervisor Harry Bartell. "Isn't he a member?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Cavagnaro, "Colonel Lindbergh is a man whose moral courage equals his physical courage. His courage is sufficient to tell the people the real aims of those who are trying to force the United States into war."

Mr. Cavagnaro asked the supervisors if they did not realize they were putting themselves on record against free speech by indorsing the VFW resolution.

'Refuse to Do'

"Definitely not," said Chairman Jansen. "The only matter before us is whether we shall rescind our adoption of the VFW resolution. This we refuse to do."

Mr. Cavagnaro said that, inasmuch as the America First Committee has not asked for use of any buildings controlled by the supervisors, "the action of the board must be assumed to be purely for propaganda purposes."

'Held a Mockery'

A statement issued by the American Civil Liberties Union termed the board's action "a mockery of the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech and assembly" by granting it only to supporters of the supervisors' views.

"Such freedom of speech for our side is typical of a totalitarian concept that will be applauded by all the dictators, but which is clearly repugnant to the letter and spirit of the Bill of Rights," the statement added.

America First Demand Refused

Supervisors Won't Rescind Vote on Building Ban Here

Demands of the America First Committee in Oakland for rescinding of a county Board of Supervisors resolution refusing use of county buildings to the committee were turned down today by the board.

The demands of the America First Commitee were made by a group headed by James F. Cavagnaro who described himself as a corporation executive, taxpayer in the county, and a former member of the American Legion.

The Board of Supervisors adopted the resolution last Tuesday after Emeryville Post No. 1010, Veterans of Foreign Wars, had expressed itself in opposition to use of county buildings by the America First Committee "because of its preachments of disunity in the United States."

WAR MONGERING CHARGED

Cavagnaro launched his appeal to the Supervisors with a vitriolic statement in which he declared the board had lent itself to the use of "war mongering British internationalists," and had gone out of its way "to further the purposes of a political pressure group such as the Veterans of Foreign Wars."

"Just a minute brother," interrupted George Janssen, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. "The veterans organizations are not political pressure groups. They are patriotic Americans who served their country."

Cavagnaro launched another verbal attack upon the veterans but was halted again, this time by Supervisor Harry Bartell, who declared the board was not interested in a discussion of the relative merits of various organizations.

"And the board does not have to sit here and be insulted by anybody," Janssen said.

CLIMAX REACHED

After describing at length the purposes of the America First Committee and naming a long list of prominent persons who head its activities, Cavagnaro declared the action of the board was an attack upon free speech and fitted into the scheme of the interventionists who opposed the program of the America First Committee.

The meeting was finally brought to a climax by Chairman Janssen who asked Cavagnaro to be specific about his demands.

"We want you to rescind the resolution," was the reply.

Supervisors Bartell, Clifford Wixson and Thomas Caldecott, three members who formed the majority last Tuesday when the resolution was adopted, indicated they would not change their stand on the issue.

"I'll stand on my action. I see no reason to change my vote," said Bartell.

Janssen then adjourned the meeting, declaring there was no further reason to listen to speeches.

Tobey Charges Congress Bows To Roosevelt

Tells America First Rally President 'Eliminates' Legislature in War Drive

Senator Charles W. Tobey, Republican, of New Hampshire, told an America First Committee rally last night at Carnegie Hall that American security is threatened, not by a foreign enemy but by defection of a rubber-stamp Congress which has surrendered its constitutional responsibilities under the pressure and blandishments of a war-minded President.

Accusing President Roosevelt of ignoring constitutional curbs in attempting to lead the nation into a ruinous war, Senator Tobey asserted: "Fellow Americans, the President has in fact eliminated your Congress just as effectively as a depth bomb puts a submarine out of business."

His anti-war speech at the rally called to honor Constitution Day was broadcast from 9 to 9:30 p. m. by Station WJZ and the blue network of the National Broadcasting Company, and at the end he pleaded with the American people to wake up, limit their armament to an impregnable defense, and resist the President's alleged campaign toward war.

"Hopes" Roosevelts Listen In

Then he added a final sentence to the speech he had prepared. "I only hope," said Senator Tobey, "that Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his wife are listening in to this speech tonight."

Senator Tobey told the near-capacity audience that from the beginning of his first administration up to the present, Mr. Roosevelt has flouted the Constitution, adding, "The latest maneuver of this master for a 'free' people was accomplished in his last radio talk, in which he announced the issuance of orders to the Atlantic fleet to 'eliminate' the submarines, but his radio talk went much farther even than that. By that talk the President eliminated the Congress along with the submarine."

Senator Tobey, a member of the Senate subcommittee investigating alleged war propaganda in the motion-picture field, charged that the American film industry "has been advised" that the British film industry owes it millions of dollars.

"It is obvious that they have a reason for wanting us to get into the war," he said. "Million-dollar investments have to be protected."

America's only clear duty, he said, is to arm itself strongly enough to discourage and defeat any European attack on the Western Hemisphere, and he charged that the President and such interventionists as Wendell L. Willkie were working against the people's interest.

"Can the President and Mr. Willkie," he asked, "successfully jeopardize the well being and the very lives of the American people on the assurance of . . . Harry Hopkins, that 'The people are too damned dumb to understand'?"

During the rally, John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York Chapter of America First, was asked whether he planned to repudiate Charles A. Lindbergh's America First speech of last week in Des Moines, ascribing to the nation's Jews the desire to get the country into the war. He was also asked about a rumor that America First in New York planned to campaign vigorously against the re-election of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, an interventionist.

Mr. Flynn answered that a national executive committee meeting of America First in Chicago today "may" take up both questions.

Tobey Is Heckled

When Senator Tobey began to speak, a voice in the rear began to heckle. Another voice objected to the heckling, and in a second two men were slugging each other. Senator Tobey went right on, while the police ejected the two men. Arguments in the lobby and on the sidewalk in front followed, and finally both men went to the West Fifty-fourth Street police station. Neither pressed charges, and the matter was dropped. One said he was Coleman Gray, a lawyer, and the other said he was George Smith, a bodyguard to Mr. Lindbergh, who was not at the meeting.

Before the rally started, representatives of the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League distributed leaflets attacking America First as a group advocating peace with Hitler. With each leaflet was a page bearing the two words: "Hail Lindbergh." Two of the distributors wore imitation Ku-Klux Klan robes, and one an imitation German-American Bund uniform. These three were shooed away from the hall and sent to Broadway and Fifty-seventh Street.

The other speaker at the rally was Representative William S. Barry, Democrat, of the 3d New York District. He said he feared loss of both democracy and prosperity if the President persisted in a drift toward war in violation of the Constitutional means of declaring war.

Jewish Groups Denounce Lindbergh Iowa Speech

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The American Jewish Committee and the Jewish Labor Committee, denouncing Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines speech, asserted last night in a joint statement that "our interests and those of our country are one and indivisible."

Declaring that Mr. Lindbergh "made an unsupported and unsupportable charge impunging the patriotism of Americans of Jewish faith," the statement said:

"As individuals, each one of us has a right to his views, whether for or against isolationism, without fear that Mr. Lindbergh can intimidate any of us with the low and baseless charge that there are other 'interests' which we place ahead of loyalty to our country.

"In fact, Mr. Lindbergh, in order to secure converts for his own point of view, counsels that we should do just that. He warns Jews to support his policy on the ground that any other attitude would lead to anti-Semitism.

"We are obliged to Mr. Lindbergh for his gratuitous advice and reject completely his un-American appeal to selfish interest. We will not put even what he considers our 'interests' before those of our country—since our interests and those of our country are one and indivisible."

America First Discusses Roosevelt's Navy Order

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Members of the National Executive Committee of the America First Committee were summoned to a meeting today by Chairman Gen. Robert E. Wood to discuss President Roosevelt's recent speech regarding naval operations.

A spokesman at the organization's national headquarters said Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines speech also might be brought into the discussion.

No mention of the Lindbergh speech was made, however, in Gen. Wood's communication to committee members concerning today's meeting, an executive session.

Although America First has made no official comment on Mr. Lindbergh's speech, it was termed "un-American" by Herbert K. Hyde, Oklahoma State chairman of the organization. Mr. Hyde expressed the opinion that Mr. Lindbergh's "attempt to divide America into racial or religious groups by making charges against the Jews" did not reflect the view of the America First Committee.

Council Asks Legal Opinion

Question as to Use Of Auditorium Put Up to City Attorney

After listening for nearly an hour to speakers representing both sides of the controversy over whether or not the America First Committee should be permitted the use of the Oakland Auditorium for a meeting next Thursday night, the Oakland City Council last night referred the question to the city attorney and city manager for decision.

City Attorney F. Bert Fernhoff in an interview said that it was his opinion that the city did not have sufficient grounds for canceling a contract for use of the Auditorium which was signed on September 10, and a $200 fee paid.

"STRICTLY LEGAL QUESTION"

"I personally do not believe in the doctrine of the America First Committee," Fernhoff said. "However, this is strictly a legal question, and not a question of beliefs or freedom of speech. The contract has been signed and there are no grounds for cancelling it without subjecting the city to possible damage suit."

Fernhoff cited decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court to this effect, including the celebrated "Hague case" in New Jersey, in which the Supreme Court upheld the right of Congress of Industrial Organizations to hold a meeting in Jersey City, despite an edict from Mayor Frank Hague forbidding the meeting.

Fernhoff was not present at the council meeting, but was represented by Assistant City Attorney Milton Melby, at whose suggestion the matter was referred to the city attorney's office.

First of a series of speakers before the council was Francis H. Gonsalves, chaplain of Post 1310 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who spoke in support of the petition of the County Council of the V.F.W. in opposition to granting use of the Auditorium to the America First group.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers representing the V.F.W. included Louis L. Jordan, and Phil O Solon, Judge Advocate General of the U. S. Department of the veterans' organization. Both challenged the right of the America First Committee to use the Auditorium.

Representing the America First Committee were George T. Loher, vice-chairman of the Oakland Chapter; John J. Taheny, regional director, and Guy M. Wright, chairman of the Oakland Chapter.

Loher declared that denial of the use of the building would be a violation of the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. He named a lengthy list of prominent Americans who were members of the committee, and cited the aims of the committee.

Taheny added a plea for freedom of speech.

Speakers supporting the America First Committee included Mrs. Jane Jacoby and Harold A. Sparling.

Others from among the spectators sought the floor in a babel of voices but Mayor John F. Slavich declared that the council was thoroughly familiar with the question at that point, and proceeded with a roll call vote on adjournment after referring the matter to the city attorney and city manager.

AMERICA FIRST SILENT ON STORM OVER LINDBERGH

Wave of Protest Against Flier's Attack on Jews Is Growing.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

All was silent today at headquarters of America First over the storm created by Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines attack upon the Jews.

All was silent—at headquarters—concerning results of the deliberation its national executive committee devoted here yesterday to Lindbergh's blast.

It was stated officially that the Lindbergh Des Moines speech was discussed by the committee—and that a statement would be issued "within a few days."

That this statement will not repudiate Lindbergh or his speech was indicated by John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter, one of the conferees. He said today that no resolution to that effect was considered by the committee.

Seven days already have elapsed since Lindbergh made the speech. The nation-wide wave of protest that has grown during those days against the attack he then made upon the Jewish people for "pressing this country," as he claimed, "toward war," continued to mount today.

More Time Required.

The America First Committee, which sponsored the address, however, required more time to issue its reply to formal requests that it tell where it stands on Lindbergh.

The foremost report away from America First headquarters at this writing is that the committee drafted a statement asserting that Lindbergh's speech was not "anti-Semitic," endorsing the speech and inviting Jews to co-operate with America First in its isolationist cause.

In New York Flynn denied reports published in the East that he came to Chicago to demand repudiation of the speech. He denied that he made such a demand or "that I made any threats to quit as a member of the committee."

'Discussing a Draft.'

Flynn said that when he left the meeting at 6 p. m. yesterday to return to New York the committee was "still discussing a draft" of a resolution on Lindbergh, and that it was decided to take a vote on it by mail as "less than half of the members of the national committee were present."

That was the only light shed on the committee's action on Lindbergh America First has not even revealed the names of the committeemen present. It is understood that Lindbergh was not here. Presumably Brig. Gen. Robert E. Wood, retired, national chairman, presided.

Meantime—among new rebukes to Lindbergh—the Illinois Federation of Labor, in convention at Springfield, condemned his speech as anti-Semitic. There was only one dissenting vote.

The New Jersey grand domain of the Knights of Pythias adopted a resolution advocating a Senate investigation of the aviator's doings.

In New York the America Jewish Congress and Jewish Labor Committee issued a joint statement denouncing his speech.

The statement asserts the right of each to his views for or against isolationism "without fear that Mr. Lindbergh can intimidate any of us with the low and baseless charge that there are other 'interests' which we place above loyalty to our country." After declaring that Lindbergh "warns Jews to support his policy on the ground that any other attitude would lead to anti-Semitism," it concludes:

"We will not put even what he considers our 'interest' before those of our country—since our interests and those of our country are one and indivisible."

On the floor of the House in Washington today Representative Luther Patrick (Dem., Ala.), assailing the flier's attack upon the Jews, brandished a copy of Hitler's "Mein Kampf" and said "it sounds just like Lindbergh."

AMERICA FIRST TELLS PLAN TO INTENSIFY DRIVE

The national committee of the America First committee, after meeting for several hours yesterday, announced thru R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director, that it was engaged in mapping an intensified campaign to keep the United States out of war.

Douglas also said that the committee would shortly issue a statement commenting upon Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's recent address in Des Moines, Ia.

Douglas' statement: "The national America First committee met in Chicago today to discuss an intensified campaign in answer to the President's threat of an undeclared war in violation of the constitution. Col. Lindbergh's Des Moines address was discussed, and the national committee will issue a statement within a few days."

America First Wins in Battle for Oakland Hall

Auditorium Can't Be Denied for Wheeler Talk, Attorney Rules

Oakland's city attorney, F. Bert Fernhoff, ruled yesterday that Oakland cannot deny the use of its civic auditorium to the America First Committee for a speech by Senator Burton K. Wheeler next Thursday night.

The decision ended a controversy which produced acrimonious debate Thursday when representatives of the America First group and the Veterans of Foreign Wars appeared before sessions of the Alameda county supervisors and the Oakland city council.

Members of the America First Committee held that abrogation of their lease on the auditorium for the night of the Wheeler address would be an abrogation of the constitutional right of free speech and free assembly.

V. F. W. spokesmen held that use of the publicly owned building for the Wheeler appearance would constitute a hazard to public peace and spread disunity at a time of national emergency.

In giving his decision in favor of the America First group, Fernhoff said the city had entered into the lease, accepted the rental and could not question who should or should not use a public building.

Lindbergh to Speak In Capital on Sept. 22

The America First Committee announced yesterday that Charles A. Lindbergh will speak in Washington under its auspices on September 27 at 9:15 p. m. E. S. T. His address is to be nationally broadcast, the organization said.

Lindbergh in new talk for America First

In the midst of a nationwide controversy over anti-Semitic portions of Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines speech, the America First committee announced yesterday it is sponsoring another address by Lindbergh at Fort Wayne, Ind., on Oct. 3.

National headquarters of the committee said arrangements for the Fort Wayne speech have been under way since August and will not be affected by the criticism of Lindbergh's last address. Announcement was made upon completion of arrangements with Lindbergh on the date and place.

ORGANIZATIONS COMMENT

The America First announcement drew quick reaction from aid-to-Britain organizations. The Fight for Freedom committee is holding a rally in Orchestra hall on Oct. 3, at which one of the speakers will be Lindbergh's cousin, Augustus F. Lindbergh, who is Alabama state chairman of Fight for Freedom.

Courtenay Barber Jr., acting director of the Fight for Freedom committee, said:

"If it is true that ex-Col. Lindbergh is to speak for America First at Fort Wayne, Ind., on Oct. 3, it substantiates beyond all reasonable doubt the executive committee's condonement of Lindbergh's Des Moines anti-Semitic speech.

'SHOULD RESIGN'

"The silence of the America First committee has so far been tantamount to approval, but the announcement of his forthcoming speech [illegible] an ingrati[illegible]

"The outstanding and self-respecting members of America First should resign and leave the committee to the Bundists, Silver Shirts, anti-Semites and their fellow travelers.

"Fight for Freedom will continue to combat America First for the un-American utterance of their spokesmen such as Lindbergh, Wheeler, Nye, Fish and their supporters on the executive committee."

Harland H. Allen, chairman of the Chicago Committee to Defend America, said: "It seems to me Lindbergh said enough that other time to reveal what is on his mind—that he is a Fascist at heart."

R. Douglas Stuart Jr., national director of the America First committee, declined to comment on the new announcement.

NONE TO EDIT SPEECH

A spokesman for the committee said none of the members will edit the speech. Approval of the members of the national committee was not necessary, the spokesman said, and arrangements for all speeches are handled by the committee chairman and the head of the speaker's bureau.

The executive committee of the isolationist group met last Thursday and considered Lindbergh's Des Moines remarks. A mail referendum of America First leaders throughout the country was ordered, and an announcement of the committee's stand on Lindbergh's statements is expected within a few days.

LEAGUE RAPS SPEECH

The latest castigation of Lindbergh for "defamatory charges against American Jewry" came yesterday from the Anti-Defamation league. The league protested that Lindbergh's statements are "unfounded in fact and un-American."

"The loyalty of the Jews to America and its traditions dates back to the revolutionary period and is a recognized fact throughout American history," said the league statement.

"It cannot be challenged by reckless, irresponsible or propagandist statements. Whatever be the future course of America in this world conflict, the Jew will be found

She's Telling Us, Et Al.

To the Editor: Now are you not glad that you at last have a chance to blister Colonel Lindbergh? What an opportunity. He had the courage to get up and tell the truth: that the Jews are trying to destroy our country as they did in Russia by killing millions of Christians, then tried to seize the German government but did not succeed. Now they are trying the same thing here but they are not fooling all of us with their cries of "unity" and "brotherly love."

Your paper is Jewish controlled and that is why you are so in favor of war. The British and the Jews, they chose to lick Hitler at the expense of our boys and our American blood.

Every time trouble arose at an America First meeting, it was started by the Jews. I suppose you call this free speech? Well, go ahead with your smear campaign and see where it gets you. It will only make you cheaper and cheaper in the eyes of the clear thinking citizens. When the war is over, and all the hate and the war mongering dies down, you can tell us how large a debt we can pay for the British. You will then take Colonel Lindbergh off the dusty shelf and put him in the brackets with the "higher uppers" because every word he says will come to pass.

Mr. Lindbergh is the bravest man in this country. To withstand insults by papers of your standard proves this.

If you so desperately believe that the Jews should be treated fairly, why do you not stop persecuting your gentile brothers? Practice what you preach instead of hammering away on a worn-out and very un-Christian, unkind, untrue and belittling idea?

Kenneth Roberts Hits Use Of Name by 'America First'

Kenneth Roberts, noted author, today wrote to the Maine America First Committee that the use of his name as a member of that organization was unauthorized and adding that the only thing the committee can accomplish is the lowering of morale. His letter follows:

"The use of my name, in the Press-Herald of Sept. 19, as a member of the Maine America First Committee, was unauthorized.

"This country, by the President's last statement, is definitely committed to war, and about the only thing the America First Committee can accomplish is to lower the morale of the army and the nation. I certainly don't propose to be a member of any organization or a party to any program that has as one of its primary objectives the lowering of morale at a time when we've got to raise it or take a beating."

Lindy's Talk Here Delayed

The America First Committee's plans to have Charles A. Lindbergh speak over a coast-to-coast network from Riverside Stadium here Saturday night have been postponed, it was announced yesterday. He is expected to speak here at a later date.

Officials of national headquarters of the organization in Chicago announced that the speech was postponed so that Lindbergh might talk in Fort Wayne, Ind., on October 3.

A spokesman of the Chicago office added: "Mr. Lindbergh didn't want to make two speeches so close together. He will speak under the auspices of our Fort Wayne Chapter October 3. The other speech will be made at a later date."

Lindbergh's talk was to have been broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System from 9:15 to 9:30 p.m. Saturday until the network's New York offices announced the cancellation of the speech early yesterday.

A member of the local chapter of the America First Committee said he had no knowledge of the scheduled speech, but said a rally had been planned for Riverside Stadium on Saturday. Plans for the rally also have been dropped.

Lindbergh Broadcast Here Is Canceled

CHICAGO, Sept. 23 (AP).—National headquarters of the America First Committee has announced that Charles A. Lindbergh had canceled a broadcast scheduled for Saturday over the Columbia Broadcasting System from Washington in favor of a speech before a committee-sponsored rally in Fort Wayne, Ind., October 3.

"Col. Lindbergh doesn't want to make two speeches so close together," a spokesman said. "We applied for radio time from Washington when three sites were under consideration for the address. Later it was decided that the speech would be given in Fort Wayne."

He said no arrangements had yet been made for a broadcast of the Fort Wayne speech.

America First Rally Guarded By 423 Police

Nye Accuses Willkie of Stirring Anti-Semitic Antagonism.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican, North Dakota, tonight accused Wendell Willkie and interventionists of "dragging into this war controversy that cheap, wholly un-American issue called anti-Semitism."

Speaking before an America First Committee rally in Brooklyn guarded by 423 policemen, the isolationist senator said in his prepared speech that "this attempt to paint the cause of nonintervention as an anti-Semitic cause has been about the meanest, smallest, rat-like thing that I have ever experienced in my contact with American politics."

"No one has contributed to the dragging of this red-herring into this controversy so largely as has one Wendell Willkie—the 'Me too' man of the 1940 presidential campaign—the man who helped arrange things so that there could be no chance in that presidential campaign for the American people to voice themselves clearly and openly in this issue of intervention," Nye said. "Mr. Willkie has done his utmost to smear the cause of nonintervention with this anti-Semitic stick."

O'BRIEN WILL SPEAK THURSDAY AT RALLY OF AMERICA FIRST

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor at the University of Notre Dame, will speak Thursday night at an anti-war rally in Marshfield auditorium, 735 South Marshfield avenue. Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the American First committee, will preside at the meeting which is sponsored by the Christopher Columbus chapter of America First. The Rev. Mr. O'Brien, speaking last Thursday in Cincinnati, told an audience that Americans still have a chance to preserve their democracy and stay clear of the European war if they continue to protest.

America First officials explained yesterday that a broadcast by Charles A. Lindbergh, scheduled from Washington, D. C., on Saturday over the Columbia Broadcasting system, had been canceled to allow Lindbergh to speak at a rally in Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 3. When CBS could not switch the Saturday broadcast to the Fort Wayne meeting, America First officials said, they canceled the broadcast time. They said that they hoped to put on the Washington broadcast later.

'AMERICA FIRST' STILL SILENT ON LINDBERGH VIEWS

Sponsors New Speech by Flier, Despite Protests Over Anti-Semitism.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

The America First Committee is having slow going in its preparations for announcing its attitude toward Charles A. Lindergh's Des Moines speech attacking the Jews.

A statement — presumably upholding Lindbergh, whose forthcoming addresses continue to enjoy America First sponsorship—is expected to be made public "in a few days."

Five days, however, already have passed since the statement was drafted at a meeting of America First's national executive committee in Chicago last week. Twelve days have elapsed since Lindbergh provoked a nation-wide storm by his blast at the Jews of America.

Few Replies on Issue.

It is confirmed at America First headquarters that copies of the statement were mailed after the meeting to members of the national committee who had not been able to attend. There are some 30 members of the committee, less than half of whom are understood to have been on hand at the Chicago parley.

Only "three or four" replies from members thus polled by mail on the statement have been received to date, it was said at headquarters.

A spokesman for the committee declined to say whether any member had asked that America First withdraw its backing from Lindbergh.

Speech Cancellation Explained.

It was made clear, however, that the cancellation of an address Lindbergh had been scheduled to make for the committee Saturday over the Columbia Broadcasting System involved not the slightest change of front by America First toward the aviator.

That talk was merely canceled in favor of another speech before an America First rally in Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 2, a spokesman said.

"Col. Lindbergh does not want to make two speeches so close together," he said. "We applied for [illegible] anti-Semitic speech, was this statement by Max Singer of Boston, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars:

"I condemn the statements of Charles A. Lindbergh as an appeal to racial prejudice to bolster his untenable position on national defense in this emergency. Instead of unity for victory, so essential at this time, Lindbergh preaches a doctrine that is the negation of Americanism, which must be gratifying to Hitler."

Meantime in Seattle, Wash., State Commander John L. Slavenburg of the V. F. W., said the organization would conduct a "nonviolent" demonstration against Senator Burton K. Wheeler if the Montana isolationist speaks there tonight.

Whether the Wheeler meeting, under the auspices of America First, would be held, was in doubt. Dispatches explained that after the Fraternal Order of Eagles in Seattle rented its hall for the rally, Conrad Mann of Kansas City, national managing organizer of the lodge, ordered the fee returned to the isolationists and the hall closed to their meeting. It was not clear whether the local lodge would comply.

Nye Defends Lindbergh.

Headliner at an America First rally in Brooklyn last night was Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota Republican, father of the Senate subcommittee's investigation of "war propaganda" in the movies, who recently declared that "foreign-born" magnates "of the Jewish faith" were primarily responsible for "propaganda" in the films. Said Nye in Brooklyn:

"There is not a shred of anti-Semitic spirit in the mind and heart of Charles A. Lindbergh or Senator Burton K. Wheeler," Nye said last night. His own record, stated Nye, was contrary to any such thing as anti-Semitism.

"Nye has been playing with fire for a long time, and now he's surprised that he is getting burned," was a summary by F. H. Peter Cusick, executive secretary of Fight for Freedom, Inc.

Senator Nye Assails Willkie on Issue Of Anti-Semitism

423 Police Guard Rally In Brooklyn; President's Navy Order Condemned

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Senator Nye, Republican, of North Dakota last night accused Wendell L. Willkie and interventionists of "dragging into this war controversy that cheap, wholly un-American issue called anti-Semitism."

Speaking before an America First Committee rally in Brooklyn guarded by 423 policemen, the isolationist Senator said that "this attempt to paint the cause of non-intervention as an anti-Semitic cause has been about the meanest, smallest, ratlike think that I have ever experienced in my contact with American politics."

"No one has contributed to the dragging of this red herring into this controversy so largely as has one Wendell Willkie—the 'me too' man of the 1940 presidential campaign—the man who helped arrange things so that there could be no chance in that presidential campaign for the American people to voice themselves clearly and openly in this issue of intervention," Senator Nye said. "Mr. Willkie has done his utmost to smear the cause of non-intervention with this anti-Semitic stick.

"Racial prejudice has brought to Europe consequences we cannot escape seeing. If we are going to adopt racial prejudice in our American thinking and planning we only contribute to the bringing of that experience, which has befallen others, to our own country."

The meeting, attended by about 3,000, was orderly and police reported no incidents outside the building.

Former Magistrate Joseph Goldstein, who said earlier in the day that he would arrest Senator Nye if he indorsed anti-Semitic sentiments, sat in the audience flanked by detectives and took no part in the proceedings. Mr. Goldstein, who had declared he would act under summary-arrest right, said such remarks by the Senator would be "inciting to riot."

The meeting adopted a resolution commending the President's "shoot on sight" orders to warships and protesting against convoys and aid to Russia.

BERKELEY COUNCIL TABLES BAN ON 'AMERICA FIRST'

BERKELEY, Sept. 23.—A motion to deny the use of public buildings to the America First committee failed for want of a second today at the Berkeley City Council meeting.

The motion was made by Councilman Frank Berg after such action was requested by Campanile Post No. 408, American Legion.

The Legion post asked that the council ban the non-interventionist organization from all buildings under council jurisdiction and said that a similar request would be made of the Board of Education.

SENT TO CONFERENCE

Councilman Richard French got a second to his motion to refer the matter to conference committee and his motion was adopted with negative votes by Berg and Councilman Arthur Harris. Harris explained his belief that "such issues should be settled in open session if no research is needed, as in this case."

The question was reopened on motion of Councilman Edward Martin and Councilman Berg again moved to deny the use of public buildings to the American First Committee. Again it failed for want of a second.

ACTION PROVES SURPRISE

Berg expressed surprise that Harris had not seconded the motion, and Harris explained he did not agree with all of the content of the motion.

After discussion about the fact there was now no application before the council, Councilman Martin moved to table the matter until such application was made. This was carried over negative votes by Berg and Mrs. Carrie Hoyt, acting Mayor, who said she was ready to vote on the matter then.

The council postponed for one week action on a petition for revocation of a building permit for construction of a triplex at 2617 Woolsey Street, granted Peter Anderson

'First' Asks Farmers to Fight War

Sixty Illinois and Indiana chairmen of the America First Committee called upon the American farmer to enlist in the anti-war cause and assert himself on the administration's foreign policy at a meeting last night in Chicago chapter headquarters at 122 S. Michigan av.

Delegates from scattered rural areas joined Leslie Hinkle, chairman of the Kankakee chapter, in the assertion that the "stronghold of our strength in Illinois is the farmer, who is able to think independently."

P. R. Fredericks, Crystal Lake representative, told the meeting that "the farmer is overwhelmingly in favor of the policy of the America First Committee." He said he had enlisted 141 new members during the day.

Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of the committee, presided at the meeting. She announced that a capacity crowd is expected at a rally tomorrow night at 746 S. Loomis st., at which Rev. John A. O'Brien of Notre Dame University will speak.

Clash on War Policy

Kearnyans Taking Sides

KEARNY—A feud over possible United States participation in the European war that threatens to boil over and engulf the whole of Kearny gained momentum yesterday as the 19-year-old leader of the America First Committee and the 72-year-old chieftain of Fight for Freedom, Inc., girded their forces to defeat each other.

Heading toward a rip-roaring battle, the former is Allan Hartley, son of Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., and his opponent is John C. Allen, who came here 10 years ago from South America.

With the sanction of the town council, the battle to enlist adherents to their respective causes will get under way in earnest shortly with rallies and importation of nationally known speakers.

Already, opposing sides are forming, with business men, workers and housewives being called upon to express themselves on how Uncle Sam should treat Hitler and the war abroad.

ANXIOUS FOR ACTION

Both sides are anxious for action. On Wednesday, the Kearny mayor and council granted applications to Hartley and Allen for permission to hold branch meetings in the council chamber.

The American First Committee stands for limited aid to Great Britain and no involvement for the United States. The Fight For Freedom organization is outspokenly in favor of defeating Hitler—even if it means the United States must fight.

Young Hartley sat down behind the desk in his dad's study yesterday and explained why he had thrown his adolescent lot in with Col. Lindbergh's America First Committee.

Hartley, who will be 20 in October, has some very definite views on the stand that the United States has taken in Europe's war, and, he insisted, "these ideas are the result of my own reasoning." Then he added reflectively: "Perhaps I understand it better because of dad."

Young Hartley said he had made up his mind that the America First Committee was on the right track from what he had read in newspapers, heard on the radio and seen in the movies.

"We have but one [illegible] organization," he said, "and that is to keep America out of war. A great many people are of the opinion that we do not want supplies sent to the English. That is not true. We do want to give the British all we can, but never at the expense of dissipating our own defense materials or at the risk of becoming involved in the war ourselves."

While young Hartley feels that Hitler is the enemy of the United States, the opinions expressed by President Roosevelt, he said, do not represent the full feeling of the American people.

"We in the America First Committee realize that there are Fifth Columnists in the United States and in South America," he said. "We should restrict our efforts to cleaning up subversive elements in this hemisphere."

IF NAZIS WIN?

To the time-battered question: "Suppose the Nazis win over both Russia and Great Britain, then what?" Hartley had a ready answer.

"If Hitler conquers all Europe we will not have to fight him. There is no means by which an American army and the German forces could meet. It would be a stalemate. If an economic war develops we can survive it."

Young Hartley said he would not follow his father into politics.

He is a gag cartoonist and contributes to magazines.

His executive committee in the Kearny branch of the Newark American First Committee is composed entirely of young people. The oldest is William McCurdy, 27. Other members are Miss Hermine Peppinger, 19; Patrick Connolly, 20; Vincent Capobianco, 19, and James Oakes, 20.

Young Hartley said that the group was started originally as a youth movement but, because of the response given it by adults, it has been given a thoroughly mature stature. He estimated the present membership at 300.

WILL INVITE DEBATE

Since the previously clear horizon of his organization has become beclouded by the appearance in Kearny of an opponent, Fight for Freedom, Inc., young Allen is virtually bursting with antagonistic enterprize. He said that he will challenge the local F. for F. organizer to a debate.

If Allen should accept the challenge, the people of Kearny should be in on an epic-establishing event.

Allen lived in South America from 1891 until he came here. He said he has seen German agents at work and he fears for the United States if something is not done at once to stop them. According to his belief, the United States should contribute as generously as it can to Great Britain as a protection to us. "Hitler," he said when interviewed yesterday at his home at 854 Kearny ave., "will have to be stopped on European soil or else he will be over here with his bombers as soon as he coordinates his European conquests."

Hartley has mapped out a program which is to be built up gradually, and then conclude with a huge rally in the high school auditorium with Ham Fish as the main speaker. Allen, however, has promised to meet all competition and will have someone from the national headquarters to top anyone Hartley cares to bring into the arena.

Both want a fair battle with "no politics" involved. Furthermore, they agree on one issue—they boast of their Americanism and insist that the best interest of the country are their only quarrel.

WARNS WORLD UNION WOULD VOID U. S. RIGHTS

For the United States to join a world-wide federal union of nations would be to surrender the rights won by Washington and the Declaration of Independence. This assertion was made last night by John W. Maselter, a speaker for the America First committee, in a debate with Julian J. Steen, president of the Chicago School of Adults.

They spoke in the Hamilton hotel at a meeting sponsored by the Chicago Institute of Public Debate. Steen urged that America enter a union of world democracies as a practical step to insure peace. Maselter replied that America stood to lose by such a partnership.

The debating institute will hold another meeting in the hotel tonight. The speakers will be Dean W. F. Clarke of the De Paul university law school and Prof. Maynard C. Krueger of the University of Chicago. They will discuss the question of war or peace for America.

State Unit of America First Attacks F.D.R.

Telegrams charging that President Roosevelt's "indirect authorizing of convoying and his ordering of naval war" were part of a preconceived plan to multiply the incidents which will lead to war have been sent to all California legislators in Washington by the Northern California headquarters of the America First Committee.

The wires, which were signed by John J. Taheny, committee regional director, said it is "ridiculous to assume that Germany now seeks war with the United States" and ask that legislation be enacted to "curb the President's crude attempt to circumvent the constitutional powers of Congress."

Veterans Oppose America First Rally in Public Buildings Here

Opposition to use of public buildings in the City of Oakland and the County of Alameda by the America First Committee, "because of its preachments of disunity," was voiced by Emeryville Industrial Post No. 1010, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The America First Committee has made arrangements to hold a rally in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium on the night of September 22 Senator Burkton K. Wheeler is scheduled to be one of the principal speakers, according to preliminary announcements.

Scheduling of dates for meetings in the Auditorium and the Exposition Building are handled by J. F. Mullins, director of the buildings, according to city officials.

UNANIMOUS ACTION

Members of Post No. 1010 voted unanimously at their last meeting to forward a resolution to city and county officials, asking them to oppose the use of public buildings by the committee.

The resolution cited the denial of use of such buildings in San Francisco, Portland and other cities in the United States.

The text of the resolution follows:

"Whereas, the America First Committee, because of its preachments of disunity, has been denied the use of public buildings in the City and County of San Francisco, the City of Portland, Oregon, and in other communities of the United States,

"And whereas, the America First Committee proposes to hold a public meeting in Oakland California,

OPPOSITION ASKED

"Therefore, be it resolved, that Emeryville Industrial Post No. 1010, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, do respectfully request all Alameda County municipal and county officers to oppose the use of all public buildings for meetings of the America First Committee, and

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the press, City Council of the City of Oakland, and to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

America First Denied Use Of Buildings

Supervisors' Action Affects Address Of Senator Wheeler

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors today adopted a resolution denying the use of all county buildings to the America First Committee.

The action came at the same time that the committee announced that a scheduled meeting in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium, at which Senator Burton K. Wheeler was to have spoken Monday night, had been postponed indefinitely.

The motion opening the resolution before the Supervisors was made by Clifford Wixson and seconded by Harry Bartell. They and Thomas Caldecott were the three Supervisors present.

JANSSEN IN L.A.

George A. Janssen, chairman of the board, is in Los Angeles on official business, and George P. Hellwig, the other member, officially is on vacation.

In passing the resolution, the Supervisors endorsed a request by Emeryville Industrial Post No. 1010, Veterans of Foreign Wars, that no public buildings be made available for the America First Meeting.

The veterans objected to the meeting in a public building of the America First group "because of its preachments of disunity."

RENTAL FEE ACCEPTED

J. F. Mullins, director of city buildings, however, said that the fee for the auditorium arena had been paid by R. B. Wurlitzer, secretary of the America First Committee in San Francisco, and a binding contract entered into. He said he doubted whether the public protests could in themselves bring a cancellation.

Wurlitzer said that the meeting with Senator Wheeler as speaker would be held "a few days following," but could give no exact date. Neither could he explain the delay, as tickets for the meeting have been printed and distributed.

Wurlitzer said that he conferred with the senator's son, John L. Wheeler, last week in Los Angeles, and the son was vague as to the delay.

WANT L.A. DATE

The younger Wheeler was attempting to arrange a speaking engagement for his father for September 25 in the Los Angeles Coliseum, Wurlitzer said.

The protest of the Emeryville V.F.W. post, meanwhile, was echoed in a resolution from headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, in San Francisco. The communication, signed by Francis H. Gonsalves, secretary, said:

"Whereas, the America First Committee under the false pretense of exercising the right of free speech is endeavoring, through the use of the press and the public platform to create disunity of thought among the American people in these critical times of world war, and

REFUSAL URGED

"Whereas, the said organization has publicly condemned the President of the United States for performing his plain duty as Commander-in-Chief of the United States Army and Navy, and

"Whereas, said organization has been refused the use of public buildings for public assemblages in San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and other large American cities,

"Be it resolved, by the 10th District, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Breakfast Club, that it urge all municipal and county officers and boards to refuse the America First Committee permission to use any public building in said county or city for public assembly purposes."

AMERICA FIRST SQUIRMS OVER LINDY SPEECH

Popular Indignation Rises Over Isolationist's Thrust at Jews.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines speech, in which he injected a racial attack in his drive against the national program for defeat of Hitler, loomed today as one of the most embarrassing issues faced by the America First Committee in months.

Lindbergh's speech is expected "to be brought up," it was said at headquarters of America First, at a meeting of its national executive committee in Chicago Thursday.

This was divulged in the face of a mounting barrage of rebukes for the flier by outstanding Americans, most of them supporters of the national policy, some of them isolationists.

Until Thursday, a spokesman of America First declared, the committee has nothing to say on Lindbergh's speech.

The executive committee meeting, it was indicated, will concern itself primarily with the new "shoot on sight" orders under which the Navy started operating today. Apparently, however, the "heat" in Lindbergh's case has become too pressing to be disregarded.

Unconfirmed reports state that some America First leaders, including John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter, are calling for repudiation of Lindbergh. Others are attempting to minimize the significance of his declaration at Des Moines that "the three most important groups who have been pressing this country toward war are the British, the Jewish and the Roosevelt administration."

Indications are that expulsion of Lindbergh—who shares with Senator Burton K. Wheeler top rank as platform man for America First—would split the organization's following wide open. Observers point out that it would anger the personal following built up by America First for Lindbergh, and followers generally of the Nazi line against the Jews.

Race Issue Raised in Film Quiz.

Lindbergh's speech in Des Moines followed raising of the same race issue by the Senate subcommittee investigation into "war propaganda" in the films—including admonishing of Jews by Senator Gerald K. Nye (Rep., N. D.), an America-First orator. Four of the five members of the subcommittee are isolationists.

Meantime, in Washington, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, had a new designation for Lindbergh and Wheeler. She described them as "Sixth Columnists," who "innocently or otherwise permit certain attitudes or activities to exist when they are of inestimable benefit to the enemy."

Mrs. Whitehurst said she believed Wheeler and Lindbergh were honest, but she held that they and other isolationists should not "create chaotic thinking among our people as to the need for adequate national defense."

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP)—The America First Committee said in a statement tonight that "Col. Lindbergh and his fellow members of the America First Committee are not anti-semitic," and charged that interventionists had injected the race issue "into the discussion of war or peace."

The statement was issued by the group's national committee, the policy making body, as a result of Lindbergh's speech in Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 11, in which he said the "British, the Jewish and the Roosevelt administration' were the three most important groups "which have been pressing this country toward war."

The statement issued by the committee follows:

"Ever since the nation-wide effort to keep America out of war began, the interventionists have sought to hide the real issue by flinging false charges at the America First Committee and at every leader who has spoken out against our entry into the European conflict. The present attack on Col. Lindbergh is merely another case in point.

Big Police Detail Planned for Holt and Nye Tonight

America First Meeting Here Expected to Attract 8000

As word reached Boston last night that the national directors of the America First Committee have defended Lindbergh's Des Moines speech on the grounds that charges that it was anti-Semitic are "baseless," elaborate police arrangements were completed to guard against trouble at the local America First meeting to be held tonight at Mechanics Building.

Speaking at tonight's meeting will be United States Senator Gerald P. Nye, Rep., of North Dakota, and Ex-United States Senator Rush Holt of West Virginia, a bitter Roosevelt foe.

Close to 100 special police have been detailed to duty at Mechanics Building tonight, where a gathering of more than 8000 is expected to attend. During the day Senator Nye will give a press interview and be taken by police escort to the State House to be greeted by Lieut. Gov. Horace T. Cahill and to City Hall to be welcomed by the Mayor.

Senator Nye will be met at the train at the South Station by City Greeter Louis J. Brems and the heads of the Boston chapter of the committee. He will go then to the Copley-Plaza where he will give a press interview. Edwin S. Webster Jr., Boston and New York investment counselor, will preside at the meeting tonight. Members of the committee will give the speakers a dinner before the meeting.

Senator Wheeler arrived in the Bay district today for two public appearances. At noon he was scheduled as the guest speaker at the Commonwealth Club luncheon at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, his subject being "Can the United States Stay Out of This War?"

His Oakland appearance at the Civic Auditorium is the main event of the America First Committee's program, and John J. Teheny, attorney and regional director for Northern California, announces that plans have been completed to handle a large crowd.

The doors of the arena will be opened at 6 o'clock, and there will be a program of speaking and singing to keep the attention of the crowd until Wheeler begins his speech at 9 o'clock. His talk will be broadcast from 9 to 9:30 by KSFO.

America First Ban Is Held Up

Berkeley School Board Decides to Wait Until Hall Is Asked For

BERKELEY, Sept. 25.—In the wake of action taken by the City Council, the Berkeley Board of Education last night delayed voting on the banning of schools to the America First Committee until a formal request is made for use of an auditorium.

"Our board is in general agreement with the attitude expressed in your resolution," reads a letter to Campanile Post No. 402, American Legion, which asked both city and school authorities to bar America First meetings from public structures. "No request is now before this board for the use of any of its buildings by this committee or any of its members. If we receive such a request, the board will at that time take definite and positive action."

A communication, enclosing resolutions adopted by Campanile Post, was discussed in conference session by board members prior to the open meeting. As a result of the decision reached, Superintendent Virgil Dickson read the Legion resolution and the board's drafted reply, which was accepted without discussion by the board.

At a meeting on Tuesday the City Council, after lengthy discussion and a series of motions and reconsiderations, voted to table the Legion resolution until a request for use of

Attack on Lindy Smokescreen, Backers Charge

America First Denies Flyer Is Anti-Semitic, Blames War Seekers

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (C.T.P.S.). Officials of the America First Committee issued a statement today in which they denied charges that Charles A. Lindbergh is anti-Semitic and held that "behind a smokescreen of groundless charges this nation is being led to war in violation of the Constitution of the United States."

The charges were made after Lindbergh asserted that three groups, the British, the Jewish, and the Roosevelt Administration, are mainly responsible for edging the United States to the verge of war.

Blames Interventionists

"Ever since the nation-wide effort to keep America out of war began," the America First statement said, "the interventionists have sought to hide the real issue by flinging false charges at the America First Committee and at every leader who has spoken out against our entry into the European conflict. The present attack on Colonel Lindbergh is merely another case in point.

"Colonel Lindbergh and his fellow members of the America First Committee are not anti-Semitic. We deplore the injection of the race issue into the discussion of war or peace. It is the interventionists who have done this.

Invites All Races

America First Office Raided In Nazi Probe

Rep. Fish Denies Aiding Dennett in Removing Mail Sacks

Twelve sacks of mail were seized in the Washington headquarters of the America First Committee by a deputy United States marshal last night in connection with a pending Grand Jury investigation of what the Justice Department calls "suspected Nazi agents."

Justice Department officials said the mail sacks were handed over voluntarily by representatives of the America First Committee in response to a subpoena duces tecum. The Government spokesmen denied that the mail was seized in an effort to smear the America First Committee. They insisted there is no intention of using the Grand Jury as a weapon of intimidation against antiWar organizations generally.

Was Second Raid

Earlier in the day, however, the Justice Department had been accused of attempting to smear noninterventionists in Congress as a result of its disclosure of another raid on the headquarters of the Make Europe Pay and the Islands for War Debts Committees.

In the first raid Justice Department agents seized bales of envelopes bearing the congressional free mailing frank of seven noninterventionists and containing speeches made by them in Congress. Prescott Dennett, secretary of the Make Europe Pay and the Islands for War Debts Committees, failed to produce the franked mail in response to a subpoena duces tecum, according to Justice Department officials, and has been threatened with contempt proceedings.

Readily Surrendered

The second mail seizure ... out of the earlier raid. Age... obtained information, it said, ... twelve sacks of mail belonging ... Dennett had been placed in ... custody of the America First C... mittee. A subpoena duces tec... directed Miss Isabel French, off... manager of the committee he... quarters, to produce the mail... sacks. Justice Department spokesmen said she readily surrendered the mail sacks to the marshal.

It was reported that the 12 sacks seized yesterday were part of a total of 20. These were said to have been removed from Dennett's offices, part of them being taken to the offices of the America First Committee and others stored in the House Office Building. It was further reported that Representative Hamilton Fish (R.), of New York, had aided Dennett in the removal. This Representative Fish denied emphatically last night in New Bedford, Mass., where he had a lecture engagement.

Senator's Wife Chairman

Mrs. Bennett Champ Clark, wife of the Missouri antiwar Senator, is chairman of the Washington chapter of the America First Committee. Justice Department officials said she called and explained that there was no objection whatever to the removal of the mail sacks.

The unmailed letters seized in Dennett's headquarters bore the franks of:

Representative Stephen A. Day (R.), of Illinois; Representative Martin L. Sweeney (D.), of Ohio; Senator D. Worth Clark (D.), of Idaho; Senator Gerald P. Nye (R.), of North Dakota; Representative George Holden Tinkham (R.), of Massachusetts; the late Senator Ernest Lundeen (F.-L.), of Minnesota, and former Representative J. Thorkelson (R.), of Montana.

Senator Clark said he knew nothing about the envelopes bearing his frank and speeches.

AMERICA FIRST DENIES LINDBERGH IS ANTI-SEMITIC

Officials of the America First committee issued a statement yesterday in which they denied charges that Charles A. Lindbergh is anti-Semitic and held that "behind a smoke screen of groundless charges this nation is being led to war in violation of the constitution."

The charges were made after Lindbergh, speaking at Des Moines, Ia., asserted that the British, the Jewish, and the Roosevelt administration are mainly responsible for edging the United States to the verge of war.

Fling False Charges.

America First Group Denies Anti-Semitism

By the Associated Press

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The America First Committee said in a statement tonight that "Col. Lindbergh and his fellow members of the America First Committee are not anti-Semitic," and charged that interventionists had injected the race issue "into the discussion of war or peace."

The statement was issued by the group's national committee, the policy making body, as a result of Lindbergh's speech in Des Moines, Iowa, on September 11, in which he said the "British, the Jewish and the Roosevelt Administration" were the three most important groups "which have been pressing this country toward war."

The statement issued by the committee follows:

AMERICA FIRST BRAVES REBUKES, DEFENDS LINDY

Denies Flier or Group Is Anti-Semitic; Patriots Hit Statement.

'Adolf Loves Lindy'

Los Angeles, Sept. 25.—(UP)—Billboard "Valentines," bearing an arrow-pierced heart and the words "Adolf Loves Lindy," made their appearance here today.

The signs bore no caption and contained no clue as to who erected them.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

The America First Committee today answered a nation-wide wave of rebuke for Charles A. Lindbergh's Des Moines attack upon the Jews by declaring that neither Lindbergh nor America First is "anti-Semitic."

Its statement defending the aviator makes no direct reference to his speech at an America First rally in Des Moines, Sept. 11, nor to the charges he then directed against the Jews.

Those Lindbergh blasts included the allegation that "the British, the Jewish and the Roosevelt administration" were "pressing this country toward war," and that the Jews present great "danger" in what he described as "their large ownership and influence in our motion pictures, our press, our radio and our government."

Brings Forth a Mouse.

"We deplore the injection of the race issue into the discussion of war or peace," says the long-awaited America First statement issued on behalf of the national executive committee. "It is the interventionists who have done this."

That charge against the interventionists apparently referred to declarations by Wendell Willkie and other backers of the national foreign policy openly defending American Jews from attack.

After reading the America First pronouncement Courtenay Barber Jr., director of the Chicago Fight for Freedom Committee, issued this statement:

"The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse. The attempt of the America First Committee to whitewash Lindbergh and themselves for the ex-colonel's anti-Semitic speech is a clear-cut self-indictment.

Renews Its Charge.

"Fight for Freedom renews its charge that the America First Committee has a strong anti-Semitic plank in its secret platform.

"We welcome the fact that its leading spokesman has brought it out into the open, with such men as Nye, Wheeler and Fish openly substantiating it and countless others doing likewise by indiscreet silence."

The three isolationists named are Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Senator Gerald P. Nye and Congressman Hamilton Fish.

Simultaneously Barber made public a letter he has sent to Brig.-Gen. Robert E. Wood, retired, chairman of America First, challenging that committee to disclose the names and contributions of its donors to a recognized public accountant—Fight for Freedom to pay for the job. National headquarters of America First have consistently declined to reveal a full list of major donors. It released a partial list some months ago.

Text of the Statement.

The complete statement by the America First Committee on Lindbergh follows:

"Ever since the nationly wide effort to keep America out of war began, the interventionists have sought to hide the real issue by flinging false charges at the America First Committee and at every leader who has spoken out against our entry into the European conflict. The present attack on Col. Lindbergh is merely another case in point.

"Col. Lindbergh and his fellow members of the America First Committee are not anti-Semitic. We deplore the injection of the issue into the discussion of peace. It is the interventionists who have done this. America First, on the other hand, has welcomed Jewish men and women of every race, religion and national origin to membership in the committee, provided only that they are patriotic citizens who put the interests of their country ahead of those of any other nation. We repeat that invitation.

"At least 80 per cent of the American people oppose our entry into the war. The America First Committee has supplied to these millions of citizens a leadership which has thus far helped to avert disaster. Consequently, the aim of the war makers is to destroy the America First Committee.

'We'll Carry On Fight.'

"Behind a smokescreen of groundless charges this nation is being led to war in violation of the Constitution of the United States.

"There is but one real issue—the issue of war. From this issue we will not be diverted. We will carry on the fight until it is won."

Following discussion of Lindbergh at a meeting of the America First national executive committee at the home of Janet Ayer Fairbank last Thursday, issuance of a statement was delayed pending its submission to committeemen not present.

Asked today whether the national committeemen all had approved the final statement, an America First spokesman said:

"There is no announcement on how it was decided upon."

One member of the executive committee — Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, retired—has publicly disassociated himself from Lindbergh's speech.

Stand on Statement.

Asked whether the statement was to be considered a specific backing of Lindbergh's charges against the Jews and admonition to them, the spokesman said:

"We stand on the statement. You can interpret it as you wish."

One of Lindbergh's statements at Des Moines was:

"Tolerance is a virtue that depends upon peace and strength. History shows that it cannot survive war and devastation. A few far-sighted Jewish people realize this and stand opposed to intervention. But the majority still do not."

America First Rally Calls for Helpers Of German, Italian and Irish Or

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

The Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor of apologetics at Notre Dame, last night launched "a plan" for America First—and in doing so exhorted citizens "with German, Austrian and Italian names" to make themselves heard.

The recently organized "Christopher Columbus Chapter" of America First on the Southwest Side had some 400 adherents in Marshfield Auditorium to hear the professor and Janet Ayer Fairbank, vice-chairman of America First.

All listened intently as Father O'Brien declared — intoning his words easily, plausibly, almost lovingly:

"All we need is about 3,000,000 more Irish. But I plead with others of you, get out and work. A German name is nothing against you. There should be no silence of people with German, Austrian and Italian names."

Few Volunteer to Picket.

That pronouncement by the professor came after he'd called for volunteers to do such jobs as picketing "prowar" movies and the homes of Senator Scott Lucas and interventionist congressmen.

Relatively few volunteered. Almost all who identified themselves had Irish names—Hogan, McIntyre, Brady among them. Only one Italian name was heard, though the district was largely Italian and many Italo-Americans sat in the old hall and applauded.

They were glad to applaud en masse, but apparently were a little dubious about personal involvment in the picketing Father O'Brien had in mind. He called the reaction of the Irish "magnificent."

What the professor did not mention was that the meeting had attracted such a small proportion of the Italo-Americans and Irish-Americans of the congested area from which it drew. A sound truck had been prepared outside for an overflow. It was never used—there was no overflow. A great many vacant seats faced Father O'Brien.

Most of his audience were poor people. They were of all ages. A large proportion of the older Italian immigrants stood respectfully mute as the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung.

'I've Written 1,500 Letters.'

It was not without urging that Father O'Brien presented his "plan" for America First. Just after he and Mrs. Fairbank mounted the flag-draped platform to start the meeting, a bald-headed man in the audience stood up and yelled:

"Give us a plan tonight. We haven't got a plan."

The same man came back to it later after Mrs. Fairbank said how much good she thought antiwar letters to the White House had done. He stood up and shouted with emotion:

"Letters haven't helped. I've written 1,500 of them. We need a plan."

So Father O'Brien tried to offer a plan. It included the proposed picketing. Talking of picketing, he said, "Why not the White House?" But apparently the Christopher Columbus Chapter didn't see just how it could picket the White House and that idea lapsed.

'Write Letter Every Day.'

The "plan" included enrolling in America First what Father O'Brien called "all the 125,000,000 who think as we do." Otherwise it got back to the old reliable—letters. The O'Brien letter plan, however, sent 1,500 letters, the professor of apologetics was not.

"How many of you will agree to write one letter a day to the President and Congress till the crisis is past?" O'Brien asked.

Most raised their hands. The entire audience was [illegible] 400, Father O'Brien said it was 1,000, and he wanted 1,000 letters sent a day.

"Write every day to the President," he gently intoned. "And how about Lucas?"

"Boo, boo," stated some of his hearers.

"Write one every day to Lucas," Father O'Brien resumed. "And what about the newspapers that cry for war each day, and say we won't rest till we get your boy slaughtered and blow out his brains? Is there a law that makes you buy a paper that does so?"

A few said, no, there wasn't.

Fake War Drive Issues Assailed by O'Brien

Fake issues, exaggerated incidents and manufactured crises are being used by the war party in a desperate effort to drag the American people into the European strife, Dr. John A. O'Brien, Notre Dame professor, charged last night.

Speaking under the auspices of the Christopher Columbus Chapter of the America First Committee at Marshfield Auditorium, he urged the people to stand fast in their determination not to be used as cannon fodder to fight the wars of foreign nations. He said:

"The propaganda to enter the European holocaust outrages every instinct of American patriotism and reasonable self-interest. America's entrance would spell national suicide."

PUTS AMERICA FIRST.

He made it clear that he was speaking "neither for Notre Dame nor for the Catholic church, but in my own name as an American citizen. I have an abhorrence for Hitlerism, loathing for Stalinism, and sympathy for victims of aggression everywhere.

He said no finer tribute could be paid to the common-sense of the American people "and their ability to see through the smoke screen of propaganda" than to say that "they are as determined as ever not to repeat the ghastly blunder of 1917."

He spent the first year of the war at Oxford University, he continued, and saw the enormous stream of British propaganda sent daily to America to pull the United States again "into the power of Europe." He added:

COLD TO PROPAGANDA.

"In spite of that increasing stream of British propaganda, in spite of British agents swarming upon Washington like an army of redcoat invaders, and in spite of the swashbuckling clamor of the Knoxes, Stimsons, Willkies and Peppers, the American people remain calm and determined to mind their own business. This, too, in spite of the continued inflammatory utterances of the man who swore to high heaven to keep us out of war."

At the end of the meeting the 1,000 participants sent a telegram to President Roosevelt urging him not to demand epeal of the neutrality act.

Agents Seize Papers From 'America First'

Investigators Will Not Reveal Contents of Subpoenaed Material.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—(AP) Government investigators revealed today they had subpoenaed material from the local office of the America First Committee in connection with the Justice Department's grand jury inquiry into alleged violations of the foreign agents' registration act.

The material was enclosed in half a dozen mail sacks, but William P. Maloney and Edward J. Hickey, special assistants to the attorney general in charge of the inquiry, refused to say what the papers and documents included.

The investigation already has resulted in the indictment of Frank Burch, Akron (Ohio) attorney, for failure to register as an alleged agent of the German government.

During the day the grand jury heard five witnesses, among them Prescott Dennett, secretary of the make-Europe-pay-war debts committee and the islands-for-war debts committee.

Mrs. Kahn: I'm Not a Member Of 'America First'

Former Congresswoman Florence P. Kahn of San Francisco has issued a statement declaring she is not a member of the America First Committee and that she is in no way associated with that organization.

"The continued use of my name, in spite of numerous and vehement protests, by the America First Committee, with which I am in no way connected, has necessitated my making this public statement," Mrs. Kahn said.

America First Office Raided In Nazi Probe

Rep. Fish Denies Aiding Dennett in Removing Mail Sacks

Twelve sacks of mail were seized in the Washington headquarters of the America First Committee by a deputy United States marshal last night in connection with a pending Grand Jury investigation of what the Justice Department calls "suspected Nazi agents."

Justice Department officials said the mail sacks were handed over voluntarily by representatives of the America First Committee in response to a subpoena duces tecum. The Government spokesmen denied that the mail was seized in an effort to smear the America First Committee. They insisted there is no intention of using the Grand Jury as a weapon of intimidation against antiwar organizations generally.

Was Second Raid

Earlier in the day, however, the Justice Department had been accused of attempting to smear noninterventionists in Congress as a result of its disclosure of another raid on the headquarters of the Make Europe Pay and the Islands for War Debts Committees.

In the first raid Justice Department agents seized bales of envelopes bearing the congressional free mailing frank of seven noninterventionists and containing speeches made by them in Congress. Prescott Dennett, secretary of the Make Europe Pay and the Islands for War Debts Committees, failed to produce the franked mail in response to a subpoena duces tecum, according to Justice Department officials, and has been

The second mail seizure grew out of the earlier raid. Agents obtained information, it said, that twelve sacks of mail belonging to Dennett had been placed in the custody of the America First Committee. A subpoena duces tecum directed Miss Isabel French, office manager of the committee headquarters, to produce the mail sacks. Justice Department spokesmen said she readily surrendered the mail sacks to the marshal.

It was reported that the 12 sacks seized yesterday were part of a total of 20. These were said to have been removed from Dennett's offices, part of them being taken to the offices of the America First Committee and others stored in the House Office Building. It was further reported that Representative Hamilton Fish (R.), of New York, had aided Dennett in the removal. This Representative Fish denied emphatically last night in New Bedford, Mass., where he had a lecture engagement.

Senator's Wife Chairman

Mrs. Bennett Champ Clark, wife of the Missouri antiwar Senator, is chairman of the Washington chapter of the America First Committee. Justice Department officials said she called and explained that there was no objection whatever to the removal of the mail sacks.

The unmailed letters seized in Dennett's headquarters bore the franks of:

Representative Stephen A. Day (R.), of Illinois; Representative Martin L. Sweeney (D.), of Ohio; Senator D. Worth Clark (D.), of Idaho; Senator Gerald P. Nye (R.), of North Dakota; Representative George Holden Tinkham (R.), of Massachusetts; the late Senator Ernest Lundeen (F.-L.), of Minnesota, and former Representative J. Thorkelson (R.), of Montana.

Senator Clark said he knew nothing about the envelopes bearing his frank and speeches.

AMERICA FIRST AND LINDBERGH WIN BUND PRAISE

Editorial Hailing Attack on Jews Cited by Leader of Freedom Group.

BY FRANK SMOTHERS.

Charles A. Lindbergh and America First can be judged "by the enthusiasms they arouse," it was declared today by Courtenay Barber Jr., director of the Chicago Fight for Freedom Committee.

Barber called attention to plaudits in the organ of the German-American Bund of Sept. 25, the Free American and Deutsche Weckruf und Beobachter for what were called Lindbergh's "truthful" words at Des Moines about the Jews.

Appeals for 'America First.'

An editorial signed by William Kunze, fuehrer of the bund, hailed Lindbergh, Senator Gerald P. Nye and Senator Burton K. Wheeler as "courageous men" and concluded:

"The European war, wanted by and brought about by this international Jew, has effected the end of the Jew in Europe. If he should fail to learn from that example, continuing to edge America into the holocaust, he will just as certainly experience the same elimination in this country, at the hands of an aroused United States citizenry quite possibly less gentle in its wrath than the peoples of Europe! Yes, it is HIGH TIME to think of AMERICA FIRST!"

Bund Praises America First.

Barber emphasized that praise from the bund organ and other "extraordinary friends" was nothing new for Lindbergh and America First.

He quoted the Free American and Deutscher Weckruf und Beobachter as saying on May 1:

"Join the America First Committee and continue to bombard your representatives in Congress with letters and telegrams in protest."

Other citations by Barber:

The Fiery Cross, official publication of the Ku Klux Klan, April: "The Klan's attitude toward the present world situation was aptly expressed recently by Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the America First Committee.

Coughlin Identifies Group.

Social Justice, organ of Father Charles E. Coughlin, April 28: "Col. Charles A. Lindbergh became a member of the America First Committee last week. It is the same committee . . . under whose auspices Father Charles E. Coughlin would be speaking did he enjoy one half as much liberty as a priest and as a citizen as that enjoyed by Msgr. John A. Ryan of the National Catholic Welfare Council."

Msgr. Ryan, outstanding American Catholic sociologist, is a supporter of the administration's foreign policy.

'Stop Hitler' Rally Friday.

Meantime, Fight for Freedom has completed plans for a "Hitler-Must-Not-Win" rally to be held in Orchestra Hall at 8 p. m., Friday. Speakers will be Augustus F. Lindbergh, Alabama attorney and cousin of the isolationist aviator; Rex Stout, novelist, and Stanley High, writer on foreign affairs. Admission will be free.

In New York last night Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt opened a series of sponsored radio broadcasts over the NBC network with an address in which she said sincere advocates of America First "are misguided because they seem to think that there is such a thing as separation and isolationism for any individual country."

"One can forgive these sincere idealists," said the first lady, but she did not believe all the isolationist leaders could be forgiven. She said:

"Sometimes I think that some of the isolation leaders forget that if they begin to break up this country into self-conscious racial and religious groups, they will destroy the nation they profess to want to preserve, for we are made up of racial strains from every part of the world."

GROUP ASSAILS 'AMERICA FIRST'

Jerry O'Connell Hits At Senator Wheeler

Activities of individuals and organizations interested in the nation's foreign policy produced these developments today:

The California Action Conference for Civil Rights today was on record in opposition to the America First Committee for attempting "to split the increasing militant unity of the American people in defense of freedom and in opposition to all manifestations."

The conference was called jointly by the Civil Rights Conference of Northern California and the Southern California branch of the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties. More than 300 delegates, made up chiefly of trade union representatives, attended.

O'Connell Raps Wheeler

The resolution was passed after the delegates heard Jerry O'Connell, former Montana congressman, term his fellow citizen, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, "pro-Hitler, pro-Fascist, anti-democratic and anti-American."

"Wheeler," said Mr. O'Connell, "would sacrifice his state and his country for the sake of his own personal ambitions and his hatred of President Roosevelt." Mr. O'Connell and Senator Wheeler long have been political foes.

Back from a month's visit in Washington, D. C., and New York, M. Boris Eliacheff, personal representative of General Charles de Gaulle in San Francisco, will speak Wednesday night at a meeting of the local chapter of France Forever in Druids Hall. Jewish Leader Backs Stand Of Lindbergh

By International News Service

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The America First Committee tonight released a letter received from Dr. Hyman Lischner, of San Diego, former president of B'nai Brith of San Diego and a prominent Pacific Coast physician, indorsing the stand taken by Charles A. Lindbergh.

Dr. Lischner, who was born in Russia of Jewish parentage, referred to Lindbergh as "that courageous and robust American," and stated that Lindbergh "repeats wisely the lesson Israel ought to have learned through the teachings of her prophets and philosophers."

The letter, apparently released in answer to charges that Lindbergh had made anti-Semitic utterances in his Des Moines, Iowa, speech, said in part:

"As a matter of fact, Col. Lindbergh is sympathetic with the feelings and the natural concern of the American Jews for their brethren in Germany. He holds that they, as also the British, have real cause to be concerned and are more consistent and sincere in the pursuit of their policies.

"The progressive war propaganda of the Administration, with its continually increasing governing power, stands alone apparently uninfluenced by any compunction of a violation of trust or by any natural feeling for the immediate welfare of its own people, particularly the youth of America."

The letter, three typewritten pages long, was addressed to Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the America First Committee, and was signed "Yours for America as a Whole, 'One and Indivisible,' Hyman Lischner."

Gangster Horde On the March

Editor The Chronicle — Sir: Amazing, isn't it, how we are beginning to see that America First means Britian Last? It evidently means nothing at all to the members of that Committee that a world force is sweeping steadily nearer to us, held back only by the desperate fighting of two countries. A gangster horde is on the march, calling intc its fold all those who are opposed to law and culture. Soon all the jackals of the world will join this world encircling movement because it appeals to those who live by the sinister, the foul and the bestial. Religion, art literature, humanity — have all been destroyed by these gangsters whose methods differ not at all from the gangsters of Chicago in Capone's time.

How can anyone be so stupid as to believe that we could do business with them, or that we can escape being engulfed by the menace ourselves if we blindly give lip service to a propaganda which is turning Americans into traitors because their jealousy—or hatred, whichever emotion it may be, of England, blinds them to a clear conception of what Germany stands for these days, whether within her own boundaries or in the conquered countries to whom she was going to bring the New Order?

Do the America First members never read? Or have they too a desire to burn all literature which may show the Nazis as they really are, full of cupidity, arrogance and seeming to have lost the attributes by which mankind lives and grows in greatness of spirit?

THANKS FROM AMERICA FIRST

To the Editor:

The executive board of the America First Committee of Northern California extends its thanks to all those, who, despite the brief notice given for such an occasion, made the Senator Burton K. Wheeler mass meeting, recently given in Oakland, a tremendous success.

Amongst those whom the board would like to thank are:

KSFO, Columbia Broadcasting System, for having sought to perform a public service in bringing the address to their many listeners on the Pacific Coast. The cancellation of this broadcast was no fault of the station, but came as a last-minute request from Senator Wheeler, who felt, in the light of fast-moving events in Washington culminating with the Administration's attempt to repeal our Neutrality Act, that any advance script as required by radio regulations, wa, subject to change;

The Press of San Francisco and of the Bay Region, who, realizing the obstacles, some unavoidable and some deliberate, that were being placed in the path of this committee, came to the rescue by publicizing all news as fast as released. Our committee feels this is a vital illustration to the American people of the value of a free and uncontrolled Press;

The City Council, district attorney, city manager and all other officials in Oakland, who by standing firm placed their city on the credit side of the ledger for true Americanism in the eyes of the Nation;

Chief of Police Wallman and his men for the excellent manner in which they handled the meeting, and

All those other Americans, who by signing up as new members on that night in the America First Committee, evidenced their determination to uphold and preserve the constitutional form of Government in the United States of America.

We, the representatives of the America First Committee in Northern California, realize that it was due to your generous response that the Senator Burton K. Wheeler mass meeting still lingers on our memory as a "Proof through the night that our flag was still there."

Anonymous Attacks on America First Leader Fail to Perturb Isolationist in Campaign

By Overton Jones

When J. Stanley Collins opened a letter received in the mail at his home the other day, he found a newspaper clipping—a picture of himself which had appeared in The Times-Dispatch a few days earlier. On Mr. Collins' light-colored coat, the sender had drawn a large swastika.

More recently, he opened an envelope addressed to the "American Fascist Committee" to find a sheet of white paper on which had been emblazoned in red a large swastika. There was a reference to American "Quislings."

If the senders of those two missiles had expected to arouse the anger of the chairman of Richmond's America First Committee, they would have been disappointed to see him tell of the incidents later. For Mr. Collins, it seems, is much more interested these days in things other than anonymous letters — such things as putting the brakes on what he thinks is this nation's mad ride towards war.

England Has Sympathy

"We (America Firsters) don't think it is logical to buy into a war and then go 3,000 miles to participate in it," he declared. "Personally, my sympathy is with England. I put Hitler in the class with a mad dog and I feel the same way about Red Joe. But the claim that anybody is fighting our war is an untenable position, and we have no business getting mixed up in it."

Mr. Collins doesn't like the idea of being singled out in any survey of the America First Committee here, despite the fact that he's the elected leader. It's a movement of principles, not personalities, he declared, and the committee is no place for anybody seeking personal publicity.

In the belief that a thorough examination of the principles and policies of the America First Committee and the local Fight For Freedom Committee might be of value to the public, leaders of the opposing movements were questioned as to the matter. The Firsters said they welcomed such an opportunity to get their side of the argument before the public, but leaders of the F. F. F. group said they wouldn't like to see the two opposing philosophies discussed in one newspaper article. They expressed the fear that consideration of both groups in one story might be confusing to the reading public, that the objectives of the two might seem to the readers to be in some way related.

The America First Committee, organized to keep the United States out of war and to promote national defense, was organized here September 12. Mr. Collins and Robert Waitt Jr., a leader in Young Republican activities, had received letters from Harry C. Schnibbe of the national America First headquarters in Chicago suggesting the formation of a unit in Richmond. The unit was set up with Mr. Collins as chairman until January 1 and Mr. Waitt as co-chairman, Miss Elise Sweeney was named secretary, while the chairman was designated to act as treasurer.

Organization Growing

Mr. Collins claims that there were 15 persons present at the organization meeting and between 40 and 50 at another meeting a week later. He expects to have 100 signed up within a week or two.

Mr. Collins denied that there is any anti-Semitic feeling among the local America Firsters, despite charges made against the America First following what critics said were anti-Semitic remarks made by Charles A. Lindbergh, leading speaker on America First platforms. The local group, incidentally, hopes to bring some big speaker here before long, maybe even the former colonel himself, or, perhaps, Senator Wheeler.

The A. F. chairman believes the people of the nation are overwhelmingly opposed to war, but admits that "they may be engineered into position where war is thrust upon them." Asked if he thought the present Administration feels this nation must enter the war, the America Firster declined to comment.

Referendum Favored

The America First Committee favors a national advisory referendum in the event Congress is considering a declaration of war. It's only fair, it maintains, that the people who do the fighting and the paying have a voice in whether war is to be declared.

"If it (the referendum) delays matters a few days, it won't make any difference," declared Mr. Collins. "Military authorities have proved that we are in no danger, that we can't be invaded by any means now available."

Convoys, say the Firsters, are an "open invitation to war." But Mr. Collins admitted that he personally favors helping England if we have equipment to spare. He thinks it's pretty bad when troops on maneuvers in this country have to use wooden guns. He wouldn't have any troops go abroad, of course, declaring that if the America First Committee "can prevent one single boy from being killed in a foreign war, we will have accomplished a great deal."

Winchell Disliked

Mr. Collins, an advertising man who has served as treasurer of the Republic Club here, doesn't listen to Walter Winchell on the air or read his column in the paper. His opinion of Winchell, he said, is the "same as Pegler's."

As to the Fight for Freedom Committee, the A. F. chairman had nothing to say. It would be ridiculous, he said, for him to attack that group for its honest beliefs.

"Abuse," he said, "is no argument."

As long as the United States remains out of actual participation in the conflict, the America First Committee will keep plugging along, trying to keep the nation from becoming involved. But if Congress does declare war—then," said Mr. Collins, "we'll stop talking."

Jew-Baiting

Anti-Semitic Stickers in L. A.

ANONYMOUS ANTI-SEMITES and would-be terrorists are active as never before in Los Angeles today—fit advance publicity agents for appeasement Senator Burton K. Wheeler's America First Committee rally scheduled for Thursday night, October 2.

Like the rash of some loathsome disease are the stickers appearing on store fronts which carry the symbol of the "Shield of David," commonly known as the Jewish star, and the slogan "Ve Vant Var."

These stickers also are being circulated with leaflets announcing the Wheeler meeting and another advertising a "Lindbergh Anti-War Rally" held every Saturday night at the Embassy Auditorium. The latter leaflets lack the "union bug."

Right along with these is an anonymous letter entitled: ("Chain Letter to all USA. Send Five or More.)"

This declares, in part: "Millions of Americans are organizing for 'The Day of Judah' (the day we go to war); on that day Jews in America will be liquidated. A Jew dictatorship will never be tolerated by true Americans. Wake up. Gentile Americans."

And a crude, hand-printed missive addressed to the Los Angeles editor of The People's World states: "All Max Singer VFW Stooges, Communists and Jews Who Ask For 'Busted Heads' At the Wheeler Olympic Meeting Will Be Promptly Accommodated."—JACK YOUNG

John T. Flynn Says U. S. Is Approaching Fascism

Declares New Deal Parallels Italy's Policy

The United States is approaching, step by step, a Fascist system of government such as was first instituted in Italy, John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the America First Committee, said last night at Town Hall, 123 West Forty-third Street. Mr. Flynn spoke on "The Coming of Fascism in America," in the second of a series of four forum lectures on America's foreign policy.

Mr. Flynn drew a parallel between the New Deal administration's borrowing and spending policy and what he said was a similar method in Italy of creating "purchase power." He said that this New Deal step was followed by a system of government control over industry, similar to that in Italy, and more recently the addition of militarism and imperialism to the United States government's program puts the nation on a "four-fifths Fascist basis needing only a dictator to round out the picture."

Mr. Flynn digressed briefly several times during his hour's talk to assail Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy. At one point, where he mentioned the Nazi economic system, Mr. Flynn said: "Frank Knox doesn't know any more about economics than he knows about running the Navy." The remark drew applause from supporters in the audience.

All City-Owned Property to Be Refused Group

Retired Minister Here Asks Room Be Reserved

As far as the mayor and the city library board are concerned, the America First committee will have to look for a place other than the public library or any city-owned building in which to hold a meeting.

The America First committee, an isolationist organization having as its principal spokesmen Charles A. Lindbergh and United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler, has been denied the use of the assembly room of the central library, Miss Julia Ideson, city librarian, revealed Thursday.

Others to Be Denied

The same policy will be followed in regard to the use of any city-owned building or city facilities by the America First committee if further application is made, Mayor Neal Pickett said.

Miss Ideson said that Rev. Robert T. Small, 5215 Eigel, a retired Baptist minister, had applied for the use of the library building in behalf of the America First committee. The request was taken up by the library board and denied by a unanimous vote.

Political Meetings Out

"The board has a policy against the use of the library rooms for political meetings. The board seemed to be of the opinion that such a meeting would be of a political nature, so it could do nothing but abide by its policy," Miss Ideson said.

"The board felt that there were many other possible meeting places available, other than the library, and that the denial of the application did not mean banning the committee from meeting."

When told of the board's decision, Reverend Small indicated appeal to the city council to override the board, Miss Ideson said.

Mayor Informed of Effort

"He suggested that I refer the matter to the council, but I told him it would be more proper for him to make the appeal, if he preferred to do so, since he represented the group which was seeking the use of the library."

Mayor Pickett already had been informed of the effort to obtain the use of the library as a meeting place.

"Frankly, as far as I'm concerned, we won't let them have the use of any facilities," the mayor said bluntly. "If I am called on to vote, I'll vote against granting the use of any city property."

Reason 'Obvious'

The mayor was asked if he wished to give a reason for his decision.

"It's obvious," he answered.

The mayor said he understood that the America First committee planned on bringing one of its speakers to Houston Friday or Saturday for a public address, but did not know whether this speaker was to have been Lindbergh, Wheeler or someone else.

Others Endorse Denial

Other council members said they felt the same way as Mayor Pickett about denying the use of a public building.

"I'm not trying to abridge the constitutional guarantee of freedom of speech," one of the commissioners said. "I'm simply thinking about the public property which might be wrecked or damaged if we allowed such a meeting to be held in one of our buildings.

"If the committee wants to meet in a vacant lot or in a privately-owned building and obtains permission, let it go ahead."

FAIRBURY VETS OBJECT TO RALLY OF AMERICA 1ST

Keep Isolationists Out of Fairgrounds, Says Legion Post in Farm Area.

Fairbury, Ill., Oct. 3.—(Special to The Daily News.)—Rank and file members of John Joda Post No. 54, American Legion, today stood solidly on their decision to back the national organization's resolution for "unswerving support of our government's foreign policy" and for preparedness to "do the fighting outside of the United States" if necessary to defend the United States.

The decision to go along with the National Legion resolutions adopted at the recent Milwaukee convention, had been reached when the America First Committee made efforts to lease the fairgrounds here for a gathering Sunday afternoon. The post, which is located in an agricultural community and which draws a good part of its membership from farms, was responsible for America First promoters seeking a meeting site elsewhere.

The America First plans for a gathering here met with difficulties from the very start. The fairground board of 12 includes 10 Legionnaires and there was no hurry to allow the isolationist group to use the grounds, despite the bait that it would bring business into town. After a period of indecision, the board originally voted to permit the meeting to be held.

Asked to Rescind Action.

The rank and file of the post felt differently and a well-attended meeting of the ex-service men resulted in passage of a resolution asking the fair board to rescind its action. In the meantime, the meeting's arrangement committee had been informed of the tenor of the community and was urged to hold its plans in abeyance, pending further advice.

The fair board met again last Friday to consider the request of the Legion post, and voted to stick by its original decision. But at the same time, according to statements from Legion sources here, the board took no steps to inform the American Firsters that they could go ahead.

As a result, confusion developed as to just where the meeting scheduled for Sunday will be held. A mass of publicity sent out by the America First Committee office in Chicago stated that the gathering would be held in Cissna Park, Iroquois County. The Watseka Daily Times ran two stories to that effect before being informed by an irate reader that the meeting was to be held at Hoopeston, Vermilion County.

Last-Minute Shift Explained.

The explanation for the last-minute shift to Hoopeston, given by American Firsters, is that that location offers more conveniences and can handle a larger crowd than Cissna Park.

In any event, Senator Gerald P. Nye and former Congressman Henry C. Luckey of Nebraska are scheduled to speak at Hoopeston and not at Fairbury—due to acceptance by rank-and-file Legionnaires here of the Milwaukee convention resolutions for "unswerving support" of the American government in its foreign policy.

Lincoln, Oct. 2.

If the two dozen or so University of Nebraska students who turned out for the initial meeting of the university America First committee at the Student Union Thursday evening is a fair sample, the Nebraska campus could hardly be called a hotbed of isolationism.

The students formed roughly a third of the audience which filled two parlors in the Union building; the rest were townspeople, at least a share of whom seemed quite well disposed toward the sentiments expressed. But the collegians were for the most part vocally critical of the America First point of view or were at least backing up their spokesmen.

Former Congressman

Just organized on the campus, the group had at the speakers' table Stanley Lowe, university sophomore from Alma, organizer and acting chairman of the campus group; former Congressman Henry C. Luckey of Lincoln, principal speaker of the evening; his grandson, Luckey Paul, university student; and Miss Marian Axford, Nebraska Wesleyan university student and former youth director for Lincoln's Trinity Methodist church.

Lowe, who worked this summer at the America First headquarters in Denver, was introduced by Paul as a student so interested in the movement he "spurned the luxury of coming home by streamlined train to hitchhike back to Nebraska, taking a public opinion poll en route to see what people here thought of the war."

Lowe pointed out he was taking ROTC drill at the university, was willing to bear arms against an invader. He said he was opposed to the minority groups working to create hatred, draw the United States into war and break down the system of democratic government.

'Few Favor War'

Former Congressman Luckey said "Heck, no, we are not in the war so long as the Constitution of the United States stands." He declared "only a small portion of our people, less than 20 per cent, is egging us on to save democracy and establish the four freedoms all over the world."

"If we hadn't gotten into the first world war," Luckey charged, "nazism or fascism wouldn't have happened." He cited the "terrible injustices" of the treaty of Versailles on Germany and the attitude of England toward war debt payment and other matters as a basis.

Improper Flag Display

Luckey stressed the terrible cost that participation in a European war would mean, charged such participation would only serve to make a few "international financiers" rich. He gave his speech a "sudden death" touch by discussing the number of coffins alleged by the war department to have been ordered by the war department. He said they would be "bundles from Europe marked C. O. D." In the last war, he said, staring at a bundles for Britain pin worn by this reporter, bundles of clothing and comforts destined for European sufferers wound up by being sold in Alaska.

Blasting by students and townspeople started when the meeting was thrown open to discussion. One student got a hand when he suggested that if the group wanted to have the large American flag on the platform they might at least have placed and arranged it according to traditional and proper standards.

Asked if the America First group on campus agreed with the anti-Jewish statements made by Charles Lindbergh in Des Moines recently, Luckey Paul declared "We do not have to defend or apologize for a man like Col. Lindbergh," He added that Lindbergh's references to the Jews had been "twisted" by the press, "which has lied and misled you on those statements," declared this local group stood for all America First principles.

Paul flapped [illegible] refused to answer [illegible] question regarding aid to [illegible] Discussion of anti-Semi[illegible] the group, started by ques[illegible] garding the Lindbergh s[illegible] found Paul abruptly cutt[illegible] members of the audien[illegible] started to rap the Lone[illegible] statements. Finally he char[illegible] racial question had been[illegible] by "Dear, good, beloved[illegible] Willkie in the senate inves[illegible] of movie propaganda."

Can Sanction Prejud[illegible]

Miss Axford, whose br[illegible] was based principally upo[illegible] en's opposition to war and [illegible] for them to use their influence to keep America out of it, stood up at that point to say she "agrees with about 90 per cent of what Col. Lindbergh stands for, but I cannot go along with him regarding the matter of racial prejudice and intolerance," while young Paul buried his head and moaned, apparently over this sudden outburst of dissension in the ranks.

Paul, queried on Germany's aims on this side of the Atlantic as discussed in der fuehrer's "Mein Kampf," responded that he knew nothing about the book and wasn't interested and furthermore that "Hitler and Mein Kampf have nothing to do with this discussion."

During the forum petitions bearing resolutions that the neutrality act be retained in its present form and voicing approval of the aims of the America First committee were passed through the crowd.

Few Signers

Only petition which seemed to be signed got three signatures. One was "Adolf Hitler," another, on the illegible side, looked like "F. H. Story," and the third was "Mrs. Jas. B. Beltzer."

At the end of the meeting, which was cut off when the discussion seemed about to get too hot to handle by the speakers' panel, invitations were extended to the audience to come to other meetings in the future and America First buttons and literature were offered. But even then, when things quieted carefully, not one word against Hitler and his nazis was heard.

AMERICA FIRST SET FOR RALLY AT HOOPESTON

Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], and former Congressman Henry C. Luckey of Nebrasks will leave Chicago tomorrow morning for the big America First farm rally during the afternoon in MacFerrin park at Hoopeston, Ill. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman of America First, and her staff.

En route by automobile, the party will stop for a luncheon with officials of the Kankakee chapter of the committee at the Kankakee hotel. After the farm rally an old time pig roast will be held in the park grounds.

The rally will be the first concerted efforts of America First leaders to speak directly to farmers. Former Congressman Luckey was reared on a Nebraska farm and still owns and manages several farms. Sen. Nye's topic will be "Minding Our Own Business."

The senator declared there is a fear psychosis in the country today, much like that which dictators abroad promote among their subjects.

"People are afraid the administration at Washingon will punish them if they speak out," he declared. "The president tells us there is freedom of religion in Russia. There is no freedom of speech, freedom of assemblage, or freedom of religion anywhere in Russia."

"There is only freedom from religion there," he said. "And yet they want to send American boys over there to fight a battle for freedom. The place to fight for the four freedoms are in Oklahoma City, in Seattle, in Atlanta, and—yes—in your own San Diego.

'Reds With Willkie'

"They used to say our meetings were filled with Communists, Nazis and Fascists. Now the Communists are mostly with Willkie."

Hitler rules Germany by fear, the senator declared, as he cried shame upon those who say he is for Hitler because he is for keeping this nation out of war.

"And speaking of freedom from want," he went on: "Is there freedom from want in the slums of London? In India? In Hongkong? If we are going to fight for freedom from want, let us fight for it right here in the United States."

Freedom Threatened

The present administration and the "war mongers" are "trying to stamp out freedom of speech right here in the United States, but they are not going to stop me," he shouted. "I'm going to point out the deceit of those who say that every measure leading us down the road to war is a defense measure.

"I say to the war mongers: Why don't you have the courage to come before the congress and ask for war in the honest, American way provided by the constitution? But they won't do it because the American people will refuse to vote for a declaration of war. The president knows this and the war mongers know it."

Columnist Rapped

He mentioned the name of Dorothy Thompson, newspaper columnist, as a war monger and when a wave of boos followed, he urged the audience not to boo those who were not present.

"Boo me if you want," he shouted, but he didn't get any boos.

Roosevelt and Willkie had the same ideas before the last election, Wheeler charged.

"They have the same ideas now and they have deceived the American people," he declared. "Never before has the United States faced so serious a condition of affairs as exists in Washington today. I fear an American fuehrer here in this country. They have debauched some labor leaders, some veteran leaders and some farm organizations. But thank heaven they can't debauch the women."

He denied he hated Roosevelt.

Hate on Other Side

"If there is any hate it is on the other side," he declared. "I hate things, not persons. "And if there has been intolerance it has been on the other side."

He read what he said were reports sent to England about American public men, in which it was stated that America is now the center of the war effort.

"Our American navy is the greatest in the world and can defend the the United States against any nation or combination of nations in the world," he said. "Bombers haven't narrowed the oceans, they've widened them. Any army or navy officer will tell you, if he dares speak, that the bombers you are turning out here in San Diego can make this country invulnerable to invasion. Remember that the British had to pull out of Norway because their navy was being bombed."

"Is this our war over in Europe?" he asked.

"No, no, no!" cried the crowd.

Urges Enlistment

"Well, if anyone thinks it is our war he can go up to Canada and enlist. The president says they'll have his blessing. They'll have mine, too. I'd like to see the president give his blessing and send Stimson and Knox over to England."

Wheeler asserted this is an economic war, and that he'd like to see England win it. He charged the story of 25 years ago is being repeated, and that waves of British propaganda are washing all over the nation.

"They've got us again right on the brink of war," he said. "But if you continue to stand firm no president nor congress will dare to go to war."

Huge

Speaking of ... ditures, he said ... debt-load that ... farmers and lit... to pay off.

"And I'm goin... to the two who voted against the permit," the judge went on.

Flowers, Simpson Hit

"There is Al Flowers, San Diego's 'Little Flower.' I don't know where he was born. Then There was Mr. Simpson—I don't know his first name—born, God help us, in Ireland."

Frank O'Farrell, of the America First committee, under auspices of which Wheeler spoke, charged the federal bureau of investigation had "tapped our wires and looked over our membership lists looking for Communists."

Roosevelt Creating Fear of Conquest, Meeting Is Told

Non-Interventionist Representative Is Heard by America First Unit

Declaring that Hitler could not conquer the Americas if the Western Hemisphere is adequately defended, Representative Hill, Democrat, of Washington expressed the view last night that the President, during the past few months had been trying to create fear of such a conquest in the minds of the American people. Addressing a meeting of the America First Committee, he opposed the new lease-lend appropriation and urged that this money should be used instead to strengthen our air force and help solve domestic problems.

Last night's meeting, held at the Friends Meeting House, 2111 Florida avenue N.W., was attended by about 100 persons. Wager S. Brown presided and introduced Mr. Hill, author of a war referendum resolution and a member of the non-interventionist group in Congress.

Calls for Test of Declaration.

Charging that the President had broken his campaign promises by taking the country nearer a participation in the European war, Mr. Hill asserted that there could be no war without a declaration to that effect by Congress.

"If President Roosevelt believes in democracy, let him put that question up to Congress," he declared.

In opposing the foreign policies of the administration, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had evidenced "physical and moral courage of the highest order," Representative Hill said, and predicted that in the near future, perhaps within a year, he will be recognized as "the greatest American of all." Mention of Col. Lindbergh evoked loud applause.

Opposes Aid to Russia.

The Roosevelt-Churchill meeting at sea was "unconstitutional and unauthorized," Representative Hill asserted. He strongly opposed the inclusion of Soviet Russia in the lease-lend program." Continuing, he criticised the President's recent statement that the Soviet constitution guarantees religious freedom. "We all know it is a camouflage," he said.

"Let us stay in America and guarantee the four freedoms here," he said. "I don't believe that Hitler has any intention of trying to conquer the Western Hemisphere."

Following his address, Mr. Hill answered questions from individual members of his audience.

Isolationism Still Popular, Rep. Hill Says

Alliance With Reds Foolish, 150 Told at America First Rally

"Popular enthusiasm for nonintervention in the European war is not dying out in this country as some quarters claim—and will not die out as long as the America First Committee exists," Representative Knute Hill (R.), of Washington, declared last night at a meeting of the Washington chapter of the America First Committee.

Approximately 150 persons gathered at the Friends Meeting House, 2111 Florida Ave. NW., to hear the address.

Leads Isolationists

Representative Hill, who is serving his fifth term in Congress as a Progressive Democrat, has made numerous antiwar speeches for the committee throughout the country and has been a leader of the nonintervention ist group in Congress. The subject of his talk last night was "Why Another Lend-Lease Act?"

Declaring it foolish to think ca[n] fight for democracy with c[om]munism as an ally, Hill sai[d] w[as] illogical to fight on the s[ide] of the Stalin dictatorship to [o]uer other existing dictatorsh[ips]

Hitler and Stalin are notori[ous] as promise breakers, Hill decla[red] and since the last campaign Pr[esi]dent Roosevelt assumed the s[ame] status.

Explaining the America Fir[st] Committee's stand on the criticis[m] of the Administrationn, Hill s[aid] a citizen could be loyal to [the] government and still criticize t[he] administration when he did n[ot] believe that it was doing was rig[ht]

Sees Failure in Europe

Lending money for the pres[er]vation of democracy in Euro[pe] that does not exist is a farce a[nd] waste, he said, and it would [be] better to spend the billio[ns] going for that purpose to t[he] building up of defenses for t[he] Western Hemisphere rather tha[n] a war of aggression in Europe.

"It is far more important to d[e]fend the four freedoms in th[e] United States than attempting [it] in Europe where we, as an ind[i]vidual nation, would meet wit[h] failure."

Representative Hill was intro[du]ced by W. S. Brown, chairma[n] of the Montgomery, Md., Count[y] Committee, a subchapter of th[e] America First Committee of Wash[ington].

Wood Calls Ship Arming Seamen's Death License

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting chairman of the America First Committee, said last night that President Roosevelt's message to Congress urging revision of the Neutrality Act to permit arming of American merchant vessels, was like "asking Congress to issue an engraved drowning license to American seamen."

Gen. Wood added in a statement that the President's proposal would mean "that American ships will be sunk, American lives lost—and that the country will be led into war on a wave of hysteria just as it was in 1917."

The America First Committee, Gen. Wood said, "will make this the occasion for its most vigorous drive," and declared that "this bold attempt to inflame America for war must be answered in no uncertain terms by Congress and the American people."

Gen. Wood contended that the President realized that the United States would never go to war while the neutrality law stood and that the only reason for asking its repeal was "the war party's need for a series of incendiary incidents."

O. K. Armstrong Plans Flying Trip Abroad To Get Interviews

Arming 1st Committee File

Springfield's O. K. Armstrong will be on his way to Europe to secure material for magazine articles just as soon as he can make arrangements for passports, probably before November 1, he said today.

Armstrong plans to go to England and France with the backing of publishers, studying certain definite phases of wartime life and activity there, and interviewing such celebrities as Anthony Eden and Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

Getting his passport is the main problem in the Springfield Legionnaire's way at present, but he believes passport difficulties will cause only delay, and not cancellation of his plans. When he has the passport, Armstrong will head for England, going to Lisbon either by clipper or by neutral steamer, and from there by air.

British press service representatives in this country have promised him thoroughgoing cooperation in his interviews, which will deal with such subjects as Britain's independent air force, how the British solved the priorities problem, and Eden's requirements for a peace, he said.

In France he plans to study effects of the war on the present generation of French children, and to see how the American cemeteries there have come through this war. He will be going over the same territory he saw as a welfare worker in 1919 and 1920 and revisited in 1937 when the Leegionaires met.

Since leaving the America First committee late in July, he has devoted himself almost entirely to writing. He went on a 4000-mile tour through Fort Leonard Wood, Fort Knox, Ky., Fort Benning, Ga., and other encampments recently to write an article on "How Our Soldier Boys are Fed and Clothed." The story will appear in an early issue of the Country Gentleman.

The America First Committee, which in Washington leads the fight against President Roosevelt's foreign policies, is on the boom financially. It moved yesterday from headquarters in an old red brick residence at 126 C street N.E. to an office costing approximately four times as much in monthly rental.

New headquarters are at 1712 Connecticut avenue N.W., where it was announced that each day some prominent person will be assigned as "hostess" or "host" to welcome new members. A staff of six workers, headed by Miss Isabel French, manager, will be on full-time duty to conduct the office as if it were "an election campaign headquarters."

While the migration was still in progress, Miss French issued a complaint to reporters:

"Our real problem here is fear of the administration," she said. For this reason the isolationist committee cannot reveal to newspapers who its members are or how much they contribute, she declared. Government job holders might be imperiled, she declared, if publicity were given.

Open House Tuesday.

"It would be awfully interesting to know how close to the administration some of our members are—awfully interesting," she said.

At 8:30 p.m. Tuesday an open house will be held at the new headquarters. Invited are approximately 30 Senators who are classified as non-interventionist, and their wives. Among those expected to attend are William R. Castle, former Undersecretary of State, and Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, Miss French said.

By then the items which were being moved yesterday will have been properly arranged—desks, typewriters, flags, banners, posters and supplies of franked Congressional envelopes.

This local chapter of America First receives no financial support from the national organization in Chicago, headed by Gen. Robert E. Wood, former quartermaster general of the Army, nor do any local members pay dues, Miss French said.

Supported by Contributions.

"We are supported by contributions, and sometimes our bank balance is awfully low," she reported. She declined to say whether committee finances are now at their peak. The lease on the new office is on a month-to-month basis.

"People are always asking how we are financed," commented Miss French, "as if we were paid by the German government. As a matter of fact, our books are open to the authorities, if they want to examine them."

Mrs. Bennett Champ Clark, acting chairman of the committee and wife of the Missouri Senator, telephoned J. Edgar Hoover and offered to let him send a Federal Bureau of Investigation man to inspect America First records, Miss French said. Nothing ever came of it, she added.

The office manager said the most exciting event since the old office was set up May 31 occurred when United States marshals descended on the place last month. They seized 10 mail bags wanted by the grand jury investigating activities of alleged Nazi agents.

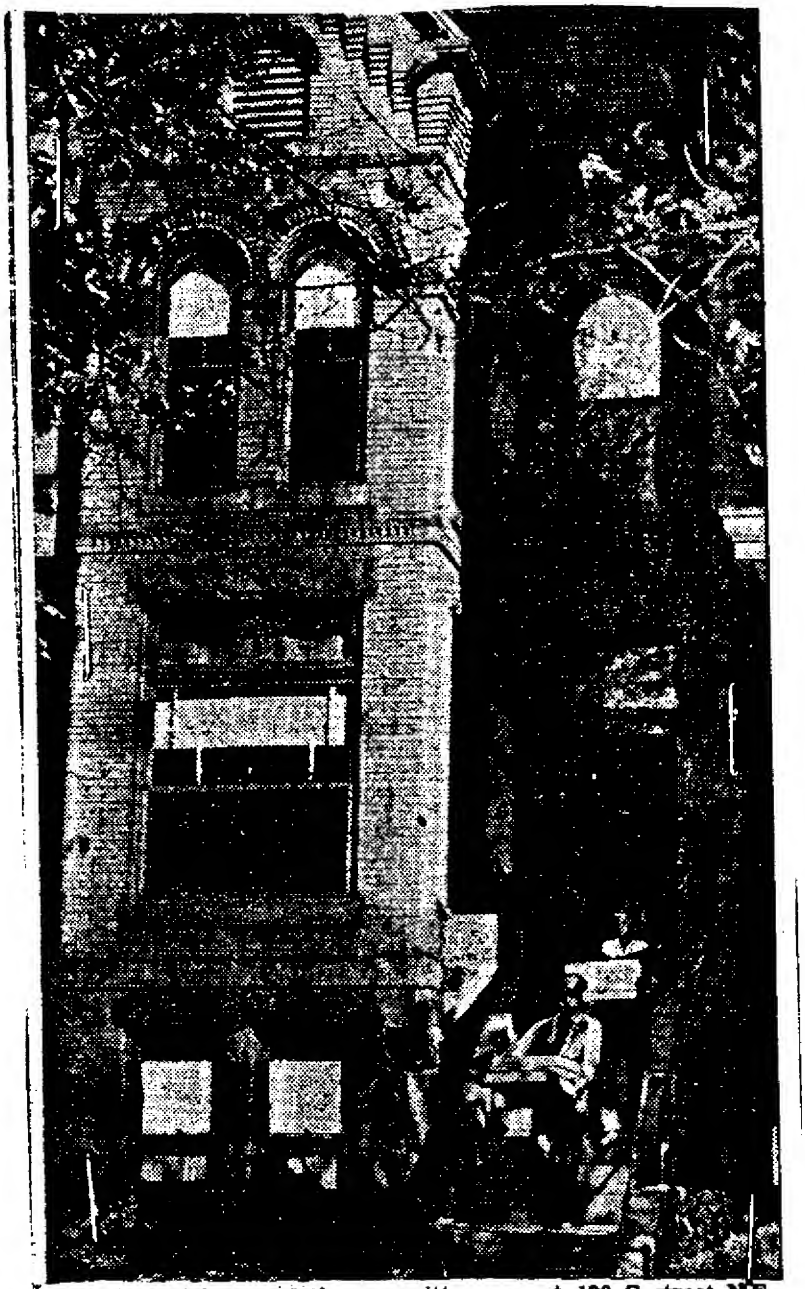
The bags, containing franked congressional envelopes and speeches, had been sent from the office of Prescott Dennett, secretary of Make Europe Pay War Debts Committee, a few hours after he was summoned before the grand jury, the Justice Department reported. The America First Committee accepted the bags, but Mrs. Clark later told reporters her staff had not known who had sent them.

Broadcast Parties Held.

In their old quarters local members arranged frequent broadcast parties, gathering to hear speeches in all parts of the country by Charles A. Lindbergh and other non-interventionist leaders. From this office, also, organization was completed for chapters in Montgomery County, Md., and Arlington County, Va.

The advantage of the old location was that it was near Capitol Hill, with every opportunity for "liaison work" with Senators and Representatives, according to Miss French. But it was too small and uncomfortable for local members, most of whom had to travel from homes in the Northwest section, she said.

America First will continue to hold weekly discussions at the Friends Meeting House, 2111 Florida avenue N.W. On October 25 it will inaugurate bimonthly luncheons at the Raleigh Hotel, with John Cudahy, former Ambassador to Belgium, invited to be the first speaker.



The old home of the committee was at 126 C street N.E., formerly a residence. —Star Staff Photos.

AMERICA FIRST COMMITTEE ADDS TEN NOTABLES

W. L. Hutcheson, Official of AFL, New Member.

Ten more prominent citizens have been added to the national committee of the America First committee. This was announced yesterday by Gen. Robert E. Wood, national chairman, as the committee prepared to open a "most vigorous" campaign against any changes in the neutrality law.

The new members represent several diverse fields of endeavor—labor, law, sports, public office, and literature.

One of the most significant appointments is that of William L. Hutcheson of Indianapolis, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor and general president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. Hutcheson was a member of the war labor board from 1917 to 1919 and was in charge of the labor division of the national Republican party in 1932 and 1936. He is considered one of the most respected spokesmen of labor.

Says Group Is Strengthened.

In announcing the additions of Hutcheson and the other new national committee members, Gen. Wood said:

"We are glad to welcome these distinguished new committee members, who will add greatly to our strength during the coming critical weeks."

Following are the other new members:

Carl Snavely, Ithaca, N. Y., noted football coach at Cornell university and coach of the All-Star football team of 1941.

Isaac Pennypacker, Philadelphia, Pa., prominent member of the Pennsylvania bar.

Otto A. Case, treasurer of the state of Washington.

Harold L. Stuart, president of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago.

Samuel Hopkins Adams, Auburn, N. Y., author and scenarist, and member of the National Conference of Charities and of the executive committee of the National Consumers' league.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, Albuquerque, N. M., former congresswoman, former Republican national committeewoman, and member of the Women's Trade Union league and the American Association for Labor Legislation.

Dr. Clarence Manion, South Bend, Ind., dean of the college of law of Notre Dame university.

Edwin S. Webster Jr., New York City, senior partner of Kidder, Peabody & Co.

Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt Fitz Simons, Republican national committeewoman for Rhode Island and holder of the Victory medal of the Society of Social Sciences for distinguished services in connection with the Red Cross in 1919.

Vows Hard Fight on Amendments.

The 10 new members give the America First national committee its greatest strength since the organization was founded. Gen. Wood declared that the committee now will dig in harder than ever to battle the changes in the neutrality act as proposed by President Roosevelt.

"The President's message, which urges that American ships be sent into the war zones of the North Atlantic, squarely presents the issue of war or peace," he said. "Those who support this policy know full well that it will result in the sinking of American ships and the loss of American lives, and that such incidents will inevitably be followed by full participation in the war, just as in 1917.

"The President is asking congress to issue an engraved drowning license to American seamen. Accordingly, the America First committee will leave no stone unturned to defeat this final bid of the war minority. All our man power and all our energies will be thrown into the fight. The addition of the new committee members gives us increased strength in every corner of the country."

Nye Backs Lindy Semitism Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R., N. D.), endorsed the statement of Charles A. Lindbergh that the United States is being led into war by the efforts of Jews, the British and the Roosevelt Administration, in a speech at an America First Committee rally last night. He denied that he, Mr. Lindbergh, Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), or the America First Committee were anti-semitic.

America First Group Here Meets 1st Time

The America First Committee of Washington held its initial meeting last night in its new headquarters at 1712 Connecticut Avenue with several hundred persons present.

Guest speaker, Representative Joshua L. Johns (Republican), of Wisconsin, told the meeting, "If we could just keep the people still that have the say-so in this country we could stay out of this war."

Saying that the huge Congressional appropriations, aluminum collections and such things were not needed but were only tools to arouse the public to a war fever, Representative Johns declared:

"Don't get excited about this and just keep your heads, because if you lose it we will be in the war."

Two former congressmen, Henry C. Luckey, of Wisconsin and Samuel Pettengill, of Indiana, also spoke.

Dr. Linn F. Cooper, vice chairman of the local group, said: "We have had too many broken campaign promises. We must stop that. We must get back to simple virtues."

He declared the country must be aroused, then the "deceit, the double-crossing, the humbug" to which we are now being subjected will end and the people of the country will tell their elected representatives in Washington "that we expect to know what's going on and we expect to find out."

Miss Isabel French, secretary of the local group, conducted the meeting. She introduced Mrs. D. Worth Clark, wife of the Senator from Idaho, and Mrs. Hamilton Fish, wife of the Representative from New York, among others.

Representatives from America First chapters in Baltimore, Philadelphia and Minnesota were introduced.

America First HarborsNazis, Legion Says

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 16 (AP)—The American Legion charged today that German Bundists and other Nazi agents have invaded many California Chapters of the America First Committee and are molding their policies.

Ben S. Beery, Legion Americanism chairman, testified before the State Legislative Committee Investigating Un-American Activities, that there are more than 100 active Nazi agents and speakers in California.

The Legion report charged:

That notorious subversivists hold high offices in the America First organization and that many more are enthusiastic members;

That America First exchanged speakers with organizations identified by the Legion as channels of subversive activities. Among such groups the committee named the Hughes League to Save America First, Ellis O. Jones' National Copperheads and the American Guards, directed by Benjamin Franklin Ballard, chairman of the Down Town Chapter of the America First Committee in Los Angeles;

That Bundists are spending considerable funds to distribute America First literature.

AMERICA FIRST GROUP ASSAILED

Created Disloyalty Toward Government, Declares Mrs. Whitehurst

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, said today that the America First group unintentionally has created disloyalty toward the government and apathy toward the defense program.

At a press conference, she urged women to awaken from their apathy, engendered by long years in work for peace, and take responsibility in seeing that this country is strongly prepared for whatever might come.

She has just returned from a seven-state midwestern tour, "a fighting crusade to go after the isolationists," as she described it, and said she found that Senator Wheeler of Montana and Charles A. Lindbergh are "creating chaotic thinking by their speeches."

"I have heard many remarks of disloyalty toward our government and our leaders, following radio speeches by Senator Wheeler and Mr. Lindbergh," she said and continued:

"I cannot think that they intended to divert our people from their allegiance to our form of government and our elected leaders, but they did. Isolationists should be able to air their views without criticizing and belittling those in power and without stirring up racial hatreds."

Mrs. Whitehurst said that in her addresses to state federation metings she appealed to "isolationists" to scrutinize their messages and delete those passages that are creating distrust of the government. She said her audiences' response was chilly.

She emphasized that she did not contend the isolationists have attempted to convice people that a national defense program wasn't necessary. But in their arguments for America First they have created chaotic thinking to the extent that there is belief that such a program isn't necessary.

As a result of her visits to Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, Utah, Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming, she ascribed isolationist strength to several reasons—a midwestern feeling of safety, lack of knowledge of the defense program, partisanship and hatred of the New Deal, fear of British propaganda and influence of America First.

Asks U. S. Probe Of America First

Jewish Congress Meets With Other Groups to Demand an Investigation

A Congressional investigation of America First on the ground that it is actively supported by the German-American Bund has been asked by the American Jewish Congress. Meeting in San Francisco with representatives from the Committee to Defend America, the AFL, the California State Federation of Labor and the German-American League for Democracy, the Congress adopted the following resolution:

"The task of defeating Hitlerism calls for a united American people. The leaders of the American First Committee have deliberately fomented disunity by creating racial antagonisms, and by introducing Hitler techniques. The German-American Bund and other notorious Fascist groups have been actively supporting the America First Committee. Therefore, be it resolved that the conference urges an immediate Congressional investigation of the America First Committee."

Copies of the resolution were sent to FDR and California Congressmen.

Louis J. Taber, the 63-year-old master of the National Grange, is under fire, too. Taber, a member of the National Committee of America First, is being pressed for an explanation of how he can belong to America First and at the same time be a member of FDR's farm defense committee, to which he was appointed because of his leadership of the Grange.

Facts in Review, a monthly publication of Farm Research, 39 Cortlandt St., points out in its current issue that "farmers everywhere have rallied with enthusiasm to the call for abundant farm production to defend America," but America First's leaders "now seek to divide the American people."

Clubwoman's Report

The matter probably will come to a head when the Grange meets next month to celebrate its 75th anniversary at Worcester, Mass.

Ickes Urges Probe Of America First Group by Congress

Now Nazi Organization, Interior Head Says In Chicago Speech

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Declaring that America should not be content merely to play the role of arsenal of democracy, Harold L. Ickes asserted last night that the time had arrived when "we must decide which is our side and take our stand irrevocably and determinedly on it."

Mr. Ickes also urged a congressional investigation of the America First Committee, which has opposed the President's foreign policy, calling it a Nazi organization.

"We have tried to put off the evil day of decision by pretending that no evil lies in wait for us, or that, if lying in wait, we can fend it off by some of our customary wishful thinking," the Interior Secretary said in an address at the Sinai Temple Forum. "But who, if he can read and think honestly and objectively, longer doubts that the time for our final decision is here. We must face the issue."

Mr. Ickes did not say directly whether he referred to the issue of war or peace, but declared "we must throw overboard the absurd idea that an all-out effort to preserve democracy can go skipping under the trees, hand in hand with 'business as usual'." He also called for repeal of the "obsolete and uniwse" Neutrality Act.

Blames Profiteers, Strikers.

Contending that this country's armament effort had been far short of needs, Mr. Ickes laid much of the responsibility on "our appeasers and our defeatists," on businessmen interested chiefly in profits and on workers unwilling to forego strikes.

He recalled the Nazi attack on Yugoslavia and Greece and this country's inability to send substantial aid to those nations.

"We had spent too much time wool gathering," he said. "Too long had America listened to its Lindberghs, its Gen. Woods, its Chicago Tribunes and its Burton Wheelers."

His reference, in addition to the Chicago newspaper, was to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Gen. Robert E. Wood of Chicago and the senior Senator from Montana. All have criticized the administration's foreign policy.

Mr. Ickes went on to recall that many had opposed aid to Russia, and said: "How I was denounced when, as petroleum co-ordinator, I sent some American tankers loaded with aviation gasoline to the Russians. Why, in no time at all, they had a Senate committee on my trail, a carefully chosen committee intent upon believing only such facts as it wanted to believe."

Group Found No Shortage.

(A Senate investigating committee concluded after hearings that there was no prospect of a real gasoline shortage in Eastern seaboard States and no need for restrictions imposed by Mr. Ickes on gasoline sales.)

A congressional investigation which should be made, Mr. Ickes said, was one of the America First Committee.

When organized, he declared, this group included "some sincere but misguided Americans" but today "it is a tight little Nazi organization that follows the party line as laid down in Berlin."

"Some people of good intentions but of little understanding," he added, "have been kept out as window-dressing. The merely decoys."

America First Group Asks Showdown on War Issue

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The America First Committee asked President Roosevelt last night to settle the issue of peace or war by submitting to Congress "a resolution for the declaration of a state of war between the United States and the German Reich."

The organization, in an open letter to the White House, served notice that it would vigorously oppose adoption of such a resolution, but maintained that "the integrity of this Nation and loyalty to the Constitution demand that the decision between peace or war now be made by Congress."

In releasing copies of the message, Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting chairman of the group opposing American participation in the conflict abroad, stated that the proposed amendment to the Neutrality Act to permit United States merchant ships to enter war zones would make American entry into the war inevitable. He contended that the proposal marked the culmination of "the studied program to put us into war * * * without stating the issue in an honest, straightforward way."

Franked Cards Found Burned

Justice Department Gets New Evidence

Justice Department special prosecutors last night were studying charred bits of alleged franked material said to have been found in an alley just before midnight behind headquarters of the America First Committee headquarters at 1712 Connecticut Ave. NW.

The material was placed in the hands of William Maloney, of the Justice Department, who has been presenting the Government's case before a grand jury here investigating alleged Nazi propaganda in the United States. Maloney today will ask subpoenas calling for production before the jury of the ashes of the material allegedly burned.

It was reported approximately 200 pieces of franked mail were burned. Officials of the America First Committee expressed amazement when informed of the reported destruction of the mail.

The grand jury has demanded production in evidence of 12 bags of such franked material—speeches of isolationist members of Congress and similar matter. Of these, only 10 bags thus far have been produced.

FROM OUT OF "MEIN KAMPF"--THAT IS WHERE "AMERICA FIRST" SPOKESMEN LEARN THEIR ABC's OF RACE HATRED, TREACHERY

By Art Shields

If you trace America First Committee propaganda to its source you run into "Mein Kampf" and Hitler's speeches.

If you look up the name of Henry Ford, "America First" big collaborator, you find him hailed in "Mein Kampf" as Hitler's "great" American, the foe of the Jews.

If you check on General Wood, the chairman and dictator of the appeasement organization, you discover Hitler using the general's statements to justify Nazi aggression.

What is "Mein Kampf"? It is the textbook on Nazi propaganda and tactics, which Hitler wrote while a prisoner in the fortress of Landsberg, after the failure of the Munich putsch of 1923.

APT PUPILS

There Hitler lays down his plans for nazifying the world by dividing his enemies and confusing the people.

America-Firsters have digested these writings. Comparisons between America First propaganda and "Mein Kampf" are startling. Paragraphs from Lindbergh's speeches read like English translations of the Hitler text and Senator Burton K. Wheeler's recent incitement to anti-Semitism is quite in the spirit of the Nazi master.

Some one has said that if you read "Mein Kampf" you can tell what Hitler will do next. You also have a good idea what America Firsters will say.

BIGGER AND BIGGER LIES

The cracks which Wheeler, Nye, Clark and Lindbergh have made against "Jewish" movies in America shows what apt pupils they are of the chief Nazi propagandist.

Hitler, Wheeler, Nye, Clark, Lindbergh and their fellows decry the people. Hitler told his followers in "Mein Kampf" that the bigger the lie the more effective it became. He asserted at another place ("Mein Kampf," Page 234, English edition) that the "masses receptive ability is only limited, their understanding is small, but their forgetfulness is great. As a consequence of these facts, all effective propaganda has to attach itself to a few points. . . ."

And one of the chief of these "points" is the anti-Semitism, which Senator Wheeler revealed in his talk of a "Jewish" war with an English journalist last week. This follows the pattern set by Hitler, who told his American followers in "Mein Kampf" (Page 930, English edition) to blame the American Jews for their economic troubles.

Hitler told Nazi organizers in "Mein Kampf" (Page 848) to "take account of the weakness and the bestiality" of men.

And in the spirit of this foul advice his follower Lindbergh hinted of coming pogroms against the Jewish people, when he said at Des Moines that the Jews of this country would be the "first to suffer" in a war against Germany. This Lindbergh threat was lifted from Hitler's assertion, in the January 30, 1939 Reichstag speech, that the next world war would bring the "annihilation of the Jewish race in Europe" (Page 585, "The New Order").

FORD PRECEDES HITLER

It must not be forgotten, however, that Hitler did not invent the smokescreen of anti-Semitism.

Henry Ford was his tutor in that.

"Mein Kampf" drew heavily from Ford's well of anti-Semitism. Hitler borrowed Ford's fable of a world Jewish conspiracy, related in the forged "Protocols of Zion," which the Dearborn Independent borrowed in turn from the literature of the Tsarist political police.

Whole paragraphs of "Mein Kampf" are lifted from the Dearborn Independent, with very little change. One such borrowing from Ford charges that "every year the [American] Jews manage to become the controlling factors of the labor power of a people of 120,000,000 . . ." (See Page 390 of "Mein Kampf").

Hitler follows this statement with an eulogy of Ford.

HITLER'S GREAT MAN

Ford, says the Nazi world leader, is the "one great man" in America, who still "holds out" against the Jews.

The Ford-Nazi friendship, as history well knows, has continued ever since. Ford's plants became bases of Nazi activities. His chemist, Fritz Kuhn, organized the first pre-Bundist organizaton in Detroit, while still in Ford's employ. A defendant in the current Nazi spy trial in Brooklyn is Edmund C. Heine, former manager of Ford's plant at Cologne, Germany.

While a Nazi Consul was pinning a German medal on Ford in 1938 the Bundist bookshops in America were still selling "International Jew." Nazi propagandists in Latin America tribute the Spanish edition same source book of anti-ism today and the new "PM" last Tuesday reprod cover of a special Ku Kl edition, with credit lines g Ford's Dearborn Independe

General Wood, the chi peasement SS man in A has a special Nazi distinct fuehrer used Wood in h sian-invasion proclamat June 22 to justify his war the world. After saying th many, Italy and Japan we ed in "self protection," turned to Wood for sup asserting that:

". . . As early as 193 Minister Churchill, accor statement by the Americ eral Wood before a comm the House of Representat clared Germany was one becoming too powerful a therefore be destroyed." (978 of "The New Order"

LaGuardia Asked To Bar Meeting Of 'America First'

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—Declaring that violence and bloodshed would result from the America First Committee rally scheduled for Madison Square Garden Thursday night, three civic groups today appealed to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia to stop "this outrageous meeting from occurring."

A telegram signed by Dr. C. S. Weiss, editor of Uncle Sam's Digest; Samuel Nieman, president of the Sons of Liberty, and Joseph Goldsmith, president of the Taxpayers Union of New York City, added that "observers at other meetings of America First groups found in the audience notorious frontists, Nazis, hate-breeders and Fascists, also traitors to our country."

Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat), of Montana, and John Cudahy, former Ambassador to Belgium, are to speak at the rally.

CAPITOL STUFF

CAPITOL STUFF

By JOHN O'DONNELL AND DORIS FLEESON

Hollywood salaries that the Government's famous "dollar-a-year" men are still drawing down from the concerns they left behind them to give their all to Uncle Sam are about to receive attention from the Truman committee investigating national defense.

According to information reaching the Senators, only a very few of OPM's business recruits followed the example of their chief, William S. Knudsen, and cut the pocketbook nerve connecting them with their private business when they took the President's dollar. Senator Truman and his associates are inclined to uphold the Knudsen standard. Anyway they have decided to investigate.

Among those whom the "dollar-a-year" situation has given a slight headache is that man of many oil-and-egg woes, Secretary Harold L. Ickes. In fact, it was Ickes who pettishly suggested to the Senators that they ought to cross-examine every dollar-a-year man in defense after they had uncovered the interesting story of Ickes' deputy oil co-ordinator, Ralph K. Davies.

Senator Truman

Ralph K. Davies

For a long time the impression here was that Davies had given up a handsome Standard Oil salary to help Honest Harold solve the oil crisis, not, it is true, for a dollar a year but for ten thousand per. In an impassioned address to representatives of the oil industry here, Davies proclaimed himself a "Government employe, serving full time... having but one allegiance—an allegiance to the National Government and to my superior, the Petroleum Co-ordinator for National Defense."

"This is but a way of saying to you that I am properly free to serve from the impartial position of Government and to devote myself completely to the public interest in the present emergency," Davies concluded.

Inquiries at the Interior Department for long brought the reply that Davies had indeed severed his business ties, that such Standard Oil money as he was receiving must come from stock ownership.

In September, however, Standard Oil of California petitioned the SEC for the right to issue some stock. In this petition, the auditor of the company included Davies among the principal officers of the company, saying in part:

"The company has granted Mr. Davies a leave of absence with pay, and relieved him of all duties and responsibilities of his official connection with the company so far as such relief may be necessary to permit him to perform his duties as deputy co-ordinator."

It took a long time for this obscure paragraph to percolate out of the SEC statement, into Government circles—but it did.

The salary attracted attention on its own merits—$57,000 a year. With the Government's $10,000 added to it, Mr. Davies' stipend is almost in a class with the presidential pay of $75,000.

To tart questioning by Senator Maloney, Honest Harold admitted it was true. That gave the Senators the idea that they should probe the whole field of when is a dollar not a dollar.

Ickes defends his aide but the general impression at Interior is that news of Davies' continued salary was not at first known to him.

Among others attracting senatorial interest is Arthur Bunker, in charge of the aluminum and magnesium section of OPM. The banking firm of Lehman Brothers is continuing Bunker's $60,000-a-year salary.

WASHINGTON TIMES-HERALD

It took a week for the Administration to get up its courage to submit proposals for repeal of all major provisions of the Neutrality Act.

Up to the moment the Senate Foreign Relations Committee convened Saturday morning, no Senator was willing to predict the Roosevelt forces would put their fate to the test of a committee vote. Informal polls had shown 55 to 60 votes in the Senate itself for virtually outright repeal but the division in the committee was even, with the balance of power resting with Democrat George, of Georgia, and Republican White, of Maine.

Although George co-operated with the White House during his brief tenure as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee before he moved to Finance, his colleagues recalled that he was after all the most famous of Mr. Roosevelt's "purge" targets in 1938 and had not so long ago demanded that Congress, not the White House, must declare war. George's dignity and prestige is such the the Roosevelt captains hesitated to approach him and he emphatically could not be tempted with patronage.

But he conveyed word to the leadership finally, after letting them suffer all week, that he would co-operate "to bring the issue squarely before the public."

Arthur Bunker

Sgt. Alvin York

There can be absolutely no doubt as to the politics of Sergt. Alvin York—the real one, not Gary Cooper. The Sergeant named his first three sons Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson. Last week he notified the senior Senator from his native Tennessee, Democrat Kenneth McKellar, that the first York grandson had arrived, was christened Kenneth McKellar York.

Mrs. Bennett Clark, chairman of the Washington chapter of America First, has invited J. Edgar Hoover to make a personal inspection of their headquarters here.

For more than six months, the junior Senator from Kansas, Clyde Reed, has been ill and absent from Washington.

Time was when Kansans expected that if Reed found he could not return to the Capital, young Governor Payne Ratner would bestow the Reed seat on the Ratner political godfather, Alf M. Landon.

But Interventionist Ratner and Isolationist Alf have parted company and Ratner now will never send Alf to Washington of his own motion but will himself come here if possible.

Aware of these cross-currents, Isolationist Senator Reed, en route to Colorado for his health, paused in Topeka to call on Governor Ratner. "I just want you to know," smiled the Senator, "that I'm not going to die until after January 1, 1942."

Ratner's term expires on that date.

Masuo Kato is the Washington correspondent for the Japanese news agency, Domei, and a well-liked member in good standing of the National Press Club.

One day last week a page boy rushed through the ladies' dining room of the club paging Mr. Kato in loud clear accents. A startled lady looked up from her dry martini, shuddered:

"Is that man loose in here?"

Her escort assured her that Jarvis Theodore Roosevelt Catoe, rape suspect of eight, was in custody in Federal Court, standing his trial for murder.

La Guardia Asked to Bar America First Meeting

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Declaring that violence and bloodshed would result from the America First Committee rally scheduled for Madison Square Garden Thursday night, three civic groups yesterday appealed to Mayor LaGuardia to stop "this outrageous meeting from occuring."

A telegram signed by Dr. C. S. Weiss, editor of Uncle Sam's Digest; Samuel Nieman, president of the Sons of Liberty, and Joseph Goldsmith, president of the Taxpayers' Union of New York City, added that "observers at other meetings of America First groups found in the audience notorious frontists, Nazis, hate-breeders and Fascists, also traitors to our country."

Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, and John Cudahy, former Ambassador to Belgium, are to speak at the rally.

America First Assails Refusal Of Radio Time

Appeals to FCC To Compel Networks To Carry Program

NEW YORK, Oct. 28 (N. Y. News).—Leaders of the America First Committee tonight appealed to James L. Fly, head of the Federal Communications Commission, and to the 21 members of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee for help in getting coast-to-coast radio network time for the Madison Square Garden rally Thursday night.

Chief speakers at the rally will be Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, and John Cudahy, former American Ambassador to Belgium. Wheeler is chairman of the Inter-State Commerce Committee.

"To withhold fair access on flimsy excuses to the principal speakers in the country against going to war, while the pro-war people are, in one way or another, on the air night and day is an outrageous proceeding in a democracy," the America First's telegram to Washington read.

John T. Flynn, head of the America First Committee's New York Chapter, had charged that radio time was refused for the rally because networks are controlled by interventionists. Radio executives replied that no time was available for the periods and the regions which the committee wanted.

Today Mutual Broadcasting System officials disclosed that three weeks ago they had offered the committee any one of three alternative radio plans. The first was a 10:30-11 p.m. network hook-up with a WOR playback 50 minutes later. The second was a 10:30-10:40 p.m. spot on both the network and WOR. The third was a 10:15 to 10:45 on WOR, with a possibility that the network, made up of 175 stations, would pick up the last 15 minutes.

Those were the only times available for Thursday, said a Mutual spokesman today, and when America First executives failed to reply to the offer, the 10:30-10:45 p.m. time was sold.

America First Member Quits, Says Situation Calls for Unity

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Edward L. Ryerson, member of America First Committee, today resigned from the organziation, due to the emergency which, he said, may see America at war "at any moment."

In a letter to Gen. Robert E. Wood, chairman of the America First Committee, Ryerson, a prominent Chicago manufacturer, said America faces a situation that demands national unity whether the country is at peace or at war and for that reason he was resigning.

At national headquarters it was stated "several other members of the national committee had also resigned." Their names were not made public.

In his letter, Ryerson said:

"I have always deplored the state of our national affairs wherein the greatest democracy of the world has been slowly, but surely, guided by our National Government executives into a situation that has not permitted the people of our land to determine upon a national policy.

"It is, however, apparent that we have been brought face to face with an emergency that may mean active participation in war at any moment. To deal successfully with such a situation demands, above all else, unified action by all of our people."

America First To Rally Here

Chairmen to Fight Neutrality Revision

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 (C.T.P.S.). One hundred charter chairmen of the America First Committee will meet Friday in Washington to plan an intensified fight on the proposed revision of the Neutrality Act, R. Douglas Stuart jr., national director, announced today.

Stuart said the delegates would attend a morning meeting at the Lee-Sheraton Hotel, visit Representatives and Senators, and then map out the most effective means of combatting the Administration move. Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D.), of Montana, and Philip F. La Follette, former governor of Wisconsin, will address an evening session.

La Follette's speech will be broadcast on a national network from 10:15 to 10:45 (E.S.T.), Stuart said. The subject will be "What Next?"

"America Fifth"

"America First" is the deceptive name of Hitler's Fifth Column in America. It should be known as "America Fifth."

Fritz Kuhn is in the penitentiary, and the German Bund has moved bat and baggage into "America First."

Nazi fifth columns have been necessarily under cover in this country, but they are becoming more bold every day. The German Bund was infested with gangsters of the Kuhn type, but "America Fifth" has weeded that crowd out. It fairly oozes respectability. That is the Quisling technique.

And "America Fifths" are not, like Lydia Pinkham's satisfied patients, in some far distant state. They are in our midst. There were nearly a hundred of them in the Clayton City Hall auditorium Wednesday night. In that crowd, and applauding lustily, was one of the most notorious Nazis in St. Louis and St. Louis County He works under cover. He and his small group probably imagine nobody suspects him, that he is a patriot trying to keep America out of war. He is a patriot, but a German patriot. He is trying to keep America out of war—out of war with Germany. If the United States should go to war with Japan tomorrow, he would be happy. That would help Hitler. If America should go to war with England, he would be the happiest Nazi in St. Louis. Nazis of this gentleman's stripe, with apologies to the polecat, are operating, not in Denver or Buffalo, but right here in Clayton.

It is "America Fifths" of this type who are attempting to use the flight of Aviator Lindbergh from New York to Paris in 33 hours to help the Fatherland. "America First" is the old "Hyphen" that gave us some concern in 1918. Today the "Hyphen" is the Fifth Column.

Chairman Mueller boasted, or rather bemoaned, that 10,000 in St. Louis and County belong to the "America Fifth." That is an unconscious tribute to the Americans in St. Louis of German ancestry. Ninety-nine percent of them are loyal and true to the country that gave them the right to live as free men, something Germany never has done, either under the Kaisers or the Hitlers. Their fathers left Germany a hundred years ago rather than be slaves of the state. Their children are too cagey to be caught in the spider web of the Fifth Column and its glaring falsehoods.

And who is this man Lindbergh who would have the temerity to belittle men like Franklin Roosevelt, Cordell Hull and Frank Knox? "America Fifth" enthusiasts told us at the Clayton City Hall Wednesday night that he is the most honest man in America. That's a large order. They applauded Lindbergh's definition of democracy, but they were strangely silent when the definition of "Honest Abe" Lincoln was given from the last lines of the immortal Gettysburg Ad

Lindbergh is the man who knew better capture a criminal than the trained State Police of New Jersey, and took the matter of tracking down the kidnaper into his own hands, and made one of the worst messes of a notorious crime in the annals of America.

Lindbergh is the gentleman who handed old Dr. "Jafsie" a box containing $50,000, when any psychiatrist two weeks out of medical college could have informed him that "Jafsie" was a dreamer in the class with the late Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who discovered the North Pole somewhere in Greenland.

Lindbergh is the boy flyer who, because of the fame his one flight to Paris, married brilliant Miss Ann Morrow, just out of Smith College, and the daughter of a great patriot, who was a multi-millionaire Morgan partner, and then didn't care to associate with the boys around the airport any more.

Yes, that's the man who is being used by Hitler through "America Fifth" to batter at the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the one man who happens to stand between Hitler and world dominion.

Yes, to belittle Franklin Roosevelt, the hero of infantile paralysis, the man who came back from the valley of the shadow of death to lead America in time of her greatest distress.

Roosevelt, a graduate of Harvard and Columbia Universities, Assistant Secretary of the Navy under Woodrow Wilson in the World War; Governor of the State of New York; the only man in the history of America ever to be three times elected President of the United States, is just as honest as Lincoln, or Lindbergh, and far better equipped to deal with the treacherous Hitler than any man in public office today.

Three times, and each time by a larger majority, has Franklin Roosevelt laid his left hand on a very old Book, raised his right arm to high heaven and taken the oath of office as President of the United States. Somewhere in that lovely old Book is says:

"The first shall be last, and the last shall be first."

"America First" already is the last false front of the Madman of Munich in his march over the stepping stones of dead bodies to a doom worse than that of St. Helena.
